and Up For Democracy- se Your Right To Vote

this election year, when don't let its most important right be an afterthought. If the men who our democracy didn't for free what's the gimmick.

Yes, even though the rewards are plentiful, there is a gimmick—a few minutes of your time.

The final marking of the ballot will take only seconds, but it's the effort you put into your vote that counts.

Certain members of the disgruntled segment of our country will retort "What's the big deal about a free ballot?" We live in the USA and possess the option to vote or sustain from voting. Besides, it's too much trouble studying the party platforms and the candidates backgrounds."

Fortunately our forefathers weren't too busy or uninterested almost 200 years ago to establish our free voting privilege.
Nor were our grandfathers, fathers, uncles, sons and brothers too busy on the battlefields and beaches of Belleau Wood, Normandy, Guadalcanal, Korea and Vietnam to safeguard this inherited privilege.

But the disgruntled Americans are too busy to study the candidates and their platforms, too busy to read the newspapers, too busy to watch television and listen to the radios, too busy to go to the polls on election day, and pull a lever or two.

But there are, thank God, other Americans who are not too busy. Americans who care. The Marine, knee deep in mud in a Vietnamese field has time to dry his hands, dig into his pack and pull out his absentee ballot.

An aircraft mechanic takes a five minute break from checking a bullet-riddled plane to fill out his absentee ballot.

Freedom is a precious heritage purchased with the blood of countless Americans. Defend this sacred gift. Exercise your voting right.

MRS. WAYNE L. SAPP accepts the Bronze Star Award on behalf of her husband, Gunnery Sergeant Wayne L. Sapp who was killed in Vietnam recently. Making the presentation is Major General Joseph O. Butcher, commanding general, Marine Corps Base. Also attending the ceremony are the Sapp children (l-r) Wayne Jr., Kenneth, Gloria and Victoria.

Family Assistance Aids Troubled Housewives

Whether the problem be a young wife worrying about her husband sloughing through the rice paddies of Vietnam or an expectant mother unable to meet the rent, the Family Assistance Office will grapple with it.

Headed by Captain Sylvia Feeney, the Assistance Office staffs a Woman Marine on a full time administrative basis who interviews wives and assists them in solving their problems.

"Many of the cases processed at the Family Assistance Office involve those wives whose husbands are serving overseas," reports Captain Finney. "And often times a telephone call or a message will assist the wife with her troubles. At other times a referral service will be used," she continued. The Family Assistance Office refers clients to such specialists as the Chaplain, legal assistance, housing officer, Red Cross, or Navy Relief.

"Two large problems confront the Assistance Office, asserts Captain Finney, "the first is the lack of awareness on the part of the Marine of the agencies designed to solve their individual problems. The second is the failure on the part of deployed Marines to fill out necessary forms, such as the Registration blank, allotment blank, or ID card application in the case of newly married Marines.

Captain Finney gives this advice to forestall trouble. Deployed Marines should give their wives the same information that

Lejeune Schools Penalized By Excessive Absenteeism

"Parents, the Camp Lejeune Dependents' Schools need your HELP. You are really more important to the school system than some of you think. By your assistance in keeping your children in school, you are helping to maintain the high attendance standards the school system needs to help your children.

This past school year,
the school system lost approximately $50,000 because some parents permitted their children to be absent from school to babysit, to travel, just to stay at home, or to be out of school all day for a medical or dental appointment. Each student who is absent because of a contagious disease such as measles, influenza, colds, etc. is given an excused absence.

A death in the family is considered as an excused absence.
North Carolina law provides that children who are absent for other causes are counted as unexcused; the district loses $1.23 per day for each such unexcused absence.

Your HELP will eliminate excessive absenteeism. Make certain your children are in school unless they are ill. Dental and medical appointments should, if at all possible, be in the afternoon. When this is not possible, children should be taken to school as soon as the child has had his appointment.

The Camp Lejeune Dependents'
Schools need your help.

Another Way to Vote

This is a major election year and the emphasis throughout the country is to "get out the vote." This is as it should be, since casting a ballot for the political candidate of our choice is not only a primary right of every citizen, but a major responsibility as well.

There are other forms of votes — U. S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares. They really are votes — votes of confidence in our country and its future.

And, perhaps just as important, they are positive factors in assuring your own future.

True, as investments they don't have the potential of vast and rapid returns on your money — but how many of us have the "extra" money we could afford to lose in speculation and so-called "easy-money" investments?

As safe, secure and guaranteed investments, U.S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares can't be beat. You know that your money is invested in a going corporation that doesn't have to worry about going out of business. You also know that 4 1/2 per cent interest on Savings Bonds and the 5 per cent interest on Freedom Shares is guaranteed.

These votes of confidence in the future and security of our country deserve the same serious consideration as your vote in the Presidential Elections. When you study the U.S. Savings Bonds/Freedom Shares platform of security, there's little doubt it's a winning ticket.

Cast your vote of confidence in America through the allotment program and buy U.S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares. (AFPS)

Qualified Marines Eligible For Embassy Guard Duty

Unmarried Marines possessed of self-confidence, maturity and alertness may qualify for a two year tour of duty in a foreign country protecting classified material vital to the security of our Nation.

Selectees would serve under the auspices of the Marine Security Guard Program which assists the Department of State in fulfilling its security requirements at diplomatic missions abroad. Marines currently staff 100 diplomatic missions located in 78 foreign countries.

Each security guard detachment is under the administrative and operational control of a Staff Noncommissioned officer and is advised and assisted by the Department of State's Pose Security Officer.

While serving at the embassy the Marine security guard will be responsible for safe guarding classified material, enforcing security regulations and protecting American lives and property.

Embassy Marines will maintain their military proficiency during their tour of duty through basic military training classes.

Because most embassies look to the Marines to organize and lead the athletic program, prospective selectees must be in physically superior condition.

Those assigned to the program are required to sign a statement that they will complete a two year tour. Since many detachments will be the operation of Government, selectees assigned to the program must have good military driving record.

Marines interested in the benefits of a diplomatic assignment are urged to contact their Advisory for further information.

"Trust In The Lord"

The story is told of a seaman who was on a destroyer for the first time. A storm whipped up and forty-five degrees rolls were tossing things all over the place. Waves crashed up the life lines. Water swashed all over the deck. Shaking like a leaf, the terrified man spied the chaplain. "Chaplain," he asked "are we in great danger?" "Don't worry, son," the chaplain answered, "we're in the hands of God." "Oh, no," gulped the seaman, "is it as bad as all that?"

Many people today think along these same lines. God is a sort of emergency escape hatch to be used when we don't know where else to turn. Prayer is a neon-marked emergency exit marked "for crises only." The chaplain is a sort of medicine man for births, deaths, and major ills. But when the haze lifts and the weather clears and the sun comes out in our life and we're back to standard steaming, God again becomes as remote and as distant as before.

The God who was invoked in the face of danger and destruction fades in the glare of normalcy.

Now, don't mistake me please. I'm not saying that we shouldn't pray when we're in trouble or undergoing stress or facing certain danger. We most certainly should pray at such times. God himself gives the invitation and the assurance "Call upon me in the day of trouble. I will deliver thee and thou shalt glorify me." But mark this well. We must never restrict our calling upon God simply to these days of trouble.

The God we serve must be the Lord of all of our life. He's a God for sickness, but also for health. A God for emergencies, but also for our regular life. A God for the unusual and unexpected, but also for the routine and commonplace.

He can never be reserved for emergency use only. Our worship of Him and communion with Him must never sink to the level of the little girl who rushed home from her geography examination and after glancing at the map hurriedly prayed "Dear God, quick, make Boston the capital of Vermont." God may have smiled at the petition, but at latest reports He hasn't granted it. He couldn't. He's our Lord, not our servant. Such emergency petitioning is not true prayer.

We petition God as we would a loving Father with a complete realization of our humbleness and his omnipotent justice.

Social Security Aids Students

Some college students may receive financial help from social security, according to David Bryan, District Manager of the New Bern Social Security Office. Payments may be made up to age 22 to students who are entitled to benefits on the record of a retired, deceased, or disabled parent. The student must be unmarried and still in school, Mr. Bryan said.

Payments are not restricted to just college students, but may be made to full-time students in trade schools, business or high schools. Checks are payable for the between months of the summer and young man or woman may return to school in the fall. Mr. Bryan said that if a student has will not his monthly social security unless he makes over $1,000 a year.

Vietnam Story: Marines at War

Stories and Photos from III Marine Amphibious Force

Canine Scout Jumps With MP Leatherneck

DA NANG, Vietnam, August 29.—The deafening roar of a plane's engines, a leap into space, the pop of an opening parachute and a jolt as the ground rushes up to meet tensed feet.

It sounds like a normal parachute jump except there are six feet instead of two dangling beneath the chute.

One pair belong to Marine Sgt. Frank Spano, a scout dog handler with the 3rd Military Police Bn., a unit of Marine Force Logistic Command. The other four feet go with Lobo, his 75-pound scout dog.

Spano got the idea to try a jump with his dog when he went to Okinawa to attend jump school earlier this year. One of his instructors said it could be done and showed him how.

Returning to Vietnam, Spano started getting ready for the jump. He had a special harness made for Lobo and began training him.

Spano and Lobo have been together since the sergeant arrived in Vietnam last September. They have always worked with 3rd Force Reconnaissance Marines in northern I Corps.

Lobo is used on patrols to give Leathernecks an early silent warning of the enemy's presence. He was trained at the Army's Scout Dog school in Ft. Benning Ga. The 12-week course covered obedience, basic scouting techniques and advanced scouting and detection of mines and booby-traps.

Jump day began with an early morning workout for Lobo. According to Spano, "I wanted to make sure his muscles were loose when we made the jump."

At the airstrip, Lobo was harnessed in his jumping rig. A lot of care was taken to make sure the straps didn't bind or cut off circulation.

When they climbed aboard the plane, Lobo sat at his master's feet. As the plane made a few passes over the drop zone to test the wind, Spano made a last check of the harnesses and clipped Lobo to his own harness.

Spano omitted the "Geronimo" cry as he left the plane so Lobo wouldn't get excited.

"I talked to him on the way down to keep him calm, but I think he was less excited than I was," Spano said.

During their descent Spano lowered Lobo on a rope away from him so when they landed neither would get hurt. As Spano hit the ground, Lobo, who hit first because of the rope, raced to him with his tail going "a mile a minute."

As a final reward for a job well done, Lobo was awarded a set of gold jump wings by the commander of the Scout Dog platoon.

Cuban Tours Nam

DA NANG, Vietnam, August 24.—A Cuban citizen presently serving here as a Navy corpsman feels that he has had a closer look at the war than most servicemen. The reason—he spent his first six months as a corpsman with the 1st Reconnaissance Bn.

Hospitalman Second Class Humberto Jimenez, was born and raised in Havana. His family left Cuba in 1961 and settled in the Florida Keys.

There Jimenez finished high school and attended the University of Florida for three years prior to joining the Navy in March, 1966.

He arrived here last January and volunteered for duty with the 1st Reconnaissance Bn. "I wanted a first hand look at the war," he stated, "and I got it with Recon."

As senior corpsman for "A" Co., he participated in 18 long range patrols, carried out in enemy territory by a small recon team.

He also has numerous outpost watches and six combat operations to his credit. "Being Recon taught me some new skills," he said. "I learned how to call in artillery and a lot of other Marine Corps specialties." Jimenez experienced some close calls while working with the Recon Leathernecks.

"We were on a long range patrol," he recalls, "and were on a well-used trail leading up a hill. What we didn't know was that a North Vietnamese Army command post was on top of the hill."

His patrol walked right into an NVA sentry post. The point man was hit immediately and the rest of the patrol dived for cover. "Of course the call came back for a corpsman. I crawled up front to help the man, but he was already dead. An air observer overhead in a helicopter directed us to a clearing about 700 meters away to evacuate the casualties."

The terrain was so dense and rough, however, it took nearly five hours to reach the clearing. "The casualties were evacuated and our patrol continued," said Jimenez, "but that was too close to the enemy for our purposes."

The patrol then called Marine artillery in on the NVA outpost, getting several enemy kills. Working in an administrative job at the 1st Marine Division Surgeon's office, he admits every now and then he gets the old yearning to be back with Recon.

Jimenez plans to obtain his American citizenship next year, then return to the Florida Keys as a professional diver.

CATCHING the harness of his scout dog, Lobo, Sgt. Spano dials out of the plane for the long awaited jump.

"Rat Patrol" Strangles Enemy Supply Route

DA NANG, Vietnam, August 25.—Viet Cong units are gradually losing one of their main grips on the supply route southwest of Da Nang.

In the past several months VC have been hampering Marines by planting mines along the five mile road known to many Marines as explosion road."

Companies from the 3rd Bn., Twenty-seventh Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division have been patrolling the road during the night, and now, thanks to lack of other enemy resistance, Marines are being placed in day-time observation posts within sight of the road.

Jeeps act as motorized guards as the Leathernecks, nicknamed the "Rat Patrol," constantly drive back and forth along the five-mile stretch. Every morning a mine sweep team and security squad walk the five-mile trek, finding an average of three mines a week.

They walk they see constant reminders of past aggression. Mangled parts of an amphibious tractor, a two-and-a-half ton truck and scattered pieces of what used to be a jeep lie within a mile of each other along the roadway. While two Leathernecks concentrate on the electronic sounds coming from their mine detectors another Marine walks an even more dangerous road.

His job is to spot enemy movement to the front. In order to do his job well he walks over an uninspected roadway.

Pfc Tony A. Mares, 19, is an 81mm mortar crewman by night and walks point for the mine sweep team every third day.

Recently, his walk took him within inches of a 40-pound mine, which was later detected, disarmed and destroyed.

Grunt Patrol Scatters V.C.

DA NANG, Vietnam—It wasn't "high noon," but it was a showdown. A Viet Cong platoon vs. a Marine platoon. Both units caught in open rice paddies south of Cau-Viet.

"I had never seen the enemy in the open like that," stated 1st Lieut. Wayne T. Hasland, 24 (San Diego, Calif.) a platoon commander with "H" Co., 2nd Bn., First Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division. "We swept from a tree-line into the open, just as a VC platoon did the same, coming out of An-Trach village."

Both outfits were in a column formation, facing each other in the evening light.

The Marine force opened up first with M-60 machinegun and M-16 rifle fire. The VC returned with automatic weapons and M-79 grenade rounds.

Suddenly, fire came on the Marine platoons left flank from a near tree-line. "When my squad began taking rounds from our left, all we could do was assault their position," said Pfc Kenneth R. Watkins, 21 (Picayune, Miss.) a rifleman.

Artillery and 81mm mortar rounds were called in by the 1st Division Leathernecks during the three-hour firefight. When the enemy broke contact and fled, they left ten unmoving comrades behind, clad in farming clothes.

The Marines sustained only two minor casualties.

MARINES OF the 3rd Shore Party Detachment at Vandegrift Combat Base, 17 miles west of the Quang Trang Base, direct a heavy hauler Sea Stallion Marine helicopter over its external supply load while the hook-up is made.

CRAIG MARTIN puts the finishing touches on Snoopy's ear. He refinished the trash cans at Tarawa Terrace Community Center as a community project, part of the requirements for becoming an Eagle Scout. Craig, 14, is the son of Master Sergeant Ronald Martin of 1423 Inchon Street, Tarawa Terrace.

Snoopy Says

Happiness is a Clean Community

Scouting does have its rewards, not only to the scouts themselves, but to their communities as well.

Craig Martin, the 14 year old son of Master Sergeant Ronald Martin, wanted to earn the highest rank in the Boy Scout Clubs of America—he wanted to become an Eagle Scout.

As part of the requirements to make this rank he had to have 21 merit badges. The twenty-first he was to earn by planning, developing and carrying out a community project.

Craig went to his scout master, Mr. S. O. Lenhart, for suggestions. Mr. Lenhart referred him to Mrs. D.M. Tesh, director of Tarawa Terrace Community Center.

Mrs. Tesh told Craig that the trash cans in the Center were in "pretty bad condition." And this was where the story of the Snoopy Cans began.

Craig had made cartoon posters for the community center while working toward his Citizenship Badge. Snoopy, who was used on the posters, seemed ideal for this project.

For three days the flaming red haired Boy Scout worked on the ugly trash cans at Tarawa Terrace. The first day he worked on Snoopy, designing a portrait of the famed pup to appear on the trash cans, and wrote slogans.

The second day he spread old newspapers on the sidewalk of the Community Center and painted the cans with aluminum paint.

The old trash cans took on a different face the third day when Snoopy and the slogans went on.

The six trash cans are all the same shiny aluminum all of them have lit Snoopys on the bottom, of the cans have a slogan, reminding people that trash belongs in the trash can.

As a result, Craig was elected the Senior Patrol Leader of Troop 190 Friday night Court of Honor and he on his way in becoming Scout.

And, although they are ones that a few weeks ago, it appears that Tarawa Terrace Community Center has six brand new trash cans.

Craig, a freshman at Lejeune High School, has been a Boy Scout for almost three years. He spent his first two years in Japan, where he was stationed, Craig plans to go to college after graduation from high school.

Activities Calendar

PTA Meeting

The Camp Lejeune High School Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first meeting of the new school year at 1930 Monday.

There will be a short business meeting. Major General J. O. Butcher will be the guest speaker.

After the meeting, parents will have the opportunity to meet the faculty members.

Come one-come all, and let's make this the best Parent-Teacher Association in our school system.

For further information, contact MGySgt J. L. Valliere at 7-5301.

Dance Classes

Dance classes will be conducted for boys and girls, ages four and older, at Marston Pavilion beginning Monday.

The one-hour classes will meet once a week on either Monday or Wednesday afternoons.

Tap and ballet will be taught and modern jazz ballet classes will be made available to the more experienced pupils.

Registration should be made prior to the beginning of classes, but children will be enrolled continuously as new classes are formed.

For registration and further information, contact Linda Bush, instructor, at 347-1021.

An advance oil painting class will be conducted for members of the Officer Wives Club by Mr. Voorhes at Marston Pavilion, beginning September 23.

The times have been changed from Tuesday to Monday mornings from 0930 to 1130.

Those who haven't already enrolled may do so at the first session.

RESIDENTS OF MIDWAY PARK and surrounding community gather around September 6 to witness the grand opening of the new Midway Park Marine Corps Exchange, located adjacent to the theatre. Mrs. Joseph O. Butcher, wife of Commanding General, Marine Corps Base began the festivities by cutting the ribbon, dedicating the PX. Standing at Mrs. Butcher's right is Captain G.F. Hoffman.

From A Turning Globe

JANUARY 21, 1948—Just prior to the Christmas holidays the pupils of Camp Lejeune Schools contributed $120.45 for the purchase of CARE food packages to be sent to needy families in Europe. This was sufficient to purchase twelve packages.

The seventh grade senior class were the most generous contributors, each of raising $10, the price of a food package.

The twelve packages were sent to the following countries: Italy, 3 to France, and England.

Three of the packages sent to known individuals the remaining nine were sent to "War Widows With Children."

CARE—Co-operative for American Remittance to Europe is a non-profit, government approved organization sponsored by twenty-seven of the most standing welfare organizations in the United States. It was organized to easily arise in a placement of packages in foreign countries and to aid in speedily and prevention of loss of such packages.

Anyone interested in further information concerning this organization should read the article "CARE" in the December issue of Fortune.

Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory celebrated its 25th anniversary with an "open house" of their facilities. Conducting a tour through the laboratory is Miss Deborah Greene, who was a guide for the day. She is flanked on the left by Timothy, Robert, and Jonathan Titman, nephews of Gunnery Sergeant John G. Willys. On the right is Captain E.L. Readle, Marine Corps Air Facility, New River.

Absentee Voting... Evenly Counts

WASHINGTON Honor Medal is presented to Sergeant Stevens by BGen. Foster C. LaHue, Commanding General, Force Troops. The award, given to Sgt. Stevens for an essay he wrote in the Republic of Vietnam, is the highest given by the Foundation at Valley Forge. Sgt. Stevens, a communications sergeant with the 3rd Engineer Battalion, Force Troops, wrote an essay on why we are involved in Vietnam.

ible registered voters of your precinct who could make oath if required that you resided in your precinct at the time of you or your spouse's entry into the Military Service.

Registration Form

The parish Registrar, upon determining by contacting the two named registered voters that you are entitled to register, will send to you the registration blank. Fill out the blank, have it attested by an officer authorized to administer oaths. Note: On a blank sheet of paper sign your name. Return the registration form and sheet of paper containing your signature to the parish Registrar.

Registrar.
Time of Registration

To register to vote in the November general election, the completed forms and your signature on the blank sheet of paper must be returned to the Registrar of the parish so that your name may be entered in the parish voters list between the dates of 30 September and 4 October.

New Jersey

Absentee Registration Applicability

a. Persons in the military service and their spouses and dependents.

b. Patients in a veterans' hospital located in any place other than the place of their residences who have been in the military service in any war in which the United States has been engaged and have been discharged or released from such service.

c. Civilians attached to or serving with the Armed Forces of the United States without this State and their spouses and dependents when residing with or accompanying them.

Since "Military service voter" has been redefined to include a broader category, all included in the new definition are not required to register in order to vote. Note: Under these new provisions, spouses and dependents of military personnel are no longer required to register to vote by absentee ballot.

CITE BY USO--Major J.R. Weinlader (right), a reservist from St. Charles, Ill., and Staff Sergeant J.L. Piland, of the Marine Corps Base Reserve Liaison Unit, receive Letters of Appreciation from Major General Joseph O. Butcher, base commanding general, on behalf of the United Services Organization (USO). The two Marines were cited for their efforts in making a special pilot project entitled "Greater Emphasis on Reserves" a success. The program was designed to give reserves, here for two weeks of annual duty, a place to go for recreation.

IRS Tax Relief A Token Gesture

Many organizations give the military man a break, but when the tax man does, he gives the sleeves off his vest.

The Internal Revenue Service has reaffirmed its position that military men in uniform who buy round-trip tickets while on leave, pass or furlough for trips that cost less than 2.5 cents a mile need not pay excise tax on those fares.

Unfortunately, the tax man's generosity is only a token gesture. According to a spokesman for the Air Transport Association, there are no military fares which are less than 2.5 cents a mile.

Maybe, it's the thought that counts.

COMPUTER CORNER

By Bud Goode

The New York Mets are the potential pitching Kings of the National League. A one per cent improvement in any one of Computer Corner's four pitching factors, and the Mets will have the lowest ERA in the league.

Computer Corner poured the season's pitching statistics into our University Computing Corporation electronic evaluator to measure the pitchers' On Base Average percentage. Here are the results (8/20):

| NATIONAL LEAGUE | ON BASE AVERAGE % | AMERICAN LEAGUE | ON BASE AVERAGE % |
|-----------------|----------------------|-----------------|----------------------|
| NEW YORK | .226 | CLEVELAND | .202 |
| ST. LOUIS | .230 | BALTIMORE | .210 |
| SAN FRANCISCO | .234 | DETROIT | .219 |
| LOS ANGELES | .239 | OAKLAND | .225 |
| ATLANTA | .239 | MINNESOTA | .233 |
| HOUSTON | .246 | CHICAGO | .234 |
| PITTSBURGH | .247 | CALIFORNIA | .237 |
| PHILADELPHIA | .252 | NEW YORK | .244 |
| CINCINNATI | .254 | BOSTON | .246 |
| CHICAGO | .255 | WASHINGTON | .263 |
| Average | .242 | Average | .231 |

The Mets lead the league in On Base Average percentage, allowing only 22.6% of all opposing batters to reach first base; they lead the league in Strike Out percentage, fanning 17.6%; and they are tied for 2nd with St. Louis in the Clutch Pitching department, allowing only 24.3% of all base runners to score.

Only on the 4th pitching factor, control percentage, do they do worse than the league, walking 8.2% of all batters facing their pitchers vs. a 7.8% league average.

Meanwhile, back in Los Angeles, the Dodgers' pitching staff has been throwing it's collective arm out and, to all intents and purposes, they are tied with the New York Mets on ERA with 2.55 for the Mets and 2.56 for L.A. This week, with the Dodgers in the cellar, the question has been asked, "What's happened to L.A.?" The answer, bruited about in bar 'n grill, is, "The Dodgers have lost heart."

Computer Corner says the Dodgers haven't lost heart. At least, not the pitchers. They may have lost a finger-nail, or an arm. But they haven't lost heart. It takes great courage for a pitcher to go out on the field day in and day out, with the knowledge that his batters are going to score maybe two runs, maybe one, maybe none.

Pride and heart—it spells 'pitcher' for these two teams, the Dodgers and the Mets. Add a batter to either lineup and they immediately become a threat.

12-7 Victory

Pups Top Pamlico In Opener

Pessimistic Coach Tom McGhee said during pre-season that if his Pups could get by their first few opponents, a good season would probably be in store.

His Devilpups may well be on their way to another conference win if Friday night's 12-7 come-from-behind win over highly-regarded Pamlico is any indication.

Pamlico, rated in pre-season along with Swansboro as a strong contender for the state 2-A title, was supposedly to be one of the toughest opponents on the Pup schedule this fall.

McGhee's gladders, however, wasted little time in dispelling this pre-season myth.

After Pamlico had received the opening kickoff and had driven to the Pup nine-yard line, the Hurricanes were forced into a fourth and two situation. Bill Perkins then broke through to nail the opposing quarterback, Ben Hollowell, on the next play putting an end to the drive and preventing a possible touchdown that perhaps would have provided the winning margin.

Camp Lejeune took possession of the pigskin and marched to the Hurricane 16 yard line before being halted on downs.

Devilpup dismay was shortlived, however, as on the next play the Hurricanes fumbled and Bill Catlin pounced on it for Lejeune.

From that point the Marine Dependents moved to the eight yard line where halfback Dennis Goss penetrated the Pamlico defense for the final yards and the game's initial score.

As fate would have it, Pamlico wasn't to stay on the short end of the stick for long.

Moments later, after turning the ball over to Camp Lejeune, punter Gary Saul received an erratic snap from center and was forced to run, returning it to the 20 yard line. Six plays later, Harold Lloyd plunged across from the two and Grady Simpson booted the point after to put the Hurricanes in command at the half, 7-6.

The second half proved to be a different story. The Pamlico offense, which had amassed more than 100 rushing yards over the first two periods, was stopped cold in the second frame due to superlative defensive efforts on the parts of John Hardin, Buddy Head, John Kiser, Roger Caves and Perkins. So effective was the

Sergeant Art "Red" Redden moved one step closer to his dream of an Olympic Gold Medal as he won the Olympic Boxing Trial's Light Heavyweight crown Friday in Maumee, Ohio. Teammates Richard Royal (middleweight) and Pete Browner (featherweight) both gained alternate slots.

Redden moved into the semi-finals by gaining a unanimous decision over Formus White (Air Force), who he had previously beaten in the finals of the Interservice Championships. "Red" was the aggressor throughout the entire fight, repeatedly hitting White with combination punches and sharp jabs.

In the semi-finals, he met the Air Force's Robert "Sweet Pea" Peterson. The powerful Marine again gained a easy decision, as Peterson danced and moved in a futile attempt to avoid Redden's powerful right. For the most part, the only blows that Peterson was able to land were ineffectual counter punches.

Redden clashed with Leonard Hutchins, two time National Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Champion and this year's National Golden Gloves winner, in the finals. Hutchins had moved handily into the championship round, gaining a first round technical decision in the quarter-finals and a bye in the semi-finals.

In the first round, both fighters cautiously moved about the ring for position, with neither doing much damage. However, Redden took on the role of the aggressor in the final two rounds, attacking Hutchins with sharp right crosses and jabs. He covered up well during Hutchins' few offensive attempts, finally gaining a decision at the fights conclusion.

Richard Royal secured an alternate spot on the Olympic team, stopping Jerry Blueford in the quarter-finals, but losing a closely contested semi-final match to James Ross.

Royal's speed and height were too much for Blueford to overcome as he continually found himself up against the ropes.

In the semi-finals, the Army's James Ross, 1968 light middleweight Interservice Champion, gained the nod by two points in a spirited, aggressively tested match. Ross' punching spurt in the first seconds decided the fight.

Richard Royal

The final Marine to place the team was featherweight Browner. Browner earned quarter-final victory over

Pete Browner

National Golden Gloves Champion, Bennie Trillio, with his combination punches and speed in an inside battle.

He met Albert Robinson in semi-finals, but was unable to move inside his taller opponent. This, plus Robinson's ability to jab and move led to Browner's eventual loss.

These three Leathernecks now journey to Santa Fe, Mexico where they will train in preparation for the Mexico Games. During this training session, each alternate will have a rematch with the winner in respective weight class. Should the alternate win, the best of three matches will determine who will represent the United States in the Olympics.

Lejeune Archery

By 1stLt. John Bates

The Camp Lejeune Archers will sponsor a pre-hunting season "Animal Tournament" September 22, at 1300, at the Camp Lejeune Archery Range. This tournament will include 28 targets of full size animals in color, shot from the red or hunter stakes.

The Archery Range is located just behind the Drive-In Theater on Holcomb Boulevard.

This tournament is for anyone who is interested in archery and hunting with a bow and arrow. All you need is your hunting bow, arrows with field point in place of your broadheads, and an entry fee of $1.50. Light refreshments will be available at the range at a nominal fee.

Trophies will be awarded for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place in Free Style Men, Bare Bow Men, Women and Youth Divisions.

Four arrows will be shot at each target so make sure you bring enough arrows to shoot. In case you lose some, you will hold up the groups shooting behind you while you're searching for lost arrows.

The way I see it, if you're a bow hunter or are considering bow hunting, you just can't afford to miss this pre-season shoot. Spectators are welcome and will find this a very surprising sport.

There will be a meeting of all Archers and members of the Camp Lejeune Archery Club on Tuesday at 1930 in Building 1308.

MCES Dumps Hospital

Marine Corps Engineer (MCES) launched its 1968 Man Tackle Football season and style Tuesday evening verses Field, overpowering Naval Hospital 41-0.

Dean loose for a 60-yard touchdown from the opening kickoff and from that point on it was no longer a question of who was going to win but by how much. After trading possession of the ball several times, MCES tallied again midway through the second stanza as Ron Holmes' 19-yard end zone stint climaxed a 52-yard drive. Dean added the PAT.

The Engineers scored again moments later as Naval Hospital went for broke from their own 21 on a fourth and four situation and failed. From there it took the Engineers just two plays to score. This time Albert Gibson did the honors as he skirted left end for the TD.

MCES wasted little time in getting started in the second half. After kicking off and allowing the Hospitalmen to pick up one of their rare first downs, the Engineers picked off a stray Steve Young aerial. They sent Dean over from the one three plays later for a 28-0 advantage.

Following the ensuing kickoff, the Naval Hospital crew came up with their biggest gainer of the evening—21 yards—as Young connected with his right end who made a beautiful catch on a down and out pattern. All was in vain, however, as MCES took over on downs a few moments later.

From there the winners drove in for the six-pointer as Holmes tip-toed along the sidelines for the score.

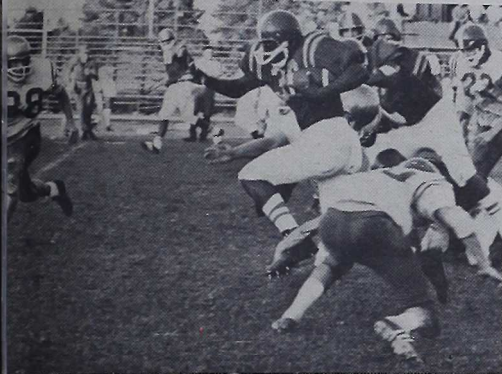

Dean, who had been a workhorse all evening, ended the scoring nine plays later on a 10 yard off tackle jaunt.

There will be a meeting tomorrow for girls between the ages of nine and 14, who are interested in cheerleading this season for the Boys' Football League. The meeting will be held at both the Marston Pavilion and the Tarawa Terrace Annex from 1000-1300. Registration forms may be picked up at the Base Special Services Office.

Lejeune Outdoors

by SSgt. Bill Adams

'Tis that time of the year again folks. We have tucked away one more summer, a long hot one, I might add. I spent my summer in the Caribbean with very little free time to fish and dive. So, I'm glad to be back now, for locally the hunting season has already begun for many of us.

Dove season opened the second and, even though it was extremely hot that day, our party had a fine time. We had been invited to spend opening day on the farm of some friends near Richlands. There we had a group of devoted hunters, two energetic young boys, two retrievers to chase the downed birds, and more dove in the air than a man could ask for.

The dogs didn't work too well in the heat, but the boys did a fine retrieving job. Hunting season had been officially christened and bonds of friendship have been formed.

For those of you who are new to Camp Lejeune and aren't familiar with its hunting season and regulations, I'll try to give a quick rundown of the facts.

Requirements are the same as at most any other base, with a complete knowledge of Base Regulations being of foremost importance.

1. State or County license which can be obtained at the PX is mandatory. (6 month residence waived for servicemen.)

2. A Base license must be obtained at the Game Protector's Office. (Bldg. No. 37).

Finally the base is divided into areas for control of personnel according to training commitments.

Unfortunately some Marines must train on Saturdays and the areas that they utilize will be closed to hunting those days. Mr. Charles Peterson, or one of his assistants at the Game Protector's Office, will have a list of all areas available. It is a requirement that each of us check out with his office before entering an area. This can be done the day before, or in the case of Sunday, two days before you intend to hunt.

So you don't know the areas well enough to know where to hunt? What better place to find out than where the Base Hunter's get together? The Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club, located on the Paradise Point Road, next to the tennis court.

This is "Our" Club, with membership open to any and all servicemen, dependents, and civil service employees. It's a rallying point for the sportsman, a place to get together and tell tall tales and make plans for hunting and fishing. An abundance of outdoor knowledge can be gained by being a member and participating in the meetings, discussions, hunts and activities of the club.

The club meets every other Thursday at 1930, with the next meeting being the 19th of Sept. Membership IS NOT a requirement to hunt the organized hunts on base or to attend the picnics, turkey shoots, and cookouts that the club frequently sponsors. Though it is helpful in finding an attentive ear for your ideas, likes or dislikes concerning hunting, fishing or conservation aboard the base.

Question for this meetings discussion: What is a "Boomer" squirrel as mentioned in the N.C. Game Regulations?

8 Marines Take 29 Of 80 Trophies In Virginia Outdoor Pistol Meet

NORFOLK, Va.—Eight Marines shooting in the 1968 Virginia State Outdoor Pistol Championship in Roanoke, Va., walked away with 29 of the near 80 trophies awarded.

Staff Sergeant Jose Enriquez a member of the 2nd Marine Division Rifle and Pistol Team from Camp Lejeune, took top honors as match winner, shooting a 2579 out of a possible 2700. SSgt. Enriquez aided his score by hitting 82 "X"s (center circle in "Bulls Eye").

The Marine team from Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic (FMF-lant) Headquarters at Norfolk, took the second place spot in the team match, while the 2d Marine Division team again lead the way.

The Division's shooters won with a 3319 and 99 "X"s out of a possible 3600, and the Norfolk Marines fired a 3199 with 65 "X"s.

Master Sergeant William R. Arrington of FMFLant took the prize for 1st Master in the 22 caliber slow fire class.

Other members of the 2d Division team are team captain

Gunnery Sergeant James M. Dietrich (Lancaster, Pa.), Staff Sergeant Billy T. Savell (Cart-hage, Miss.), and Staff Sergeant Arthur F. Becker (Minneapolis, Minn.).

BLT 1/6 Sees 'What's Happening' In San Juan

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO (delayed). . . Que Pasa is Spanish for "what's happening" and to the Marines from Battalion Landing Team, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines (BLT 1-6) San Juan, Puerto Rico where the expression is often used, is definitely "what's happening".

After completing one month of amphibious training exercises in the Caribbean area BLT 1-6 visited San Juan for 8 days of liberty.

The history of San Juan, capital of Puerto Rico, goes back 447 years. Founded in 1521 A.D. it is 44 years older than St. Augustine, the oldest city in the United States. The city was built and fortified by the Spanish because it was in the center of the trade route between Spain's American Empire and Europe.

Twice each year the Spanish galleons that carried most of the treasure of the Aztec empire in Mexico and the Inca empire in Peru to Spain, sailed into San Juan. The Spanish constructed two of the largest forts in the western hemisphere, Castillo de San Felipe del Morro and Fort San Cristobal to protect the city and its treasure ships.

The area within the walls of the two forts, known as Old San Juan, the area named Condado and Rio Piedras make up the modern city of San Juan, which has a population of 486,000 people.

However, the primary attraction for the Marines visiting the Condado section was the American tourists vacationing in San Juan. Often, even though they did not know the name of the street they were standing on, the Leathernecks were more than willing to act as guides for some of the American girls who were visiting the city.

Moving away from the bright lights of the Condado section, many of the Marines from BLT 1-6 rented cars or traveled by commercial bus to visit El Yunque, a 28,000-acre tropical rain forest about 25 miles east of San Juan.

The forest has a great amount of trees and plant life of a variety never seen in the United States. Ausubo, palm and giant tobonuco trees (some tobonuco trees grow to 120 feet) cover the entire area. The park has three mountains, waterfalls, numerous streams, giant tree ferns, air plants and many different types of flowers-orchids are very common there.

On the edge of the city of San Juan is El Comandante, an ultra-modern 7 million dollar track that offers year-round thoroughbred horse-racing of excellent quality.

Due to the ideal climate of the city, San Juan has facilities for almost all types of sports year round. Swimming, tennis, sailing, deep-sea fishing, skin diving, snorkeling, water skiing, surfing, horseback riding, golf and bowling facilities are always available in the San Juan area.

On Saturdays and Sundays there are bullfights and cockfights in the San Juan area throughout the summer season.

While the Marines from BLT

1-6 were in San Juan, the yearly handicrafts fair at Barranquitas (40 miles from San Juan) was held.

During the fair the various handicrafts of the island are on display in the village plaza. Woodcarvers, embroiderers, turtle-shell jewelers, hammock makers, hat weavers and lacemakers all bring their work to the fair for the visitor's amine.

Old San Juan, only a few blocks square is almost in the western hemisphere. Nearly surrounded by water set within its frame of massive city walls and two forts, it still retains an impressive ensemble of old Spanish houses with balconies, interior patios and archway buildings in the area have been restored and now house shops, restaurants, museums, art galleries and nightclubs.

Rio Piedras is the social, residential section of San Juan, and the University of Puerto Rico, a full accreditation with over 20,000 students is located there.

Condado is the area almost all of the large hotels in San Juan are located. Condado area caters primarily to the tastes of the large numbers of American tourists who visit Puerto Rico and is extremely popular with the Marines from BLT 1-6.

Although many Marines take advantage of the excellent and historical sights of San Juan, most of the Marines concentrated their activities in the Condado area. The swarming with hotels, sports restaurants, discotheques, nightclubs, and has many beaches on the seaward side.

The United Services Club (USC) chapter in San Juan sent free passes to the members of the USS Guadalcanal. These passes entitled members to free use of the club's pools, and some of the cover charge for the shows at the various hotels.

After eight days of liberty in San Juan all the Marines from BLT 1-6 could say about the city was "Que Pasa."

WHILE VISITING San Juan, Puerto Rico, for liberty, the Marines from Battalion Landing Team, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines (BLT 1-6) played host to the people of San Juan when they held an open house on board the USS Guadalcanal. The young man above is sitting in the cockpit of one of the CH-46 helicopters that Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-264 supports BLT 1-6

HER FIRST FLYING LESSON. . . The lady above received her first explanation on how helicopters are flown from one of the Marines of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 264, when she visited the USS Guadalcanal during the open house held on board.

SOMETHING NEW. . . Many of the people from the city came out to see the Marines and their equipment during the open house. The two young ladies above were talking to the Marines about the weapons carried by a Marine rifle squad.

CONDADO. . . The beaches and hotels in the Condado section of San Juan were one of the popular areas with the Marines of Battalion Landing Team, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines (BLT 1-6) when they visited that city for liberty.

MOVIE REVIEWS

A SWINGING SUMMER
 Five of the loveliest, bikini-clad girls ever to grace the screen add to the swinging gaiety of this lilted romantic musical. They're laughing, loving and living it up and you wouldn't want to miss the Righteous Brothers, Gary Lewis and the Playboys, Donnie Brooks and the Rip Chords as they provide the mood and music for the biggest beach party of the year.

QUIET MAN
 John Wayne makes his usual tremendous showing.

SWEET NOVEMBER
 Sparkling hilarity couples with the tenderness of compassion when a Quixotic Brooklyn girl adopts deserving men; each for a month to provide therapy that will get them back in physical condition. The attractive lass finds that running an apartment house for men and providing a conditioning program can have its drawbacks and its happy moments. Stars Sandy Dennis

HOMBRE
 A white man reared by Apaches is forced to a showdown when the stagecoach in which he is traveling gets ambushed by outlaws.

SAVAGE SEVEN
 Robert Walker is in fine form, but Peter Brown offers a better performance in THREE GUNS FROM TEXAS.

WAIT UNTIL DARK
 This suspense thriller is not as complicated as one would like to induce screams of terror, but it tends to strain credulity right from the start. There's murder in the main plot and it all seems to start from Greenwich Village. Audrey Hepburn stars as the blind doll-collector who is sought by dope smugglers.

FOLLOW ME BOYS
 A ready-made audience of Boy Scouts, past, present and future, will enjoy this Walt Disney production starring Fred MacMurray in a scout master's role.

WHO'S AFRAID OF VIRGINIA WOLF?

For adults who like the hard-hitting freshness of man and woman at their worst and finest, this movie will bring them to the full awareness of love, hate, gentleness and understanding. For those viewers who don't, they will still revel in the Frankness of which love exists and tender compassion prevails. Only Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor could bring to the screen such life and color despite the fact that the drama is in black and white.

BERSERK
 Suspense fills the screen again as Joan Crawford, still looking great, headlines a cast of characters all suspected of murder. It all happened in the circus arena and continues to be a guessing game until the final scene.

DEVIL'S ANGELS
 Stars John Cassavetes, Beverly Adams and Mimsey Farmer, in a speed enchanter that lacks a hero in the end. Though there is a lackluster cast, excitement is at a maximum.

ZULU
 Story based on an actual attack by thousands of Zulu warriors against a handful of British soldiers which won them 11 Victoria Crosses for valor in 1879. Stars Stanley Baker, Jack Hawkins, James Booth and Ulla Jacobsson.

SECRET AGENT SUPER DRAGON
 A spy drama starring Ray Danton.

KONA COAST
 Richard Boone and Joan Blondell star in an action packed drama that finds Boone playing the part of a tough skipper of a fishing boat who finds his daughter dead under the influence of drugs. Boone starts seeking out the culprits.

THEATER

GENUINE ORIGINAL FAMILY BAND

John Davidson and Walter Brennan star in a Walt Disney musical.

SHUTTERHAND
 A western starring Lex Barker. In color.

CARPETBAGGERS
 A ruthless young man builds his inheritance into an empire of industry and marries the daughter of a man he ruined. The young stepmother he sent away returns and marries his close friend but is killed in an accident. Stars George Papad, Robert Cummings, Allan Ladd and Carrol Baker.

Security Duty Assignments Available For Career Marines

There was a time when practically every Marine in the Corps belonged to a Marine Barracks or Security Detachment. Except for a small Headquarters Group, everyone was stationed at a seaport where they alternated between guard duty at a Naval Station and tours of Sea Duty, Marine Barracks and Marine Detachments. The only difference is in the organizational structure. A Barracks is a command within itself while a Detachment has its command located elsewhere.

In the old days when there was a rumble that threatened the National interest the number of Marines needed to restore peace were simply snatched up from the different stations and hastily organized into small combat units and dispatched to the trouble spots.

After the Spanish-American War the Corps realized that it was difficult for a Battalion, or Regiment, of strangers to fight efficiently, so it set about establishing the well known and familiar Fleet Marine Force of today. The Barracks and Security Detachments were retained however, and through the years have expanded from the few spotted around the American coastline to the more than 70 in existence throughout the world today.

By definition a "Marine Barracks" or "Security Detachment" is a group of Marines assigned to an installation, or ship, to protect government property and/or interests. The size of a detachment may vary from six to over 200 depending upon the size of the area involved.

These detachments are quite demanding of the individual, requiring both long hours and an immaculate appearance, but they are also just as rewarding.

Security detachments and Marine Barracks are located up and down the Eastern and Western Coasts of the United States, throughout the Caribbean in South America and in the Far East. Assignment to Security Duty is open to Corporals and below without consideration to their MOS in most cases. Sergeants and above are assigned by their monitors either as a normal Career Pattern or at the individual's request.

If you are tired of your present situation and feel its time to move on to something new, contact your Career Advisor and inquire into the current Security Duty assignments available.

CAREER ADVISORY IS ONE OF YOUR BENEFITS—USE IT!!!

Posts Available

The following Marine Barracks are available to corporals and below in any MOS. To be eligible, an individual must have between 18 and 24 months remaining on his present enlistment, or extend for a period of up to two years. Those openings include: Brooklyn, N.Y.; Pearl Harbor, Oahu, Hawaii; Yorktown, Va.; Subic Bay, Philippines; Naval Command, Portsmouth, R.I.; Yokosuka, Japan; Hawthorne, Nevada; Morocco; Rota, Spain; Naval Station, San Francisco, Calif.
