

U.S. Army Forces Command FRONTLINE

March 1, 2019 | Volume IX, Issue 8

Senior Leaders Readiness and quality of life

"America's Army remains in high demand across the world because of our leadership, professionalism and ability to constantly evolve to meet the security needs of our defense partners as well as our own," Dailey said.

— SMA Daniel A. Dailey
Sgt. Maj. of the Army

On Point Military Saves Week

When you take the Military Saves Pledge, you'll have access to FREE educational resources on MilitarySaves.org, as well as customized communications, including the option to receive savings-specific text message tips and reminders to help you stay on track with your savings goals. And, yes, it's all completely FREE. And, no, we'll never try to sell you anything, EVER.

Army SHARP, Ready and Resilient

The Army Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention Directorate and the Army Resiliency Directorate have consolidated into a new SHARP, Ready and Resilient Directorate.

101st Airborne Division Welcomes New Commander

Lt. Gen. Laura Richardson, acting commanding general for U.S. Forces Command, hands the "Screaming Eagle" colors to Maj. Gen. Brian Winkski, as he assumes command of the 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault), Feb. 14, at Fort Campbell. (Photo Credit: Sgt. James Griffin, 1st Brigade Combat Team, 101st Abn. Div. Public Affairs)

By Master Sgt. Tanya Lombard
U.S. Army Public Affairs Office

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. — The historic and accomplished 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault) welcomed its 47th commanding general today, as Maj. Gen. Andrew Poppas relinquished command to Maj. Gen. Brian Winkski.

Under Poppas' leadership, the 101st Abn. Div. deployed Soldiers to combat, contingency and peacekeeping missions around the world, to include Operation Inherent Resolve in Iraq, Operation Freedom's Sentinel in Afghanistan, dozens of training and partnership missions on the African and European continents, and hurricane and disaster relief missions in Puerto Rico and the U.S. He spoke to the thousands of "Screaming Eagle" Soldiers, Veterans and community members who assembled for the ceremony at Fort Campbell's parade field.

"We know that this division exists to fight and win our nation's wars," said Poppas. "And that's been true since our inception in 1942 in Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, as we were born in the maelstrom of World War II, as we moved forward into Korea, Vietnam and all the way through the Gulf War to our current fights; we continue that legacy today with the past 18 years of continuous combat."

Most recently, Poppas and 250 Soldiers from the division's headquarters returned from a nine-month deployment to Afghanistan, where they served at the fore of the conditions-based U.S. South Asia Strategy and the NATO-led, 41-nation Resolute Support mission.

FORSCOM in the news

1st Lt. Natlia Drew and William Viana use Electronic Flight Bags to perform preflight checks on an aircraft, Feb. 1, at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Spc. Ryan Perkins, assigned to 2nd General Support Aviation Battalion, 4th Combat Aviation Brigade, 4th Infantry Division, returning from overseas.

Maj. Jeff Mincks, a physician assistant assigned to the 2nd Combined Arms Battalion, 137th Infantry Regiment, Kansas Army National Guard conducts

Maj. Gen. Brian Winski (far right), commanding general for the 101st Airborne Division, and Brig. Gen. Todd Royar (left), deputy, greet Soldiers as they return.

Five Soldiers assigned to 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault) Task Force Eagle Assault received, Distinguished Flying Cross during an ceremony in Kabul.

Meet your Army

Warrant Officer Shaun Wheeler, petroleum systems technician, 289th Composite Supply Company, 553rd Combat Sustainment Support Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division Sustainment Brigade, is a fuel expert. His responsibilities, include storage, distribution, and quality assurance.

TOP SHOTS

Here are the best photos from FORSCOM Public Affairs professionals world-wide. For more photos and information, click these photos or visit army.mil/forscom

Above Soldiers from the 2nd Armored Brigade Combat Team, 1st Cavalry Division conduct sling load operations with a CH-47 Chinook from the 1st Air Cavalry Brigade Feb 21. Sling load operations streamline logistics by moving heavy equipment across the battlefield.

Above Spc. David Cho, gunner (left), Pfc. Skylar Carnaghi, driver (right), 3rd Battalion, 67th Armored Regiment, 2nd Armored Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division, execute Preventative Maintenance Checks and Services on an M1A1 Abrams Tank Fort Stewart, Ga. (U.S. Army photo by Spc. Andres Chandler)

Left 1st Lt. Armando Zavala, El Paso, Texas native, physician assistant, 4th Battalion, 6th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Armored Brigade Combat Team, 1st Armored Division (Rotational), uses suturing tools to make a cut in a pig's foot in preparation for stitching. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. 1st Class Yu Rhee)

Left Paratroopers with C Company, 1-508th Parachute Infantry Regiment (PIR), 82nd Airborne Division (Air Assault) assess the Integrated Tactical Network (ITN) while performing an air assault exercise in Jan. at Camp Atterbury, Ind. (Photo Credit: Justin Eimers, PEO C3T public affairs)

Right Sgt. 1st Class Joanne Glanville, a 17-year Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear specialist, works in the Resolute Support Sustainment Brigade's S-3 (Operations) while deployed. She is now a graduate of the Battle Staff NCO Course. (U.S. Army photo by Jon Micheal Connor)

