SERVICEMAN OF MONTH—Cpl. H. W. Fleig and his wife admire the plaque presented him by the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce as Serviceman of the Month for August.

Cpl. Fleig Chosen Serviceman of Month

The Serviceman of the Month award for August was presented Corporal H. W. Fleig, Headquarters Company, 8th Marines, Marine Division.

W. R. Page, president of the Greater Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, presented the plaque during informal ceremonies at the 8th Marines headquarters September 13.

The monthly award, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is stated through the quad-company and presented to the Marine who excels in his role as a Marine and a citizen of the surrounding community.

Corporal Fleig has moved from unit diary clerk to chief administrative clerk at the Headquarters Company office since his arrival there in June, 1966.

He has been cited for his intelligence, resourcefulness and dedication to duty while at all times maintaining an outstanding appearance.

Corporal Fleig, a graduate of Northeastern State Teachers College in Tahlequah, Okla., enlisted in the Marine Corps in February 1966. He underwent basic training at San Diego, California, and upon completion was assigned to Administration School at Camp Delmar, Calif.

Three Honored With Bronze Star Medals

Three 2d Division Marines were awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" here recently for their outstanding performance of duty while serving in Vietnam.

Decorated were Captain Richard R. Brammer of 2/10 and Lance Corporals Fred A. Martin and Calvin D. Sawyer, both of 1/8.

Capt. Brammer was an artillery liaison officer with BLT 2/3 in Vietnam, and it was with this unit that he distinguished himself during a search and destroy mission February 28, 1967.

Although wounded, Brammer, then a first lieutenant, disregarded his own safety to assist in the reorganization of his company to a better defensive position due to suddenly intense enemy mortar and small arms fire.

He was also commended for his "display of exceptional professional knowledge and keen insight in anticipating enemy movements and preparing intricate and extremely effective counter-battery and defensive fires that greatly reduced the effectiveness of the enemy attack."

Brammer also positioned and expertly directed defensive fire that helped alleviate a potentially disastrous situation.

Capt. Brammer is presently Plans and Training Officer with 2/10.

ing life-saving first aid.

"His loyalty to his friends and devotion to duty were instrumental in saving the lives of several Marines and were an inspiration to all who served with him," his citation read in part.

LtCol. Martin served as a machine gunner with "E" Company, 2d Battalion, 5th Marines, 1st Division, in Vietnam.

During Operation "New Castle" on March 23, 1967, his company came under intense enemy small arms, mortar and recoilless rifle fire. In the initial burst of fire, the lead squad sustained six casualties and was in imminent danger of being overrun by

What Happens If A Hurricane Comes

Hurricane Doria approached the East Carolina coast last week threatening heavy rains and damaging winds only to move up the coast and turn out to sea. Last weekend it swung back south and hit the Carolinas. By this time its force had dissipated and its resulting damage was negligible. What if it had struck when it was a full-fledged hurricane? What would it have done to the base and what could people have done to minimize its effects?

The hurricane season extends from the beginning of June through the end of November. The danger period has not passed yet. A hurricane might come at any time.

A hurricane is nothing more than a severe tropical storm with winds of 64 knots or greater. The U.S. Weather Bureau keeps a close eye on all tropical storms from their conception to their development as one of nature's most devastating forces.

The Bureau issues progress reports on these storms and updates the reports with changing conditions, as radio stations broadcast the reports.

In the event of a hurricane threat certain steps must be taken to protect the Base and its personnel. These steps are outlined in Base Order 3141.1D under a four-phase warning system.

Under this Destructive Weather Plan, Condition Four exists when a hurricane is possible within 72 hours. During this condition normal operations will be continued but initial precautionary measures should be taken to protect property and facilities.

Condition Three exists when the storm threatens to strike within 48 hours. Action to be taken under Condition Three includes the securing of all loose material which is likely to be dangerous as flying debris, preparing to secure all non-emergency activities on short notice, and preparing to evacuate and close the beaches. Normal operations are continued unless directed otherwise but initial preparations are begun for Conditions Two and One.

Condition Two exists when a hurricane is anticipated within 24 hours. During this condition all troops are called back from the field, routine training and non-emergency activities are

by MSgt. J. F. Brookshire

The other day I got up from my desk and took a walk to the Main PX. My intentions were to get some fresh air and to purchase some pipe tobacco. Little did I know that my walk would turn into a period of instruction on personal appearance, uniform regulations and military courtesy.

Let me tell you about this walk to the PX. I no more than stepped twenty-five feet from the building when the first thing I saw was a Marine walk right past a lieutenant without saluting. I called to this Marine to have a few choice words with him, and as he approached me, I could tell that his personal appearance was an equal match to his military courtesy.

First, his utility trousers were unbloused. Second, the field jacket he was wearing was not buttoned up and the sleeves had no buttons at all. Third, his utility headgear was positioned on the back of his head. Fourth, oh yes, back to the field jacket—he had enough gear in the pockets to fill a G. I. can, and to top this off, his uniform was dirty and his boots were crying for shoe polish.

I won't say what organization this so-called Marine was from because I like to think that other Marines of his organization must maintain a much higher state of military courtesy and personal appearance than he did (but you see, really I don't know).

Well, anyway, after I had a few choice words with this "so called Marine," I continued en route to the PX. I passed approximately thirty more Marines en route and had to stop about half of them for uniform corrections. Some of these Marines were NCO's. Let me mention some of the discrepancies—trousers not bloused, utility jacket out of trousers, no belt, jacket not buttoned up, headgear on back of head, padlock locked to trouser belt loop, and troopers going out of their way en route so they would not have to salute an officer.

Now we as NCO's, lets stop and take a good look at this situation! What's going wrong? First, let's look at one of our responsibilities as a noncommissioned officer. We are responsible to our commanders to see that troopers in our fire team, squad, platoon and company maintain a high standard of military courtesy, personal appearance in themselves and have the "want to look sharp feeling" when they put on their uniform each day.

Agreed, all men do not think alike—hence, this trooper that could care less about his military courtesy and appearance. Well, then, I say its about time that we NCO's change this trooper's way of thinking by checking them daily for appearance and military courtesy, and making on-the-spot corrections. The trooper does not have to be a member of your fire team, squad or platoon for you to correct him.

Remember, WE ARE ALL ON THE SAME TEAM, so let us as NCO's break out that promotion warrant and read into it, then break out the uniform regulations and bring ourselves up to date, then take a good look into the mirror. "Now!" Lets go to work!

GLOBE TROTTER

By: LCpl Bob O'Connell

Back in the 18th century North Carolina's coast was beset from stem to stern by pirates. Among the infamous freebooters of the sea were John Rackham, whose polka-dotted vest and striped trousers earned him the name, Calico Jack; Gentle Harry; Long Ben; Jack Ketch, and others.

But the most famous of these were three: Stede Bonnet, Ed Teach, alias Blackbeard, and Captain Kidd. Many of the old homes on the Outer Banks still bear the scars of grape-shot and cannon fire from the vessels of these men. More than artillery ships were left behind by the seafaring cutthroats, however.

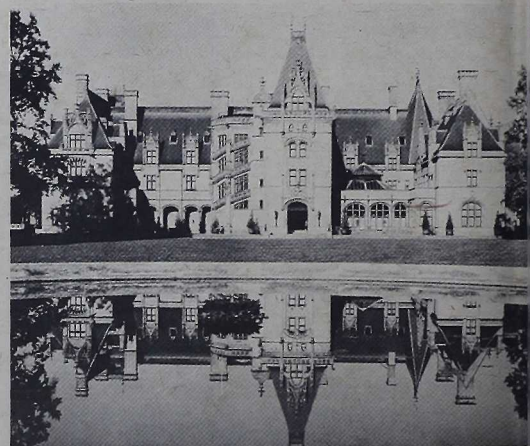

In 1938, a small chest filled with coins was unearthed on Island, near the mouth of the Cape Fear River at Southport. It found ignited new frenzy in the hearts of hard core treasure seekers and revived the dormant legend of Stede Bonnet's buried hoard of three million Spanish-milled dollars and pieces of eight on nearby Smith Island. Among other legends brought to the surface was Captain Kidd's alleged deposit on, of all places, Money Island, at Gravel Sound near Wilmington.

Although no large finds have ever been reported, numerous small discoveries have kept alive flickering hopes that some of the Tarheel coastal sands will reveal a fortune for the lucky hunter.

For the less ambitious, historical-minded hunters, pirate remains and artifacts are frequently found at such places as Battery Island, Ft. Caswell, Brunswick Town, Hatteras, Ocracoke, the Beaufort Banks, and along the shores of the Cape Fear, Pamlico, and Roanoke Rivers.

ot Like the 'Old Corps' 'Interior Decorating' lated For Force Troops

The spartan appearance of a Marine's traditional living space will be transformed into a more comfortable environment when Force Troops Marines make the move to the Force Troops complex at French Creek next year.

The transformation will be due to a small measure to the newly designed barracks furniture recently exhibited by the officer-in-charge of construction.

The familiar green double lockers will be replaced by a single four foot lockers with two doors, a storage compartment for gear and three drawers, of which may be locked for keeping valuables. The new living area will include desks with bookshelf, fluorescent light and three drawers.

Principles of interior decorating are welcome in modern military furnishing and they are evidenced clearly by the twin head and footboards for both single and double bunks. The closet, desk and bunk are made into a matching set by their identical tan formica surfaces.

When the "big move" is made to the French Creek barracks, Force Troops Marines will enjoy the new furniture in either two-man rooms with single beds and two desks or four-man rooms with two double-decked bunks and two desks.

MEDAL AWARDED - Major Raymond A. Becker, Communications Officer for the 6th Marines, 2d Marine Division, recently received the Navy Commendation Medal with Combat "V" for meritorious service as a communications officer in Vietnam.

Lejeune Marine Cited For Lifesaving Effort

A Camp Lejeune Marine, Lance Corporal Terry M. Law, has been cited by the City Commission of St. Augustine, Fla., for his heroism in saving the life of a drowning man there.

Law, while on leave August 19, saw a man floundering in a motel swimming pool. Without regard for his own safety, Law leaped from his car, dove into the water and rescued the helpless man from the bottom of the pool.

In recognition of his efforts, Law was awarded a resolution from the St. Augustine City Commission citing him for "his prompt and heroic efforts in saving the life of Mr. Napoleon Nunnally." The citation praised the Marine for his "concern for his fellow man and his willingness to aid and assist others who are in danger at the risk of his own life, all of which reflects credit upon the armed services of our nation."

Law recently returned from Vietnam, where he received the Purple Heart Medal while serving with the 3d Eight-Inch Howitzer Battery, 1st Marine Division.

He is now stationed with the 2d Eight Inch Howitzer Battery, 2d Field Artillery Group, Force Troops.

LtCol. Donahue Is New 2/2 Skipper

During a change of command ceremony held at the 2d Marines' gymnasium September 18, command of the 2d Battalion, 2d Marines was assumed by Lieutenant Colonel John J. Donahue.

He relieved Lieutenant Colonel James T. Breckinridge, who was appointed as the new Executive Officer of the 2d Marines.

LtCol. Donahue, a native of Philadelphia, Pa., was graduated from the University of Miami in February 1951 with a major in Spanish.

Entering the Marine Corps as an enlisted man in 1943, Col. Donahue served as a wire chief on Midway and Guam islands prior to his transfer to the inactive reserve in 1946.

Commissioned a second Lieutenant through the Platoon Leaders Course, he returned to active duty in 1951 and attended the Basic School in Quantico, Va.

During the Korean conflict, he served with "A" Company, 1st Battalion, 7th Marines, 1st Marine Division as a rifle platoon leader and later as Company Commander of Headquarters and Service Company, 4th Marines, 3d Marine Division.

From June 1955 until June 1958, Col. Donahue served as a Spanish instructor at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. Following this tour, the colonel was transferred to 3d Battalion, 8th Marines where he served as a company commander and S-4 (logistics) officer.

In April 1964, he was assigned to the Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba where he served as Operations and Intelligence Officer. Upon leaving the post in May 1965, he served with the U.S. Naturalization and Immigration Service in Miami, Fla., until reporting to Camp Lejeune.

Decorations awarded LtCol. Donahue during his career include the Silver Star Medal, two Purple Heart Medals, the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal, World War II Victory Medal, Navy Occupation Service Medal, Korean Service Medal with two stars and a United Nations Service Medal.

A HERO IS HONORED - Colonel D. H. Stapp, Commanding Officer, First Marine Brigade, has just unveiled a new plaque eulogizing Lieutenant Colonel Dyess' heroic actions in the battle for Roi Namur islands.

Dyess Field on Kwajalein

Airfield Rededicated

MARINE CORPS AIR STATION, KANEOHE BAY, OAHU, HAWAII, September 11 - In honor of Lieutenant Colonel Aquilla James Dyess who gave his life for his country and in so doing was awarded the Medal of Honor, a Marine detachment from the First Marine Brigade conducted a rededication of Dyess Field, Roi Island, Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands, September 6.

Colonel Dyess was killed Feb. 2, 1944, while leading an attack against enemy forces holding Roi and the adjacent island of Namur.

The colonel's citation states, "Undaunted by severe fire from automatic Japanese weapons, LtCol. Dyess launched a powerful final attack on the second day of the assault, unhesitatingly posing himself between the opposing lines to point out objectives and avenues of approach and personally leading the advancing troops. Alert, and determined to quicken the pace of the offensive against increased enemy fire, he was constantly at the head of the advanced units, inspiring his men to push forward until the Japanese had been driven back to a small center of resistance and victory assured.

"While standing on the parapet of an anti-tank trench directing a group of infantry in a flanking attack against the last enemy position, LtCol. Dyess was killed by a burst of enemy machine-gun fire."

The dedication ceremony began with a 15-minute exhibition by the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, Drum and Bugle Corps. Colonel Frank Healy, Commanding Officer, U.S. Army Kwajalein Test Site then introduced Colonel D.H. Stapp, Commanding Officer, First Marine Brigade, who delivered a short speech to the visiting inhabitants of the Kwajalein Atoll who crowded the dedication area.

Members of the color guard were furnished by units of the First Battalion, 27th Marines, based at Kaneohe and the invocation was delivered by Commander M.E. Fite, Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station Chaplain.

secured, and routine liberty and visiting are secured; however, married personnel are permitted to go home if they can be spared. At this point the hurricane shelters are opened and duty stations are manned as final precautionary actions are completed.

Hurricane Condition One exists when a hurricane is imminent or is actually in process. During this condition the Base may be closed except to emergency operations if so ordered by the Commanding General. Damage Control and Recovery centers are put into operation and personnel are directed to remain in shelters until the condition has passed. At this time sound trucks will cruise the housing areas giving instructions and transportation will be provided for those wishing to be moved to shelters.

In the event another hurricane threatens, here are some suggestions which will help you prepare. Keep listening to your radio for developments; don't listen to rumors. Find a good place to stay - high ground away from the beach. If you are staying in your house, stock up on extra food and supplies. Get extra batteries for your radio and flashlights and store up a supply of clean, fresh water and ready the first aid kit.

Check on everything that might be blown away or torn loose, such as garbage cans, garden tools, toys, signs, porch furniture, and awnings. Then keep calm and wait out the storm.

Concert Series Schedules Ticket Sales Deadline

Memberships may be purchased for the upcoming 1967-68 Jacksonville Community Concert Series through Oct. 7 from the Reservation Office at the Base Special Services Office or from any of the wives' club activities.

Tickets will not be available at the concert doors. The cost of the series tickets will be $4 for students, children, E-4s and below and their wives. For E-5s and above the cost will be $8.

For those who will reside here through only one-half of the concert series, special tickets may be purchased for half price.

Tickets will be good for the four concerts in Jacksonville and also for similar concerts in Goldsboro, Wilmington, Wilson and New Bern.

The schedule will bring the Columbus Boychoir on Oct. 28, the First Chamber Dance Quartet on Nov. 18, Beverly Wolff on Jan. 29 or 31 and The Indianapolis Symphony on March 5.

The Columbus Boychoir has: Presented concerts throughout the United States and Canada. Concerts were given at Carnegie Hall, The Academy of Music in Philadelphia and virtually every principal auditorium in the country.

The boys have sung with the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the NBC Symphony under Toscanini, and the Bach Aria Group. They made a film for RKO called "America's Singing Boys" which was shown in 8,000 theaters at home and abroad.

The Boychoir was originated as a community enterprise in Columbus, Ohio, led by Herbert Huffman. Assisted by the Kiwanis Club and the Broad Street Presbyterian Church, he founded the Boychoir School in 1940 with some 30 boys participating from the city.

The Boychoir then moved out of the city limits to perform on radio shows and gave national concerts. The boys gained critical praise from New Yorkers when they made their debut in Town Hall in 1943.

The boys have regular academic instruction in grades four through nine along with a full program of activities. They spend their days practically the same way as any public school student would. The curriculum differs only in its emphasis on music. Their schedule calls for three hours of rehearsal a day.

Enrollment in the ninth grade is small as a result of most of the boys becoming a wavering tenor or baritone instead of the true sopranos and altos demanded by the Boychoir.

Last Year the Community Concert Series came to Jacksonville for the first time and enjoyed a successful run. This season a greater ticket sale is expected.

THE COLUMBUS BOYCHOIR of Princeton, N.J. is scheduled to appear in Jacksonville through the Community Concert Series Oct. 28. They have presented concerts throughout the United States and Canada.

TRAVELING CHAPLAIN -- Chaplain J. F. Kirmtein, with Battalion Landing Team 1/2 (BLT 1/2) is transported from the USS Chilton (APA-38) to the USS San Marcos (LSD-35), by "high-line", a method of transferring people and materials between two ships at sea. He will use the "high-line" many times during the cruise to enable him to perform religious services for the entire Battalion. Chaplain Speaks

In a Washington, D. C. church just this last Sunday the minister of the congregation announced that henceforth the Lord's Prayer would not be recited in that church during the course of the service for it was irrelevant in this day and age and no longer had any meaning. The action by this historical church and its noted pastor is typical of the current fad in both the religious and secular world to separate oneself from the past and strive for something that is ultra-modern.

Our younger generation is in revolt and is sharply critical of anything and everything upheld by its elders. How many times have you heard voiced by spokesmen for the younger set, "You can't trust anyone over the age of thirty?" Young people are calling for a new political structure; they are clamoring for new art, new literature, and a new theatre; and they are demanding an end to the system of ethics and the moral pronouncements that have been part of our national life for many decades.

Now there's nothing wrong with shaking up the status quo from time to time and effecting worthwhile changes—in fact this is sometimes necessary. Jesus Christ set an example when He antagonized the religious rulers of that day, the pharisees and saducees, by blasting some of the antiquated ideas, rules, and dogma that they espoused. But, let it be remembered not once did He tamper with the fundamental moral code given to the Jews by the great lawman, Moses.

Today we have to have changes in our social establishment and we must remember that the law was made for man and not man for the law. However, the so-called new morality cannot replace the basic tenets for the governing of one's life prescribed by God Almighty and enunciated by Jesus of Nazareth. Stealing, murder, blasphemy, adultery, bearing false witness, downgrading God Almighty, are just as much sins now as they were 2,000 years ago. We may be living in the new age, but we are not excused from obedience to the moral law of the universe.

Protestant Sunday School Registration This Sunday

Protestant Sunday Schools will begin their fall registration this Sunday. Marine Corps Base Protestant Sunday Schools are located at Stone Street School, Midway Park Community Center, Tarawa Terrace Elementary School, and Montford Point Chapel Annex. Additional Sunday school sites are planned for January, 1968. The Stone Street Sunday School will register all pupils, youth and adult, at 9:15 a.m. Sunday. Parents of pre-school and first grade children will receive registration forms prior to Sunday and should return them with the children Sunday. Registration Day will also be promotion day for most pupils. The basic purpose is to place each child in the grade level which corresponds to his public school grade level. All registrations and promotions will be concluded by Sept. 30 thus providing for transition into the new quarter beginning October 1, 1967.

Chaplain J. V. Nickelson and Roy Wood have assumed leadership for the Stone Street Sunday School. Chaplains Brad Simmons and W. D. Weaver lead the Midway Park Sunday School. Chaplains B. C. Howland and D. D. Hathaway are in charge of the Tarawa Terrace Sunday School. Chaplain L. E. Allred supervises the Montford Point Sunday School. Registration plans for the schools other than Stone Street will be announced by the respective chaplains.

Military transfers have cut into the ranks of volunteer teachers and officers. All Sunday Schools are in need of volunteers for the several departments. Your help is solicited. Contact the chaplain responsible for the Sunday School in your area and volunteer your services. Chaplain J. C. Haney, coordinator of Protestant Religious education, may be contacted at the Base Chaplain's Office, 7-5633 or 7-5543. He will make referral to the proper area chaplain for you. Your help is needed to realize the high purposes and accomplishments of the Protestant Sunday Schools.

IN YOUR LIFE...

...BE READY WITH
U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

"PULL 'EM AND PASTE 'EM" is the monotonous command given over the p.a. system by Sergeant H. M. Albert, assistant butt NCO. His job is to keep the men in the butts hustling. The quicker they raise and lower the target frames, disc the holes, and paste up the tape, the quicker everyone can secure. About 700 shooters fire over all three rifle courses each morning five days a week.

REPAIRING AND REPLACING parts of the M-14 rifle is a full-time job for armors such as Lance Corporal J.E. Bellflower. More than 100,000 parts are replaced each year on the range. If weapons must be replaced during qualification week, the range keeps a pool of 280 ready for instant use. Safety is the armors' primary consideration in dealing with the weapons.

SHOOTERS ON LINE and preparing to fire on one of the Camp Lejeune Range's three "C" course ranges. Named A, B, and C ranges, they are efficiently run by Gunnery Sergeants L. W. Sparks, W. B. Baker and J. J. respectively. From the line to the butts these NCOs oversee the

...All Ready on Fire

Roughly 70 days from now the rise and fall of "Maggie's Drawers" will signal the year's weary end for the last of 15,000 tongues that will have licked 7 million pasters on the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range.

By November's end, 30,000 shooters will have squeezed off 8 million rounds since Feb. 1, enough ammo to make a belt that would reach from Building One to Wilmington, 56 miles away. That belt would keep an M-60 machinegun firing at maximum rate for 10 days.

Few military ranges handle the volume and variety of firing conducted here.

Situated in the southwest corner of the Base, the range complex includes three 600-yard ranges, one pistol range, a small bore indoor range, and one international range.

The ranges are open to all branches of military service. Last year alone, the Army, National Guard, Seabees, and Coast Guard fired on Lejeune's ranges, as well as 22,000 active and reserve Marines.

Leatherneck re-

qualification shooters are individually coached by men -- mostly combat veterans -- who know the M-14 as a third arm.

Competent coaching, experienced range armors instead of home unit armors, and preliminary re-qualification instruction at the range itself are all factors that have helped qualify 91 percent of the 15,025 Marines who have fired this year.

The "C" course, now in its third year of operation here, has taken on a new scoring system for 1967. Shooters now are forced to fire at all three silhouettes on the target frame in order to achieve a qualifying score of 45, as compared to last year's 65. There are no longer any bonus points, but the total number of hits at each stage is multiplied by the number of silhouettes struck.

Thus, if a shooter scattered five hits among three targets in the kneeling position, he would earn 15 points for that stage (5 times 3 equals 15).

A 70 score rates a sharpshooter badge, while a total of 90 points takes home honors.

If a shooter breaks down on adjustment, the armors will replace the direction of the Mark Donnell firing armory inspect the repairs to the weapons used on the range. The 100,000 parts is the greatest consideration for range personnel.

Sergeant James J. Fray, Jr. oversees the butts and repairing of the targets in a shed near the ranges. The precipitation holds production, and winds increase the placement of the elements keep constantly busy meet the Thursday deadline of the targets for Fray's ord fire.

If a Marine fails to qualify, it could be the first of a range, according to Lieutenant Colonel S. Wilder, 1st Infantry permanent personnel work credo.

Reveille sounds at 4:30 a.m. daily on the range, with the relays holding the squeezing to vements and operations that allow the shooters maximum safety firing conditions. The ranges are open 10 months of the year, from December. Approximately 30,000 shooters fired the ranges here

DISC-O-TARGET is the name of the game, and while it may not be fun, it is necessary and finished in less than two and one-half hours. Every hole in the target frame is disced, no matter whether it strikes the silhouette or not. The shooter is then given a look at his success or failure.

Firing Line...

700 shooters followed in the chow line by 1,700 famished ITR trainees from the Stone Bay area who continually try to eat Gunnery Sergeant G.R. Utter, mess hall NCOIC, out of house and home.

Despite the fact the mess hall seats but 570, menus and time tables are strictly adhered to, and peace and order prevail. Good weather, however, does not always prevail.

A little rain doesn't hurt anything, but too often in North Carolina -- like Morton's salt -- when it rains it pours.

If it pours in the afternoon, there is no harm done. But if it pours in the morning, it disrupts the shooting, which disrupts the shooters' lunch time, which makes the famished ITR stomachs growl a little longer.

In spite of bad weather, only one day's firing in the past 30 weeks has been lost to rain. "We may have to wait it out or speed up to beat it, but we're here to shoot," says Captain D.R. Knepp, range X.O. Heat has no bearing on the operations.

Billeting is the biggest problem facing

Building 11, nerve center for the range complex. "We've only got one barracks available to house the shooters," explains Capt. Knepp. "If there weren't a certain number of brownbaggers among the 700 shooters, we couldn't do it."

For the range personnel and barracks-dwelling shooters, there are ample liberty facilities available. An enlisted club, a theater, a gymnasium, an exchange, and a small laundromat are centrally located. A Bachelor Officers' Quarters, fire department, gas station, and dispensary are also situated within the range complex.

But the business is not without humor, and 1967 has been a banner year for it. There was the Navy nurse who lost her wig while firing offhand, the 52-year-old Seabee Chief who protested that he couldn't assume the prone position, the Marine reservist who tried to fire the 300-yard stage with a magazine full of blanks, and the right-handed Seabee reservist who attempted the sitting position with the sling on his right arm.

For the shooters, it will mean the start of the beginning of December will mark the end of the 1967 re-qualification period and the start of the Christmas season. But for 70 range personnel grand reopening.

HOLD 'EM AND SQUEEZE 'EM and hope for the best this coach is probably telling his pupil. Snapping in is only part of the instruction phase conducted at the range during pre-qualification week. This is the time for the shooter to iron out any flaws in his style.

Lejeune Bombs Grifton 40-0

The Devilpups buried Grifton 40-0 last Friday night under an avalanche of unbelievable broken field runs by Lejeune backs and a Scrooge-like defense which allowed Grifton a total offense of 76 yards as compared to 416 yards amassed by the Pups.

Buddy Charlesworth scored 18 points on two touchdowns and four extra points and Dennis Goss handled the other halfback spot with two TDs. Tim Slaton, the Pup quarterback, and Don Burton, a reserve halfback also lit up the board with 6 pointers.

INCOMPLETE PASS—Devilpup Buddy Charlesworth, No. 40, and Danny Dixon, No. 83, try for a pass.

Coach McGhee was visibly pleased with his team and he substituted freely to give his reserves valuable game time experience. He had special praise for his defensive unit which has now given up only seven points in two games.

The Grifton Bulldogs received the opening kickoff and started a promising drive from their 21. Bulldog quarterback Ken Owens flipped a 40 yard pass to halfback Eber Mitchell to highlight the drive but Lejeune guard Ted Rodarte led the Lejeune line in stopping the drive on the Pup 40. Grifton kicked to Lejeune and that's when the roof fell in. It seemed to the dazed bulldogs that the Pups turned into greyhounds (the buses, not the dogs) as Tim Slaton took off on a quarterback draw for a 77 yard romp to make the score 6-0. Charlesworth took it over for what has become the "old automatic" on a power sweep and the score stood at 7-0.

Several Grifton players watched the kickoff bounce on their two yard line and finally one of them dove on it as the hungry Pups were closing in to gobble it up. At this point Grifton left the game in spirit, if not in body.

They quick-kicked to the Pup 25 but Goss ran it in to the five and Charlesworth swept it over right end for the score.

Grifton fumbled on their own eight the next time they had the ball and Goss ran it over on a third and two from the two yard line and Charlesworth got the PAT making it 21-0.

Lejeune got the ball late in the second quarter and Charlesworth drove his bus through a hole in the right side of Grifton line, hit second gear and left everyone wondering if their eyes were not betraying them. No one, but no one, was within 20 yards of the Lejeune halfback when he crossed into paydirt.

Lejeune wasted a 77 yard TD run by Tim Slaton to open the second half as they were called for clipping.

The Pups scored on the next series of downs when they recovered a Bulldog fumble on the 28. Rich Fofar picked up 15 yards and Goss rolled around left end from the ten scoring the Pups 33rd point of the game. Charlesworth scored the PAT.

Don Burton scored the final points on sweep from the 22. Mike Evans, now the Pup quarterback threw the final block on the Bulldog safetyman to insure the score.

Travel to East Duplin Tonight

The Devilpups travel to East Duplin tonight in search of their third straight win. Last week they showed they were "for real" as they bombed Grifton 40-0.

The East Duplin team has a 1-2 record and it does not appear that they will give Lejeune a lot of trouble. Mickey Quinn quarterbacks East Duplin and they have a hard-charging fullback in a boy called Thigpen.

East Duplin is near Beaulaville out route 24 for those fans who are going to travel to the game.

This will be Lejeune's first away game and a test to see how they react to playing in unfamiliar surroundings. The October 20 game with Swansboro is shaping up as the game of the year as Swansboro is proving to be tough.

Pup JV's Dump Swansboro, 2-0

The Lejeune Junior Varsity squeezed by Swansboro 2-0 on a first period safety last week as they muffed numerous scoring opportunities.

The little Devilpup backs moved the ball well but could not put the ball over for the touchdown.

Keith Smith was the offensive line leader for the Pups and Bob Pehowic was the toughest linebacker for Lejeune.

BOXING—Thirty men have reported to try out for the Lejeune boxing team. Veterans Art Redden, Larry Armandirez, Les Brin, Hinton Wilson, and Richard Royal will anchor the team as they head toward the '68 Olympics. This gives Ray Rogers and J. C. Davis five former All-Marine boxers to work with.

This week the boxers will be doing mostly pre-conditioning drills in preparation for the eliminations and will be showing the coaches what they can do in order to land a berth on the team.

J. C. Davis says they have to "show me they have the determination to fight on the team. There isn't much time and the action will get hot and heavy next week."

Workouts are held from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 8 a.m. on Saturday.

FOOTBALL—The Devilpups played the Grifton game for Cpl. McGhee's daughter Deborah and she received the game ball on her birthday present. She was nine years old. Imagine the score in a game in which the Green Bay Packers played the College Stars if the Packers were playing for Sophia Loren's birthday.

The Eight-man Tackle Football League began play last Tuesday. Base Athletic Director Bob Williams reports that some teams are dropping out because of lack of equipment. There is not much time to represent a command with a good football team. Every time a team drops out it fouls up the schedule.

Dependent Boy's Football leagues begin play September 30. The first games will be played at the Tarawa Terrace football field at 9:30 a.m.

Ford Motor Company is now running its run, pass, and kick contest. There must be some dependent youngsters that can do that one.

SHOOTING—There is a big match held this week at the Rifle Range at Stone Bay. The Army Marksmanship Team will participate along with 19 shooters from the Marine Quantico. The match will begin at 7:30 in the morning.

Klages Wins Camp Golf Championship

By Major W. A. Merrill

Captain Bill Klages successfully defended his camp championship this past weekend despite excellent pressure golf by Sergeant Major Ken Postlewait. Klages was two strokes ahead of Sergeant Major Postlewait.

At the end of 36 holes, Captain Klages, with a 149, held a 3 stroke lead over Sergeant Jerry Postlewait at 152. However, at the going into the final 9 holes the tourney, Captain Klages, Sergeant Major Postlewait, and all even. The Sergeant Major picked up several strokes and at the end of 16 holes of the final round, held a two stroke lead. The par 3, 17th hole, a birdie Klages and a bogie by Postlewait saw the lead change hands. Klages picked up another stroke the final hole for a solid two stroke victory. Three strokes the pace, Sergeant L. Klyn, USMC Retired, came in with a 228.

Winner of the Eddie Mann Memorial Trophy, with a 36 hole net of 138, was Staff Sergeant Jerry Postlewait.

First flight winner was Staff Sergeant L.C. Bauchillon with 79-81 for a 160. Runner-up was Gunnery Sergeant T.C. Jackson, 78-82 - 160. Major "Buster" Keeton, USMC, tired, with an 85-84 - 169 was winner of the second flight. Master Gunnery Sergeant B.W. Keller came in with -86, -169.

A sudden death playoff was necessary to determine the third flight winner. Lt. W.R. Cribbs, -89-176 came out on top. Runner-up Gunnery W. Nowell finished.

ished the regulation 36 holes with a 91-85, -176.

Staff Sergeant H.C. Shuman, 89 - 86 - 175 won the fourth flight. Sergeant J.J. Bajkowski was runner-up with a 97-87 - 184 score.

The winter leagues are now going strong but there are still a few leagues that need Bowlers to make them a success so if you are interested please come to Bonnyman Center and let the secretaries know: Scratch Trio on Tuesday at 9 p.m. and the Thursday Nite Men's handicap league on Thursday at 9 p.m.

All League Officers and interested parties who missed the first Officer Training Workshop still have one more chance and that is September 30 at 1 p.m. at Knox.

There will be a meeting of the Earlybird Mixed League Friday, the 22nd of September at 6 p.m. in the meeting room at the Bowling center. All members are urged to attend. The league will start their winter season immediately after the meeting.

The Tournament of Champions will be held September 30 at 3 and 5 p.m. This will be a handicap singles tournament composed of two separate divisions, Ladies and Men, and will consist of a qualifying round and finals.

Eligibility: Must have been on a championship team or won a Bowler of the Month award and High Averages of each Bonnyman Center League from September 1, 1966 to August 31, 1967, for more details check at the control desk.

Marine Corps Wins National Rifle Matches

WASHINGTON, September 14—Marine Corps shooters captured honors at the 1967 National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Gunnery Sergeant Robert L. Bowen, stationed at Parris Island, S.C., led the individual Match. Gunnery Sergeant, who fired a 471 out of a possible 500, received a meritorious promotion to his present rank for his performance.

Marine marksmen also captured another top prize -- the National Trophy Team Match -- with a score of 2875-64X. Team members included, in addition to Bowen, Gunnery Sergeant Collier, First Lieutenant Hayden B. Russell of Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego; and Captain George Van den, First Sergeant John P. Schwartz, Staff Sergeant Richard Arbin, and Staff Sergeant Jerry Swell, all of Marksmanship Training Unit, Quantico, Va. Warrant Officer James Zahn of Marksmanship Training Unit, Quantico, coached the team and Master Gunnery Sergeant William Dunnam, also of MTU, Quantico, was the non-firing team captain.

In addition to his trophy as National Rifle Champion, Gunnery Sergeant Collier received the Daniel Boone Trophy Plaque and a trophy as the high scoring regular Marine Corps competitor.

Marine Second Lieutenant James R. Bowen of MTU, Quantico, won the National Service Rifle Championship -- the top National Rifle Association's award of the competition. His score was 1540-38X.

Another member of MTU, Quantico, Gunnery Sergeant Paul Holcombe, won a four-man shoot-off to capture the Wimbledon Trophy, symbolic of long range shooting supremacy.

Second to Gunnery Sergeant Holcombe in the bolt rifle competition was Gunnery Sergeant Eric R. England, also of MTU, Quantico.

Second Lieutenant Russell narrowly missed adding another prize to the Marine Corps' list as he finished second in the shooting for the Nevada Trophy.

The competition for the National Team Trophy climaxed this year's matches. More than 8,000 marksmen from all parts of the United States and several foreign nations competed for top shooting honors at Camp Perry from July 29 through September 1.

BIG WIN - The National Trophy, presented by the U.S. Congress for rifle team excellence, and won this year by the Marine Corps, is displayed for General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps, by the Marine Corps team coach, Chief Warrant Officer James A. Zahn. The famous trophy was first won by the Marine Corps in 1911. It was last won by the Corps in 1964. Left to right: Major William K. Hayden, marksmanship officer, G-3, Headquarters Marine Corps; General Greene, CWO Zahn and Colonel Walter R. 100 Swimmers, Divers Tryout For Devilfish

WATER DRILL — This helps to improve technique.

INSTRUCTION — Nancy Bieger says to do it the right way.

JIMMY BROWN comes out of a flip during practice.

ISOMETRICS are supervised by Mrs. Piere.

The Devilfish are in their sixth year as Lejeune's sanctioned AAU Age Group Swimming and Diving Team. This year 100 swimmers and divers are trying out for the team.

Mrs. Nancy Bieger, Mrs. Colette Piere, Lance Corporal Herb Mayer, and Hospitalman Ray Crowley are the team coaches.

The swimming team provides a program that enables many youngsters to participate in a sport which may be better suited to their physical and mental characteristics than football or basketball.

During the six year program many of the team members have received scholarships as a direct result of their swimming ability, which was developed while they were members of the Devilfish.

The program is open to any child 7-17 years old. Practice is held Monday through Friday from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and on Saturday morning from 9 to 11.

A typical practice begins with isometrics to strengthen the swimming muscles. Then the groups do warm-up exercises which begin with five to ten minute swims and are supplemented with calisthenics.

Swimming techniques are taught after a warm-up. Each member of the group has the opportunity to learn the proper technique for the stroke he is trying to master. Many hours of work go into this part of the training.

The long, hard training ends happily for some as they win swimming and diving titles and disappointingly for others as they learn how to live with occasional defeat. "One of the best aspects of the program," says Nancy Bieger, "is that they learn how to win and lose and how to work hard for something they want."

Quad Command Highlights

SECRETARY COMMENDED — Major General Joseph O. Butcher presents his secretary, Mrs. Doris Brown, with a Certificate of Award for her "outstanding performance from July 66 to July 67." Doris, a resident of Jacksonville, has been serving as secretary to the commanding general of Marine Corps Base since 1963. Her husband, Master Gunnery Sergeant Pat Brown, is currently serving at Headquarters Marine Corps.

STAFF PROMOTION — Sergeant Major James C. Palma, Base Sergeant Major, offers congratulations to Congressional Medal of Honor winner, Alferd L. McLaughlin on his promotion to staff sergeant. Major General Joseph O. Butcher promoted Sgt. McLaughlin in the Commanding Officer's briefing room at Base Headquarters. SSgt. McLaughlin won the Medal of Honor in Korea.

BATTLEFIELD COMMISSION -- Second Lieutenant James E. Roy, serving with the Field Medical Service School, Montford Point, has the "bars" of his new rank pinned on by his wife Zita as Colonel Robert R. Weir, Commanding Officer, Marine Corps Supply Schools, congratulates him. Lt. Roy received the commission as a result of his service in Vietnam with the 2d Battalion, 4th Marines, 1st Marine Division. Capt. B.F. Duwel, USN, CO of the Field Medical Service School, is in the background.

NEW CO — Captain Leslie D. Burnett is the new Commanding Officer, Headquarters Company, Force Troops, relieving Captain Jake E. Libbey. Captain Burnett reported here from the 1st Marine Air Wing in Vietnam.

HONORED — Major Ralph E. Brubaker of New Bern, N.C., was recently awarded a Gold Star in lieu of a fourth award of the Air Medal and a Purple Heart Medal for wounds suffered July 6 while serving with Marine Attack Squadron-311 in Vietnam. He is currently at the U.S. Naval Hospital here.

Sgt. Keller Top Graduate

Sergeant Michael D. Keller, of Service Company, H&S Battalion, Camp Lejeune, was recently named Honor Graduate of the 2d Process Photography Course at the U. S. Army Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

Sergeant Keller compiled the highest overall academic average in a class of 17 students, to whom diplomas were awarded at graduation exercises held here at the Engineer School.

HIGH SHOOTER -- High Re-qualification shooter at the Rifle Range last week was Sgt. D.F. Wilson Jr., 2d Shore Party Battalion, who fired a 150.

FAREWELL HANDSHAKE — Hospitalman 2d Class Edw. L. Dawson (left) receives a farewell handshake and Honorary Discharge from Major Richard L. Prather, Commanding Officer of 2d Motor Transport Battalion, 2d Marine Division. Dawson is retiring after 20 years of service with the United States Navy, thirteen of which he spent with Fleet Marine Force as a corpsman.
