

Navy Relief Drive Begins Today

The 1967 Navy Relief Fund drive gets underway today at Camp Lejeune, with the goal, according to Fund Drive Chairman Colonel J. R. Motelewski, "doing as well as, or even passing, last year's contributions."

The drive is scheduled to run til June 30. Donations again will be from the purchase of membership coupons.

Membership is open to all members of the Quad - Command, dependents, retired military personnel in the Camp Lejeune area, and civilian employees of these commands.

"Every effort must be made to ensure that all eligible persons are afforded an opportunity to donate to the fund drive," Col. Motelewski, said.

Last year, the committee contributed $77,000 to the Navy Relief Fund. All receipts are sent to headquarters of the Navy Relief in Washington, D. C., where allotments are made to Relief auxiliaries all over the world.

In recognition of its service and accomplishment in both military and civilian circles, numerous organizations have commended the Navy Relief.

From the Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, "... Again let me express sincere gratitude for past service and wish you success in this year's fund drive."

Dr. Eleanor H. Williams, Onslow County Health Director, in a letter to the Auxiliary, said; "We certainly wish the Society the greatest success in the oncoming fund drive."

Edward C. Sexton, Director of the Onslow County Department of Public Welfare, expressed appreciation for the many helpful gestures in assisting his office and sent his "best wishes. . . for every success in this drive."

Chaplain F. R. Morton, Base Chaplain, predicted that personnel aboard the Base would "evidence their 'Well Done' by 100 per cent participation in the. . . drive."

Two Lejeune Marines Awarded Silver Star

The Silver Star Medal, the nation's third highest award for valor in combat, was awarded recently to two Camp Lejeune Marines, Captain George M. Connell and Corporal Larry J. Yeddo, for their services in Vietnam.

Capt. Connell was also awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" and a Gold Star in lieu of a second Bronze Star. Cpl. Yeddo served with the 1st Amphibian Tractor Battalion, 3d Marine Division, while Capt. Connell was a company executive officer with the 2d Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment.

Yeddo, a native of Malone, New York, was decorated for his bravery on December 5, 1966, when he was with a column of five amtracs moving through enemy infested territory south of Da-Nang.

When Yeddo's tractor hit a land mine and burst into flame, heavy small arms fire immediately came from insurgent communist forces concealed in the surrounding brush. Thrown from his tractor by the force of the exploding mine, Yeddo sustained multiple cuts and abrasions.

Disregarding his own injuries he aided a crewman and an injured infantry man from the burning vehicle.

Realizing his driver was still in the amtrac, Yeddo again returned to the flaming tractor and pulled the seriously injured Marine to safety.

Seconds later the burning vehicle was consumed by flames and totally destroyed.

Corporal Yeddo's daring actions and uncommon endurance were not only instrumental in Beware of Snakes...

With the coming of Summer also comes the hazard of snakes, especially in and around the housing areas of the Base.

Children should be cautioned to keep out of undergrowth and thick grass. If a child is bitten by a snake, he or she should be kept quiet and an ambulance called (7-3211) immediately.

At the same time, grass cutting equipment creates a serious hazard for children. Rotary mowers throw stones, wire or any foreign material quite a distance.

Street sweepers, dumpster trucks and the various maintenance equipment which operates within the housing area are great attractions for children but also very dangerous.

Children should be told to play baseball or softball only in areas where they cannot cause personal or property damage ... parents are responsible for any damage or injury caused by their children.

A reminder to occupants of government quarters that Section II of the tenant handbook, BO P11101.32B outlines the responsibility for lawn care, pruning of shrubbery, barbecue grills, and wading pools. Paradise Point residents are responsible for trimming grass around driveway head walls and ditch bottoms along the road.

Remember that "Camp Lejeune's Beauty Is Your Duty," and play it safe with our children.

The High Cost of Speed...

It would take the reenlistment bonuses of six sergeants, reenlisting for six years and drawing the maximum variable reenlistment bonus, to equal the amount of money paid by Lejeune Marines as fines during the past four months.

According to reports from the Provost Marshal's Office, Marines from this Base paid the city of Jacksonville a staggering $24,822.86 from January through April in fines.

The fines were paid for all and any offenses for which a person can be fined, however, it is safe to assume that most of the money went to the city as a result of traffic violations.

At the same time, the city of Kinston, one of the favorite liberty spots for Lejeune Marines, netted $2,679.00 from the Marines for like offenses, within the same four-month period.

Meanwhile, in Wilmington, N.C., Lejeune Marines paid that city a handsome $4,198.45 in fines for the same period.

Add it up for yourself, it comes to $31,700.31 for the three cities for just four months of one calendar year.

No matter how you look at it adds up to a lot of waste by unthinking Marines from this Base.

Toward a Civic Action Program

EDUCATION AND TRAINING IN THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES: THE ROLE OF U.S. FOREIGN AID edited by William Y. Elliott. The book's recommendations emphasize that the basic need is for leadership training and guidance in administration, education and technology, rather than for massive dollar aid.

A TIME TO BUILD: MILITARY ACTION: MEDIUM FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND SOCIAL REFORM by Hary F. Walterhouse. Colonel Walterhouse (USA Ret) examines the problems and precepts of military civic action historically, providing brief case studies of programs in the Philippines, Guatemala, Africa, and Vietnam. Although military-civic action is only one aspect of foreign assistance, in areas of unrest it is a practical expression of the military man's civic responsibility.

SOVIET ECONOMIC POWER: ITS ORGANIZATION, GROWTH AND CHALLENGE, 2d ed. by Robert W. Campbell. Significant changes in the Soviet approach to economic planning between 1960 and the present are reflected in this new edition.

THE LONG LONG WAR: COUNTERINSURGENCY IN MALAYA AND VIETNAM by Brigadier Richard L. Clutterbuck. A British officer, with wide experience in guerrilla conflict explains the Asian pattern of insurgency warfare developed in China, Malaya, and Vietnam and the political and military counter-techniques evolved in the twelve year Malayan struggle.

Man and His Heritage

Using colorful, often amusing examples, Lorenz shows that aggression is one of the basic life-preserving instincts for both the animal and human species. The author concludes that by understanding human behavior and its biological heritage, man has a chance to learn to control his aggression.

IN TERRITORIAL IMPERATIVE by Robert Ardrey. The author investigates and interprets one facet of aggression--territorial behavior in animals and men. His fascinating and provocative comments challenge many widely-held assumptions.

CONDUCT ON LIBERTY

With the coming of spring and the warm weather, Marines from Camp Lejeune again are heading for the resort beaches on liberty to enjoy a well-earned rest and change from the demanding duty and training. A word of caution - Be careful HOW and WHERE you choose to "let off steam" and otherwise enjoy yourself.

Save yourself and the Marine Corps the embarrassment and inconvenience of being apprehended for disorderly conduct or public drunkenness and having your liberty secured. On the first weekend one beach resort opened, 12 Camp Lejeune Marines were apprehended by civil police. The fines and bonds ranged from $20.00 to $100.00 - a total of $390.00.

The fine alone can ruin what might otherwise have been a pleasant weekend, and then you have to face your company commander on your return. By counseling the Marines of their unit on proper conduct on liberty, company commanders can save all concerned considerable time and needless effort involving office hours and trips to court. THINK.

PARENTS, PLEASE GUIDE AND CONTROL YOUR CHILDREN

Another problem upon us with the coming of pleasant weather is the increased number of children playing in the streets of the housing areas. Common sense should tell you that this is a dangerous and undesirable practice.

We have already had two dependent children hit by automobiles in the housing areas this Spring not entirely the fault of the driver. There are many convenient areas for the children of this Base to play without endangering their lives and limbs by playing in the streets. THE BEST AND SUREST WAY TO INSURE THEIR SAFETY IS PARENTAL GUIDANCE.

If your child is injured while playing in the street, you will have one but yourself to blame ... KNOW WHERE YOUR CHILDREN ARE AND WHAT THEY ARE DOING ... You'll save yourself and your children unnecessary grief and suffering.

BICYCLE SAFETY WEEK

The week of May 15-20 has been proclaimed Bicycle Safety Week by the Commanding General. (See Base Bulletin 5100 dated 25 April 1967) Your children will receive special instruction at school concerning bicycle safety and will have an opportunity to have their bicycles safety-checked. Saturday, May 20, inspection stations will be open to check any bikes which are missed during the week.

The most flagrant and dangerous practices have been riding at night without proper lights and riding on the hard surfaced roads during heavy traffic and not pulling over for motor vehicles. Both of these practices are invitations to disaster. What we already had one serious accident involving a bicycle rider this year, and, undoubtedly, before the summer is over, there will be more.

The number of these needless accidents can be greatly reduced - and not completely eliminated - if everyone will observe the rules of bicycle riding. For the information of all concerned, ESPECIALLY THE PARENTS, Base Traffic Regulations are quoted in part.

"a. Bicycle riders shall observe the same traffic rules and regulations as are required of motorists in these regulations and will ride on the right edge of the roadway with the flow of traffic in single file only.

b. The riding of bicycles is prohibited on sidewalks and nonmotorized areas unless the rider is provided with a valid permit for more.

c. When crossing a hard surface roadway, the bicycle rider will dismount and walk his bicycle across the roadway.

d. Bicycles shall not be operated after dark unless equipped with illuminated headlights and rear reflectors or light."

I will greatly appreciate the voluntary assistance of all parents in enforcing these rules ... We may save YOUR child!

Volunteers Only As 'Mine Truck' Drivers

By GySgt. Jim Northrop

PHU BAI, Vietnam, April 22—Marine truck drivers of the 3d Motor Transport Battalion, stationed here, face possible death so that needed supplies may be trucked to fighting Marines south of the demilitarized zone.

The mission, on which only volunteer Marines are assigned, is that of driving the mine truck at the head of armed truck convoys hauling supplies from the huge Marine supply depot at Da Nang to Dong Ha, south of the DMZ.

At designated points along the route, radio checks were made with Marine headquarters, giving progress reports on the convoy. Overhead, Marine helicopters and observation planes kept a look-out along both sides of the route for Viet Cong.

The light observation aircraft also served as spotters for Marine artillery batteries, standing by in case of attack. In addition, U.S. Navy ships were standing off shore, their guns ready, to assist

He expertly drove his truck around two mine craters in the road, evidence that other mines had been detonated within the last couple of days either by civilians or military vehicles.

Further along Franklin shifted down for the long hard climb up through Hai Van pass. The road narrowed, the curves were sharper as the long line of trucks made their way up the 3,500-foot pass.

Keeping in radio communication at all times, the lead trucks made the summit and pulled over to stop. The ARVN interpreter checked with Vietnamese and Marine security forces to see if the road was clear of traffic coming up the other side. Loads were checked, ropes tightened and tires checked before the downward leg of the journey.

One-way traffic now, descending the high mountain, The South China Sea came in sight. Drivers were busy now, shifting down and braking their trucks going down the steep mountain road until at last the flatlands were in sight.

At Da Nang the trucks were unloaded, serviced and checked prior to being loaded with critically needed supplies. More trucks were added until the convoy totaled more than 100 for the return trip to Dong Ha.

The drivers grabbed a hot meal and a few hours sleep and were ready for an early morning start on their "Beans, Bullets and Bandages" run.

MEMORIAL FUND — Mrs. James J. Carroll of Cleveland, Ohio, presents a check for $2500 to General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps, as part of the "J.J. Carroll Memorial Fund" honoring the late Captain J.J. Carroll who was killed in action in Vietnam.

Memorial Fund Established For Hero of 'J. J.' Ridge

WASHINGTON, April 27 — With the aid of friends and neighbors in her hometown, the widow of a heroic Marine officer will keep alive the memory of her husband by helping children in the land where he died.

Mrs. James J. Carroll, of Cleveland, Ohio, recently presented a check for $2500 to General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps.

The money, representing initial contributions to the "J.J. Carroll Memorial Fund," will be used exclusively to provide support for Vietnamese orphanages located near where Captain Carroll was killed in action last October.

Captain Carroll earned the Navy Cross for heroism during Operation PRAIRIE from September 27 to October 5, 1966, while serving as the Commanding Officer, "K" Company, 3d Battalion, Fourth Marines, 3d Marine Division, while in action against North Vietnamese forces.

He was mortally wounded on October 5, when hit by a shell fragment. After his death, his men named the ridge on Hill 400 in his memory calling it "J.J." Ridge. Now an artillery park and military base in that area -- Camp Carroll -- is named in honor of the Captain.

A 1960 graduate of Notre Dame University, he was commissioned a Marine second lieutenant upon graduation. Prior to reporting to Vietnam in July 1966, he had served in USS ORISKANY, and with the 2d Marine Division at Camp Lejeune; and had completed the Basic Airborne Course, Ranger Course, Army Special Warfare School and the Mountain Leadership School.

SANDBAGGER — Marine PFC Robert L. Franklin stacks sandbags on the lead truck before starting on a Marine convoy. Franklin is a volunteer mine truck driver with 3rd Motor Transport Bn. The mine truck is sandbagged heavily to ward off injuries in the event a mine is detonated on the convoy route.

To meet the problem of mines placed by the Viet Cong over the 110 miles of Highway 1, the longest convoy route in Vietnam, the solution is a simple one--sandbag the floorboards, fenders and the rear bed of a 2-1/2-ton truck and start driving to clear the way for the rest of the convoy.

The lead driver is trained to detect suspicious looking mounds of dirt on the potmarked blacktop, freshly filled chuck holes, and wires across the road. In addition, he is alert for snipers and possible ambush by the Viet Cong.

When told of this development just before starting on a trip, PFC Robert L. Franklin, 19, driver of a mine truck, stated, "This is a job that has to be done and I am ready."

With that statement Franklin started his truck and launched a convoy of more than 80 trucks.

Following the mine truck in a jeep, the convoy commander, 1st Lt. W.E. Thompson, led a U.S. Army 2-1/2-ton truck carrying bed-mounted quad .50 cal. machineguns, crew-served by U.S. Army troops, one of several in the convoy.

Scattered on trucks throughout the convoy were Marine riflemen, on the alert in case of Viet Cong ambush, snipers or any other trouble enroute.

Once on the road, the mine truck sets the pace for the convoy.

the Marine truck unit, Huey gunships buzzed overhead, giving assurance that quick, devastating fire power was available as the trucks entered "AVC Country."

Another village and another check point, this time U.S. Marines were at the check point. The Marines were members of one of the combined action companies serving throughout I Corps, guarding strategic hamlets, villages and points along the highway.

The convoy cautiously approached the village of Phou Loc, one of the danger areas. Just the day before, an ARVN truck was mined and a bridge was blown by the Viet Cong. Marine engineers were there to repair the bridge and they lost a truck that hit a mine which wounded three Marines.

The Viet Cong have started to plant plastic mines that escape detection from the hand-carried mine detectors. Marine engineers made a sweep of the bypass around the blown bridge and the way was clear.

The trucks drove through with no incidents. Franklin, commenting on the hazards of driving in wartime, said, "I feel motor transport plays a very important part in supplying troops in the 3rd Division. I like the job of driving and feel I am contributing something to the war effort in Vietnam."

saving the lives of several Marines but were an inspiration to all who observed him.

Corporal Yeddo, currently serving with Force Troops' Second Amphibian Tractor Battalion, was presented the medal by his commanding officer, Major William M. Yeager.

Connell was awarded the Silver Star for his actions when "a Marine rifle squad came under intense fire and sustained heavy casualties from an estimated reinforced Viet Cong company. Connell, then a First Lieutenant, daringly led a tank-infantry assault on the flank of the superior enemy force.

"As a result of his aggressive leadership and presence of mind, despite intense enemy fire, the combined Marine force killed thirty - seven enemy soldiers during the fierce fire fight.

"Lt. Connell's courageous actions at great personal risk undoubtedly saved the lives of many Marines and contributed significantly to the accomplishment of the mission," the citation concluded.

Capt. Connell received his first Bronze Star, "For meritorious service in connections with operations against Viet Cong forces in Vietnam while serving as a Platoon Commander and subsequently as a Company Commander with the 1st Battalion, 9th Marines Regiment from April 1965 to October 1966.

Although painfully wounded by fragments in his neck and arm, Connell directed the expeditious evacuation of the wounded, refusing evacuation for himself until his unit had returned to friendly lines.

The Gold Star in lieu of a second Bronze Star was presented to Capt. Connell, "For heroic achievement during Operation Swamee, 15 miles south of Da-Nang. At the time of his action, Connell's company came under heavy enemy mortar and small arms fire from concealed enemy positions in a tree line.

"With complete disregard for his own safety, he continuously exposed himself to dangerous enemy fire in order to effectively maneuver his company and direct the fire of his men.

"As a result of his aggressive actions, 37 Viet Cong were killed, 12 captured and the remainder were forced to withdraw to a large corn field, where an additional 20 Viet Cong were killed by air strikes.

"In a large measure, due to Lt. Connell's outstanding leadership and resolute determination, the enemy suffered heavy casualties and the company's mission was accomplished without the loss of Marine lives."

In addition to his triple medals, Capt. Connell is the recipient of two Purple Heart Medals for wounds sustained while serving in Vietnam.

A native of Weymouth Mass., he is presently serving as Commanding Officer, "F" Company, 2d Battalion, 6th Marine Regiment, 2d Marine Division.

However, he recently extended in the Marine Corps, and is awaiting orders for duty aboard the USS Shangri-La (CVA-38).

Gunny Cox Named New Chief for Division D and B Corps

Gunnery Sergeant William H. Cox has assumed the duties of Drum Major and Non-Commissioned Officer-in-Charge of the Marine Division's Drum and Bugle Corps.

GySgt. Cox

Cox replaced Gunnery Sergeant Richard Edinger, who will report to Fort Meade, Md., to form a new drum and bugle corps. Edinger was Drum Major here from January 15, 1966 to April 15, 1967.

A native of Joliet, Ill., and a veteran of over 18 years military service, Cox has been in the music field most of his military career.

He has headed Drum and Bugle Teams in such places as: 8th and "I", Washington, D.C.; Headquarters Fleet Marine Force Pacific, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; Marine Barracks, Yokosuka, Japan; and the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, Iwakuni, Japan.

In 1961, he was the NCOIC of the Field Music School at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Prior to his assignment here, Sgt. Cox was the Drum Major of the 3rd Marine Division Band in South Vietnam.

Camp Lejeune Welcomes New Episcopal Chaplain

Chaplain Christian R. Wolf has reported to the 2nd Marine Division from duty in Vietnam. He will be assigned to a Division Battalion, and will conduct Episcopal services in the Base Chapel each Sunday at 8 a.m.

A graduate of Hobart College and General Theological Seminary in New York, he entered the Chaplain Corps in 1964 following a parochial ministry in the Diocese of Long Island. Since then he has seen duty at the Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif., and with Amphibious Squadron Seven.

Prior to the assignment of Chaplains to the Support Activity in DaNang, Chaplain Wolf was designated "Harbor Chaplain" to the many units active in the area. His activities carried him from the Delta to the DMZ as well as on Operations Starlight, Piranha, Prairie and Hastings.

YARD OF MONTH—Master Gunnery Sergeant A. S. Pettinelli is awarded the "Yard of the Month" certificate by Major General Joseph O. Butcher, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base. Smiles For Naval Officers

ANNAPOLIS, MD. (NAVY NEWS) — About 200 midshipmen the Naval Academy are wearing braces on their teeth. When they become Naval officers they so will have straight teeth — and beautiful smiles.

The midshipmen provide a full schedule for an orthodontist who takes their teeth his primary responsibility. The program is unusual because he works only with adults.

This method of avoiding dental problems began twelve years ago, when Captain Joseph Faltermayer, DC, USN(Ret.) started treating midshipmen, with the help of a civilian orthodontist. They averaged about 60 patients a year.

Orthodontics is an important part of the Navy's preventive dentistry program. Crooked and misaligned teeth may cause gum disease or permanent loss of teeth, resulting in expense and discomfort.

Soccer Ace Swears by 'That Ole Tin Lid'

By LCpl. Michael K. Taylor PHU BAI, Vietnam, April 20—would be difficult to convince pl. Dennis M. Checkett, 24, of Louis, Mo., that a helmet is important.

Checkett, a squad leader for a 10mm mortar squad in the Ninth Marine Regiment has visible proof to back his argument.

During Operation Big Horn, his unit was sweeping up the "Street without Joy" when they were hit by automatic and small arms fire. Checkett was ordered to set up his mortars to return fire.

As his men began to set up, an 81mm mortar round landed in the area. The only casualty was Checkett, a piece of shrapnel, 3" by 1/2" went through the top of his helmet and penetrated his scalp slightly. If it had not been for the helmet the fragment would have entered his skull.

"All I got out of it was a headache and four stitches," he said.

Checkett has been in Vietnam for 16 months and will return to the U.S. in May.

During Operation Macon last year he earned the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" for heroism in action.

Checkett, a 1963 and 1964 All-American center-halfback and Captain of the 1964 Michigan State Soccer Team left college to enter the Marine Corps and come to Vietnam. He plans to return there to finish his pre-law studies when he is discharged.

Stand-by Flights Require New Form

As of May 1, 1967, military personnel traveling by air in leave status are required to have in their possession a properly executed DD Form 1580 to qualify for the half fare rate. Airlines will refuse to honor the half fare rate for those without the new form. They will, however, accept a form executed by the Navy desk at the airport as an interim measure.

State Bonus Information

A current listing of State Bonuses was published this week in Base Bulletin 1740 and those eligible are urged to check the contents for deadlines and pertinent information.

Illinois announced a deadline of July 1, 1970 for Vietnam vets to apply for the $100 bonus. Applicants must have lived in the state for 12 months prior to active service.

While Vermont has not yet authorized a Vietnam bonus, it did place a deadline of July 1, 1967 on application for the Korean bonus.

Under the Illinois bonus, eligible survivors of servicemen who were killed in Vietnam or died from Vietnam-connected causes would receive $1,000. Write the State Treasurer for forms.

Chaplain Speaks

Since May 7-14 is observed as family week in our church calendar, I am reminded of the story about a modern young lady being approached by a real estate agent who wanted to sell her a home.

"A home?" she cried in amazement. "Why do I need a home? I was born in a hospital, educated in private schools and camps, courted in an automobile, and married in a church. I eat in restaurants and clubs. I spend my mornings on the golf course, my afternoons at the bridge-table, and my evenings at the movies. When I die I am going to be buried at the undertakers. All I need is a garage."

Perhaps this is an exaggeration, but it is a fact that many of the historical functions of the family have been transferred to other agencies. Instead of teaching children at home, many parents now hand them over to the school and the church.

Educational experts tell us now that it is far better for a child to be brought up in a home of poverty where there is a loving relationship, than in a public institution, where facilities are provided but home life is lacking.

They tell us that the experiences of childhood, especially of the very early years are permanently built into the character of a child. Your response to life today, the way you react to the ups and downs of your daily living, the extent to which you are childish or grown-up in your attitudes, depend largely on what your mother and father taught you by precept and example before you were ten years old.

In my humble and honest opinion, it is in motherhood that we have the nearest approach in human terms, and the most definite hint in our human experience, of the perfect and transcending ideal of the love of God. Not in all mothers do we find this; but in many mothers it stands out loud and clear and distinct, the blinding, passionate love that nourishes and guides and directs, that redeems and restores and recreates; and because we feel this in some mothers as the nearest approximation of the divine love, we honor motherhood as a whole on Mother's Day.

Mother's Day makes its appeal to us because in the highest ranges of motherhood there is something that speaks of the love of God and the sorrow of God. In the chief and finest of our human relationships we are helped towards an understanding of God's revelation in a crucified Christ. For a mother's love, in the success or the failure of its offering, expresses something of the inexpressible that is divine grace.

George Washington once said to the Constitutional Convention: "There can be no government without morality; there can be no morality without religion; there can be no religion without God." Perhaps we might well add, there can be no Christian character without Christian Homes.

SPEX 1200 VISITORS FOR SPEX

The Second Marine Air-Ground Task Force (SAGTF) welcomed 1200 visitors during a three-day exercise at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. Designated as SPEX 1-67, the operation was held at Cherry Point and Bogue Field by Fleet Marine Force I, commanded by Lieutenant General A. L. Bowser. The first day was a dress rehearsal for viewing by military and civilian officials. Visiting Marine Corps Staff College and the Navy Marine Corps Command College. The visitors included the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing (2dMAW), 46 (Sea Knight) helicopters to Bogue Field for a morning viewing of the demonstration. The SATS demonstrated combat conditions where the aircraft landed in the shortest possible distance by using gear. LtGen. Bowser introduced the Commanding General, Major General Norman J. Anderson, and Brigadier General John E. Williams. The command of the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Colonel Leonard J. Williams, 24, located description of each event. In addition, he was "talked" to a Skyhawk. At the conclusion of the exercise, the control tower, catwalk, and crew members were on hand to answer questions. After eating lunch, the visitors saw a marine rifle platoon. After first describing the mission, the assault began. When the squad leader called for air support to strike, the use of simulated artillery, tanks, and high explosives silenced the enemy. Each day of the exercise, Team 2/6 (BLT 2/6), were lined up along the beach, displaying the equipment needed for deployment. During this exercise, the visitors, placed on bleachers, acted as a narrator and their equipment. "County Fair," which weapons and question the assault by Marines. The final event was a flying aircraft while the Navy's (F) cleared the beach of obstructions. Then the beach was loaded with Marines, and the exercise continued. Following this, rough simulated strafing and bombing, provided by destroyers, continued. The amphibious landing was by air and by sea, with the landing at Riseley Pier, and easily seen. One of the exercises being "talked" to a Skyhawk.

SATCHEL charge silences "enemy" pillbox.

FLAME THROWER squelches "enemy" fortification.

THE LANDING Signal Officer, with his assistant, "talk" a Phantom Jet into the arresting gear.

11th Frame

By MARY ANN McARTOR

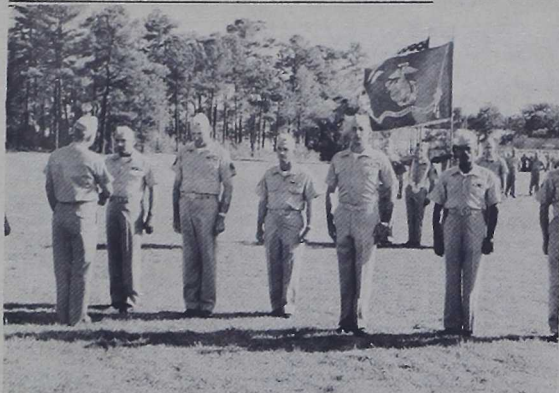

The spot light shifted to the women this week when both Vera Flynn and Pat Dillard bowled a hundred pins over their averages and earned the WIBC Century Awards.

Vera Flynn's big game was a staggering 267; just about 102 pins over her average. Pat Dillard, with a 133 average, turned in a 246 game. Congratulations girls!

And now it's time for me to say good bye, John has already gone and as soon as the kids finish school we'll be heading for Indianapolis to wait out the thirteen months.

I hope that I managed to include your name when you did something great here at the Bowling Center. However your "great things" usually out-numbered the amount of lines that were allowed for a column; so I hope you'll understand if you were missed.

Beginning next week Bob Ausherman will write the Eleven Frame. When Bob isn't bowling here at Bonneyman, he's working here; so we thought that he would be just the man to pass on all the news first hand.

CINEMA SUMMARY

RIDE THE HIGH WIND

An adventure story, this flick is of a down-and-out small-time pilot who crash-lands in a remote portion of the North African desert and stumbles upon a ruthless killer whose jealousy of his wife is exceeded only by his greed for the gold which he is transporting across the desert.

Filmed in color and starring Warren McGavin and Maria Persky, the movie's greatest virtues are in its on-location shots of Africa.

EVERY DAY IS A HOLIDAY

Marisol, one of Europe's most popular entertainers but a complete unknown in this country, is the star of this "family" musical.

The 17-year-old singer, dancer, comedienne and actress, she has chosen what the American audience is likely to consider as the real vehicle for displaying her many talents.

The plot of the film concerns itself with Marisol's attempts to break into big-time bullfighting despite the fact that she is a girl, having duped Spain's most famous toreador into believing that she is a courageous young boy, she proceeds to impress him with her tenacity and agility in the ring.

If the paper-thin plot and the novelty of the cast can be overlooked, then the musical core of the film, the color and excitement of modern-day Spain, and the tension of the bullfight make this movie a worthwhile experience.

MONKEYS, GO HOME

The magic touch of Walt Disney is prevalent throughout this laugh-loaded comedy. The Master's hand weaves plot and players so flawlessly that it is little wonder he is regarded by thousands as the most gifted filmmaker of all time.

Dean Jones has the leading role in this fun-filled family flick, and he is supported by Yvette Mimieux, Maurice Chevalier, and four of the most irresistible female monkeys ever to romp before the cameras.

The movie was shot on location in southern France which offers breath-taking background shots. Filmed in Technicolor, the film is a "must" for Disney fans, animal lovers, and funseekers.

40 GUNS TO APACHE PASS

Audie Murphy stars in his umpteenth Western, this time playing the role of a U.S. Cavalry Captain whose job it is to escort a homesteading family across the savage plains to the fort at Apache Wells. The cowpokes and settlers are ambushed by the Apaches (who else?) and in the ensuing battle lose possession of their greatest protection, 40 repeating rifles. Audie sets out alone to recover the guns and thus save his honor and the lives of those he loves.

Co-starring Kenneth Tobey, the movie was filmed in color and Panavision.

THE FORTUNE COOKIE

While maneuvering his portable TV camera on the 25 yard-line at a football game, Harry Hinkle (Jack Lemmon) is steam-rollered by "Boom-Boom" Jackson and admitted to the hospital. His brother-in-law, who is a long-winded, unscrupulous, conniving, amoral lawyer convinces him that all Harry has to do is pretend that he's hurt much worse than he really is and the two of them can then sue the stadium, the team, and the broadcasting company for an aggregate of one million dollars. Since the money can be used as bait to entice his wife to return to him, Harry agrees.

What follows defies description, but suffice to say that seldom has the screen been filled with such mad-cap antics.

Walter Matthau is perfect as the lawyer (so perfect, in fact, that he was awarded the Academy Award as best supporting actor of the year). Judi West plays Lemmon's wife. Produced in Panavision and Technicolor, the flick is one of the best comedies to come out of Hollywood in quite some time.

MUMMS the Word

by Cpl. John E. Griffin

A new term has recently been added to the vocabulary of well-informed Marines. That term is MUMMS --Marine Corps Unified Materiel Management Systems--which began operating throughout the Corps

ply management system

--a single Inventory Control Point (ICP)

-- redesignation of the present Supply Centers as Remote Storage Activities

--conversion of the present stock accounts, including Base Materiel Battalion lected to serve as the workhorse of the system.

MUMMS is composed of 15 functional subsystems. Only two, Direct Support Control and Mechanization of Warehousing and Shipment Processing are essential to the operation of the Remote Storage Activity located here.

The former encompasses the shop stores and clothing outlets, Self Service Center, subsistence stores and ammunition dump operated by Base Materiel Battalion. Materiel will be obtained from these outlets over the counter much as it has in the past.

The latter sub-sys-

Boyd, Headquarters and Service Company, Base Materiel Battalion operates the Remote Tele-Processing Equipment (1050 System) which puts MUMMS data on punch cards to be fed into the IBM 360 Computer. The equipment is composed of three IBM units; a Tele-Processing Reader, a Tele-Processing Printer Keyboard, and a Tele-Processing Printer Card Punch.

MUMMS is the new supply management system which replaces the present system and conforms to the system used throughout the U.S. Defense establishment.

Major objectives of the new system are:

--an integrated sup-

--assignment to the single ICP in Philadelphia of all management responsibilities.

To accomplish these objectives a computer of unprecedented capability was needed.

A comprehensive series of computer programs have been developed to ensure maximum mechanization of the entire system. With the exception of the physical handling of the materiel, little paperwork is required of supplymen, from the time of receipt of materiel until it is on its way to the customer.

Simplicity for the customer is one of the major considerations in the structure of the system. The system has been designed to LECTURE -- Major W.D. Everett, Executive Officer, Base Materiel Battalion, conducts a class on MUMMS, pointing out the requisition and billing cycle of the new system.
