192nd ANNIVERSARY

Birthday Messages

From the Commandant

As we near fulfillment of a second century of service to our Country and our Corps, United States Marines—past and present—can take prideful inventory of our Corps' accomplishments and its contributions to the development and welfare of the greatest Nation on earth.

The occasion of the 192nd birthday of the Marine Corps is a time for reflection on the past; to pay tribute to our predecessors who set the watch. It is also time to view the present and look into the future to assure that the watch remains eternal.

Although fighting his Country's battles is a Marine's profession, it is not his preoccupation. It is not for him to make war, but to keep the peace. This anniversary, however, finds Marines in fierce combat, as they have been on many anniversaries past. But it is my fervent hope and desire that all of us will be able to mark future observances in an environment of peace—and at home.

To those Marines now serving in Vietnam, I send special greetings and personal wishes for Godspeed in the pursuit of their tasks. To all Marines and their loved ones—everywhere—I say thank you for making the past year in our Corps' history every bit as illustrious as those before.

WALLACE M. Greene, Jr.
General, U. S. Marine Corps

From the FMFLant Commandant

On November 10, 1967, United States Marines the world over will commemorate the 192nd anniversary of the founding of our Corps. As has been the case throughout many years of our history, Marines are once again in action halfway around the globe, helping a beleaguered people defend their freedom against aggression.

Throughout this past year, Marines of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, have continued to stress the importance of being ready for any situation "in any clime and place". Training operations have taken our air-ground team from the snow-covered hills of Norway to the sunny beaches of the Mediterranean and Caribbean. The harmonious teamwork, dynamic leadership, and unselfish devotion to duty displayed by all hands contributed greatly to the successful accomplishment of our assigned mission.

As we begin our 193rd year of service, it is fitting that we rededicate ourselves to the tasks that lie ahead and to the principles and beliefs that have caused the name "Marine" to be honored and respected throughout the world. It is with pride that I extend to All Marines of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and to their families, my warmest wishes for a happy birthday.

Lieutenant General Richard G. Wee
Commanding General, FMFLant

From the CG, Marine Corps Base

One hundred and ninety two years ago the United States Marine Corps commenced a record of service to its Country of which every Marine, past and present, can be justifiably proud. It is very fitting that we pause today, on our one hundred and ninety second birthday, to commemorate the history and traditions of our Corps—an eloquent testimony to the courage, honor, and fidelity of Marines of all ages and times, both in peace and war, since the founding of the Corps.

The position of respect in which our Corps is held, by friend and foe alike, has been achieved by the Marines who went before us; it is maintained today by Marines in Southeast Asia and throughout the world who are bringing new glories to the Corps with heroic deeds in battle and steadfastness to duty along the outposts of freedom.

Let us rededicate ourselves today, that the future of our beloved Corps will be no less great than our past, and let us hope that we may all celebrate future anniversaries in an atmosphere of peace.

To all Marines and their families I extend my personal best wishes and birthday greetings on this, the 192nd Anniversary of the founding of our Corps.

J. O. BUTCHER
Commanding General, Marine Corps Base

From the CG, 2d Marine Division

November 10, 1967, marks the United States Marine Corps' 192nd year of service to its country. Those years have been a never ending struggle to maintain a peace and preserve the basic ideals on which this country was founded.

The part played by the Marine Corps over the years has commanded the respect of our adversaries and allies alike. The sacrifices and accomplishments made by Marines during those years are a matter of pride and satisfaction to each of us.

Besides furnishing trained Marines to Vietnam, Marines of the 2d Division stand the lonely watch in the Mediterranean, the Caribbean, and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The training gained on the deployment watches of this Division is reflected in the superb combat performance of former 2d Division members in the Republic of Vietnam.

As we recollect our past accomplishments on this anniversary, let us also take time to renew our basic dedication to the tenets of which our Corps is founded.

It is with deep personal pride and satisfaction that I extend to the Marines of the 2d Marine Division, and their families, the warmest of birthday greetings.

Major General Ormond R. Simpson
Commanding General
2d Marine Division

From the Force Troops Commander

The Birthday of our Corps is an occasion for both celebration and reflection—a time of elation and a time of rededication.

The illustrious record and the rich traditions of our Corps are known to us all. This heritage, intangible but vital, contributes greatly to making each Marine what he is—and ensures that the strength of the Corps is vastly more than the sum of its individual components.

With justifiable pride we celebrate another year of achievement—a year which again has found Marines committed in far-off lands as effective instruments of national policy. With sober humility each of us must, at the same time, consider his own personal role in the total performance of the Marine Corps, and resolve anew to be worthy of the trust placed in us by the people of our country, and of the impeccable record bequeathed to us by those who made the Globe and Anchor the most respected military symbol in the world.

In that spirit, I wish each of you and your families a Happy Birthday, and ask you to join me in the time-honored toast "To the Corps!"

3d Division Awarded Presidential Citation

Da Nang, November 1 -- The 3d Marine Division, a major Marine fighting force in the I Corps area, was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation here this morning for their combat performance in Vietnam.

Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey pinned the streamer on the Division Colors and warmly congratulated Major General Bruno A. Hochmuth, commanding general of the 3d Division, during ceremonies at III Marine Amphibious Force Headquarters. The Vice-President was on a one-day tour of I Corps.

The portion of the Citation read as follows:

"The President of the United States takes pleasure in presenting the Presidential Unit Citation to the 3d Marine Division, Reinforced, for services as set forth in the following Citation:

"For extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance of duty in action against North Vietnamese Army and Insurgent Communist (Viet Cong) Forces in the Republic of Vietnam from 8 March 1965 to 15 September 1967. Throughout this period, the 3d Marine Division, Reinforced, ... successfully executed a three-fold mission of occupying and defending key terrain around the DaNang, Chu Lai, Hue-Phu Bai and Dong Ha airbases, seeking out and destroying the enemy while also carrying on an intensive pacification program in areas already under its control.

"The 3d Marine Division, Reinforced, successfully executed eighty major combat operations ... In addition, more than 125,000 offensive actions, ranging from squad patrols and ambushes to company size search and destroy missions were conducted in both the coastal rice lands and the jungled mountainous area further inland.

"These aggressive and bitterly contested actions routed the enemy from his well-entrenched positions and denied him access to his source of food supply, restricted his freedom of movement and removed his influence from the heavily populated coastal areas.

"Throughout the period ending on 15 September 1967, the 3d Marine Division, utilizing courageous ground and helicopter-borne assaults, complemented by intense and accurate air, artillery and Naval gunfire support, undeterred by heavy hostile automatic weapons and highly effective artillery and mortar fire, extremely difficult terrain, intense heat and incessant Monsoon rains, inflicted serious casualties on the enemy forces.

"As a result of the Division's unrelenting combat initiative, the enemy was forced to withdraw, thus denying him a major political and military victory and seriously impaired his military effectiveness.

"The outstanding courage, resourcefulness and aggressive fighting spirit of the officers and men of the 3d Marine Division, Reinforced, in battle after battle against a well-equipped and well-trained enemy force, often numerically superior in strength, reflected the greatest credit upon the United States Marine Corps and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

The 7th ARVN Airborne was also awarded the Presidential Unit Citation. Individually the Navy Cross was presented to Lance Corporal (now sergeant) David A. Verheyen, and two Silver Star Medals and one Bronze Star were pinned on ARVN personnel by the Vice President. He said:

"I want to especially commend you on the performance, not only on the field of battle, but in the villages and hamlets."

To the ARVN he voiced America's pride in their fighting ability and patriotism, and said we were honored to stand by their side in the cause of freedom.

Humphrey appealed to fellow Americans to be tolerant, be considerate. "Nation building is the work of generations, not of days and individuals," he said.

Among the distinguished guests were General William C. Westmoreland.

Coffee Bars Planned For Birthday Motorists

This weekend will be a long one for personnel of Camp Lejeune and the Marine Corps Air Facility. Many will travel to distant parts of the Eastern seaboard and many will be involved in accidents -- needless accidents.

During this holiday period, Marines of the 2d Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, in an effort to cut down on the number of accidents, will set up coffee bars at strategic locations on the coastline North Carolina highways.

Under the auspices of the 2d Marine Division Traffic Safety Section, the coffee bars will be set up at two locations: The junction of U.S. Highway 70 and U.S. 258 (Bypass), three miles west of Kingston; and four miles east of Wilmington at the junction of U.S. Highway 17 and Wrightsville Beach Road.

Another coffee bar, which will be supervised by the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C., will be located 15 miles north of New Bern on Highway 17.

These coffee bars will be open to both military and civilian motorists. They will be in operation from 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 12 until 6 a.m. Monday, Nov. 13. Free coffee and doughnuts, courtesy of the 2d Marine Division and MCAS, Cherry Point, are available during this time.

The National Safety Council states that most accidents happen within 25 miles of home. The 2d Marine Division's coffee bars are established to help prevent accidents by encouraging motorists to stop and take a break.

Chaplain Says

Individual Sacrifice Vets' Shared Virtue

Why does a man do what he does? If an individual can understand the motivation for his actions, he has learned much about himself. Much of what we do is for selfish interests. This is not all bad. But if my only and highest motivation is for personal gain, I have not yet learned to live.

There is another and better way. And it can be found in Veteran's Day and in the Marine Corps Birthday. It is so like the way God works. God's way of making life better is for one man to give himself for others. Man can have no greater love, nor do anything better, than to die or to be willing to die if need be, for a friend. The fighting man has done just this!

It is most significant that the man who has been in Vietnam or in other conflicts usually know why he went. He knows why he went not in terms always of historical speculation, but in flesh and blood; not in terms always of international politics or treaties, but in people. He has learned this by looking to the fearful yet hopeful eyes of men, women and children to know the horrors of destruction but can know that something better is possible because somebody else has come to help. The hope of mankind, humankind speaking, is that enough will do as God has done and get involved with the needs of others.

Veterans yesterday and today, you who are veterans today even though still serving, all who have been there for others, I salute you in the name of your fellowmen. You have uncovered and lived the grandest of life — some must suffer at others might live.

May each Marine on this 40th Anniversary of the Corps and some peace of mind and join this time of celebration is knowing he is doing for others at they can not do for themselves!

Chaplain E. R. Lineberger

'Hi Mom' Program Provides Overseas Telephone Calls

Thousands of servicemen serving overseas will again be able to make free telephone calls home this year under the "Hi-Mom" Program.

Started in 1957, the program is supported by the Communication Workers of America (CWA), AFL-CIO. Funds are made available through the CWA to the United Service Organizations, Inc. (USO) overseas, including Alaska and Hawaii.

The "Hi-Mom" Program this year is expected to exceed the 4,000 calls made in 1966. As in 1966, all calls awarded to families in the United States will be initiated overseas and placed on a collect-at-home basis. The CWA will reimburse the families for the charges.

The servicemen to make the calls will be selected by the USO and local military commanders. In addition, five calls will be allotted to each of 10 military hospitals located in the Pacific area.

CWA local unions will also participate in the program by awarding free Christmas calls to selected families within the United States.

Corps Uniforms: Past & Present

THE FIRST MARINE - dressed like this and was used by our young country extensively in Naval battles with Great Britain.

On Nov. 10, 1775, the Congress of the United States resolved that two battalions of men, "such as are good seamen, or so acquainted with maritime affairs as to be able to serve for and during the present war between Great Britain and the Colonies" be formed, and that they be distinguished by the name "American Marines."

The elite force got its amphibious baptism of fire shortly thereafter at New Providence Island in the Bahamas. Under the command of Captain Samuel Nicholas, 268 Marines stormed the beach, and thus was emblazoned the first chapter in a proud and battle-scarred story that is still being written. The United States Marine Corps; 192 years of heroic service on land, on sea, and in the air.

War of 1812

Marines distinguished themselves in the many Naval battles of the War of 1812. The battle of the "Wasp" and the British "Frolic," the duel between the frigate "United States" and the old mother country's "Macedonian," the Marines in the "Chesapeake" versus the British boarding parties when Captain Lawrence ordered "Don't give up the ship;" these were glittering examples of prowess and valor on the sea.

Indian Wars

With the advent of the mid 1830s, trouble broke out in Florida and the Marines were there. The note on the Commandant's door read, "Gone to Florida to fight the Indians." Colonel Archibald Henderson mobilized more than half the Corps' total strength to fight the Creeks in Alabama and Georgia.

Marines saw action both on land and sea in the War between the States. At Bull Run, Harper's Ferry, Norfolk, and Pensacola, Marines proved again and again why they are unequaled in any kind of combat.

Spanish-American War

The Spanish-American War of 1898 produced "strangers to fear," and the Marines who inspired the phrase received bountiful recognition from an impatient American press. The Philippines, Puerto Rico, Guam, Hawaii, and Wake formed the nucleus of our nation's new island empire, and the Corps was expanded to hold and defend it.

The turn of the 20th century saw U.S. Marines in expeditionary roles. They helped quell the "Boxer Rebellion" in China, probably the best known of these expeditions. The Corps became a "force in readiness," an instrument of U.S. power and diplomacy.

Devildogs

The "Devildogs" had their work cut out for them in World War I. Battles with the "invincible" German infantry across the European theater gave birth to new heroes in the Corps. The mud, the numbing cold, and the blood spilt at Chateau Thierry, Soissons, Mont Blanc, Belleau Wood, and the Meuse Argonne are now stirring pages of Marine Corps and U.S. history.

World War II

The Japanese met their match at Guadalcanal in 1942, and the Leathernecks were responsible. The American offensive was launched, with Marines spearheading the attack and Navy corpsmen close by their sides. Often outnumbered and fighting disease as hard as the enemy, Marine air-ground victories proved that "uncommon valor had to be a common virtue."

Blinding snowstorms and biting cold in Korea brought out the best in America's elite fighting force. Spirit, determination and all that spells guts prompted the memorable words of Gen. O.P. Smith, "Retreat hell; we are just attacking in another direction."

The New Corps

Today, the old and the new Corps are working together in a tiny country to preserve freedom against Communist aggression. The weapons are modern, the terrain challenging, the tactics different from wars of the past. The spirit is as strong as ever, and despite doubts and criticism from all over the world, defeat has never entered the minds of Marines in Vietnam. More is asked and more is received from Marines in combat today than ever before. What was started in 1775 isn't finished yet, and it's getting better with each birthday.

Former All-Marine Boxers Anchor Team

The Marine Corps boxing team, based here at Camp Lejeune, will have four former All-Marine champions anchoring the team. In addition to the All-Marines, the team has a 245 pound "Sugar Bear" and five former Golden Gloves competitors.

The entire boxing team is training with its sights on the 1968 Olympics. Sergeant Art Redden and Corporal Richard Royal have the best chance to make the U.S. team, but there is always a chance of a "sleeper" making it big.

Art Redden won the Pan-American Games light heavyweight championship last summer. He recently returned from Mexico City where he competed in the Little Olympics.

Redden won a Bronze medal, although he was defeated by the Russian who won the top spot. This was the first defeat he has suffered in over a year.

Sergeant J. C. Davis, boxing trainer and assistant coach, said, "I know Red can beat anyone in the country in his weight class. I have seen all the fighters, Red will beat the Russian if he ever fights him again."

Redden's fight record stands at 49 wins, five losses. He has KO'd 28 of his opponents.

Richard Royal, Pan American Trials Champion in the welterweight division, wants to turn pro after his enlistment is up. He has set his sights on the Olympics and after that plans to go after the professional title.

Royal has lost ten times in 41 bouts, but the record is misleading. Royal used to swarm over his opponents and the classy boxers outfoxed him.

But this year he has class and craftiness and stands a good chance to go all the way if he boxes "smart." Smart boxing for Royal means hard combinations and outboxing his opponents rather than outslugging them.

Trainer Davis has some theories on the slugger vs. the boxer. "Oh man," he says, "you get a boxer in there and bip, bip, bip, and he's gone. The good boxer will outsmart the slugger most of the time."

Sergeant Larry Armendariz will fight in the flyweight division. He was an All-Marine champion in '64, '65, '66. In 1965 he won the San Diego AAU Championship.

His boxing record includes 52 victories against five losses. He has knocked out 10 men.

RICHARD ROYAL

Lance Corporal Les Brown is the current All-Marine champion in the light welterweight class. In 1964 he won the Japanese Interservice title.

He has won 16 fights and lost five times with five KO's. In his last fight he lost a decision to Willie Johnson of the Air Force in the Interservice matches.

Lance Corporal Alonzo Browner is a veteran of National Boxing Competition. In 1964 he was a semi-finalist in the National

SUGAR BEAR WILLIAMS

AAU Competition. In 1964 and '65 he fought his way to the quarter-finals of the National Golden Gloves.

Browner will fight in the light-weight and light welterweight divisions. He lost to Robert Lozada last spring for the All-Marine title.

Sergeant James Williams, nicknamed "Sugar Bear" by his teammates, will compete in the heavyweight division.

Williams is six feet tall and weighs somewhere between 230 and 245 pounds, depending on whether he is dieting or eating bread.

Williams lost a decision to Joe Frazier in a 1964 fight in Philadelphia. Frazier is currently the number one rated heavyweight contender. "Sugar Bear" has won 20 and lost 5. He definitely is a slugger and even his sparring rounds end up like "pier sixers". More brawler than boxer, he will win most of his fights with one pulverizing blow.

Private Paul Cordero, a New York State Golden Gloves veteran, will box in the flyweight division. He has won 20 bouts, with only one loss.

His last fight was on March

BEV BEVERLY

20, against Carlos Fernandez in Madison Square Garden. It was in this fight that he absorbed his only loss.

Corporal Cecil "Bev" Beverly has won 12 fights and lost 2, with two knockouts. He is a bantamweight at 119 pounds.

In '64 and '65 Beverly won the AAU Championship in Washington D. C.

Bev's last fight was in April of '64 when he lost a decision to the 112 pound Air Force Champion.

Lance Corporal Frank Allen is a bantamweight who got his start fighting in the Philadelphia Police Athletic League.

He has won eight and lost two. He fought last in 1963 when he won a decision.

Corporal Thayer Borel is from Cajun country in Louisiana and will be in the light welterweight slot at the start of the season.

Private Willard D. Phillips is a Light Middleweight with a 10-5 record. In 1965 he was a finalist in the Inter-Service Matches in Hawaii.

There are many men on the team who have had no previous boxing experience. They include Private First Class William Dunn, a middleweight from Chicago, Corporal Tommy Walker is also in the middleweight division. He hopes to compete in the pro ranks.

Lance Corporal Dwight Vaughn is an ex-football player who looks like a Mr. America. He will fight in the heavyweight division hoping his muscular superstructure will withstand the punishment while he learns the finer points of fisticuffs.

Corporal Clarence Ruffin

will be a light/middleweight and has had a little experience in service tournament fights. Sergeant Lafayette "Fate" Oliphant looks good in the sparring matches and is learning quickly.

Corporal Mike Fortune made the team when he impressed J.C. with his gummy tryout performance. "He has a natural right hand," said Davis. Soaking wet Fortune weighs 106 pounds.

Lance Corporal Edward

TOMMY WALKER

Crenshaw, Sergeant Thomas Pegues, and Lance Corporal Ronald Collins will be fighting in the lighter weights, depending on the experience of their opponents.

"No one fights until they are ready," according to Rogers.

2d Engineer Battalion King Of The Mountain

Second Engineer Battalion topped 8th Marines 13-0 Tuesday in their seventh game against the Marines. The victory gave Engineers undisputed possession of first place in the intramural football B League.

Penalties, and fumbles caused the unseasonably cold weather characterized this see-saw battle of almost 1500 fans.

The first half was dominated by 8th Marines, as two scoring opportunities eluded them. Towards the end of the first quarter, 2d Engineers fumbled deep in their own territory and 8th Marines' big defensive end, C. Leeman, grabbed the loose ball.

On first and goal, back Alpers bulled 4 yards to the two yard line. However, 2d Engineers' front wall held their own and 8th Marines were forced to give up the ball.

In the third quarter and all the final three minutes of the fourth period the ball changed hands nine times and neither team gained a first down.

With only three minutes remaining 8th Marines gave up the ball on downs on the Engineers' yard line. Suddenly halfback Corpus broke loose over the end, although he was hit several times, stormed 52 yards for the first score. The PAT attempt failed.

In the next series of downs Engineers' intercepted a pass and moved the ball to the opposition's 35. On 3rd and four less than a minute remaining Johnson swept around left and scampered 29 yards for a TD. Stickles kicked the PAT.

There will be a turkey shoot sponsored by the Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club on November 19 at 10 a.m. It will be held on the field adjacent to the Staff Wives Sitting Service in the old Holcomb Blvd. School.

I will pass on some information for those of you who have never attended one of these functions. The shells will be provided by the Rod and Gun Club along with a number of shotguns for the individual who does not own one. Normally, a relay of about ten people will be set up, each man paying a $1 fee for the chance of winning the relay and in turn winning a prize.

Targets will be set up at a predetermined distance and after each relay has fired, the man who has a shotgun pellet hole closest to the center of the target will win.

The number of relays will depend on the turnout of interested individuals. The prizes consisting of dressed turkeys and hams, provided by the Rod and Gun Club.

Dynamite comes in small packages as Lt. Bailey, the Security Officer for Montford Point recently found out. He captured a young bobcat while hunting in the "P" area. The young cat weighed only about 3-4 lbs. Lt. Bailey first decided to share his sweater with the little fellow. This was short lived as the bobcat soon took full possession of the sweater. To look at Lt. Bailey's hands it is to see why he has such respect for little bobcats now. The latest report from the Bailey residence is to be on the lookout for one small bobcat loose, somewhere in his home.

Boys League Football

The Saints battled the Cardinals to a 12-12 tie in Junior Bantam League gridiron action last Saturday.

Steve Myslinski put the Saints on the scoreboard on the third play of the game when he caught a pass from quarterback Bill Donahue and raced 40 yards for the score. Charlie Stokes was stopped on the PAT.

The Cardinals came right back as Dennis Neeld rambled 30 yards to the Saints' one-yard line. Joe Blick plunged over for the tally.

Stokes broke loose for the Saints' last touchdown in the second quarter. He tallied on a 40 yard play but missed the bonus point attempt.

Soon after the Saint score the Cardinals' Blick gathered in a pass and blazed down field for a 50 yard TD.

The Colts belted the Vikings 14-0 in other Bantam action.

Bobby Tacketts rambled 60 yards with an intercepted pass for the Colts' first six pointer. Henry Rodarte kicked the PAT.

Rod Morris passed to Julius Banion for the other TD. Henry Rodarte made good the bonus point attempt.

The Redskins bombed the Steelers 42-7 to take over undisputed possession of first place in Junior Midget Football. Dennis Eldridge scored five touchdowns and Robert Weir scored once. Nolan Ladd scored all the PAT's.

The Cowboys whipped the Packers 9-0 last Saturday to tighten up the league race.

Bill Shore rushed through the line to spill a Packer ballcarrier in the end zone for a safety in the first quarter.

In the second quarter Bruce Edwards passed to Kevin Thomas for six points. Bruce Edwards scored the PAT.

Jeff Cooper was the outstanding linebacker on the Cowboy defense. Pedro Feliciano was the outstanding tackle on the defensive team.

"We were really keyed up for the game," said Cowboy Coach Edwards.

In other games the Rams scored their first triumph when they dumped the Eagles 6-0 on an intercepted pass play. Bryan Catlin was the outstanding defensive player for the losers.

CPX Tests Division's Staff, Communications

Command elements of the 2d Marine Division tested their combat readiness during a three-day command post exercise (CPX) held in the Landing Zone Goose area near Onslow Beach last week.

The purpose of the CPX was to provide training in communications, staff action, command post procedures and functioning in the field.

Only headquarters staff personnel and communicators took part in the exercise. Subordinate units of the division and enemy guerrilla forces were simulated.

In the mythical situation, elements of the 2d Marine Division, landed on the shores of a hypothetical country, in support of that country's second National Free Election.

There at the request of the country's government, the division's primary mission was to protect the capital city, where the election was to be held, from an estimated 1300 terrorists.

The 2d Marines were assigned the mission of providing a stopping force of 600 men on the main routes to the city. Keeping tunnels and bridges open for supply lines was the mission of the 6th Marines. The 8th Marines were in control of five major roads and were assigned the task of protecting the city's water supply.

The 2d Reconnaissance Battalion provided flanking and screening throughout the surrounding sectors of responsibility.

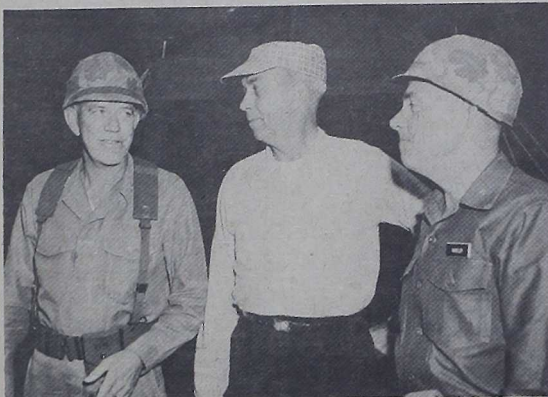

Clad in civilian clothes and acting as political advisor (POLAD) and representative for the commanding general was Lieutenant Colonel William L. Smith, division comptroller.

The rebels were thwarted in their attempts to enter the capital city and at the termination of the CPX were attempting to escape in small bands into the mountains.

The backbone of their movement had been effectively broken and a rapid withdrawal of U.S. forces was contemplated by the command staff.

I READ YOU -- Private Robert C. Waiting of Radio Plate Communications Center, records important data received on the line; air strikes completed, "casualties" and information concerning rebel movements.

MCI Sets New Math Course

The Marine Corps Institute announces the opening of a new course, Math for Marines (13.34) which is designed to give a review of the arithmetic skills used by all Marines in their daily performance.

Math for Marines is unique in that the problems to be solved are job-related.

This course is recommended for all Marines, regardless of rank or MOS, who desire a review of math covering fractions, simple algebra, geometrical forms, and an introduction to the "New Math."

The course has 5 lessons and a final examination which require a total of 19 study hours.

FROM MARINE TO FARMER -- Master Sergeant Ray E. Simpson, wearing the farmer's attire presented to him upon his retirement, inspects his most valued present, a live pig. Discussing the gifts with him are A.N. Whitewell, (left), assistant G-1 (personnel) for non-appropriated funds, and Corporal Richard Petty, G-1 administrative clerk. The "down home" items were surprise retirement gifts to Sergeant Simpson from fellow members of Marine Corps Base Headquarters. "Farmer" Simpson plans to start his hog ranch in Bullock, N.C.

United Fund Drive Over Halfway Mark

Camp Lejeune's United Fund Campaign picks up momentum as the total contributions mount in excess of $33,000, according to Colonel R. E. West, Drive Chairman.

Three units deserve honorable mention for their efforts in exceeding their unit's goal. They are the 2d Dental Company, 2d Engineer Battalion, and the Field Medical Service School.

With just two weeks remaining for the drive, an all out effort will have to be made if the $65,000 Quad-Command goal is to be attained, say the drive officials. This will require 100 per cent participation.

Two of the 12 agencies which benefit from these contributions are the United Services Organization (USO) and the Onslow County-Camp Lejeune Association for Retarded Children.

tion for Retarded Children.

Most Marines are familiar with the USO and the services it provides: shows, dances, books, sports equipment, and the use of record players and tape recorders. The local chapter has befriended Lejeune Marines for more than a quarter of a century and will continue to be "A Home Away From Home" as long as the United Fund Campaign can help finance its efforts.

The state of North Carolina and Onslow County work together in educating and caring for the retarded children of our community but at times their work is not enough. This is where the Onslow County - Camp Lejeune Association for Retarded Children comes into the picture.

It is supported completely by the United Fund Campaign, and uses these funds to provide transportation, tape records, and equipment for work shops for the retarded children's schools. The association also operates a kindergarden for three- to five-year-olds, and a two full-time teachers work eight hours a day with a class of 10 trainable and educatable retarded children, 6 of whom are Marine dependents. Were it not for the association and the United Fund Campaign little would be done for these children.

When you are asked to contribute, consider these children and how much you can help them.

Housing Information Available

Families of Lejeune Marines assigned overseas can find housing in other military bases in the Continental United States, according to a Department of Defense program.

Information on location of these quarters and application procedures may be obtained at the Base Quarters and Housing Office, Building TT-43, Tarawa Terrace.

Under the program, dependents of Marines stationed overseas, who are unable to remain in their quarters because of the housing shortage, will be relocated in bases which have excess family housing.

Marines interested in utilizing such quarters should visit the Quarters and Housing Office well in advance.

BRONZE STAR-- Lieutenant Colonel Russell E. Johnson receives the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" from Major General Ormond R. Simpson, commanding general, 2d Marine Division during ceremonies held recently. Col. Johnson received the medal for his precise judgement during operations "Rio Grande," "Desoto," "Arizona," and "Pecos" while serving as the executive officer of 7th Marines, 1st Marine Division in Vietnam. He is currently serving as assistant G-4 (Logistics) officer, 2d Marine Division.

"The Dirty Dozen"

Twelve soldiers sentenced to life imprisonment are offered a possible pardon if they agree to train for and complete the seemingly suicidal mission of parachuting into Nazi-occupied France. Lee Marvin stars as the undisciplined Army major chosen for the task of forging this band of GI criminals into a fighting force. This story of misfits turned into heroes also features Ernest Borgnine, Charles Bronson, Jim Brown, and Trini Lopez. In Color.

"Spartacus"

The vibrant era of pagan Rome is captured in this spectacle of a rebel gladiator who shaxes the Imperial City to its foundations and nearly succeeds in bringing about its extinction. The winner of four Academy Awards stars Kirk Douglas, Laurence Olivier, Jean Simmons, the late Charles Laughton, Peter Ustinov, John Gavin and Tony Curtis. In Color.

"The Last Challenge"

Marshall Dan Blaise, ex-gun-fighter, who is reputed to be the fastest gun in the West, is challenged for his title by young Lot McGuire. Blaise, who has no desire to return the challenge, tries to convince the younger man not to fight. McGuire persists and the showdown occurs. Action and conflict are the key words in this movie starring Glen Ford, Chad Everett and Angie Dickinson.

"The Agony and the Ecstasy"

Irving Stone's prize winning best seller of Michelangelo and his painting of theistine Chapel is brought to the screen. The movie stars Charlton Heston as Michelangelo and Rex Harrison as Julius II, the warrior pope who commissioned him to undertake this prodigious task. In color.

"Blow-Up"

A London photographer dis-illustrated by his easy success searches for his identity amid a hectic world of fashion, pop art, club models and pot parties. During the search, he unwittingly unveils a murder which no one is interested. David Hemmings, Vanessa Redgrave and Sarah Miles star in this biting commentary on "Mod" life in London.

"Valley Of Mystery"

Thrilling adventure takes place when an international jetliner is blown off course by a typhoon and is forced to land in the jungles of South America. Suspense builds when one of the passengers, a convicted murderer, (Fernando Lamas) destroys their only hope of rescue. Others of the marooned group include Peter Graves, Richard Egan, and Lois Nettleton.

"The Jokers"

Off-beat London locales are combined with rollicking humor in this laugh-filled comedy of two brother's attempt at robbing the Crown Jewels. Michael Caine - Ford and Oliver Reed star as the brothers who spoof age-old English customs while executing their elaborate scheme. The technicolor production also features Harry Andrews and Gabriella Lodi.

"Banning"

Mike Banning, (Robert Wagner) a professional golfer, arrives at the golf club and uses individuals indebted to him to get the job of assistant pro. He immediately becomes the romantic target of a very wealthy socialite (Jill St. John) who uses an entire arsenal of wiles, including her wealth, to involve him. The climax comes quickly when the club management decides to hold a tournament in which the players are bought at auction. Banning is purchased by Miss St. John and a surprise ending results.
