Accident rates rise drastically

The Navy has experienced a drastic increase in motorcycle accidents this year. Commander Naval Base, Pearl Harbor reported 16 deaths have occurred since Jan. 1, five of which have been in the Oahu area. This is 2½ times the number experienced during the same period in 1981.

Ninety-nine motorcycle accidents have resulted in injuries. This represents a 37 percent increase in injuries over the same period in 1981.

The majority of accidents have happened in fair weather areas, which are more conducive to motorcycle usage this time of the year. The West Coast Pacific area has accounted for seven of the 16 fatalities, and 80 of the 99 injuries.

The most common causes of these accidents are alcohol, excessive speed, lack of operator experience, failure by others to see motorcycle riders, and other drivers violating the right of way.

At MCAS Kaneohe Bay, there has also been an increase — although slight. Staff Sergeant Don Young, chief of accidents investigation, said that since Jan. 1, three motorcycle accidents have occurred, with one resulting in death. During the same period in 1981, two accidents were reported, neither resulting in death.

The Air Force has also gotten off to a bad start. As of mid-March, there were eight motorcycle fatalities vs. three for the same period last year.

Air Force Brigadier General Leland K. Lukens, director of aerospace safety, listed some motorcycle driving tips in the April issue of Driver. These tips include wearing a helmet, wearing eye protection, wearing durable clothing, staying alert, watching the road surface and traffic, using both brakes, checking mirrors frequently, and accepting the fact that you are not being seen.

All commands are encouraged to emphasize safe motorcycle operation through motorcycle training programs. This training can be obtained through the Traffic Safety Training Division, Naval Base Police Department, Pearl Harbor, 474-1237; Naval Air Station, Barbers Point, 684-3245; or MCAS Kaneohe Bay Station Training, 257-2068.

Fatalities

First quarter motorcycle statistics reveal 7 Marines died in accidents

HQMC — In the first three months of this year, seven Marines died as a result of motorcycle accidents. This has caused some serious concern here.

Last year, 13 Marines were claimed as motorcycle accident fatalities. "If the current rate continues," said a safety official in ALMAR 78/82, "we will lose two squads of Marines in a meaningless way."

The majority of fatal accidents involved Marines on off-duty time. In the last two years 238 Marines died in private motor vehicle or recreational mishaps.

Safety officials also point out an 11 percent increase in the number of lost workdays during 1981. Alcohol involvement plays a significant role in all off-duty deaths and injuries.

Training mishaps claimed 10 Marines' lives last year, twice as many as in 1980. Another area where fatalities doubled was in military homes where four Marines died in 1981.

Safety covers a wide range of areas involving motor vehicle, equipment and work procedures. Marines should follow the safety instruction provided for either the equipment they are working on/with, or instructions for safe working procedures.

Individual's involvement deters crime

"Crime Prevention Pays" is the emphasis of the Fourth Annual "Crime Prevention Week," May 24-27, sponsored by the Security Department here.

The Crime Prevention Division is encouraging everyone to get involved by securing valuables and reporting all crimes to the Military Police.

Statistics compiled recently by the Provost Marshal's Office revealed that during calendar year 1981, the value of personal property and money reported stolen totalled $156,694. Of that amount, only a small portion has been recovered by the Criminal Investigation Division, because the victim cannot provide positive identification of the stolen articles.

During the first quarter of calendar year 1982, personal property and money stolen totalled $71,970.

The major target of crime prevention efforts is larceny of private property or money. This problem can be largely reduced if members of the military community take the time to record serial numbers of their valuables, such as stereos, TV sets, radios, bicycles, and cameras. Valuables should also be secured.

To help military personnel mark valuable items and to offer tips on larceny prevention, a crime prevention workshop will be set up at the Marine Corps Exchange

Monday through Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Highlights of the workshop will include Operation ID. Members of the Crime Prevention Division will engrave social security numbers on valuables for easy identification.

A crime prevention vehicle will also be stationed throughout the housing area during the following times, dates, and locations: Monday, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the corner of Bordelon Loop and Johnson Street; Tuesday, 3 to 5 p.m., at Conner Loop adjacent to Quarters 2641; Wednesday, 3 to 5 p.m., at Bingham Way, adjacent to the Teen Centre; Thursday, 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., on Cochran Street, adjacent to Quarters 2441 and also from 3:15 to 5 p.m., at the corner of South Lawrence Road and Hanson Circle; Friday, 3 to 5 p.m., on Brown Drive, adjacent to Quarters 2029.

Appointments can also be made on an individual basis for a quarters inspection by a member of the Crime Prevention Division to point out areas within the home that are vulnerable to burglars. Brochures and pamphlets will also be available.

A crime of larceny can be prevented simply by depriving the would-be thief of the opportunity of easy access to personal items. Avoid tempting an honest person by securing and marking valuables.

Precautions prevent problems

Batteries hold explosive gas

by Sgt Corrina Martell

A motorist with a stalled car and 10 minutes to get to work or pick up a date has only one thought on his mind — to get his car started. Usually safety precautions are taken lightly — if taken at all. When the cause of the stalled car has to do with the battery, serious problems can arise.

According to Ed Mueller, safety technician aboard MCAS Kaneohe Bay, a car battery contains sulfuric acid which is released into the battery water when the battery is charging.

Electricity surges through the acid which in turn generates hydrogen gas. This hydrogen gas escapes through the vents in the battery caps, and is highly explosive.

Within the last month, three Marines working on a car battery have experienced eye injuries.

"One guy was working on his car and had a cigarette in his mouth," said Mueller. "He was learning over the engine with the cigarette still in his mouth and the battery exploded."

"Another guy touched the negative cable on a car battery. The cable was loose and it sparked, causing the gas to explode and injuring himself and a nearby friend."

Mueller explained that motorists are not taking the proper safety precautions when working on car batteries. One mistake being made is trying to work on the battery the minute the hood is opened.

"The battery has to ventilate at least three to four minutes before touching it," added Mueller. "It's a good idea to lay a damp cloth over the battery before touching the cables."

Hydrogen gas can be set off by a match or cigarette lighter, incorrect connection of battery booster cables, careless use of tools around the battery, smoking, and incorrect connection of the battery charger.

Problems also arise with the use of booster cables to give a stalled car a jump. Most jumps are not given according to the rules. According to the Fall 1981 issue of "Family Safety," the two most important safety points when using booster cables are to wear eye protection and to keep sparks away from the explosive gases.

If everyone would observe the necessary safety precautions, injuries from working on car batteries can be greatly reduced.

Open house revelry

With this year's slogan, "Peace Through Strength," the 1982 Armed Forces Week drew to a close with celebrations at Hickam Air Force Base and Pearl Harbor Naval Station Saturday.

Static displays of weapons and equipment highlighted open houses at Pearl Harbor and Hickam from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The purpose of the open houses was to provide the civilian community the opportunity to become better acquainted with the military.

Shuttle buses ran every hour from Pearl Harbor to Hickam, where aircraft from all the services were displayed.

Marines from 4th Force Reconnaissance Battalion represented the Corps with a rappelling and SPIE-rigging demonstration at Pearl Harbor. Music was supplied by the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, Marching Band, the Pacific Fleet Tsunami Band and the Pacific Fleet Jazz Ensemble.

Approximately 12,000 people at Pearl Harbor and 30,000 at Hickam attended the day's festivities.

Aviation anniversary

"On May 22, 1912, First Lieutenant Alfred A. Cunningham reported to the Naval Aviation Camp at Annapolis, Md., where he was to become the Marine Corps' first naval aviator. Lieutenant Cunningham's assignment was the beginning of a partnership between Marines and naval aviation, and between air and ground components of the Marine Corps that has flourished over the past 70 years.

Marine pilots flew with the Northern Bombing Group in support of the French during World War I. During the decades between the World Wars, Marines in the air perfected the art of supporting Marines on the ground in places like Santo Domingo, Haiti, and Nicaragua.

By the end of World War II, Marine Corps aviation had grown to five air wings and Marine aviators had distinguished themselves in combat against enemy forces from Wake Island, Midway and the Coral Sea, to Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa.

The Korean conflict brought new challenges and new innovations to Marine Corps aviation. Marine pilots fought MiGs over the Yalu and, for the first time in history, put ground forces into the attack by helicopter.

By the time the first Marine Corps helicopter touched down in Vietnam in 1962, Marine aviators had had nearly 50 years experience in supporting Marines on the ground. The Marine air/ground team was prepared to meet the demands of the conflict in Southeast Asia, just as it had been in earlier years.

Today, as we celebrate the anniversary of Marine Corps aviation, we again face the challenges of an uncertain future. That partnership, which has developed over the past 70 years, of Marines on the ground, supported by Marines in the air, again stands ready to serve."

LDO promotion changes

Temporary limited duty officers should note a change in promotion procedures. Now, temporary LDOs who twice fail to get selected for promotion to the next higher grade will have to make a decision concerning their career, according to ALMAR 87/82.

They can revert to their permanent warrant officer or enlisted grade or retire if eligible. Either option must be made within approximately six months of the date the LDO promotion board announces their selections. Officers within two years of qualifying for retirement will be allowed to stay on active duty in their temporary grade until they qualify for retirement, according to the ALMAR.

This change became effective April 6. According to manpower officials here, the change was necessary to give officers enough time for personal planning. The amount of time given temporary LDOs to make a decision to retire or revert is the same amount of time given unrestricted officers who are subject to discharge as a result of having twice failed of selection for promotion.

For more information, see ALMAR 87/82.

Battleship modernized

WASHINGTON — The Iowa (BB 61), leader of the four member Iowa Class of Battleships, was moved from its moorings at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard April 22, in preparation for reactivation and recommissioning in January 1985.

After completing the berth shift, Iowa began preparations for a modernization similar to that of its sister ship, the Battleship New Jersey (BB 62), at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

Iowa will be the second of four planned battleship reactivations, each will have significantly improved offense combat capability, provided by a battery of "Harpoon" and "Tomahawk" cruise missiles. The battleship's ability to defend itself in a modern sea battle has also been substantially enhanced with the addition of the Vulcan-Phalanx Close in Weapons System (CIWS).

Captain Gerald Gneckow has been selected to be commanding officer of the Iowa upon recommissioning. Currently commanding USS Richmond K. Turner (CG20), Gneckow is veteran of 21 years naval service. His past assignments have included command of the USS John S. McCain (DDG 36), duty aboard various destroyers and cruisers, study at the Naval War College, assignment as an instructor at the Naval Command and Staff Course and Work Surface Plans Officer with the Staff of Commander U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Corps' schools consolidate

The commanding general of the Marine Corps Development and Education Command recently assumed management responsibilities for all formal Corps schools.

These responsibilities include functional control of 24 schools: academic supervision of recruit training, drill instructor schools, the Marine Corps Mountain Warfare Training Center and Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron One; and establishing liaison with other military service schools Marines attend. The recruiters school is exempt.

This major step in adopting a systems approach to training was outlined in Marine Corps Order 1500.42.

Ombudsman

Girl Scouts and Brownies helped too!

Boy Scout Troop 425 cleaned up Fort Haase Beach April 30 for "Keep American Beautiful Day."

In addition to Troop 425, members of Girl Scout Troop 156 and Brownie Troops 219, 553, and 89 cleaned up North Beach and the 13th Tee area.

The 35 girls (supervised by 10 adults) and the six boys removed nearly 2 tons of trash from the air station.

If you have a question or complaint about the content of the Hawaii Marine — or a suggestion or compliment — please telephone our Ombudsman, Gunnery Sergeant Theresa Gallagher, at 257-2178.

GySgt Gallagher, the Joint Public Affairs media operations chief, will endeavor to answer your questions and complaints through impartial investigations. She will accept calls through Fridays. Selected complaints and responses will be printed on a weekly basis.

Management for Marine Corps Training Institutions.

According to a training department official, "schools will have direct access to the experts in formal military instruction at MCDEC; and, Quantico can help the schools develop, implement and evaluate their training programs."

"Now," said the official, "if a school needs help, or if MCDEC has a new teaching technique, instructional 'know how' is quickly available."

The change in management procedures is part of a major facelift in training practices throughout the Corps. The facelift began last November when Commandant General Robert H. Barrow upgraded the former training division to department status. The department is responsible for the overall policy and management of Marine Corps training.

DoD recruits dogs

The Department of Defense Dog Center at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, is stepping up recruiting efforts for dogs needed by DoD and other government agencies.

A special recruiting team travels throughout the country each year to find selected breeds for explosive or drug detection training. DoD officials have relaxed the requirements dogs must meet in order to fill the increased need.

For the first time in recent years, dogs other than German shepherds will be used. German short-hair pointers, Labrador retrievers, and mixed-breed, unregistered dogs who are at least part German shepherd will be trained. The dogs may be 1 to 4 years old, of either gender, weight at least 50 pounds, and be at least 23 inches tall at the shoulder. Dogs are either donated or bought for up to $250 each.

For more information, contact the DoD Dog Center, Lackland AFB, TX 78236; (512) 671-4291 or AUTOVON 473-4291.

Full-Time Support Program

HQMC, WASHINGTON — The Marine Corps is looking for Marine reservists to fill nearly 300 specialized jobs at choice posts throughout the United States.

The job openings are part of the Reserve Full-Time Support Program, which has openings for active duty tours ranging from one to four years, with full pay and benefits.

General Robert H. Barrow, Commandant of the Marine Corps, explained that the Marine Corps is seeking reserve men and women of all ranks, especially those with experience in technical fields such as aviation, fiscal, data processing and administration.

"The Full-Time Support Program provides a rare opportunity for reserve Marines to perform important, integral jobs — jobs that will significantly strengthen the readiness of our reserve establishment," stated Gen Barrow.

Marines selected for the program will have the opportunity to serve at an interesting duty station of their choice, while drawing full pay and allowances, including medical and dental care.

Marine Corps Bulletin 1001R of Jan. 26, has a list of the duty stations and assignments available. In addition, a sample application form is included.

Interested reservists should contact the nearest Marine Corps or Marine Corps Reserve installation, or call the Reserve Division, here, at AUTOVON 224-1948/50 or (202) 694-1948/50.

Chaplain's comments

Avoid mirrors, face the future

Many observers note that there is a real upswing of nostalgia on the current scene. It has been said that we prefer to look at life through a "rear view mirror." We feel more comfortable with the past rather than the tensions and frustrations of the present and the uncertainties of the future.

This explains, in part, the popularity of the Western novels and films.

It is not hard to understand the uneasiness of the present time. In this electronic age we do not have the time to "get familiar" with many things. Things are obsolete and discarded before we really get to know and understand them. In this disposable age.

No wonder, with such fast change, people are deeply frustrated at times and wondering where they are going.

Even in this world of constant, electronic change one thing remains unchanged.

Man has a great, God-given purpose in life. He is here to recognize his creator, give him a place in his life and enjoy life hereafter with the unchanging God.

When man fulfills his purpose, when he makes his creator a part of his life, he is secure no matter how fast life changes around him. He doesn't have to look at life through a rear-view mirror. He can face it square on.

Actions speak louder than words

TALK HAPPINESS. The world is sad enough without your woes. No path is wholly rough; look for the places that are smooth and clear, and speak of those, to rest the weary ear of Earth, so hurt by one continuous strain of human discontent and grief and pain.

TALK FAITH. The world is better off without your uttered ignorance and morbid doubt. If you have faith in God, or man, or self, say so. If not, push back upon the shelf of silence all your thoughts, until faith shall come; no one will grieve because your lips are dumb.

TALK HEALTH. The dreary, never-changing tale of mortal maladies is worn and stale. You cannot charm, or interest, or please by harping on that minor chord, disease! Say you are well, or all is well with you, and God shall hear your words and make them true.

We know, however, that "talk" is never enough. It is the deed of the word who counts. "Happy talk" without joyous action in daily life is so much froth. Faith expressed in sweet words, but devoid of sacrifice in the service of God for the salvation and total good of others, is a terrible inconsistency. Faith and the spoken word must issue in Christian action in every area of human need if it is to be a powerful force for good.

Protestant evening services set

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord" — the Protestant Evening Contemporary Service at the Station Chapel is doing just that.

On June 6, Paul Chambers in Concert will be presented. Paul Chambers is an acclaimed recording artist. His ministry through songs entertains, inspires and touches lives with the message of Jesus' love.

June 20 will be the Christian Hula Ministry. Fifteen Hula girls known as the "Spirit of Joy" will dance to the glory of God.

The final program will be June 27. Lake Hills Community Church Choir from Laguna Hills, Calif. will be touring Oahu spreading God's message through music. This 50-voice choir is a very versatile and talented singing group and under the direction of Dr. Warren C. Marsh.

All events will start at 7 p.m. at the Station Chapel.

Custom officials stop black market profit

Stories about how a $75 tape deck was sold on the Korean black market for $150 and other tales of fortune abound. Some of these stories may be true, but there's a hitch to this dream of illegal wealth — sharp-eyed customs officials.

High value items such as color televisions, furs, stereo components and video recorders are particularly desired on the Korean black market, and as such are targets for close inspection.

Personal property shipments are scrutinized by Republic of Korea customs officials for possible black market goods. Shipment of items for resale may result in fines, confiscation of goods, charges for transportation costs and disciplinary action in accordance with the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

The opportunity for profit may exist, but there's an even greater chance of being caught.

EDITORIAL / OPINION

Coping with stress overload

WASHINGTON — Does your office suffer from high absenteeism, low morale, low productivity, poor staff communication, staff conflicts, employee fear of making decisions or incomplete tasks? If so, your workplace has become a victim of employee stress overload, usually created by improper management.

Dr. Melvin Nizny, a Cincinnati psychiatrist, defines stress as an experience that induces a sense of helplessness or being overwhelmed.

"It is an emotional reaction to a situation caused by our perception of a threat to our ego, self-esteem and sense of emotional security," said Dr. Frank C. Richardson, associate professor of educational psychology at the University of Texas.

Without any stress in life, you're hardly living. Besides, what's one person's stress may well be another person's stimulus, so relieving the sources of stress depends on knowing yourself and what bothers you.

Stress is a prime source of illness, causing anything from the common cold to heart attacks, say medical experts. Bodily tension also shows up as sweaty palms, tense muscles, inability to sleep or marked increases in drinking, smoking and other such symptoms. To help rid your life of harmful stress, follow these tips:

- To avoid needless stress, forget about the past and the future. Live mostly in the present. Give up the belief that worry prevents mistakes and misfortunes or gives you added control over events;

- Stop setting impossibly high standards for yourself. Many people are stressed by trying to convince themselves and others that they always have the right answer or can control the world around them;
- Stop judging people by your standards. People tend to live by their own ethics, not yours. Adopt a "live and let live" approach to life;

- Don't depend on anyone but yourself for happiness. When you expect others to make you happy, to love you, to entertain you, you will suffer many frustrations and anxieties. It's up to you to find interesting things to do, so you won't have time to waste worrying about your dependence on others; and

- Above all, learn to accept what you can't change.

Are you "stressed out?"

Imagine your supervisor has just fired you. Now imagine your supervisor has just given you a big promotion. What do these situations have in common? Stress. Happy events as well as frustrating events cause stress.

Some stress is good for you, but too much stress can actually make you ill. How much is too much depends on you. To find out how your stress level compares to the general population take this test.

Add up the numbers assigned to any of the following events that may have occurred in your life during the past 12 months. Then find out what your score means in the descriptions below.

minor violations of the law (parking tickets, etc.)	1
Christmas vacation	1
change in eating habits	2
change in sleeping habits	2
change in recreation	2
lived or worked in a noisy area	3 change in social activities	3

change in financial state or worry about making ends meet	7
death of close friend	7

bad health of family member	7
retirement	8
marriage or marital reconciliation	9
fired at work	9
serious injury or illness	9
death of close family member	11
jail term	11
marital separation or divorce	13
death of spouse	20

How to score:

0-16 You're in great shape. Congratulations.
 17-34 You're under some stress, but it is easily managed. Try to avoid making too many changes.
 35-58 You're approaching the danger zone. There's a 50-50 chance that you will become seriously ill within the next 2 years.
 58+ You are under a seriously dangerous amount of stress. You would benefit from taking a stress management course and avoid making ANY changes in your life (even dieting!) until your stress level goes down.

"There's no such thing as a good joint"

EDITOR'S NOTE: A recent report from the American Medical Association's Division of Scientific Activities has confirmed that marijuana is hazardous to one's physical and mental health for the same reasons cited in this article.

WASHINGTON — "Son, we used to smoke that stuff while standing on the street corner singing, so I know what you're talking about," said the old man. "But, I had this best friend who couldn't stop like the rest of us, and today he's out in that city sanitarium. The man just can't think for himself any more."

Marijuana (alias "grass," "pot," "smoke" or "weed") is a common plant with the botanical name of Cannabis sativa. The main psychoactive (mind-altering) ingredient in marijuana is delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol or THC, although more than 400 other chemicals are also contained in the plant. A marijuana cigarette (joint) primarily determines its psychoactive potential.

In recent years, the strength of street marijuana has increased substantially. In 1975, samples exceeding 1 percent THC content were rare; by 1980, samples with 5 percent THC were common. The more potent marijuana increases the physical and mental effects and the possibility of health problems for the user.

Most users of marijuana experience an increase in heart rate, reddening of the eyes, and dryness in the mouth and throat.

Studies of marijuana's mental effects have revealed that the drug temporarily impairs short-term memory, alters sense of time and reduces the ability to perform tasks requiring concentration, swift reactions and coordination. Many feel that their hearing, vision and skin sensitivity are enhanced by the drug, although these reports have not been objectively confirmed by research. Feelings of euphoria, relaxation, altered sense of body image and bouts of exaggerated laughter are also commonly reported.

In some users, a single dose of cannabis can produce adverse reactions ranging from mild anxiety, through panic and paranoia, to an acute psychosis characterized by detachment from reality, delusions, hallucinations or illusions and bizarre behavior.

These reactions occur most frequently in individuals who are under stress, anxious, depressed or borderline schizophrenic. But, they also occur in normal users who inadvertently take much more than their usual dose.

Limited evidence from survey studies suggests that the mild reactions have been experienced on one or more occasions by more than half of regular users. The severe reactions, which appear to occur in only a small percentage of users, usually respond well to psychiatric treatment and last no longer than one or two days.

There has been a great deal of controversy about the effects of chronic heavy use of cannabis on brain function. There is evidence that such use can lead to lasting behavioral changes in some users.

Apathy, lack of concern for the future and loss of motivation have been described in some heavy users, and psychotic and paranoid symptoms in others. These symptoms usually disappear gradually when regular use is discontinued and recur when use is resumed.

These reactions are relatively rare, although case studies suggest that certain cannabis users may be particularly susceptible. Many psychiatrists are concerned about such reactions in youthful drug users (11-15 years of age) because of the possibility that regular use may produce adverse effects on psychological, as well as physical, maturation. This concern, of course, applies to the use of all psychoactive drugs by juveniles. For reasons that are still unclear, a few users experience spontaneous recurrences of the symptoms of acute intoxication ("flashbacks") days or weeks after consuming marijuana.

Physical dependence on marijuana has been demonstrated in research subjects who ingested an amount equal to smoking 10 to 20 joints a day.

When the drug was discontinued, subjects experienced withdrawal symptoms — irritability, sleep disturbances, loss of appetite and weight, sweating and stomach upset. Tolerance to marijuana — the need to take more and more of the drug over time to get the original effect — has been proven in animals and humans.

In essence, clinical observations from many parts of the world have long suggested that regular heavy use of cannabis may produce lung damage; impair reproductive and endocrine functions; cause long-lasting disturbances of behavior and brain function; and lower resistance to infection.

People especially at risk with even moderate doses of marijuana include anxious, depressed or unrecognized-psychotic individuals; heavy users of other drugs (prescription or nonprescription); pregnant women; some epileptics; diabetics; individuals with marginal fertility; patients with chronic diseases of the heart, lungs or liver.

In addition, adolescents who are undergoing rapid physiological and psychological development may be particularly susceptible to the development of a life-long pattern of use and to the effects of long periods of cannabis intoxication. They may also be more prone to cannabis-related traffic accidents because of their lack of driving experience and may be affected more by possible disruptions of hormone balance.

"I'm telling you, there's no such thing as a good joint," warned the elder. "Isn't it time for you to quit smoking that mess?"

Drug use

Local programs present hard facts to kids, clears up myths

Drug use in America is a problem — a very big one. Three million American teenagers are confirmed alcoholics. One-third of all grade schoolers have tried marijuana. One in 10 high school seniors smoke pot every day.

The problem exists, and it won't go away.

Next week is filled with events concerning this vital topic, beginning with a drug information program at Mokapu Elementary School Tuesday. A television special airs Tuesday evening and a two-day seminar will be presented May 26-27.

The Counseling and Assistance Center and Family Service Center are pooling their resources at 1 p.m. Tuesday to present a no-nonsense program to the six graders here. "I'm going to give them the facts about drugs," said Dr. Tom Ditzler, CAAC director. "It's alright to let kids know they are responsible for their behavior. You can't just tell them not to use drugs. Once they understand what drugs can do, and understand what will happen to them if they use drugs, then you can tell them the price they'll pay for drug abuse."

"Don't use drugs — play softball . . . it doesn't always work that way," said Julia Anderson Aki, Family Service Center. "You can't just substitute an activity for drug use. Kids have to understand themselves to be able to say no. They have to decide based on what they feel is right and wrong, not on what their friends are saying."

The bottom line is facts, the counselors say. Clear away the myths about drug use, present the facts, and hold the kids responsible for their actions.

After the program is over and the elementary students go home, they and their parents can discuss the information passed, and then watch a well-planned television special, "Epidemic! Why Your Kid is on Drugs," presented 7 p.m. on KGMB-TV, Channel 9.

The special takes an inside look at the problem with interviews of children, as well as psychiatrists, teachers, doctors and family counselors to pinpoint the reasons behind the epidemic.

The following evening CAAC and FSC team again to present a two-day seminar "Helping Kids Survive the Drug Culture — A Seminar for Parents."

The seminar goes from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. May 26-27 at the Windward Enlisted Club here. The program is free, and the first evening covers topics such as what kinds of drugs parents can expect to see, legal aspects of drug abuse, values in the home, and outward signs of drug use. The second evening will be devoted to practical "hands-on" training on ways to talk — and listen — to children in a healthy way.

More information on these programs is available from CAAC at 257-3275/2066 and FSC at 257-3606/3168/2741.

VA appoints cemetery director

SAN FRANCISCO — A Vietnam veteran and career Veterans Administration budget officer, James W. Rankin Jr., 36, has been named director of the VA's National Cemetery Area Office in San Francisco. As head of one of three field management offices in VA's Department of Memorial Affairs, he will be responsible for 24 cemeteries in 16 states, according to Chief Memorial Affairs Director Paul T. Bannai.

Of the 110 national cemeteries, Bannai said, 58 have grave space available, 47 are closed and five are under construction or design. Until his appointment, Rankin had been deputy assistant director for Budget Formulation in VA's Department of Medicine and Surgery.

After earning his masters's in Business Administration from the University of South Florida in 1972, he joined VA in Washington, D.C., as a management intern in the Office of the Controller. For seven years, he held increasingly responsible positions as a budget analyst specializing in VA medical programs.

In 1979, he was named special assistant to the budget officer, where he was responsible for the development of VA's automated budget system. During that two year assignment, he represented

VA before numerous symposia and conventions as a spokesman on budget automation and personnel management.

Born in Charlotte, N.C., Rankin was graduated from Grimsley High School, Greensboro, N.C. He received his bachelor's degree in mathematics in 1967 from Clemson University in South Carolina, before joining the U.S. Army where he attained the rank of captain. Before leaving the military in 1970, he held positions with a military police brigade in Vietnam and the U.S. Embassy in Caracas, Venezuela. Rankin was awarded the Bronze Star and Army Commendation Medals.

The Spring Fashion Fantasy, sponsored by the Staff Noncommissioned Officers' Wives Club, netted $641 for "Recreation for Adults and Children with Handicaps" on Mother's Day. Roxanne Pierce, 1982 REACH Poster Child, accepted the money from Captain S.E. "Jolly" Sheats, president of the 1982 REACH Board of Directors.

The fashion show drew a crowd of more than 200 people to the StaffNCO Club here, who not only viewed the latest in fashions, but were entertained by the comedy couple, Mike and Nevada Woodward.

Cheryl's Studio provided the models, except for Debbie Fairbanks, a club member who volunteered to model at the last minute when one of the professional models was unable to attend. Debbie overcame stage fright and inexperience to help make the show a success.

Renovations set for medical clinic

by Cpl Dawn Bowman

The best care possible with the least interruption will be the motto for the Kaneohe Branch Clinic, Building 216, from May 25 to Sept. 30.

"The renovation of the clinic has been in the planning stages since 1979," said Lieutenant Commander Walter Roberson, medical administrative officer. "This will be the first 'face lift' we know of since the building came into existence as a 100-bed hospital in 1941."

Since then, it has been a convalescent hospital, an outpatient clinic and the Kaneohe Branch Clinic.

Four sections — the Dependent Outpatient Clinic, the military sick call, the emergency room, and the clinic laboratory — will undergo renovation at a cost of approximately $250,000. The most extensive work will be done in the latter two.

Ceilings will be lowered and fluorescent lights installed. Eighty percent of the entire building will be repainted and a new fire alarm system will replace the old one. But, the change all members of the clinic staff are looking forward to is replacing the old furniture with a new modular type.

The modern modules are all detachable and mobile. "The equipment is such that it can be relocated and reconfigured to fit the new clinic anticipated in fiscal year '85," said Roberson.

While the reconstruction and revamping take place, certain sections will be temporarily relocated. To eliminate as much confusion as possible, the sections will remain within the same general area in the clinic.

If a patient needs directions to one of the relocated offices, he need only ask someone in the immediate vicinity.

Although there will be some inconvenience, the Kaneohe Branch Clinic will still offer "the best care possible with the least interruption."

CHAMPUS encourages use of cost-share formula

WASHINGTON — The acting Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) recently approved the extension of CHAMPUS benefits for outpatient surgery on the basis of the inpatient cost-sharing rates for dependents of active duty service members. The new provisions, implemented by Public Law 96-552 on Dec. 19, 1980, define ambulatory surgery centers as authorized CHAMPUS providers.

The law also provides for payment on the basis of reasonable costs and amends the cost-sharing provisions to apply the inpatient rate to certain ambulatory surgical services. In addition, it removes the beneficiaries' financial disincentive toward ambulatory surgery and permits the government to take advantage of the generally lower costs associated with surgery performed in outpatient settings. As a result, the estimated program savings for surgical services for more than a 4-year period (1982-86) will amount to $1.3 million.

The intended effect of the amendment is to encourage beneficiaries to obtain their surgical services in less expensive outpatient settings by providing a more favorable cost-share formula. This amendment is effective retroactively for covered surgical procedures performed on or after Dec. 19, 1980.

There are approximately 800 hospital-based and 100 free-standing ambulatory surgical centers nationwide that provide high-quality services at comparatively lower costs for selected surgical procedures. In order to encourage the use of these centers, Public Law 96-552 authorizes dependents of active duty members to pay a $25 cost share for ambulatory surgical services that are prescribed by the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of Health and Human Services under joint regulations. The $25 rate is equivalent to the rate paid for each admission to a hospital. Without this amendment, beneficiaries would have to pay in accordance with the outpatient cost-sharing provisions which include a $50 deductible and 20 percent of all subsequent charges. Further it is believed that if the outpatient cost-sharing provisions were applicable to ambulatory surgical services, physicians would not be encouraged to use such services because of the greater financial payments by the beneficiary.

To qualify as authorized providers under CHAMPUS, free-standing ambulatory surgical centers must be accredited by either the Joint Commission of Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care, Inc. or other standards as authorized by the director, CHAMPUS.

Ambulatory surgical centers will be paid on the basis of CHAMPUS-determined or approved reasonable costs. For additional information, contact Deborah Van Brunt, Chief, Information Office, CHAMPUS, Aurora, Colo. 80045.

U.S. M-16 has held its own against the Soviet Union's AKM, and proven itself more than able. During a demonstration May 7 at the rifle range here, the impact and accuracy of both rifles were compared.

The demonstration was coordinated by First Lieutenant Roland Walters, Regimental S-2 Officer, and Gunnery Sergeant Thomas Frazier, S-2 Intelligence Chief for 2d Battalion, 3d Marines.

Walters said that one purpose of the demonstration was to build Marines' confidence with the M-16 and to familiarize them with the Soviet's AKM, the weapon they are most likely to be facing in battle. Walters explained that just becoming familiar with the sound of the AKM being fired is important.

"In a war situation, Marines should know the sound of their own rifle from the enemies' rifle," he said.

One thing discovered at the demonstration was that automatic firing is very inaccurate. "The Soviets only fire semi-automatic once, which is during basic training," Walters added. "The rest of the time they fire automatic."

"The Soviets believe in area fire, which keeps our heads down until they overrun our positions. We believe in firing well-aimed rounds and hitting a target."

Both rifles have gas-operated, rotated-bolt locking systems. However, the M-16 has a longer distance between the front and rear sights. "The longer the distance between the two sights, the more accurate the weapon will be," said Walters.

The M-16 has a greater practical effective range than the AKM. The practical effective range is the range at which any infantryman can hit a target 50 percent of the time. The AKM has a range of 300 meters, and the M-16 has a range of 350 meters.

"Both weapons proved accurate up to 200 meters," said Walters. "Our bullet travels a lot faster than the Soviets'. Our bullet is 25 percent smaller in diameter and 35 percent faster."

Walters explained that the M-16 is unstable on impact and there is a high probability of incapacitation. "When the round hits you, it will bounce around in your body at a high rate of speed and do a lot of damage," he stated. "It could go in at the elbow and come out at the neck."

The AKM rounds are bigger. They are also more stable in flight and tend to make a neat hole in the target coming in and out. "This was verified by our demonstration," said Walters. "The M-16 made a neat entrance, but had a large exit hole — about 10 times larger. The AKM tended to make a sizable entrance hole and the exit hole was about the same."

Walters said that the AKM round is 62 percent heavier than the M-16 round, which means that the U.S. soldier or Marine can carry two and half times as much ammunition as the Soviet soldier.

"The Soviets stress dependability and the AKM is dependable," said Walters. "The United States stresses accuracy and less ammunition weight and the M-16 is more accurate."

Concerning the Marines who watched the demonstration, Walters said, "Like all Marines, they would rather fire the rifles themselves than watch, but they cheered when the M-16 impact sounded on the target. It reinforced their belief that the M-16 is a better weapon."

"I personally feel that the M-16 is better, although both weapons are good," Walters concluded.

Stay Marine.

You can count on the Corps.

Even when the breaks go against you.

Health care isn't something you think much about until you need it. In the Corps, you don't have to think about it. You've got it. It's low cost. And it covers the whole family.

Now, can you think of any civilian job that could give you the pride, job security, medical, educational and retirement benefits that the Corps does? Don't you think you've got some good solid reasons to...

Stay Marine.

CONGRATULATIONS — State Governor George Ariyoshi presents Lance Corporal James Hall his awards for winning the marathon.

Half-marathon record set

Marine wins marathon

by Cpl Charlie Marshall

Lance Corporal James Hall of Brigade Service Support Group, running his desired six-minute mile, took top honors Sunday as he finished the Second Annual Windward Marathon in 2:39:32.5.

The Second Annual Windward Half-Marathon was won by James Gallup, a doctor with the Hawaii Medical Group. Gallup's time, 1:11:17.5, is the fastest for an American, in the 45-49 age group.

Hall, who arrived on the island in March, said he trained for 15 miles a day to prepare for the 26-mile 385-yard trek. "This is the second marathon I've run and I enjoyed it. I felt pretty good running it and it was a nice course."

Hall took the lead before the runners completed the first mile and he never relinquished it. "I had a good pace going, but I didn't want to burn myself out for my run next week," the modest leatherneck added.

The first woman marathoner to complete the course was Carmen Amanillas of Makakilo. Her winning time was 3:19:41.4.

On the other (half-) marathon Gallup shared the lead with two other runners. Dewey Cartwright and Mike Tymn. "I didn't expect to win," stated the 46-year-old, "but when we passed the eight- or nine-mile marker, Mike started to fall back. It wasn't too long after when Dewey dropped." Cartwright finished the half-marathon second and two minutes ahead of the third-place finisher, Tymn in a time of 1:11:34.3.

The first woman to finish the half-marathon was a University of Hawaii sophomore, Karen Curtis. She finished in 1:20:12.2. Originally from Michigan, the 20-year-old runs the 3-, 5- and 10-kilometer races for the UH women's track team.

The first Marine to finish was Sergeant Greg Wooley from Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor. Completing the run fourth overall, Wooley was first in his age group, 20-24, and had a time of 1:14:30.

Both Hall and Gallup shaved more than a minute off last year's times.

VICTORY — Lance Corporal James Hall breaks the tape finishing the Windward Marathon. Halls run of 2:39:32.5 set a new course record.

DETERMINATION — James Tyson, the only wheelchair entrant, races down Mokapu Road.

A NEW RECORD — James Gallup crosses the finish line to the half-marathon in a record of 1:11:17.5. This is the fastest time for an American in the 45-49 age group.

SIX MORE MILES TO GO — Carmen Amarillas (No. 180) exits the Mokapu Gate passing the 20-mile mark of the Windward Marathon. She was the first female finisher at 3:19:41.4.

BANG — As the gun sounds starting the Windward Half-Marathon more than 1,000 runners step off.

3d Marines' squad brings home the gold

For the third time in five years the 1st Marine Brigade has the best squad in the Corps. First Squad, 1st Platoon, Company E, 2d Battalion, 3d Marines, led by Sergeant Jack Lawrence, captured the title at the annual competition held in Quantico, Va. May 3-11.

The second place squad, 3d Squad, 1st Platoon, Company B, 1st Battalion, 9th Marines, and the third place squad, 3d Squad, 3d Platoon, Company L, 3d Battalion, 5th Marines, received silver and bronze rifle competition squad badges respectively. But, the gold belongs to the brigade.

This year's competition consisted of seven events. The first event evaluated marksmanship and weapon employment, including a combat infantry course with moving targets, 81mm mortar call for adjustment of fire, night firing, automatic rifle firing, M203 grenade launcher firing and M72 light anti-assault weapon marksmanship.

The second event tested combat stamina while the third event tested preparation for and conduct of an ambush patrol. The fourth evaluated a squad's participation in a platoon's attack of a fortified area and the fifth tested the attack of a built-up area. The sixth event evaluated a squad in the defense and the final evaluation was of a squad leader's and fire team leader's land navigation abilities.

On Friday evening, a parade at the Marine Barracks, Washington, D.C. honored the participating squads. Lieutenant General Richard Carey, commanding general, Marine Corps Education and Development Command presented the Squad Combat Competition Trophy to the 3d Marines. The last time the trophy was presented to 3d Marines was in 1979.

"Each squad in the competition represented all the high ideals of professionalism associated with the Marine Corps," stated General Robert H. Barrow, Commandant of the Marine Corps in ALMAR 12/82. "Each squad leader and squad member displayed the utmost in knowledge, enthusiasm, dedication and esprit. Each can be justly proud of his contribution in setting standards associated with the word 'Marine'."

Other participating Squads were:

1st Sqd., 1st Plt., Co. F, 2d Bn, 4th Marines; 1st Sqd., 2d Plt., Co. B, 1st Bn., 2d Marines; 1st Sqd., 3d Plt., Co. E, 2d Bn., 5th Marines; 1st Sqd., 3d Plt., Co. K, 3d Bn., 6th Marines; 1st Sqd., 3d Plt., Co. K, 3d Bn., 7th Marines and 2d Sqd., 3d Plt., Co. L, 3d Bn., 8th Marines.

Taste Smokers Convinced.

Former higher tar smokers report MERIT "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

Can a low tar cigarette provide the taste incentive to switch smokers from higher tar brands?

Research consistently proves that MERIT can.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Clear Choice.

In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared against higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Kaneohe victorious in men's division, Loa'a takes women's

by Sgt Corrina Martell

With straining muscles and sweating brows, long-distance canoe racers cut their oars through the water in pursuit of the finish line here Saturday.

It was the final long-distance race of the season for the Hui Wa'a and Surfing Association as the Kaneohe Team in the men's division emerged victoriously with a time of 52:19. Loa'a took first in the women's division with a time of 38:57.

Eleven teams participated, some consisting of two or three crews per team.

The men's race had 15 crews. Starting at Hangar 101 beach pad, they raced around Coconut Island and out toward the mouth of Kaneohe Bay. At the mouth of the bay, they turned around and came back on the outside of the buoy markers, and then turned and went back to the starting point. The course was 6.5 miles.

Loa'a was second in the men's division with a time of 52:42, and Kamehameha followed third with 54:38.

The women's race had 10 crews, and also started at Hangar 101. Their four-mile course was around Coconut Island and back to the starting point.

Kaneohe took second place with 42:58 and Po Ha followed third with 43:14.

The event was sponsored by members of Battery K, 1st Battalion, 12th Marines, of the Windward Kai Canoe Club. First Lieutenant Michael Stephens, Battery K, executive officer, a member of the Windward Kai Canoe Club, was also team coordinator. He participated in the race with the Windward Kai Team.

Leathernecks snatch titles at track meet

Marines grabbed one first, two second and two third place finishes May 10 at a University of Hawaii invitational track and field meet.

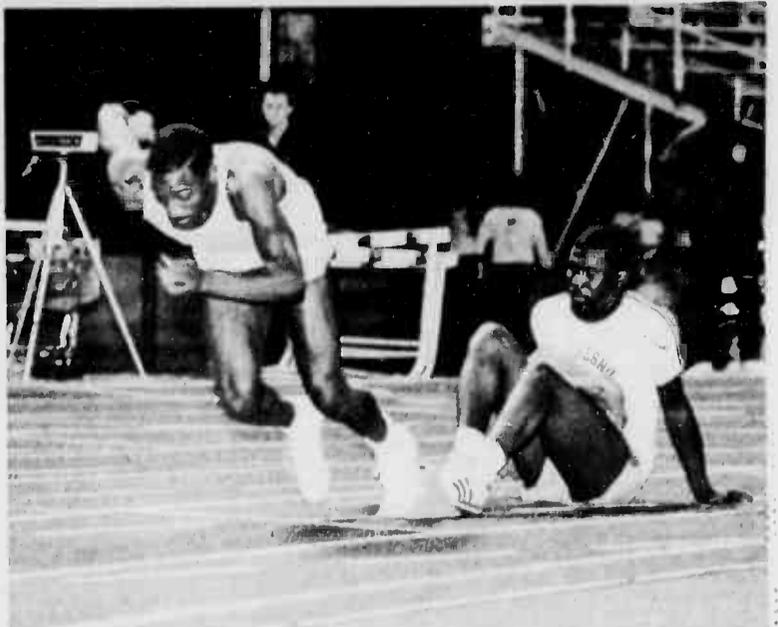

The leathernecks competed against UH and Australian athletes and Hawaiian high school all stars.

Jim Balthis took first in the high jump with a 6-4 performance. Marine Lance Corporal Derrell Nettingham, finished fourth.

LCpl Cornelius Boyd, Sergeant Wardell Mackall, Nettingham, and Cpl Donald Tucker teamed together for a second place finish in the men's 400-meter relay with a time of 44.9, less than two seconds away from the Hawaiian state record.

The 110-hurdles found Hospitalman James Grant less than one second away from the state record, but stiff competition kept him in second despite a 15.5 finish.

LCpl Kenneth Robertson took third in the 800 with a 2:02.9 run time and Tucker provided another third place finish with a 21-1/3 (6.51m) long jump.
