It was the Marine Chief's first visit to the Station and Brigade since taking the Corps helm the first of this month.

It was also his final stop before returning to the Mainland after an 11-day swing through the Pacific, Far East and Southeast Asia to observe his Marines at work.

Picking him up at Hickam AFB, HMM - 161 helicopters delivered Gen. Greene and members of his official party to K-Bay right on schedule at 8:45 Monday morning. Following honors on Dewey used to describe the first day of K-Bay's seat belt campaign.

K-Bay Seat Belt Campaign Surpasses All Expectations

"The buckle-up drive, starting last Saturday, exceeded all expectations," said WO W. K. Wilsmann, Brigade Safety Officer. "Cars were waiting in a line two blocks long for purchases and installation. Some were standing by an hour be-fore belts were sold," he added.

Over 269 sets of belts were sold and approximately 175 were installed. According to the local seat belt distributor, this was "outstanding."

Tremendous" was the word | Bay's crews, some of them inexperienced, could install that many sets in one day," the distributor said

Campaign planners antici-pate the same "rush" business tomorrow, and even the following Saturday. Mr. Wils-mann assures K-Bayites that all belts sold during the drive will be installed free.

"We'll stay with it if we have to go into extra hours or even extra days," he said.

Out of the 10 colors available, red took the spotlight followed closely by green and grey. Instead of the four crews scheduled, the drive started with six volunteer four-man Marine crews. An additional three crews had to be added by 11 a.m.

Belts will be available between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. to-(See "Seat Belts," page 2)

Chaplain's Corner Period of Jan. 18-25 Is Designated

Week of Prayer for Christian Unity

By Chaplain G. S. Thilking

During recent months we have seen evidence of prayed-for fellowship across some of the dividing lines within Christianity.

Protestant clergy were invited and attended the Vatican Council in Rome. Pope Paul VI made the historical visit to the Holy Land and met with |

at inter - denominational Protestant Councils. In recent years there have been numerous mergers of Protestant denominations.

Many people have been praying for years that the hatred and prejudice and whatever else causes the unhappy divisions may be taken away. We can join others in praying for wisdom and understanding and for guidance in how we as individuals may follow the leadership of those who are engaging in ecumenical endeavors.

The week of Jan. 18-25 has been designated as a "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity." This world-wide observance embraces Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and Anglican Churches.

Helicopter Pilot Decorated For Saving a Marine's Life

Three Brigade helicopter pilots were decorated Monday by General Wallace M. Greene Jr., Jr., CMC, during his visit to the Air Station.

The state of the state

Capt. R. E. Stoffey of HMM-161 was awarded the Navy-Marine Corps Medal for personal heroism in saving the life of a helicopter crewman during an accident last May.

Capit. B. G. Phillips and WO W. L. Adamson, also of HMM-161, received Air Medals for their courage and devotion to duty while flying helicopter missions in Vietnam in 1962.

Gen. Greene made the presentations before a for-mation of Marines in Hangar 101. He also presented promotion certificates to four gunnery sergeants during the same ceremony.

Capt. Stoffey was cited for his heroic action during an incident last May 9 at Homestead Air Field on Molokai. As a plane captain with one of four helicopters operating in support of Brigade ground units, the Captain was supervising helicopter refueling operations when an explosion occurred.

A crewman was instantly enveloped in flames when a portable fuel pump filter ruptured, spraying the area with high octane fuel. Capt. Stoffey, although drenched with gasoline himself, im-mediately selzed the crew chief, tore off his burning flight suit, and rolled him on the ground to extinguish the flames, saving the Marine's life.

The Navy-Marine Corps Medal is awarded Marines and Navymen for acts of heroism other than in combat. The accompanying citation, signed by the Secretary of the Navy, reads in part:

"By this prompt, courag-eous, and selfless action in the face of extreme, person-al danger, Captain Stoffey upheld the highest tradi-tions of the United States Naval Service."

Capt. Phillips and WO Adamson received Air Medals for meritorious achievement in aerial flights as helicopter aircraft commanders with Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 163 in 1962.

At the time, both were flying combat support missions in support of the Republic of Vietnam against insurgent communist guerrilla forces (Viet Cong).

The Air Medal citations read, in part: "Often exposed to hostile fire at close range, he contributed materially to the success of his squadron. His courage and devotion to duty in the face of hazardous flying conditions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

the expenditures for the De-fense Department in FY65 will be $1 billion less than the expenditures in 1964. This savings in expenditures will accrue despite the recommended pay increase for FY65. "This $1 billion savings can be made without in any way reducing the defense of this nation," Mr. McNamara explained. "As matter of fact, I believe the budget that will be submitted to the Congress will yield defense superior to those at any other time in our history in peacetime."

Secretary McNamara said the $1 billion savings will accrue despite the fact that be-tween FY61 and FY65 expenditures for retired pay and increases in the salary for both civilian and military personnel will add about $2.5 billion per year to the budget.

The Secretary said that the savings will be "the result of following the instructions of the President to economize in every way possible to increase our efficiency and our productivity in every way possible." (AFPS)
