THE GLOBE

Serving Expeditionary Forces in Readiness
Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Vol. 63 No. 21

Welcome aboard Newcomers' info inside

Compiled by GLOBE Staff

How many times has this happened to you? You get orders, you move to a new city, you plan, but still feel lost.

Well if you're coming to Camp Lejeune keep this paper, and if you're already here, please share the information you'll see this week from Marine Corps Community Services, Coastal Carolina Community College, the Camp Lejeune Naval Hospital, the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, LCTV-10 and much, much more.

We are calling this edition of the Globe, the "Newcomer's Edition." Our staff wants everyone new and old to Camp Lejeune to feel comfortable in this tight knit community we call home.

With the busy pace of a permanent change of station, we know the frustrations. Many have called a household move the most stress a family or individual can have. For most Marines and Sailors this happens every three or four years.

According to one Camp Lejeune admin shop, 20 percent of its operating forces will receive orders during the summer months.

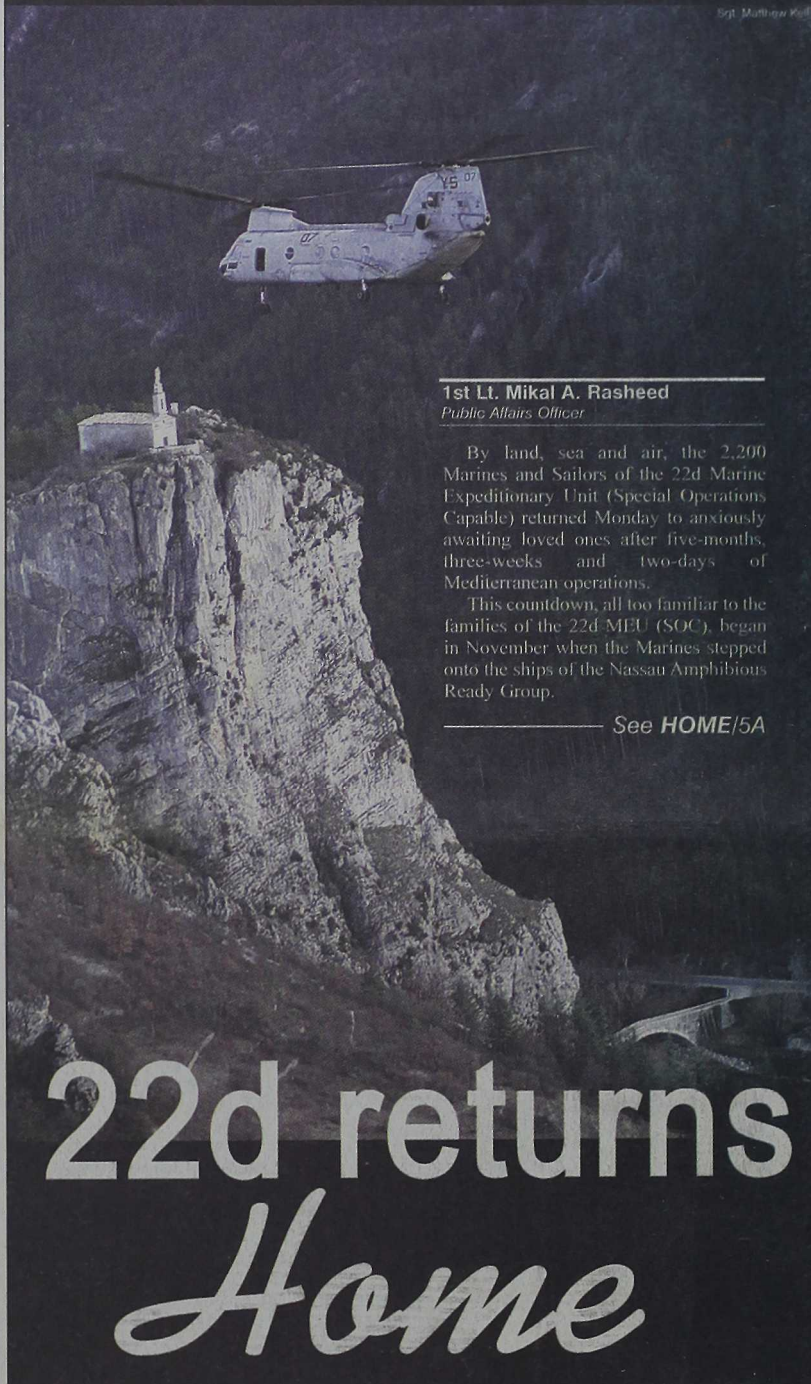

This entails one in every five Marines putting on his or her Alpha uniform and prancing around a base hoping that a building number is correct or that a phone number hasn't changed. No one wants this headache.

So don't miss the articles on 2A about moving and as always, the Bulletin Board on 2B is loaded with Lejeune information.

By land, sea and air, the 2,200 Marines and Sailors of the 22d Marine Expeditionary Unit (Special Operations Capable) returned Monday to anxiously awaiting loved ones after five-months, three-weeks and two-days of Mediterranean operations.

This countdown, all too familiar to the families of the 22d MEU (SOC), began in November when the Marines stepped onto the ships of the Nassau Amphibious Ready Group.

Holiday safety Think, buckle, plan ahead

Paul C. Cabellon
Public Affairs Officer

Any other red-blooded American "dog" or Sailor, most people are getting into the Memorial Day weekend. For some, the planning should be how to safely escape from Camp Lejeune and, importantly, the return.

I'm very pleased to see such a significant drop in traffic fatalities over the past year," Jordan Pickett, base safety manager. "I've convinced the decrease is a direct result of the efforts put forth by unit command, coordinators, and traffic safety specialists educating our young Marines and Sailors. The efforts are greatly commended," said the 22d MEU (SOC) resident.

Earlier, in FY 2001, there have been only two traffic fatalities as compared to thirteen the same period last year, said base safety specialist and local Jacksonville resi-

"Our focus must be on education and prevention and this requires a fundamental change in thinking by all Marines. They must be convinced of the importance of sound and safe decision making when operating private motor vehicles. No regulation will change attitudes and decisions but training and repetitive emphasis will ... seat belt use is absolutely essential to reduce fatalities."

24th enjoys Palma de Mallorca

Sgt. Kevin Dolloson
Marine Combat Correspondent

PALMA, Spain - As the Marines and Sailors of the 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit (Special Operations Capable) close in on the one-month mark of their deployment, they made a stop recently at the Spanish Island of Palma de Mallorca for a few days of liberty.

Several tours were made available to MEU personnel and the ship's crew, including a visit to the world-famous Caves of Drach on the East Coast of Mallorca, a tour of the Inca Market - an inland town about twenty miles from Palma and a Casino Palladium dinner and show.

The scenic island tour combined three forms of transportation to cover parts of the island that only native residents are familiar with.

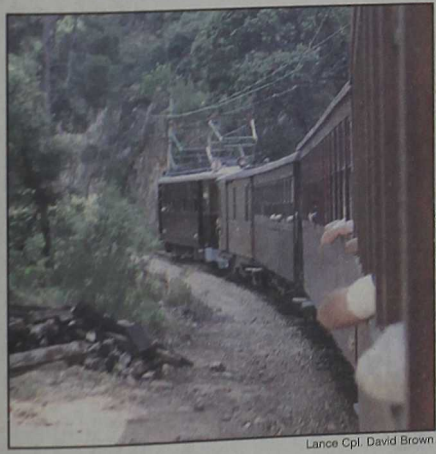

It began with a ride through Palma and a stop at an Inca leather factory. Afterwards, the bus ride headed toward the mountains of Mallorca, with winding roads that were barely wide enough to fit the bus.

Once the bus route reached the top of its climb, the descent seemed to be a bit more treacherous with hairpin turns, referred to as "Tie-knot" turns.

The first leg of the ride ended at the secluded beach town of La Calobra where tour-goers enjoyed a delectable lunch before launching on a ferryboat along the coastline near the town of Soller.

After their arrival, Marines and Sailors walked through the city and boarded a bus for a ride to the Soller train station.

QUICKSHOTS

Airport Hours

Because there are many Marines and Sailors assuming the airport is open 24 hours a day, Onslow County's Albert Ellis Airport would like to remind people that its doors close immediately following the 11:30 p.m. nightly flight and reopen at 5 a.m. promptly.

Lately many Marines and Sailors have become stranded because of this assumption. According to the airport director, it is often difficult and costly to transportation after hours.

Memorial Day

Don't forget about the Memorial Day Gun Salute Sunday at noon in front of Lejeune Hall.

The salute will consist of Marines firing one round every minute for 21 minutes with M11 40mm rifles.

Flags will be lowered to half-mast during this time and will be raised at the end of the salute.

Florida A&M

Florida A&M University is seeking qualified minority candidates interested in attending FAMU or one of the other Historically Black College or Universities (Morehouse, Norfolk, Prairie View, Savannah State and Southern) on a Navy ROTC Scholarship.

For more information contact the Florida A&M recruiting officer at (850) 561-2517 or e-mail at NROT-CADVI@aol.com.

Command Cable

Camp Lejeune's "Welcome Aboard" video selected for award recognition by HQMC, airs daily.

LCTV-10 is now in its second year of existence and features news and information around the clock. Charter Cable subscribers can access command cable on Channel 10; the program guide scrolls on Channel 77 and 78 and appears on page 2C of THE GLOBE every week.

Let honor guide you

As a sergeant major that has been around this great organization just over a couple decades, I can still recall the nervousness that I felt when I had to report to my first duty station. The anxiety of trying to imagine what to expect was enormous.

A part of me felt as if I had grown into a man, ready to establish myself in this "New World." Yet the fear reminded me that I was still very much a boy who had a lot to learn. It is my belief that young Marines of today experience those same feelings.

How you manage your emotions will have a tremendous impact on your ability to succeed. You will encounter many obstacles that will require you to make mature decisions. The most common problem that confronts young Marines is simply being able to depict right from wrong. Many of you are away from home for the first time.

You're able to come and go as you please, and for the most part, you answer to no one. Unfortunately, your youth can quickly transform into stupidity, and cause serious problems for you and your future. This usually occurs because of the tendency to fall victim to peer pressure.

Instead of relying on the morals that you were taught, and adhering to rules and regulations, you are easily influenced by others simply because you feel the need to belong and want to fit in with the crowd.

The results of these poor decisions normally come in the form of underage drinking, drug usage, driving under the influence, and unauthorized absences.

All of which are detrimental to your career, and will quickly end your dream of belonging to the

"World's Finest."

I am convinced that no one joins the Marine Corps to fail. It is also my opinion that no leader will allow you to fail if you accept their guidance and follow instructions.

Every young Marine has certain goals that they would like to achieve. In order to obtain those goals, you must utilize good judgement and make sound decisions. You will acquire the ability to do this by trusting the advice and leadership of your superiors.

There is absolutely nothing difficult about being a Marine. It doesn't necessitate that you be the smartest, fastest, or strongest.

However, it does require that you remember the basics that you were taught in boot camp and apply them to every aspect of your personal and professional life.

You have worked hard to claim the title UNITED STATES MARINE! It required tremendous sacrifice on your part, and something that you should be extremely proud to have accomplished. The ability to call yourself a Marine is an HONOR...the ability to call yourself a GOOD MARINE, takes hard work that requires discipline and dedication. Through the course of your enlistment, you will encounter situations that require you to stop and think before you act.

The decisions that you make will have a major impact on your ability to reach set goals.

Upholding our Corps values of HONOR, COURAGE, and COMMITMENT will assist you in making the correct decisions. Life is filled with choices that must be made. Remember, every choice you make will affect the rest of your life!

DoD making PCS moves easier

Rudi Williams

American Forces Press Service

Relocation is part of life in the military and for some DoD civilian employees.

Every permanent-change-of-station order means moving yourself, your family and all your belongings to a new duty location somewhere in the world.

Moving is a big event with a lot of physical and emotional challenges that need to be handled with care.

Like everything else in life, there's a right way to move.

And doing it the right way can make a big difference in stress, peace of mind — and your pocketbook.

Here are some things to do to help make your move smoother:

Moving Checklist

- Contact the household goods office for an appointment with a counselor.
- Notify your landlord, rental agent or housing office of your permanent change of station orders and anticipated date of departure.
- Check school schedules and enrollment requirements at your new station.
- Check the expiration date on your military identification card; update if necessary.
- Contact the department of motor vehicles for information on changing your driver's license and vehicle registration.
- Take care of auto maintenance and repairs.
- Contact your insurance company concerning vehicles, home and household goods. Find out about coverage on your possessions in transit and storage and about high-value items.

- Fill out a postal change of address form.
- Fill out an IRS change of address form.
- Hand-carry medical and dental records.
- Keep prescription medicines in their original bottles. Obtain prescription slips in case you need refills on the road. Pack medicine in leakproof, spillproof containers.
- Hand-carry finance records.
- Ensure that your entire family is properly listed on the Defense Eligibility Enrollment Reporting System.
- Start using up perishable and frozen foods about a month before moving. Discard whatever you haven't used before the carrier shows up to pack.
- Dispose of flammables such as fireworks, cleaning fluids, matches, acids, chemistry sets, aerosol cans, ammunition, oil, paint and thinners.
- Drain fuel from mowers and other machinery.
- Discard partly used cans and containers of substances that might leak.
- Carefully tape and place in individual waterproof bags any jars of liquid you plan to carry with you.
- Refillable tanks must be purged and sealed by a local propane gas dealer. Discard nonrefillable tanks. Some carriers and the military do not permit shipment of any propane tanks.
- Switch utility services to new address. Inform electric, disposal, water, newspaper, magazine subscription, telephone and cable companies of your move.
- Have appliances serviced for moving.
- Clean rugs and clothing and have them wrapped for moving.
- Plan ahead for special needs of infants.
- Close bank accounts and have your funds wired to your new bank. Before closing, ensure there are no outstanding checks or automatic payments that haven't been processed.

- Collect valuables from safe-deposit boxes. Make copies of any important documents. Bring them or hand-carry them to your new duty station.
- Record serial numbers of electronic equipment.
- Defrost freezer and refrigerator. Clean and defrost inside to control odors.
- Give a close friend or relative your contact information and schedule so you may be reached during the move.
- Discuss the moving process with your family to overcome their fear of relocation.
- Return library books and other borrowed items.
- Make shipping arrangements for vehicles.
- Ensure that the vehicle is in good condition and that all required maintenance is completed.

Moving Your Pets

- Make arrangements for transporting pets.
- Carry health and rabies certificates.
- Ask about vaccinations needed to enter new countries.
- Attach an ID tag to your pet's collar.
- Check on type and size of kennel for overseas shipment of pets.
- If you're traveling across country, check on pet-friendly hotels online at www.petswelcome.com.

On Moving Day

- Double-check closets, drawers, and garage to be sure they are empty.
- Carry travelers checks for quick access to funds.
- Watch loading and unloading and ensure items are carefully before signing a receipt.

Protect belongings with insurance

Rudi Williams

American Forces Press Service

You watch "Antiques Roadshow" this fall and learn a chifferobe just like your great-grandmother's is worth $5,000. Dang!

If you'd known that you'd have had insurance and squawked more when those butterfingers banged up yours during your summer move.

Permanent-change-of-station moves mean stress, anxiety and problems even when you don't own high-value treasures.

But when you do, paying attention to some common sense dos and don'ts may save you grief.

Carriers and the government assume no liability for such high-value items as watches, jewelry, cash, stocks, bonds, coin and stamp collections, antiques, bills, deeds, precious metals or irreplaceable sentimental items such as photo albums.

Carry these valuables with you, Military

Traffic Management Command officials advise. Don't ship them as household goods, and don't leave them in dresser drawers or lying around while movers pack.

Get professional appraisals for expensive, valuable items such as artwork, collectibles and heirlooms. Obtain supplemental insurance for these valuables during the move.

Standard insurance carried by most movers pays claims by the pound, not market value. The government will not pay for appraisals or extra insurance, but consider the cost a wise hedge against loss or damage.

Videotape or take close-up photos of all your belongings, paying extra attention to the condition of your furniture and your expensive and valuable items. Inventory records like this will help you document any losses and damage you may incur in the move.

Record serial numbers of electronic equipment.

Movers are supposed to document furniture condition on their inventory record sheets.

Make sure you confirm their entries and challenge them until you agree on accuracy.

When you sign the mover's inventory after the packing's done, you're certifying accuracy.

Don't wax or oil wooden antiques or wood furniture before shipping. These products might soften the wood and be vulnerable to imprinting from furniture.

Third-party servicing will likely be required before moving such luxury items as large-screen TVs and some exotic

Talk to the moving company and post-move servicing of your refrigerator, dishwasher, grand piano and other such items.

Think twice before dismantling a side TV antenna — a new one may be shipping the present one.

Following these suggestions will help you protect your valued items and help you have a painless move.

HOME from 1A

They had little idea as to what to expect from their upcoming deployment. For many, they simply knew that their first stop was Rota, Spain, where they would become Landing Force Sixth Fleet 2001 (LF6F 1-01). They immediately conducted an exercise in Sierra del Retin, Spain with the oldest Marine Corps in the world, the Tercio del Armada, before speeding off into the Mediterranean.

This was the first "float" for many of the young Marines who were part of the Marine Air-Ground Task Force (MAGTF) comprised of 1st Battalion, 8th Marines, Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 162 (reinforced) and MEU Service Support Group-22.

The first three months of the deployment were marked by a plethora of port visits. "The Marines were really anxious to train," said 1st Lt. Jerry Kleber, the weapons platoon commander for Charlie Company, Battalion Landing Team 1/8.

The Albany, N.Y. native commented on the attitude of his Marines prior to landing at Capo Teulada, Sardinia, for Invitex 2001, the second exercise of the deployment. "Liberty was great, but we were ready to hit some place to train."

The MEU exploited a few unscheduled opportunities during the float as well. During the maintenance stand-down in Toulon, France, the first time Marines who set foot on French soil in quite some time, HMM-162 (rein) conducted aviation exercises at Palyvestre Airfield in Hyeres, France. Marines also took advantage of the opportunity to visit Belleau Wood, the site of vicious fighting between Marines and the vaunted German Army of World War I. This was the sight at which Marines were first referred to as "Devil Dogs."

The MEU also took the opportunity to conduct bilateral training with the Armed Forces of Malta during a short visit enroot to Tunisia for Exercise Atlas Hinge.

For many Marines and Sailors, training in Croatia with the legendary Hrvatski Vojaska, the Army that pushed the Serbian Forces out of Croatia during the Serb-Croat War, was the most rewarding training experience of the deployment.

"It was the best deployed training experience I've had by virtue of the mission, host nation support, terrain, weather and the challenges associated with inland expeditionary operations," said Lt. Col. Robert Marshall, a CH-46 pilot and the MEU executive officer. The Texas "Aggie" led the advance party into Croatia and was in country for 60 consecutive days.

For Marines from Charlie Co., Kosovo was the crown jewel of the deployment. In the words of the NATO planners of Adventure Express/Dynamic Response 2001, "This isn't an exercise, this is an operation."

Marines assisted Kosovo Force (KFOR) soldiers at vehicle checkpoints and searches, and also conducted patrols and cordon and search operations for weapons caches.

"The Marines were excited to finally conduct a real world mission," revealed Kleber. "It was great to see all our training culminate."

Though not a scheduled exercise, the planning and execution of the final wash-down in Rota, Spain, was approached with the same intensity. The stringent cleaning and inspection procedure was made all the more important due to concerns over "Foot and Mouth Disease."

Deploying with a MEU is one reason that many young men and women join the Marine Corps. If it isn't the opportunity to see different parts of the world, it's the chance to train in a joint and combined environment.

"Sometimes I need to hold back and let my Marines do the work," explained Kleber, a prior enlisted infantryman on his fourth MEU deployment.

The Marines of the 22d MEU (SOC) have plenty to be proud of as they are welcomed home. BLT 1/8 left an indelible imprint in Kosovo, HMM-162 (rein) surpassed 40,000 mishap-free flight hours, MSSG-22 worked with a Transportation Support Battalion detachment for the first time and the command element was the first to deploy with the new Atlas II supply system.

Kinston Dealer Slashes Prices; Allows Public to Start Making Payments on Any Used Vehicle for $49 Down Payment.***

Nissan Lincoln Mercury to sell 150 Used Vehicles before Sunday, May 27

KINSTON, NC - Unclaimed Vehicle Liquidators of America has been retained by Kinston Lincoln Mercury to present a unique "Used Car and Truck $49 Supersale" this Saturday, May 22, through Saturday, May 26.

Spadaro of Kinston Nissan Lincoln Mercury said "The reason for the $49 Supersale is the record number of lease return and rental vehicles have flooded the North Carolina market in 2001. We are absolutely swamped with quality pre-owned vehicles and have retained Unclaimed Vehicle Liquidators of America to dramatically reduce the inventory - regardless of profit or loss.

Spadaro said Kinston Nissan Lincoln Mercury has decided to drastically reduce the used vehicle inventory by means of $49 Supersale. During the 4 day event, every car, truck, van and SUV will be available for just a $49 down payment, then start making reasonable payments.

According to Mr. Spadaro, customers pay the $49 down payment and then start making payments on one of over $2 million worth of lease returns, rental returns, and other vehicles that will be on the Kinston Nissan Lincoln Mercury lot. "It's that simple," said Spadaro. "All vehicles will be clearly marked - PICK YOUR VEHICLE - PICK YOUR PAYMENT. Start making payments on any used vehicle in stock and pay just a $49 down payment. Remember this is not a lease." Mr. Spadaro said "this $49 Supersale is about as simple and affordable for customers to get the used vehicle of their choice."

A selection of models will be available, including Nissan, Ford, Lincoln, Mercury, Jeep, Chrysler, Dodge, Toyota, and more - all for just a $49 down payment - then start making reasonable payments. This may be a once in a lifetime opportunity to buy a vehicle for $49 down and make payments that will easily fit into your budget.

Representatives will be on hand to answer questions and help customers obtain financing. Trade-ins will be accepted. Customers should bring their title and/or license books to expedite delivery. "This is the opportunity North Carolina bargain hunters have been waiting for, it really is a win-win situation. Customers get a great deal on a certified used car that includes a 60-day warranty and we are able to dramatically reduce our inventory," said Mr. Spadaro.

At 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 26th, Kinston Nissan Lincoln Mercury will return to normal operations. Any questions can be directed to (252) 522-1021 or toll free at (800) 252-1021. Kinston Nissan Lincoln Mercury is located at 4051 West Vernon Avenue in Kinston, North Carolina.

*With approved credit, $49 plus tax, title and fees. Example: 1992 Honda Civic sale price $7499 per month for 48 months at 10% a.p.r. $49 down payment for a total of $49 down plus tax. Total financed $3115 plus tax. Total of payments $3782 plus tax. Subject to credit approval. Subject to lenders final decision.

II MEF P&R Schwarzenbach retires

Staff Sgt. James J. Connolly, Jr.

The top enlisted spot in II Marine Expeditionary Force changes hands today during a post-and-relief ceremony at Lejeune's II MEF Headquarters.

Sgt. Maj. Max T. Schwarzenbach will be relieved by Sgt. Maj. Peter M. Gante, and then retire after more than 30 years service.

Gante was most recently the sergeant major of Marine Corps Air Bases Eastern Area and Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C.

Schwarzenbach, of Astoria, Ore., enlisted in April 1971. Despite holding a variety of billets during a career spanning three decades, Schwarzenbach pinpoints two assignments as critical steps in both his leadership and personal development.

"I've been a drill instructor and I don't think there's another billet a young noncommissioned officer can hold that has the same tremendous responsibility," he said. "You're tasked with overseeing the lives of the recruits, and for molding and guiding them into becoming Marines."

The two-time former drill instructor also added that holding the ranks of first sergeant and sergeant major was also important to his growth.

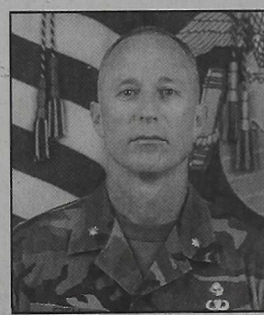

"You are the senior enlisted advisor in the command, so the example you set is everyday," said

Schwarzenbach, who took over as sergeant major of II MEF March 1999. "What could be more challenging than that?"

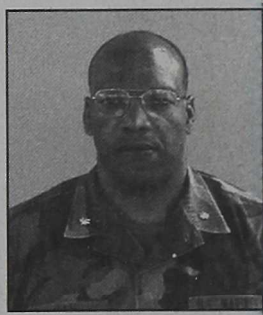

While joking that he is in a self-imposed state of denial as the sun sets on a career that "just absolutely flew by," Schwarzenbach offers advice to those who have a lengthy Marine Corps career in mind.

A 24-year-career marked by missions ranging from service in our nation's capital to humanitarian operations worldwide will come to an end when the command of 2d Light Armored Reconnaissance Battalion, 2d Marine Division changes hands here today.

Lt. Col. William L. Ezell, who has commanded the battalion since May 1999, will hand the reins to Lt. Col. Eddie S. Ray. Ezell is scheduled to retire following the ceremony.

A New Orleans native, Ezell graduated from St. Edwards University, Austin, Texas in 1977. Upon his commissioning, he was assigned to 3rd Marine Division where he fulfilled various command billets with 2nd Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment and Marine Barracks, Washington, D.C.

company, responsible for all administrative issues associated with the permanent personnel of MCCSSS and the day-to-day operation of Camp Johnson. Bravo Company will be responsible for the personal and administrative welfare of the entry level Marines, he said.

Bravo Co. includes class commanders [noncommissioned officers and staff noncommissioned officers] who are directly responsible for troop welfare; they will monitor and supervise such things as reveille, marching to classes, medical appointments, field days, physical training, etc.

"They will also be responsible for most of the issues associated with good order and discipline of entry-level Marines. Today, many of our instructors serve as both class commanders and platform instructors and this can make for long and frustrating days," he said. To assist in the transition, schools will attach to the battalion separately.

Naval Hospital Camp Lejeune

Ensign Kelly L. Bricko
Naval Hospital Public Affairs

Our Mission: We are a community health system advancing force protection through operational readiness and quality health services. Naval Hospital Camp Lejeune has been an integral part of the base since May 1, 1943.

The current hospital facility was constructed in 1983 on 162 acres on the banks of the Northeast Creek.

The main hospital has approximately 420,000 square feet of floor space and is supplemented by a public works building and a helicopter pad.

Fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, the Naval Hospital provides general clinical and hospitalization services for active-duty and retired personnel, their families, and their survivors.

More than 172 health care practitioners provide primary care and specialty services to approximately 90,000 military beneficiaries. We emphasize keeping our patients well. We are the only Navy Command to win five consecutive Health Promotions Gold Awards. The hospital provides space for 117 inpatients, expandable to 236, plus extensive general and specialty care outpatient clinics.

We have a Surgical Suite consisting of five operating rooms and a Mother Baby Unit that has five labor and two delivery rooms and one C-section room.

This summer we will move into a new Labor, Delivery and Recovery suite. The hospital also provides Nuclear Medicine, MRI, mammography and expanded Laboratory services, giving the hospital the latest in diagnostic capabilities.

We have three family practice clinics providing health care services to more than 36,000 family members of active duty personnel, retired personnel and their family members and survivors enrolled in the TRICARE Prime Program.

Services for Non-Prime beneficiaries are provided on a space-available-basis. There are six branch clinics located throughout the base that support our mission.

Truckload sale, a smashing success

The first ever truckload sale held in the housing area by any commissary was great! We had a few problems in the beginning, but we anticipated that. We knew that the first one would be a learning experience for all of us and the ones we hold in the future will just get better and better as we refine the process.

The only grumbling we heard was that we got off to a late start. We know what caused everything to get backed up and we are already making changes to try and avoid those problems at the next sale.

The rest of the comments were wonderful. The customers that shopped at our first mini truckload sale thought that this was a fantastic idea and couldn't wait to find out about the next one. Several people asked why we didn't bring shopping carts with us, but when we explained the logistical problems associated with trying to haul the carts (and not wanting to scour the housing area looking for the "strays") they understood.

Only the customers in the morning knew about the sale in advance. In spite of all our advertising, the customers that came after the first group all found out about the sale when they came to pay their cable TV bill and saw the activity in the parking lot.

Every customer that came to the sale was astounded at the great deals we had. (We had nine items available) We also had a few customers who said they found out about the sale when they saw the little kids wagons loaded with product being pulled past their house.

Advertising was already done by LCTV-10 (Commanders Channel), Time Warner Cable TV 10, flyers at the commissary, laundry, 7 Day Store, veterinary clinic, WIC office, community centers, and Welcome Aboard briefings, article was in THE GLOBE last Thursday, and a mass e-mail was sent out for the last three weeks in a row. Community centers both advertised on their billboards for us.

I asked some customers what else I should have done to advertise the sale that would have ensured they found out about it.

The answers were always to stuff flyers in their mailboxes. I'm not sure I can do that, but check all the above locations for advertising for the next sale in June in Midway Park.

Both registers were busy all day long and we had all we could handle customer wise.

Some customers came back several times and took all they could carry each trip. Only a few customers early on in the day (the ones that already knew about the sale) brought the kids wagon along with them to carry the product in.

The rest of the patrons ended up making several trips back and forth through the parking lot to make their little piles of goodies next to the registers. (Want to bet there's more wagons at the next sale?)

I helped a few customers to their cars that had the baby stroller so loaded down it was falling off. I unloaded the strollers' real fast when I realized there was a baby under all that stuff!

I took a small informal survey at this sale to find out what you would like offered at the next sale. The majority of you asked for baby items, laundry products, paper products, and canned goods. I have sent all of the requests to our sales representatives to see if they can get us a good price on these items. I'll have to wait and see what they can offer me before I decide what I'll bring to the next sale.

I do have one real concern about any future sales in the housing area and that's the heat. If you are going to bring your children to the sale area, please don't leave them in the car. Even with the windows down, the heat inside the car can quickly reach a dangerous level.

Maybe you can make arrangements with your neighbor to take turns watching each other's children while you come to the sale and shop.

We should have enough products to last for the majority of the sale, so you don't have to get there first thing in the morning and stand in the long line. Wait a couple of hours and then come. You'll find that you have a much more enjoyable shopping experience.

Now I bet all of you are waiting anxiously to find out the date of the next sale, right?

Well, don't let me keep you in suspense. The next sale will be in Midway Park at the Links Building on June 18 from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. (I promise we'll try to start on time).

classrooms and playgrounds will be (made) for easy access to improve mobility for our special-needs children.

She added, "The intent of the staff is to move all existing clients to the new facility."

They are considering the best method of moving the children to the facility making the transition as smooth as possible.

"Some children at this young age will go through an adjustment period during and after the move. It would be ideal, when the time comes, to take short field trips to the facility prior to their first full day in a new and strange environment," said Teresa S. Sanders, from Jacksonville, who is an infant room team member, at ITCDC.

"As with all military child-care facilities, the new center will be accredited with the National Association of Education for Young Children. We must meet all the standards set forth by the national agency to provide the best care for the children," Talley said.

According to Talley, the accreditation is voluntary and not all the facilities in Onslow County have providers in the area and it is important to use local resources to find out about a center before place your child in their care.

"We encourage all military families to come and talk to us before seeking child care. It is important to educate and inform parents about care and everything that goes on base before they make a final decision," she added.

"Just take everything day-by-day," he said. "Whether it's in your work or in dealing with other people."

Schwarzenbach's personal awards include the Meritorious Service Medal with gold star in lieu of second award, the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal with two gold stars in lieu of second and third awards and the Navy and Marine Corps

Achievement Medal.

Gante, who hails from Minneapolis, Minn., is scheduled to receive the sword of office from Schwarzenbach. Gante enlisted into the Marine Corps Reserve in 1963, serving with 26th Rifle Company, 4th Marine Division.

Following augmentation to active duty in February 1975, Gante completed a successful tour on recruiting duty before becoming the detachment first sergeant of Marine Security Forces aboard the USS Forrestal. He most recently served as the sergeant major of the Marine Division.

Gante's personal awards include the Meritorious Service Medal, the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal with two gold stars, the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal and the Combat Action Ribbon.

MCCSSS from 1B

"There is a two week transition for each school. The last school is scheduled to hand over responsibility to the new battalion on June 20," said Maj. Scott M. Griffith, special projects officer, MCCSSS, from Stevens Point, Wis. "The first school has already started transitioning."

"We've been holding a reorganization meeting every week for awhile with all the schools to ensure the transition goes smooth," said Maj Craig E. Stephens, Headquarters and Service Bn., commanding officer.

"Once the reorganization is complete, each class commander will be assigned to about fifty students. This will allow the class commanders to pay personal attention to our young Marines and serve in the all important roles of teachers and mentors," he explained.

"The new organization will give the instructors more time to focus on their lesson plans and to assist students who need extra help. They will also have more time to communicate with the operating and reserve forces to obtain feedback on the curriculum and determine if the schools are satisfying their needs. Additionally, they will have time to work with our Instructional Development Center to prepare lesson plans that support new and innovative ideas in training and education."

Stein, a native of North Brunswick, N.J., added, "Instructors will focus on developing and implementing new training and education techniques that are as innovative as possible on lectures. They will also continue to take advantage of emerging technologies.

"Our schools are placing a great deal of emphasis on distance learning opportunities and interactive learning that minimizes the requirement for paper lectures," he said.

Stein explained that the reorganization allows MCCSSS headquarters staff to concentrate on providing the best-educated and trained Marines to the schools.

"They will be able to focus on the big picture and be directly involved in the day-to-day operations of the camp," he said.

The staff and instructors won't be the only ones to benefit from this change, according to Stephens.

"For students, it gives them one common chain of command that is uniform for all the students. It eliminates multiple policies by the schools and helps us to ensure their quality of life issues through a centralized command," Stephens, of Woodland, Wash., added.

Even though the command is official on May 10 a.m. behind the Camp Johnson Bachelor Officers Quarters. In case of inclement weather, it will be at the Camp Johnson Gym.

Marine Forces, Somalia, during Operation Restore Hope in 1992. He took command of the newly formed Reconnaissance Company, 1st Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif., from September 1993 until June 1995.

He graduated from the Naval War College, Newport, R.I., in June 1998 with a master's in National Security and Strategic Studies.

Ordered to 2d Division that year, Ezell was the Division Force Protection Officer until his assignment to 2d LAR. His personal decorations include the Navy Achievement Medal, the Navy Commendation Medal with gold star in lieu of second award, the Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Service Commendation Medal and the Defense Meritorious Service Medal.

Ray, of Los Angeles, joined the Marine Corps in June 27, 1977 after attending the University of Washington.

Ray was honored with the Navy Cross for his decisive actions during Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm. While serving with B Co., 3rd Light Armored Infantry Bn., he participated in the first combined arms offensive raid against Iraqi strong points and helped defend the 1st Division command post against Iraqi attack. February 25, 1991, Ray's company was requested to fall back to the 1st Marine Division Forward Command Post. Their mission was to provide security for the camp, located in southeastern Kuwait near the Burgan Oil Fields.

Awakened late at night by mortar fire hitting near the compound, Ray discovered a convoy of Iraqi armored vehicles moving toward the CP and called for close air support. Ray ordered his company to respond to the Iraqi threat. During the ensuing battle, the unit destroyed 50 Soviet-made Iraqi BMP armored vehicles with the assistance of close air support.

Prior to the Gulf War, Ray served as an enlisted artilleryman, earned the rank of sergeant, bore the commission in 1983 as a second lieutenant. As an officer, he commanded a dragons platoon command weapons company executive command and weapons company commander with 1st Battalion, 7th Marine Division. Most recently, Ray served as the assistant to the chief of staff, operations, 2d Division, Aug. 1, 2000.

His personal awards include the Navy Cross, the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Service Commendation Medal, the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal with two gold stars, the Joint Service Achievement Medal, the Humanitarian Service Medal and the Combat Action Ribbon.

Sailor of the Month

Petty Officer 3rd Class Michael P. T. Perez was named Naval Hospital Camp Lejeune's Sailor of the Month for April 2001. In February 1998, Perez joined the Navy seeking discipline and responsibility in his life. He selected the Navy over the other services because he wanted a medical education but wanted to be on the front lines at the same time. Currently assigned to the Radiology Department as an X-ray Technician.

The most important thing that Perez, who is from Belvidere, Ill., has learned while being in the Navy is that you can find good in every situation. He is very proud to be a part of, what he feels is, the greatest Navy in the world.

Cpl. Mike Vrabel
Marine Combat Correspondent

Navy Corpsmen from 2d Force Service Support Group, 2d Marine Division and 2d Marine Air Wing recently competed in the 6th annual Corpsman Cup competition at Camp Lejeune.

Nine teams of six corpsmen each tested their knowledge, skills, strength and endurance in ten scored events during the week-long competition.

2d FSSG's team "A" was victorious, earning 960 points, taking first place in seven of the ten events. The team consisted of Petty Officers 2nd Class Rubens H. Dacosta, Bobby Leidy, Stephen Bailey and Petty Officers 3rd Class Miguel A. Garcia and Ryan K. King.

"This was the best Corpsmen Cup yet," said II Marine Expeditionary Force Command Master Chief Petty Officer Joseph M. Manifold, from Dunkirk, Ind. "The competition was fierce."

Richard retires

Says passion key to success

From the statue of Lt. Gen. John A. Lejeune in the background to the jazzy rendition by the 2d Marine Division Band of "When the Saints Go Marching In," the send-off May 16 for Maj. Gen. Ronald Richard at Camp Lejeune had a Louisiana flare.

Under overcast skies at dusk, 27 general officers, military officials and Onslow County civilians assembled at the center of the traffic circle at Holcomb and McHugh Boulevards to bid farewell to Richard, the Lejeune commanding general since July 1999.

Richard is retiring from the Marine Corps after more than 33 years of service and two wars.

Guest speakers highlighted many of Richard's accomplishments in the past two years, including support to the operational forces, recognition as the top Marine Corps base in the world and the establishment of the Military Civilian Task Force on Emergency Response.

The last accomplishment — a union of military and civilian rescuers trained to respond during hurricanes or other times of disaster — drew the attention of Lt. Gen. Raymond P. Ayers Jr., commander of Marine Forces Atlantic. He said force would define a national standard in a very short time.

"This is what the Marine Corps is all about — family, and these visitors you see tonight are his extended Marine Corps family," Ayers said. "He is leaving active-duty, and the Marine Corps will never be the same for the rest of us."

The two old warriors hugged before Richard spoke. With a slight waiver of emotion, Richard talked about the symbols of his adulthood and of younger Marines climbing mountains or bounding through the desert.

"What ever happens for the rest of our lives, the eagle, globe and anchor will be etched on our soul," Richard said. "The happiest times have been watching young Marines doing something that I thought was impossible."

As he retires, his chief of staff, Col. Alfred J. Karle Jr. will assume command of Camp Lejeune until the last week of June, when Maj. Gen. David Mize will move from his position as commander of the Marine Forces Reserve in New Orleans, to assume command.

Mize attended Wednesday's ceremony and looked ahead to his time at Lejeune.

"It's kind of unusual getting to visit before you take command," Mize said. "There is still a lot to do in my old shop before packing up and moving to a new base."

In the meantime, Richard will begin a new career as chief executive officer of the Louisiana State University Tiger Athletic Foundation, returning to his alma mater 33 years after his August 1968 graduation.

Richard said he is looking forward to the new challenge.

"Every day I came to work, I had a passion for the Marine Corps, and I found that passion again," Richard said. "I'm like Don Quixote, because I need to charge my windmill."

As visitors swayed to the sounds of the 2d Marine Division Band, Richard paused to reflect upon his time of service and gave credit to those who kept the fires home burning.

"This is move number 27 for us," Richard said. "To my wife, Dee, you are the wind beneath my sails."

Cautionary drug tale 'blows' onto base

"Blow" (R) and "Crocodile Dundee in Los Angeles" (PG) are just two of the movies now playing on base.

"Blow," based on the book, "Blow: How a Small-Town Boy Made $100 Million with the Medellín Cocaine Cartel and Lost it All" by Bruce Porter, tells the story of real-life drug importer George Jung, who helped Colombian drug cartels establish the booming U.S. cocaine trade during the 1970s and is currently serving a 15-year prison sentence.

Jung worked for reputed drug kingpin Carlos Escobar and is accused of single-handedly importing cocaine into the U.S. Jung's rise and fall coincides with the switch from pot to cocaine as the drug of choice among the rich and famous.

"Blow" follows Jung from his childhood in Massachusetts to his journey to Southern California, where he starts selling pot on the beach and builds a biocoastal drug dealing empire. Johnny Depp ("Chocolat") portrays Jung, and Penelope Cruz ("All the Pretty Horses") plays his glamorous, gorgeous Colombian wife. The two have a daughter and live the filthy rich life.

Costarring are Ray Liotta as Jung's father, Rachel Griffith as his mother and Paul Rubens (formerly Pee-Wee Herman) as a hair dresser turned pot dealer.

Ted Demme ("Silence of the Lambs") directed this movie, which turns out to be a surprisingly enjoyable sequel with a good plot and many funny lines.

CROCODILE DUNDEE IN LOS ANGELES

Mick "Crocodile" Dundee is back! The highly successful "Crocodile Dundee," which Paul Hogan created and co-wrote and which earned him a Golden Globe award for Best Actor as well as an Oscar nomination for Best Screenplay, also made him a worldwide success with his irresistible comic performance.

"Crocodile Dundee II" brought him to New York. This time, in the third installment of the widely popular series, the unsuspecting adventurer is taken into the "wilds" of Southern California.

Hogan ("Almost an Angel," "Lightning Jack") reprises his role as Mick Dundee, an adventurer in the truest sense. An ace crocodile hunter who lives in the wilds of the Australian Outback, he has survived the dangers of New York City. However, his latest adventure may be the biggest test for him yet. Mick Dundee is traveling to that bizarre city, Los Angeles.

Hollywood. Beverly Hills. Swimming pools. Movie Stars. These are the perils that Hogan faces in "Crocodile Dundee in Los Angeles." He once again teams up with his partner Sue Charleton, played by Linda Kozlowski. Accompanying Mick and Sue this time is their young son, Mikey, played by Serge Cockburn.

Watch for cameo appearances by Heath Ledger rocks in an updated take on medieval life.

A KNIGHT'S TALE

If you can't wait 'til it hits base, "A Knight's Tale" (PG-13) is playing in Jacksonville.

"A Knight's Tale," inspired by "The Canterbury Tales," is the story of William, a young squire with a gift for jousting. After his master dies suddenly, the squire hits the road with his cohorts, Roland and Wat. On the journey, they stumble across an unknown writer, Chaucer. William, lacking a proper pedigree, convinces Chaucer to forge genealogy documents that will pass him off as a knight.

Heath Ledger ("The Patriot") stars as Thatcher and is accompanied by his two loyal fellow commoners, the sensible Roland played by Mark Addy ("The Full Monty") and the temperamental Wat, played Alan Tudyk.

Also in the film are Laura Fraser as Kate; Paul Bettany as Chaucer; and Rufus Sewell as the villain, Count Adhemar. Newcomer Shannyn Sossamon plays William's romantic interest, Jocelyn.

Writer and director Brian Helgeland ("Payback") combines a fairy tale with historical inaccuracies and medieval games with a 1980 pop music soundtrack, making "A Knight's Tale" extremely silly, but very innovative and creative.

Having a hard time deciding which movie to see? These movies are playing at Camp Lejeune and New River theaters this week:

"Josie & The Pussycats:" Rachel Leigh Cook, Tara Reid. Three smoldering musicians are discovered by a band manager and are instantly offered a contract by Mega Records. Before long, they have the number one hit in the country, but something's not right. It's all happening too fast, it's all happening too easy, and fame and fortune are not as much fun as they thought. Reprising their hard-earned even and clear their names. Rated PG-13 for language and sensuality.

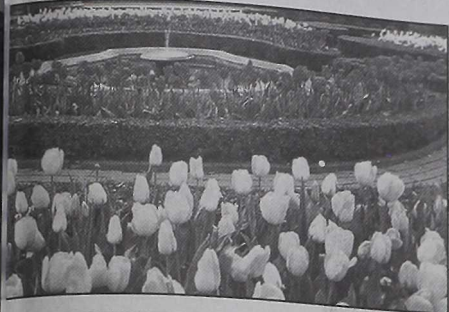

"The Brothers:" Bill Bellamy, D.L. Hughley. "The Brothers" are a group of friends banded together to weather love's innate terrors and occasional horrors. On their hilarious journey, they take on love, sex, friendship and two terrifying prospects — commitment and honesty. Rated R for strong sexual content and language.

"Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon:" Chow Yun-Fat, Michelle Yeoh. A martial artist decides to pass his sword on to a friend. Soon after, the sword is stolen by a masked female, setting in motion events that test the bonds of love, and sisterhood. Rated PG-13 for martial arts violence and some "Heartbreakers:" Sigourney Weaver, Jennifer Love Hewitt. A beautiful woman has problem finding and marrying wealthy and willing men. And she has no problem seducing the unsuspecting husbands. Mom catches the cheater and her husbands lose more than their shirts while mom and daughter, the next mark, just one step ahead of the law. Rated PG-13 for sex-related content and language.

North Carolina is a state for all seasons and many other lively attractions. Old Salem and many of the state's historic sites are in the heartland. Slightly off the beaten path, discover the soothing cadence of life in the rural heartland. It's a spiritual tonic for visitors on a mission to restore a sense of balance. Another facet of this fascinating region is found in the vibrant cities where shopping is a popular sport and antiquing has been raised to high art.

The Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill area is home to some of the most prestigious – and most beautiful – university campuses in the country. There, the finest minds are honed and some of the best college basketball is played.

The North Carolina Zoo in Asheboro has been called one of the best natural habitat facilities in the world. And, in nearby Seagrove, some of the world's best potters ply their craft, and have for more than 200 years.

Although most think that barbecue is a verb, in North Carolina it is a noun, to be eaten in large quantities along with hushpuppies. Great barbecue can be found all across the state, but Lexington is the Mecca for this regional delicacy.

Charming small heartland towns beseech you to stay, but it is time to begin exploring higher reaches. Perhaps the best place to start is on the scenic road that connects the mountain regions: the Blue Ridge Parkway.

From the northern mountains, the parkway winds its way past scenic state parks, including New River, Stone Mountain and Doughton. An engineering marvel, the Linn Cove Viaduct, takes you into the Linville Gorge Wilderness Area, which boasts some of North Carolina's most spectacular hiking trails.

Fishing, canoeing, whitewater rafting and camping are perfect ways to enjoy natural mountain wonders. So is an early summer visit to Roan Mountain, the world's largest natural gardens of crimson-purple rhododendron.

Spring and summer festivals give you an opportunity to listen to foot-tapping mountain music, sample some regional cuisine or see famous handmade crafts. And, of course, all of this is only the beginning.

Two of the most interesting homes in all of America – George Vanderbilt's 250-room Biltmore House and Carl Sandburg's Connemara – are here. Trout abound and more than 300 waterfalls have been counted in these mountains. Whitewater Falls – at 411 feet – is the highest waterfall on the East Coast. Ride on one of the mountain biking trails to discover your own private waterfall.

A feeling of deja vu may nag in these hills. It could be a memory of the awe-inspiring scenery that has been featured in movies like "The Last of the Mohicans" and "Dirty Dancing."

As you head out into the state, don't miss some of these additional popular attractions:

CAPE HATTERAS NATIONAL SEASHORE

This popular National Park preserves and protects 75 miles along North Carolina's Outer Banks and includes the Cape Hatteras Lighthouse as well as visitor's centers at Buxton, Bodie Island and Ocracoke. The Cape Hatteras Lighthouse is the tallest brick lighthouse in North America. In 1999, the lighthouse was relocated 2,900 feet to protect the landmark from erosion. It now stands 1,600 feet from the shore, equal to its original distance at the time it was built.

CHEROKEE INDIAN RESERVATION

Homeland of the Eastern Band of the Cherokee Indians, this reservation welcomes thousands of visitors each year. Popular attractions include Harrah's Cherokee Casino, Museum of the Cherokee, Oconaluftee Indian Village, the outdoor drama "Unto These Hills," Qualla Co-op, arts and crafts, shops and other family attractions.

WRIGHT BROTHERS NATIONAL MEMORIAL

Site of the first powered air flight by Wilbur and Orville Wright, the Wright Brothers National Memorial is located in Kill Devil Hills, on North Carolina's Outer Banks. The memorial boasts a museum, monuments, a reconstructed hangar and daily presentations on the Wright brothers' historic first flight.

SMOKY MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK

With 276,000 acres in North Carolina, the Great Smoky Mountains National Park is the largest protected land area east of the Rocky Mountains. A variety of plant/animal life, recreational opportunities, hiking and cultural history are here. And you may find mountain streams that dance over waterfalls as they flow into whitewater rivers in the Great Smokies.

NORTH CAROLINA MUSEUM OF LIFE AND SCIENCE

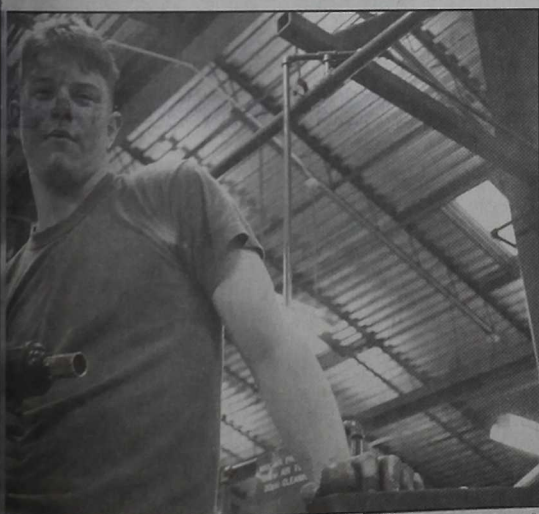

Located in Durham, the North Carolina Museum of Life and Science is a 78-acre, 50,000-square-foot regional, interactive science technology center that combines science with fun. The museum includes Aerospace, Carolina Wildlife, Scientific, Farmyard, Ellerbe Creek Railway, and new seasonal Butterfly House displays. The surrounding outdoor park features a popular train ride.

LOWES MOTOR SPEEDWAY

Located in Concord, North Carolina, the Lowes Motor Speedway is considered the Mecca of motor sports. In addition to hosting two NASCAR Winston Cup races and two NASCAR Busch Series races each year, this venue also hosts NASCAR's all-star event, The Winston Select. The Winston Cup Gift Shop offers guided tours of the speedway (including a lap around the 1.5-mile oval).

No matter where North Carolina's trails and roads take you, you will enjoy a wealth of experiences that will make your stay here unforgettable. You may leave North Carolina, but one thing's for sure, North Carolina will never leave you.

"It's a lot of fun," says the Jacksonville High 10th grader. "We go camping every month, and we go to summer camp. We go to the pool a lot. We have an aquatics day coming up where we go out to the base and we take sailboats and kayaks and all kinds of stuff out – that's a lot of fun. And next year, some of the older scouts are going up to Minnesota, and we're going to take a canoeing trip through Canada."

The local White Oak River District of BSA, which serves the youth of Onslow County, includes Tiger Cubs (first grade boys), Cub Scouts (second to fifth grade boys) and Boy Scouts (sixth to 12th grade boys), as well as Venturers, Explorers and Sea Scouts (young men and women age 14-20).

"You get a whole lot of new opportunities that you wouldn't have had you not been in Scouts."

For more information on Scouting, call the East Carolina Council at (252) 522-1521 or visit the BSA Web site at www.scouting.org.

Imagine being diagnosed with an incurable disease.

Kids like Jennifer deserve more to look forward to than daily injections and incurable disease. Although insulin can help, it is not the cure. In fact, diabetes kills one American every three minutes.

At last, there's hope. Research funded by the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation is closer than ever to a cure. But we can't do it alone.

Stephanie A. Servis competed in the Marine Corps Marathon four times before running in the recent Boston Marathon.

Servis takes on Boston Marathon

Sgt Bobbie J. Bryant
Marine Combat Correspondent

If fishing, hunting, biking or team sports aren't your cups-of-tea, try running a marathon.

That's exactly what Stephanie A. Servis, a Sergeant's Course instructor at the Staff Noncommissioned Officers Academy, School of Infantry, did recently when she competed in the Boston Marathon.

According to Servis, she ran the 26.2-mile course with an official run time of 3:36:54.

"It took me five minutes just to reach the starting point," said the staff sergeant from Flag Staff, Ariz. "They give you an electronic chip to wear and as you pass certain points throughout the course your score is recorded. My chip time is 3:31:58."

"Heartbreak Hill was the most difficult part of the run, from the twenty to twenty-one mile mark. I was running next to a man who looked about seventy-years-old. I would look over at him and think 'How can I quit?'" she said.

Servis qualified for the marathon when she ran her fourth Marine Corps Marathon last October with a time of 3:29.

"I trained for the first and the last one, and those were my worst two times so I didn't train for the Boston," she said. "I didn't run more than five miles between marathons."

"I know all the right things to do to train, but I wanted to have fun and not feel stressed out about it. I run because I like that challenge and it feels good, but I don't go out there for the trophies."

Though the challenge is her reason for running, the sport itself 'runs' in her family. "My father ran all the time when I was growing up. He ran the Boston Marathon in 1983. That's one of the main reasons why I wanted to run it," Servis said.

"As a child I always excelled in running and ran faster than the males. In junior high, I ran on the track and field team in the long distance and cross-country divisions."

As an adult, competing with men in the Marine Corps has enhanced her abilities as a runner and helped her excel in her career.

"When I went to Drill Instructor's School in 1993, I ran a 300 PFT (physical fitness test) and my score has been consecutive since," she stated. "My goal is to retire and still maintain a 300 PFT."

In the meantime, Servis is preparing for her next challenge. "I am training to compete in my first triathlon this June. I think it makes you a well-rounded athlete," she said.

Servis believes she will find competing in a triathlon is more challenging than running a marathon. "After riding a bike for twenty miles and you try to run, your legs feel like rubber and are very heavy," she said.

"Your muscles have to adjust during the transition from one event to another. I am very strong mentally, no matter how much pain I am in."

Although Servis doesn't plan on running another marathon, her family may not be finished competing in the Boston Marathon just yet.

"My three-year-old son (Hayden) has already run a mile and he is always the first baby across the finish line when my husband (Kevin) and I run races with the baby jogger," she said.

Lejeune star jumps to Kangaroos

Maj. Todd W. Lyman
Deputy Director, Public Affairs

All roads lead to Texas for Devilpups' three-year starting varsity quarterback, John Anness.

The high school senior has received grant-in-aid to play for Austin College next year, which is similar to a scholarship for a Division I school.

Grants are based on need, athletic and academic achievement and Anness' expenses will be nearly fully paid by the grant. His academic accomplishments parallel his on-field proficiency.

The honor-roll student maintained a 3.34 grade point average and currently plans to study business at the four-year, coeducational, liberal arts college.

Austin College, with a total enrollment of approximately 1,200 students, is affiliated with the American Southwest Conference. The conference, made up of 16 institutions, is divided into two eight-team divisions.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association Division III Kangaroos were 7-3 last year, and Anness is modestly confident he can play at the next level.

He visited six or seven schools in Texas, his father's home state, before choosing Austin.

"The coaches, the whole school, all were very impressive. The individual attention was unbelievable. We weren't herded around like some schools," the Lejeune standout related. "The offensive coordinator calls me every other week just to check on me."

Anness is not the only Lejeune link to Austin College. Col. James W. Davis, II Marine Expeditionary Force chief of staff, has two brothers who attended the Sherman, Texas school.

"Col. Davis mentioned Austin to me when he heard we were discussing Texas colleges," John's father, Maj. John Anness, explained. "Everything he said was true."

Picking a college wasn't the biggest challenge in young Anness' high school career. In his sophomore year he had to overcome a severe knee injury that almost ended his playing days.

"He tore his anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee and they took part of his hamstring to reconstruct the ligament," his father said.

In four and a half months Anness was healed, about six months ahead of schedule. Despite the injury, Anness rebounded to pass for 770 yards and six touchdowns his junior year and tallied eight touchdowns as a senior.

Does the risk of injury worry his parents? "Mom is like all moms, she's a little worried but supports me. She and Dad watch all my games," he said.

The senior Anness watches the games from pretty good seats; he's been an assistant coach at Lejeune High School for two years. He performs his coaching duties when he's not fulfilling his responsibilities as the ammunition officer for II MEF.

Lejeune head football coach Tom Childs has nothing but praise for both members of the Anness family. "John's dad helped the whole team and did wonders. He volunteered his time for the love of the sport and all the athletes. He was a joy to work with. And John is a hard-working kid. He played above himself with a strong work ethic. He has lots of heart, was a captain and a good leader."

Childs should recognize talent. He's been at Lejeune High School since 1972.

The junior Anness, who also plays basketball and baseball - his batting average was .415 and he ranked 6th in the area - has the dream of playing football professionally. And since it's a dream, why not for his favorite team, the Dallas Cowboys?

And a Kangaroo star moving to the pros is not unprecedented.

Austin College senior running back Aaron Kernek, from Sunset, Texas, has signed a free agent contract with the 2001 Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Ravens. Kernek will head to Maryland and the team's first mini camp this summer.

For now, the future Kangaroo will wait and work on his strength, and continue to throw the ball to his 14-year-old brother, Ryan, in their yard.

'Golden Greek' hits golden anniversary

Once a Marine, always a Marine

For Camp Lejeune, it's the golden anniversary of one of its strongest baseball teams.

What a team Lejeune boasted of in 1951, posting a 61-14 record in the regular season and a .309 team batting average, beating Camp Pendleton for the All-Marine title and winning the All-Navy championship.

The Lejeune team also went 4-2 at the National semi-pro tourney. The coach was Bill Shea, while the only high-profile player was outfielder Harry "The Golden Greek" Aggaris, who hit .362 and three years later was a first baseman for the Red Sox.

A quarterback for Boston University in 1949, '50-'51, he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. Aggaris also quarterbacked Lejeune to an 8-2-1 record, including an Electronics Bowl victory, in the 1950 football season, and a No. 3 national ranking among service teams. He was a No. 1 draft pick of the Cleveland Browns in 1952.

But he would die from a blood clot after a bout with viral pneumonia during the 1955 baseball season. Some 30,000 filed past the altar.

PLAYERS OF 1951 TEAM

Other players on the '51 baseball team: Lauritz Anderson, Bob Basal, Bob Bortz, Gerald Brezen, George Bullard, Bart Caldera, John Dempsey, Josh Dorsey, Al Drexler, Walt "Mouse" Hahall (South Carolina Cherry Point E1 team football), Jack Ingalls, Harry Landay, Dick Leiber, Doug McDowell, Bob Nankerville, Ken Payne, Rob Penner, Wiley Russell, Martin Sahlan, Francis Scastrand, Don Server, Emil Spillman and Charles Staley.

Scastrand, if not for his service in the war, might have reached the majors. He was All-Pony League with Wellsboro in 1949 and also performed for Lejeune in '52 and Quantico in '53. Penner is believed to be the only other '51 Lejeune player with minor-league experience.

The team was made up of regulars, those who milited and some like Aggaris who were called up with the Marine Reserve in 1950.

FANS CAN E-MAIL WILLIAMS

The Hall of Fame added a page to its Web site (baseballhall.org) so fans can send electronic get-well messages to the legendary Ted Williams. USA Today reported.

USA Today columnist Hal Bodley wrote that an arbitrator's decision saying Major League Baseball should retire only 9 of the 22 umpires who lost their jobs 2 years ago "makes no sense." "How can an impartial arbitrator determine that 9 merit reinstatement and the other 13 don't?" said Bodley.

Veteran American League umpire Richie Garcia "was one of the best in the business, yet he got shut out," Bodley said.

MAJOR LEAGUE MARINES

Garcia is a former Lejeune second baseman. Besides Aggaris, other Marine veterans who played major-league baseball included: Bob Addis (208 G, Boston Braves, Cubs, Pirates 1950-53), Chick Astry (120 G, Reds, Boston Braves 1907-'09; minor-league manager) (joined Corps at age 39) Dan Bankhead (9-5 record in 52 G, Brooklyn Dodgers 1947, '49-'50) (Montford Point 1943-44) (first black to pitch in majors, first to be in a World Series, also honored in first at-bat; minor-league manager) Hank Bauer (1,544 G, Yankees 1948-59, K.C. Athletics 1960-61; nine World Series, major-league manager, Minor League Manager of Year 1972) (2 Bronze Stars), Jim Bevin (2-9 record, Phils 1935; minor-league manager), John Carden (0-0 record, N.Y. Giants 1946) (Quantico 1944-46) (Arkansas A&M football 1943), Frank Carwell (16 G, Tigers 1953; minor-league manager) (Rice/pro basketball) (Camp Lejeune 1945), Ted Cieslak (85 G, Phils 1944) (Indian Head 1945), Jerry Coleman (723 G, Yankees 1949-57; recalled for Korea; six World Series, major-league manager) (legendary broadcaster).

LERNER GOOD TO GO AFTER SURGERY

Browns owner Al Lerner met with coaches and players at the team's practice facility Friday, just a few days after having brain surgery. While in the passenger seat of a car as he was preparing to leave, the 68-year-old billionaire and Marine veteran made a few brief comments, but did not discuss his hospital stay, The Associated Press reported.

"I feel great," Lerner said. "I feel terrific. There's absolutely nothing wrong. Part of the problem of the ownership position of a football team is that everything gets blown out of proportion. I'm here because I belong here. This is where I count."

Lerner had the operation May 14, a day after being admitted to the Cleveland Clinic with flu-like symptoms. He reportedly had a tumor removed. He had been unable to attend the commencement ceremony at Cleveland State University, where he was to receive an honorary degree.

Lerner also is the chairman of MBNA Corp., the largest independent bank-based credit card lender in the United States. His net worth has been estimated at nearly $5 billion.

WOMEN'S FOOTBALL LEAGUE

The thousands of fans that fill the stands for Pensacola Power games have helped earn the Northwest Florida city the National Women's Football League's version of the super bowl on July 14, the league announced.

"After looking at what (the Power) has done, we realize that we probably couldn't duplicate that in Nashville," NWFL owner Catherine Masters said. "It's to everyone's benefit to play in a place with a proven track record and with proven fan support," the Pensacola News Journal reported.

Among the Power players is defensive back Tracey Martin, who served as a Woman Marine. No. 34 by day is a juvenile counselor at the Escambia Bay Marine Institute.

The winner of the Southern Division and Northern Division will face off in the one-game playoff for the NWFL title. The Pensacola Power is fighting for a shot at the championship game with its 4-0 record. Pensacola has drawn more than 11,000 fans in two home games this season. The other seven teams in the league are averaging 1,500.

KALMER TAKES WIN #850

Bradley's 2001 season was highlighted by hitting with a dash of pitching thrown in. The Braves finished with a 17-37 overall record and were 8-22 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Coach Dewey Kalmer, a Marine veteran, recorded his 850th career victory with a 10-3 win over Illinois State. Kalmer, 55, completed his 22nd season at the helm of the Peoria, Ill., team. The dean of the Bradley coaching staff, Kalmer and the Braves have enjoyed success since his arrival in 1979. The fourth baseball coach since 1921, his 22 years rank third behind A.J. Robertson (28) and Leo Schrall (24) and his 643-539-3 (.543) record entering the season made him the winningest coach in any sport in school history. He also coached baseball (and basketball) 11 years at Quincy (Ill.), his alma mater.

More than 60 of his players signed contracts, with seven making it to the majors: Mike Grace (Philadelphia), Bryan (Tampa Bay) and Brian Shouse (Astros) spent time in the big leagues during the season, joining Kalmer's former Braves: Danne (St. Louis), Jim Lindeman (St. Louis), Kirby Puckett (Minnesota), Roger Smithberg (Oakland). Rekar posted 10 record for the Devil Rays in 2000.

Drafted by the Washington Senators after Kalmer spent three years in the organization, he was the last Triple-A level.

At Bradley, he also doubles as an Associate Athletic Director for Operations, a position he has held nine years.

PHILLIPS WAITS FOR RUL

Former Buffalo coach Wade Phillips to the NFL to force the Bills to resume a final year of his contract. With Bills owner Wilson also on hand, Phillips presented to NFL arbitrator Jay Meyer during a hearing in Buffalo closed to the public. Spokeswoman Leslie Hammond said the decision is binding, although there is no for him to release a ruling.

Phillips, 29-19 in his three years with the team, was under contract through the 2001 season he was fired in January.

After getting a regular paycheck in months following his dismissal, Phillips received a letter dated March 15 saying he would no longer pay him and had no insurance benefits.

He was scheduled to make a reported $1 million next season. Coaching contracts are guaranteed in the NFL.

The Bills argue that Phillips failed to his duties, thus breaking the terms of his contract. After an 8-8 season, Phillips was dismissed because of his refusal to fire assistant coach Jones, whose special teams ranked last in the league in four categories.

Phillips offered to reassign Jones and a new special teams coach.

His father, Marine Raider veteran Phillips, was a high-profile NFL coach.

MOTOR SPORTS

David Donohue and his Team Donohue Chevrolet qualified to start in the 14th place the Nazareth (Pa.) 200 but had to settle for 19th, completing 192 laps and collecting $100,000.
