1stLt. Cheever

Tuesday and First Lieutenant William N. Bullock, 1st Battalion, 3rd Marines, was decorated Wednesday.

Serving with the III Marine Amphibious Force from May 27, 1969 to March 27, 1970, 1stLt Cheever was assigned as a Platoon Commander for Company C, 1st Battalion, 3rd Marines, 3rd Marine Division. The lieutenant was also Platoon Commander for the 3rd Engineer Battalion, Utilities Officer for Support Company, and finally as a Platoon Commander with the 1st Bridge Company, 7th Engineer Battalion, 1st Marine Division. "Throughout his tour of Vietnam, the Lieutenant "performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner," stated his citation.

First Lieutenant Bullock served with Company I, 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines, 1st Marine Division from Aug. 24, 1969 to June 15, 1970.

Though painfully wounded Lt. Bullock, as a platoon commander exposed himself repeatedly to hostile rounds in order to direct mortar and artillery fire, as well as the fire of a helicopter gunship to repel an enemy unit.

The lieutenant was later reassigned as the Executive Officer and finally as the Commanding Officer for Company I, where he "distinguished himself by his excellent performance of duty."

The Combat Distinguishing Device has been authorized for both men.

A Marine officer who helped persuade 6,000 Vietcong to return to the Government of Vietnam control was awarded the Bronze Star Medal with combat "V" recently.

Major Robert G. Jessee was presented the medal by Col. W.J. White, Station commander.

Working with the Civil Operations and Rural Development Support, III Marine Amphibious Force from May 27, 1969 to April 11, 1970, the major established a rapport with Government of Vietnam counterparts which resulted in improved and more effective management and operation of the vital program to convince ralliers to the Viet Cong to again return to the control of the Government of Vietnam.

CMC Birthday Message

Once again all Marines, regular, reserve, and retired and their families, join together on this special day to celebrate the anniversary of our Corps. It's an old tradition, a fine tradition, one that pays high honor to our proud history. And on this day we especially remember and pray for the welfare of Marines who are prisoners of war and their families.

But this year I would ask all Marines; active and inactive, young and old, in the combat of Vietnam and on more tranquil stations; not to look back, but instead, to look to the future. We are in a new time, and we must celebrate our 195th anniversary not as an end of almost two centuries of dedicated service, but as preparation for new service, new dedication, and new achievement.

We must seek a new level of professionalism. We must complete the link of communications between our traditional duties, the demands of this new time, and the dedication of a new breed of Marine. How well we do this is the true measure of our worth to claim the rich heritage of our Corps. If there is to be a repeat of the old question - "When did the Old Corps end, and the New Corps begin?" - let all of us who are now Marines answer proudly, "It happened on my watch."

Winner Of Navy Cross, 3 Silver Stars For Bravery Named 1970 Marine Aviator

A 31-year-old captain presently serving at the Marine Corps Air Station (H), Santa Ana, Calif., has been named the "Marine Aviator of the Year" for 1970.

Captain John J. Barrett, holder of the Navy Cross, three Silver Star Medals, two Distinguished Flying Crosses and 35 Air Medals, is the recipient of the award for his outstanding contribution in the field of Marine aviation.

The captain was honored at a banquet at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel in Atlanta Oct. 24, during the 32nd annual convention of the First Marine Aviation Force Veteran's Association, donor of the award.

Making the presentation was Major General Homer S. Hill, Deputy Chief of Staff (Air), Headquarters Marine Corps. General Hill commented that he was honored to make the presentation because, "though past selection for the honor of Marine Aviator of the Year have been outstanding, this year's selection is yet the best."

Highlights of his achievements which led to his selection as "Marine Aviator of the Year" were his courage in the face of extreme danger during medical evacuation of wounded Marines, emergency resupply, and the insertion/extraction of reconnaissance teams.

The "Marine Aviator of the Year" award was conceived to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of Marine Corps Aviation and to perpetuate the names of its pioneers.

Captain Barrett is currently serving as operations officer of Training Squadron 302 (HMMT-302), MHGT-30, Marine Corps Air Station (H), Santa Ana, Calif.

The American Veteran

What is a veteran? More specifically, what is the American veteran?

Well, the American veteran is many things, and many people. He's both tall and short and sometimes medium. He's both rich and poor and oftentimes middle-income. He's Catholic, Protestant and Jew, and several other religions as well. He's also black, white, red, yellow and brown, and numerous shades between.

Above all, the American veteran is a patriot, and not ashamed to show it. Wherever and whenever his country's flag was in jeopardy — at Bunker Hill and Hamburger Hill, at Saratoga and Santiago and Salerno, at Lexington and Leyte and Luzon — he was there, standing steadfast to see the United States through storm and strife.

He curses like a Patton and prays like a Washington. He is as gentlemanly cultured as a Lee, and as plain and forthright as a Carson or a Crockett. He is as scientifically knowledgeable as an Armstrong or as matter-of-factly savvy as a Boone.

His courage is legend, and he has demonstrated it wherever the sun rose on crisis and set on peace: from the breakout following the bitter winter at Valley Forge to the surrender of the redcoats at Yorktown; from the struggle on Lake Erie to the defeat of the British at New Orleans; from the firing on Fort Sumter to the discussion of terms at Appomattox; from the hell of the Argonne Forest to the Armistice at Compiègne; from the landing at Algiers to the capitulation at Rheims; from the attack on Pearl Harbor to the end of the Pacific conflict in Tokyo Bay; from the burst of shells on Seoul to the parleys at Panmunjom; from the defense of Saigon to, hopefully, the final peace negotiations at Paris.

The American veteran has a heart. After a fierce battle, he can be seen passing out chocolate bars and gum to the children of the very men against whom he was fighting. Deadly serious when the occasion demands, his other side also has a sense of humor.

He is magnanimously civic-minded, too. Hundreds of schools, orphanages and hospitals in several dozen lands came into being and continue to exist only through the sweat and charity of the American veteran.

Mrs. Jane Skinner

A. Fluoride-treated water was made available in the FY'63, FY'64, FY'65, and will be made available to Capehart housing areas this month. A facilities project to fluoridate the remaining Station's water distribution system has been submitted to the Commandant of the Marine Corps. Approval and funding of this project is unknown at this time.

Try Proofreading This

Before a book is a book, it is galley-sheets, which means a pile of pages perhaps a couple of inches thick but about a yard long. You must start reading from the top of the page and you think you will never reach the bottom. It is something like climbing down the stairs of Washington Monument. You have to sniff every word as you go, like a bloodhound on the scent of error. That is the beauty of proofreading; you catch the mistakes in time and you can correct them. But once you send the galleys back, the pages are photographed and printed and bound, and all your errors are embalmed forever.

In a way, proofreading is somewhat like examining one's conscience, except that we wistfully hope that God is not quite so picayune. When God calls for the copy (our soul) at the moment of death, if the pages are blotched all over with errors, meaning evil, there will be no longer a chance to make changes. You have had it. You are there. The Judge is reading the report which you yourself have written, which you yourself deliver, and which will decide where you spend your eternity.

"Now is the acceptable time" to clean up the manuscript so that your life will be a handsome volume, gilt-edged with grace, a precious first edition to be honorably filed in Heaven, and not a bundle of messy pages to be flung angrily into the fires of Hell. The latter can never happen to a man who recognizes his moral mistakes, and is sternly resolved to correct them. But the poor fellow who "cons" himself into believing, "I'm much too busy now. Someday I will get around to setting everything right"...this man is walking around with his own eternal condemnation in his pocket. All he has to do is die to make it effective.

Paratroopers Get Wings

(Editor's note: On Sept. 11, 1970, The Windward Marine ran a feature on the pre-jump school being conducted by 1st ANGLICO. Following the school, the men were sent to jump school at Ft. Benning, Ga. They're back, and this is their story.)

Jump School at Ft. Benning, Ga., is three weeks long. During those grueling weeks, a man learns to jump out of an aircraft, pull his ripcord and float softly to the ground, every movement spontaneous.

The first week was ground training. "Even though you undergo physical training throughout the three weeks," said Navy Lieutenant J.W. Kopp, Naval Gunfire Liaison Officer for 1st ANGLICO, "the hardest is the first week. Also, during this week, you are introduced to the parachute and its rigging, as well as jumping from a 34-foot mock tower."

The second week is tower week. The men made more jumps from the 34-foot tower, received advance training on handling the parachute in air, and made two free-falls from a 250-foot tower.

"On the 250-foot tower," Lt. Kopp continued, "you just hang there waiting to be dropped. It gives you a little of the feeling of free falling."

The third week is jump week. On Monday, they made their first jump from an aircraft. During the week, the men jumped a total of five times, enough to earn their Army wings.

NO. 10 FOR 1st ANGLICO ... personnel who are jump qualified. Wednesday morning is for jumping out of aircraft. For some of these people, this is their tenth jump, qualifying them to wear gold jump wings.

They now must earn their Navy and Marine Corps jump wings. They will have to jump a total of ten times in order to earn the right to wear the gold wings on their chests. And every Wednesday, weather permitting, 1st ANGLICO goes jumping.

"1st ANGLICO maintains jump qualified personnel for one particular reason," said 1st Lt. C.W. Fleischer, 1st ANGLICO's Technical Information Officer. "Any way the Marine Corps is obligated to deliver troops into combat, ANGLICO has to be able to do it. This includes walking, riding, jumping or flying.

"Our job is to provide air and Naval gunfire liaison to whomever we are directed," he continued. "If it takes jumping in to provide this liaison, we are prepared."

NAILING ON THE WINGS...—LCpl D.E. Pepperling has his jump wings nailed to his chest in the proper ANGLICO style by Sgt. A.J. Wilson. Sgt. F.F. Barnes (center) and SSgt. A. Marr await the same "pleasure." For these men, the time has come for them to wear gold wings, signifying the completion of their tenth jump.

12th MC Pilot On Angel Team Pleases Crowd

Captain Kevin P. O'Mara is the twelfth Marine to fly with the Navy's famed precision flight team, the Blue Angels.

The 28-year-old Californian is in his first year of his two-to-three year tour with the "Blues." He is a graduate of Pasadena City College and graduated from Naval flight training at Pensacola, Fla., in 1966.

He later served in Vietnam, earning 18 Air Medals, the Navy Achievement Medal with combat "V", the Combat Action Ribbon, a Presidential Unit Citation, the Navy Unit Citation and the Vietnamese Service and Campaign Medals.

Capt. O'Mara

The selection to the Blue Angels depends on many factors. The person has to be one of the healthiest young men (ages 26 to 36) in the world. He must be able to fly exceptionally well, have the adaptability necessary to live closely with his team-mates for long periods of time without creating friction or dissension, and be able to represent the Navy and, in this case, the Marine Corps as an "Ambassador of Good Will" wherever the team may take him.

Serving at Camp H. M. Smith now are two alumni of the Blue Angels, Colonel Ed Rutty, 1955, and Lieutenant Colonel Stoney Mayock, 1958-59.

Ops Tips 1/3...

The "peanut butter and jelly boys", AL Barefield and J.W. Ward, more than lived up to their league-dominating billing as they exploded for five touchdowns and 362 yards rushing between them Saturday to lead Station Ops to a convincing 34-20 victory over sagging 1/3.

Ward, giving Station football fans something to talk about with his dazzling runs, rang up 224 yards in 15 carries while bringing his four-game rushing total to 855 yards good for 13 touchdowns. Not the least bit less devastating, Barefield ground out 138 yards while carrying 18 times. Both runners were benefactors of some bone-jarring key blocks thrown by Ops offensive line which is headed by P. Shelton, J. Hancock and P. Hering.

For 1/3, any hopes of a comeback victory were stymied in the fourth quarter when Ops' D. Strobecker intercepted a Rufus Holton pass and halted an important 1/3 surge. The first half had ended in a 14-14 deadlock with Barefield and Ward each having scored once for Ops while 1/3's Holton ran 23 yards for a touchdown and threw 30 yards to Ken Rasmussen for another. Ward opened the third period with a 20 yard jaunt ending an Ops drive spearheaded by quarterback Jim Coe's deft signal-calling. 1/3 retaliated with a sustained drive culminated by Larry Scott's eight-yard scoot into the end zone.

With the score knotted at 20-20, Strobecker and T. Mitchell continued to play havoc with 1/3's passing game and were the chief cause in Ops' 14 point fourth-quarter splurge. Ward and Barefield responded to their defense's efforts and tallied once each on runs of five yards for the winning total.

"My boys proved that they've got what it takes to play good football," Ops Coach Al Alcaraz commented. "I can't say enough about Mitchell, Strobecker, George Sigler, Nichols and Dave Westhart. They made 35 tackles between them. You can't take a thing away from 1/3, though. They definitely have a good ball club."

1/3 compiled 267 yards total offense, 156 via air as Holton completed 13-24 passes. "We started out strong, blocking two punts and scoring twice in the first quarter," ass't. coach Len Mozozak stated. "We lost one TD to a penalty. I think the running of Ward is what told the final story. But I think 1/3 will be back."

H&S Bde-9th Eng

H&S Brigade pulled up the 500 mark as they trounced 9th Engineers 30-14 Saturday.

"Dandy" Dan Dugger continued to spell the difference for Bde as he romped for four TD's and a PAT conversion.

Providing ample blocking and protection for "Dandy" Dan were John Fugua, Richard Feaster, Dallas Gunner and Norm Davis.

With the loss, 9th Engineers dropped to 1-3, their lone victory being a forfeit.

Brigade meets Disbursing in a position battle at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Disbo - MACS-2

Disbursing's Dolphins scored an easy 26-0 triumph over hapless MACS-2 to even their record at 2-2.

The Dolphins were led by Hal Goforth who completed 17 out of 20 passes, scored once himself on a quarterback sneak and passed 35 yards to end Bill McCain for another.

Considered by many to be the most under-rated team in the league, Disbursing took a 6-0 first-quarter lead on Norm Chun's six-yard run and were never threatened the rest of the game. Goforth tallied in the second period to round out Disbo's first-half scoring.

Disbo's offense was silent until the fourth quarter when the Goforth-McCain combo clicked

TOMORROW'S GAMES:

MACS-2 vs AMTRACS and Provisional Service Bn vs H&MS-24, 9 a.m. At Noon, 1st Radio meets 1/3 and 9th Engineers plays Station Ops. At 3 p.m., H&S Bde meets Disbursing. MABS-24 draws a bye.

for six and Chun scored on an eight-yard run.

John Barnes backed up Goforth's air attack with some fine running. The bruising fullback carried seven times for 132 yards, most of which came on a 75-yard burst.

"We gave the offense the game ball," Disbo Coach Don Nicosia said, recognizing their play last Saturday. "Our offense (Diggs, Pasalano, Pealing, Steel, Kee, Johnson and McKenzie) was great. Al Cawley, Lou Felifini, Ken Billings, Horner, Dave Lietz, and Pie did a great job on defense."

AMTRACS-PSB

Unbeaten AMTRACS had to settle for a 12-12 tie with Provisional Service Bn in a game marred by rain, miscues and questionable refereeing.

The game has all the earmarks (wet field conditions, poor ballhandling, an excessive number of penalties called prompted by irate fans and over-sensitive refs and plenty of broken plays) of a typical rained-soaked affair. Despite the "foul" atmosphere, AMTRACS' fine defensive unit managed to stop PSB from walking off with their third straight triumph.

A BRUISER-An unidentified 1/3 defensiveman hangs on tight while trying to put the skids to Ops bruising tailback, Al Barefield.

...MABS Upsets Radio

PSB drove 80 yards in the first quarter on the passing and running of Wayne Cook, Paul Myro and Herbert Whitehurst with Myro finally taking it over from 10 yards out for the score.

AMTRACS tallied twice in the first half and went into intermission with a 12-6 margin.

Loren Wortinger turned out to be the hero of the day as he blocked an AMTRACS punt late in the third period. Paul Duvall recovered and took it in for the tying score.

MABS-24 - 1st Radio

Bob Jones, MABS-24's rangy quarterback, scrambled for three touchdowns and passed 8 yards to Dana Yetton for one more as MABS handed injury-ridden 1st Radio their first loss of the season, 26-6.

Phil Frey, substituting for the injured Larry Allen, put 1st Radio on the scoreboard in the first period yard TD pass to Don McCartor for their only score of the game.

Jones got MABS' offense rolling in the second quarter when he scored from the 20 on a keeper, tying the game at intermission.

Mixing his offense patterns up, Jones directed his team downfield, ending the drive with an 18 yard scoring sprint. MABS struck again in the fourth period as Jones plunged in from the two and followed his third touchdown with the TD toss to Yetton in the waning minutes of the game.

MABS' stingy and improving defense repeatedly thwarted 1st Radio's heralded offense which had been averaging nearly 54 points a game. At the same time, MABS' offense was cracking open the Radio defense that had limited three previous opponents to a mere 8 points. That was the game story.

MABS-24 coach, R.A. Lloyd singled out the defensive play of Rufus Farley, Ralph Whitmore, Paul Dermitt and Al Bell. "These men were the ones responsible for holding 1st Radio to one touchdown."

Meanwhile, Radio's head mentor, Chuck Slavens felt his team was "hampered by injuries. Our running game was stopped. MABS hurt us on a play where the two ends would flare out wide and a back would come up the middle to catch a pass, catching my linebackers off guard. We're expecting Larry Allen to be ready for the game with 1/3. This week we'll be changing lots of things."

DOUBLE TEAMED-Two AMTRACS defensivemen close in on a doubled up PSB runner.

Words from the Wizards

Throwing out the tie between AMTRACS and PSB, the Wizards were 3-4 last week, missing the MABS upset of 1st Radio. This brings our "guesstimate" percentage up to a "whopping" 68% (14 for 21 on the season). With our recent "success" in mind, we submit the following predictions:

AMTRACS 28, MACS-2 14- The Wizards felt AMTRACS game with PSB could be an interesting one with AMTRACS having just beaten the then undefeated 1/3 team and PSB riding a two-game winning streak. Anyway, we bet that AMTRACS will regroup after Saturday's tie game make MACS-2 victims to Cary Hamblton's exceptional passing game. MACS-2 failed to muster anything against Disbo and look for something of the same in this one.

1/3 20, 1st Radio 18- We rate this one even, but because 1/3 appears to be more healthy, the Wizards give them the edge. Radio QB Larry Allen is slated to return to action after sitting out one week and if he can get their offense rolling, 1/3 will falter. The Demons, however, have been humiliated two weeks in a row and will be out to set things straight in this game.

PSB 21, H&MS-24 14- PSB hasn't lost in three weeks, coming out of nowhere to being in contention for the IMFL title. They should still be hot enough to handle H&MS which has had two weeks to get ready for this one. Keep an eye on PSB's big backfield, they're improving.

Station Ops 48, 9th Eng. 6- Ops gives the indications of being a team which knows "how" to win. They'll have little trouble coming back after knocking off 1/3. Ops depth, poise and desire will prove way too much for 9th Eng. to handle.

Disbursing 24, H&S Bde, 12- The Dolphins are getting tougher. They've learned that it takes points, not just gutsy 20-20 effort football to win. They'll ride Goforth's arm to another win, providing their defense can sufficiently stop the great running of Dan Dugger.

Features Int'l Riding Stars

K-Bay Hosts Inter-Am Moto-Cross Nov. 22

The Third Annual Hawaiian International (Inter-Am) Moto-Cross Racing Championships, featuring a solid lineup of world reknown riders off the international motorcycle racing circuit, will be held Nov. 22 at the Air Station.

Early information reveals that such racing names as Roger DeCosta, England's Dave Bickers plus Hawaiian entries John DeSota and Robert Sanford will be among the more notable stars of the "spinning wheel" set converging on KMCAS's moto-cross course for the event.

Located on the slopes of Ulupau Crater, the 1.2 mile KMCAS course is considered to be one of the best tracks in the United States. The track's layout, steep hills, shallow drops and winding turns around the remains of what once was the "old French battery placements", offers participants the staunchest of challenges. Riders will cross this terrain at maximum speeds in timed 30-minute races using bikes of varied power.

Spectators can expect to see even more of the actual racing than witnessed in the past. Landscaping and filling operations being conducted by K-Bay's Wheels of Oahu Moto-Cross Club members will give racing fans a continuous view of more than 90% of the race.

Lots of capable local talent will compete in the invitational 125cc amateur and expert classes, while the international riders, using bikes of Spanish, Czechoslovakian, West German, Swedish or English design will ride in the 250cc and 500cc Open.

The event is being sponsored by various Island Yamaha dealers and is being hosted by KMCAS and the Wheels of Oahu Moto-Cross Club.

Advance tickets are available for $3 at all Yamaha and other cycle shops, Records of Hawaii, and Sears. Tickets at the gate on race day will cost $4 for adults, $3 for military personnel, $1 for children (ages 5-15) and kids under 5 are free. Gates open at 9 a.m. with racing starting at noon.

PRACTICE—In between working stints, Murphy has to "try" out the newly molded jumps and straight-aways of K-Bay's moto-cross track.

MAINLAND TEAM PLAYS VIKINGS

The St. Joseph's Junior High School football team from Ogden, Utah, will play K-Bay's Vikings, 1:30 p.m. tomorrow as part of the "Golden Jays" two-game promotional trip to Hawaii.

The 31-member mainland squad presents an interesting story. They raised $12,000 in 6½ weeks to bring their entire squad plus three coaches to the Islands. Coach Lee Lanzarotta explained that the boys "held bake sales, car sales, rummage sales and were benefitted by many private donations. Our school doesn't have varsity football and we hope this trip does something to promote it."

The Golden Jays met with Pearl Harbor's Commodores and were defeated 38-0. Playing in the 140 lb. class parochial league in Utah, the Jay's record was 7-0. Considering their weight and age, their clash with the Vikes should be an evenly matched one.

The visiting team will present Station CO, Col. W.J. White with the Utah State Flag to commemorate their trip to K-Bay, during ceremonies at the Little League. It's hoped that a good crowd will attend the game.

Army's Redlanders spoiled the 1970-71 Armed Forces Basketball League debut of the Hawaii Marines as they beat the HawMars 105-89 Tuesday evening in a game played at Schofield Barracks.

Guy Hughes (a Chicago Bulls pro draft pick) scored almost at will, covering and playing anywhere on the court on his way to pumping in 43 points to lead the Redlanders.

The Marines came within striking distance of Army, after trailing by 9 (49-40) at the half, as they narrowed Army's lead to 74-71 with seven minutes remaining in the game. But the Redlanders unleashed three fast break attacks to remain ahead and put the game out of reach.

The Marines had five men in double figures. Lee Cross took runnerup to Hughes for game honors with 24 points. Al Burrell had 19, Bill Squires 15 and 11 rebounds, Chuck Kozak chipped in 13 markers and 15 rebounds and guard Tony Kaufman had ten points before leaving the game on fouls.

Bill Hawk and 6-7 Oran Hodge supported Hughes fine opening performance by chipping in 20 and 11 points respectively.

Demsey and Harold Wood chimed with 12 more apiece.

The HawMars shot a respectable 43% from the field, hitting on 36 of 84 attempts and making good on 17 of 21 free throws for an 81% figure.

"We looked bad, like we just got a bunch of guys off the street to play," Coach Hal Norton lamented. "We showed no poise. Whenever we did run a play it went right and we scored. No one took control, though. They zone pressed us and then hit us man-to-man. We showed some good signs on the boards though."

The HawMars hoped to even up their record in their first home game yesterday. Brig. Gen. V.A. Armstrong, Commanding General of the 1st Mar Bde threw out the first basketball of the initial home appearance of the HawMars. The FMFPAC Drum and Bugle Corps was scheduled to make an appearance.

The Marines tangle with Mikilua tomorrow night, 7:30 p.m. at the station gym.

STATION SURFING CLUB FORMS

ATTENTION SURFERS—The "no surfing" regulations which have prevailed at K-Bay maybe changed, a change that depends entirely upon YOU. To initiate the program, Special Services is asking for a Station-wide "show of hands"—seeking how many military personnel and dependants would be interested in forming a K-Bay surfing club. The club would be self-governing, formed and guided by a constitution and by-laws. Once the club and its constitution have been formed and given official approval, surfing will be allowed near the "trees" area by Ft. Hase Beach. For more information, call 73135 or go directly to the Joint Special Services Office (Bldg. 243).

SURF BOARDS AT THE BOATHOUSE

A variety of surf boards are available now at the Boat House, Wednesday through Sunday 9 to 4, FOR RENT at a nominal fee. The boards may not be taken out for more than a three-day period.

MR. & MRS. BOWLING LEAGUE

Bev Hodge and Joan Hanrahan keep knocking 'em down as they head the KMCAS Mr. and Mrs. League with 179 and 150 averages, respectively. Buck Wheaton recorded the high game with a 225 while Kiyo Wilson rolled a 188 to lead the ladies. Hodge and Tom Hanrahan shared high series honors with 549's while Joan Hanrahan scored a 490. Tom and Joan walked off with the Roving Trophy for their combined high series.

YOUTH FOOTBALL—The league's schedule is drawing to a close; the Airdales are still undefeated, Phantoms stand at 4-2 and the Bulldogs have yet to win one. The Vikings recorded their first win as they won by an improbable 2-0 score Saturday.

The ISLANDER

By Mike Thompson

If John Wayne retired from the movies, it might inevitably be to settle down on an expansive ranch to suit his academy-award-winning screen image. So what does an ex-Tarzan retire to?

Paradise Park. One of the three guests of honor attending the 10 November Enlisted Man's Ball will be Jock Mahoney, once known as the Range Rider (early 50's), Yancy Derringer (late 50's) and finally Tarzan. Now he runs one of the finest major tourist attractions in Hawaii.

The 2½-year-old Paradise Park is a lush, 15-acre blend of bird and botany artistically hewn from the rain forest of upper Manoa Valley.

Jock is a former World War II Marine fighter pilot, a tech sarge (E-6) who spent the last months of his 2½ years in the Corps carefully evading a commission. He also managed to avoid going overseas, though unintentionally due to his 'experience' with the then super-top secret atom bomb. It makes a grand story in the telling.

Within a year after the war, Jock was stunting for such movie stars as John Wayne, Gregory Peck and Randolph Scott. During his own pre-stardom he occasioned the occupational hazards of four broken noses, a broken left shoulder and elbow, and has had his chest crushed "two or three times." He makes an easy estimation of that work: "quarts of blood and pounds of skin."

"But at 51," he is quick to add, "I'm not hobbling yet."

Public relations work captured his interest in the form of a dude ranch near Lake City, Colo., "next door" to a cabin owned by General Lewis W. Walt. Since his acquaintance with the Assistant Commandant, Jock has become one of his greatest admirers.

The last year has been spent preening and publicizing Paradise Park into something the average tourist expects Hawaii to be: colorful tropical birds and lush tropical plants. Though the park doesn't represent Hawaii as Hawaiians knew it, Jock has managed to produce an extremely popular "Martin Denny" atmosphere for visitors.

He even added a splash of color to the carved tikis in the gardens, making them resemble American Indian totems. Perhaps to celebrate his vein of Cherokee blood.

What he has developed is an up-beat tropical jungle, a "tropical experience," including a walk-through aviary and a Photographer's Lanai. Here you can have a deep blue, waxy-winged hyacinth macaw perched on your shoulder for photographing. It makes a prized souvenir from the Island.

"I think this is the place to relax," Jock remarks on the Islands, "but when you're young, you don't think about relaxing."

"As a liberty town, there isn't literally that much to do here," he comments candidly, "If I were over here in the service I'd be spending most of my time on the beach with a board and a broad. That would be my schtick, because I don't remember earning that much money in the Marine Corps."

Jock Mahoney's tropical experience at Paradise Park provides a delightful counterpart to the surf and sand he recommends.

Jock referred warmly to one other guest of honor to the Enlisted Man's Ball, another ex-Marine who served as machinegunner during his tour: Richard Boone.

"I've known Dick for a long time," he reminisces. "The first show we did together was a picture called 'Away All Boats'. A hell of a guy—very intelligent."

At the ball or in the park, look for the still-athletic, six-foot-four, 200-pound frame of the man wearing a large amethyst ring of Aquarius. Walk up and ask the former Marine what he thinks of the Navy. If he cocks his humorous blue eyes and starts telling you about Norman, Okla.—it's Jock.

Vet's Holiday

The State of Hawaii will observe the Veteran's Day holiday on Monday, Nov. 9, and Federal agencies on Wednesday, Nov. 11. School classes in both public and private schools will be suspended throughout the State on Monday, Nov. 9. However, schools will be in session on Wednesday, Nov. 11.

In view of the above, school bus transportation will be provided on Wednesday, Nov. 11, and will not be provided on Monday, Nov. 9.

House Of The Month

Receiving the Officer House of the Month award is Lieutenant (JG) A.A. Kannegeser and his wife Evelyn.

Staff Sergeant R. Nowlen, his wife Gloria and their two children, Christine and Patrick were presented the Capehart House of the Month Award.

The 65 Area House of the Month award goes to SSgt. T. Scanlon, his wife Jao and their son Ralph.

Scouts Decorated

Forty Boy Scouts were presented seventy different awards ranging from Tenderfoot to Eagle Scout, during a Court of Honor recently at the 19th Hole.

Richard Leach was awarded the Eagle Scout award by Colonel W.J. White, KMCAS commander.

Richard has been a scout for two and one-half years. During those years, he has managed to fill his knapsack with 31 merit badges (only 21 are required), as well as hiking through each of the scouting ranks. He holds the Hawaiiana Medal, a local historical achievement medal, and the God and Country Award. This latter award takes one year to earn.

According to Scoutmaster M.L. Conrad, this 14-year-old has done what only one boy out of every 10,000 in scouting does. In other words, only one percent of all scouts ever obtain the rank of Eagle.

Richard is the son of Major and Mrs. Thomas A. Leach who have since relocated to Santa Anna, Calif.
