Separation Pay Policy Changes Commence Dec. 1

The Secretary of the Navy has issued new residence requirements for Family Separation Allowances.

The present program will be terminated Nov. 30. Those personnel who meet the requirements for FSA will have the opportunity to submit a supplemental certificate in order to have the FSA reinstated in December. In cases where credit has not been reinstated an entry will be made in the individuals pay record which will serve as a request for pay record information if FSA is authorized for December.

To be entitled to Family separation Allowance a member must maintain a residence or household for his dependents, subject to his management and control, which he would likely share with them as a common household during leave or when his duty assignments would permit.

Doubt exists as to entitlement to FSA when the address indicated on the emergency data record is different than the one to which his dependents' allotments are sent; the address to which household goods are shipped or the address to which the dependents' dislocation allowances were sent.

Entitlement to FSA does not exist when the child of a divorced member is living in the household of the grandparents and the member is contributing to the child's support. If the members' dependents live with friends or relatives and the member does not maintain a residence for them he is not eligible, or if a dependent child is living in a dormitory or boarding house for which the member is paying rent and subsistence for the child.

Holiday routine will be in effect Monday, November 11, in observance of Veterans' Day 1968.

COMMAND CHANGE — Colonel W. C. McGraw Jr., left, passes the colors of MAG-24 to Colonel Alexander Wilson during ceremonies last Friday. Colonel McGraw, previously the commander of both the Brigade and Group, will continue as Brigade Commanding Officer.

Maj. Bauer With Unit His Dad Commanded

Major W. D. Bauer, Maintenance Officer for Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 212, is now serving with the same unit his father, Lieutenant Colonel H. W. Bauer, was commanding when he earned the Congressional Medal of Honor.

In 1942, Col. Bauer volunteered to pilot a fighter plane in defense of Guadalcanal, participating in two air battles against enemy bombers and fighters outnumbering United States forces two to one.

On Sept. 28, he shot down one enemy bomber and on Oct. 3, he destroyed four enemy planes, shooting them down in flames and leaving a fifth smoking badly.

After leading 28 planes on an over water ferry of more than 600 miles on Oct. 16, while circling to land, Col. Bauer sighted a squadron of enemy planes attacking the USS McFarland.

Although low on fuel and alone in the air, he engaged the whole squadron and destroyed four enemy planes before he was forced down by lack of fuel.

"His intrepid fighting spirit and distinctive ability as a leader and an airman exemplified in his splendid record of combat achievement, were vital factors in the successful operations in the South Pacific Area," read the citation awarded with the Medal of Honor to Col. Bauer posthumously.

Missing in action on Nov. 14, Col. Bauer was seen in the water after he was shot down. But, four days of intense searching by planes and by Russell Islands natives failed to locate any further trace of him.

As a young boy, Major Bauer received the Medal for his father (See BAUER, Page 3).

K-Bay Marines Decorated For Heroism in Vietnam

Three awards, the Bronze Star Medal, the Navy Achievement Medal, and the Navy Commendation Medal, were presented last week to three of Kaneohe's Marines.

First Battalion, 27th Marines fell out in battalion formation to witness Sergeant D. Van Fleet Jr., receive the nation's seventh highest award, the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V".

As Lieutenant Colonel R. E. B. Palmer, 1/27's Commanding Officer, made the presentation, it was recalled that Van Fleet was a corporal serving as a Forward Observer with 1st Battalion, 7th regiment in Vietnam on February 68. While on duty near the hamlet of La Chau in the province of Quang Nam, he and his unit came under heavy enemy fire. In the midst of the battle, despite severe wounds, Van Fleet managed to pinpoint the origin of the incoming rounds. He continued to lead, directing friendly units and directing friendly units for support, he was the decisive factor in forcing the enemy to quickly disengage.

At the same ceremony, Sgt. T. E. Martin was promoted to his present rank. Following this, 1/27 saw Staff

A parade, scheduled for tomorrow at 3 p.m. on Platt Field, and a historical pageant will highlight K-Bay's celebration of the Marine Corps' 193rd anniversary.

Lieutenant General Edwin A. Pollock, retired former Fleet Marine Force Pacific commander, and Lt. Gen. Henry W. Buse Jr., present FMF Pac commander, will be reviewing officers for the parade.

The First Marine Brigade Executive Officer, Lt. Col. M. R. Ives, has been designated as troop commander.

Members of the 1st Marine Brigade, the Air Station, 1st Radio Battalion, 1st ANGLICO, and Hedron will be in the marching units.

The FMF Pacific Drum and Bugle Corps and the Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor, Band will furnish the music for both the parade and pageant.

The pageant will be a review of the history of the Marine Corps.

Sgt. Eslick Wins Navy Day Award

Sergeant H. F. Eslick, Marine Air Control Squadron 2, has been presented the annual Marine of the Year Award given by the Honolulu Council of the Navy League.

A career Marine on his second enlistment, Sgt. Eslick received the award on the basis of the following letter submitted by his commanding officer, Lieutenant Colonel E. L. Conroy.

"Sgt. Eslick was recently recognized as the Marine of the Month by his squadron at KMCAS because of his outstanding initiative and leadership qualities.

"A veteran of Vietnam, he served as a radio technician, team leader, and platoon sergeant. While assigned to 1st Force Reconnaissance Battalion he participated in more than 30 patrols within enemy territory and was awarded the Bronze Star with Combat "V" for his professional skill, energy and aggressive action.

"Sgt. Eslick voluntarily extended his overseas tour in Vietnam and thus did not return to the United States until April of 1967.

"A qualified jumper and SCUBA man, he has successfully completed the parachuting course at Fort Benning, Georgia, and the SCUBA Diving Course at San Diego Naval Station."

Since entering the Marine Corps, Sgt. Eslick has obtained his high school diploma through the GED program.

During his five years in the Marine Corps, he has earned, in addition to the Bronze Star with Combat "V", a Presidential Unit Citation, Navy Unit Citation, National Defense Medal, Good Conduct Medal, Vietnamese Campaign with two stars, and Vietnamese Service Medal.

In observance of Veteran's Day, Nov. 11, the Commissary will be closed Saturday, Nov. 9, and will re-open for normal operation Tuesday, Nov. 12.

Also on Nov. 9 the 7-Day Exchange Store will close at 5 p.m. K-Bay Inn will serve until 1 p.m. The Bowling Alley Snack Bar will be open its normal hours. All other activities will also operate normal Saturday hours. Normal holiday hours will be observed on Nov. 11.

Marine Aviator Braves Enemy Fire; Rescues 18 From Nicaragua Bandits

QUILALI, NICARAGUA, Jan. 8, 1928 — Marine First Lieutenant Christian Frank Schilt, although under heavy fire from a large enemy force, successfully completed a rescue mission today that helped save the lives of 18 fellow Marines.

Flying 10 flights in two days the 33 year-old aviator pulled off what is believed to be the first rescue of wounded ground troops by an aircraft.

The action started two days ago when two columns of Marines were ambushed by an estimated 700 bandits near here.

Members of Schilt's unit, Marine Observation Squadron 7, flew cover while Marines on the ground prepared a makeshift landing strip for the intrepid flyer.

Part of the town was leveled by fire and other meand to make room for Schilt's modified Chance-Vought-Corsair (O2U-1) to land. Once the area was cleared he started on his errands of mercy.

Observers held their breath as he piloted his craft in for the landing on what was little more than a rough street in this small Nicaraguan town. With "almost superhuman skill" he managed to land and take off 10 times.

He has been recommended for the Medal of Honor for his feat.

Marine Officer Orbits Earth for Historic First

CAPE CANAVERAL, FLA., Feb. 20, 1962 — At 9:47 (EST) this morning Marine LtCol. John H. Glenn Jr. started his historic voyage into space as he became the first American astronaut to orbit the earth.

Four hours and 55 minutes later, after three trips around the earth, he splashed down into the Atlantic some 166 miles east of Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas.

Shortly after the landing the Navy destroyer USS NOA plucked the Friendship 7 (Glenn's spaceship) out of the water.

224 Marines 'Air-Lifted' To Mountainous Punchbowl Area

SEOUL, KOREA, Sept. 1951 — United States Marines established another "first" yesterday when Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 161 air-lifted 224 combat-equipped Leathernecks into the mountainous area east of the Punchbowl.

This was the first time that the Corps' vertical envelopment concept has been used in an actual combat situation.

In a matter of four hours the transport helicopters flew the troops and more than 17,000 pounds of cargo into an area so remote that it would take at least nine hours to reach it.

To top off the operation, one of the "Whirlybirds" laid eight miles of telephone wire from the landing site to the regimental command post in 14 minutes.

For Marine helicopters, "firsts" are getting to be routine. It was a Marine "bird" that plucked a Navy pilot out of Inchon Harbor for the first rescue of this type and the squadron (161) that carried the troops is the world's first transport helicopter squadron.

END OF RIDE — Marines use scaling ladders to storm ashore at Inchon, Korea, Sept. 15, 1950. It was one of the fastest operations on record, with Marines almost stumbling over the PHILADELPHIA, Pa. Nov. 10—The Continental Congress passed a resolution here today forming a Marine Corps to aid in the fight for independence.

Introduced by John Adams of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the bill authorizes the raising of two battalions of Marines. They will be called the First and Second Battalions of American Marines.

Recruiting will start immediately to find men that are good seamen to fill the ranks of the new Corps. Men will be enlisted and commissioned to serve during the present war between the colonies and Great Britain.

It is understood that the majority of the Marines will serve aboard naval vessels where they will be formed into boarding parties, landing teams, gun crews and special marksmen units for engagements at sea.

The resolution authorizes that one colonel, two lieutenant colonels, two majors and other officers as usual in other regiments be appointed to lead the units.

It has been reported that Samuel Nicholas, a local clubman of some note and nephew of Atwood Shute, a former mayor of Philadelphia, will be the first officer commissioned an American Marine. His appointment is expected to be effective later this month.

Further investigation revealed that Robert Mullan, proprietor of Tun Tavern, will also be commissioned a captain. He has donated the use of the tavern for a recruiting office.

Able-bodied men with a yen for adventure and a knowledge of the sea, who desire pay, bounty, ample rations and grog, should stop by Tun Tavern soonest.

Two Forts Fall To Leathernecks In Bahama Fight

NEW PROVIDENCE, BAHAMAS, March 4, 1776 — Marines under the command of Capt. Samuel Nicholas stormed ashore here yesterday to capture Forts Montague and Nassau.

The landing party, 220 Marines and 50 sailors, came over the beaches at the eastern end of the island in the first amphibious landing by American Marines.

After establishing a beachhead ashore, Capt. Nicholas sent a dispatch to the Governor here stating that he was only interested in the military stores and he and his men would respect the private property of local citizenry.

The British garrison at Fort Montague offered token resistance yesterday afternoon (they fired three shots) before turning their installation over to the Marines. No one was hurt by the gunfire.

Starting at daylight this morning, the landing party marched from Fort Montague towards Fort Nassau. On the way they were met by a Governor's messenger who informed them they would take the fort.

The raid netted 71 cannon, 15 brass mortars, and 24 casks of powder. There were no friendly casualties and no powder expended.

Pacific Offensive Starts; Marines Hit Guadalcanal

GUADALCANAL, SOLOMON ISLANDS, Aug. 7, 1942 — U. S. Marines stormed ashore here today to commence the first Allied land offensive of World War II.

Under the command of Major General A. A. Vandegrift, the men of the First Marine Division met little opposition today as they captured their main objective, an airfield.

It has been evident all day that complete tactical surprise was achieved in this landing. The only enemy position has been a few sniper rounds.

However, as the Marines dig in for their first night on the island, they are aware that a long, tough fight lies ahead.

Other units of the division landed on Tulagi and it is reported that they have run into heavy enemy opposition.

THROUGH THE YEARS - The uniforms have changed and the missions expanded to keep the Corps synonymous with the "finest."

Birthday Messages Commandant

This 10th of November 1968 marks the 193rd anniversary of the founding of our Corps. Conceived in a period of crisis, Marines ever since have stood ready to defend the Republic. We do so today.

Our success derives from the sweat and blood of the Marines who preceded us. We see the value of this heritage reflected in the combat record of our forces in Vietnam.

To those past Marines who have made the Corps what it is - the finest fighting force the world has ever seen - we pay our everlasting respect. To those wearing the uniform today, I say, "Well done; continue the march."

Our Corps lives in the hearts and minds of Marines - regular, reserve, retired - throughout the world. To them, and to their families on this very special day, I send my personal greetings and best wishes.

Leonard F. Chapman Jr.
General, U.S. Marine Corps

Station-Brigade

Today we pause to celebrate the 193rd anniversary of our Corps, a time to remember those Marines who have served so well before us and, with just pride in their accomplishments, to honor our contemporaries who are even now adding to the great traditions of service to God, Country and Corps.

During the nearly two centuries of service to our Nation, Marines have been "first to fight for right and freedom." This is truly a legacy to be proud of, and one to build upon to insure that the Marine Corps will always be the United States' Amphibious Force-in-Readiness.

May this day be a real Happy Birthday for all of you.

at Miramra Naval Air Station. Though he remembers little, the Major states, "It all seemed like a big parade to me at the time. My mother actually received the medal."

The fourth member of his family to graduate from the U.S. Naval Academy, Major Bauer was given the usual Presidential appointment to Annapolis given to sons of men holding the Congressional Medal of Honor. Despite this appointment, he had to take tests like everyone else.

Graduating in 1958, he earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in military science and was commissioned a second lieutenant June 4, 1958.

Less than ten years later, he entered the Vietnam war as a captain and a fighter pilot. While in Vietnam, he was promoted to Major, earned the Distinguished Flying Cross, and eight Air Medals.

Branch Exchange

Are You Aware that yesterday branch exchange opened in Building 301, MAG area? This branch activity is stocked with a minimum assortment of cigarettes, cigars, tobaccos, miscellaneous toiletry items, stationery supplies, military needs and reading material. Hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday - Friday.

Army Colonel Lauds Facilities

While Army Lieutenant Colonel W. G. Benedict was stationed in Vietnam, his family lived in this area. Upon his return home to Glen Burnie, Md., he wrote the following letter to Colonel F. C. Opeka, Air Station commanding officer.

"Somewhat belatedly I wish to commend you for the excellent facilities and services provided at Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station.

"The Youth Activities Organization and Teen Club, in which our sons participated, are very well organized and operated. We particularly enjoyed the use of the golf course (the most beautiful military course I have seen), the Base Exchanges and the commissary (the most efficient on the island); however, I wish to mention the base Dispensary for the outstanding services given my family. I wish to thank Dr. E. C. Noel, personally, for his professional skill and most understanding assistance rendered my family during my recent tour in Vietnam.

"Aloha, and keep up the fine work."

Ship Named For Reasoner

The first U.S. Naval ship to be named after a Marine who earned the Medal of Honor in Vietnam is being built in Seattle.

The keel of the USS Frank S. Reasoner, a destroyer escort, was laid April 22. It is expected to be launched Jan. 11, 1969.

First Lieutenant Reasoner was posthumously awarded the nations' highest decoration Jan. 31, 1967 for his heroic actions while commanding "A" Company, 3d Recon Battalion, 3d Marine Division.

"He (my father) was my hero and I wanted to be a Marine pilot too, and that's what I am," stated Major Bauer.

HQMC Chaplain John Craven Former Marine

A former Marine is the newly assigned Navy Chaplain on the staff of the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

He is Captain John H. Craven, USN, who enlisted for a hitch in the Marine Corps in the 1930s.

At HQMC Chaplain Craven serves also on the staff of the Chief of Chaplains in the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

Craven enlisted in the Corps in 1933 and was discharged to the Reserves in 1935.

In 1937, he was ordained and in 1942 earned his Master of Theology Degree from Central Baptist Seminary, Kansas City, Kan.

Craven was commissioned a Lt. (jg) in the Chaplain Corps in 1942 and attended Navy Chaplain School in Norfolk, Va.

During WWII, he served with the 14th Marines and was awarded the Bronze Star for courage and devotion while under heavy fire on Saipan.

In Korea the Captain earned a second Bronze Star and a Legion of Merit while with the 1st Marine Division.

General Buse Claims Blue Chips in Vietnam

Lieutenant General Henry W. Buse, Jr., commander of all Marines in the Pacific area, recently returned from a 17 day fact finding tour of Marine installations on Okinawa, Japan, South Korea and Vietnam.

During a press conference at his Camp Smith headquarters the General said "Militarily the NVA is licking his wounds. The enemy in the I Corps has had to pull back," Buse continued, "I think they were forced to pull back."

Saying that he thought that the NVA were hungry, the general cited the recent discoveries of many large food, medical and weapons caches in and along the Demilitarized Zone. He explained that he believed the NVA had pulled out to get supplies and eat, but did not rule out their return to action after regrouping and refitting their units.

Referring to the large supply caches found in I Corps and throughout South Vietnam, the general claimed, "We've got the blue chips militarily, and we've thrown them off stride in all areas."

Asked about V.C. activity the general said that "The Viet Cong are greatly depleted in I Corps," pointing out that the V.C. ranks have been supplemented by NVA who do not know the people or the local areas, which contributes directly to their ineffective activities.

Two more commonly asked questions, the V.A. and their authoritative answers appear below.

Q—My son is being discharged from service next month and I want to be sure he keeps his veterans insurance. I regret that I dropped mine after World War II. What does he have to do?

A—Servicemen are now covered up to $10,000 while on active duty and for 120 days thereafter by Serviceman's Group Life Insurance. Unlike after World War II, however, they cannot keep this insurance as veterans insurance. Instead, within 120 days after being separated from service they must convert their SGLI policies to policies with a commercial company. Nearly 600 companies have been approved by the VA to offer conversion.

If your son has a service-connected disability, he may also be eligible for $10,000 special insurance through the VA that can be, in addition to or in the place of his converted SGLI coverage. He should check with his nearest VA regional office after he gets out of service concerning all of his veterans benefits.

Q—I am a veteran attending college under the G. I. Bill and plan to be married in the near future. Can I claim my wife as a dependent for an increased educational allowance from the Veterans Administration even though she will be working?

A—Yes, you may claim your wife as a dependent regardless of whether she is working.

It's a good career. Stay with it.

Editorial

A Day To Remember

On November 11, 1918, at 5 a.m. Paris time, representatives of the government of Germany, the most powerful of the Central Powers engaged in World War I, signed an armistice of 35 clauses, the most severe and drastic ever demanded from a major power.

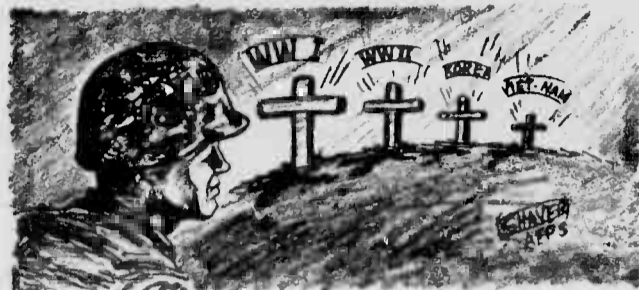

At 11 a.m. that same day, the battlefields fell silent, hostilities ended, and for the first time in four years, the world was at peace. World War I was over!

Historians of the time dubbed World War I as "the war to end all wars." Those of us now in uniform know only too well that such was not the case. First came World War II, then Korea and now Vietnam.

The strife, conflict and tension the world has endured in the intervening fifty years may have dimmed the significance of World War I for many of us.

But November 11 is still a day to be remembered.

Until 1954, Americans celebrated Nov. 11 as an observance of the end of World War I. But then the Congress of the United States amplified the meaning of the holiday, designating it Veterans Day—a day to honor all the men and women who have served in the armed forces of the United States.

Veterans Day is a day when all Americans should pause a moment in recollection and prayer.

By making just this simple observance before going on with our normal holiday activities, we will have paid proper homage to the millions of Americans, past and present, living and dead, who have courageously served their country.

It is also a day for those of us who now serve—the veterans of tomorrow—to rededicate ourselves to the principles of freedom and human dignity for which our comrades-in-arms throughout America's history have fought and died. (AFPS)

192-YEAR HERITAGE REFLECTED IN VIETNAM 1968 COMBAT RECORD

President Lyndon B. Johnson and MajGen Fields begin the 193d year during the 1967 birthday celebration at Camp Pendleton, California.

193D YEAR BEGUN BY THE PRESIDENT AT CAMP PENDLETON

Marines hammered out new traditions in their 193d year — one of often-bitter combat.

Khe Sanh, Hue and hundreds of other fights topped their Corps' 192-year roster of victories.

The year began as President Lyndon B. Johnson celebrated the 192d birthday at Camp Pendleton, California.

It also began quietly with monsoon rains beginning to fall on the III Marine Amphibious Force in Vietnam and ground action limited.

And it had a costly beginning. With the year only five days old, MajGen Bruno A. Hochmuth, commanding general of the 3d Marine Division, died in a shot-down helicopter.

December—the month of Pearl Harbor in 1941—saw Marine flyers supporting Korean Marines as well as U. S. Marines. It was the same month that the first Marine jets saw combat in Korea in 1950.

The month ended with the retirement of Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Jr., the Corps' 23d Commandant.

On Monday, 1 January 1968, LtGen Leonard F. Chapman, Jr., took the oath of office, became the 24th Commandant and began wearing his fourth star.

As Marines remembered earlier January battles—Trenton, 1777; New Orleans, 1815; Cedar Key, Florida, 1862; Pohang, Korea, 1951; Double Eagle, 1966; and Deckhouse V, 1967—their present enemy was building a massive force house-to-house—and often hand-to-hand—fighting.

One of the bitterest fights was in Hue.

As the fighting went on, the February anniversaries of Women Marines, Midway, USS Maine, and the flag raising on Mt. Suribachi passed. "Old Glory" atop Hill 881 angered NVA guns and Marines fought off intermittent attacks and prepared for a major Communist onslaught.

The stateside 27th Marines—a regiment that saw its first action on Iwo Jima in February, 1945—got a new date to remember. It rushed to Vietnam in response to a call for help from fellow Marines in heavy combat.

The enemy at Khe Sanh, advantageously deployed, was determined to destroy the Combat Base.

Despite overwhelming odds, the 26th Marines remained resolute and determined. On dates associated with the raging battle on Iwo Jima 23 years before, they and parts of the June, 1968, correspondents reported light skirmishes in Vietnam as the 50th anniversary of Belleau Wood passed. June was the first anniversary of operations ARIZONA, SHASTA II, CHOCTAW, BROWN, CIMMARON, ADAIR, and CALHOUN.

It was also the month that Khe Sanh Combat Base was inactivated and moved into history.

During the summer Marines in Vietnam confused the enemy with aggressive combat actions.

The Marine Corps' force in readiness was the one Congress established July, 1798—it is a force in readiness enhanced by modern air power's mobility—even more mobility than Marines had for their July, 1944, landing on Guam.

The aviation that supplied the mobility is the modern version of the one that landed at Brest, France—July, 1918.

September brought home the 27th Marines—the regiment that had come to Vietnam planned largest offensive of the war. Marine units moved north.

During the truce for Tet—a January-February Vietnamese holiday—Communist forces attacked military installations, villages and cities. Marines beat them in fierce fight. President Lyndon B. Johnson bestowed the Presidential Unit Citation on the 26th Marines (Reinforced). He praised the regiment for extraordinary heroism during the battle for Khe Sanh from 20 January to 1 April 1968.

Not even a year had passed since Vice President Hubert Humphrey gave the 3d Marine Division the first Presidential Unit Citation earned by Marines in Vietnam.

Twenty-three years had passed since many Marines earned the award on Iwo Jima.

By mid-March, 1968, LtGen Robert E. Cushman, Jr. commanded more troops in Vietnam's I Corps area than any other Marine general in history.

In April, 1823, Marines chased pirates out of Havana, Cuba. In April, 1968, eighty-five thousand Marines in the III Marine Amphibious Force continued to chase the enemy through his jungles.

One-hundred and sixty-five years after the month-of-May raid on the "shores of Tripoli," eight Women Marines were serving in the Republic of Vietnam.

Some Marines celebrated Memorial Day at the annual Da Nang "500."

Novelist Stephen Crane—acting as a war correspondent—reported the June actions of Marines from Cuba, 1898.

UH-53K helicopters joined Marines in Vietnam. This largest, fastest, and most powerful transport helicopter in the Free World has been actively engaged since.

In October, Presidential Unit Citations were awarded to the 5th Marine Regiment, the 1st Marine Division and the 1st Marine Air Wing for extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance of duty in Vietnam.

Marine Heavy Helicopter Squadron 463 was cited in October by the National Defense Transportation Association for its combat achievements logged between 1 July 1967 and 23 May 1968.

As October ended, ten Marines had won the Medal of Honor during the 193d year. Two-hundred and fifty-nine Marines have won the Medal of Honor since 1862.

November ends this 193d year on the 50th anniversary of the World War I Marine Campaign—Meuse-Argonne.

"Our success derives from the sweat and blood of the Marines who preceded us. We see the value of this heritage reflected in the combat record of our forces in Vietnam," said the Commandant of the Marine Corps in the 193d Birthday Message.

And now—a new year of tradition begins.

Unexpected Enemy

Marines of "E" Co., Ninth Marines were recently attacked by an unexpected "enemy."

The aggressor charged the Marine position from a wooded area southwest of Con Thien as the Leathernecks were preparing to be heli-lifted to another area. "I guess he was all shook-up by the noise of the helicopters," said Pfc. Jose E. Venegas, New Orleans, La., "because he came charging right through the middle of our company and nearly ran over our company commander." The Marines opened fire on the intruder after he passed through their command post.

"I guess we really shook him up. When we last saw him he was double-timing out of the area as fast as his legs could carry him," smiled Venegas.

Who shook who is debatable. The Marines, noted for their marksmanship skill, had failed to score a hit on the rampaging intruder — a 200-pound wild boar.

their momentary escape from combat resulted in capture by the enemy.

The two men had fallen asleep in a hole unaware that a patrol was searching the area. Their peaceful sleep was soon ended as they suddenly awoke to the sight of five rifles pointed at them.

Their captors, a five-man Marine patrol, escorted the two pencil-pushing communists from the 38th North Vietnamese Regiment back to the Marine command post for interrogation.

Lost Rifle

An enemy soldier recently made the mistake of trying to sneak past a Michigan Marine.

Private First Class Charles Walker, a rifleman in the 3rd Bn., Ninth Marine Regiment, was standing night perimeter guard during a sweep and clear operation west of Con Thien.

"I spotted, the North Vietnamese Army (NVA) soldier crawling through some tall grass toward our perimeter," related Walker.

Walker explained that when he tried to capture the NVA he ran, so he shot him. "I had another Marine cover me and went after him," he said. "When I found him, he was pretty badly wounded."

The Communist intruder told interpreters he had been ordered by his superiors to get a rifle he had left in the area during an earlier battle with Marines.

60 MM Rock

During a recent debriefing Marine pilot 1st Lt. Bob Moody reported an unusual hit to his aircraft.

He had just taken off from the Marine Air Facility near Marble Mountain when his Sea Knight helicopter was struck by an enemy projectile.

Asked to describe the missile,

Moody grinned and replied, "It was a 60mm rock."

The rock had been thrown by a youngster...not a bad toss, considering the helicopter was flying nearly 100 miles an hour and had climbed to about 75-feet when hit!

Souvenir

Some Marines spend their 13-month tour in Vietnam and go home without a war souvenir, but in the case of Pfc. Danny K. Cantrell, 21 (5422 Centinal, Tecumseh, Mich.) this won't be so.

On a sweep and clear mission with Lima Company, 3d Bn., Fifth Marine Regiment, Cantrell spotted a hole which he suspected to harbor Viet Cong.

Cantrell called for the interpreter and the company gunnery sergeant to talk the enemy out of the hole. When that maneuver failed, the trio threw in a fragmentation grenade and Gunnery Sgt. Burdett Loucks, 34 (Rt. 1, Box 72A, Hilton Head Island, S.C.) went inside to investigate.

Inside Loucks found four dead VC, a .38 caliber pistol, a transistor radio and an SKS rifle.

Cantrell will now go home with one of the most prized war souvenirs of all, an SKS rifle.

Drill Team

Staff Sergeant Richard D. Stevens of Omaha, Neb., is the leader of the smallest "drill team" in the Marine Corps.

Not concerned with "spit and polish", Stevens and his team use a small portable drilling unit, and burrow more than 20 feet into the earth to locate hidden enemy bunkers and tunnels.

When a patrol suspects that they may have found an enemy bunker or tunnel they radio in and ask for the portable drill unit. "We've been using this method for some time now and have located several bunkers and tunnels with our drill", explained Stevens.

On the suspected bunker site, the four man drill team work alternately in pairs, one pair working while the other rests. The drill weighs 90 pounds.

Ralph

Ralph joined the rolls of Marine Fighter-Attack Squadron-115 in October 1967, and immediately endeared himself to the other members of the command by his heroism.

During enemy rocket and mortar attacks Ralph would jump up on the highest structure available and warn the Leathernecks to take cover.

Besides serving as the harbinger of enemy attacks, he was responsible for waking the Marines, not on duty, at 5 a.m. each morning. This he never failed to do.

Ralph became so much a part of the unit that a painting of him hung in the squadron office. Recently, Ralph was killed in action by an unknown assailant. His comrades insist that he met a hero's death at the hands of the Viet Cong.

In the squadron compound there is a grave with a small cross bearing the inscription, "Here lies Ralph — a gallant rooster".

Sleep Dangerous

In Vietnam an opportunity to get a little extra sleep is also an opportunity to get away from the danger. For two administrative clerks

ORGAN TO ORPHANS — Lieutenant General Lewis W. Walt, Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps, listens to an organ presented by the widow of the late Marine Captain Troy Oliver. Walt presented the organ to the Reverend and Mrs. Gordon Smith, at right, directors of the China Orphanage in Da Nang. Captain Oliver, who was killed in action during the fighting in Hue during the Tet Offensive, often visited the orphanage, bringing gifts. The Smiths arrived in Vietnam in 1929, and at that time have founded orphanages and leprosariums in Vietnam. General Walt was visiting Marine units in Vietnam, keeping abreast of the current situation. (Photo by SSgt. Lee Hoeyneck)

The act of fate has taken Sly Sludge away from the prognosticating areas of these islands. Sly was signed by an NFL team as a scout. The considered his record and couldn't find anyone better suited for the position. So Sly has departed and I have been sent to assume his position and try to uphold the family name of Sludge. I'm his cousin Greasy.

Even though it's a year of upsets, I'm a gambler and I like to take risks. My experience is enough to get by in any man's league. The last three years in a row I've missed picking the top 10 by only eight teams. Sly missed it by nine. So you see, my cousin ain't nuthin' compared to me.

Cpl. Dave Beightler, H&HS material, is going to be the first to take the ax and give me the ax. Dave is from Champagne, Ill., and even though he hasn't much playing experience, he is an avid follower of the sport. I'm gonna say is GEFV-UM!

Quantico Cagers Look for Good Year

The Quantico Marine Basketball team is looking forward to an exciting season with even reserved optimism expressed by their coaches.

"With a little help from our big men, we could go all the way to the Interservice Championship."

First-year coach Kevin Haggerty's optimism is well founded as the Quantico Marines prepare for their 1968-69 season opener at Ft. Bragg, N.C., Nov. 23.

Returning from last years 27-10 All-Marine champion team are 6-5 Marv Willet, number one scorer with an 18 ppg. average, and 6-3 Bob Brown, over 10 ppg. in the last half of the season and top foul shooter for the Marine cagers in the forward positions.

Mike Redd, 6-2 and former small college All-American guard at Kentucky Wesleyan, aims to better a 16 ppg. average. All three were Interservice All-Stars last year.

The addition of 6-2 Steve Olson and 6-1 Don Krueger gives the Marines a talented trio of guards. Olson, who doubles as assistant coach was All-West Coast and team captain at the University of Washington last year while Krueger was All-Navy last season.

The center spot is still wide open with two returnees of the 1966 Quantico team, 6-6 Laney McLaughlin and 6-7 Jim Meyers vying for the starting pivot job. Both Meyers and McLaughlin are questionable with knee injuries, leaving former intramural star, 6-4

Chris Crawford as a possible starting center.

"Our schedule is tough," Haggerty says, "but this is the best small team around."

This major East Coast sailing event, hosted by the Quantico Naval Base, was held on the Potomac River.

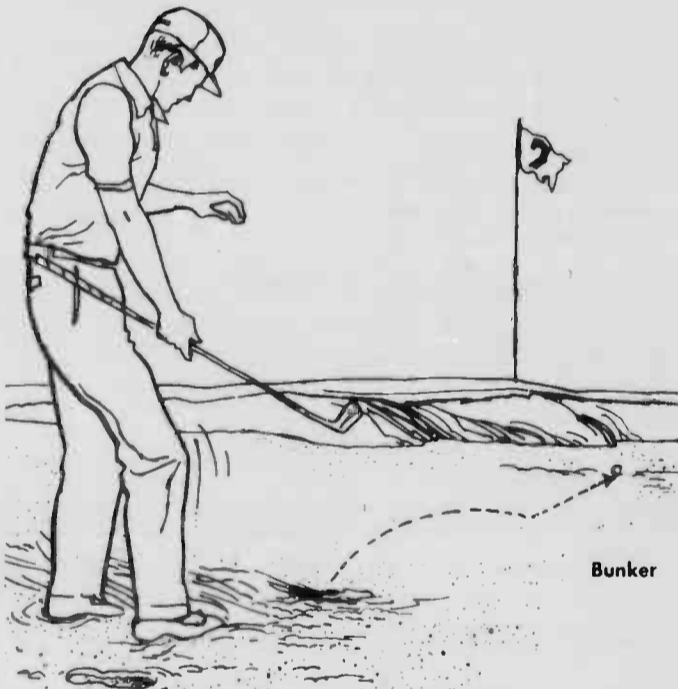

In Sunday's competition, approximately 200 spectators watched the worlds' largest single fleet race a triangular course between the Virginia and Maryland shores. Winds gusting up to 28 knots capsized two craft and broke a mast on another.

Smith Downs K-Bay 16-8, Captures All-Star Crown

Camp Smith, out to avenge a 43-8 defeat last year at the hands of the Kaneohe All-Stars, came over the Pali Monday night and took the revenge they sought by defeating Kaneohe 16-8. A small but noisy crowd of about 100 saw the game and cheered noisily on every play.

Camp Smith won the toss and kicked off to keep the wind at their back. Saylor returned the opening boot to the 22 yard line.

Kaneohe quarterback, Wiles, hit Saylor on a 10 yard pass play then had his second pass intercepted by Greesly from Camp Smith.

Camp Smith took possession on the 31 but suffered 7 yards in losses in their first series and was forced to punt. Kaneohe claimed the ball on the eight and began their first march of the game. Wiles threw two incomplete passes and then speared Kelley on a screen pass play that rambled 43 yards to the Smith 29 yard line. Kaneohe's offense stalled at that point but a Smith holding penalty gave Kaneohe a 1st and goal at the ten. Camp Smith's defense tightened up to force two more incomplete passes and pulled down Wiles for a loss of ten. Wiles came back and hit Saylor on a 10 yarder but Smith dropped him on the 9 and thwarted Kaneohe's scoring bid.

Camp Smith's field general, Vaughn, broke out his bomb and hit Jefferson and Chrismond for long gainers and aided by K-Bay interference and holding penalties guided his squad to the K-Bay one where he kept around right end for the first score of the bout. Vaughn connected with Jefferson for the 2-point PAT.

K-Bay returned the following kickoff to the twenty where they commenced to pull a little razzle-dazzle out of their bag of tricks. Wiles gave the ball to Kelley and Kelley passed to Wiles clear down on the Smith 14. After a disastrous first three downs Kaneohe pulled the big one out when Wiles tossed to Saylor on the screen and Saylor scampered into paydirt. Wiles swept right end for the 2-point conversion which tied up the game and that's how it stood at the half-time whistle.

Smith kicked off to start the second half and nearly had it run down their throat when Powell romped to the Smith 16 before he was brought down. A subsequent holding penalty against Smith put Kaneohe on the 8 but the stubborn Smith defense held off the K-Bay threat.

Smith took over and drove to the K-Bay 35 until Murphy picked off a Smith pass. Two plays later Smith's Harrison stole an aerial from K-Bay's Ammons and returned it to the 28. Facing a 4th and 12 Vaughn passed to Polumbo for a 1st down on Kaneohe's 20. Then they hooked up again for the score that gave Camp Smith the decisive edge. Jefferson scored the PAT.

Kaneohe threatened twice to even up the score and had one 80 yard TD run nullified by a clipping penalty but could never tally a score and the game ended Camp Smith 16, Kaneohe 8.
