More Than Sixty Attend

Civic Leaders View Force In Readiness

VT. ADMIRAL W. E. Ellis (left), chief of staff, Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic, Lieutenant General Richard G. Weede (center), commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic and Brigadier General E. B. Wheeler (right), commanding general, 2d Marine Division, walk together during a display during the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference held Wednesday.

More than 60 leading business and civic leaders from throughout the nation joined with Lieutenant General Richard G. Weede, commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Wednesday to witness the readiness and capabilities of the 2d Marine Division.

The civilians, from 23 states and two countries, were members of the 38th Department of Defense sponsored Joint Civilian Orientation Conference (JCOC).

The annual conference is part of a Department of Defense program which strives to promote better public understanding of our nation's defense posture.

While here the JCOC members began their day at Cherry Point, N.C. with a bus trip to Bogue Field, an airfield training site for the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing.

While at Bogue Field they saw demonstrations of the Short Airfield for Tactical Support (SATS). SATS utilizes launch and arresting gear to provide "instant airfields" under combat conditions. Skyraiders, Intruders, Phantoms and other jets were used to give the demonstrations.

Following the ride to Camp Lejeune after the demonstration the conferees ate at the Headquarters Battalion messhall while the 2d Marine Division Band provided dinner music.

Next on the agenda was the attack on a fortified position. While there the guests witnessed a platoon utilize air support, naval gunfire artillery, and tanks to overrun the position.

Prior to the tactical demonstration a rifle squad was introduced and the role each Marine plays in combat was explained.

Next in the day's events was a static display of a Marine Battalion Landing Team (BLT) and their equipment. Similar BLTs from the 2d Marine Division are continually on station in the Mediterranean and the Caribbean.

Concluding the days activities was an amphibious landing using elements of the 2d Marine division, Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing and U.S. Naval ships from Amphibious Squadron 10 staging a realistic show which demonstrated the Navy-Marine Corps team as a "force-in-readiness."

$1,000 Deficit

Rise In Absences At CL Schools

A rash of unexcused absences resulting in the loss of daily lessons is currently plaguing the Camp Lejeune Dependents' school system because some parents have permitted their children to stay out of school.

School officials said that every child who is absent because of contagious disease such as measles, influenza, colds etc., is an excused absence and the school district officials receive pay as if the pupil were in school, but the North Carolina law provides that children who are absent for other causes are counted as unexcused and the district loses $2.83 per day for each such absence.

At the end of March, the Lejeune school system showed a deficit of $35,000 because of absenteeism.

To avoid the financial and educational loss of excessive absenteeism, parents should make certain that their children are in school unless they are ill. Dental and medical appointments should, if at all possible, be in the afternoon. When this is impossible, children should be taken to school as soon as the child has had his appointment.

Did You Know?

...that May 9 through May 29, from 3 to 6 p.m., each week days, the stannous fluoride treatment for off-duty dependents will be administered at building 36. The same treatment will be available on Saturdays May 18 and 25 from 8 a.m. to noon.

National Convention

WASHINGTON — The Women Marines Association will hold its national convention at the Marines' Memorial Club in San Francisco July 25 - 27, according to WMA President Helen E. Moore of Indianapolis, Ind.

In making the announcement, President Moore said that one of the highlights of the convention will be a special ceremony for the first day of issue of a new postal card.

The five-cent card, authorized earlier this month by the Post Office Department, commemorates the Silver Anniversary of the Women Marines.

Bike Safety Week

All Camp Lejeune dependent children will be afforded the opportunity of having their bicycles inspected and receiving bicycle safety instructions in the very near future.

BE ON THE LOOKOUT for Base Bulletin 5100 which will be published soon - each parent will receive a copy - also check schedules at your school.

All parents are urged to assist in emphasizing the importance of this program. We must protect our future motorists!

The following bike safety rules should be followed to prevent serious injury:

1. Obey all traffic regulations - signal lights, stop signs and one-way streets. Give proper hand signals for turns and stops.
2. Ride on the right side of the street or highway. Avoid congested roadways. Stay off sidewalks.
3. Ride in single file.
4. Bicycles should be equipped with horn or bell, adequate light on front and a red light or reflector on rear.
5. Watch for cars pulling out into traffic from a parked position, from driveways, and filling stations.

6. Ride at a safe distance from parked cars to avoid striking doors opened in your path.

7. Hitching a ride on another vehicle may result in a serious accident.

8. A bicycle is built for one. Carrying another rider throws the bicycle out of balance and makes steering difficult. When packages are to be carried, use basket or carrier. Be able to see and steer safely.

9. Slow down at all intersections. Give the right of way to cars and pedestrians, as a matter of safety for yourself and as a matter of courtesy and right to pedestrians.

10. A safe rider does not "stunt", "show-off", or race on streets or highways.

11. A safe rider keeps his bicycle in good mechanical condition. Steering, brakes, lights, tires, wheels, guards, bell, or horn, and proper lubrication.

12. Avoid riding at night unless your bike is well lighted. See and be seen.

A GOOD BICYCLE DESERVES A GOOD RIDER.

A GOOD RIDER HAS A SAFE BIKE.

Career Marine

You And Your Profession

A professional is defined as a person engaged in an occupation requiring a high degree of training and proficiency.

Usually, the term is applied to those engaged in law, medicine, or theology.

By the very definition of the word, we in the Marine Corps are in a calling requiring a high degree of training and proficiency.

The military profession requires specific technical knowledge, has identifiable doctrine, a career structure of its own and a place in society.

In the performance of his duties, the Marine often needs the dedication of a doctor, judgement of a lawyer and faith of a clergyman.

Every member of the Corps, whether serving for two or 30 years, is a professional in every sense of the word. He is a descendant of the Roman Legions that helped bring civilization to the world, the stalwarts of Valley Forge, and the embattled heroes of the Frozen Chosen.

The profession of arms, and the men who follow it, have shaped nations and changed the history of the world.

Those who follow that profession in today's troubled world hold not only the fate of our nation in their hands, but that of the free world as well.

As a doctor can help heal the sickness of man, you as a marine can help heal the sickness of nations.

Walk proudly, for you too are a member of an old and honored profession. Make no mistake about it; President Johnson said, "the American People that you represent are proud of you."

SSGT J. F. SCHAFER interviews a Camp Lejeune Marine at the PX.

What Makes A Family?

Some years ago a London paper asked for a definition of "home." Among the replies that were considered best were:

Home - "the place where we grumble the most and are treated the best."

Home - "the place where the small are great and the great are small."

Home - "the father's kingdom, the mother's world, and the children's paradise."

Some would agree these are good definitions. Others would not because their family experiences have not been as meaningful as God intended them to be.

Furthermore, those who have had the privilege of being a part of a Jewish or Christian home that sincerely practiced its faith would want to enlarge the concept of what "home" or "a family" is to be according to God's plan.

First, a family is to be a relationship in which parents so live and practice the plan of God that children accept God as the great reality of life.

Consequently, the Bible with the children by prayer taught them to pray early in life dedicated to God, and who went before saying: "This is the way in it."

Any family can be what it wants to be if religion is alive and at the center of life. Your chaplains stand to guide you, and I invite you to pray the following prayer for your family in your own words.

"O God, look graciously that we may understand and honor each other and together in faithfulness, patience, in wisdom and truth, that our home be a haven of blessing and of peace. Amen."

Laws Emphasizes Values Individual Rights, Duties

Annually celebrated on the first day of May, Law Day, U.S.A. is an educational-patriotic observance established by congress and by official proclamation of the President of the United States.

As responsible Americans, it is our duty not only to uphold the law, but to assist law enforcement agencies in performing their duties and to respect the rights of others.

The Joint Resolution adopted by the 87th Congress calls on Americans to rededicate themselves to "the ideals of equality and justice under law in their relations with each other as well as with other nations."

Law day encompasses a three-fold objective which is:

To foster a deeper respect for law by teaching how laws serve all citizens.

To encourage responsible citizenship by demonstrating that individual rights and freedoms involve individual obligations.

To emphasize the basic values of the rule of law in the United States as contrasted with the rule of force under Communism.

A Plan for Your Pay Raise

It's pretty common knowledge that all members of the Forces are due for a pay raise when the new fiscal year July 1. There have been a number of publications that have the proposed pay tables, so everyone has a pretty good idea of what a raise they should be getting.

What are you going to do with your extra money? Have you already spent it or are you just going to play it by ear every month and spend it as you go? Maybe you're planning to invest it in a money market fund. There are all kinds of investments - stocks, bonds, scrap metal, soybeans - and all of them have varying amounts of money in the past.

The big trouble with those investments, however, is that a pretty good-sized sum to get started. And it also should be that you can afford to lose - just in case you figure it out and make the wrong type investment at the wrong time.

There is another type of investment that takes very little money to start, it guarantees a return on your money, it's absolute and it helps the United States in the process.

Of course, we're talking about United States Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares.

With the 1968 Savings Bond Campaign already under way, everyone has the opportunity to get on the "Bond wagon" and use his money for his own future and for the future of the country as well.

An investment in Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares is more than just a safe investment for your money. It's an investment in the future that can mean a new home, a new car, a college education or a hundred-and-one other things for you and your family in the years ahead.

Vietnam Story: Marines at War

Stories and Photos from III Marine Amphibious Force

Bird Dog Aircraft Big Jet's Lifeline

small aircraft, with less than one-tenth of the speed and weight of a C-130, costing less than one-hundredth of the price, controls the flow of a $1-million dollar, sophisticated jets supporting Marine ground team operations in Vietnam.

The small Bird Dogs assigned to the 0-1 Detachment at Quang Tri air base have been mighty recently supporting Operation Scotland in the Khe Sanh area. The role of the light, unarmed, transport aircraft, with a top speed of a little more than 100 miles per hour, is simple, yet very interesting. In addition to constant surveillance of the areas of Marine ground forces, the Bird Dog crews locate and mark suspected enemy targets, control air strikes, control and adjust artillery fire, mortar fire, and naval gun fire.

When I talk with a Bird Dog pilot, there is more to controlling an air strike than locating the target and calling the attack aircraft. The 0-1 pilot must coordinate with the supported ground unit to ensure safety of friendly troops. In addition, he must provide a verbal description of the target and surrounding terrain to the attack pilot regarding direction of attack, position of friendly forces and enemy defenses to be exposed. Following the attack, he must observe battle damage.

Even pilots seldom envy the Bird Dog crews, because their task is difficult and usually without glamour. They constantly fly low and slow over enemy positions, exposing themselves to hostile fire for hours in search of targets.

Quang Tri Bird Dogs are a welcome sight to the Marines on the ground throughout northern I Corps, especially at Khe Sanh. When they appear, an air strike usually is not far behind.

On record days the Bird Dogs have controlled more than a hundred attack sorties as the small planes spell huge trouble for the enemy.

Grunt Nails Thirsty NVA

Marines taught a thirst North Vietnamese Army soldier that drinking stream water can be unhealthy.

PFC Rodney Allen Hunter of 1st Reconnaissance Battalion was walking point for an eight man patrol in a pass near Da Nang.

"We were observing the roads," Hunter said, "for Viet Cong that had been planting land mines."

Suddenly I walked up on the NVA kneeling in a stream to fill his canteen." The NVA was alone. When he reached for his weapon Hunter fired and hit the soldier's leg.

After Hunter fired, enemy soldiers downstream opened fire with automatic weapons.

The Recon team returned fire and killed the NVA beside the stream.

When the Marines radioed for support, artillery fire poured into the dense underbrush and the enemy broke contact.

"We could have been in real trouble," Hunter concluded, "if everybody hadn't done their job. We had formed a 360 degree defensive position, and when the enemy withdrew we continued our mission."

Marine Thwarts Grenade Throw

A North Vietnamese Army soldier learned during Operation Worth not to hesitate when using explosives.

Corporal Randall Wentz was serving with the security elements of H&S Co., 2d Battalion Seventh Marine Regiment during the recent search and destroy mission near Da Nang that accounted for 167 enemy dead.

"We were taking a rest," Wentz explained. We had humped some rugged terrain and everybody was beat."

As the Marines rested, a single NVA soldier moved silently through the brush beside the narrow jungle trail. Wentz, drinking from his canteen, spotted the enemy.

"I didn't understand at first," Wentz said. "He was walking in the brush looking for an officer or radioman."

"Probably he intended to throw a grenade and then run away before anyone knew what happened."

The enemy, only 20 yards away, started to pull the pin from his hand grenade.

"I jumped up and yelled for everybody to get down," Wentz explained, just as he was preparing to throw."

Startled, the NVA drew his arm back to throw the grenade at Wentz. The Marine fired quickly and hit him. The Chicom grenade exploded in the enemy soldier's hand.

"I'm just glad I didn't hesitate," Wentz concluded. "Otherwise I might have had that grenade thrown right into my lap."

"Lawman" Scores Direct Hit

Marines of D Company, 1st Ninth Marine Regiment havenicknamed LCpl. James B. Rankin, Law Man.

Rankin earned his title after he scored a direct hit on an NVA regular unit with a LAW (Light Anti-tank Weapon), during a recent patrol south of Khe Sanh.

Working as the point man for a 15-man patrol, Rankin was the first Marine to spot and draw fire from a well fortified NVA position.

"We had been moving through the brush about 20 minutes when I saw their position," Rankin said. "They were surrounded by barbed wire and were firing from well fortified and camouflaged spider holes. We advance on them firing our rifles and throwing grenades, he continued. Rankin managed to work his way into the NVA's barrier of barbed wire.

"I spotted one of them in a spider hole about 15 meters from me," he stated. "He was hidden pretty well, but I still managed to get a direct hit on him with the LAW."

The Marine patrol withdrew from the enemy positions and called for artillery to destroy it.

Marines unload "C" rations 12 miles south of DaNang. They were establishing a combat base for their battalion and uncovered numerous enemy supply routes during a large-scale operation.

1,500 Guests Look On

Navy-Marine

The Marine Corps Air-ground Team demonstrated its "Force in Readiness" last week to more than 1,500 guests who attended the semi-annual Special Purpose Exercise (SPEX) conducted here.

Brigadier General, E. B. Wheeler, commanding general, 2d Marine Division, was overall coordinator and local host during the three-day exercise. Also helping illustrate the Navy-Marine Corps Air-ground Team were units of Force Troops Atlantic, commanded by BrigGen. John E. Williams and the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing based at Cherry Point, N.C. under the command of MajGen. Hugh M. Elwood.

Dignitaries that viewed the SPEX was the Under Secretary of Navy for Financial Affairs, the Honorable Charles A. Bowsher and BrigGen. James Timothy, Assistant Commanding General, Infantry School Fort Benning, Ga.

The day's activities began with a demonstration of the Short Airfield for Tactical Support (SATS) at Bogue Field, located 26 miles south of Cherry Point, N.C. SATS utilizes launch and arresting gear similar to that used aboard aircraft carriers to provide "instant airfields" for support of combat operations ashore.

Following the demonstration visitors had an opportunity to get a "first hand" look at the resting equipment, ordnance Tactical Airfield Dispensing Systems and the Light Anti-Aircraft Missile Battalion (HAWK) attached to the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing.

Student bodies of four senior military colleges next witness a demonstration of a Marine rifle platoon in action against fortified positions within the rear of a Battalion Landing Team's (BLT) zone of activity.

In the afternoon the visitors viewed a BLT's equipment including tracked anti-tank weapons, artillery, tanks, amphibious tractors, motor transport, a medical and dental units of a Battalion Landing Team.

Climaxing the afternoon activities a surface and helicopter-borne amphibious assault was held on Onslow Beach to demonstrate the air-ground team show the "power" of the Navy-Marine Corps Amphibious Task Force.

The visiting military college members represented the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., the Naval War College, Newport, R.I., Canadian Forces School of Maritime Studies, St. John's, Nfld., and the College and students from the Amphibious Warfare School, Quantico, Va.

Tri State Tourney Over; 3 Holes In One At PP

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. — Mike Still fired a tournament low, two-under-par 70, to tie Russell Glover, and then went on to defeat him on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff in the Open Division of the 15th annual Tri-

Still, from Shaw Air Force Base, S. C., went into yesterday's action with a two-round total of 149, trailing Glover of Ft. Jackson, S. C., by one stroke. Glover fired a 71 on the final round.

Trailing Still in the tournament by two strokes going into the 17th hole, Glover forced the playoff with a birdie on the 18th hole, following Still's bogey on the 17th.

Glover bogeyed the par 3 play-off hole after his tee shot landed in a sand-trap. Still's tee shot fell ten feet short of the green, but he salvaged his par 3 for the victory.

Thomas Grady of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here won the Senior Division in similar fashion with a second-hole playoff victory over R. Leu of the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N.C.

Lejeune Outdoors

by S/Sgt. Dale R. Flickenger

The special spring gobbler turkey season came to a close Saturday. With 29 hunters in the field, the results were a bit exciting for 28 of these hunters, as only one turkey was killed. The lucky hunter was Lt. Col. R. L. Doering. His turkey was in at a light 10 pounds, had a wing span of 54 inches with no spurs on his legs and had a beard hanging from his breast to 8 inches long.

The most significant thing about the gobbler that was shot was leg band he carried around his leg. This bird was banded by Royce Lyons in 1964, the assistant Base Game Protector at Lejeune at that time. At that time, the Base was conducting turkey conservation project, trapping and banding wild turkeys then releasing them for conservation purposes.

Mr. Charles Peterson, the present game protector at Camp Lejeune, said that the turkey that was shot was about four years old when it was banded in 1964. The turkey was about eight years old when it was killed. Another amazing thing about this turkey was he was killed in the same area that he was trapped and banded.

Five other gobblers were sighted by hunters, and two hunters said their shot at the big bird. The total number of turkeys shot for the two Saturday hunts were three. Better luck next

Body Building

Emotional Tranquility Important

By LCpl. R. A. Tumminia

To have a healthy life you must maintain a tranquil mind. The mind and body work together, and are inseparable. Too much mental stress can kill you. Learning how to relax is important, so that all of your problems can be digested more easily. Do not let yourself get so overworked and tensed that you explode into a mountain of rage. Even though you do not realize what is happening, the effect is devastating upon the mind, and body. You cannot exercise and be under a nervous strain, and still expect to achieve "total health". Part of "total health" comes from being emotionally stable.

There is nothing in this world that is so drastic, and there are no words that are so harmful as to cause you to overflow with hate, disgust, and the desire for revenge. The truth is that you alone can not change the world, but can help yourself be better than the next person.

2 Perfect Games

"King And His Court" Play Here

all started on a date. Back in 1946, Eddie Feigner and his regular nine man softball team had just wopped a local Pendleton Oregon squad and the losers charged that

Eddie had been lucky. Aroused, Feigner said "I'll challenge you or any other club to a game and use only three other players, a catcher, shortstop and a first baseman." A week later Feigner picked three teammates and made good his challenge. He pitched a perfect game, striking out 19 batters and won the game 7-0.

In the 22 years since Pendleton, Ex-Marine Feigner and his fore-some have traveled over two million miles and played before more than four million fans, from coast to coast. During this time, the quartet has won nearly 3400 games (against only 320 losses). The King has struck out more than 63,000 batters and pitched 530 no hitters, 152 of them perfect games. His pitching record is unsurpassed in either softball or baseball, and at 42 the King has no immediate plans for retiring. He says, "The way I feel now, I could go on until I'm 50."

Feigner is not only a great pitcher, but also a great showman. He pitches blindfolded, through his legs, from his knees, off balance, and even from second base. He has 16 different legal windups, and throws the ball at five different speeds.

The King and his Court play under the rules incorporated in the Professional Fastball Association. Although generally the same as the baseball, there are some basic differences. Among them: The distance from the mound to home plate is 46 feet, while the bases are 60 feet apart. (In baseball the distance from the mound to the plate is 60 feet six inches, and each base is 90 feet apart). The pitcher and the batter are allowed three balls and three strikes, as opposed to four balls and three strikes under present rules. Finally, there is no balk rule, and no pitch is illegal.

The King and his Court will appear here on May 8 at the Harry Agganis Field. The festivities will get underway at 7:30 p.m. admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

M. CAPTAIN and top batsman, Al Jackson aids the "King" as he prepares to throw blindfolded from second base. Feigner strikes out 80 percent of the men he faces blindfolded.

Jacksonville - Lejeune Woman's Bowling Association Ninth Championship Tournament's supper was held as planned on 10th at the Western Steak House. Awards were presented to winners. The big pay off went to 1st place team, Lumpkin Furniture. The ladies representing Lumpkin Furniture were: Mott, Blumenthal, Wiggs, and Gribben.

At this week there are a couple of announcements to be made, desiring to bowl on a summer league starting May 9th. There are openings on Thursday a.m. How can you join up on this Thursday? Just call Virginia Warner at 353-1782, and your as good as in.

A scratch male singles league is now being formed. A meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m., May 9th., for all bowlers interested. Meeting will be at Bonnyman. Every male bowler with an average of 179 and below is invited.

How things went in the leagues this week, Annette Adams "Lorette" had a scratch game of 194. "Coffee and Tea" team came up with a 552 series and 221 game, both scratch.

"Tues Morn Women's" league Robbie Dunning had a 194 game. Dr. Baker picked off two splits; the 5-8-10, and 5-7, for the "Officers", F. Olson held up his end with a 604 series. R. Wiggs, as always came up with a nice game this was a 258 scratch. Three 202 scratch scores showed up in the "Officers", rolled by F. Olson, R. Shirley and J. Friel.

For a few words about a real champion, World's Champion Don Carter was the first man to roll three consecutive 1900 series in the ABC Tourney. He rolled these three series in 1951, 1952, and 1953.

He also is record holder for 64-game average in World's Series; that average is 220. He made this record in 1959. About this... Don Carter has rolled fourteen 300 games in open play). What can you say about Don Carter Except that...

Uniform rules were established for bowling by 1875, by various organizing bodies. 1895 saw the organization of the most important one, the American Bowling Congress. By the end of the century, national tournaments were held. They continue this day, drawing more participants than any other sports.

EDDIE Feigner shows the style that has earned him more than 3300 victories in the past 22 years, against only 320 losses.

Field Hospital Highly Advance

The life of a wounded Marine depends highly on the proximity of medical facilities and the type of facilities available.

In the field test of the capabilities of the Second Marine Division's facilities, the Second Medical Battalion set-up its field hospital last week at Camp Lejeune.

The battalion set up its operations in the field as part of the commanding general's inspection of the complete and self-sustaining unit.

Highly sophisticated, the unit includes two 30-bed wards, an operating room, intensive care ward, X-ray unit, supply tent, preventative maintenance tent and engineer section. All these specialized units were ringed with protective machinegun pits manned by the battalion personnel.

In the field setup, everyone is a specialist, from the surgeon in the operating room, the X-Ray technician in the lab to the truck driver in the motor pool. Each has his own mission and is trained to do it in the best possible manner.

During the one-day field exercise, the battalion created an air of realism by using life-like mannequins to simulate wounds and injuries.

The field hospital was in ed by Brigadier General Wheeler, Second Marine Division commanding general. Second Medical Battalion commanded by Commandant Slemmons, USN.

CORPSMEN administer emergency aid to a simulated casualty in "critical condition." This was one of the displays set at the field medical hospital of Second Medical Battalion last week.

23 Vietnam Vets Receive Citations Here

Twenty-three citations for service in Vietnam were signed this week by Major General J. O. Butcher, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, and forwarded to their respective units.

Seven of the awards, ranging from the Bronze Star Medal to the Purple Heart Medal, were presented to Marines of Headquarters and Service Battalion at an early morning ceremony Tuesday.

Sergeant Fred E. Woods, Service Company, received the Bronze Star with Combat "V" for his actions during a combined action program south of DaNang.

While protecting a hamlet, Sergeant Woods' unit was overrun by a company of Viet Cong. After silencing a nearby enemy-held bunker with a hand grenade, he organized the remaining Marines and directed artillery and small arms fire on the entrenched Viet Cong.

"His determination and spirit," according to his citation, "were instrumental in forcing the enemy to withdraw, leaving ten of their dead and weapons in the compound."

While leading a patrol, also near DaNang, Cpl. Roger J. Gilbert's men were attacked by a numerically superior enemy force.

Although painfully wounded in the head, he led his men in a determined counter-attack routing the North Vietnamese soldiers and forcing them to flee. Corporal Gilbert was awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" for his actions. He is with MP and Guard Company here.

Another MP and Guard Company Marine, PFC Charles D. Bowers earned his second Navy Commendation Medal for his actions in Vietnam. He was presented a certificate in lieu of the second award.

Other medals presented were the Navy Achievement Medal which went to SSgt. Ernest B. Dunham and GySgt. Harry P. May, also of MP and Guard Company. Purple Heart Medals were presented for wounds in connection with enemy engagements to Cpl. Michael L. Hawarah and LCpl. Kelly P. Edwards.

MR. WALTER R. COLLINS receives a Certificate of Appreciation from Major General J. O. Butcher for his outstanding efforts with base material. Mr. Collins retired after 30 years of devoted duty.
