New FMFPac CG Takes Helm Tomorrow

A one-time company commander with the 4th Marines in Shanghai, China, and later a member of the 1st Marine Brigade will add a third silver star to his collar today.

Tomorrow he will take command of all U. S. Marines in the Pacific area as Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific.

LtGen. Victor H. Krulak is scheduled to arrive from the Mainland this morning.

In change of command ceremonies at Camp H. M. Smith at 10 tomorrow morning, he will relieve LtGen. Carson A. Roberts as FMFPac commander.

Gen. Roberts is retiring after 35 years as a Marine.

Gen. Krulak comes to Hawaii from Washington, D.C., where he served as Special Assistant for Counter-Insurgency and Special Activities on the ARCHIVE of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In that capacity, he often was called upon to act as advisor to the White House. He also received his third Legion of Merit decoration for "outstanding services."

The new FMFPac commander was born in Denver, Colo., in 1913 and became a Marine second lieutenant upon graduation from the Naval Academy in May 1934.

In March 1937 he sailed for China where he served with the Fourth Marines for two years as a company commander. He was promoted to first lieutenant while there.

In June 1940, after completing the Junior Course at MCS, Quantico, he was appointed Assistant to the Brigade Quartermaster, 1st

LtGen. V. H. Krulak
Marine Brigade, then located at Quantico.

He sailed for Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, in October 1940 where the Brigade was redesignated the 1st Marine Division.

In January 1943, Gen. Krulak volunteered for parachute training and was designated a parachutist in February 1943.

The next month he took command of the 2d Parachute Battalion at New Caledonia and went into action at Vella Lavella in September.

He earned the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism and the Purple Heart for wounds received while commanding a diversionary landing at Choiseul to cover the Bougainville invasion.

As G-3 of the Sixth Marine Division, he was awarded the Legion of Merit with Combat "V" for outstanding service in the planning and execution of the Okinawa campaign.

The General also received the Bronze Star Medal at the war's end for his part in negotiating the surrender of Japanese forces in the Tsingtao, China, area.

Gen. Krulak has twice before served with FMFPac, once a G-3 and later as Chief of Staff.

While Chief of Staff of the 1st Marine Division in Korea in late 1951, he earned his second Legion of Merit with Combat "V" and was awarded the Air Medal for reconnaissance and other flights in Korea.

The General and Mrs. Krulak, the former Amy Chandler, have three sons. Victor Jr. is an Episcopal minister at the St. Johns By the Sea Church in Kaneohe, Hawaii.

William is a second lieutenant serving with the 1st Marine Division; Charles is a company commander in the 1st class at the Naval Academy.

Perimeter Defense, Inspections, CPX

Station's Annual ORI Ends on Critique

The Air Station's annual Operational Readiness Inspection concluded yesterday afternoon when Navy RADM. C. H. Duerfeldt, Commander, Naval Air Bases, presided over a critique of the three-day inspection.

The Admiral, along with the 14th Naval District's Inspector General and his staff, tested the reflexes of virtually every Station function with emergency drills which began yesterday morning.

The readiness inspection kicked off Tuesday morning when the Administration/Material inspection party arrived and began single purpose inspections of some 27 Station functions.

The single purpose inspections continued Wednesday, the scheduled wrap-up day for A&M inspectors.

The Station Electronics

Section was the only unit not inspected this week. They had previously undergone their A&M Feb. 3.

Wednesday evening, and throughout the remainder of the night, aggressors tried every means to penetrate the Next week the Windward Marine will carry photos and a wrap-up on the Station ORI. A reporter-photographer team accompanied the inspectors—and the inspected—during the three-day problem. Printing deadlines prevented the feature from appearing in this week's issue.

Air Station's defense perimeter. The main gate was virtually sealed to traffic from midnight until daybreak.

The aggressor personnel were from Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor.

Adm. Duerfeldt arrived yesterday to witness the day-long Operational Readiness Inspection of the Station's emergency units.

Navy Capt. George Washington Davis V, CO of the Midway Naval Station, served as the ORI senior observer.

March Siren Test Set Next Monday

Monthly tests of Hawaii's Civil Defense system will be heard aboard K-Bay Monday at approximately 11 a.m.

The wailing tone for air attack will consist of a steady blast for one minute followed by a minute of silence. Then the one-minute "take cover" signal takes over.

Next on the check will be the tidal wave warning. Test will be a steady one-minute wail followed by a minute's silence.

This cycle will be repeated five times.

Former Group CO To Take Key Job

Former MAG-13 CO and Brigade Chief of Staff, Col. William G. Thrash, a brigadier general selectee, will assume duties as Legislative Assistant to CMC early in March, HQMC has announced.

Col. Thrash replaces BrigGen. William K. Jones, who succeeds BrigGen. Joseph L. Stewart as CG, Force Troops, FMFPac, and MCB, Twenty-nine Palms.

Gen. Stewart will become Director, Marine Corps Reserve, in April, succeeding BrigGen. Ronald R. Van Stockum. Gen. Van Stockum will become CG, LFTV, Coronado.

SAFETY AWARD—Col. Paul T. Johnston, Station CO (c), presented a Department of the Navy Commendation for Prevention of Accidents to Capt. Robert F. Stewart, Station Ordnance Office (r), as Station Safety Officer Al Roth looks on. Capt. Stewart accepted the award on behalf of the Ordnance Department which registered 12 continuous accident-free months.

Current Charges Cut; Credit Consumer Care

Despite chronic "deadlinitis" and puka fatigue, Windward Marine staffers are all smiles this week.

WM readers are responsible.

Station Public Works has come up with January cost figures for electricity consumed on the Air Station. They show:

Cost of electricity for January 1964—$30,916.

Predicted cost for the month—$35,650.

Cost for January, last year—$33,469.

In other words, K-Bay military, dependents and civilian workers, through their voluntary conservation efforts, used about $4700 less electricity than anticipated.

Yea!

And for comparison, they saved more than $2500 over last year's costs for the same month.

Yea, again!

The January figures are the first to reflect a full month's efforts at conservation since the Windward Marine's editorial plea for voluntary assistance from all K-Bayites in bringing down costs of electricity.

With a Brigade BLT currently deployed and with the continuing support of every user at K-Bay, Public Works officials hope savings this month and the coming months will be even greater.

The Windward Marine—still out on its limb—hopes so too!

Off-Limits to K-Bayites

North Beach Unsafe for Swimmers

The beautiful Hawaiian weather Oahu has been enjoying encourages Marines and their dependents to violate regulations.

Make sense?

It would if you talked to Maj. E. W. Whitten, PMO. The Major says his office is constantly receiving reports of swimming violations on North Beach.

He points out there is only one safe beach area for swimming aboard this station. That's the Fort Hase Cove beach and it can be used only when there is a lifeguard on duty.

Swimming violators will be cited by MPs. In the case of dependents, parents will be held responsible.

Maj. Whitten emphasized that the swimming regulations here are made for the protection of the individual. The treacherous undertow and rugged coral reefs off North Beach make it a dangerous place to swim.

CONGRATULATIONS CHAPLAIN — Chaplain Kenneth M. Loughman, 3/4, received his new rank insignia of lieutenant last week from Maj. N. W. Hicks, Bn. CO. Chaplain Loughman was ordained in 1958.

Proposal Before Budget Bureau Asks Guest House Stay Without BAQ Loss

People on change of station orders may soon be able to spend a few days at the guest house at the new station without loss of quarters allowance.

A proposal now being pushed before the Budget Bureau by the Air Force, with other services concurring, would have that effect. It would govern the use of "transient facilities."

Current rules dictate that a man on change of station occupying a guest house loses BAQ, while a man occupying the same accommodations on a "temporary social visit" does not. In each case, the occupant pays the guest house fee.

Under the new proposal, the Secretary of Defense could fix a reasonable time during which the individual on change of station, who might be accompanied by his family, could stay at the guest house with no loss of BAQ.

The same proposal would permit the social visitor to stay there up to seven days without loss of BAQ. In each case, the man would continue to pay the guest house fee.

Awaiting the outcome of this proposal is the scheduled takeover of the Navy guest house business by the Navy Ship's Store Office, the

Secretary Terms Shelter Plan Best

Defense Secretary McNamara has told Congress that well-executed civil defense plans based on nationwide fallout shelters could, dollar-for-dollar, save more lives in a nuclear attack than additional funds spent for strategic retaliatory air and missile defense forces.

"Indeed," Mr. McNamara said, "our studies indicate that an effective civil defense program could increase the number of persons surviving a determined Soviet nuclear attack in the 1970 period by tens of millions, at a total investment cost to the Federal government of about $3½ billion. (AFPS)

Division of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts that runs Navy exchanges.

A SecNav instruction (11107.1) directs the takeover, which says that each guest house will be run on non-appropriated funds in the manner of a Navy exchange. Presumably, this means guest quarters will be priced so as to cover operating costs, plus a small profit for the recreation funds.

A guest house is defined as "living accommodations which are rented to authorized personnel on a temporary basis."

Excepted from this definition is substandard housing scheduled to be declared excess, but currently operated as transient housing; such that are really part of flag or commanding officers' quarters; fishing camps, hunting lodges and the like, which are really for recreation rather than residence, and housing authorized by a closed mess.

The SecNav instruction did not apply to the Marine Corps, although the proposed changes in the executive order on BAQ would apply to the Corps.

The instruction said:

- Guest house facilities shall be divided equitably, according to requirement between officers and enlisted; and there will not be any race discrimination.

- Guest house will be established only where adequate commercial lodging at reasonable prices are not conveniently available.

- Occupancy will be limited to people authorized unlimited exchange privileges; to official guests of the command; visiting relatives and guests of military personnel.

- Period of occupancy is up to commanding officer, but won't ordinarily exceed 15 days. (NAVY TIMES)

Exams Tomorrow

UH Offers Courses at K-Bay

It's time again to think about improving your education by attending evening credit courses being offered by the University of Hawaii for K-Bay personnel.

These courses will start Apr. 6 and will continue until June 11.

They will be held aboard the Station.

An entrance examination will be given at Bilger Hall, Room 152, at the University tomorrow starting at 1 p.m.

Chaplain's Corner

Just as Our Bodies Require Food, One's Soul Needs the Word of God

By Chaplain G. S. Thilking

We must eat to live. That statement is such a simple fact that no one will attempt to contradict it. Without food, our bodies will weaken and eventually die.

It is not too far-fetched to apply this principle to a person's spirit or soul. In the wilderness temptation, when he had been without food for forty days, Jesus said to the tempter, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God," Matthew 4:4). Just as our bodies need food, so our souls need the word of God.

Prayer and worship of God are not luxuries that can be left out. They are to a man's spirit what food is to his body.

One excuse men often make for not attending church is: "No, I don't go anymore. When I was a boy, my parents made me go to church. I swore that when I was away from home, they would never get me to another church service."

Probably everyone reading these words was forced to eat food by his parents. However, there aren't as many men bypassing the mess halls as the chapels. Not too logical an excuse, is it?

Missing—Five sets of orders, including originals and pages from a Service Record Book, have been missing since Feb. 10.

It is believed that someone accidentally picked them up from the counter at the Disbursing Office after reporting in that day.

Any information or assistance will be greatly appreciated. Call Sgt. D. Meyer at 73125.

Take Time—Save Money and Trouble—PMO says take a minute and write a note giving another person permission to drive your vehicle. This could save you time, money and a citation. More than 50 percent of last weekend's traffic tickets aboard the Station were for failure to have, or give, written permission.

This goes hand-in-hand with unlicensed drivers, according to PMO. When giving written permission, make sure the driver has a valid driver's permit. It could save you as much as $25 in civilian court.

Fire Prevention Contest—Three Marine Corps installations are among the winners in the military division of the National Fire Protection Association's 1963 Fire Prevention Contest.

Ninety-five Naval and Marine posts and stations competed in the contest, which was divided into three categories: large, medium and small.

MCRD, Parris Island, took first place in its category (medium sized facilities) and MCSC, Albany, (medium sized facilities) and MCB, Camp Pendleton, (large facilities) received honorable mentions.

Each winner will receive a certificate of merit from NFPA.

Get in the Battle—This year's Easter Seal Campaign slogan is "Easter Seals Fight Crippling." Beginning Sunday, the campaign will continue through Easter Sunday, Mar. 29.

Founded in 1921, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults serves the physically handicapped, regardless of their race, creed, age or crippling condition.

Last year more than 5000 handicapped were helped by Hawaii's chapter.

He's Still Standing—Our sports pages reported last week that Marine boxer Willie Johnson was down on the canvas before winning his fight.

Boxer Johnson advises us he was not down on the canvas in that fight and has never been decked in the ring. We stand corrected.

New FCU Leaders — The MCAS Federal Credit Union has a new board of directors and credit committee elected during a recent meeting of the membership.

Board of directors: R. Willard Gray, PMR; W. W. Hooper, PWD; John T. K. Lum, PWD; Capt. V. D. Caracio, MAG-13; Joe Miller, PWD; and Al Walker, Supply.

Credit committees: HMC P. E. Greater; Stanley Poremba, PWD; Carl H. Dry, PMR; GySgt. F. E. Bartlett; AKC S. E. White.

FCU President Gray noted that membership is up to 3507, an increase of 17% over 1962. More than 2300 members received loans totalling over $1 million.

The Lieutenant's wife, Nancy, was on hand for the ceremonies. 1stLt. Stockburger, the squadron's assistant flight officer, received his reserve commission in March 1961.

K-Bayite Idea Hits Pay Dirt; Aids Marines

Having trouble blousing your utilities?

An old "gimmick" paid off last week when Sgt. William J. Norris, platoon sergeant with 1st Landing Support Company, received a check for $50.

Sgt. Norris, who answered a magazine advertisement from a California firm which manufactures "helpful aids" for busy Marines, submitted his idea suggesting the firm make chrome-plated springs similar to flash-bang simulator springs.

He suggested they package them for sale through the Marine Corps Exchange for use by Marines in blousing their utility trousers.

The idea was accepted. However, Sgt. R. E. Karmolinski at Parris Island also submitted the same idea. The $100 bonus offered in the ad was split two ways.

For each pair of springs sold, Sgt. Norris will receive a two-cent royalty.

IDEA PAYS OFF—Sgt. William J. Norris, 1stLdgSptCo, displays the "gimmick" derived from an idea which netted him $50 from a California manufacturer.

NEW LIEUTENANT COLONEL—LtCol. Henry Waryek (c) has his new silver leaves pinned on by his wife, Mary, and Col. Paul T. Johnston, Station CO, during promotion ceremonies Tuesday. Col. Waryek recently reported to K-Bay from MCRD, San Diego, where he served with G-2. The Colonel will be Station S-4.

Major Takes 2d Place

11 Marines Win 1963 Freedoms Awards

Eleven Marines have been named to receive awards in the 1963 Freedoms Foundation Letter Awards competition, HQMC has announced.

Marine Maj. Paul E. Wilson, took a second place award in the contest.

The Major and the other top-ten winners visited their service Headquarters in Washington and attended a congressional luncheon in their honor. The winners also toured Valley Forge and attended the awards ceremony on Washington's Birthday.

Maj. Wilson, stationed at Marine Barracks, Point Arguello, Lompoc, Calif., won the award for his poem, "What Can I Do For Freedom," theme of the contest.

Maj. Wilson received $100 and a George Washington Honor Medal as did six other Marine winners. Two Marines received $50 and Honor Medals, while two others received Honor Medals.

Marine winners include: ($100 and medal), Sgt. Tom Bartlett, 1st District, Garden City, N. Y.; Pvt. Frank Carlin, 1stMarDiv; SSgt. Noel A. John, 3dMarDiv; GySgt. William F. Kobera, III, 2dMAW; Capt. Jack C. Thompson, MCS; and LtCol. Don P. Wyckoff, MCS.

Winners of $50 each and medals were: Cpl. T. W. Berndt, 3dMarDiv, and LCpl. Robert A. Clark, MCAS, Cherry Point. Honor medals went to

First Brigade Aggressors Dig In; D-Day Is Tuesday

Tuesday is D-Day for Operation "Back Pack."

It is also the day upon which First Brigade Marines, as aggressors, will test by opposition the tactics and capabilities of other U.S. Marines.

Elements of the 3dMarDiv, supported by aircraft of the 1stMAW, will make the amphibious assault over Southwestern Taiwan beaches.

BLT 1/4, commanded by LtCol. A. I. Thomas, will oppose the landings and subsequent attempts to reach inland objectives.

At the same time, Chinese

Marines will oppose Chinese Marines in other sectors during the same assault.

Wing and Division Marines are aboard ships of the Seventh Fleet's amphibious force steaming toward the assault area.

Enroute, the Navy task force is encountering aggressor submarines and aircraft (also from 1stMAW) attempting to stave off the assault from the sea.

Despite the harassing, however, U.S. seaborne forces are expected to commence the attack on the scheduled H-Hour—8 a.m.—Tuesday.

Meanwhile, BLT 1/4 Marines are digging in to defend and deter, as they await invasion by superior numbers and equipment.

Hawaii's Senator Fong, Party Visit PMRF's Activities

Senator Hiram Fong (R-Hawaii) and party recently visited PMR's South Point Tracking Station on the Big Island of Hawaii.

Senator Fong's tour included a look at the GKR-5 antenna system, which includes a 60-foot parabolic dish, the Station's power plant, and an explanation of how the Station is used by the National Space Agency in support of its programs.

Senator Fong commented that the tour did much to increase his appreciation of the Nation's space effort.

The tour was conducted by A. F. Ellman, Bendix Radio Corporation's Operation and Maintenance Supervisor at South Point.

LCpls. John J. Mahan Jr., and Gerald W. Potkay, both from 3dMarDiv.

SHIPS FOR SIX—Sgt. Charles A. Rix, H&HS, reenlisted for six years last Wednesday. The sergeant was administered the oath of enlistment by his CO, Maj. L. J. McGowan. Sgt. Rix, who entered the Marine Corps in March 1952, is NCOIC of the Training Aids Library.

Goes Monday at 7 p.m.

Educational TV Is PTA Presentation

Educational Television will be the main topic for K-Bay's PTA meeting at 7 p.m. Monday at Mokapu School.

Professor Robert M. Reed, University of Hawaii, will conduct an hour's lecture and show color slides on television versus education.

Following the talk and business meeting, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Free baby-sitting will be provided children of walking age and up.

AWARDS AT SEA—Maj. R. J. Kern, VMA-214, Detachment "N" Commander aboard the carrier USS Hornet, somewhere in the Pacific, last week presented good conduct awards to VMA-214 personnel assigned to the detachment. ## $$ Pay Call... Pay Call $$

Marines are famous for grabbing a wink or two when they get the chance. They may even doze through a tidal wave alert or a USO show featuring 50 gorgeous gals.

But, there's one thing that'll make them hit the deck every time — in a hurry.

It's the bugler sounding off with those beautiful notes of "pay call."

And standing by at the "ever-ready" is K-Bay's Station Disbursing Division.

The paymasters meet the call with checks, greenbacks and silver. In fact, more than a million bucks worth each payday. K-Bay disbursers estimate their monthly pay roll to exceed $2 million.

Kaneohe - based Marines and Navy men were paid in excess of $15 million last year. An additional $3.5 million went to civilian employees. Over $5.5 million was paid for open purchases.

The Disbursing Division, headed by Maj. Walter F. Rogers, presently consists of five officers and 33 enlisted men. They represent Station, Brigade and MAG-13.

They process more than 8500 pay cards each payday, make out approximately 250 travel claims a month and initiate in excess of 675 open purchase vouchers each four weeks.

These open purchases alone total more than $400,000 a month and consist of monies going to athletic teams journeying the globe, buying groceries for the commissary and purchasing items for Navy Supply ranging from a recap tire to an air-conditioning unit.

This doesn't touch the long list of non-stockable items, college tuition assistance and furniture repairs for occupants of Capehart Housing.

If these statistics haven't reached you, here's a few more that'll enlighten you.

Each payday disbursers process checks for over 5500 military personnel from the Brigade, Station, 1st Radio Company and Pacific Missile Range Facility.

Between 1100 and 1500 checks go to civilians each month. Miscellaneous checks, totaling over 1100, go to vendors and travel refunds carried on the cash rolls monthly.

Rated seventh in size in the Marine Corps, K-Bay's Disbursing Division rang up a .48 percent error rate for the last checkable period (Jan. 1 — parent organization before coming to the "front office" for service.

The paying of dollars is but one of the Disbursing Division's functions. They also take in a lot of money. In fact, one-half million dollars worth each month.

Money is collected from the Commissary, Clothing Cash Sales, government telephone bills and from rental quarters aboard the Air Station. Incoming monies are audited by K-Bay's disbursers and recredited to specified appropriations.

And when it comes to moving out with the dough in case of a mount out, they're ready. Right now a five-man team — one officer and four enlisted — is with 1/4 on Operation "Back Pack."

Located in Building 220, bottom deck adjacent to H&HS Squadron, disbursing hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. A noon watch is available, as well as a 24-hour service in case of emergencies.

What's in store for K-Bay's Marines and their Disbursing Division?

At present, K-Bayites are paid by both cash and checks, requiring two separate systems. It's hoped and planned that the next couple of years will see all Marines paid by check.

The exact time will be established when the Department of Defense decides on one standard procedure for all services.

And, as Maj. Rogers observes smilingly, all K-Bay Marines and civilians will always look for one particular "improvement" from Station Disbursing — fatter pay checks!

NAME'S THE SAME—Cpl. D. L. Deethardt, Enlisted Accounts, runs the bi-weekly payroll on the office addressograph machine.

This remarkable low error rate was based on 8063 pay records.

"The mission of K-Bay's section, like any other good section in the Corps," says Maj. Rogers, "is to strive to provide prompt, courteous, convenient and accurate disbursing service to our personnel, civilian workers and to the suppliers of our materials and services."

The Major says that good service depends upon accurate and timely information from all units aboard K-Bay supported by disbursing.

Hawaii Marine Cagers Win All-Marine Title

The Hawaii Marines won the 1964 All-Marine Basketball Championship last Friday defeating the San Diego Devil-dogs, 76-70, at Bloch Arena.

Hawaii's 'Necks could have cinched the tournament the night before, but were edged by the Devildogs, 66-65.

This was an upset as the 'Necks overpowered the Devil-dogs in the third game of the tourney, 87-60.

In their first encounter with Quantico, the Hawaii team won, 71-68. It was Quantico's second loss, eliminating the 1963 defending champions.

Quantico's first loss was to San Diego in the opening game, 94-83.

The most crucial contest was Friday to determine the All-Marine Champions. However, every game at Bloch Arena last week proved a thriller.

About 2500 fans watched spectacular basketball displayed by Quantico's Brian "Puddy" Sheehan in the first game. They also saw Hawaii's "Bustling" Bill Connolly stop Sheehan cold in the second game. Sheehan scored 26 points in the opener, but was held to a mere 4 points against the 'Necks.

Notable performances were shown by Dick Peloff and Jim Meyers of the East Coast Marines.

Stand-outs for the Devildogs were Scott Iverson, Dick Clay and Carl Hunter, who displayed sharp outside shooting. They could not go around or through the tall 'Neck defenses, so had to go over.

If any 'Necks were to be singled out, it would be Bill Connolly. Not only was he the top scorer of the tournament, but he performed as a champion on defense amidst a relentless display of aggressiveness that urged his team on to victory.

It was Connolly's field goal that put the 'Necks ahead with 14 minutes remaining in the Quantico game. The 'Necks stayed ahead to win, 71-68.

In the crucial final game, after Darrell Pastrell put Hawaii ahead, 46-45, with 12 minutes remaining, Connolly countered with two straight field goals, then added nine more points to help defeat San Diego, 76-70.

Dependable Jim Bower contributed his usual competitive play. His play-making and shifty drive shots were tremendous factors in out-maneuvering his opponents.

Bower scored doubles in three of the four games, scoring 13 against Quantico and 14 and 10, respectively, in the last two San Diego games. His under-the-basket play was outstanding, particularly in the final tilt.

Despite being heavily guarded Dick Markowitz scored doubles in each game. Against Quantico he hit for 24. In the first San Diego game he scored 12 and came up with 17 each in the last two games.

Nods go to Bill Jeffries and Clyde Stallsmith for rebounding chores. Jeffries also hit double figures in two games. Against Quantico, he hit 10 and in the final game of the tournament he scored 15 against San Diego.

The Hawaii Marines, guided by Coach R. A. Smith, took second place in the Hawaiian Armed Forces Invitational Basketball League; placed three players, Bill Connolly, Dick Markowitz, and Darrell Pastrell on the All-Star team; produced the league's top scorer, Dick Markowitz; placed Connolly and Markowitz on the Star-Bulletin's All-Tourney team; produced the Most Valuable Player of the All-Marine tournament, Connolly; and captured the 1964 All-Marine Basketball Championship.

Coach Smith will take the following players to represent the U.S. Marine Corps in the Inter-Service Tournament at Denver (Lowry, AFB) Mar. 12-14:

Trip Every Other Day

New Deep Sea Fishing Boat Ready For K-Bay Anglers; Will Carry Six

A new fishing boat, the Aku II, is now available to K-Bay anglers.

Sponsored by Station Special Services and skippered by former Navy Chief Lyell Livingston, the Aku II makes her debut Sunday.

Converted from a 43-foot Higgins boat, the Aku II will carry six fishermen at a time. She's scheduled for one trip every other day.

Mr. Livingston can't guarantee a big fish on each man's line, but he said he would hit the best spots on the Windward side to give everyone the best possible chance.

Charge for the outing: Four dollars per head. This will include everything but food and beverage. Reservations will be made through Special Services and taken on a first-come, first-served basis.

SSO officials ask that all reservations be made during the last week of each month. Money will be due five days prior to the trip.

The Aku II will depart the Special Services boathouse at 8 a.m. All hands are required to be at the dock one-half hour prior to departure time. The boat will return at approximately 4 p.m.

As for the Aukaka — she's still running full steam. Call Special Services for reservations.

Brigade SSO Has Boards

Big-Wave Surfer Offers Advice to Surfing Enthusiasts; Competes with World's Best

Not many K-Bay water enthusiasts ever had the desire to mount an 11-foot board and zip along a 30-foot wall of water at 45 miles per hour.

But, if you've ever had the desire to learn small-wave surfing — and still do — Hawaii has the place for you.

All that's needed is a good sense of timing, nerves of steel and plenty of just good plain judgment. Brigade Special Services has the equipment.

The section also has a well-qualified surfer who can offer you plenty of advice on technique, equipment and procedure. He can also give you many dos and don'ts on surfing.

He is LCpl. Charles M. Galento, HqCo—ServBn, on temporary additional duty at Brigade SSO.

Although he doesn't have a national rating, he was one of the 12 finalists fighting it out for the four top berths in the recent International Surfing Championships held at Makaha Beach.

More than 300 surf busters represented countries throughout the world. Many of them came from areas famous for molding surfers including Australia, New Zealand, Peru, Hawaii and the Mainland.

Cpl. Galento was termed as the "hottest big wave surfer of the year" by Fuzzy Trent, father of big wave surfing in Hawaii. Mr. Trent is also known worldwide for writing surfing articles for national magazines.

Adding further to Cpl. Galento's laurels, Val Valentine, local film producer, features him in many segments of a two-hour color movie titled "Call of the Surf." The film, making its debut at Kailua Intermediate High School Mar. 6 and 7 at 7:30 p.m., is already booked by agencies in California and Australia.

Cpl. Galento describes the full-length feature as exciting for any viewer and it superbly captures the big ones at Banzai Pipeline, Sunset Beach and Waimea Bay.

"If you're really interested in surfing, see the film. It'll help you make up your mind one way or the other," the Corporal advises.

At present, Cpl. Galento is experimenting with a bigger and better surf board. Designed by a local manufacturer, the new board may enable surf busters to ride waves 45 to 55 feet high and reach speeds of 50 mph and more.

Cpl. Galento, a surfing bug for the past five years in California and Hawaii, hails from Middletown, Conn. He reported to K-Bay in May 1961.

OVER TWO STORIES HIGH - LCpl. C. M. Galento, Brigade Special Services, rides a 20-foot plus wave, the largest ever ridden at the Banzai Pipeline. Cpl. Galento advises that this spot is the most dangerous surfing area in the world and should be undertaken only by those with a lot of big wave experience.
