In my opinion

Should abortion be legalized nationally?

LCPL. ELIJH BYRD
HQTRS. BRIGADE

I think that it should be legalized. A person should be able to make up their own mind on what they want to do. No law should keep a person from what they have to do. Why should a girl have to suffer with an unwanted child for the rest of her life?

I think that it shouldn't be legalized. State legality is going to be the big issue. In some states it is legal and in some it is not. This isn't right. It should be one way or the other. To me, it is taking a human life. In fact, it is actually killing that life.

MRS. LINDA PALMER
DEPENDENT

I think that abortion should only be used in the case of bringing mentally ill or deformed children into the world. Then I think it serves a purpose. Otherwise, I disagree with it. We don't need any more mentally ill and deformed children than we already have in the world.

LCPL. LESTER HILL
DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS

Being a Christian, I don't think that it should be. To me, abortions are actually destroying human lives. Nobody has the right to take away life. Plus, if a girl does have an abortion, it can really change her personality and way of life. It is something that she just might not ever get over.

MRS. SHARON GLOVER
DEPENDENT

Yes I do. I think that there should be proper restrictions, but a girl should have the right to make her own decision if she wants to. A person knows what's best for them, not anyone else. There are already too many unwanted children in the world right now; we don't need any more. Not only does the negative side of abortion bring unwanted children into the world but it causes a lot of divorces too.

HMI RICH HANNOLD
3D SHORE PARTY

I think it should be. If a child comes into the world and it is unwanted, then it is going to have a hard time the rest of its life. No telling what a child might do if it isn't loved by its parents. Unwanted children might account for a lot of the crime and violence in our country today. In some countries, it is common to see women selling small children in the streets; this just isn't right.

CPL. TOM THANE

No. I wouldn't want my girlfriend or wife to ever have an abortion. If she got pregnant, it would not have been all her fault. Therefore, I would be understanding and accept any responsibilities of having a child.

JOSIE LUDWIN
CIVILIAN EMPLOYEE CINCPAC

No. I think that once life is formed, in or out of wedlock, that no human has authority to dispose of it. I feel also that legalized abortion would encourage sin or adultery.

Material accepted for this column will be open viewpoints, pro and con opinions on a particular subject and letters to the editor on any topic of public interest and reasonable taste. When submitted material warrants a specific answer, it will be forwarded to appropriate staff sections for reply.

The guidelines for submissions are: letters should be typewritten or printed legibly; they should not be offensive in language, personally insulting or libelous toward an individual or group; they must be signed by the originator (name will be withheld by request); and the writer should include his phone number to clear up possible errors in meaning.

Material for this column should be sent to: Editor, Hawaii Marine, KMCAS, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii or delivered to the Hawaii Marine editorial office in the MAG-24 Headquarters Building (Bldg. 301) across from hangar 102.

Poor sports publicity

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in reference to the poor sports publicity you appear to carry in your Hawaii Marine newspaper.

I am stationed on the other side of the island and represent NAD and their football team.

Although I realize that your paper is not for us and its main purpose is to serve those Marines at Kaneohe, I feel that we receive a bum steer after we play our games.

We are every much a part of the Intramural Football League as the five K-Bay teams and request equal representation.

We spent six weeks getting ready and give it all we have each and every Saturday and fail to read any follow-up in your sports column.

I was informed that the only ones we'd see are when we play K-Bay teams.

I noticed one earlier (along with its size and content) where we lost. But we won 20-18 over BdeSupt/PSB and failed to see anything.

Our last game against Camp Smith had to be the most exciting game all year long. But let us and other readers find out about that game also.

It is my opinion that we should be better represented as we certainly have a 100 per cent better team than our record shows. Don't believe me—ask our opponents.

As far as your follow-up jobs on K-Bay go, they are an excellent write-up, leaving nothing out for the reader who missed the game, and an excellent picture to the fan that was there.

Myself and others would like to see this side of the island receive the same. We feel that it's only fair.

Thank you,
James D. Clark

In reply:

Every week in the Hawaii Marine, two football stories appear. One concerns a game played at K-Bay and the second a game played on the "other side." This means that every week a story about a team from the "other side" appears in the paper.

The staff of the Hawaii Marine fully recognizes that your team, as well as Camp Smith's and Pearl Harbor's, is a part of the Intramural League. Our policy in the early part of the season is to cover every team in the League; this was accomplished by the end of the fourth week. In the first three weeks, the three teams on the "other side" had been covered. From that point on, the staff members who cover football games pick and choose. They try to cover those games that will be of interest to the most readers. This means winning teams or those games that will significantly affect the standings. They cannot always be right; sports reporters are not omnipotent and cannot predict with 100 per cent accuracy who will win a game.

Certain statistics should show if our coverage is fair and balanced. Of the eight teams in the League, the "other side" represents 37.5 per cent of that League. The teams have been covered in 13 separate games; nine of these games featured teams from the "other side" or, in statistical terms, your teams appeared in 69 per cent of the stories written. That would appear to be more than fair.

Fair and equitable coverage means that every team should be covered. This newspaper is not only for the Marines in Kaneohe. The best proof are the statistics above. Whoever told you that the only time you would be in the paper was when you played a K-Bay team didn't know what he was talking about, as one of your games featured was between your team and Camp Smith.

The staff of this newspaper learned long ago that it could not please everyone, as it is impossible for us to cover every team every week. There is neither room in the paper nor reporters to do it.

We regret your fit of pique at our "poor publicity" for teams on the "other side" but, alas, there appears to be no way to satisfy your concerns if the facts themselves are insufficient.

Sea group cites Marines for work, personal merits

K-BAY — Hard work on and off duty and a desire to excel has paid off for eight K-Bay, Camp Smith and Marine Barracks Pearl Harbor Marines.

They will be recipients of the annual Navy League awards for special merit given by the Honolulu chapter of the organization. An awards luncheon will be held Oct. 31 in the Sheraton Waikiki Hotel.

Receiving the awards are: First Lieutenant John Johnson, Gunnery Sergeant Dale Dye, Staff Sergeant David Papp, Staff Sergeant Larry Buchanan, First Sergeant Laurence Ford, Captain Laurence Burgess, Sergeant Richard Daniels and Master Gunnery Sergeant Richard Shoaf.

Johnson, who serves as Correctional Facility boss and is an ordained minister, was lauded for his leadership, as demonstrated by the comparatively large number of meritorious promotions earned by his men. In the community, he is an active Deacon and director of the Kailua Baptist Church.

Dye, who works as a reporter for the Hawaii Marine, demonstrated professional excellence by establishing an information bureau during Third Marines deployment to Pohakuloa and creating a four-hour-a-day live radio show for K-Bay mess halls. After working hours, he is pursuing a baccalaureate degree from Chaminade College.

Community service proved to be the determining factor for Papp. A member of Stations Operations and Maintenance Squadron, he was recently named Outstanding Young Man of America for 1974 by the Jaycees. Chief of the avionics section of Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron (H&MS)-24, Buchanan was credited with being an inspiring leader. He also advises an Explorer Post and teaches at the Olomana Home for Boys.

Marine Barracks Security Company First Sergeant, Ford was cited for his performance on the job at Pearl Harbor and his extensive involvement in the Barbers Point community where he lives.

Camp Smith's Burgess works with volunteer groups, is pursuing his education on several levels and is credited with the performance of the FMFPac saluting battery, honor guard and color guard.

Chief clerk Daniels works in the G-1 Section of FMFPac. In that position, he has sacrificed many off duty hours to teach Marines in his section the intricacies of the administration field. He also works in the church, handles an off-duty job to put his wife through college and is a skilled painter.

Shoaf is the operations chief of the Engineer Branch of FMFPac, where he has exhibited top-flight professionalism. Also, the Corps veteran is active in the affairs of the Manana Housing area, serves as a scoutmaster and coaches little league baseball.

The devotion and character of all eight, particularly in their off-duty hours, reflects creditably on themselves and the Corps and makes them worthy recipients of the Navy League awards.

CRACKED UP CHOPPER — This UH-1E Huey crashed during take-off at Molokai Airport Tuesday. Neither of the only two men aboard, pilot First Lieutenant Gary Nicholas or copilot First Lieutenant Dave Anderson was injured. The 'copter, extensively damaged in the mishap, which occurred at 11 a.m., was on Molokai for a routine resupply of the Molokai Training Facility.

Navy Secretary tours Hawaii, first visit since taking charge

K-BAY — The Secretary of the Navy, J. William Middendorf II, will visit the Air Station Wednesday, winding up a three-day visit to Hawaii, his first since becoming Secretary of the Navy in June.

He will be accompanied by Vice Admiral William Houser, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations (Air Warfare) and Brigadier General E.R. Reid of Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington.

The Secretary will meet with the Commander in Chief U.S. Pacific Fleet, Admiral Maurice F. Weisner, and other senior commanders. Besides visiting K-Bay, at Pearl Harbor he'll tour ships, the Naval Station, the Submarine Base, Naval Shipyard, the Naval Air Station at Barbers Point as well as FMF

Headquarters at Camp Smith and other shore facilities.

While aboard, Middendorf will observe a SATS catapult and recovery launch and then travel to Bellows Air Force Station to view training there. After sharing lunch with members of Third Amphibious Battalion in the field, the Secretary will travel to Kahoolawe to observe artillery, naval gunfire and close air support fire exercises and then head for Kure to check out training exercises there.

Upon his return, the Secretary will attend a formal reception in his honor at the Officers' Club here and dine with Brigade Commanding General and Mrs. Joseph Koler before retiring to the VIP cottage.

Army major general holds talk with Marine SNCOs, explains problems, progress in 25th Infantry Division

K-BAY — Some 40 Air Station Staff NCOs got an inside look at their U.S. Army infantry neighbors on Oahu Oct. 11 at the staff club. Performing the introductions was the man who knows the subject best, Major General Harry W. Brooks, commanding general of the U.S. 25th (Tropic Lightning) Infantry Division.

General Brooks and his senior enlisted man, Command Sergeant Major Harry Butler, traveled from Schofield Barracks to K-Bay at the request of Marine SNCOs and brought with them some eye-opening views of the Army's current training program here in the Pacific.

Brooks is one of the Army's most senior black officers and is known in the Tropic Lightning Division as the "running general" for his avid devotion to physical fitness programs. He is a former noncommissioned officer who expresses a special insight into small unit command and leadership problems.

Since assuming command of the 25th Division Jun. 19, Brooks has instituted several innovative programs based on his philosophy of giving soldiers the opportunity to become "winners in life."

"We're saying to the soldier," affirmed Brooks, "that when you come to the 25th Infantry Division we will give you an opportunity to become a winner in life both mentally and physically."

Some 9,000 men by the end of December will be enrolled in Army-sponsored education programs according to Brooks, with 40 per cent of that training directly relating to the individual soldier's military specialty. Indicating off-duty soldiers experience the same problems in Hawaii as off-duty Marines, Brooks said he is working to decrease boredom by improving Army clubs, forming soldier bands, and increasing participation in intramural sports programs.

Much emphasis is placed on readiness through physical fitness in the 25th Division, according to Brooks, who has organized massive team sports such as Combat Football ("A combination of hockey, football, rugby, soccer and a riot"), Mounted Duels (a sort of horse and rider competition which inspires teamwork), and is presently working to introduce Tae Kwon Do karate throughout his unit.

Brooks told the Marine SNCOs he felt solving problems in the ranks to be "a direct function of effective leadership." He indicated at no time would he tolerate a laxness of discipline in his command, but frequently asks his leaders to examine the varied techniques required to motivate today's soldier.

"NCOs are the key to the kingdom," said Brooks. "I look on myself as a sort of coach who walks up and down the sideline and smokes cigars and draws plays on the board. The real battle is won down there with the NCOs and men in the pits."

Tickets on sale for Leeward Staff NCO Ball, only 300 available, reserved table system

CAMP SMITH — Tickets are now on sale for the Leeward Staff NCO Marine Corps Birthday Ball Nov. 9 at the Staff NCO Club here.

The cost of the tickets is $10 per person. Sales will be limited to 300 and sold by reserved table only. Tickets and the seating arrangement are available at the Staff NCO Club and from the sergeant major of Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor.

Festivities will commence with a hosted cocktail hour at 6 p.m. The traditional military ceremony is scheduled to begin promptly at 7 p.m. followed by a 7:30 p.m. dinner featuring prime rib au jus and complemented by the melodious music of the Strolling Strings. Dancing starts at 9 p.m. and a champagne breakfast will be served at 2 a.m.

Happy Hour prices for all drinks will prevail for the entire evening.

Uniform requirements for Marines are Dress Blue "A" or "B," Mess of the Evening Dress or Summer Service "A." Ladies must wear formal or semi-formal attire and civilian guests must wear formal attire.

Fire displays earn competition honors

K-BAY — "Learn - Don't Burn" was the message dramatically emphasized here and around the Islands last week during National Fire Prevention Week; the Air Station alone featured two award-winning displays to get the message across.

The Hickam Air Force Base Fire Department took top honors, but K-Bay's two displays, one near the Main Gate and the other across Mokapu Blvd. from the Station Theatre, won second and third place respectively. The Hawaii Fire Board of Underwriters, which judged the Island-wide displays, based their findings on eight different categories, such as location, impact and originality.

Driver-Operator Robert Oliviera and Engineer Richard Cabral were credited with K-Bay's prize winners and both will attend a dinner at Ala Moana with the Board playing host.

Dental officers practice combat skills in simulated mass casualty situation

CAMP SMITH — Twenty Navy dental officers underwent a one-day Mass Casualty Assistance Training Program here last week.

It was the first of its kind on the island according to Navy Captain Thomas F. McCann, assistant coordinator for the program. "The primary mission of the program was to train dental officers to respond properly in a mass casualty situation, including proper field care of the wounded," stated McCann.

The setting was a hypothetical situation staged at Camp Hawkins, a recreational area aboard Camp Smith. A simulated attack was made on a platoon of Marines, leaving 20 casualties, including two psychological or "shell-shocked" problems. The Marines were selected from various work sections throughout Camp Smith. Those acting casualties donned moulages simulating facial wounds, chest wounds, abdominal wounds, head and neck wounds, fractures, shock and a traumatic amputation injury. Each participating Marine was counseled and lectured on exactly what to do to emphasize an actual emergency.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURE FALLS TO DENTIST

The 20 dental officers, representing various bases throughout Oahu, were then broken up into two teams and proceeded to attack the problem at hand. Prior to the actual situation here, the officers had two days of lectures, movies and on-the-job training with mannequins. When asked why dental officers were used versus medical officers, McCann replied, "There are more dental officers aboard the island than medical officers. Any mass operation to hit Pearl Harbor would fall directly on dental officers as well as regular medical officers."

The mission of the officers was to move into the casualty-stricken zone, find the wounded and decide who deserves priority treatment. "Sometimes you don't treat the worst ones first," added McCann. "You get the men with minor wounds bandaged and back to the lines for protection as soon as possible. Then proceed to aid the more disabled."

OPERATION MONITOR

On land to monitor and oversee the operation was Navy Captain Victor J. Niiranen (Retired), Course Director. Each participating officer was evaluated on: his establishment of the airway, control of hemorrhaging, the treatment of shock, dressings and splints, chest wounds, abdominal wounds, head and neck wounds, fractures, burns, medicaments, resuscitation and the transportation of the casualties. In turn, the casualty "actors" also filled out an evaluation sheet on the officer or officers treating him. He decided whether his "rescuer" handled himself in a satisfactory manner had it been an actual emergency.

"YOU'RE GONNA BE ALL RIGHT, FELLA" — A Navy Dental officer administers first aid to a Marine with a simulated bullet-ridden chest wound during a Mass Casualty Assistance operation last week at Camp Smith. The purpose of the program is to train dental officers in the proper techniques of caring for the wounded in an actual combat situation should the need arise.

After the completion of the exercise, Niiranen commented, "This was the finest acting and performing on the part of the Marines involved to simulate this actual situation I have seen. We made a lot of mistakes, but that was our whole objective. We feel now is the time to make mistakes so in the event an actual mass casualty operation took place, we would be more prepared to save those lives we could."

"The Navy hopes to promulgate this program throughout the entire Pacific Fleet," remarked McCann. In conclusion he said, "This exercise has been a successful one. Hopefully we can get all the dental officers in the Pacific Fleet to participate in a program of this nature in the event of an actual crisis."

Barracks holds Sunset Parade

CAMP SMITH — The second Sunset Parade this year was held in conjunction with the annual celebration of Navy Day at Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor, Friday.

Highlighting the festivities was the appearance of the U.S. Navy Drill Team from Fleet Composite Squadron One, Naval Air Station, Barbers Point.

Prior to the beginning of the parade, the First Marine Brigade Drum and Bugle Team played a short concert consisting of precision musical drill.

The parade then began in Marine Corps traditional style with the Adjutant sounding attention, followed by the marching on of a battalion of troops.

The Marine Barracks color guard then marched colors onto the field while the band honored them by playing "To The Colors" and salutes were rendered by the entire parade battalion. Then the National Ensign was lowered at the southern end of the field to the music of the National Anthem, while FMFPAC's Headquarters and Service Battalion 75-mm Saluting Battery rendered a 15-gun salute.

Following the lowering of the colors, the Fleet Composite Squadron One Navy Drill Team put on a drill exhibition.

A Pass in Review of the colors was then executed. The parade was reviewed by Vice Admiral William R. St. George, USN, Deputy Commander in Chief, Pacific Fleet.

With the troops standing at Mourning Parade Rest, the Sunset Parade came to a close with the band playing taps as a tribute to all fallen comrades in previous years.

MP corporal killed in shooting mishap

CAMP SMITH — An off-duty military policeman accidentally shot himself fatally in the head Oct. 10 in his room at Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor.

The 23-year-old Marine corporal was identified as Gregory A. Lee of St. Louis, Mo.

A spokesman said that Lee was examining his personally-owned .38 caliber revolver when it discharged.

Lee died at Tripler Army Medical Center four hours after the 8:10 a.m. shooting.

Gala Enlisted Ball

K-BAY — The Corps marks its 199th anniversary Nov. 10. Marines, private thru sergeant and their guests, are invited to celebrate the birthday Nov. 9 at the Enlisted Club, where the party will get off in style.

The affair will commence with no-host cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and they will be served until 1 a.m. when the ball ends. A ceremony and guest speaker will be on tap from 8 to 8:30 p.m. when the buffet line opens. It will remain open until the ball is over. The Deltones will perform from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Those desiring breakfast after the ball can chow down at Pless Hall.

Tickets are $6.50 per person and can be purchased at the Club anytime. Since they have to be bought in advance, the best time to get them is now.

"E" Club opening

K-BAY — A 9-hour Happy Hour with specials on drinks will highlight the grand opening of the Enlisted Club Oct. 25 from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Free pupus and special entertainment will add to the pleasure of those attending. For those of you who get the munchies after a few drinks, the dining room will be open from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Aloha Week festivities

K-BAY — Aloha Week festivities are scheduled to be held Oct. 25 through Nov. 1. The 1st Marine Brigade and MCAS K-Bay will again participate in this annual affair.

A 40-member marching platoon from 1st Battalion, Twelfth Marines, will take part in the Aloha Week Parade Oct. 26 at Ala Moana Park.

For more information, the Brigade contact officer will be Captain Taylor, 257-2779, and the overall coordinator, Mr. Bullingame, can be reached at 531-0640.

Life facing tool

K-BAY — A high school diploma is one of the single most important tools a person can have with which to face life.

This is true in the civilian world and the Marine Corps. There is a program aboard the Air Station readily available to all Marines by which they can obtain a diploma. Unfortunately, a large number of Marines who lack diplomas are not taking advantage of the program.

To encourage Marines to participate in this program, all who lack a diploma will be counseled as to the advantages of a diploma by a representative of their unit commander or the commander himself.

If they choose not to participate in the program, an entry will be made in their service record so signifying.

FINE FORM - Balance, muscular coordination and an instinctive feel for the motion of the wave must all be present for a successful ride. Steady on the board, this surf rider demonstrates all these qualities as he catches the wave on its way to shore. When it breaks, he will have to ride the crest down in a display of true athletic prowess.

Surf riding: a free haven for the adventurous spirit

Story by Sgt. C.W. Rowe
Photos by Sgt. Rick Saylor

K-BAY - Common caricature of a surfer paints a picture of a sun-bleached, bronzed, lithely muscled, less than smart social dropout.

Deeply tanned hide and hair and an athletic build go with the turf. However, labeling all surfers as dumb dropouts is as ridiculous as insisting that all women should stay in the kitchen. The list of Who's Who in surfing includes doctors, lawyers, scientists, military officers and successful businessmen.

The only hard and fast rule is that surf riding is a sport for the young and strong. It takes peak physical condition, stamina and patience to ride the storm waves of Oahu.

Surfing offers challenge to those hardy enough to seek harnessing the power of a 20-foot wave. It offers the thrill and lure of danger and death, as surfers are killed and injured every year. Those who surf gladly pay the price to gain the thrill that comes from riding a wave, from knowing and understanding the rhythm of the ocean and from demonstrating a near perfect coordination of mind, body, board and sea that is necessary for a successful ride.

Surfing is an ancient Hawaiian sport whose origin is lost in the dim recesses of unrecorded history. From the fabled Sandwich Isles, it spread to California, Florida, Australia, South Africa and Peru, just to name a few surfing spots. On Oahu the great surfing spots have become almost legends in their own right, names like Sunset Beach, Makaha, Lanaikea and Waimea.

Surfing is one of the last refuges for the free man. Aided only by a board, the surfer challenges the awesome majesty of the ocean. When the wave breaks and the surfer stands atop his board, riding with ease, grace and full control, he is lord of all he surveys. He is a free man.

Seeking this freedom, the surfer follows the waves, consigning his fate to the gods of the oceans.

HEADED FOR SHORE - As the wave breaks, this surfer rides the crest down. If he does this correctly, he will have a good ride. A miscalculation will put him in the trough as the wave curls and tons of water will be his only steward.

BOMBS AWAY — Station quarterback Mike Boyd lets fly with a pass over the heads of MAG-24's defense. The pass to Ray Santiago was incomplete but Boyd's record of seven completions out of 20 attempts stood well. The Falcons blitzed Station in the last half to take the match 31-13.

Defeat Schofield, lose to Hickam

WMs break even in volleyball

CAMP SMITH — The Camp Smith Women Marine volleyball team split two matches in the ISAW Volleyball League last week, falling to Hickam Air Force Base Wednesday but bouncing back to defeat the Schofield Barracks Aces Friday.

In the loss to Hickam, the WMs were overwhelmed in both games by the identical score of 15-3. Hickam broke up a close 5-3 contest in the first game by rattling off 10 consecutive points. Hickam moved to an early 7-3 advantage in the second game and then coasted in for the win.

The lady Leathernecks were involved in their first three-game-match of the season in the win over Schofield 15-12, 12-15, 15-11.

Army takes tops in golfing match

K-BAY — After 72 holes and four different courses, the Hawaii Interservice Golf Tournament has come to an end.

Going into the final round of the open division John Shairai (Air Force) and Ralph Williams (Army) were tied for first place with 229 totals. But the Kaneohe course took its tolls and Williams won by four strokes.

In the Senior Division John Baumgardner (Navy) and Grayson Smith (Army) had 234-235 respectively going into the final round. Then came the deciding factor. Baumgardner ran into trouble on the 16th hole with a ball out of bounds and again on the 18th-hole by overshooting the green and Smith wound up taking home the honors.

In overall standings, Army was first, followed by the Air Force, Navy and Marines.

Falcons pulverize Station in second-half TD romp

By SSgt. George Spear

K-BAY — Two powerful teams met Oct. 11 and at first, they appeared evenly matched. It wasn't until the second half that the MAG-24 Falcons stoked their fires and bulldozed Station off the tracks, crushing them 31-13.

Even with quarterback Mike Boyd's outstanding track record of 113 yards total rushing and seven out of 20 completed pass attempts, Station still couldn't muster the steam to outmatch MAG's 37 yards per man average.

Receiving a fourth down punt on their own 35, MAG quarterback Larry Brisby railroaded his team in eight plays to Station's eight. Sweeping right, Brisby steamed ahead for MAG's first six. Brisby engineered the conversion attempt, pitching out to halfback Al Chang, who went around the right side, ricocheting off defensive linemen Matt Mathis and John Dewell, who stopped him just six inches short.

After the ball changed hands three more times, Station took the driver's seat. Station tied the wingers when Boyd executed a fake handoff from the MAG 13 yard line and then high stepped around left to tag home ground. An offside penalty on Station during the conversion attempt put them on the 20 and robbed them of the chance to make the extra point.

Station again came close to scoring in the first half, when Boyd ran off tackle from MAG's 25 to the 12. A pass attempt to Ray Santiago failed on the fourth down and Station was left high and dry only 12 away from scoring.

Things began to look gloomy for the Falcons when Station took the second half kickoff and kept the ball for 14 rewarding plays. Boyd pumped out 40 yards up the middle and supplemented the remaining yardage by handing off to Santiago, Christopher and Davis.

One yard away from the goal line, Boyd plowed up the middle to score, giving Station a 12-6 advantage. Clayton Davis kicked for the extra point.

The Falcon's defense wasted no time in getting hot. Linebacker Wesley Turner saved the day for MAG when he intercepted a bomb intended for Milt Davis at his own 30 yard line. Finding an open lane, Turner stepped into overdrive and toe-tapped his way across the goal line. Les Stonecypher attempted a pass to Chang for the extra two points but the pigskin was off target, leaving MAG one under Station, 13-12.

High pressure playing paid off again for MAG as defensive and O.J. Landau blocked a punt on Station's own 10 yard line. The heroic act was immediately followed by a scoring one when Brisby handed off to Chang, who blasted up the middle for six points. Stonecypher's kick sputtered and died short of the terminal but MAG had the upper hand, 18-13.

Brisby added another six when he kept the ball and cruised right from Station's 19-yard line to score. Stonecypher's pitchout to Chang was fruitless, as Chang met with a multitude of unhappy defensive linemen.

Once Station received the kick on their own seven and carried it to the 17, they had time for only one more play before a bad snap triggered a wall of ball-thirsty Falcons. When the mishmash of bodies untangled, MAG's Tyrone Cransford emerged smiling. Cransford's recovery put the Falcons 19 yards away from pay dirt.

A pass from Stonecypher to Clifton Bourda put the Falcons four yards away from another score. Another pass from Stonecypher to Holley Gurney did the trick and across the line he scampered. This time Stonecypher's kick was on target and MAG walked away from the field with a 31-13 victory.

Support slips by Pearl, ends long losing streak

By SSgt. Jack Michalski

CAMP SMITH - Brigade Support outlasted Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor, 16-13, Saturday to snap a four game losing streak in an error-plagued game that had 12 fumbles, two pass interceptions and a pair of touchdowns nullified because of penalties.

The loss was the second in a row for Marine Barracks and all but eliminated them from any championship hopes.

Brigade Support took the opening kickoff and promptly marched to a first down, but on a second and seven D. Hardin grabbed a Ron Danley fumble in midair and scampered 35 yards for a touchdown. The try for the two-point conversion was stopped but Pearl Harbor led 6-0.

Charlie Kafferlein returned the ensuing kickoff to the 10 yard line but on the next play another Danley bobble was covered by Robert Harvey of Pearl Harbor at the nine.

Two plays later a Gordon Davis fumble was recovered by Clarence Smith at the seven and Support was back in business.

Donnie Via took over at quarterback and unleashed a powerful running attack. Danley gained six around right end and two options by Via moved the ball to the 40.

Larry Brown skirted left end for nine yards before a two-yard burst by Danley made it first and ten at the 29. Another option by Via and a five-yard dash by Brown put the ball at the 17.

BRIGADE SCORES

Via was stopped for a yard loss but swept right end to the four yard line on the next play and a personal foul moved the ball to the two. Brown took the handoff up the middle and bulled his way for the tying score. On the two-point conversion attempt, Via faked a handoff into the line and then hit Greg Hill all alone in the end zone, and Brigade led 8-6.

Pearl Harbor was stopped after moving to the Brigade 34 and Jeff Stager dropped to punt. Dallas Saunders tried to field the punt on the 17, fumbled and Patton recovered for Pearl.

Again, Brigade's defense stiffened and they took over on downs at the eight.

Runs by Brown and Danley moved the ball to the 23. Via went around left end for 14 and another first down. Brown made six yards and Danley two to set up a third and two.

Via dropped to pass and connected with Hill, who made a leaping grab to take the ball away from two defenders at the six. Brown lost five yards before Via was jarred loose from the ball and Hardin recovered at the two.

Davis made three yards before Billy Crawford fumbled the snap and Mark Stodgell recovered at the eight.

Two running plays by Via resulted in a two yard loss and on third down Via threw into the end zone. Hardin intercepted, made no attempt to down the ball, instead just dropping it to the ground. It trickled out of the end zone and Brigade was credited with a safety for a 10-6 lead.

MORE PENALTIES

Hill took the kickoff and returned it to the 36. Running plays by Danley and Brown gained four yards and two face mask penalties moved the ball to the 20 of Pearl. A holding penalty pushed the ball back to the 30 and two running plays got nine. On third down and time running out in the half, Via hit Brown for the score but an offensive pass interference call nullified it as the half ended.

Pearl Harbor took possession of the second half kick at their own 25. Crawford made 11 around right end and Dave Burkett hit the left side for three. Crawford dropped to pass, found no one opened and scrambled for an apparent touchdown. But a clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 22.

Crawford fired to Sydney Strader at the 11 and on second down he hit Ray McFarland at the four. McFarland eluded a tackler and went in for the TD. Stager booted the extra point and Marine Barracks led, 13-10.

Neither team could mount a drive until Stodgell smothered a Crawford fumble at the Brigade 28 with seven minutes left in the game.

WINNING TD

On the very next play Via threw to Hill for the winning touchdown. Via was stopped inches short on the two-point conversion try but the score stood 16-13 in favor of Brigade.

Marine Barracks could not move and Stager punted, with Support taking over on their own 30 with four minutes and 30 seconds left in the game.

Brigade moved to the Pearl's 36 before surrendering it on downs to give Marine Barracks one more chance.

A defensive holding penalty moved the ball to the 34. Crawford gained four, but Strader dropped his second down pass at the 15. Crawford overthrew on third down and was run out of bounds just short of the needed yardage on fourth down with 35 seconds left.

Two running plays ran out the clock and Brigade had a 16-13 win.

Brigade completely outgained Pearl Harbor, 268 yards to just 91. Brigade made 188 yards on the ground, led by Brown with 69, and 80 through the air. Pearl had 61 yards running, 49 by Crawford, and 30 through the air.
