Early Outs
Authorized

Approximately 11,000 Marines returning from Vietnam during Fiscal Year 1969 may be released from active duty three to six months early under the Marine Corps' expanded early-out program.

The Marine Corps now has early release programs for all overseas returnees who arrive in CONUS for reassignment with 60 days or less remaining until expiration of active service, and for college enrollment and police recruiting.

These programs will continue throughout Fiscal Year 1969. In addition, under an expanded program, most Vietnam returnees can, on arrival in CONUS, be released three to six months early. For eligibility under this program, "Vietnam returnees" are those who have earned the Vietnam Service Medal while in the Western Pacific.

The first phase of the program started July 1; however, Marines who have skills which currently are critical, or skills which cannot be replaced on a timely basis, are not eligible.

At this time, these primary MOS's are ineligible: 0121, 0122, 0141, 0211, 0812, 0846, 0848, 0849, 1831, 2151, 2531, 2533, 2549, 2811, 2813, 2815, 2816, 2817, 2831, 2841, 2845, 2847, 2851, 2867, 2871, 3041, 3042, 3211, 3241, 3561, 4313, 5911, 5912, 5914, 5915, 5931, 5941, 5942, 5943, 5944, 5961, 5971, 5972, 5973, 5975, 5976, 5977, 5979, 5981, 6212, 6213, 6214, 6216, 6217, 6219, 6222, 6227, 6233, 6234, 6236, 6238, 6239, 6242, 6243, 6244, 6251, 6261, 6262, 6264, 6267, 6271, 6319, 6320, 6321, 6323, 6351, 6371, 6372, 6374, 6375, 6511, and 6742.

The list of MOS's and the eligibility rules will be reviewed and updated frequently; consequently, Headquarters Marine Corps directed that Marines be advised not to make any plans based on early separation until their eligibility is confirmed at the separation center in CONUS.

Thanks

I want to thank all the officers and men, and their wives, of the First Marine Brigade and the Air Station for all the aid and comfort given so freely to my family and I during the past months.

Your many kindnesses and thoughtful acts were greatly appreciated and will always be remembered.

SgtMaj. Douglas J. McLarney Jr.

Hansford Receives
Bronze Star Medal

A Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" was awarded LtCol. John R. Hansford for meritorious service in Vietnam in ceremonies here last Thursday.

Currently commanding officer of Marine Air Base Squadron 24, Marine Air Group 24, First Marine Brigade, LtCol. Hansford was cited for the duties he performed as commander of Wing Equipment Repair Squadron 17, Marine Wing Support Group 17, First Marine Aircraft Wing.

During his tour, from March 10, 1967 to April 1, 1968, his unit maintained an "exceptionally high level of vehicles and equipment availability" the citation read.

Through the work of the repair squadron, the support group was able to transport more than 30,000 passengers and 90,000 tons of equipment. Also, during the same 13-month period, 18 million gallons of fuel were dispensed and all launch and recovery components at the Wing's widely dispersed units were kept in working order.

The unit's fourth echelon repair section was able to drop its backlog of components to be worked on from 200 to an average of 37 as they rebuilt approximately 9,000 major components.

During this year's Tet Offensive, the squadron's engineering equipment section kept supplies moving and built bunkers for the defense of the Khe Sanh Combat Base, all under his direct supervision and guidance.

Appearance

Just a reminder, in case it had slipped your mind, that when you are in uniform, out of doors, you must wear a cover. In addition, if you are in uniform in a vehicle, either private or military, the same rule applies. Forewarned is forearmed.

CWO Board

A promotion board to recommend warrant officers for advancement to the grades of chief warrant officer-2, chief warrant officer-3 and chief warrant officer-4 is scheduled to convene at headquarters Marine Corps November 5.

Eligible for consideration by the board are officers of the Regular establishment who, as of Dec. 31, 1969, will have completed the following time-in-grade requirements:

WO-1, two years; CWO-2, four years; and CWO-3, four years.

Permanent Grades

Local Officers
Change Status

According to information received from Headquarters Marine Corps, 27 officers stationed here were among the more than 1,400 selected for permanent status by the Fiscal Year 1968 Board.

The board met to select those Marines appointed to temporary commissioned status under the Fiscal Year 1966 temporary officer program and the outstanding combat leadership program.

Although authorized to select 1,561 officers for permanent status under the various plans, the board selected 1,425.

Selection for this board will not affect an officer's current status unless he is chosen for a permanent grade higher than the one in which he is currently serving.

Temporary officers selected for limited duty officer status in FY 1967 and permanent warrant officer in FY 1968 were included in this board's eligibles.

Of the officers selected, nine are from the Air Station, 11 from First Marine Brigade units, three from 1st Radio Bn., and one each from 1st ANGLICO, HEDRON and 11th CIT.

Only 19 temporary officers were selected to permanent unrestricted regular officer grade although first reports said that 100 would be chosen. No one stationed here was in this category.

Capt. Lloyd Allen, HEDRON

1stLt. Henry S. Bass, H&MS-24

For Improvement

The Station Library will be closed approximately six weeks, effective August 1, to accomplish remodeling and installation of a tape recording room.

The Library staff will be working, however, so books can be returned when they are due. Books may be checked out up to the close of the Library July 31.

The new tape facility will be equipped with Ampex 2160 recorders and a Garrard SL95 turntable for transcribing. The Library will also maintain a master tape and record library for use on an appointment basis with two hour periods from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

CAREER NOTES

By GySgt. Bill Gatewood

For the typical serviceman, basic pay is just one of several pays that he draws. He may receive overseas pay, pro pay, subsistence pay, or others. Basic pay, then, normally constitutes only a portion of a man's total gross pay, usually only 60 to 70 percent.

This is something the average civilian (and most younger servicemen) do not understand, and frequently is the basis for his remarks about "the poor pay in the military." Remember, it's the "total pay" that counts.

Once a serviceman gets some time in and earns a few promotions, however, the pay picture brightens substantially.

Let's take a quick look at a corporal with two years service: with a base pay of $238.50 a month, it would appear that he could do better fixing flats at a service station, but remember, we said it's total pay that counts. So if we take his base pay, add his income tax and social security advantage, his insurance differential, his quarters allowance, commuted rations, clothing allowance, don't deduct for group medical or retirement, then we come up with a monthly pay of $456.10.

We have not taken into consideration how much more he can buy with these dollars, but for speculation he can add approximately 20 percent for these items. At this point then we are starting to get a more realistic picture, a picture that most people don't even look at closely.

Furthermore, as we started in the beginning, the picture tends to brighten even more with a little experience and promotion. This same corporal, as soon as he makes sergeant and goes over three years service (and remember three years in a civilian job is usually an apprenticeship period), his pay takes a very good jump to a total of approximately $509.50. Want me to prove it? Drop in and see your career advisor today.

Tod's feelings of guilt and anxiety mounted with every click of the wheels as the train bore him on from New York to the small town of Hendon in Connecticut.

Thus starts this novel of suspense, "Incident at Hendon" by Hennessee Letton.

Tod, the County Home boy who'd grown up and gone into the Army, who lived in New York so that he could study architecture; he had changed.

And he was not prepared for what awaited him in the old Victorian house where his eccentric guardian, Miss Ellie Baster, lay with his toys spread out all around her.

Within moments after his arrival, the Baxter house became the center of everyone's thoughts, and Tod the object of suspicion. It would be hard to say exactly what really caused the incident at Hendon, and the puzzle is compounded by events that stir and reveal the lives of many townspeople.

Jennette Letton writes with sureness of the events and emotions of a quiet Connecticut village on a sultry August Saturday in 1920.

The Station Library has a very nice collection of long playing albums, 780 to be exact. Such as: Classical, popular, Western, Spanish, Marches, Comedy and a few of those "far-out" types.

Chef de Cuisine

By La Trelle

Your chef is aware that July is not the party season. This week's recipe is most certainly a party dish, therefore you can file this one and have a headstart when the time arrives.

Our recipe comes from the Philippines and bears the name Bola-Bola a Carns (meat balls).

BOLA-BOLA a CARNS

4 tbsp. flour or bread crumbs
1 small onion (chopped fine)
½ pound ground pork
2 large size potatoes
(boiled and mashed)
2 eggs (beaten)
1 tsp. salt
Pinch of pimento

Wash pork before grinding if bought whole. Fry onions until light brown. Mix all ingredients together - pork, mashed potatoes, beaten eggs, onions, salt and pimento. Add pinch of ajinomoto if desired.

Make into small balls and roll in flour. Fry in deep hot fat. Serve hot.

Variation in the shape, size, etc., of the balls makes recipe more unusual. Fix your favorite dip; cheese, garlic, green onion, horseradish, etc. Stick hot meat balls on colored toothpicks and place on attractive platter. Place small dishes of dip along side.

This is definitely a crown pleaser. Be sure and use the Filipino name for this delicious treat - Bola-Bola a Carns. Until next week, au revoir and bon appetit.

1st Radio Captures Commander's Cup

That old axiom, "You can't win 'em all," wasn't taken too seriously by the men of 1st Radio Battalion as they continued to show their competitive spirit throughout intramural sports by winning their third straight Commander's Cup Trophy, which was retired to them, permanently, July 1.

Sportsmanship, participation and league standings all played major roles in keeping the ex-traveling trophy on their side; a feat accomplished by 1st Radio since the trophy came into being, January, 1967.

1st Radio Battalion's 139 points topped their nearest competition, Marine Air Control Squadron-Two, by 16 points. Following in a tie for third place were 1st Anglico and Pacific Missile Range Facilities with 109 points, trailed by 1st

New Controllers

Six more Marines have been added to the list of senior air traffic controllers aboard the Air Station.

All of them have completed the prescribed course taught by personnel of the Operations Department.

Recent graduates are: GySgts. E. M. LeBaron and J. L. Wahl, SSgts. James W. Hale and Granville R. Simmons, and Cpls. Timothy E. Caughey and Allan D. Ludwig.

Halliday Earns Navy Commendation Medal

Lieutenant Colonel Max G. Halliday, former First Marine Brigade executive officer, was Marine Brigade with 108 points.

Although 1st Radio Battalion did not win any events for the semi-annual award which ran December 31, through July 1, they more than made it up through sportsmanship and participation in intramural play. 1st Radio garnered 65 points in sportsmanship, 60 points in participation and 14 points in league standings.

During the last six months, 1st Radio Battalion placed fourth in the basketball championships, third in tennis, and gathered two second placings in softball and in the track and field competition.

A new Commander's Cup Trophy will be purchased as a result of 1st Radio's feat, for further intramural sports action.

awarded the Navy Commendation Medal Monday for the work he accomplished during his tenure in that position.

He was especially cited for the family assistance plan he created for dependents of deployed personnel. His plan is so effective that it has been adopted by other services as well as other Marine Corps installations.

As executive officer from March 1, 1966, to July 15, 1968, LtCol. Halliday "effectively coordinated and directed the Brigade executive and special staffs in the activation, reactivation and deployment of units during a period marked by the rapid acceleration of Marine Corps operations in the Republic of Vietnam," the citation read in part.

Colonel William C. McGraw Jr., Brigade commander, made the presentation of the award.

Mrs. J. N. Huong Miller Thanks Island Donors

By: SSgt John Wold

CAMP H. M. SMITH, Oahu, Hawaii, - "I'm stopping for a while," said Mrs. Jill Nhu Huong Miller of Honolulu, of her drive to collect clothing for the Vietnamese refugees of Hue.

Since the project began nearly six weeks ago, the people of Hawaii have donated nearly 20,000 pounds of clothing, some mailing packages from the other islands.

The work is not finished. Although more than 10,000 pounds is ready for shipment, Mrs. Miller's carport and lanai are still packed roof-high with clothes that must be sorted and packaged.

With the following letter, Mrs. Miller wants to express her thanks to the many people who helped make the project a success.

"It gives me great pleasure to tell you how gratified I am with the tremendous response of the people of Hawaii for the refugees of Vietnam. Everyone has been generous with their donations of clothing, time and energy. On behalf of the Vietnamese refugees,

I want to thank all of you for your assistance in making their burden lighter.

"I wish I could mention all of your names in this letter, but that would be impossible - the list would be too long. I am especially grateful to the U. S. Marines for this opportunity to send our love and help to the unfortunate people of Vietnam. Many thanks to Colonel J. T. Odenthal of the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, Intelligence Section. Through him I have met many kind and helpful people, in particular, the Marines of the Intelligence, Civic Action and Information Sections at Camp Smith.

"I would also like to thank Mr. John Basso of KCCN radio; Mrs. Jean Barnes, Chairman of the Red Cross Volunteers, and the five local Wigwam Store managers who permitted me to place barrels in front of their stores. The generosity and cooperation of all these good-hearted people are greatly appreciated.

"I'm stopping for a short while, but, the communists' terror continues each day, and more Vietnamese become homeless. The list of orphans increases, and hunger and sickness grips them. In the face of this dreadful menace, everything we can do to help is vital. Even the smallest contribution is greatly appreciated.

"Our work will continue. Mahalo."

Caley . . .

1950, Col. Caley attained a Bachelor of Arts Degree with a major field of study in physical education.

In her last year of college the colonel joined the Marine Corps reserve and reached the rank of private first class. Upon graduation, she entered the regular Corps and was commissioned a second lieutenant.

Colonel Caley's education didn't stop when she entered the service, however, as after the Woman Marine Officer's Basic School in 1950, she went to U.S. Army Signal School, Ft. Monmouth, N.J., for a course in auto-data processing for staff officers in 1962. In 1965 she went to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, for a Data Systems Analysis and Design Course.

This is Col. Caley's second tour of duty in Hawaii. In 1953 she came to Headquarters, FMF Pacific, Camp Smith, as Officer in Charge of S&C Files and later became commanding officer of the Woman Marine Company there.

An 18 year career Marine, Col. Caley received the Commandant of the Marine Corps' Certificate of Achievement Award for duty from July, 1965, to May, 1968.

Help 'Windy'

The "Windy" needs help.

The Joint Information Services Office staff has been depleted by transfers and releases from active duty. As a direct result, some of our normal coverage of events has been curtailed.

If you know of a newsworthy item, please feel free to call 72141 or 72142 with the information. Or, if you feel you would like to try your hand at writing, put your thoughts down on paper and submit them to the Information Services Office for review.

For anyone interested in working in the section fulltime, there are openings. However, you must have permission from your current section chief and officer in charge before you can be interviewed regarding a possible transfer to the JISO.

Old Timer's Wouldn't Recognize Chu Lai Today

CHU LAI, Vietnam — "This is the place," said the Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, as he flew over the hot, sandy wasteland along the beach of South Vietnam 15 miles south of the city of Tam Ky.

He selected a remote area infested with lizards, snakes, mosquitos, cactus and Viet Cong as the site for a Marine expeditionary air field, the first of its kind, and a Marine division command post. There was no name on the map where the general drew the circle. Exactly how the name "Chu Lai" came about remains a mystery.

The first chapter of the Chu Lai story began in early May 1965 when the III Marine Expeditionary Brigade approached the beach.

The Marines waded ashore.

Their mission was to land and secure an area for the establishment of an expeditionary landing field for Marine jet attack and fighter aircraft. This was to be a unique airfield, constructed entirely of aluminum matting and operating in the same fashion as an aircraft from the short runway, and arresting gear to stop the aircraft on landing.

Most important, the field would be operational in a matter of weeks and would position Marine close air support aircraft within minutes of Marine ground forces nearby.

Marine engineers and Navy Mobile Construction Battalion personnel (SeaBees) moved ashore and worked around the clock to carve out an airstrip on the sandy flats. A tent city sprang up along the beach, roads wormed their way through the area while supply dumps and maintenance areas completed the picture.

One of the Chu Lai Marines during the early period was Gunnery Sgt. Alvin H. Wasono. He served with Marine Aircraft Group-12 crash crew, and is back at Chu Lai on his second tour.

"During the early weeks we worked night and day," said Wasono. "We not only built the runway, but we provided our own security. We guarded the inside perimeter which was not soft duty. Fire fights near the north end of the field were common, and sniper fire often sent Marines and SeaBees diving for cover."

battalion arrived to provide air defense for the base area.

During September 1966, subsequent to the completion of a conventional 10,000-foot runway, hangers, parking ramos and support facilities, Marine Aircraft Group-13 arrived at Chu Lai with Phantom jet aircraft.

recount.

Marines at Chu Lai have made equally important contributions in an entirely different role. They have contributed an untold amount of time, money and effort assisting the local Vietnamese people who have suffered from war. Schools, homes, roads, churches, hospitals and entire communities have been built as a result of their efforts. This civil action program has been most beneficial in developing a common understanding of purpose.

Those who remember Chu Lai as an aluminum mat expeditionary air field in 1965, would not recognize the major jet complex today on its third anniversary. In addition to the 200 jet sorties flown from Chu Lai daily, the army now flies hundreds of helicopter and light plane sorties.

WITH THE MARINES IN VIETNAM

On June 1, Marine Attack Squadron-224 of Marine Aircraft Group-12 flew the first combat sortie, from the 3,500-foot aluminum runway.

Construction continued along with combat flight operations, and runway length soon grew to 8,000 feet.

"In the field around Chu Lai the enemy was soon to learn that this was to be Marine country," said SgtMaj. John Lattonzio, now serving with MAC-12. He was with the Seventh Marines during his previous tour at Chu Lai. Such operations as Starlight, Piranha, Texas, Utah and Harvest Moon were effective in reducing the Viet Cong threat and activity in the Chu Lai area.

To complete the Marine Air-Ground team in the area, a helicopter base was established five miles north, at Ky Ha, and Marine Aircraft Group-36 helicopters became known as the "Angels of Mercy."

Chu Lai continued to grow, as did the tempo of operations. Marine Air Support Squadron-3 arrived to provide control for aircraft supporting ground forces throughout the Chu Lai area. Logistics Support Group-Bravo kept supplies flowing while Marine Air Traffic Control Unit-67 kept aircraft moving safely. A light anti-aircraft missile Combat units at Chu Lai have established combat records during the past three years. MAC-12 has flown more than 100,000 combat sorties throughout North and South Vietnam, while MAC-13 has completed more than 40,000 sorties since its arrival. Accomplishments by small units at Chu Lai are too numerous to

Exchange Pilot For 'Valuable' Item

CHU LAI, Vietnam — Marine Aircraft Group-12 paid an unusual ransom for the return of a Marine Attack Squadron-121 pilot forced to eject from his damaged aircraft over enemy territory near Dong Ha.

First Lieutenant Mike Aiton, Fort Worth, Texas, was scrambled from the Chu Lai hot pad in support of allied ground forces engaged with a force of North Vietnamese north of Con Thien. Enemy gunners opened up with .50 caliber machinegun fire as the Skyhawk bombed the target.

"I had just released my last bomb when my radio went out. Then I realized I was receiving hits," commented the lieutenant.

Aiton headed his damaged aircraft toward Dong Ha and ejected when the plane rolled into an uncontrolled 45-degree dive. While quietly floating down between Dong Ha and Quang Tri, he could see and hear friendly artillery firing in the distance.

Aiton landed less than 200 yards from an enemy machinegun position, but he was not aware of this until the rescue helo from Marine Aircraft Group-39 arrived and was taken under fire. The Marine gunner aboard the rescue helo suppressed the fire from the enemy machinegun, enabling the successful pickup of the downed pilot.

After the rescue helo had returned to Quang Tri, a mysterious telephone call was placed to Colonel Charles B. Armstrong, commanding officer, MAG-12, Chu Lai, the home base of the downed jet pilot, demanding the ransom.

MAG-12, most grateful for the rescue, complied with the request and placed the ransom aboard a waiting C-117D Skytrain.

Arriving at Quang Tri the exchange was made — one VMA-121 pilot for 10 gallons of hard-to-get ice cream.

Chu Lai Marks Third Anniversary

CHU LAI, Vietnam — A ceremony commemorating the third anniversary of Marine Air Base, Chu Lai, was held on the aluminum mat taxiway.

Highlight of the occasion was the presentation of plaques to the Commanding Officers of Marine Aircraft Groups-12 and 13 by Brig. Gen. Henry W. Hise, Assistant 1st Marine Aircraft Wing Commander. Accepting the plaques commemorating the flying accomplishments of the two groups during the past three years in Vietnam were Colonels Charles B. Armstrong Jr., Commanding Officer, MAG-12, and James H. Berge Jr., Commanding Officer of MAG-13.

Members of the Navy's Mobile Construction Battalions-71 and 40 saluted the Marines as did members of Chu Lai's Army Americal Division.

MAG-12 flew the first combat sortie off the aluminum mat runway three years ago. Since then they have flown more than 100,000 sorties. MAG-13 arrived at Chu Lai in October, 1966, and has flown more than 40,000 sorties.

Red Cross Seeks Volunteers For Various

If you see a marked increase in uniformed female staff members the next time you pass through the Dependents Clinic, look again. It may be a neighbor doing her "thing" for the community as an American Red Cross Volunteer.

Additional volunteers are urgently needed, not only in the Dispensary, but in many other locations around the Station. They serve you in the Field Directors office, dispensary, dental clinic, school health room, as first aid and water safety instructors, production workers and elsewhere as good neighbors. Their tasks are many and varied.

According to K-Bay's Red Cross Field Director, E. N. Marks, "Everyone has a skill their community needs. Through volunteer service we join with other agencies in offering an opportunity for community service. Due to losses associated with transfers and an increase in the areas for volunteer service, we need more volunteers now."

Anyone having an interest in becoming a Red Cross Volunteer, or an experienced volunteer wishing to become active, should contact the Red Cross Office, phone 72606 or 73575. Your skills are needed!

K-Bay Flying Club Offers Safe Sport at Reasonable Cost

Since the dawn of history, man has always been awed by flying; so much, in fact, that he sometimes gave up life and limb, learning the secrets involving aerial flight.

His efforts were not in vain, however, as 60 years has since passed when persistence paid off; successfully accomplishing what his feathered compatriot has always done — fly. The feat opened a new way of life for the public while Webster set out busily defining the word; aeronautics.

Though the aircraft used today has changed drastically from past years into a "jet age," man's desires still run parallel with those of his ancestors when dealing with aviation.

Today, many whose thoughts wander along the aviation field are earthbound because they have no opportunities to fly or deem it an expensive sport.

At KMCAS, a dream could be turned into reality through the K-Bay Flying Club, which offers aviation-minded people three Cessna 150's and an unlimited opportunity to become licensed pilots at a minimal cost.

Membership in the flying club is open to all servicemen, active or retired, their dependents and civil service employees affiliated with a Navy or Marine Corps installation.

In the earlier days of flight, where it took raw courage to climb into an open-air cockpit of a plane hanging together with baling wire and hope, pilot's were considered to be "thrill seekers" or "barnstorming idiots."

In today's era, flying has become considerably tamer and the aviators are characterized by a safety-conscious outlook. The cost of flying has been greatly reduced since those earlier days, also allowing more people to participate in what was formerly known as a "rich man's" sport.

The idea of obtaining a private pilot's license isn't as hard as one would imagine after joining the

K-Bay Flying Club. A $50 initiation fee is required to join with $5 monthly dues. The total cost to receive a license, which includes initiation fee and flying time, runs from $450 to $500.

Upon joining the club, the future aviator, or aviatrix, attends ground school where aircraft nomenclature, instruction in the use of flight computers, meteorology, navigation, radio and Federal Aviation Agency rules are taught. Air traffic control and safety procedures are also stressed during the classes.

Following the ground training, the student applies what they learn in the classroom through 8 to 10 hours of in-flight training under the watchful eye of a certified FAA instructor. Upon completion, the flyer takes his first solo hop and following 40 hours of solo experience, the individual is able to apply for his private license, authorizing him the privilege of carrying passengers.

The K-Bay Flying Club, sanctioned by the Commandant of the Marine Corps, is rated as the most economical of its type on the islands. Members are assigned specific jobs in the club, whether it be that of a mechanic or handling a secretarial role, eliminating any additional costs to club members.

Upon receiving their licenses, club members are able to check out any one of the three Cessna 150's, available for their use, for inter-island hops or night flying as desired. Members may fly the aircraft from $7 to $8 an hour with the fee including gas, oil, insurance, maintenance and money towards a new engine which is installed after 1,200 flight hours.

Housed in Hangar 105, the K-Bay Flying Clubs holds meetings the first Wednesday of each month. Persons desiring to join the club or seeking further information should contact First Lieutenant A. R. Pouliot, club president, 73603; or Staff Sergeant Saunders, 72055. Camp H. M. Smith personnel may contact Major A.J. Hargrove, 39701.

If the idea of a transfer holds you back, membership is accepted at most other flying clubs throughout the mainland without added initiation fees.

Aside of being a top-rate recreational activity while furthering flyers interests in aviation, flying is a great adventure, both for the young and old; and the K-Bay Flying Club goes all out to make its facilities available for a pleasurable, and most of all, a safe sport.

Indians Win With Herman's No-Hitter

Mike Herman fired the first no-hitter of the Little League Baseball season July 10, as the Indians broke a tie for first place in Minor Division play against the Tigers; winning the play-off contest, 9-0, for the division crown.

Herman fanned 11 Tiger batters enroute to his outstanding feat and allowed only three Tiger's to reach base via walks. He also determined the winner in the first inning of play, driving in three runs on a bases-loaded triple.

After wrapping up the division title, both the Major and Minor champs met All-Stars from their respective leagues last Saturday and both got the same treatment — they lost.

In the Major Division All-Star game, Phillie hurler, Bill Bates, set the Twins down for their second loss in 21 games with a 6-3, six inning, no-hitter, the first to be thrown in any Major Division action this season. The Twins three runs all came unearned.

All-Star participants in the Major Division game with Keith Murch, Carl Hand, Bruce Lucas and Bill Bates, Phillies; Alden Cabacungan, Brennen Bates, Johnny Angels and Ricky Woods, Senators; Dale Stadler, Braves; Gary Young and Kevin Murphy from the Pirates; and Mike Nicosia, Athletics.

For the first time since the start of All-Star contests against the division champs in Minor League play has the Stars emerged victorious. Their 12-4 verdict came on costly errors by the Indians, 17 of them, while they allowed the "Tribe" only six hits.

Representing the All Stars in the Minor Division were Dwaine Collins, Keith DeHaven and Derek Smith, Tigers; Mike Arnold, Randy Duff, Gus Hodes and Ray Jones, Dodgers; Steven Dubbs, James Politano, and Barry Prochaska, Yankees; James Gray, Robert Hopkins and James Welsh, Giants and Ricky Knippschild, Cardinals.

Leatherneck Earns Plaudits In Hawaii Karate Tournament

A K-Bay Marine used the speed and agility of his hands and feet to perfection, as well as his head, winning plaudits July 6, following a second place finish in the Hawaiian All-American Karate Tournament's Heavyweight Division at the Honolulu International Center.

DEADLY FORM - Ernest Branch displays the type of form which earned him second place in the free-style heavyweight division during the Hawaiian All-American Karate Championships at the HIC. In the foreground is the second place trophy which was awarded to the second degree black belt holder.

Staff Sergeant Ernest Branch, MACS-2 radar technician, topped three other opponents out of 24 in his heavyweight class before falling in the finals at the free-styles competition.

The martial arts of Karate is nothing new to the second-degree, black belt holder, with the past tournament attesting to that fact. Branch first began studying Karate on Okinawa in 1958 and began tournament competition in 1960, although this is only his tenth tournament.

Sergeant Branch hopes to compete next month at the H. I. C. in a similar tournament as well as bringing in more competition from the Armed Services.

The Karate expert also gives instructions aboard K-Bay, and openings are available for anyone wishing to learn the martial arts. Classes for youngsters are held

The big long traffic-laden road on the left goes to Honolulu where all the big auto showrooms are. The narrow little short road goes right here to us. Now we're not saying a Datsun buyer shouldn't want a big selection, good

COMPLETE RUST PROTECTION

IN ALL CRITICAL RUST AREAS

THANKS TO AN AMAZING NEW PROCESS BY TUFF-KOTE ALUMINIZED RUSTPROOFING

* CARS RUST FROM THE INSIDE OUT

Almost all rust on today's cars starts to form in the hidden panels and boxed-in sections (where it can't be seen). The formation of dirt, salt and moisture in doors, rocker panels, dog leg sections, etc., starts rust that only 100% rustproofing can eliminate.

* TUFF-KOTE GIVES YOU 100% RUSTPROOFING

EXCLUSIVE TUFF-KOTE SEALANT — a pliable penetrating sealant with scientifically selected adhesion promoters that assures permanent adherence to all metal to protect your car or truck from corrosion.

EXCLUSIVE TUFF-KOTE TOOLING — scientifically developed to reach all hidden areas to assure complete coverage for permanent rustproofing.

TRAINED TECHNICIANS — all personnel employed at TUFF-KOTE factory outlets are trained in the art of complete rustproofing and are supplied with up to date instructions on model changes.

* WHY RUSTPROOFING

Industrial fallout, moisture and salt air in coastal regions cause fantastic rusting in one and two year old vehicles. This has become an alarming fact to fleet owners and government agencies. They now say, we need rustproofing. — In Hawaii you have a salt and moisture problem 24 hours a day 365 days a year.

* WHAT IS RUSTPROOFING

Rustproofing is a scientifically developed method of applying a specifically formulated sealant to cover all of the exposed metal on cars and trucks where rust starts.

* FOR 100% RUSTPROOFING

TUFF-KOTE has developed the method, sealant, tooling and training that makes it possible to guarantee your car or truck for 4 years or 40,000 miles.

To sum it up, from the glass line down, everything that has paint on the outside, is coated (sealed) inside, and as long as our material is there, it is a physical impossibility for your car to rust in these areas.

LEGALIZED GAMBLING & RESORT AREA PLANNED

Approval of the sale of 1,300 acres of State land in the Southeast corner of Clark County, Nevada, directly across the Colorado River from Bullhead City, Arizona, signaled the beginning of large scale legalized gambling and a huge resort development in the Greater Mohave Valley.

The development work is expected to get underway on the site by 1970 by two private development companies made up of VIPs from Las Vegas and Clark County.

Two 100-room resort hotels have been planned with all the trimmings that make up a Nevada style resort and convention center. The land development is expected to require an expenditure of $300 million, plus.

The development of a Resort Center of this magnitude just across the River from Bullhead City and the Big Bend area of Arizona will play an important part in the economic growth of these already rapidly expanding Colorado River Communities.

The Greater Mohave Valley on the Arizona side of the River has experienced a population growth in the past six months of almost 50% and all indications would predict that the growth rate will hold steady for the balance of 1967 with 100% increase in population.

Forecasts have been made for 1968 that would indicate a growth of nearly 200% for that year. If this trend holds true the Mohave Valley on the Arizona side alone will be well over 20 thousand by 1970 with another 10 thousand in the States of California and Nevada.

Total development in the Tri-State Area of the Greater Mohave Valley is expected to reach $700 million in the next 7 years and could very well exceed a billion dollars.

LOCAL HUI SNAPS UP PRIME LAND

RIVER ROAD CITY developers, HANC (Hawaii, Arizona, Nevada, California) ENTERPRISES, headed by General Partners, Mary Noonan Knight and Ralph Honda, have secured a prime property that includes river frontage—directly across the bridge from Marina and Municipal Golf Course and almost in the very center of this anticipated near-billion dollar development. (A) There are only a limited number of lots, including some choice apartment and corner lots available.

They will be sold to Hawaii residents of average means so that they, too, may benefit from the tremendous boom that is taking place in this spot known as "The Nation's fastest growing recreational resort area."

IF THERE IS ANY single industry that can safely ride the waves of the "boom or bust" cycles of the economy, it is the recreation industry. Therefore, the Mohave Resort Valley, being a Federal Government designated recreation area, is sound and safe from the vagaries of the economy, and becomes a good place to live and/or invest.

"LAND VALUE INCREASE 20% to 25% PER YEAR."

John B. Knight

This statement concerning the increase in land values in California and the Colorado River area came from John B. Knight, nationally known market research specialist and consultant to such clients as Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce, California Department of Water Resources, the giant Bank of America and others. The population growth in this immediate area is going to amaze everyone... and it is population growth (90% from overflowing Southern California) that controls land value—for the supply of strategic land is limited. "This area has enjoyed fast growth," said Knight, "because it is oriented toward recreation... and is within 4 hours driving time of Los Angeles... California's beach areas are sold out."

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR, STEWART UDALL, said this, "... most appealing river segment in a region now experiencing the fastest population growth in our Nation." MOVIE STAR ROBERT TAYLOR, in looking for the perfect spot, had this to say. "Quite a bit of mileage later, I found myself hightailing it across the Arizona border up Davis Dam way here, at Lake Mohave Resort, my looking stopped. That was a little over three years ago. Then, I guessed I'd found the place. Now I know I found all I was looking for and more." (Reprinted from "Ford Times")

COLUMNIST DREW PEARSON had this to say about the area. "It looks as if another Palm Springs or Las Vegas is in the making... which some day might give them a run for their money."

INFLATION CAN COST YOU MONEY

A savings account is a commendable thing... but the interest earned is lost to the ravages of galloping inflation.

BETWEEN 1900 and 1950 the value of the dollar went down 67%. In the same period the value of stocks increased 136%. However, during this period land valuations increased 882%.

(U.S. Department of Commerce figures)

Property values rise faster than inflation. That's why carefully selected real property is the best investment you can make.

PORTRAIT OF HOMES, INC., "Hawaii's Largest Land Sales Company," has over 1,200 clients who purchased land in 1967 and have already benefited in land value appreciation by 300% of their invested capital.

RIVER ROAD CITY is our 1968 Project—and promises to bring an even greater return to those who are lucky enough to get in on the pre-development sale price.

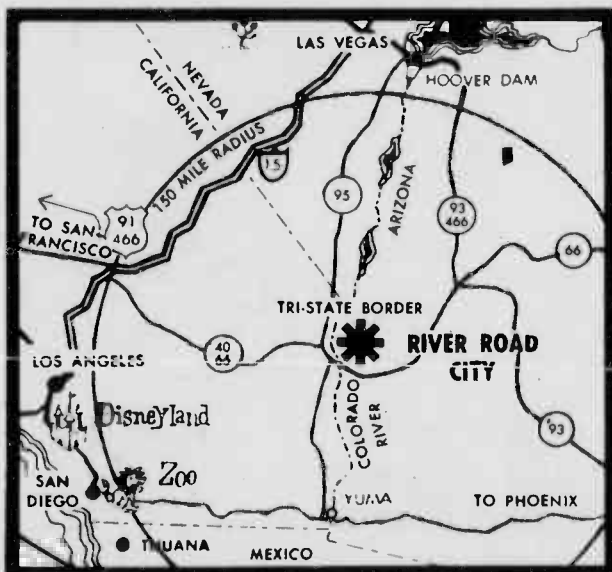

Gambling Casinos such as these will attract thousands of visitors every month.

Mary Noonan Knight, assisted by County Supervisor... Coughlin, turns the first spadeful of dirt at "Alaha Corner" of RIVER ROAD CITY while the entire sales staff of Portrait of Homes, Inc., who went to see this "sleeper" first hand, look on.

Boating, fishing and all of the water sports make this the ideal family weekend or vacation recreation area... plus the excitement of a Las Vegas.

FOR INFORMATION ONLY—MAP NOT TO SCALE

A $30 INVESTMENT each month, after a small down payment, for a total price of only $2995 could be your start on a college fund or your own retirement. The Multi-Millionaires are developing and promoting the area—but the "little guy" can go along for the ride for as little as a dollar a day. Are you smart enough to catch the brass ring?
