Assumption of Responsibility Ceremony Welcomes USAG RIA Senior Enlisted Leader

Command Sgt. Maj. John Dobbins was officially welcomed to U.S. Army Garrison Rock Island Arsenal during an assumption of responsibility ceremony held in Heritage Hall, Building 60, on Rock Island Arsenal, on July 21. Dobbins assumed his duties as the senior enlisted advisor by receiving the command's colors from Col. Todd Allison, garrison commander, U.S. Army Garrison Rock Island Arsenal. The garrison colors are the garrison commander's symbol of authority and represent his responsibilities to the organization; the command sergeant major is the custodian of those colors and the senior enlisted soldier in the garrison command, as well as principal advisor to the garrison commander. “So the Army has chosen CSM Dobbins to assume the mantle of garrison command to take on this challenge to help lead this garrison and take this organization to new heights – and the Army continues to get it right and deliver excellent leadership,” said Allison. “CSM Dobbins is a combat tested and proven leader with multiple combat tours in Afghanistan and Iraq. He has led organizations at every level from squad to battalion. Additionally, he is a combat medic with advanced life savings skills – which means my battle buddy can literally save my life.” (More: www.army.mil/article/248714)

JMC Leaders Discuss Readiness and Modernization at Organic Industrial Base Summit

Providing munitions to warfighters across the globe is a team effort. To maintain its successful management of more than $59 billion of ammunition items for the U.S. armed forces, Joint Munitions Command and its subordinate arsenals, depots and ammo plants shared best practices with fellow leaders at the virtual AMC Commander's Organic Industrial Base summit July 7-8. Army Materiel Command, JMC's higher headquarters and the four-star command that delivers all equipment, ammunition and resources to American troops, hosted the quarterly event for OIB site commanders, life-cycle management commanders and other stakeholders to participate in a dynamic, proactive interchange to discuss both current and anticipated needs of service members. AMC senior leaders engaged directly with site commanders and emphasized the OIB sites' importance to Soldier readiness. “As we look at strategic readiness, what comes front and center is the Organic Industrial Base,” Gen. Ed Daly, AMC's commanding general and the U.S. Army's senior sustainer, said to the participants. “You are foundational and pivotal to that. I want to have this dialogue and discussion. How can we help you with OIB modernization efforts?” (More: www.army.mil/article/248705)

Veterans' Organizations Can Receive Free Ceremonial Ammunition

The U.S. Army Joint Munitions Command, headquartered at Rock Island Arsenal, provides blank ammunition and clips to American Legion posts, Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, Disabled American Veterans chapters, as well as other veterans' organizations, free of charge, to perform military funeral honors and to use at parades and other events. To order and receive the blank ammunition and/or clips, the veterans' organization must first have weapons issued through the ceremonial rifle program at the U.S. Army Tank-Automotive & Armaments Command in Warren, Michigan. Organizations that use privately-owned weapons or borrow weapons are not eligible to receive ammunition in this program. And only organization officers can request the blank ammunition and/or clips. The Joint Munitions Command is the Department of Defense's expert in ammunition. The blank ammunition is produced at JMC's Lake City Army Ammunition Plant in Independence, Missouri. The plant makes more than one billion rounds of small arms ammunition each year for the U.S. military, other government agencies, and NATO allies, including all types of 5.56 mm, 7.62 mm and .50-caliber ammunition. ## JMC: Supporting DEFENDER-Europe 21 from Behind the Scenes

As the participants in DEFENDER-Europe 21 return to their regular operations after the exercise, Joint Munitions Command is proud to have supported DEFENDER-Europe 21 through its mission of providing all conventional munitions for the U.S. Department of Defense. The command and its 17 subordinate depots, arsenals and ammo plants manage $59 billion of munitions and sustain America's fighting forces by getting ammunition to troops wherever and whenever needed. "We're proud to deliver munitions logistics to warfighters," said Brig. Gen. Gavin Gardner, JMC commander. "Strong ammunition sustainment is especially important for a defensive exercise like DEFENDER-Europe 21." JMC's involvement began well before DEFENDER-Europe 21's official March start date. JMC is responsible for all conventional munitions used by the Joint Force and regularly delivers materiel readiness to the forward tactical edge. Warfighter deployment response times are decreased by prepositioning munitions across the globe. (More: www.army.mil/article/248559)

Defense Appropriations Bill Secures Millions for 3D Printing

The House Appropriations Committee approved a $706 billion defense budget for the fiscal year 2022, which includes $31.5 million towards additive manufacturing (AM) initiatives in Ohio and at least $25 million for 3D printing projects at the Rock Island Arsenal's Joint Manufacturing and Technology Center (JMTC). For years, the U.S. military and its defense industrial base have incorporated AM technologies in research facilities nationwide, and the new bill approved on July 13, 2021 will ensure that several actions continue to be funded. The vice-chair of the House Appropriations Defense Subcommittee, Ohio Congressman Tim Ryan, said he managed to secure $100 million in federal funding for research and development capabilities that could benefit northeast Ohio businesses and universities. ## Army Addressing PCS-Related Issues as a Top Priority

The Army is addressing service members' PCS (permanent change of station) issues this summer with a newly created crisis action team, or CAT, that meets daily. Due to the coronavirus pandemic, military families are facing challenges created by national shortages of moving trucks and drivers. From April 1 through Sept. 30, a period Army leaders call the "summer surge," more than 54,000 people will move from one duty station to another. In response, leaders with the U.S. Army Materiel Command and its major subordinate command, U.S. Army Installation Management Command, have created a PCS Moves CAT. Similar action was taken two years ago when Army leaders tackled on-base housing problems. "People are the Army's number one priority, and the Army will do everything in its power to facilitate PCS moves for our families," said Lt. Gen. Doug Gabram, IMCOM commanding general. ## DOD Takes Phased Approach to Implementing Recommendations on Sexual Assault, Harassment

The Defense Department plans to move forward with all of the recommendations made by an independent review commission on sexual assault in the military. The commission's findings and 82 recommendations were made public earlier this month, and the department will move cautiously and deliberately in implementing each of them, the deputy defense secretary said. "I am taking a phased approach to developing comprehensive implementation plans across all of these recommendations," Kathleen H. Hicks said during testimony yesterday before the House Armed Services Committee. "Although we are on a fast timeline, our approach is methodical and deliberate." The Defense Department, Hicks reminded lawmakers, is the largest organization within the federal government, with nearly 2.9 million service members and civilians working at 4,800 sites in more than 160 countries. It'll be a challenge to implement the IRC's recommendations, she said. (More: www.defense.gov/Explore/News/Article/Article/2702095)

Korean War Armistice 68th Anniversary Wreath Laying Ceremony

The Korean War Veterans Association Quad Cities Chapter 168 will hold a ceremony to commemorate the 68th Anniversary of the Korean War Armistice and National Korean War Veterans Armistice Day on Tuesday, July 27, at 10 a.m., at the Memorial Walkway, at the Rock Island National Cemetery. The ceremony will include a wreath laying, rifle salute, and taps; the observance and ceremony is open to the public to attend. The keynote speaker will be Col. Todd J. Allison, garrison commander, U.S. Army Garrison Rock Island Arsenal. Allison took command on July 9, 2020, and together with the senior commander they led the Garrison and installation in the recovery to the global pandemic. His career deployments include serving in support of Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan in 2001-2002, and three deployments to Iraq totaling 35 months in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. Prior to the garrison, Allison commanded the 8th Special Troops Battalion at Fort Shafter, Hawaii. The Korean War, which began June 25, 1950, with the North Korean army's invasion of South Korea, officially ended July 27, 1953, a day now officially recognized as Armistice Day. The signing marked the end of the longest negotiated armistice in history: 158 meetings spread over two years and 17 days. About 5.7 million American service members served during the Korean War. More than 33,667 U.S. service members died in battle with another 3,249 dying of non-battle injuries, such as accidents and illness. Partnerships forged on the battlefield during the Korean War endure today as U.S. forces remain steadfast in their commitment to our Korean and Indo-Pacific allies to maintain a free and open Pacific region.

Happy Birthday to Army Community Service!

This July 25, ACS celebrates 56 years. We've come a long way since our beginnings in 1965, but our core mission of support has remained from the beginning. Let's take the opportunity to recognize our founder, Lt. Col. Emma Marie Baird, and the many others who have seen our programs grow and evolve in response to changing times and needs. ACS has over a half-century contributing to the Army's mission, keeping Soldiers, Families, and units ready and resilient in times of war and peace. Think of the varied ways we aid our military community, helping them through financial uncertainties, PCS moves, deployments, volunteer, and job opportunities. We accompany those who deserve some extra help, too, including Exceptional Family Members, wounded warriors, and survivors of fallen service members. I'm not overstating this: the Army couldn't do its mission as well as it does without ACS. We're still going strong, giving support to Soldiers, retirees, survivors, Civilians, and their Families across the globe every day. I want to thank the garrison staff who carry out our mission. With each interaction, you make the Army community better, and we appreciate you. – Clara L. Schuler, Division Chief, Army Community Service, IMCOM G9, Family and MWR

Rock Island Commissary Scheduled for CLICK2GO on July 27

Commissary CLICK2GO, the Defense Commissary Agency's new online ordering/curbside delivery service, is coming to the Rock Island Commissary tentatively on Tuesday, July 27, according to Penny Callison, the store director. "This service really speaks to the needs of our customers who can now plan, order and pay for their purchases on-line and then just drive to the store to get them without having to get out of their vehicle," said Callison. Here's a brief rundown of Commissary CLICK2GO's features:

- Easy-to-use navigation and search functions to help customers plan healthy meals and take care of their family's needs
- Enhanced product information

- Robust recipe features
- Featured sales and promotions
- Upgraded mobile-friendly experience
- No service fee (it was waived on all orders for a limited time starting June 28)

Information on how the service works is found on www.commissaries.com with dedicated sections such as “How CLICK2GO Works.” First-time customers will need to create an account. In step with grocery shopping trends, DeCA is working to bring on-line ordering, payment and pick-up options to all commissary-eligible patrons. In early June the agency announced plans to expand Commissary CLICK2GO to all 236 commissaries worldwide, and the rollout status can be found on the agency’s web site. “I encourage all our shoppers to access the CLICK2GO page on commissaries.com to learn more about it,” said Callison. Customers use a computer or mobile device to make their orders online where they select from commissary products offered based on the store’s stock assortment. After products are selected, the shopper selects a pickup time and pays for their order. At their appointed time they park in designated parking spaces where commissary workers bring their groceries. The Rock Island Commissary CLICK2GO will begin accepting internet orders on July 27.

Veterans Can Request a Correction to Military Records Through a Review Board

The Defense Department wants to make sure its veterans know they can apply to correct inaccuracies or injustices in their military records, including an upgrade in discharge, officials for the DOD's legal policy office said. "Veterans who believe they have suffered an inequity or injustice warranting a correction to their service record or who believe their discharge was unjust, erroneous or warrants an upgrade are encouraged to apply," said Christa Specht, director of the Office of Legal Policy. For example, veterans who received less than honorable discharges can file an application to request their military records be changed as long as they provide justifiable supplemental information for approval by their military department's Board for Correction of Military/Naval Records or Discharge Review Board.
