K-Bay Marines, Navymen Answer Plea for Blood

More than 150 K-Bay Ma rines and Navymen answered a plea last week for blood donations for 15-year-old, Ernest Charter Jr., of Kallua. Ernest, who has hemophilia has received more than 180 transfusions during the first nine months of this year. He was 150 pints in debt to the Community Blood Bank when K-Bayites sprang into action.

HM3 Mike Smookler, Station hospital corpsman, heard from a friend that Ernest was in dire need of blood donations, and after sending out word to the K-Bay Marine and Navy per-sonnel, Smookler was swamped with calls from willing donors. According to the boy's mother, Mrs. Ernest Charter Sr., 129 pints of blood were donated at Queen's Hospital.

"I have never been more thrilled in all my life. There were so many fine young men there—I just can't tell you how much I appreciate Mrs. Charter said.

Four buses from Station Transportation were utilized to shuttle the donors to and from Queen's Hospital. Honolulu Rapid Transit

13th Annual Campaign K-Bay Collects Toys for Needy Tots

The 13th Annual Marine Corps Reserve Toys for Tots collection campaign is now in full swing at K-Bay and throughout Hawaii

Each year Oahu Marine Corps reservists, with an assist from civic organizations, supply the personnel and equipment necessary for the collection and repair of toys for unfortunate children.

"On our first pick-up here at K-Bay most of the collec-tion barrels were overflowing with toys," said MSgt. H. W. Faville, Station Special Services NCOIC.

Corps to Corps Program Success

Collection barrels aboard the Station are located near the Main PX. Beverage Sales, the Garden Shop and Toyland.

In Kaneohe barrels are stationed near Foodland Super Market in the Windward City Shopping Center, and at the Fire Station. In Kailua "drop" points are situated at Time Super Market, Radio KLEI and the Fire Station.

Toys are also being collected at the Aikahi Fire Station on Kaneohe Bay Drive.

According to MSgt. Faville, "Toys will be collected at the designated pick-up points only." He added that, "toys will be collected in the Windward campaign until Dec. 18.

The toys will be repaired if necessary, and distributed to underprivileged children on Oahu and neighboring islands by various social services agencies

"We do not have the personnel or equipment to repair badly damaged toys or to sanitize stuffed toys," said GySgt. C. R. Kester, Public Affairs Chief, 14th Marine Corps District, in stressing the need for "new" or easily repairable toys.

The drive began in answer to a personal appeal received by LtGen. V. H. Krulak, FMF-Pac CG, from General Le Nguyen Khang, Commandant of the South Vietnam Marine Corps, asking for clothing and blankets for the 2,000 Marine families left homeless by floods.

K-Bay answered the "Corps-to-Corps" plea and within 48 hours, 2770 pounds of clothing had departed the Air Station on KC-130 air-craft from El Toro.

S-Wives, E-Wives and O Wives, also helped pack and stamp the clothing. The S-Wives also donated clothing

Irving Wallace's Fiction Work "The Man" Is K-Bay's Book-of-the-Month Choice

By Maccine Titus Chief Librarian

The Book-of-the-month for K-Bay is "The Man" by Irving Wallace. It is his finest and most memorable novel to date. The Man is the story of the first Negro President of the United States.

Douglass Dilman is an obscure Negro Senator who through political escalation becamepresident pro tempore of the Senate and was sudden-ly catapulted into the White House by the death in an overseas accident of the President and the Speaker of the House, Vice-President having earlier succumbed to an illness

From the first, of course, President Dilman is the target of the Southerners who feel the White House has been debauched by the presence in [it of this black man

But, ironically, he honestly tries to be a constitutional executive and to be President of all the people, both white and black, the Negroes turn on him with even more fury than the whites because they feel that with every denial he is becoming more of an Uncle Tom.

So long as Dilman performs as a stooge for the cabinet of his predecessor which he inherited, he manages to hold on to a certain amount of poli-tical support, but when he begins to function as President even that is pulled away. His actions, well-meaning and courageous, build to an impeachment proceeding, which furnishes the climax

2dMarDiv Marines Testing Proposed

Rifle Marksmanship Training Course

Testing of the proposed course, designated "X" Course, is slated to end next August.

The basic difference be-tween the "X" Course, and the present "A" Course, is the requirement for a shooter to aim at the center of mass, with sights set for "Point of Aim-Point of Impact."

The "A" Course utilizes a constant aiming point with point of impact offset from point of aim. The "X" Course will also provide training in realistic fire distribution and an increased rate of fire using timed fire rather than the timed fire rather than the slow fire. The "X" Course also in-creases the rapid fire rate from 10 to 20 rounds per minute. To qualify as a Marksman, shooters must obtain 70 points; for Sharpshooter, 115; and for Expert, they must fire 140.

Standard "E" kneeling silhouette paper targets, with a plain paper background and camouflaged in shades of olive drab, white and green are being used on the course. At each stage, the shooter is presented with three separate silhouettes and is required to distribute his fire.

The scoring system to be used on the course is one of "hit or miss", plus a bonus for fire distribution. Value is given for shots that hit the silhouette, and bonuses are awarded for each silhouette receiving a prescribed number of hits Hit values vary at each stage. A value of one is. given for hits at 200 yards timed fire, two at 200 yards rapid fire. A value of three at 300 yards rapid fire and four at 500 yards timed fire.

Bonus values are constant at all stages, being based on five points for each sil-houette with two or more hits at timed fire and four or more hits at rapid fire.

At the conclusion of the tests the results are to be evaluated by HQMC to deter-mine if the new "X" Course will provide better marks-manship training in combat firing than the present "A" firing than the present "A" Course.

Girls, our next special meeting is really going to be something special! GySgt. Royce Smith, an expert on Graphoanalysis will be our guest for the evening.

·· Graphoanalysis is the study of the individual strokes of handwriting to determine the character and personality of the writer.

Won't it be exciting to find out what the "inner-us" is really like?

The meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the E-Club Ballroom.

This is one meeting the hus-bands are invited to attend. In fact, Gunny Smith would rather both husbands and wives be present.

But if your hubby can't make it you be sure and come anyway girls. I, for one, wouldn't miss it for the world.

This meeting isn't just limited to members and their husbands. Any man holding the rank of E-5 or below and his wife, are cordially invited to attend.

Members, please bring your wrapped Christmas
