

Division Sergeant, PFC Win Silver Star Medal

The nation's third highest award for heroism in combat, the Silver Star Medal, was awarded Sergeant Paul C. Lyons and

SERGEANT LYONS

Private First Class Glenn J. Blackburn, both of "G" Company, 2d Battalion, 2d Marines, Dec. 11.

While on a search and destroy operation north of Cam Lo, a small village in Quang Tri Province, "G" Company suddenly came under intense enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire. While Sgt. Lyons' platoon was moving to secure a hedgerow to provide security for the company, they came under intense automatic weapons fire from a fortified enemy bunker, which wounded two Marines.

"With complete disregard for his own safety, he courageously moved between the enemy bunker and his squad, delivering a heavy volume of fire on the Viet Cong position and suppressing their fire while his squad advanced," according to the citation.

When hostile fire resumed, Sgt. Lyons observed one of his fire teams temporarily pinned down. "Undaunted by the intense enemy automatic weapons fire, he gallantly advanced to within five feet of the Viet Cong bunker and threw in a white phosphorous grenade, allowing his fire team to successfully assault and destroy the enemy position," the citation continued.

PFC Blackburn's valor was recognized during his actions while serving as a rifleman with "D" Company, 1st Battalion, 3d Marines, 9th Marine Amphibious Brigade in the Republic of Vietnam.

When "D" Company was conducting a search and destroy mission during "Operation Beaver Cage," the 3d Platoon was pinned down by small arms and automatic weapons fire from a Viet Cong force. Two squads from Blackburn's platoon were momentarily halted.

Realizing the situation, he moved quickly through the area searching for enemy positions, and, while assaulting a Viet Cong machine gun position, received a serious shoulder wound. Pausing only for medical aid, he refused to be evacuated, but continued to engage the enemy with accurate rifle fire.

"Subsequently observing two wounded Marines lying in an open area, he unhesitatingly exposed himself to the heavy volume of hostile fire and, disregarding his painful injury, maneuvered across the fire-swept terrain to the side of the wounded men," the citation stated. While assisting one of the injured Marines to safety, Private Blackburn sustained a second wound from enemy fire and was unable to continue.

Stop Here - Free Coffee

The Nat'l Coffee Safety Stop program, sponsored by community improvement organizations and local military commands have been effectively used for several years to offset driver drowsiness and "highway hypnosis."

This year for the first time a National Coffee Safety Rest Stop Program will be sponsored by the National Coffee Association in cooperation with the National Restaurant Association.

Participating restaurants located on many of the nation's major highways, freeways, and turnpikes will display large octagonal signs (stop signs) displaying a large coffee mug, with the words, "Stop Here - Free Coffee - Safety Break."

The program will be held during the following time periods: Friday, December 22 at 5 p.m. to Tuesday, December 26 at 6 p.m. Friday, December 29 at 5 p.m. to Tuesday, January 2 at 6 p.m.

The rest of the responsibility is up to the driver so take a break - a free coffee break. Make this holiday season a cheerful one, prevent an accident.

8th Marines Learn About Latest Deterrent To Speed

Marines at Camp Lejeune recently learned about the latest deterrent to speeders in the Tar Heel State, thanks to the 8th Marines, 2d Marine Division.

The regiment presented the Marines with a two-part safety program that included a one-hour presentation at the camp theater held December 14 and a safety display.

The display, consisting of a jeep and three "mules" (a four-wheeled military vehicle) decorated with lights and containing cut-outs of Santa Claus and three of his reindeer, has the 8th Marines Christmas greetings and a plea for drivers to take care on the highways.

The presentation at the theater included a lecture by Trooper J.B. Axson, North Carolina State Highway Patrol, and one by Mr. Floyd Bass, Jr., commanding officer of the Jacksonville area Highway Patrol. In his talk, Trooper Axson described how VASCAR (visual average speed computer and recorder) worked. He went on to explain that the adoption of this revolutionary device by the Highway Patrol is expected to reduce considerably the number of speeding offenses in North Carolina. Mr. Bass spoke on what he feels is a peculiar gap in our moral fiber that permits us to continually violate the safe-driving rules of the road to the tune of 53,000 dead and 1,900,000 injured on the highways on North Carolina alone this past year.

The safety traffic film, "VASCAR" was also shown to the Marines.

The program was given in an attempt to cut down on the number of accidents on the east coast of North Carolina. Although the exact results of the program would be difficult to evaluate, statistics show a definite decrease in accidents since the program was started.

Four 1/6 Marines Receive Bronze Star For Viet Valor

Four Marines from the 1st Battalion, 6th Marines were awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" for heroic actions while serving in the Republic of Vietnam.

Corporal Israel R. Casarez received his decoration for assuming command of his squad when his squad leader fell wounded. He directed a heavy, accurate volume of fire on the enemy positions and even though wounded in the fire fight himself, continued to lead the men, repeatedly exposing himself to hostile fire. Cpl. Casarez was serving with "E" Company, 2d Battalion, 26th Marines, 3rd Marine Division during this period.

Next to be decorated for actions was Corporal Ramon Rosado-Izquierdo. Under heavy enemy fire Cpl. Rosado observed a wounded Marine lying in an exposed area.

Corporal Robert Gallo received his medal for moving his machine gun to an exposed position where he delivered a heavy volume of fire, making possible the evacuation of wounded Marines.

Cpl. Gallo was serving with "D" Company, 1st Battalion, 3rd Marines, 9th Marine Amphibious Brigade during the action.

Private First Class John D. Orr received his medal for rescuing a wounded Marine with complete disregard for his own safety, while serving with "E" Company, 2d Battalion, 3rd Marines, 9th Marine Amphibious Brigade. While carrying the wounded Marine across open terrain, an enemy grenade fell close to his open position. PFC Orr covered the Marine with his own body shielding him from the explosion. He then carried the man 600 yards to the helicopter landing zone for evacuation.

POSTHUMOUS AWARDS - Mrs. Judith A. Coll receives a framed set of her husband's medals from Major General Joseph O. Butcher, commanding general, Marine Corps Base. Mrs. Coll's husband, Captain William A. Coll, was killed in action while serving with "D" Company, 1st Recon Bn., 1st Marine Division in the Republic of Vietnam. The medals include (l to r) the Purple Heart Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Vietnamese Service Medal and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal. Major Orval J. Corriveau, base adjutant, (right) also attended.

Annual Christmas Party Delights 4500 Children

The annual childrens Christmas party, sponsored by Base Special Services was held at Liversedge field house.

Approximately 4500 children were on hand to take part in the festivities and welcome Santa Claus.

The celebration began with a performance by the Second Marine Division Band, who played a special selection of Christmas carols. Chaplain L.E. Alred, from Montford Point Protestant Chapel was the Master of Ceremonies and led the group in Benediction.

The high point of the afternoon was a dog show. This act, led by Abner Harrington, featured seven trained dogs, who performed various tricks and quaint antics. Harrington's act, no stranger to Camp Lejeune, was a big favorite two seasons ago. It proved to be an even bigger hit this year as the dogs kept everyone amused and delighted. Of course the climax of the party, much to the delight of the children, was the arrival of Santa Claus complete with present and good cheer.

The children came up on stage and talked to Santa personally, giving him their Christmas list! Santa gave each a lolly pop and a promise of the gifts to come.

Sound of Christmas: A Carol And A Cry

Listen, and at Christmas you will hear both a carol and a cry. This may seem like a contradiction, but it is true.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without carols. Probably no other single category of songs is as expressive of joy, of hope, of peace. They seem to sum up all the glad memories of love and laughter, or parties and pageantry, of greetings and gifts. But also they tell us the good news of the greatest Gift ever -- God's gift of Himself in the person of the Christ Child. Next time try singing the carols as if you had never heard the words before, and feel the fresh impact of what they tell you.

But, there is also a cry. There always has been. Back in Bethlehem, at that first Christmas, the cruel jealousy of King Herod was at work. Upon his order, soldiers with drawn swords stormed through the streets, searching out and slaying male babies. Shriek cries of terror and the sobbing sounds of grief filled the air. Many heard this instead of the carol sung by the angel chorus.

There are cries at Christmas today, too. Millions of homeless, helpless and oppressed are in desperate need. Armed conflict rages in a distant land, bringing peril and pain to thousands, both military and civilian. Then, there are victims of natural disasters -- floods, earthquakes, pestilence.

These cries are heard. Helping hands are extended through religious, philanthropic and governmental agencies. But for most of us, at Christmas, the hand we offer takes the form of food, clothing or toys for underprivileged children.

Why say all this? Why remind us of the cry during this season of joy? Because the carol will mean more if we have heard the cry and done something about it. The ancient words of wisdom apply: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Fire Fighting Course Big Success

Nearly 60 volunteer firemen from communities throughout Onslow County gathered here Saturday for a one-day flammable liquid fire fighting course.

The course, sponsored by the State Board of Education, was held under the auspices of the Onslow County Technical Institute with cooperation from the Camp Lejeune Fire Department. The first of its kind ever held in Onslow County, the course offered instruction and practical application in proper handling of fire hoses and techniques of fighting flammable liquid fires.

Various types of fire situations were set up using contaminated jet aircraft fuel supplied by the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River. As the fuel was ignited, the firemen moved in under the watchful eyes of qualified State instructors to combat the blaze.

"This is an excellent opportunity for these men to get specialized training and experience in fighting this type fire," stated Mr. Marvin Sawyer, area consultant for fire service training. "The training these men normally get at their own departments consists mainly of theory and equipment use," he said. "Most of these men have never seen fires this big. We really appreciate the cooperation and assistance given by the base in helping us conduct this training."

Base fire chief Frank J. Schlarp was uncertain when asked whether the course would be offered on a regular basis in the future. "If the county wants it we will sponsor it," he stated. "We can offer a more complete course once our training facilities here are finished."

The Base gave the area once occupied by the Pine Grove Trailer Park to the fire department as a training area. Scrap lumber and materials are being used to build "houses" and other facilities to train firemen.

The course was topped-off with the demonstration of a new Twine Agent Crash Fire Fighting Extinguisher by members of the Air Facility Crash Crew. The apparatus uses a newly developed "light water" and a dry chemical agent to extinguish blazes caused by burning aircraft fuel.

The dry chemical extinguishes the blaze while the "light water" floats atop the remaining fuel to prevent vapors from escaping which could help reignite the fire.

Upon completion of the day's training, Mr. Sawyer presented certificates to the attending volunteers on behalf of the Onslow County Technical Institute.

Merry

Greeting From General Greene

To the entire Marine Corps family, and to our comrades in arms and their families, I extend my personal best wishes for happiness during the Christmas Season and the coming New Year. I join with all men of good will in the earnest prayer that the coming year brings fulfillment of the promise of Christmas for Peace on Earth, good health and good fortune, to you all.

WALLACE M. GREENE, JR.
Commandant of the Marine Corps

Greeting From BrigGen. Wheeler

Again this year, Christmas finds Marines of this Division deployed on the high seas and on foreign shores in the cause of freedom.

To those of you whose mission of peace precludes your being with your loved ones and families during this joyous season, I extend my best wishes for a Christmas of peace and a New Year of hope.

May the prince of peace reward the efforts and sacrifices you are making for your country.

E. B. WHEELER
Brigadier General

Happy New Year

Christmas

Greeting From

MajGen. Butcher

To all Marines, Navy personnel, and civilian employees of Marine Corps Base, their families and loved ones, I extend my personal best wishes for a joyful holiday season.

Through the tinsel and glitter of this holiday season, let us not forget the true and meaningful significance of Christmas. The message of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" so majestically presented to the world over 2000 years ago through the birth of the Christ Child whose birthday we celebrate, is just as meaningful today as it was then. As we reflect upon our comrades in arms who are presently engaged in combat with foes who would deny the right of freedom and peace to others, let us join our hearts and minds in prayer that the Prince of Peace shall truly reign throughout the world in the hearts of all men.

J. O. BUTCHER
Major General

Greeting From BrigGen. Williams

To all Force Troops Marines and Navy men, I extend my warmest personal best wishes for happiness during this Christmas holiday and the New Year ahead. Just as the customs of the Corps link us with the past to give added meaning and purpose to what we do today, the traditions of Christmas we observe are living bridges between us and the birth of the Prince of Peace. This is a time for the sharing of happiness, for peace within, and for personal rededication to the principles of Christ. Remember that first Christmas as you celebrate and make this one a meaningful day to share with friends and loved ones.

Mrs. Williams joins me in wishing you and your families a very Merry Christmas and a New Year filled with happiness.
JOHN E. WILLIAMS
Brigadier General

Greetings to All

Devildogs Drub Prison Champs Again

The Devildog boxing team, harried more by the elements than their opponents, whipped the North Carolina State Prison champions last Saturday for the second time this month as they won six bouts and lost three.

The match was held at Creedmoor, North Carolina on Saturday afternoon. The team boarded their bus at 7:30 a.m. and soon found that there was no firewood for the bus's heater. It was so cold in the bus that you could see your breath.

After his hair thin victory over Stanley Johnson, Sergeant Art Redden could only say, "Man, that was a long bus ride."

Redden also suffered from a sore shoulder as he won a one point victory over North Carolina champion, Stanley Johnson.

The Marine light heavyweight champion pressed the fight all the time. "Johnson has an unorthodox style and that's what makes him hard to get. Had it been later on in the season I'd have knocked him out in the first round," said Redden.

Redden landed the harder punches in his bout, but Johnson belted Redden with some telling left hooks. Carrying his hands low, and ducking and spinning around, Johnson counterpunched well but Redden scored with left hooks and uppercuts in the final round.

Sergeant "Sugar Bear" Williams returned to the boxing team and won a split decision over Jasper Evans. Sugar Bear weighed 250 pounds for the bout and Evans came in at 204.

Evans hit the deck in the second round as Williams nailed him with a right hook to the stomach. He stayed down for a five count but got up to finish the fight.

Looking much tougher this time, Prison champ J. Davis, almost beat Corporal Richard Royal in the welterweight bout. Davis tried to slug it out with Royal, but Royal brought all his ring savvy together in this bout.

Royal beat Davis with speed and finesse. Devildog coach J.C. Davis kept yelling, "Outbox him! Outbox him! Show him what boxing is." And Royal heard him.

Corporal Houston Williams made his debut for the Marines and scored the only knockout of the afternoon in a middleweight bout. He knocked out Ernest Johnson in 55 seconds of the second round with a left hook and right cross to the head.

The "Chief" lost a split decision to James Murray, a man he had defeated in the match earlier this month. Private Will Phillips just couldn't get on the warpath as Murray landed right hooks and left jabs throughout the fight.

Bantamweight Private First Class Paul Cordero overwhelmed Linell Copeland and pounded out a unanimous decision. Cordero had Copeland on the ropes in the third round but Copeland stayed on his feet, although he couldn't defend himself.

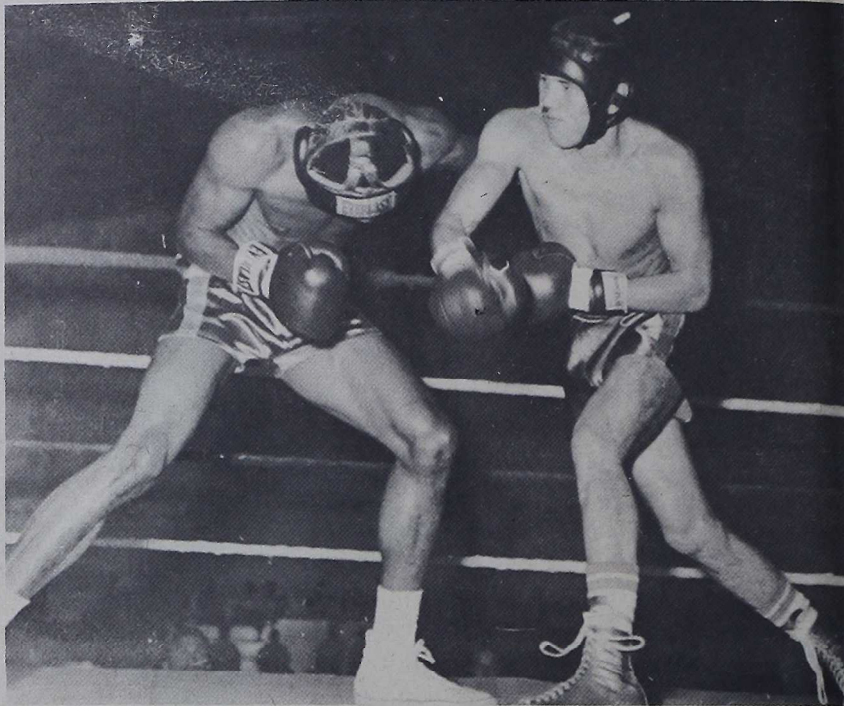

Coach Ray Rogers had told his men before the fight, "Up here, when you knock a man out, he is out cold. They won't stop them like they did at Lejeune."

Welterweight Sergeant Les Brown used his long left jab and ring experience to outpoint Cephus McNeil and win a unanimous decision.

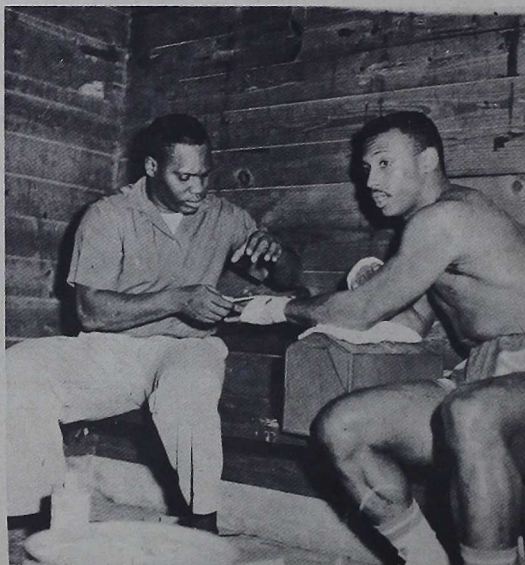

In the lightweight bout, Lance Corporal Francis "Rawhide" Allen dropped a split decision to Fred Hartell. Lefty Allen hurt Hartell in the second round and opened a cut over his eye.

Hartell came back strong in the third round and scored with hard rights and left hooks.

Light-welterweight James Thomas counterpunched and ran from Corporal Thayer Borel for the second time this month. Thomas gained a unanimous decision.

THE CHIEF — Private Will Phillips swings a right cross past James Murray in Saturday's light middleweight bout.

PREPARATION — Boxing trainer J. C. Davis finishes wrapping Art Redden's hands before the match with the prison champions.

Boxers Host Navy Dec. 29

The Marine Corps boxing team will fight a grudge match against the Navy boxing team from Norfolk, Va., December 29. The match will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Goette Memorial House and admission is free.

The Marines lost to the same Navy team in November. The Navy won six bouts and lost four as they threw everything they had at the Marines. Coach Rogers started six new fighters in the November match and the Navy used five All-Navy champions.

In the upcoming match, the Marines will have five former All-Marine champions fighting and the Navy will have five All-Navy champions competing.

"We really want this one bad," said trainer J.C. Davis. "Last time was the Navy's best chance to get us and they did, so everyone here is looking for revenge."

The former All-Marine champs that will be fighting are: light heavyweight Sgt. Art Redden, welterweight Richard Royal, featherweight Sgt. Larry Armendariz, light welterweight Les Brown, and middleweight Cpl. Hinton Wilson.

Devilfish Trim Parris Island

The Devilfish swimming team defeated Parris Island here last Saturday 268-229. The Devilfish now have a 3-1 record.

Don House, Kathy Davis, and Debbie McElhenny each won three first places in the meet, while Randy Laine, Rosemary Davis, and Beth Eigler won two first places and one second place.

Jeff Slemmons captured a first place and two second places, Tom Olson, Fred Olson, Peter Metina, and Kirby Slemmons copped three second places apiece.

The Devilfish need a qualified swimming coach and there are still openings for swimmers on the team.

Cherry Point FMFLant Football Kings

Cherry Point's MAG-24 "Wingmen" took the Fleet Marine Force Atlantic Intramural Football Championship home with them Dec. 14 as they scrambled past the 2d Marine Division All-Stars' 20-14 before a capacity crowd at Liversedge Field. The Wingmen found the All-Stars to be all they could handle as the two teams fought tooth and nail down to the final seconds of play.

MAG-24 broke the ice first as they scored on their second turn with the ball. Quarterback Arnette, tossing out of the shotgun position, flipped a flat pass to his halfback Lichtenberger on third down, deep in his own territory. The 180-pound speedster hauled it in, faked past the safety man, and galloped 70 yards to the goal. The point after-touchdown attempt failed, but the Wingmen led 6-0.

The Division All-Star offensive machine was stymied in the first quarter and needed an assist from the defense to get up on the scoreboard. Wingmen quarterback Arnette, again passing from deep in his own territory, tossed another of his short flat passes. This time he was not as fortunate as he had been in the previous period.

Division linebacker G. P. Maus intercepted and scampered 15 yards to pay dirt. Verstegen kicked the extra point and suddenly the All-Stars were on top 7-6.

MAG-24 came right back, scoring their easiest TD of the afternoon. Two consecutive penalties against 2d Division moved the ball 30 yards to the enemy's 10. Lichtenberger roared around right end to the one, and on second and goal, Arnette danced untouched into the end zone on an off-tackle play. The point-after-touchdown attempt again failed.

Not to be outdone, the Division All-Stars mounted an aerial drive that culminated in the end zone. They took the ensuing kickoff on their own 28. On first down, quarterback R. Green hit his end Crooks with a bomb good for 25 yards to the opposition's 35. Three plays later, Green pitched to his left end Bartholomew, who lofted a TD spiral, just over the defender's hands, to C. Coleman. Verstegen kicked his second PAT and Division had a 14-12 lead as the half ended.

As second period action got under way, the Wingmen lost no time in registering their third score, thus going ahead to stay. Arnette drove his club to the three, and on third and goal, Lichtenberger banged over for his second score. Again the PAT attempt failed.

MAG-24 added icing to the cake in the third quarter when they blocked a division punt. The pigskin rolled into the end zone and the Wingmen picked up a two-point safety.

The Division All-Stars made a come-back effort in the final minutes of play as they drove from their own 32 to the Wingmen's 18, but failed to score.

Lejeune Outdoors

By Staff Sergeant Bill Adams

When we consider the fine weather that we had over the weekend, the hunting results were other than great. But we did have a few hunters with some luck. Individual hunters did quite poorly with no kills made on deer.

Two individuals bagged turkeys. Both turkeys were killed in the JB Area. Pvt. TIM BROOKS killed a 14 lb. "TOM", with an eight in, beard and small spurs. Tim is in 2nd FSR.

RUPERT MURRAY, son of William Murray, of Hq. Co., Eng. Schools, killed an eleven inch bearded "TOM" weighing 14 lbs.

On the organized hunts, GySgt. George FIRMAN, H&S, 3-6, killed a 15 lb. "TOM" on hunt "A". The Gunny's turkey had an 8 inch beard and was the first turkey that he has ever seen in the 6 years he has hunted at Camp Lejeune.

The organized hunts took a total of 8 buck this past Saturday and Capt. STOFFA again tallied the highest individual count. His hunt had 4 nice buck at the end of the day with Mr. Z.L. CREWS OF Rt. 1 J-Ville getting the nicest one. Although not a big rack it was nicely formed and would have been an eight-pointed except that one tine was broken.

There were an additional 8 turkeys taken off the base Sunday, but of course, these were not shot at. They were won by the lucky shooters at the ROD & GUN CLUB Turkey Shoot.

Cong's Wipe-Out Effort Fails To Stop Squad

DA NANG, Viet Nam, Nov. 30 — An enemy plan to wipe out a Marine road sweep team blew up the wrong way for the enemy.

The mine they planted was detonated prematurely leaving the Leathernecks anything but dead.

A 10-man Viet Cong force staged the ambush against the Marines northwest of Da Nang on Highway 1.

"They definitely hadn't planned on us escaping the ambush," said Cpl. Harold Terry, 20 (2617 Slatery St., St. Louis, Mo.), a squad leader with "G" Co., 2nd Bn., Seventh Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division.

The enemy apparently expected to assault the Marines, who were riding a six-ton truck, immediately after the explosion. However, the VC found themselves being assaulted when the smoke cleared. The mine they'd planted, a 155mm artillery round, had failed to do the intended job.

"The mine didn't blow all the way. Only the fender of the truck was damaged," explained the driver, Lance Cpl. Neil Franklin, 20 (Rt. 2, Marion, Ga.), of the 11th Motor Transport Bn., attached to "G" Co.

Bullet holes spotted the truck door and also hit the tail pipe. One section of the bridge was slightly damaged by the explosion.

The Leathernecks opened fire on the enemy with '50 caliber and M-60 machineguns, M-79 grenade fire and small arms rifle fire. The Marine's response was so swift that half of the enemy were caught midway in their assault. The rest were trapped in the open field.

A VC soldier carrying an M-16 rocket launcher was killed before he could aim in a rocket on the Marines.

The remainder of the enemy force made a hasty retreat down into a gully in the wake of the Marine counter-assault.

A reactionary force from "G" Co., and a nearby Combined Action Platoon Company were called in and Marines swept through the area recovering the enemy dead and the captured weapons.

Disillusioned Cong Comes To Our Side

DA NANG, Viet Nam, Dec. 7 — When the Viet Cong recruited at 19-year-old village youth last June they promised him a trip to Hanoi.

The closest the youth ever came to Hanoi was a hidden enemy mountain retreat several miles from his home village of Nam O, six miles north of Da Nang.

It was hardly the fulfillment of the promise that had been made to him.

Disillusioned with the Viet Cong and eager to quit them, the youth finally escaped after an earlier attempt failed.

"He gave us some pretty valuable information," said 1st Lt. Larry Springer, 25 (3391 S.E. 8th St., Portland, Ore.), 2nd Bn., Seventh Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division.

The youth gave himself up to Marines under the Chieu Hoi (Open Arms) program.

"It was early in the morning when he came up to our gate," said Sgt. James Osborne, 21 (Barbourville, Ky.), in charge of Combined Action Platoon near Nam O Village. "He told us how he had escaped the previous night. Then he took us to the site where he had buried his carbine rifle and ammo belt and turned them over to us."

The young defector had escaped while on a resupply run near his home village. A Marine patrol from "E" Co., 2nd Bn., Seventh Marines spotted the enemy group the youth was traveling with and called artillery fire in on them. In the confusion of the artillery attack, the youth slipped away.

During interrogation the youth spoke of more recruits forced into the Viet Cong who wanted to go to Chieu Hoi. He cited a whole squad that sought the chance to turn themselves in as a group.

Patrol Gets Tiger By The Tail

By: SSgt. Jack Jansen

DA NANG, Viet Nam, Dec. 4 — Twelve Leathernecks on a reconnaissance mission southwest of Da Nang may not have had a "tiger in their tank," but a tiger almost had a Marine in his "tank."

Pfc. Adrian F. Lopez, 18 (Sunset Lodge, Hw. "I, Laredo, Tex.), was almost a dinner for a six-foot, 350-pound tiger stalking the 1st Reconnaissance Bn., 1st Marine Division outpost at 3 a.m.

"I was rolled up in my poncho sleeping on the ground," said Lopez, "when I felt this 'hand' shaking me awake."

"My first thought was that it was my turn to go on guard," he said. "But when I got my eyes opened I realized my mistake. It was a tiger pawing my leg."

"When I saw what was happening, I moved and I guess the tiger was startled because he grabbed my left knee in his jaws and started dragging me off."

By this time the Leatherneck was fully awake but uninjured.

"When it dawned on my exactly what was happening," he continued, "I sat up real quick and the tiger let me go and backed off about four feet and just stood there looking at me. Actually I think he was more curious than anything."

Seeing other signs of activity in the outpost area, the tiger silently skulked away in the darkness. It reappeared a short time later on the opposite side of the ridgeline, still only about six feet from the Marines.

Sgt. James L. Griffith, 28, (315 12th St., Freedom, Pa.) was the next Marine to actually sight the tiger.

"I was looking into the darkness," said Griffith "when I noticed what looked like a white face just staring at me."

"I couldn't take a chance on the tiger coming back into our positions and attacking any of us," he continued, "so I opened up on him with my M-16 rifle."

The tiger was brought down by six rounds in its right shoulder and after daylight the Marines skinned him out and brought home their "war trophy" when they returned to their command post two days later.

According to Lopez, "It was the first time I have seen a tiger, except in a zoo, and I don't really relish the idea of seeing one that close again."

Operation 'Red Wagon' Fights The Other Side Of The War

DONG HA, Viet Nam, Nov. 25 — "Operation Red Wagon" went into full swing when 12 smiling Vietnamese children were presented shiny new red wagons in Cam Lo.

Red Wagon, an operation thought of by MSgt. W.D. Abbott, is designed to reward children who work hard in their school and village activities.

Abbott was a platoon leader of the regimental snipers when he began the program. He is currently in a Stateside hospital to receive treatment for a recurring shoulder injury.

Abbott thought up the idea when he saw a small boy playing with a beat-up wooden wagon. He immediately wrote his wife and asked her to send a red wagon for the boy.

"When the wagon arrived he went to the village and traded the wagons," said Capt. Robert M. Reed (19 Fano St., Arcadia, Calif.), regimental civil affairs officer.

"When Abbott saw how the boy's eyes lit up when he gave him the wagon, he started working on Operation Red Wagon."

Abbott, a competitive trap shooter, then wrote the Amateur Trapshooter Association about his idea. The association set a goal of 1,000 red wagons for Vietnamese children.

It sponsored trap shoots from coast to coast to raise funds for the wagons. Articles appeared in the association monthly magazine. In a few months, 400 wagons were en route to Viet Nam and a further 600 were to follow.

The wagons were presented to the children by the Cam Lo district chief and Col. J.E. Lo Prete (4600 Duke St., Alexandria, Va.), commanding officer of the Third Marine Regiment.
