New Deputy to the Commander Continues Mission as Cook Retires From Civilian Service

The outgoing deputy, Kresten Cook retired from his federal career with CCAD on January 3, 2017.

"I am truly honored to have served the depot for 34 years and to have finished my career as Deputy to the Commander. It's a big thrill for me," Cook said during his retirement ceremony, held on January 27, 2017 in Hangar 44.

Read one person's journey to a healthier life free from addiction: Smoke Signals

"Dependence" means you can't stop using the substance, even though it's causing you harm. Nicotine produces physical and mood-altering effects in your brain that feel good. At the same time, stopping tobacco use causes withdrawal symptoms, including irritability and anxiety.

Newest model of the famous Black Hawk flies for the first time

The UH-60V is not a newly built aircraft, but is a modification of existing UH-60L or "Lima" Black Hawks with a "digital" cockpit. It replaces the analog displays and systems with digital multifunction displays. It is nearly identical to the UH-60M, which are newly built Black Hawks.

CCAD AoP Update

The Corpus Christi Army Depot provides regular updates on its first phase of the Art of the Possible, which launched in October, 2016. This phase focuses on optimizing the UH-60L production line to deliver mission-ready helicopter products and support to our Soldiers and Armed Service Members.

The 26 January 2017 Art of the Possible Walk the Wall meeting focused on streamlining the various gates and processes for the UH-60 Black Hawk modernization program in support of the United States Army's next mission.

Depot Maintenance Manager, Jamie Felgenhauer sidebars with Lead Logistics Management Specialist, Jahna Fulton, about the AoP Performance Monitor, which provides a real-time digital dashboard that tracks all work in the gated system. As CCAD's first program to adopt AoP, the UH-60 team is adapting well during the transition and welcoming opportunities of improvement.

Kudos to a Priceless Life Cycle Planning Team

The AMCOM Aviation Logistics Center gave the team certificates of appreciation for completing all FY17 command schedule locks, program and funding acceptances, and their FY18 pricing exercise.
