relocation and is frequently the topic of much inquiry and fascination from visiting guests and passers through.

The trophy is traditionally distributed to each Army division, separate brigade, armored cavalry regiment, and each Army Headquarters. The purpose of this award is to promote and recognize leadership in the Armor community. The Goodrich Riding Trophy has been bestowed upon Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center in recognition of their contributions to the Armor force. The 154th Regional Training Institute (RTI) provides leadership and instruction to regular army and National Guard tankers. Support provided by the Mobilization and Training Equipment Site (MATES) serves several armor and cavalry units such as 1-155th Combined Arms Battalion, 1-198th Cavalry and the 278th Armored Cavalry Regiment. Also the G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery Multipurpose Range Complex (MPRC) provides one of the largest tank gunnery ranges in the United States.

any scene, whether it be wartime or natural disaster and be able to set up a complete airfield with every single component – radar, flight following and air traffic control,” said Holland. “Our unit is able to handle any type of aircraft – rotary wing, fixed wing, any nationality, civilian or military.”

The new system can be set up in a little under two hours, and represents a significant upgrade in capability for the 2-185th.

“We’re very proud to be selected as the first unit to receive this equipment,” said Holland.

AQUATIC THERAPY FOR ARTHRITIS

Aquatic exercise therapy is often recommended for people with arthritis because it is low-impact. “Impact” here refers to pounding or pressure on your joints that can result from other exercises such as jogging or even walking. Aquatic exercise reduces the effect of gravity and can make exercise much less painful and easier to perform. The water supports your weight and therefore reduces the impact on your joints. Aquatic exercise therapy also helps decrease swelling and increase circulation, endurance, range-of-motion, balance, and coordination.

CARE Physical Therapy offers aquatic exercise therapy in an outpatient setting. We maintain our water temperature at 95°, which is quite comfortable for working those achy joints. Treatment is covered by Medicare, health insurance, or workers compensation. For more information, please contact CARE Physical Therapy at 296-0199. Extended morning and evening hours are available for your convenience.
