2400 Brigade Marines To Participate In Exercise 'Tool Box' at Bellows AFS

More than 2400 Marines will hit the beach at Bellows Air Force Station June 30-July 2 in an amphibious exercise involving two battalion landing teams of the Brigade and 24 Navy ships.

Capt. J. D. Linehan, USN, Commander of San Diego-

based Amphibious Squadron Three, has been designated to conduct the exercise. Col. E. P. Dupras, Jr., 4th Marines CO, has been designated as Troop Exercise Coordinator.

The exercise, nicknamed "Tool Box," will consist of two separate landings on two separate D-Days. LtCol. J. R. "Bull" Fisher, will land BLT 2-4 at 8 a.m. June 30 and LtCol. N. W. Hicks, will land BLT 3-4 at 8:30 a.m. July 2.

The landings were ordered in answer to a mythical request made by the make-believe government of the independent and peaceful nation of Hahwyee after the country had been infiltrated by guerrillas, saboteurs, and terrorists of Bloc Nation.

The Bellows area has been the communications center for the guerrillas and the air strips there have been used to land cargo and troops in support of the guerrilla action.

Each BLT will land from assault craft to seize, occupy and defend the airstrip and its radar and communications facilities. They will locate and destroy the guerrilla force in the area and prepare to conduct further inland operations on Oahu.

At the conclusion of each landing, the Marines will march back to the Air Station.

The mid-week landings will not interfere with Bellows bathers and vacationers. The landing zones will be on beaches outside of the authorized recreation area. A similar exercise, "Flying Disk," was conducted at Bellows in June of 1962.

In addition to the 24 Navy ship, amphibious detachments from Tactical Air Control Squadron 12, Underwater Demolition Team 11, a Naval Beach Group and Assault Craft Division 13, all based at the Naval Amphibious Base, Coronado, Calif., will also participate in Exercise "Tool Box."

"Help Yourself While You Help Your Country," is a phrase that K-Bayites should keep in mind June 22-July 3.

These dates mark the K-Bay U. S. Savings Bonds Drive. The drive coincides with the U. S. Treasury's Savings Bonds campaign for '64, "Operation Security," which continues until July 4.

Chaplain's Corner

Father's Day Stresses Importance Of Dad's Responsibilities to Family

By Chaplain W. A. Lane

This coming Sunday the fathers of the nation will be honored on a day set apart unto this end — "Father's Day." This is in keeping, I think, with the tremendous importance placed upon the position of head of the family.

There is no more responsible position on earth! In this position, one has the responsibility of providing for each member of the family in every aspect of life. If the father fails in his task, each child involved, the home involved, as well as his community and nation will suffer loss, to some degree, from this failure.

Perhaps, the father is the first authority of which a child becomes aware. If this authority is not administered and maintained, the growing individual will fail to have a proper understanding of the meaning of authority in his life and world.

Unless one is taught early, and led in the formative years of life to understand the meaning of authority, he is likely to become a problem to society and particularly to the military.

We call to the attention of all fathers the overwhelming responsibility, and far-reaching influence of the position they occupy.

To the younger generation who are under the influence of fathers, we challenge you to weigh very carefully your responsibilities in understanding and appropriating the teachings and counsel of your elders.

Safety Week — Calling upon "every American worker to work safely and to safe-guard his fellow workers," President Johnson has named the week of June 21 "Job Safety Week."

The President has called for "voluntary action to reduce the human and economic waste of needless work injuries."

Linking job accidents with his anti-poverty program, the President said, "The loss in skill and earning power of every man and woman who suffers a preventable work injury impoverishes still more a Nation already at war against poverty."

He urged every employer and worker "to protect the lives, limbs, and skills of all who toil."

Former CMC Receives Degree — Gen. David M. Shoup, former Commandant of the Marine Corps received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree June 8, from Indiana University.
