MG Mitchell returns to Midwest to take command of ASC

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL, III. — He was born in Waterloo, Iowa, raised in rural central Illinois, and describes himself as a “proud Midwesterner.” Now, Maj. Gen. Daniel G. Mitchell has returned to the area to lead an organization with a global impact on military logistics.

In a change of command ceremony held here June 24, Mitchell took command of the U.S. Army Sustainment Command. He replaced Maj. Gen. Steven A. Shapiro, who had served as ASC’s commanding general since August 2019.

Shapiro is retiring from the Army following a 35-year career and was honored at a retirement ceremony held after the ... \(Click to read more\)

JTL Tier II class graduates with virtual ceremony after presenting team project

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL, III. — The yearlong Journey to Leadership Program Tier II class 2019/2020 graduated in a four-hour ceremony July 16 in a non-traditional way: It was held in a variety of locations simultaneously – at home and at work.

That’s because the coronavirus pandemic forced course officials to shut down the normally led in-person course and instead teach the last portion of it in the virtual world. \(Click to read more\)

ASC employees at Tobyhanna Army Depot receive DOD award

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL, III. — Three employees with the Packaging, Storage, and Containerization Center, Tobyhanna Attachment, U.S. Army Sustainment Command, received the Department of Defense award for excellence June 5 in a virtual ceremony at Tobyhanna Army Depot, Pennsylvania. ACC-RI's LOGCAP contracts support for COVID-19 response

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL, Ill. — Adjusting to a new normal while supporting the Army's COVID-19 requirements has been a challenging but very rewarding experience for two Army Contracting Command-Rock Island employees assigned to the Logistics and Civil Augmentation Program (LOGCAP) IV mission.

Lindsay Weindruch, procuring contracting officer, and Serina Allingham, contract specialist, have been working hard — from their telework sites at home — to support five current requirements.

Specifically, they are handling quarantine sites at Fort Bragg and Fort Bliss, where Soldiers and civilians returning from theater are isolated for 14 days. They are also supporting a U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC) requirement providing overflow housing for displaced Soldiers at Fort Benning and Fort Lee.

The team has also awarded the contract for the construction of a 100-bed temporary medical facility for the ... \(Click to read more\)

Army promotes SPO executive director into SES at ASC

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL, Ill. — Dan Reilly was appointed to the Senior Executive Service and took leadership of the U.S. Army Sustainment Command's Support Operations directorate here, June 4.

A retired Army colonel, Reilly became a Department of the Army civilian in 2015 as the deputy director for ASC's SPO. He served as the acting executive director since November 2019. Born and raised in Joliet, Illinois, ... \(Click to read more\)
