

'Back Pack' BLT Advance Party Moves Out with CO

The advance party for BLT 1/4 departed for Taiwan Tuesday morning by air to prepare for the arrival of the BLT now enroute to WesPac aboard ship.

LtCol. A. I. Thomas, CO of BLT 1/4, headed the party composed of nine officers and 51 men.

The bulk of the 1300-man Brigade unit departed on schedule last week Wednesday from Pearl City.

In addition to the 1st Battalion, 4th Marines, representing the infantry element, there are other Brigade units and detachments filling out the BLT.

G-3/12 will provide artillery support. Recon Co.'s 1st platoon is also part of the unit, as is a Landing Support Unit (LSU) comprised of elements of the Brigade's ServBn.

There are also detachments from disbursing, postal, ISO and 1stRadCo with the BLT.

No further word has been received since the initial announcement Jan. 26, on the role Brigade Marines will play in exercise "Back Pack" scheduled to be conducted in Southwestern Taiwan commencing Feb. 13.

All information relative to the exercise will come from a Command Information Bureau (CIB) especially established for the operation.

K-Bay Drive Picks Up Steam; Section Cooperation Good

K-Bay's 8th Annual National Health Agencies and Federal Joint Crusade Campaign is progressing as well as expected, according to Station, Brigade and 1st Radio Company chairmen.

The campaign, in three separate drives aboard the Station, is a combined effort to gain contributions and 100 percent participation.

According to Station-PMR chairman, Maj. C. B. Gartrell, S-1, "most keymen have completed their contacts and although we haven't any percentages, the drive participation looks good."

The Brigade drive is also reported progressing well, according to chairman, 1st-Lt. F. W. Milling, Brigade S&C.

Similar reports came in from First Radio Company concerning their drive which began Jan. 14.

Top keymen for the drives have been and will remain on the job to reach the goal set for all.

The Station-PMR drive ends Feb. 28; Brigade's Feb. 18; and 1st RadCo. runs until Mar. 15.

DONS HARD HAT — HMC Peter G. Sears, Station Sanitation Technician (r), received his warrant promoting him to his present rank last Thursday from Capt. G. Basilcato, Station Senior Medical Officer. HMC Sears, a veteran of more than 15 years' service, arrived at K-Bay in November 1961.

HEADING FOR HIGH GROUND — Lulu Greer, 3, daughter of SSgt. and Mrs. James Greer, shinnies her way to safety. Lulu knows where to go in case a tidal wave alert sounds. Do you?

10 Tidal Wave Signs Tell Way to K-Bay Safe Areas

Tidal wave evacuation areas are now designated at K-Bay.

Although K-Bayites have been praised by local commanders for their presence of mind and swiftness of actions during recent tidal wave alerts, there still remains in some households a measure of doubt as to where to go when the siren walls.

In an effort to avoid any misinterpretation of safety zones, the Public Works Department, under the supervision of Station Operations, has erected 10 brightly colored signs to indicate K-Bay safe evacuation areas.

Two of the signs are located in the Station Ordnance area (across the runway). The remaining eight have been posted at various high ground levels in the Capehart Housing area.

The signs, which are self-explanatory, are painted red and have yellow letters which read: "Entering Tidal Wave Safety Area." A yellow arrow on the sign points the way.

In case you haven't seen the signs, the Station Safety Council invites you to take an orientation tour of pertinent K-Bay areas soonest so that you may evacuate you and yours with a minimum of confusion.

The following information is provided for those newcomers to the island who haven't experienced a tidal wave (Tsunami) alert:

When it is determined by Hawaii Civil Defense officials that evacuation is necessary, the tidal wave alert signal will be sounded. It consists of a steady one-minute sounding of the siren followed by one minute of silence. This is repeated five times.

K-Bay sound trucks and the speakers at Kansas Tower will broadcast "Tidal Wave Warning . . . Tidal Wave Warning . . . Evacuate to safety areas immediately."

Upon this signal, families living in Rainbow Village, north of Pancoast Street and Manning Court, are to evacuate to Hilltop; persons residing in low areas in Capehart are to evacuate as follows:

Residents south of Lawrence Road and west of Harris Ave. proceed via Lawrence Road.

'Doing The Town' Comes To Station

K-Bayites will be treated to a one-hour long variety show, "Doing The Town," which comes aboard Feb. 12 at Theater #2 at 7:30 p.m.

The USO show is presently touring the Pacific after completing a tour of the Far East.

Featuring five male and two female entertainers, the show contains plenty of comedy, dancing and singing for an entertaining evening. Admission free!

With Feb. 1 Date of Rank

401 SNCO Promotions Due This Month

Some 401 Marines previously selected for promotions to staff sergeant through sergeant major will be promoted this month, HQMC says.

All of the promotions will be effective as of Feb. 1.

The promotional breakdown and cutoff precedence numbers are:

Two-hundred sixty-one sergeants to staff sergeant, (cutoff precedence number 2172).

One-hundred twenty-eight staff sergeants to gunnery sergeant, (cutoff number 1132).

Also six master sergeants to master gunnery sergeant and six first sergeants to sergeant major, cutoff numbers 62 and 54, respectively.

All gunnery sergeants selected for promotion to master sergeant or first sergeant have been promoted. Eighteen first sergeants and 18 master sergeants, previously selected for advancement, remain to be promoted to sergeant major and master gunnery sergeant, respectively.

Five-hundred ninety-six staff sergeants selected for gunnery sergeant, and 131 sergeants selected for staff sergeant, remain to be promoted.

In announcing the promotion plans, HQMC reiterated its policy of promoting Marines as vacancies occur.

Station Power Outage Goes Sunday; Affects Housing, Clubs, Most Areas

A power outage is scheduled for K-Bay Sunday lasting approximately eight hours — from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. — Station Public Works has announced.

The entire Station will experience an outage for 15 to 20 minutes at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. when essential circuits are switched to the standby power and work is completed re-switching circuits.

The following areas will be without power for the whole eight hours.

All Fort Hase, Capehart, RCT area, Mokapu School, Crescent Circle Housing and Barracks, all Hangars, Bldg. 375 and all buildings north of the runway.

Also SNCO Club, Golf Clubhouse, E-Club, Manning Court Area, Enlisted Men's Quarters, Tank Farm area, IRO and the Link Trainer Trailer at Bldg. 267.

The outage will also affect the Credit Union Office, Housing Office, Mokapu Court area, the Jet Test Cell and the Aviation Supply Bldg.

All other circuits will be powered by emergency generators. K-Bayites using these facilities are urged to minimize the use of electricity during this period.

REENLISTMENT AND PROMOTIONS—Maj. D. J. Quick, Brigade HqCo CO (2d from l), congratulates Cpl. Thomas G. Shippey (2d from r) and PFC. James H. Johnston (r) upon promoting them to their present rank. At left is Cpl. Maurice P. Michaud who reenlisted in the Marine Corps for six years last week.

Chaplain's Corner

Prepare for Grand Spiritual Experience at Easter Time

By Chaplain J. H. Lampe

One of the things the Marine Corps prides itself on is its ability to answer any call which may come in for action. And to answer that call faster and better than anyone else can.

To that end, it means training and more training for any eventuality. Even so, when some special test or inspection comes along, there is always feverish activity to make sure that no piece of equipment or any procedure isn't in the best possible shape. And this is as it should be.

This same principle should apply to our spiritual undergirding for any eventuality. There are certain set procedures, with spiritual exercises, set up to take care of us so that we will be ready to "go" any time the occasion may arise.

But then, there are special occasions which call for special preparation; just such a period is now upon us.

Next Wednesday is known as Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, a period set aside as one of spiritual refreshment so that Easter may be for each of us that grand experience as the apex of the spiritual year that it ought to be.

There are to be special services in both chapels in preparation; we would urge each person to take advantage of these services.

Easter will be for you only what you make it to be.

Gift Smokes On Way Out In Hospitals

The Defense Department plans to prohibit distribution of free cigarettes in military hospitals and to establish an Armed Forces educational program to point out the hazards of smoking.

Department of Defense is not considering prohibition of individual purchase, possession or use of tobacco products.

The action is a result of an Armed Forces study of "Smoking and Health," a report published by the U.S. Public Health Service. The report linked smoking to lung cancer and heart diseases.

No specific date was announced for application of the new Defense policies.

Surgeons general of the Armed Forces and health and medical directors of the Defense Department are continuing their study of the report and further action for the health protection of military personnel in relation to smoking may be taken, the announcement said. (AFPS)

Moving Tips on Staff Wives' Slate; Nominating, Auditing Groups Named

By Roberta Lucenius

This month's Aloha Coffee will be held next Friday at 9:30 a.m. in the club. Every staff wife, whether you're a newcomer or not, is invited to attend.

Our guest speaker will be GySgt. Ray Dorman, Household Goods Branch NCOIC. He'll give us helpful hints about moving, what we can expect from the movers and what not to expect.

We'll learn what we can take to the Mainland and what we'll have to leave behind. A question and answer period will follow.

Nominating and auditing committees were named at last Tuesday's business meeting. The nominating committee is headed by Laura Reeves and includes Elaine King, Marge Veneziano, Dot Cahoon, Fan Hogan and Lillie King. They will make their first report at March's business get-together.

The auditing committee, steered by Del Spornak, consists of Irene Zelonka and Georgia Hackett. They'll offer their first report ASAP.

New officers were elected at last week's bowling banquet. They were Jeanne Allison, president; VI Claytor, vice president; Roberta Lucenius, secretary-treasurer; and Evelyn Kris as sergeant-at-arms.

Now Hear This, Parents — The new housing area, where construction is currently in progress, is not intended as a playground for dependent children, teenagers on down.

Officials responsible for construction report that some of the younger set have been trespassing in the area. This is not only an unsafe practice, there has been damage to some of the structures which both hamper construction and increase costs through necessary repairs.

Parents of children residing on Station have the responsibility to see to it that sons and daughters stay clear of the construction sites at all times, night and day.

Oops . . . By a Decade — In our profile on Gen. Carl in last week's WM, we reported the General set a speed record in the "Skystreak" in August 1957. Just to keep all the records straight, he flew that one in 1947, as several of our readers promptly advised us.

His and Hers Silver Bars — There'll be no squabbles about who outranks who in the Bednar family at Camp Pendleton.

William Bednar and his wife, Carla, are both first lieutenants in the Corps and received their promotions on the same day, pinning on each other's silver bars in a single ceremony.

She is ExO of Pendleton's WM Company and he is a platoon leader in the 1stMarDiv. (AFPS)

Marine General Cited — MajGen. Victor H. Krulak, Special Assistant for Counter-Insurgency and Special Activities, Organization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, last week was awarded a Gold Star in lieu of the third Legion of Merit, for "outstanding services" in that assignment for the past two years.

The award was made by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gen. Krulak, Special Assistant since Feb. 16, 1962, has been assigned as CG, FMFPac, effective Mar. 1, 1964, with the rank of lieutenant general.

No Collect-On-Delivery — The Post Office Department reminded postmasters this month not to accept any more collect-on-delivery (C.O.D.) parcels destined for APO and FPO addresses.

The APOs and FPOs have been handling some C.O.D. mail, but it has long been against post office regulations. Now the Post Office Department wants the postmasters to crack down on the practice. (AFPS)

National Boy Scout Week Starts Today

National Boy Scout Week begins today and will be observed until Feb. 13.

Members of Troop 225 and Cub Pack 69 invite K-Bayites to join them in the 54th observance of their founding.

Scouting was introduced in the United States by Mr. W. D. Boyce, a Chicago publisher, in 1910.

Congress granted a charter to the Boy Scouts of America in 1916.

Across the nation there are now 3,990,000 boys in 136,800 Cub Packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts.

K-Bay's Troop 225 has 38 boys. The Cub Pack has about 67.

Nearly one and a half million adults willingly invest their time and energy as leaders in scouting so that boys may become men of character and participating citizens.

The Scout Motto is "Be Prepared." This year's slogan is "Strengthen America."

Aviation Editor Aboard For Look at Air Group

Larry Booda, Military Editor of "Aviation Week & Space Technology" national magazine, visited K-Bay Monday afternoon.

He received an informal briefing from BrigGen. M. E. Carl, Brigade CG, and visited MAG-13 for a look at some of its facilities.

PO Drops the Time of Day From Postmark; Cuts Work

The post office won't give you the time of day anymore, but there's good reason for it.

As of Feb. 1, the time of day has been dropped from the postmark and in its place is a simple "A.M." or "P.M." designation.

Post office officials announced that dropping the time from the postmark will result in savings of man-hours and dollars.

For years, the postmark has indicated the time of cancellation to the nearest half-hour. But the post office said changing the time required a manual operation 48 times a day which resulted in a slowdown of work for as many as nine men in every large post office.

Officials said about half of all first class mail today is metered or pre-canceled by the mailer with a canceling machine. Since this postmark doesn't include the time of day, postal authorities reasoned there is no point in keeping the time in the rest of the mail, especially if considerable savings could be realized.

Mallers who want the time shown on their letters may be satisfied by using registered or certified mail, officials said.

The post office practice of putting the time on the postmark dates from the early 19th Century, but it has now gone the way of the Pony Express. (AFPS)

IN APPRECIATION — SSGt. A. S. H. Gemmell, ServBn. Comm - Elec Section, was awarded a Meritorious Mast last week by his CO, LtCol. W. J. Köhler. Sgt. Gemmell was cited for being instrumental in saving his section many man-hours of labor.

A Rifle Company Commander: Responsibility

Considering average age, military experience, maturity and background of a Marine rifle company commander, there is probably no duty assignment requiring greater overall responsibility for a Marine Corps junior officer.

And such assignment is probably the most sought-after by junior infantry officers throughout the Marine Corps.

In the First Marine Brigade, rifle company commanders total an even dozen — four-per-battalion in the Fourth Marines.

One of these is Capt. James L. Compton, 28, CO of H-2/4.

Commenting on his assignment, Capt. Compton says: "When you consider that the rifle company commander in combat is the most exacting and responsible position that a young man can hold, it's a sobering thought."

"Full realization of the fact that each and every decision you make under fire is measured for correctness by the number of your own men who may become casualties. As a result of it you work harder and harder to learn everything possible. You must train your outfit as close to perfection as possible."

"The challenge is awesome. I welcome it, though I hope the test of war isn't necessary."

"H" Company First Sergeant

SSgt. John Babyack Jr.

Sgt. C. B. Simmons
LCpl. G. M. W. Bryan

Chapman L. Bradley says his company commander leads a busy life. His paper work and planning is accomplished early in the day.

The CO's daily schedule might include battalion and company level meetings, company training, welfare visits to troops in the hospital and counseling of men with problems. Also he may attend school or sit in on various boards or court-martial.

A graduate of Rockhurst

College, Capt. Compton was commissioned in 1956.

His duties have included weapons and rifle company platoon commander, battalion adjutant, company executive officer and company commander.

Sea-duty aboard a cruiser and a tour on the drill field at San Diego preceded his assignment as "H" Company CO last October.

He has attended the Naval Gunfire Air Spotters Course, Jungle Warfare, Naval Justice, and Escape, Evasion and Survival Schools.

Enrolled in the Junior Officers Extension Course and French language course, Capt. Compton says a good leader must be proficient in a lot of areas. He must be physically fit, full of technical knowledge, possess military presence, present a good personal appearance and he must have the strongest will in the outfit.

"A company commander does a lot of preparation to keep 150 men busy in constructive work," the captain says, "since their time is as valuable as the CO's. The hours of preparation in planning far exceed the total hours for the actual training. You have to keep ahead of your men."

When he leaves his company, Capt. Compton likes to relax at his Kailua home with his wife, Nancy, and their two daughters, Cathleen Anne, 4, and Christine Marie, 2. He also enjoys bridge and reading military history.

Capt. James L. Compton

RAPPELLING FROM THE SKY — All concepts of training are included in the Marine rifle company training syllabus. Capt. Compton demonstrates to members of his company the procedure used in rappelling from a UH-34D helicopter. Marines from H-2/4 then rappelled from the 'copter which was hovering approximately 30 feet above the Fort Hase training area.

END OF THE DAY — Capt. Compton likes to relax at home with his wife, Nancy, and their two daughters, Cathleen Anne, 4 (l), and Christine Marie, 2. His family listens as he reads them a tale from "Grimm." After the children are put to bed for the evening, the Skipper either plays bridge, reads military history or works on one of his correspondence courses.

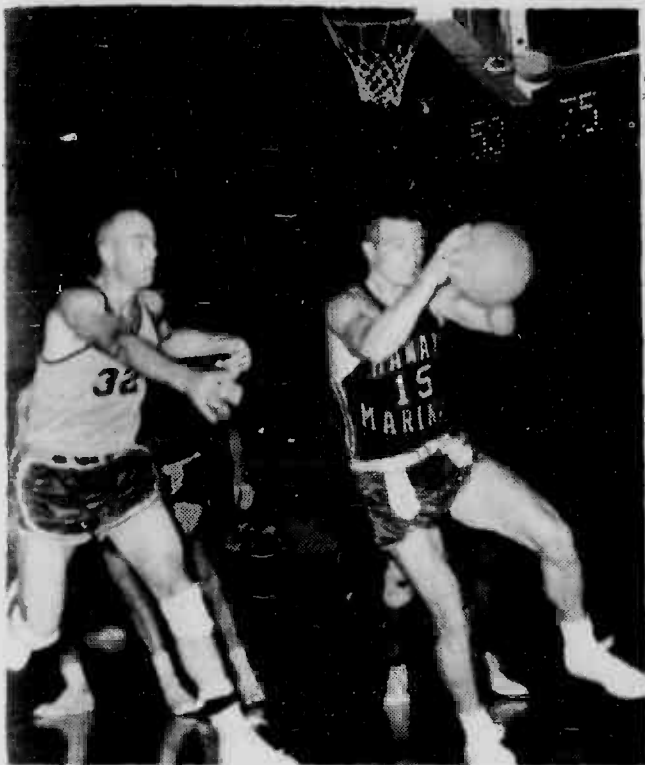

KEEPING PHYSICALLY FIT — Capt. Compton believes in physical fitness. He can be seen running his three miles or so around Platt Field most any morning prior to starting his work day.

COMPANY COMMANDER'S BRIEFING — For an operation to be successful, each member of the company team must know and do his job. Prior to taking an objective during one of "H" Company's training problems, Capt. Compton (c) briefs platoon commanders (l-r), 2dLt. Andrew G. Anderson II, 2dLt. Thomas E. Irving, Capt. Compton, 1stLt. Thomas E. Hopkins and 1stLt. Donald E. Christy. Recommendations from his company officers are desired by and acted upon by the Skipper.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT — Mistakes made in training can be prevented in the future; however, mistakes made in combat can be costly. Capt. Compton (r) and "H" Company Gunnery Sergeant Edward Garr observe an attack on a fortified position during company training in the Fort Hase training area. Upon completion of each training period, a critique is held.

RECOVERY — Darrell Pastrell (15) grabs an Army rebound as Gil Upchurch (32) moves to defend. The 'Necks crushed the Rangers, 102-75, in the last league game of the season.

Hawaii Marines Win Final Two Games From Naval Air, 107-74; Army, 102-75

The Hawaii Marines won their two final basketball games of the 1963-64 season from the Barber's Point Skywarriors, 107-74, and from the Army Rangers, 102-75.

Jumping to comfortable leads in both games, the 'Necks pressured their opponents constantly for control.

Despite towering rebounds by Naval Air's Clink-scales, the Marines were able to recover the ball down-court during the play patterns.

Dick Markowitz repeated as top scorer with 35. Bill Connolly had 24, Jim Bower, 16 and Dave Sampsell, 10.

Markowitz made 11 of his 12 free-throw attempts.

Friday night at Conroy Bowl, Schofield, the 'Necks revengefully trounced the Army by 27 points. In their last meeting at Kaneohe the Marines lost in the closing seconds of the game by one field goal.

Winning from the Army gave the 'Necks their 13th win of their last 15 league games.

Once more Dick Markowitz emerged as the game's top scorer, hitting for 27 tallies.

Scoring doubles were Jim Bower, 18, Jim Mullen, 11, Darrell Pastrell and Clyde Stallsmith tied with 10 each.

In both games Coach Smith was able to clear the bench of his reserves. Although the 'Necks enjoyed large leads, the reserve power played tight ball.

Chuck Roberson, Jesse Wells, Dick Bell and Gary Lambert got in the scoring column in the Skywarrior tilt. Joe Gatti, Bill Jefferies, Jesse Wells and Dave Sampsell tallied in the Ranger game.

The 'Necks have been strong contenders throughout the entire season. They seemed to mellow with age.

With a commendable record for the 1963-64 Hawaiian Armed Services Invitational Basketball season behind them, the Hawaii Marines now set their sights on the All-Marine title.

Beginning Feb. 17 the 'Necks will compete against San Diego and Camp Lejeune or Quantico. The games will start at 8 p.m. at Bloch Arena.

The tournament ends Feb. 22.

Brigade SSgt. Arms Mentor

SSgt. Jack R. Whittle, VMF 212, has been appointed a certified rifle and pistol instructor by the National Rifle Association of America.

The new instructor passed a series of tests and served a prescribed period of time in training activities before receiving certification.

He is qualified to conduct local classes in firearms operation, safe gun-handling, and the techniques of shooting on the target range and in the field.

Sgt. Whittle joins the ranks of selected personnel maintained by the NRA throughout the country in its small arms education program.

The program began in 1876. It has since taught millions of people to handle and enjoy firearms safely.

Babe Ruth Play Absorbed by Teenage League; 3 Divisions Open for Sluggers

Babe Ruth League baseball is no more at K-Bay.

Instead, baseball for this age group will be absorbed in the teenage league under the sponsorship of the Hawaiian Armed Forces Youth Association.

Teenage baseball at K-Bay will now have a junior and senior division and a girl's softball division.

This was one of the decisions resulting from a meeting of the Hawaiian Armed Forces Youth Association

Monday at Schofield Barracks.

The HAFYA consists of representatives from Pearl Harbor, Hickam AFB, NAS Barber's Point, Wheeler AFB, Schofield Barracks, Ft. Shafter and Kaneohe Bay.

Navy Cdr. H. E. Thurman, president of the K-Bay Youth Activities Association, was elected president of the HAFYA.

Other K-Bay representatives in attendance were: MGySgt. J. H. Funk, president, K-Bay Babe Ruth League; MSgt. Allen Edoff, president, Teenage Baseball League; and SSgt. Glen Hill, K-Bay basketball.

Sgt. Edoff was named director of the HAFYA Teenage Baseball League. The committee decided the junior division will follow the same general rules as Babe Ruth baseball and maintain the same age limits, 13-15.

The senior teenage baseball division will be for boys 16-18. The girls' softball division will be organized the same as last year.

Also elected to office at the meeting were: Army Sgt. Dick Ramella, Schofield Barracks, vice-president; and Mrs. M. McGhee, Wheeler AFB, secretary-treasurer.

The HAFYA meets monthly. The next meeting will be at Wheeler AFB.

TOP COMPANIES—LtCol. A. I. Thomas, 1/4 CO (c), presented Marksmanship Trophies recently to Capt. R. M. Sweeney, "A" Co. CO (l), and Capt. P. L. Lefevre, "B" Co. CO. "A" Co. received the award for 100 percent qualification with the .45 pistol, while "B" Co. took honors with 95 percent qualification with the M-14 rifle. "A" Co. received the trophy for the second consecutive year.

Plan Smoker at Hangar 103

K-Bay Punchers Hold Elimination Bouts

It was Marine against Marine last Monday evening at the Civic Auditorium as K-Bay fighters slugged it out toe-to-toe to keep from being eliminated from the upcoming smoker at K-Bay.

Representing weight classes of 125 and 147 pounds, the local pugilists were preparing themselves for the Feb. 13-14 smoker to be held in Hangar 103. The matches were part of Oahu's Amateur Boxing smoker.

Winning the right to represent K-Bay in the big smoker was Graham Simons in the 147 lb. class. He decisioned Zeb Allen in a close count.

Armando Martinez kept his gloves in the ring by out-pointing Al Kitchy in the 125 lb. event.

Also bringing in close verdicts were John Martinez and Chester Wooten. Martinez won a decision over Phillip Reed of the Army Wooten outfought George Goroza of the Juhn Athletic Club.

To stay in shape for the planned smoker, K-Bay's pugilists will take to the ring again next week in another amateur smoker slated in the Auditorium.

The following Thursday and Friday will find them doing battle in a single elimination tournament scheduled at Hangar 103.

Taking the spotlight in the Feb. 13-14 smoker will be the best of the Marine Corps, Navy and Army. Weigh-in and drawing for opponents will go at 9 a.m. on each day. They'll come out swinging with the ring of the bell at 7:30 p.m. and will be wearing 10-ounce gloves.

Fighting for the Air Station will be Chester Wooten, 119 lbs.; Armando Martinez, 125 lbs.; John Martinez, 139 lbs.; Graham Simons, 147 lbs.; Willie Johnson, 174 lbs.; Arlington Johnson, 156 lbs.; E. V. Lee, 165 lbs.; and Bill Stanley, weighing in at 132 lbs.

"The local smoker promises to be a free-swinging, slam-bang affair," says assistant coach SSgt. R. H. Merwin. "No admission will be charged. There'll be plenty of seats for all hands."

All bouts will be called and judged according to National AAU rules.

PISTOL AWARD—Col. H. W. Hise, CO, MAG-13 (l), received the Brigade's Annual Perpetual Pistol Trophy last Friday from BrigGen. M. E. Carl, Brigade CG. MAG-13 was awarded the trophy after topping four other Brigade units. They shot a 99.1 percent pistol requalification.

Helping Hands Heralded

O-Wives Flapper Nite Roaring Success

By Joyce Harte

Thanks to many helping hands, Flapper-Dapper night at the O-Club was a roaring success.

Due to limited space and many gung-ho workers, we'll have to split up the thank yous into this and next week's column.

Congratulations to VMF-232 for their fine job of decorating the Lower Lanai. Individual credit should go to Ed Townley and Chuck Hatfield for their untiring door; Jo Ann Dixon, Peggy Hatfield and Peggy Gallagher for their yards of bead-ed bottle caps framing the entrance.

Also to Yvonne Dennis for her magnificent gilded bath tub; Dallis Moriarty for her lovely chandeliers; Ann Sloan, Joyce Townley, and Abby Treichler for their dice-ornamented poles and to Barbara Charlton and Pat Baker for their clever wall decorations.

"Can Can" credits go to Jack Gallagher, Utah Dennis, Dan Dumond, Ed Harris, and Wayne Pedersen. Mary B. Gardner did the coaching. Benny Robinson and Kay Schaupner did the costuming.

More mahalos next week.

Alohas Extended Mainland Bound E-Wives Officials

By Pat Mohr

Speaking for myself and the rest of the E-Wives Club members, I'd like to extend thanks for a job well done to Ann Marie Goeddel, Club President.

She departs for the Mainland this month.

Also receiving our mahalos and fond goodbyes are Barbara Ogden, recording secretary; and Pat Campbell, program chairman. They, too, depart for the Mainland.

The Club extends invitations to all enlisted wives to attend our club functions. Many things are on the calendar of events including socials, teas, coffees, dances and luncheons.

Planned for the near future will be the election and installation of new club officers. Keep a watch on this column for the time and place.

If you're the wife of a sergeant or below, or Navyman of equivalent rank, check into our club. We'd love to have you. Big things are in store—debate no more.

MCRRDs Drop Rs; Now MC Districts

Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment Districts became Marine Corps Districts Jan. 1.

The title change was announced by SECNAV Notice 5450 of Dec. 19, 1963.

The six MCRRDs and one Marine Corps Reserve District (Hawaii) dropped the Reserve and Recruitment from their title, but retained the mission of coordinating the activities of units and individuals of the Reserve establishment and administering enlisted and officer procurement programs.

The short title of the Districts changed from MCRRD to MARCORDIST.

Love, Deaths and Spooks Mix in 'Wapshot Scandal'

By Maccine Titus

Chief Librarian

"Wapshot Scandal," a novel of love, death and ghosts, is K-Bay's book-of-the-month choice.

The author, John Cheever, rings up the curtain in the town of St. Botolphs on a snowy Christmas Eve in the second half of the 20th Century.

The affairs of the Wapshot carom around the United States and Europe with considerable velocity, at times veering without warning into outbreaks of wild hilarity.

Coverly sings his slapstick love song to Betsy. Moses falls from grace, Milissa, running away from death, stumbles. Leander is dead, but his regenerate ghost wanders the disused house on River Street.

Mr. Cheever then brings down the curtain on another snowy Christmas, but in the time between all the members of the cast have gotten themselves into hot water.

How disastrous this novel could be if it were done badly, but it isn't. It's real good reading and is as good as its predecessor, "Wapshot Chron-

SecDef McNamara Says:

U.S. Has Most Missiles, More Capability

The Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many inter-continental missiles as we do. Their submarine-launched ballistic missiles are short range and generally are not comparable to our Polaris force.

That disclosure was made by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to members of the Economic Club of New York.

In reference to the balance of strategic nuclear forces, the Secretary said the U. S. force now contains more than 500 operational long-range ballistic missiles. Plans are for this force to increase to more than 1700 by 1966.

In addition to the missiles, the United States has Strategic Air Command bombers on air alert and more than 500 bombers on quick reaction ground alert.

By comparison, Secretary McNamara told the group the consensus today is that the Soviet Union could place about half as many bombers over North America on a first strike.

The Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many inter-continental missiles as the United States.

ent has a stockpile or planned for stockpile, tens of thousands of nuclear explosives for tactical use on the battlefield, in anti-submarine warfare and against aircraft," Mr. McNamara said.

During the past two years there has been notable increases in general purposes forces:

Combat-ready Army divisions increased by about 45 percent — from 11 to 16.

Thirty percent increase in the number of tactical air squadrons.

One-hundred percent increase in ship construction and conversion to modernize the fleet.

Seventy-five percent increase in airlift capabilities.

Secretary McNamara emphasized that it is not only force that matters. "The key to the effective utilization of these forces is combat readiness and mobility.

Referring to an expansion of the U.S. Airlift capability the Secretary said, "It will have risen 400 percent between 1961 and 1967." (AFPS)

Flex and Fire

Body Impulse for Trigger?

The idea of using electrical impulses originating in the human body to operate complex weapons systems and walking space exploration vehicles has long been a part of the world of science fiction.

But now this theory is coming closer to reality. The space-age serviceman may actually control weapons and vehicles with the electric signals originating in the muscles.

The Office of Naval Research has awarded a contract to study the feasibility of using human electric energy, called bio-signals, to control future weapons systems, says Armed Forces Press Services.

The ultimate objective of this program is to devise a bio-operated control system that will not be affected by involuntary physical actions.

In addition, valuable insight may be gained in the design of prosthetic appliances for amputees.

Nylon Helmet Liner Okayed For FMF Use

A new helmet liner for use by Fleet Marine Force units has been adopted.

Made by bonding layers of ballistic nylon with synthetic resin, the liner will be more comfortable to wear and will provide ballistic protection. It weighs 16 ounces, one-third as much as the steel helmet, according to HQMC.

A redesigned suspension system adds greatly to the comfort of the wearer. A rear head strap that fits across the base of the skull keeps the helmet firmly in place under almost any condition.

Although the new helmet liner can be worn under the steel, its light weight and ballistic properties make it suitable for use as a one-piece helmet in extremely hot climates where weight is a critical factor.

HQMC reports the new liner will be available for distribution to FMF units early in fiscal year 1965.
