JOIN THE TEAM THAT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Providing humanitarian assistance and disaster relief in the United States and around the world is an essential part of the Army's mission. Through peacekeeping missions and medical and civil assistance programs, the U.S. Army provides medical and dental services, education, and other basic needs. Our Soldiers help restore communities' infrastructure by building roads, schools and medical facilities. If you have students who are interested in helping others internationally, ask them to consider becoming a Civil Affairs Soldier. They will be trained to work directly with civilian and military organizations of other nations to perform common tasks in support of embassies, nation building and humanitarian assistance. For more information, encourage your students to visit goarmy.com or contact their local Army recruiter.

COLLEGE AND ARMY: A WINNING COMBINATION

The Army values lifelong learning and offers multiple programs to assist Soldiers with attaining educational goals. The Concurrent Admissions Program (ConAP) encourages Future Soldiers to pursue a post-secondary education while serving their country. ConAP is a partnership between U.S. Army Recruiting Command and more than 1,900 participating colleges that have signed the Department of Defense Memorandum of Understanding. Visit us at <https://sites.google.com/a/goarmy.com/g7-9-conap/> for more information on ConAP. The Montgomery GI Bill (MGIB) is the basic education benefit of today's military, available to all Soldiers based on their term of enlistment. Many veterans who served after September 11 are eligible for the Post 9/11 GI Bill, which includes tuition, fees and a housing stipend. Soldiers are able to transfer unused education benefits to spouses and children. Visit gibill.va.gov to find out more about the Post 9/11 GI Bill. Tuition Assistance (TA) is an education benefit Soldiers receive while serving on active duty allowing them to preserve Post 9/11 and MGIB funds for future education needs. Have your students visit goarmyed.com to find further details regarding TA and education benefits from the Army.

STRENGTHENING FAMILIES

The well-being of military families is an important indicator of the well-being of the overall Army force. The strength of our Soldiers comes from the strength of their families, and the Army recognizes the commitment and increasing sacrifices our families make every day. The Army is committed to providing Soldiers and families the best quality of life possible. We are committed to providing our families a strong, supportive environment where they can thrive. The Army's investment in delivering the highest quality programs and services—from family, child and youth programs to recreation, sports, entertainment, travel and leisure activities—reflects its commitment to our Soldiers and their families. Visit goarmy.com/benefits/soldier-and-family-services.html for more information on the Army family.

FIND THE LEADER IN YOU

Leadership is the process of influencing people by providing purpose, direction and motivation to accomplish the mission and improve the organization. While personality and innate traits affect leadership ability, the Army believes that even the best leadership style can be developed and honed. Many people know what the words Loyalty, Duty, Respect, Selfless Service, Honor, Integrity and Personal Courage mean, but how often do you see someone actually live up to them? Army leaders live them every day in everything they do—whether they're on or off duty. When talking with students who exhibit leadership qualities, mention the Army as a possible career path where they can lead, motivate, inspire and mentor others. Visit us at goarmy.com to learn more.

DEFY EXPECTATIONS

From the American Revolution to the recent overseas contingency operations, women have served a vital role in the U.S. Army. Ever since Mary Ludwig Hays McCauley ("Molly Pitcher") replaced her husband when he collapsed at his cannon, women have continually proven their capacity to defend this nation. As women expanded into different roles in the U.S. Army, it was clear that the heart of a warrior was not limited to one gender. With more than 90 percent of military occupational specialties currently open to women, to include some Special Operations positions, there are now greater opportunities for a unique and life-changing career, educational benefits and an incredible foundation for success. Defy everyone's expectations—even your own. Visit us at goarmy.com to learn more.

BEYOND THE UNIFORM

Army Reserve Soldiers have served America since April 23, 1908. Your students can provide a vital link between the Army and local communities by joining this proud tradition and making the Army Reserve a strong and ready force. Army Reserve benefits include a competitive salary while working in one of more than 120 career fields, an enlistment bonus for designated military occupational specialties, financial assistance to pay off qualifying student loans, or up to 36 months of education benefits for college classes. Soldiers may also take advantage of up to 16 semester hours not to exceed $250* per semester hour each year using tuition assistance to take approved classes while serving in the Army Reserve. Your students can enjoy the best of both worlds: Army Reserve Soldiers gain the satisfaction of serving their country while pursuing their goals as civilians at the same time. The Army Reserve trains you to be your best, whether it's being a Soldier, working as a civilian, or attending college. Ask your students to visit goarmy.com/reserve for more information.

ADVANCING THE FIELD OF MEDICINE

Being part of the U.S. Army health care team means taking care of Soldiers and families, having unique research opportunities and saving lives. Thanks to the F. Edward Hébert Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program (HPSP), students interested in pursuing a career in medicine, dentistry, specialty nursing, veterinary medicine and allied health may be eligible for a full-tuition scholarship. It is a great way to focus on their passion for medicine and make a difference in the lives of those who protect our nation. The U.S. Army offers infinite possibilities for growth and leadership as one of the largest and most technologically advanced health care networks in the world. For your students to see how they can become an integral part of one of the largest and most sophisticated health care organizations across the world, visit goarmy.com/amedd or talk with a U.S. Army health care recruiter at their local Army recruiting center.

A PROUD TRADITION

Since its birth on June 14, 1775 (more than a year before the Declaration of Independence), the United States Army has played a vital role in the growth and development of our nation. Born out of the desire to defend liberty, the Army's primary responsibility has been fighting land battles. The U.S. Army fought the War of 1812, American Civil War, Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, Korean War and Vietnam War. After the Cold War ended in 1991, the Army focused on insurgencies in the Middle East, such as the Gulf War, and in Iraq and Afghanistan. The Army is poised to transform itself into a force that will remain on point for the nation. Today, America's Army has a presence in more than 120 countries with missions including humanitarian assistance, medical and civil operations, security operations, and joint international training operations. Soldiers have long sacrificed their personal comfort and safety to answer a higher calling, and our nation has long relied on their courage, sacrifice and selfless service. Encourage your students to visit goarmy.com to learn how they can serve.

DO YOU HAVE THE STRENGTH TO ROCK?

Since before the Army was officially formed in 1775, musicians have inspired troops in engagements like the Battle of Bennington—where the American commander ordered his fifers and drummers to play well into enemy positions—and had an important role in the Army's decisive victory. Whether you're performing to boost Soldiers' morale, entertain, or assist with military ceremonies, you'll be part of a group of talented musicians who support the Army's mission around the world. As a member of the Army Music program, you'll be given the freedom to perform a variety of music styles alongside colleagues who share your passion. You'll play professional quality instruments, enjoy paid vacations, receive medical and dental benefits for you and your family, and receive money for college. As a musician in the Army, your benefits will allow you the freedom to concentrate on your music without worrying about the next paycheck. Visit us at goarmy.com/band to learn more.
