

TOP STORY

Army Reserve sapper company trains to send combat engineers to elite school

By Master Sgt. Michel Sauret, 416th TEC PAO

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. – The 374th Engineer Company (Sapper) spent two weeks in the field training 12 to 18 hours each day to prepare their leaders for the elite Sapper Leader Course.

News Story | TRADOC Link

Follow the 416th TEC on Social Media

NEWS

Exercise Northern Frontier

By staff, The Labradorian

GOOSE BAY, Canada – The 315th Engineer Battalion and at least three engineer companies from the 416th TEC took part in Exercise Northern Frontier 2015, a construction engineer event that goes on through mid-August in Goose Bay, Canada. News Story

USA Today: Geospatial cell gets first soldier assigned

By Michael Hardy, USA Today

DARIEN, Ill. – A new geospatial cell in the Army Reserve's 416th Theater Engineer Command has received its first Soldier. Army Master Sgt. Steve Lotz, a self-proclaimed "map geek," is now looking for more Soldiers to join him there. News Story

Engineer Soldiers, units featured in Army Reserve Today

By U.S. Army Reserve Command

FORT BRAGG, N.C. – U.S. Army Reserve engineers from the 416th TEC, 317th En. Co., 312th En. Co., and 277th En. Co. were featured in various aspects during Army Reserve Today. Features start at timestamps 6:15 and 10:49 in the video. Video

More than just blast masters

By Master Sgt. Michel Sauret, 416th TEC

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. – High charging, video footage from Army Reserve combat engineers training in the field, doing it all from jumping out of a helicopter to rappelling from a tower. Video

Five Photo Essays: Sapper training in the field

By Master Sgt. Michel Sauret, 416th TEC

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. – Five incredible photo essays of combat engineer Soldiers training in the field, doing everything from an air assault to combat water survival.

Air Assault | Helocast | Night Land Nav | Combat Water | Rappelling

