cility at K-Bay Tuesday replacing Capt. Stanley R. Lane.

Capt. Lane was scheduled to depart the Station Wednesday morning for duty in the offices of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Washington, D. C.

Capt. Wooten's previous service with the Missile Range included a tour at Point Mugu. Calif.. from 1950 to 1952, and a tour aboard the USS Norton Sound, a guided-missile re-search ship based at Port Hueneme, Calif.. in 1960 and 1961

The Captain was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1944 and was assigned duty as gunnery officer aboard the USS San Juan. Just prior to the end of World War II he reported to NAS, Pensacoia, as an aviation student.

He received his aviator's wings in March 1946 and was transferred to Patrol Squad-ron 61 where he served as pilot and training officer.

The Captain next attended a guided-missile school for a year, and in May 1950, was transferred to Point Mugu where he served as Director of Tests, Staff Planning until April 1952.

Captain Wooten's other assignments include service with ComFair Wing 4, test pilot school and armament testing. He also served with and commanded VA(HM) 13 before going aboard the USS Norton Sound.

In 1961 he was assigned duty as a test pilot at the

was instructed to report to Prigade to receive a message.

The message: Prepare to mount-out a reinforced battalion by air to seize, occupy and defend Base Camp, Pohakuloa.

Col. E. P. Dupras, 4th Marines CO, was notified immediately as the regimental recall was sounded. He ordered 2/4, commanded by LtCol. D. T. Doxey, to begin preparation for a mount-out by air.

Within 24 hours the battalion had recalled its personnel, repacked its equipment into airlifts and was ready to go. And 2/4 did go—to Poha-kuloa, six days earlier than scheduled.

More than 750 Marines were transported to the Big Island by KC-130 and C-54 aircraft. Approximately 135 members of the battalion boarded an LST which was scheduled to arrive at Hawaii Monday, one day after the air-lift.

The battalion, which had participated in an Aircraft

Loading School held by the Brigade and VMGR 352 Apr. 27-29, loaded more than 90 men with equipment aboard the aircraft in an average time of three minutes per aircraft.

Eleven demonstrators greeted the Marines as they landed at Kamuela Airport, some 25 miles away from Base Camp, Pohakuloa. The demonstrators, who urged the Marines to mind their own business and leave the island, were dealt with in accordance with established Civil Affairs procedures and the battalion returning to K-Bay May 23.

Light resistance and minor skirmishes were en-countered along the route and 2/4 had little trouble "seizing, occupying and defending Base Camp."

According to LtCol. D. N.

McDowell, Brigade G-3, the departure of 2/4 provided an excellent opportunity for the battalion to test its mount-out capabilities on short notice.

The battalion is scheduled to conduct live fire field training exercises and its an-nual BLT Tactical Test before conduct live fire

The Air Station played host to some 30 patients and four staff members of the Metropolitan Unit, Hawaii State Hospital, Kaneohe, during their tour of K-Bay facilities last week.

WO R. T. Warren, Asst. MCX Officer, who escorted the visitors during their tour, presented a briefing on the Air Station at Kansas Tower.

After the briefing the visitors saw the Station Crash Crew demonstrate fire-fight-ing techniques that would be used on a burning aircraft.

Next the visitors stopped at EOD where they saw a display of the various types of demolitions used by Marines in combat.

The guests then saw SAR helicopter rescue procedures including the rescue of a man out of Kaneohe Bay. The basic components of the helicopter and rescue gear were then explained.

By Chaplain J. H. Lampe

Sometime ago a newspaper carried the announcement of the finding of a small baby girl, about seven days old, on a rubbish heap in the Kowloon section of Hong Kong, with a request that anyone who might know of its identity call the house where it had been taken.

We who live in a rather sophisticated part of the world are hardly able to comprehend that this could ever be done; what we have forgotten is that this sort of thing has been done-in some parts of the world for ages.

And that we are not very far from the time when there was very little consideration for the poor, the weak, the old and the halt, lame and blind.

What we have done along these areas has come out of a concern for others which has been ingrained in us through the impact of Christian ideals upon our society.

But it is not enough to say that concern for others is a part of our way of life and let it go at that. We have an obligation to actively engage ourselves in promoting that which will make life a meaningful matter to everyone.

If we do not, then we have no recourse when the situation arises where Communism enslaves even more millions of people and sets back the time clock of civilization a thousand

This is a very real battle of our time — and what are and what are you doing to help win it?

K-Bay Drivers Take Note — Residents of Aikahi Park and representatives of Centex Trousdale Construction Company have requested that persons driving between the Air Station and Kaneohe Bay Drive not use Ilihau Street and Aikahi Loop as thoroughfares.

They pointed out that the streets are private property and are not open to public traffic.

Summer Camp for Girls Set on Kauai - The Kauai and Oahu YWCAs will conduct two one-week camping sessions starting July 5 and 11, and a two-week session on July 20 at Camp Sloggett, Kokee, Kauai.

The Summer Program is for girls 9 to 12 years of age. The camp is a member of the American Camping Association and meets standard camping requirements.

Voting Ballots — Requests for absentee ballots have been reaching State secretaries too early resulting in return of the Federal Post Card Application to the voter.

Defense officials suggest individuals check with local voting officers to obtain the correct period in which a State will accept requests for a primary or general election ballot.

If an original request for an absentee ballot has been returned, DOD officials recommend re-submission during the dates of acceptance. (AFPS)

Daedalian Dandy Flying Award - K-Bayites flying to the Mainland aboard Military Air Transport Service planes can rest at ease — they're in safe hands.

And to prove it, MATS has been awarded the Daedallan Flying Safety Trophy for its flight record for 1963.

The award marked the third year that the Air Force command received the honor. During '63 MATS set an all-time low accident rate of .81, less than one accident for every 100,000 flying hours.

Besides winning the flying safety trophy, says Armed Forces Press Service, MATS took honors in aircraft maintenance and motor vehicle safety.

It all began in response to an editorial that appeared in the Windward Marine last November pleading for ail hands to help cut the cost of electricity aboard the Station.

K-Bayites immediately pick-ed up the ball and they haven't dropped it since. The Station's electricity costs for the past four months have been well below this year's cstimates and last year's costs.

The total cost last month was $30,696.37, more than $4000 less than was anti-cipated by Public Works officials. The figures for April of last year exceeded $33,750. March of this year cost the Station $32,102.51.

MAG-13's 'Long Day' Ends Today After a Long Week

K-Bay became a beehive of activity at 8:15 a.m. Saturday when a Romeo Recall sounded to begin Operation "Long Day" for MAG-13.

Primary objective of the operation was to test Group mount-out capabilities. The operation was scheduled to end this morning...

The Group reached its maximum operational level within 48 hours after Prince Puu, mythical President of Kahoolawe asked the United States for aid when his island was attacked by leftist leader Kiawe's forces from Pohakuloa

The United States had warned Field Marshal Kiawe that it would take all steps necessary to prevent him from dominating Kahoolawe.

When Kiawe shrugged off the warning as "rumblings from the Great Paper Tiger," some 235 officers and 1800 enlisted Marines of MAG-13 began working round-the-clock to support the imaginary ground war on Kahoolawe.

HMM-161 boarded the USS Hise (an airstrip at Bellows Air Force Station), an airKahoolawe.

After leaving the simulated aircraft carrier, the squadron set up a small airfield at Bellows.

MCAS, Kancohe became Advance Base Kaneohe Tuesday when the first of 32 F8B "Crusaders" from VMF-212 and 232 simulated a trans-Pacific crossing and began reorganizing to support President Puu.

The Advance Base consisted of a 4000-foot minimal airfield and utilized SATS and Morest capabilities.

H&MS-13 was heli-lifted to Fort Hase Beach from the simulated aircraft carrier, USS Brown, Tuesday. They pro-ceeded to Advance Base Kaneohe where they gave support to the tactical squadrons.

VMF-212 and 232 were scheduled to start flak-suppression (strafing) on the aggressor forces at 6 a.m. Wednesday. VMA-214 was to conduct landing zone prepara-tion utilizing bombs and

At 7 a.m. HMM-161 escorted by VMF-212 and 232 was to begin the vertical assault phase of the operation.

According to Capt. J. M. Rule III, Group S-2 Officer, the problem was planned to test the Group under actual combat conditions.

Aloha Party Reunites Silver Star Chaplain and Stretcher-Bearer Star. A part of his citation reads as follows:

By SSgt. J. Babyack Jr.

More than a decade has passed since a badly wounded Catholic chaplain was evacuated from the frozen mountains of Koto-ri, North Korea.

Last Sunday, that same chaplain, Navy Cdr. Cornelius J. Griffin (CHC), was reunited with one of the stretcher-bearers who placed him aboard the aircraft that evacuated him to a hospital in Japan.

The reunion took place at an aloha party at old Mokapu School given in honor of Father Griffin, new Station Chaplain, and Navy LtCdr. L. D. Ward (CHC), former Station Chaplain who departed for duty at the U.S. Naval Hospital. Chelsea (Boston): Mass. last Wednesday.

The stretcher-bearer was Sgt. William J. Norris, HqCo, ServBn., who recognized Father Griffin as the priest he helped carry aboard an evacuation aircraft in Korea.

Sgt. Norris, then a 17-yearold PFC. in the 2d Ranger Co., 7th Infantry Division, USA, crucial time of my life," said was serving as a medic when Father Griffin. "It gives me an

At that time. I didn't think Father Griffin would make it. He had been badly wounded in his chin by a machinegun bullet," Sgt. Norris said.

The chaplain had been wounded Dec. 6 while enroute to Koto-ri. While he was administering last rites to a dying young Marine in an ambulance, the convoy ran into a roadblock and came under fire.

A machinegun bullet tore through the chaplains lower jaw and another hit him in the right shoulder. Father Griffin's assistant, Sgt. Matthew Caruso, flung himself over the chaplain just in time to catch another bullet which took his life.

Father Griffin, the most seriously wounded Navy chaplain of the Korean War, says that he is particularly grateful that the "Caruso Memorial Chapel" at San Onofre (Camp Pendleton) was named and dedicated in honor of Sgt. Caruso. It is the only chapel in the Naval establishment named in honor of a chaplain's assis-

"I also am exceedingly happy to meet someone here in Hawaii who was present at that ris personally, as I_3 was semi-conscious at the time of my evacuation."

Father Griffin is no stranger to Hawaii. In December 1950, in ceremonies at U. S. Army Tripler General Hospital, Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd presented him with the Purple Heart Medal for the wounds he had received.

In the Spring of 1951, he was awarded the Silver Star

Medal for conspicuous gallantry while in action against the enemy on Nov. 3, 1950.

On the nights of Nov. 2 and 3, 1950, in an area a few miles south of Chinhung-nl, two battalions of the 7th Marine were attacked from the front and on both flanks for 24 hours, in the first largescale combat involving Chinese Communists. Prior to reporting to K-Bay, Father Griffin was Station Chaplain at Naval Air Station, Moffett Field, Calif.

Upon assuming his new duties, Father Griffin said, "After more than 10 years, it feels wonderful to get back with the Marine Corps again. Duty with the Marines gives me an opportunity to help them and thank them in my own small way for all they have done to help me."

DISCUSS THEIR FIRST MEETING - Cdr. C. J. Griffin, Station Chaplain (r) and Sgt. W. J. Norris, HqCo, ServBn, discuss their first meeting which took place in North Korea on Dec. 8, 1950. Sgt. Norris helped carry the badly wounded Father Griffin aboard an evacuation aircraft at Koto-ri. They met again Sunday at an Aloha party held in honor of Father Griffin and LtCdr. L. D. Ward, former Station Chaplain.

'Convention' May's Book-of-the-Month; Sensational New Novel on Politicians

"Convention" by Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey K-Bay's book-of-themonth for May.

It's a sensational new novel by the authors of "Seven Days in May."

"Thirtieth Republican National Convention will now ballot for a candidate for President of the United States!", the chairman intoned. Thus begins the best seller.

The convention, when it opened, gave every indication of being a formality. The National Committeewoman from Texas had said to her daughter Kay: "Manchester has twice as many pledges. That doesn't mean he'll have twice as many voters five days from now. A lot can happen at a convention

And much did happen. It started with a press conference when one candidate candidly uttered an off-hand phrase—apt—but politically naive. It boomeranged! In an incredibly short time, the odds changed, dramatically, appallingly .

The authors have used the excitement of a nominating convention as a background for a wonderfully entertaining and highly provocative story. In short, Knebel & Bailey have done it again! New Fiction: Come Be My Guest, E. Cadell: Land Breakers, J. Ehle;
