

 FRONT & CENTER

Resolutions, goals, new beginnings

It is often expected that the new year holds a vast opportunity of new beginnings. Sure, we all make resolutions to eat better, exercise more and maybe even clean out the garage, but the truth is, we can get busy dying or get busy living.

You can get busy living by advancing in your faith, career, Family life, challenging your profession and developing new opportunities through military schools and civilian education. Always challenge yourself to excel on the APFT and maybe this year you can achieve the standard of excellence that puts you in the '300 Club.' The choice is up to you.

What are your goals for 2013?

As we tackle mobilization training for the month of January, let us welcome the 1-623rd Field Artillery Battalion, High-Mobility Artillery Rocket System (HI-MARS), Kentucky Army National Guard; the 203rd Forward Support Company, Kentucky Army National Guard; the 2nd Psychological Operations Detachment, Ohio Army National Guard and the 353rd Civil Affairs Detachment, New York Army National Guard.

This month we will welcome home members of the 1157th Transportation Company, Wisconsin Army National Guard; 1186th Deployment Distribution Support Battalion, Florida Army National Guard; 781st Transportation Company, Alabama Army National Guard; 1968th Acquisition Team, Maine Army National Guard; 1977 Acquisition Team, California Army National Guard; 244th Army Liaison Team, Illinois Army National Guard and the 181st Field Artillery Battalion (HI-MARS), Tennessee Army National Guard.

These are just a few of the units that will be passing through our gates as they train and prepare for their upcoming missions supporting Overseas Contingency Operations.

Since January is the start of the next quarter, now is a great time to complete your quarterly counseling and evaluations that may be coming due soon. Ensure that your equipment is accounted for and operational. Equipment and personnel functionality are key elements to ensure your unit's success on and off the battlefield.

The University of Southern Mississippi is offering Soldiers the opportunity to take college courses at Camp Shelby with free textbooks. The Spring 2013 semester will offer three classes for Soldiers and Family members. I encourage you and your team to advance your career where available and continue to challenge yourself toward your personal and professional education goals. For more information regarding the college courses offered by USM, contact the Camp Shelby Education Center.

As we embark on new challenges and opportunities in January, always remember safety and weather conditions. South Mississippi is known for the changing weather. We have recently experienced varying degrees of inclement weather from severe thunderstorms to tornadoes creating hazardous driving conditions and could affect training. Be aware of icy roads while traveling and training. Ensure your team's alert rosters are updated and an inclement weather plan is in place.

Thanks, team for your continued hard work and steadfast attitude for success. God Bless you, your Families and the United States of America!

SOLDIERS FIRST!

Change to benefits

Beginning Aug. 1, 2013, all Soldiers who transfer education benefits to Family members will incur a four-year additional service obligation! This is regardless of their total service time or if they are eligible for retirement. Currently, Soldiers may qualify for 0, 1, 2 and 3 year additional service obligation based on their total service but on or after Aug. 1, 2013, these will expire and all soldiers will incur a four-year obligation. Soldiers who are considering transferring benefits should contact the Veterans Administration or Education Center to obtain the facts as soon as possible!
