

CMC DECORATED — Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Jr., CMC, receives a Distinguished Service Medal from Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze. The medal, which came as a complete surprise to the Commandant, was presented Feb. 11 in the Pentagon for "exceptionally meritorious service to the Government of the United States . . . while serving as Chief of Staff, HQMC, from Jan. 1, 1960 to Dec. 31, 1963." The citation further stated that Gen. Greene had, "by his skillful and dynamic leadership, vision and wide knowledge of Marine Corps operations and administration, enhanced the military posture and prestige of the United States."

'Back Pack' D-Day Mar. 3

BLT 1-4 Will 'Battle' 3dMarDiv, 1stMAW

The Brigade's Battalion Landing Team 1/4 will have its hands full as an aggressor in Operation "Back Pack" now in progress in southwestern Taiwan.

News releases received this week by message from the Back Pack Command Information Bureau indicate BLT 1/4 will tangle with the 3d Marine Division supported by the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing.

Right now, Brigade Marines are digging in to hold 80 square miles of Southern Taiwan. This is while Republic of China forces continue to cut off some units and compress the remainder into the mountainous boot-like tip of Taiwan.

Meanwhile, the Seventh Fleet's seaborne amphibious forces including Marines (a division), aircraft (a Wing full) and combat equipment make ready to assault the critical area both over water and by air.

Amphibious units involved in Back Pack form a group capable of delivering — simultaneously — 20,000 Marines, 468,000 square feet of certain equipment and more than 2 million cubic feet of other supporting combat equipment.

D-Day for the amphibious assault has been set for Mar. 3.

H-Hour is 8 a.m.

BLT 1/4 will not be completely alone in its efforts to give the assault forces a bad (See 'Back Pack,' Page 8)

HQMC Also Announces Boards

GMSTs for Promotions to E-7-6-5 April 3

Noncommissioned officers competing for promotion to gunnery sergeant, staff sergeant and sergeant will be administered the General Military Subjects Test during the first week in April, HQMC has announced.

Regulars will take the test Apr. 3 and Reserves will be examined Apr. 4 or 5.

The test, identified as GMST-BRAVO-64, will be the only promotion examination administered during the remainder of this fiscal year.

Noncommissioned officers of the Regular and Reserve (Class II) establishments, who meet or exceed minimum service in grade requirements, and who have not passed an appropriate GMST, will be administered the BRAVO-64 test.

Service in grade requirements are:

Staff sergeant to gunnery sergeant — date of rank not later than June 30, 1961 and those who on or before Dec. 31, 1963 had fully completed 30 months in grade.

Sergeant to staff sergeant — date of rank not later than

July 31, 1961 and those who on or before Dec. 31, 1963 had fully completed 29 months in grade.

Corporal to sergeant — date of rank not later than Aug. 31, 1962 and those who on or before Mar. 31, 1964, have fully completed 19 months in grade.

Marine Corps Order 1418.

Six-Month Project

Certain Brigade Motor Pools Move To Make Room for New Facilities

Motor transport personnel from the Fourth Marines and Service Battalion have failed to report to their motor pool for more than a week.

However, unauthorized absence reports are not being submitted since the Marines are reporting to their temporary place of work on "F" Street and in the MAG-13 area.

The move was ordered last month to make way for construction of a new motor vehicle maintenance facility.

Construction of the facility will be in the same general area as the present motor pool. Buildings 1502, 1503, 1532, and 1548 are being torn down to make way for the new structure.

Work on the project is expected to begin next month and will take approximately six months to complete.

Temporary facilities for the 4th Marines have been set-up on "F" Street in the vicinity of Brigade Schools. Service Battalion has moved its vehicles and equipment to quarters in the MAG-13 area.

Station Preps for Annual OP Readiness Inspection

Kaneohe Bay's defensive protective measures will fall under the inspecting eyes of Navy RAdm. C. H. Duerfeldt, Commander, Naval Air Bases, 14th Naval District, as he and a group of inspectors from Midway Island conduct K-Bay's annual Operational Readiness Inspection (ORI) Feb. 27.

Captain George Washington Davis V, CO of the Midway Naval Station, will be the Chief Observer of the inspection ordered by the 14th ND Commandant, RAdm. C. A. Buchanan.

Maximum Security for K-Bay Gate During ORI; Must Have Positive ID

There may be grumbles and gripes at the Air Station's Main Gate the night before the ORI, but the Station's Provost Marshal, Maj. E. W. Whitten, is determined there will be no security violations.

Beginning at 10 p.m., Feb. 26, and lasting until 6 a.m., Feb. 27, the strictest security measures will be put into effect by gate personnel. All cars and personnel going through the gate between 10 p.m. and midnight — both inbound and outbound — will receive a thorough going over before entry or exit will be permitted.

"Those on liberty after midnight might as well make a night of it," Maj. Whitten suggested. The gate will be virtually secured to them until 6 a.m., he said.

Air Station military personnel, dependents and civil service employees are cautioned to carry positive identification at all times.

As in previous years, aggressors will utilize just about any and all means to "crash" the main gate, including disguise and deceit. Last year a local citizen was duped into bringing aboard an "injured" Marine during the ORI's "gate check." He, as well as his "casualty," were stopped at the gate.

Be prepared. Get home early. Positive identification will be a must during the established hours.

Most of the inspection party is from Midway.

Aggressor personnel from Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor, will test the defenses along the Air Station's perimeter.

Main play of the day's problem will be a command post exercise (CPX) testing the actions and reactions of command and staff officers and their staffs during problems created by the observers.

"White gear" Emergency Recovery Teams will be exercised during the problem when a nuclear incident is inserted in the day's activities.

Security within the Air Station boundaries will be maximum effort in most areas. The runway, housing, and First Brigade areas are off-limits to the aggressors and defenders.

Due to the ORI on Feb. 27, the Station Dispensary's out-patient department will not be open for dependent service until 9 a.m., instead of the usual 7:30 a.m. opening hour.

However, the battle problem will exercise all Station defense elements. Simulated attacks by aircraft and submarines employing conventional or ABC weapons may be injected into the exercise.

Each Disaster Control Team member is expected to be tested in some manner during the day's problem.

A critique will be conducted at the conclusion of the ORI Thursday afternoon.

During the annual ORI here last February, the Station received an "excellent" rating from Barber's Point inspectors.

COMMENDATIONS — Cpl. P. E. Fey (I), and LCpl. N. G. Snooks (r), jet mechanics with VMA-214, were awarded Meritorious Masts last week by LtCol. O. "E" Howe, Jr., Squadron CO. Both Marines were commended for their continuous outstanding performance of duty.

Old Hawaii, Recreated by Polynesian Cultural Center, Less than Hour Away

How did you envision Hawaii before your arrival here?

Did you picture grass huts, jungle thickets and grass-skirted maidens singing and swaying to sensuous island melodies? Were you disappointed that Honolulu was a city as modern as Mainland counterparts?

But wait, there is the dreamed about Hawaii—and Tahiti, Samoa and Maori—just a few minutes drive away from the Air Station.

The Polynesian Cultural

Center of Laie, Hawaii, termed the "showplace of the Pacific," has been in operation for less than a half year, but has already treated thousands of visitors to a panorama of the South Seas.

The Center — a non-profit venture of the Latter Day Saints Church College of Hawaii—is a 15-acre tract of land housing different villages of the major Pacific islands and peoples.

As a point of illustration, the Fijian Village has a temple, a chief's house, a council house, a home for older people and a commoner's home.

As in all the villages, a highly trained guide quickly sketches the aspects of life and art as it applies to Fiji during your visit to this particular part of the Center.

The Cultural Center is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. This schedule is adjusted to accommodate dates featuring evening performances. Admissions to the Center are $1.50 for adults and 75c for children under 12. The Center uses the proceeds in scholarship funds for LDS schools in Hawaii, Samoa and New Zealand.

So for a weekend of Polynesian pleasures, journey north along the scenic Windward coastline; journey past the modern-day blacktop and high-rise look of Hawaii; then take a journey into the past of Pacific Polynesia.

BAQ for O-4s O'Seas

The special provision of the 1963 pay law authorizing off-base basic allowance for quarters for single officers O-4 and above has been extended to cover these officers overseas.

Shopping Reminder—The Commissary will be closed Saturday in observance of President's Day, but remains open for business tomorrow. The Annex will be open Saturday the usual hours.

Kennedy's Stamp — A five cents commemorative stamp honoring the late President John F. Kennedy will be issued by the United States on May 29. The date marks the 47th anniversary of the birth of the late president.

The issue date was selected by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. She also will select the stamp design.

The Post Office at one time considered the possibility of issuing the stamp in all U.S. cities at the same time. This plan has been discarded. Still under consideration is the possibility of having first day ceremonies in more than one city.

Saki Bottles — Former Marine Corps Commandant, Gen. David M. Shoup, has been presented three saki bottles to add to his collection. The bottles are believed to be more than 100 years old.

Raymond Whatley, yeoman second, gave the bottles to the General. They were given to Whatley by a Japanese farmer while the Navy man was serving in Yokosuka.

From Media Chief to Instructor — ISO this week lost another of its "old-timers" with the departure of SSgt. Jim DiBernardo, the man who was behind photo assignments, press releases, home town stories, et al, as chief of the ISO Media Branch.

Sgt. DiBernardo shipped out aboard the Patrick Wednesday for a cross-Mainland journey to New York where he is slated to become an instructor at the soon-to-be-established joint DOD journalism school at Fort Slocum.

Meanwhile, now in the hot seat is SSgt. John Babyack Jr. who is fielding all calls for coverage of K-Bay events. The extension is the same — 72141.

Toe-tall Safety — Cpl. J. E. Underwood, H&MS-13 jet engine mechanic, averted serious injuries to his toes last week when a turbine disengaged from a hoist and landed on his foot. Luckily, he had on safety shoes which netted two large slices cut into the leather down to the steel plate of the hard-toe shoe.

None From K-Bay This Time — HQMC reports the selection of 18 corporals and sergeants for appointment to active duty Reserve commissions.

K-Bay locators checked the list and found none of the selectees currently aboard.

Chosen under the Career Noncommissioned Officer program, the noncoms begin OCC at Quantico Mar. 9.

Good Living Requires Our Knowing And Keeping God's Commandments

By Chaplain Kenneth M. Loughman

"You can't get to heaven on a pair of skis, Because you'll pass right by St. Peter's knees"

Being a ski enthusiast, I would like to question the accuracy of that popular little parody.

Certainly no one will get into heaven on a pair of skis.

He may, however, get very close for the simple reason that skiing demands self-control at all times. Good skiing requires us to know and to keep regulations made for our own safety and well-being on the snow.

Transfer these principles to daily living. Substitute a few words and everything is clear.

Right living demands self-control. Good living requires us to know and to keep the commandments of God made for our own welfare on earth and happiness with Him in heaven. Every worthwhile thing we do in life calls for discipline.

The season of Lent impresses our minds with austerity. The purple trappings of our churches remind us of penance. Our youthful formation at home urges us to do something special for these 40 days.

What will you do today to keep the commandments more attentively? Remember:

"You can get to heaven On self control, Because it will bring You up to St. Peter's goal."

Latest Military Pay Proposal Reaches House; Would Become Effective Oct. 1

A new pay bill that would put more than 14.6 million additional dollars in the pockets of members of the Armed Forces during Fiscal Year 1965 has reached the House of Representatives.

The new raise is proposed to become effective Oct. 1, 1964. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has asked for a basic pay increase of three percent for officers and 2.4 for enlisted members with over two years' service.

In his letter accompanying the bill to Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, Secretary McNamara said the raise is needed to keep military pay in step with civilian rates and quoted the late President Kennedy's pledge made to members of the Armed Forces when the 1963 boost was signed.

"In supporting this legislation before the Congress," President Kennedy said, "this administration pledged to use its best efforts to assure that in the future military compensation will keep pace with increases in salaries and wages in the civilian economy. I think that I speak on behalf of all of us when I say that is a pledge we intend to keep."

To fulfill this pledge and policy, a procedure for an annual review of active military pay has been developed. In addition, the entire structure of military compensation will be studied approximately every five years, the House leader was told.

If effective on Oct. 1, the raise will cost an additional $142,616,000 for the balance of FY65. This includes costs of retirements after the raise. FY66 increased costs will be about $194,062,000.

A Marine captain or Navy lieutenant with over six years service would be raised from $560.00 monthly to $576.00 base pay, an increase of $16.80.

Increases for enlisted members are more modest. The proposed bill raises the base pay of an E-5 with over six years, $5.88 to $250.88.

This proposed legislation implements President Johnson's recommendations in his FY65 budget message to Congress concerning the need to keep military pay rates in line with private industry.

The new bill does not raise retirement pay for personnel now on the retired list. Officers in grades O-1, 2 and 3 with over four years active service as enlisted members would, in some cases, receive more pay than their contemporaries without enlisted service. (AFPS)

Parents! Take Heed!

Little Tots Left Unattended Can Spell Family Disaster

It has been said before, but apparently it needs saying again — and again!

It could be a matter of life or death, the Station Safety/Safe Driving Council feels, and it should be of concern to others besides council members.

Parents of small children, for example.

The problem? Wee ones playing throughout Station housing areas unattended by grown-ups.

A tragic example of what can happen occurred only recently in the Manana Capehart housing area on the leeward side.

Victim was a two-year-old daughter of a Marine. Apparently, she was playing in the street unattended. A driver backing a car out of a nearby driveway could not see the tiny tot behind the car.

The little girl was run over and killed.

The incident should be a grim reminder to all parents everywhere, including those in K-Bay housing areas.

The safety council notes that there have been several "near misses at K-Bay involving both privately owned autos and government vehicles.

K-Bay parents are reminded by the council of their responsibilities and the hazards associated with the lack of proper supervision of minor children.

Pack A 'Language' Seabag For Your Travel Adventure

Get a group of prospective recruits together, offer them travel and adventure, and the odds are better than 10 to 1 they'll sign on the dotted line.

Long eulogized by Marine Corps recruiting posters, these two inviting prospects are practically guaranteed today's Marine.

In this modern age of BLTs, TransPacs and Transplacement Battalions, Marines stationed the world-over stand by with packed seabags ready to move out on a moment's notice.

Fortunate is the Marine who arrives on foreign soil with a speaking knowledge of that country's tongue. In fact, the Marine Corps has taken steps to insure that its officers speak at least one foreign language, preferably French or Spanish.

Here at K-Bay, Brigade and Station personnel have an excellent opportunity during their tour to include in their speaking abilities one or several languages.

With command backing and the dedication of Brigade Schools Language instructors these courses are offered to K-Bayites after normal working hours at no cost.

At present the Schools' language department, which boasts a staff of five enlisted Marine linguists, is striving energetically to make the Brigade teaching facility one of the finest and best-equipped in the Corps. These five Marines are capable of teaching eight different languages.

Founded three years ago, the language school has grown to a department which can offer 19 different languages at the same time.

According to Sgt. Thomas V. Augenfeld, NCO in charge of the school, the remaining 11 language courses are taught by other K-Bay Marines who, along with regular school instructors, volunteer their services.

Since its institution, the school has had about 300 enrollments. Approximately 60 percent of students tested have become language qualified.

"However," Sgt. Augenfeld said, "we have the capability of administering tests in 35 languages to persons possessing either high school or college-level language educations."

"These tests do not qualify an individual for educational credits," he said, "but they do make him eligible for an additional MOS in a particular language."

Assignment of such MOSs is done at the discretion of the student's CO.

In addition to several textbooks and personal tutoring for each language taught, the school offers special pre-recorded tapes and the equipment for playing them.

At present six tape booths and a monitoring booth are in operation. These facilities are available to students who desire to study during non-class nights or off-duty hours.

To accommodate Marines on the move and unable to attend scheduled classes, recordings of class work are made available. Each instructor provides the school with a recorded tape of each class taught for subsequent use by valid absentees.

The school currently offers five language courses, including basic classes in German, French, Russian, Spanish and an intermediate class in German.

These classes are conducted two hours each Tuesday and Thursday between 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. The courses are approximately six months long.

Sgt. Augenfeld anticipates in May the school will offer language courses in Japanese, Chinese (Mandarin), Thai, Vietnamese and Korean. These are scheduled to meet from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

For the K-Bay Marine who wants to become proficient in languages other than his own, Brigade School offers the means.

Cost? Only conscientiousness and concentration.

San Diego 'Devildogs' Begin All-Marine Tournament Dropping Quantico, 94-83

Late Bulletin!

The Hawaii Marines handed Quantico's defending champions a second loss, 71-68, Tuesday night at Bloch Arena to eliminate the East Coast Marines from the 1964 All-Marine Basketball Championship. Led by Dick Markowitz, Jim Bower and Bill Jeffries, with 24, 13 and 10 points respectively, the 'Necks made 60 percent of their field goals in the final half. The 'Necks came from behind to win after trailing 32-27 at halftime.

San Diego's "Devildogs" upset the Quantico "Marines," 94-83, Monday night at Bloch Arena in the first game of the All-Marine Tournament.

Scott Iverson, Dick Clay and Carl Hunter led the Devildogs in their victory over the defending champions, scoring 26, 25, and 22, respectively.

Top scorer for Quantico was Brian Sheehan, 5-9, with 26 points. He sunk 20 in the second half.

Quantico's Dick Peloff hit for 17 and Jim Meyers for 10 in other double scores.

San Diego jumped to an early lead on Ed Anderson's goal to make it 10-8. They maintained the lead the entire game.

The closest Quantico came was within four points late in the second half, 85-79.

San Diegan Walt Seller was stellar in handling the ball down-court. Repeatedly, he evaded the tight Quantico defense and set up plays using voice and visual signals.

Quantico's Brian Sheehan thrilled the crowd of more than 2000 with his aggressive recovery of the ball. He eluded defenders to score on lay-up shots that seemed impossible.

Under pressure to regain possession of the ball, Quantico lost the services of Jim Meyers and Brian Sheehan via the foul route.

Dick Clay of the Devildogs displayed sharp basket-hitting on long set-shots. Scott Iverson countered with elusive lay-up drives at the hoop. Carl Hunter sank most of his shots under the basket.

San Diego led at halftime 48-33.

From the floor Quantico made 36 percent of their shots, San Diego 49.3 percent. On the charity line San Diego made 18-24, Quantico 13-18.

Quantico was under the gun after the first game. Two losses eliminates a team from the tourney.

Marines Manage Second to Powerful Army Ring Squad; Johnson is Victor

The Hawaii Marines Boxing Team could only muster one win in the finals of the HASAC Tournament.

Fighting on home grounds, the local glovemen lost eight out of nine bouts to the Army last Thursday.

Bringing home the bacon for the Marines was Willie Johnson, who scored a second-round KO over Army's Charles Locklear.

Getting off to a hard start at the bell in the first round, Johnson found himself on the deck before the round was over. During the rest period between the first and second round, the doctor was called to ringside to give his opinion about the cut over Johnson's right eye.

When the doctor okayed continuing the match, Johnson appeared more determined than ever. At the bell for the second round, Johnson was out of his corner like a shot. Before the second round had reached the two-minute mark, Johnson was the winner of the match via the knockout route.

Army's Charles Locklear was not the only boxer to lose by being put down for the count. Three Marines found themselves on the canvas instead of going the distance.

Zeb Allen was stopped by Army's Don Ballard in 2:43 of the second round. Arlington Johnson was knocked out by Joe Linton in 2:40 of the third round and Eric Lee was belted out by Walter DeSellers in 58 seconds of the second round.

Also on the losing end of their fights were:

Chester Wooten decisioned by John Kelly, Army.

Armando Martinez decision by Army's Earl Ortiz.

Bill Stanley decisioned by John Keyes, Army.

John Martinez decisioned by Army's Joe Lonzana in a very close and hard-fought battle.

Joe Miller decisioned by Harvey Milas, Army.

During the semi-final go-around Wednesday night, the Marines came through with three wins for three fights. Winning their way into the finals were Martinez, Allen and Johnson.

The Army took home the trophy for the third straight year. In team point standings, the Marines placed second with six points. The Army led the pack with 19 points and the Navy brought up the rear, failing to register any points.

Trying to gain more experience before they leave for the All-Marine fights at Camp Pendleton, Mar. 23-28, the Hawaii Marines boxers returned to the Civic Auditorium Monday.

Fight time for the Monday night smokers is 7:30 p.m. Admission for servicemen with ID card is 50c. Regular admission tickets are selling for $1, students for 50c.

K-Bay Lil League Schedules Trials And Registrations

Little League Baseball tryouts continue this Saturday and Feb. 29 at 9 a.m. at Jerry Coleman Field.

Prospective registrants must bring their birth certificates and must be accompanied by one parent.

Registration fee is $3.50. After Feb. 29 only new arrivals on Station will be allowed to register and try out for the teams.

Only those boys who played at Kaneohe in last year's major league are exempted from tryouts.

The Little League needs umpires for this season. Interested personnel contact SSgt. E. J. Wright at 72170, or come out to the tryouts.

HITS HOME — Hawaii Marine John J. Martinez lands a left jab to the jaw of Army's Joe Lonzana (r) during their championship bout last Thursday. Lonzana went on to win the bout and championship in the Light Welterweight division fought at Hangar 103.

Performance Starts at 8 p.m.

Hawaii University Slates Art Exhibit With Comedy at JFK Theatre Tonite

Set for Royal Hawaiian

O-Wives to Lunch, See Newest Fashions

By Joyce Harte

Don your city clothes gals, Mar. 4 is your day out on the town!

The famous Monarch Room of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel will be the gathering place for the O-Wives' March meeting.

Last year this proved to be the most delightful and enjoyable luncheon of the year, so make your reservations now to get in on this year's fun.

The buffet line opens at noon and what a buffet! Two hot entrees, assorted cold cuts and the most fabulous shrimp, lobster, crab and "you-name-it-and-they'll-have-it" salads in the world make up the menu for the day.

After lunch, Carol and Mary's will present a 45-minute fashion show, giving us an idea of what the truly elegant will be wearing this season.

Make that reservation today with your unit Aloha Chairman. The deadline is Feb. 28.

Belated Happy Birthday!

Women Marines Begin 22d Year

This week Women Marines began their 22d year of service with the Corps.

The Lady Marines stationed at Camp H. M. Smith and throughout the Corps celebrated their 21st Anniversary last Thursday.

Women first served in the Marine Corps during World War I as Marinettes. They entered World War II as Women Reserves on February 13, the date observed annually as their anniversary.

Today's Women Marines, in addition to filling the normal present-day requirements of the Corps, form a nucleus for expansion in the event of mobilization.

They perform duties in approximately 125 different job specialties, ranging from basic administrative duties to highly technical fields.

After World War II, the peak strength of the Corps' Women Reserves dwindled

ADDS FOUR—Cpl. J. A. Fuller, Aviation Electronics Operator, MACS-2, received congratulations from his commanding officer last week following his reenlistment for an additional four years.

Marine Letter Wins

One hundred dollars and the George Washington Honor Medal have been awarded to Marine Maj. Paul E. Wilson, now serving at the Point Arguello Missile Facility.

A list of additional winners, in the $50 category was not available at WM early deadline.

'Back Pack' Operation Pau on March 16

time for the sake of tactical evaluation. A battalion of Chinese Marines will take on a regiment of Chinese Marines in another sector.

The aggressors also have some submarines to harass the approaching task force and some aircraft for the same purpose. They also have their own underwater demolition team to disrupt landing operations in the beachhead area.

The on-shore exercise will conclude with the Seventh Marine Expeditionary Force, led by MajGen. James M. Masters Sr., linking up with Chinese Marine forces for a joint push against a final objective.

Umpires will move with the attacking forces to judge tactical successes.

The joint Sino-American amphibious exercise will conclude Mar. 16. The first units of Marines will begin back-loading aboard ships Mar. 11, the CIB said.
