23 No. 11

Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Thursday, March 16, 1967

Medals, Awards Highlight Ceremonial Parade Today

Ten Camp Lejeune Marines are to be presented decorations at formal ceremonies today on the Base Parade Ground.

The ceremony includes the presentation of one Bronze Star, one Joint Service Commendation Medal, five Navy Commendation Medals, one Army Commendation Medal, a Purple Heart, and one Certificate of Commendation.

The ceremony begins at 2:00 p.m. when the band will sound attention upon the arrival of the Commanding General.

Following the presentations by the Base Commander, the troops, members of Headquarters and Service Companies will pass in review.

Presentations will be made by Major General J.O. Butcher, Base Commanding General, and Major General Ormond R. Simpson, Commanding General, 2d Division.

Receiving the Bronze Star is 1st Lieutenant Richard G. McHenry. Lieutenant McHenry was a platoon commander with "D" Company 1/9 in Vietnam.

He is cited for outstanding service in this assignment and a later billet while in Vietnam from June 16, 1965 to October 5, 1966.

Lieutenant McHenry is presently with Headquarters Company, Headquarters Battalion, 2d Marine Division.

Major General Joseph O. Butcher is to receive the Joint Service Commendation Medal for meritorious service as Senior Member, United Nations Command, Military Armistice Commission, U.S. Forces, in Korea. Major General Ormond R. Simpson will present the award.

General Butcher was in Korea from April, 1966 to October, 1966.

Three Marines are to receive Navy Commendation Medals for meritorious service while serving with Force Logistic Support Group Alpha in the Republic of Vietnam.

These are: Master Sergeant Charles G. Lamback, Jr., Master Sergeant James E. Stack, and Gunnery Sergeant Donald M. Oulette.

Sergeant Lamback served in Vietnam from December 19, 1965 to January 10, 1967. Sergeant Stack was there from November 22, 1965 to December 10, 1966. Sergeant Oulette served from October 21, 1965 to November 4, 1966.

The Navy Commendation Medal will be awarded to Staff Sergeant Adam B. Bagley. Sergeant Bagley was an aerial gunner with Medium Helicopter Squadron-263, Marine Aircraft Group-16. He was cited for heroic actions on November 8, 1966 in the Republic of Vietnam.

Staff Sergeant Manuel Roman will also receive the Navy Commendation Medal. He is cited for outstanding service as Motor Transport Chief, "C" Company, 3d Tank Battalion, 3d Division in the Republic of Vietnam from December 11, 1965 to December 13, 1966.

Base Provost Marshall, Lieutenant Colonel Ivar R. Svenson, Jr., will be decorated with the Army Commendation Medal. Colonel Svenson is cited for the "highest degree of enthusiasm and professional knowledge" while serving with Artillery School, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

A Certificate of Commendation will be presented to Staff Sergeant James P. Glennon for outstanding performance with the 3d Motor Transport Battalion, 3d Division, in the Republic of Vietnam. Sergeant Glennon was in Vietnam from September 26, 1965 to October 8, 1966.

Gunnery Sergeant Harold England shall be awarded the Purple Heart for wounds he received on September 28, 1966 in the Republic of Vietnam.

Fund Drive Far Behind

The National Health Agencies' International Service Agencies' Fund Drive is at midpoint and the campaign is lagging behind expectations.

Lieutenant Colonel Lyman E. Cawn, Fund Drive Chairman, urged the contributors to reach the goal of 100% giving. He also said that "since personnel benefit from the health agencies' programs of research, education and service, cooperation in the form of a generous contribution is certainly in order."

In addition to 100% giving, he listed as an important goal the widespread use of a designation by which contributors can make their gift among the agencies of their choice.

There are two more paydays before the campaign closes on March 7. This means every person has the opportunity to give better health, to combat poverty, and to fight oppression.

Personal Finance Speaker Slated

Dr. Ray Jones, a distinguished professor from the School of Business of East Carolina College at Greenville, N.C. will give presentation on Personal Finance Planning at the Camp Theatre beginning at 1:15 p.m. on March 29.

Dr. Jones' discussions will include such topics as credit buying, insurance programs, investments, and other financial planning matters.

All Company Grade Officers and Staff NCO's of the Tri-Command, Marine Corps Air Facility, and Marine Air Group-26 are invited to attend.

Tell-Tale Signs

Been finding those tell-tale white slips of paper on your windshield when you come out of work?

Chances are you expected that the paper would be there when you came back to your car, for that's the penalty for parking your car in a reserved spot anywhere on the Base.

A favorite excuse is probably, "the space wasn't marked as a reserved parking lot" or, "I was only parking there for just a few minutes." What ever the excuse, it's still illegal and cars will be ticketed.

Of the non-moving violations which come before the weekly traffic court, the greatest amount are for illegal parking in reserved or marked lots.

Most units have set aside spaces for visitors but usually when we look for them there is a car in them and more often its there for the day.

Reserved parking spaces are controlled by the Area Commander of the space involved and they are limited to key personnel.

Most parking areas are clearly marked to instruct incoming drivers that the area and numbered spaces are reserved and violators are letting themselves in for much trouble.

One of the most frequent places where parking violations occur is in the parking lot directly behind the Base Headquarters, or Building One.

Parking in this area is controlled by the Base Commanding General and the only vehicles allowed to use the spaces are those clearly marked with a special parking sticker.

While we're on the subject of parking, let us be reminded of unlawful parking places on the Base.

Parking is not allowed:

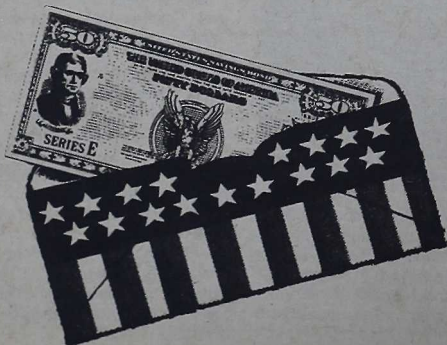

- within 15 feet of fire hydrant
- on any curb of any road
- at any curb painted yellow
- within 15 feet of any stop sign, traffic sign or traffic warning device
- within an intersection or on a cross-walk
- within firelanes in training areas
- upon any road bridge
- in front of a driveway

These are just a few of the areas where you cannot park. For the complete breakdown of proper parking and all traffic regulations regarding the Base, study Base Order P5560.-2C.

There is sufficient parking for all vehicles aboard the Base and the volume of parking tickets which flow into PMO daily can be curbed simply by using the right parking lots.

Do your part to help make someone else's job a little easier and at the same time ... save yourself some trouble ... it's not any picnic to appear in traffic court.

Star-spangled gift idea

SELECTED EASTER READINGS
by Lucile G. Crawford

THE CENTURION

by Leonard Wibberley.

It is the sympathetic, yet enigmatic figure, the Roman centurion who officiated at the Crucifixion, that the author has made the focus of this novel of Christ's Ministry and Passion. He not only achieves a thoroughly fresh interpretation of the Gospel story, but also imbues it with a shrewd appreciation of human motives and its wonder implicit in his juxtaposition of Jesus and the hard-bitten veterana, Longinus--a stern, dutiful man completely loyal to Rome and unreligious except as he paid lip service to the Roman gods.

EASTER AND ITS CUSTOMS

by Christina Hole.

Written by one of England's leading authorities on folklore, the author tells the fascinating story of how the people of the world celebrate Easter, describing the entire drama from shortly before Ash Wednesday through the miracle of the Ascension.

THE SON OF MAN

by Francois Mauriac.

This work follows the Gospel account of Christ and His teachings with special attention to the Suffering Christ as being particularly meaningful to suffering man today. It is a penetrating and luminous presentation of the great drama involved in the human struggle between the flesh and the spirit.

THE LIFE OF OUR LORD

by Henri Daniel-Rops

All people, Christians and non-Christians alike, will welcome a simple, short, and accessible introduction to the Gospels. Whether the reader is newly approaching the Gospel story of his studied it so often he takes it for granted, he will find new meaning for his daily life.

AS WE REMEMBER HIM

by Donald Sazanho Harrington

In the pages of this book, the reader will meet Jesus as seen by sixteen of his friends and enemies. The first-person narratives add flesh and blood to the bare bones of the Gospel and explore in the imagination the fullness of the actual events. Readers of all ages will find this book enjoyable and rewarding.

JOURNEY THROUGH THE

by Luis Alonso Schökel

Be an armchair traveler and travel first class. This book gives the reader the sense of immediacy, the feel of excitement with and about the past. When the author speaks of Jericho, Nineveh, stables of Solomon, you are there, seeing the past as it was, augmented with the knowledge of the present.

HOPE FOR MAN

by Joshua Loth Liebman

The author, a multifaceted human being, cogently refutes the modern school of pessimism with a positive statement of a modern, practical and basically very optimistic philosophy, one that embraces life instead of rejecting it. One will find a much broader approach to life as the author guides the reader through the pathways of the art of living to the goal of inner serenity and offers personal designs for happiness.

from the PROVOST MARSHAL

by LtCol. O. Ivar Svenson, Jr.

If the Easter Bunny leaves a pet chicken, rabbit, or duck in Easter baskets, remember your Information Handbook for Occupants Family Housing (BO P11101.32B) states that all pets must be proved by the Commanding General, except dogs, cats, and birds. Speaking of pets, has your's been re-registered? The annual rabies vaccination program and registration program for 1967 (BBul 6230 of 7 Mar 1967) is in effect until March 18. If you miss re-registering your pet at a station in your housing area, there will be a veterinarian and registration clerk at Tarawa Terrace Marine Barracks between 1:00 P.M. - 3:00 P.M. A certificate of rabies immunization dated after 1 January 1967 or the green tag incident thereto must be presented at the time of registration. If your dog was vaccinated in 1965 or 1966 and you have the blue red tag, it will be accepted as evidence of immunization. Cats and other mammalian pets must be vaccinated annually.

If you are an employer of a day worker or baby sitter, you are reminded that if they earn $50.00 or more from you in a calendar quarter, they should be covered by social security. Your failure to file a quarterly social security tax return may cost you all but taxes, plus 6% interest, plus a penalty up to 25% of the total. Write to the Director, Internal Revenue Service in Greensboro, N.C., and request the circular for day workers and baby sitters (BO 5512.8A)

Since the weather has warmed up, I've noticed an increase in people running along the streets ... but on the wrong side of the roadway ... Your traffic regulations state that pedestrians shall walk on the LEFT side of the roadway FACING ONCOMING TRAFFIC and shall be at a distance of at least three feet from the hard shoulder. Sidewalks will be used where they are available.

CONGRATULATIONS to two level-headed Marines. The PROVOST MARSHAL "COMMON SENSE AWARD" for the first half of March goes jointly to the Marine who had the intelligence to put his initials on a $50.00 bill which was later stolen from him. The initials enabled the bill to be identified by an alert cashier and positively identified by the victim. Result ... CONVICTION OF A THIEF AND RECOVERY OF STOLEN PROPERTY. The other recipient is a Marine who remembered to fasten his seat belt and SURVIVED WITHOUT INJURY when the car in which he was a passenger rolled over an "undetermined number of times". The driver, sitting beside him, did not have his seat belt fastened ... he is DEAD.

"SELF INFLICTED WOUND AWARD" ... There are so many candidates, the decision is difficult; therefore, this week's award will be in "categories". The individual award goes jointly to a Marine who dropped his wallet containing $120.00 CASH in a clothing sales dressing room ... 30 minutes later he found his wallet WITHOUT THE MONEY. The other stroke of genius was by a Marine who left his wallet with $84.00 IN CASH in his shaving kit in the dressing room while he took a shower ... of course ... the money was stolen. The group award and number one candidate is the "SELF INFLICTED WOUND OF THE YEAR AWARD" is a group of simple-minded maniacs who participate in unorganized drag races ... while drinking ... in unsafe vehicles ... that manage to kill two participants. One NUT raced with his wife and children in the car. DRIVE DEFENSIVELY ... they may get YOU next.

The organization was founded in 1949 by LtGen. Julian C. Smith, USMC (Ret.) and it is headed today by its President, Adolph Patterson. The purpose of the organization is to encourage and perpetuate the history and traditions of the Division along with the memory and friendship of its members.

Sgt. Major, E M Wives Meet to Map Orientation

Representatives of the Enlisted Wives' Clubs at Camp Lejeune met with Base Sergeant Major J.C. Palma March 13 to discuss the forthcoming Enlisted Wives' Orientation Program.

The Sergeant Major called the meeting to disclose pertinent information regarding the program to the club representatives.

He opened the meeting with the announcement that Major General J.O. Butcher, Base Commanding General, would be among the speakers for the program.

Sergeant Major Palma said that the program was planned to educate the enlisted wives on the "many wonderful facilities the Base has to offer."

"Behind every good married Marine is a good Marine Wife," he added.

Over 4,000 invitations have been sent so far, according to the Sergeant Major.

He stressed that although an effort was being made to reach every enlisted wife on Base by formal invitation, invitations were not necessary for admittance to the program.

He pointed out that, "If we can communicate, we can operate successfully."

If successful, plans will be made for a quarterly program of this type.

The program will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 12:00 noon March 23 in the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club. Transportation will be provided, as shown in schedule below.

Among the representatives present were: Mrs. Barbara Hancock, Staff NCO Wives' Club; Mrs. Judy Walls, Midway Park Club; Mrs. Margaret Clark, Knox Club; and Mrs. Evelyn Cobb, Tarawa Terrace Club.

Seabee Units Train Here

Two Seabee units are currently in training here.

Reserve Seabees of U.S. Naval Reserve Mobile Construction Battalion (RMCB) 12 are scheduled to conclude two weeks of training March 17 with a "Pass in Review" ceremony.

Mobile Construction Battalion (MCB) 74 began three weeks of extensive training Friday in preparation for deployment to Southeast Asia.

MCB 74, a regular Navy Seabee unit, is training at Stone Bay under the direction of the 1st Infantry Training Regiment.

In addition to defensive tactics and crew-served weapons instruction which RMCB 12 received here, MCB 74 is given basic infantry training, counter insurgency and mine warfare training, bridge and leadership schools and a week of field exercises.

"Operation Teenager" will be the subject of a presentation to be given by GySgt. F.M. Eddings March 21 at the Camp Lejeune Junior-Senior High School at 7:30 p.m. Parents of teenagers are urged to attend this informative presentation.

CARIB TOUR - Brigadier General John E. Williams, Commanding General, Force Troops, is introduced to Tank Commander Corporal Jacob C. Metcalf by his Commanding Officer, 2d Lieutenant Richard Needham of the 2d Tank Battalion during the General's inspection tour of Force Troops units in the Caribbean. The General inspected and visited units at Guantanamo Bay, Vieques Island, San Juan, and Saint Thomas during his tour.

ECC Psychology Course Offered at Camp Lejeune

Psychology 375G, Abnormal Psychology, will be offered by East Carolina College at Camp Lejeune at the Camp Lejeune High School during the spring term.

Psychology 375G is a three quarter hour senior-graduate course which may be used for renewal of "A" and "G" teaching certificates if the course does not duplicate previous credit and if the course is pertinent to the teaching field. It can also apply toward the Master of Arts Degree upon official admission to the East Carolina College Graduate School.

The class will begin on March 29, and will end on May 29, 1967. Each class will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

For further information contact the Extension Division, Box 2737, East Carolina College, Greenville, North Carolina, 27834.

MEMBERS of D Company, MCB 74, build a structure for Regimental Maintenance, 1st Infantry Training Regiment. The Seabee battalion's members spent the week, prior to their scheduled training, building needed supply bins for 1st ITR.

Activities Calendar

OWC Group II

The Antique Show sponsored by Group II on March 17 will be held from 11:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. at the COM(open). There will be no admission charged. A lecture by Mr. Jeffries of Wilson will be given at 1:00 p.m.

OWC Group V

Mrs. James C. Short and the ladies of Headquarters Battalion of the Sixth Marines invite the members of Group V and their husbands to a Champagne Brunch on March 19 at the COM(open). The social hour will begin at 12:30 p.m., and brunch will be served at 1:30 p.m.

The Sitter Service will be open if enough reservations are made, so be sure to call well in advance.

The Hawaiian Club

The monthly business meeting for members of the Camp Lejeune Hawaiian Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. on March 20 at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center. All persons of Hawaiian birth are cordially invited to attend. For further information, call John Mahinu at 353-0616.

The Staff Wives' Club will hold a meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Tarawa Terrace Community Center. The program will consist of games and prizes. All Marine Staff Wives' and Navy Wives' of comparable rank are invited to attend.

Girl Scout Week Is Observed Here

A cake-cutting ceremony, dinner and tour of several base facilities were held here Wednesday in honor of Girl Scout Week, March 12-18.

Eight Senior Girl Scouts visited the Data Processing Installation, Base Communications and the Woman Marine Barracks in a tour hosted by Major Elsa Farman, Commanding Officer, Woman Marine Company.

Ceremonies highlighted by song and speeches kicked off the week's activities here Sunday at Goettge Memorial Field House.

Approximately 500 Girl Scouts and their parents took part in commemorating the organization's 55th anniversary.

The theme for Girl Scout Sunday was "Follow the Piper", a slogan symbolizing the scouts' universal aim to expand membership, particularly to underprivileged girls.

Capping the week's events Saturday will be basic first aid instruction for 60 Junior Girl Scouts at the Field Medical Service School and a tour of the Counter-Guerilla Warfare Center for 40 Cadette Girl Scouts.

Project Officer is Chief Warrant Officer Lou Cabral, Headquarters and Service Battalion, Marine Corps Base.

SCHOLARSHIP HOPEFULS - Candidates for a newly designed Para-Medical Scholarship are guided through the U.S. Naval Hospital by HMC C. W. Cox. The scholarship is offered annually by the Jay-C-Ettes of Jacksonville.

Brewster Hosts Science Fair

Parents and students crowded the auditorium of Brewster Elementary School recently to attend Brewster's Annual Science Fair.

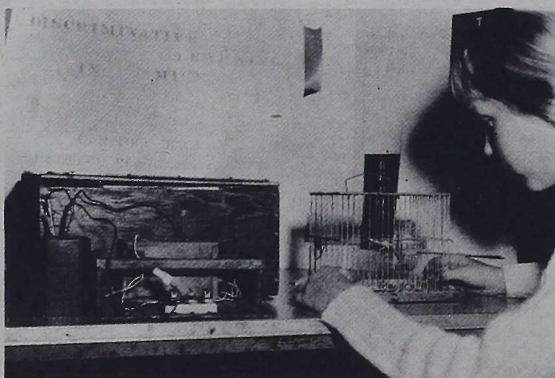

The Fair, held March 7-8, had one of its largest gatherings in recent years according to Brewster principal D.L. Linker.

The Fair consisted of displays, prepared by members of the seventh grade classes at Brewster, depicting experiments that students had performed.

Divided into two groups--biological sciences and physical sciences--the displays were judged for accuracy, originality, and presentation.

Kimberly Ray, daughter of Captain (USN) and Mrs. M.U. Ray, won first prize in the biological division. Her display, entitled "Discriminative Learning in Mice," described experiments in the reaction of mice to electrical currents. First place in the physical sciences was awarded to Sally Mize for her display on "Experiments in Cloth." Sally is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Charles D. Mize.

PRIZE WINNER - Kimberly Ray straightens up her display, "Discriminative Learning in Mice", at the Brewster Elementary Science Fair. This display won first place among the biological science displays.

BEFORE AND AFTER - Sally Mize won first place among the physical sciences with this display at the Brewster Science Fair. The display is entitled "Experiments with Cloth."

Marines Complete Safety Course

Marines of the Tri-Command Civilian Department of Defense personnel, and U.S. Postal Department Officials recently completed a Supervisor's Safety Course. The course was given by the Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Standards.

Presenting the course was Mr. F.A. Valentino, Safety Consultant with the Office of Occupational Safety, Department of Labor in Baltimore, Maryland.

The two day course was held at the Marine Corps School, Montford Point, and covered supervisor responsibility, hazard recognition and control, and accident causation factors.

Certificates of completion were issued to the 24 personnel in attendance.

Problem Children Discussed Here

Dr. J.F. Morrow, psychiatrist, and Dr. M.A. Lovinsky, Clinical Psychologist, will be presenting the March 20 meeting of the Wives' Club to give a talk on "Emotional and Behavior Problems in Children". The meeting will be held at 7:30 P.M. in the Recreation Hall and we are asking all interested wives in the Trailer Park not to miss this interesting program.

NOTICE

The Infant of Prague Holy and School Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the school gymnasium Tuesday night, March 21 at 7:30 p.m.

The Third Great Seige Of Malta by BLT 3/8

WITH THE U.S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (DE-LAYED) - The third "Great Seige" of Malta (a small Mediterranean country) commenced January 30, 1967 as Marines of Battalion Landing Team 3/8, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Robert L. Nichols made an administrative landing on the northwest part of the island, Ghajn Tuffieha.

Throughout the centuries, the recorded history of Malta has always been one of storm and turmoil with the island changing hands between eastern and western empires time and again.

In 1565, Malta successfully withstood an attack of Turkish barbarians and during World War II, the island withstood an attack by the German war machine of Adolph Hitler. These two have become known to the Maltese as the first and second "Great Seiges".

The third "Great Seige" made on Malta by United States Marines was different from the first two however because it was made under full approval of the nation of Malta, so much so that more than 500 "curious Maltese" lined the beach of Ghajn Tuffieha to see the invaders come ashore. The administrative landing labelled PHIBLEX 7-67 had begun.

The Marines waded ashore and after hitting the beach, they separated into two groups and proceeded to two former British Army Camps. The farthest camp was located at Ghadir Bay, a distance of four miles and was occupied by two rifle companies and the BLT's Artillery Battery. Captain Frank Butler, Commanding Officer of Battery C-1-10 commanded that camp and set up his own garrison organization.

Meanwhile the rest of the Battalion moved into Ghajn Tuffieha camp which was closest to the landing beach, BLT headquarters was also established here. Most Marines were surprised and pleased to find out that they were moving into barracks with electric lights and hot and cold water instead of tents as they had done on previous landings.

The next morning saw the Marines starting the training which would continue for 14 days. Formations began, inspections were held and drill and physical fitness became a daily performance.

Due to a limited amount of tactical training areas, the primary aim of the training program dealt with the building up of soft muscles acquired through shipboard life.

BLT 3/8 for 14 days marched over Malta. It didn't matter whether they were going to chow, a classroom or to a rifle range, they still marched. Every Marine participated in two 10-mile and one 15-mile "conditioning" hikes as well as a PRT test. By the end of their stay on the island, every Marine had walked at least 100 miles.

To augment the marching program, the Marines went over a former Royal Marine Commando assault course which consisted of climbing nets, swinging ropes, wide ditches and high stone walls. After going over this course a few times, many Marines found their agility and stamina returning.

On one Sunday afternoon, eight Marines and eight men from the Kings Own Malta Regiment participated in a rifle match. The Marines were using their 7.62 mm M-14 rifles and the British the FM Mausers of the same caliber. Each man fired approximately 60 rounds from the off-hand, kneeling, sitting and prone positions on the 200 and 300 yard lines at stationary and moving silhouetted targets. On that day both sides put on a commendable display of marksmanship with the Marines coming out ahead at the end.

During their off-hours, Marines participated in intramural sports, including volleyball, soccer, baseball and football. Soccer seemed to be the most popular among the Marines. Time was found and Marine teams were organized to participate in several games with the local British teams. The teams didn't always finish first, but win, lose or tie, numerous friends had been made.

During the evenings movies were shown and the enlisted clubs sold everything from pre-sugared grapefruit juice to pickled eggs. On the weekends, liberty was granted and the Marines toured the country side and visited the capital of Malta, Valletta.

On several occasions the Marines had the great pleasure of listening to the Royal Marine Band and the Loyalist Band play numerous numbers during the noon meal.

The highlight of the visit of the BLT to Malta took place on February 11, when the BLT presented a battalion size review for the British Army personnel and Maltese in appreciation for the generous assistance and warm welcome afforded them.

The reviewing officer for the parade was the Assistant Commanding Officer of Troops, Malta and Libya, Brigadier The Lord Grimthorpe. Also present, were many U.S. citizens residing in Malta, including the U.S. Ambassador to Malta, the honorable Mr. George J. Feldman.

On February 14, the Marines closed their camps and moved back aboard the waiting ships.

Chaplain Speaks

"SOMETHING"

It doesn't really change. Now it's ticker tape and confetti instead of palms. And the air is split with "Hip! Hip! Hooray!" and "For he's a jolly good fellow!" instead of "Hosannah to the Son of David". And there is usually a white Caddy convertible instead of a donkey. But come Monday morning Sunday's hero is headed straight for the fickle oblivion of the work-week, until the evening papers scream and hawk the prosperous scandal of yet another Good Friday: Christ and His two-by-fours have made the scene via mortar and punji sticks; Golgotha turns up at the coffee mess in the staff office and at the field exercises.

Is it really, then, so amazing that Sunday's palm became Friday's nails? Does "Hail, Son of David" always have to wind up "Let Him be crucified"? Once in a creation is enough.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES

The following is a list of the Divine Services to be conducted during Holy Week and on Easter:

Catholic Services - At the Base Catholic Chapel on Palm Sunday, the Masses will be at 7, 8, 9, and 11:30 a.m. The blessing of Palms and a Procession will be held at the 7 a.m. Mass. There will also be a high Mass at 10:15 a.m. The regular Sunday Mass schedule will prevail throughout the area except as listed above.

A triduum on the Passion of Christ will be observed Monday through Wednesday, March 20-22. Masses on Monday and Tuesday will be at 11:45 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. On Wednesday, Stations of the Cross will be observed at 7 p.m., as well as the Masses at 11:45 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. Confessions will also be heard from 11:30 a.m. - 12 noon and from 4:30-6 p.m.

On Holy Thursday, there will be a Low Mass at 11:45 a.m. and a Mass of Concelebration at 5 p.m. Confessions will be heard from 3:30 - 5 p.m.

On Good Friday, Confessions will be heard from 11 a.m. - 12 noon, and the Good Friday Liturgy will be recited at noon. Stations of the Cross will be held at 12 noon at the Montford Point, Camp Geiger, and Courthouse Bay Chapels.

The schedule for Holy Saturday calls for Confessions from 1-5 p.m. and Easter Vigil at 8 p.m., and a Mass of Concelebration at 9 p.m.

The Masses for Easter Sunday will be at 7, 8, 9, 10:15, and 11:30 a.m. The regular Sunday schedule of Masses will prevail throughout the rest of the area.

The Protestant Services will be as follows: Regular Sunday schedule in all areas on Palm Sunday, Monday through Thursday, Holy Communion will be distributed at the Base Chapel at 7:30 p.m., at the Midway Park Chapel at 8 p.m., at the Montford Point Chapel at 7 p.m., at the Tarawa Terrace Chapel at 7 p.m., and at the Camp Geiger Chapel at 8 p.m.

On Good Friday, devotions will be observed at the Base Chapel at noon and at 7:30 p.m., and at the Montford Point Chapel at noon. Meditations will be observed at the Camp Geiger Chapel at 1:30 p.m.

On Easter, the regular Sunday schedule will prevail in all areas, with the following additions: Sunrise Services will be conducted at 7 a.m. at the Amphitheatre behind Bldg. #2 and at Montford Point in the Tarawa Terrace combines.

Personnel are authorized to be excused for attendance at Divine Worship Services on Good Friday, if work and training schedules permit.

STORY AND PHOTOS BY GYSGT BILL RICH

As the early morning dawn broke across the cold drab Virginian countryside, the communication's network crackled and came to life. Captain John T. Garcia's voice echoed throughout the net, giving the command to move out and commence operations.

This was the signal which started TANKEK 67, a 45-day battalion sized tank operation currently being conducted at Camp Pickett, Virginia, by Force Troops' 2d Tank Battalion. The Battalion is under the command of Navy Cross winner, Lieutenant Colonel William T. Unger.

In the tank parks, one of the many hubs of activity, tanks frozen to the earth by the zero temperatures roared into life. As the powerful engines roared they belched volumes of exhaust smoke swirling through the air like a heavy veil of fog.

The mighty tanks creaked, groaned and strained. Throttles were advanced, and finally the tracked vehicles broke loose from the turf that had held them fast. As the giant tracks propelling the tanks lurched ahead, frozen chunks of earth were thrown into the air like bird shot.

The sounds of tank commanders, impatient crew talk and radio messages echoed throughout the area as three armored tank companies moved into full gear and out to designated objectives.

TANEX 67 had begun, more than 40 days of extensive operations lie ahead of them. However, mother nature took a second look at this situation, and as if smiling, perhaps mimicking the successful start, unleashed a devastating storm.

With all the fury it could muster, an ice and sleet storm of gigantic proportions lashed the countryside.

Tanks soon became solid chunks of ice, trees laden with ice gracefully dipped towards the ground, and as if with a final gasp of desperation were struck down with devastating fury.

The storm rocked the local residents of Blackstone and surrounding communities, cutting off communications with the outside, knocked out electrical power, and for many residents a source of heat and water were non-existent.

According to the local weather bureau, "the area had been hit with the worst storm since 1947."

Tank personnel, blood thin from duty at Warm Camp Lejeune, labored against the elements of nature, the freezing ice, sleet and torrential winds, trying to maintain equipment and operations.

Several days of operations under extreme weather conditions tore at the tankers. And then, as quickly as it came the storm left, temperatures soared and the sun broke through.

The sudden change in weather brought no relief for the ice melted and the area was turned into a quagmire of mud. However, operations continued.

For some, the scene wasn't all dreary, or that depends on how you look at it. In talking with Master Gunnery Sergeant Osborn Bateman, Battalion Operations and Training Chief he smiled with glee over the situation. For as he puts it, the problems that launched upon them actually enhanced the training program.

The extremes gave the personnel realism in operating under adverse and extremely fluctuating weather conditions during simulated combat operations. Of course, it wasn't written into the training schedules or operations orders. However, the personnel accepted it, apparently learned their lesson well and in the final analysis these new lessons learned certainly enhanced the battalion's capabilities, according to Sergeant Bateman.

TANKEK 67, a battalion sized operation is giving the armored arm of Force Troops a chance to flex its muscles.

The sprawling Camp Pickett, Virginia training site gives the tankers, many new to the field, an opportunity to learn or polish gunnery, tank driving and maintenance skills.

The various ranges at Camp Pickett are affording the tankers a chance to practice all phases of gunnery with .30 and .50 caliber weapons and the .90 millimeter and 120 mm guns.

"Flareships" from the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, have been utilized in illuminating the area for night firing. This concept of operations is oriented toward the situation in Southeast Asia.

The communications section has developed, improvised and are using field expedient antennas and relay techniques suitable for widening field commuications capabilities.

This week the tankers finished giving tank support to the 2d Marine Regiment, 2d Marine Division during "Operation Shamrock."

In addition to "Shamrock", the tankers had an opportunity to show their talents to their boss, Brigadier General John E. Williams, Commanding General, Force Troops, and members of his staff who made a two-day visit to the training area for a first hand look at the armored battalion training.

Upon completion of their training at Camp Pickett, the tankers will return to Camp Lejeune.

Finals Saturday

All - Marine Boxing Tomorrow

Tomorrow night and Saturday the chips will be on the table for the 18 boxers who will fight the 1967 All-Marine Boxing tournament at Goettge Fieldhouse.

Four semi-final bouts will be held Friday night and seven championship matches Saturday. The program both nights will begin at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free and the public is invited. For the boxers, the tournament is the culmination of months of hard work, painful knocks, long runs on cold mornings when other Marines were warm and cozy in their racks. All will go on the line for nine minutes, three three-minute rounds.

The winners, besides trophies, will probably be chosen to represent the Marine Corps at the Interservice championships to be held later this month at Fort Lewis, Washington, and at the AAU National Tournament next month in San Diego.

For those who keep winning, there will be the CISM championships in Madison Square Garden and possibly the Pan-American Games in Montreal this summer.

Those who lose can think about next season.

Competition should be especially fierce in the heavyweight division, where Camp Lejeune's Charley Dwyer and John Thompson will meet Marilyn Johnson of MCSC, Albany, Ga., and All-Marine Ken Norton of Camp Pendleton.

Norton, a muscular 212-pounder, has been the man to beat in Marine Corps boxing for several years, but he will face a tough opponent in 210 pound John Thompson, a hard puncher who has knocked several opponents out this season.

Dwyer, a fast and skillful veteran, has improved rapidly this season and will also be challenging for the title.

In the flyweight division, Art Lieb, last year's champion will weight Richard Royal.

Here is the Tournament schedule:

Friday:

Bout 1: (flyweight division, 112 lbs) Lawrence Armendariz, Camp Lejeune, vs Willie Rosada, Camp Lejeune.

Bout 2: (light welterweight, 139 lbs) Harrison Payne, Quantico, vs James Vanderhoff, Camp Pendleton.

Bout 3: (heavyweight) Charley Dwyer, Camp Lejeune, vs Marilyn

Baseball Tourney Starts Next Week

The Camp Lejeune Collegiate Baseball Tournament will begin at Harry Agannis Field next Friday with Cornell University, Long Island University, and American International College vying for honors.

High Point College of North Carolina will also be present for a couple of exhibition double-headers.

A total of 12 games will be played during six days of baseball, March 24 through Wednesday, March 29. All the games will be played at Harry Agannis Field beginning at 1 p.m. Admission will be free.

CHALLENGERS - These boxers have come from all around the Corps to challenge Camp Lejeune's Boxing Team in the All-Marine Boxing Tournament. Left to right, middleweight Evans Moore of Quantico, lightweights Alonzo Browner and James Vanderhoff of Camp Pendleton, William Harvey of MCSC, Barstow, Calif., and Harrison Payne, a 139 pound light welterweight who last year was All-Marine as a lightweight.

face the challenge of two teammates, Lawrence Armendariz and Willie Rosada. Armendariz was All-Marine two years ago and Rosada has made a strong comeback after being out for weeks with a stomach ailment.

Charlie Davis and Roosevelt Hamilton, two evenly matched Camp Lejeune featherweights, have had several hard-hitting battles this year and will face each other again Saturday.

The light heavyweight division should produce a top-notch battle also, with All-Marine and CISM champion Art Redden meeting Raymond Russell, a tall, fast fighter who has come all the way from Marine Barracks, Yokosuka, Japan.

Three Camp Lejeune boxers, all former All-Marines, will win another title uncontested, providing they make the weight for their divisions at a weigh-in tomorrow. They are light middleweight Bill Jenkins, bantamweight Ray Mulett, and welter-

Johnson, MCSC, Albany, Ga.

Bout 4: (heavyweight) John Thompson, Camp Lejeune, vs Ken Norton, Camp Pendleton.

Saturday:

Bout 1: (flyweight, 112 lbs) Art Lieb, Camp Lejeune, vs winner of Friday's Bout 1.

Bout 2: (featherweight, 125 lbs) Charley Davis, Camp Lejeune, vs Roosevelt Hamilton, Camp Lejeune.

Bout 3: (lightweight, 132 lbs) Robert Lozada, Camp Lejeune, vs Peter Browner, Camp Pendleton.

Bout 4: (light welterweight, 139 lbs) Les Brown, Camp Lejeune, vs winner of Friday's Bout 2.

Bout 5: (middleweight, 165 lbs) Hinton Wilson, Camp Lejeune, vs Evans Moore, Quantico.

Bout 6: (light heavyweight, 178 lbs) Art Redden, Camp Lejeune, vs Raymond Russell, Yokosuka, Japan.

Bout 7: (heavyweight) Winner of Friday's Bout 3 vs Winner of Friday's Bout 4.

MCB Choosing Golfers For Tri-State Tourney

Qualifying rounds are currently being played at the Paradise Point Golf Course to select a team to represent Marine Corps Base at the 14th annual Tri-State Golf Tournament April 19-21 at MCRD, Parris Island, S.C.

Force Troops and Naval Hospital personnel are eligible to try out for and compete on the MCB team. Division has already selected a team.

An open division team consisting of five golfers and two alternates will be selected. Each team member must have a handicap of five or less and be attached to a Base or Force Troops unit.

Those competing in the senior division must be at least 45 years old and have a handicap of 12 or below. There is no limit on senior entries, but financial support is available for only five competitors and two alternates.

A senior may not play in both the senior and open divisions.

Personnel trying out for the team will play two qualifying rounds before March 26 at the Paradise Point links. Each round must be played in the presence of at least one other golfer who is also playing for a qualifying score.

After all rounds have been completed the five open golfers with the lowest scores will represent MCB. The golfers with the next two low scores will become the alternates.

The same procedure will determine those seniors who receive financial support.

There will be no charge for greens fees or golf carts at Parris Island. Lodging and meals will be provided, but caddies will not be available.

Girls Softball

The last registration for girls softball will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., at Marston Pavilion and at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center. Girls 8-18 may register.

There is still a need for a coach and assistant coach for a team in Berkeley Manor. Call 353-3576.

Any women interested in playing softball call 353-1363.

8th Engineers Win All-Camp Title

★★ Headquarters Bn. Downed in 74-72 Squeaker ★

BY LCPL FRANK YOUNG

Force Troops' 8th Engineers, coming through magnificently in the clutch, controlled a nip-and-tuck contest against 2d Division's Headquarters Bn. last Saturday night for a 74-72 triumph and the All-Camp basketball title.

Saturday morning, with the Engineers undefeated and Headquarters Bn. with one loss in the double elimination tournament, the Division cagers humiliated the Engineers 91-66 to force the evening contest.

In a tension-packed final minute, the Engineers were able to maintain their slim 4-point lead as William Woosley scored five key points. Woosley played an outstanding game and led the Engineers with 28 points. Karl Dietz with 19 and Ralph Edwards with 13 provided the rest of the scoring punch.

It was a remarkable comeback for the Engineers after the morning game, but they switched their defense from a zone to a man-to-man, positioned better for rebounds, and controlled the tempo of the game, refusing to run with fast-breaking Headquarters.

The Engineers were also successful in containing Headquarters' outstanding Johnny Johnson, who was kept from shooting as much as he normally does and was positioned away from rebounds.

Johnson still managed to score 29 points, but in comparison he poured in 42 points that morning and two weeks ago in the Base-Division Intramural League finals he scored 48.

Headquarters Bn. did not play their top game, and cold shooting was their big problem. Besides Johnson, only their fine guard Ozeal Lee was able to score in double figures. Lee had 23 points, most coming on twisting drives that ended with a looping shot from 5-10 feet away.

The officiating also hampered the aggressive Division team more than the taller, slower paced Engineers.

The game see-sawed back and forth in the first half. The Engineers would go ahead by a basket and Headquarters would tie it up, despite a rash of turnovers.

Five minutes into the first half the score was 12-12, with six minutes left, it was 29-11. An 18-foot jump shot by "Twig" Bass put Headquarters in front 31-30, but Woosley hit a jumper and two free throws and Headquarters had to hustle to tie the score at halftime 39-39.

Headquarters was cold as ice at the start of the second half, and the Engineers zoomed to a 47-40 lead behind Woosley's long bombs. But Lee began to hit and a tip-in by Smith tied the score at 52-52. Lee hit again on a drive to put Headquarters in the lead for the only time in the second half.

A goal-tending call on Johnson, a basket by Malvin Gibbs, and a drive by Edwards put the Engineers back in front to stay.

Headquarters made a final challenge in the last two minutes with Johnson scoring seven points in a desperate effort. But Woosley matched him, and the Engineers had the title.

In the morning game, the Engineers were slow and unorganized and Headquarters controlled the game with its fast break. Johnson led the way with 42 points and his teammates scored well for a balanced attack.

Bill Crooks had 16, Lee 15, and Bass 12.

The game started slowly, with Headquarters nervous and making errors in ball-handling. The Engineers had a 3-0 lead but Headquarters took over at 7-6 when Crooks hit a jumper.

Two long bombs, one by Dietz and one by Woosley, put the Engineers back on top momentarily, but then the fast break erupted and the score went to 19-13 on baskets by Crooks, Bass, and Johnson.

From there it was all Headquarters. The halftime score was 43-24 for the Division quintet. It stayed the same in the second half, 53-33, 60-40, 68-50, 83-64, and finally 91-66.

Woosley led the Engineers with 24 points. Dietz was the only other who could manage to get in double figures. He tallied 14.

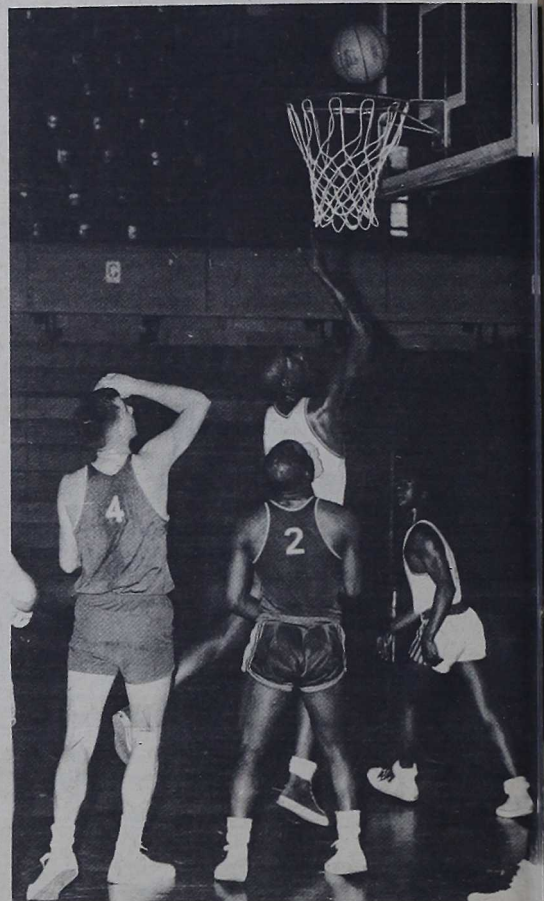

The Engineers won the first encounter between the two teams during the first round of the tournament. The 101-87 setback was the first loss of the season for the Division cagers.

Woosley got hot in the first half and the Engineers boomed out to a 47-37 halftime lead. In the second half, Daugherty and Edwards took up the scoring duties.

Woosley led the scorers with 25, Daugherty had 19, Dietz had 14, and Edwards 21. For Headquarters, Johnson had 34 and Smith, coming off the bench, 23.

In the other tournament games, the Engineers dumped Base Mat Bn. 93-82, Headquarters Bn. downed H&HS of New River 94-74, 2/6 defeated Supply Bn. 72-66, VMO-1 of New River whipped ITR 77-54, VMO-1 bested 2/6 95-80, H&HS upset Base Mat 99-83, Supply Bn. knocked off ITR 65-53, and Headquarters Bn. socked VMO-1 88-78.

No "most valuable player" or "all-tournament team" was chosen, but this writer feels the rangy, high-jumping Johnson of Headquarters Bn. deserves special mention. In five games, Johnson scored 176 points, which averages out to 35.2 per game. In addition, he was his team's chief rebounder. His was an outstanding performance.

TWO MORE — Headquarters Bn.'s Johnny Johnson (jumping under basket) scores two of his 42 points against the 8th Engineers last Saturday morning.

WHERE IS HE??? — says Malvin Gibbs of 8th Engineers (jumping) as Headquarters Bn.'s little guard "Small Fry" Gerard (11) drives for a lay-up. The Engineers' Karl Dietz sets for a rebound under the basket as Headquarters' Johnny Johnson (23) is blocked out by William Woosley. (Photo by PFC Patrick Kennedy)

SNEAK ATTACK — Malvin Gibbs of 8th Engineers snatched the ball behind Smith and Bass of Headquarters Bn. for an easy tip-in during the All-Camp Championship game.

"THIS IS YOUR LAND" - THEME OF NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK.

This year's National Wildlife Week is scheduled for March 19-25 and will have significant national emphasis in land management and eliminating carelessness, neglect and exploitation of natural resources.

National Wildlife Week was initiated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938 and has been an important national event ever since.

Our wildlife resources are by-products of the land, and future existence of that wildlife will depend upon how we manage our lands.

All Americans should join together in helping to wisely manage these lands for themselves and future generations.

Wise land use here at Camp Lejeune is evident by the natural beauty of the base. Someone has mentioned that everyone that was ever assigned here was directly involved with conserving the natural resources of this installation. So, as we celebrate National Wildlife Week, let's all renew our efforts of conserving our natural resources.

Spring Sports Underway At Lejeune High School

With the basketballs locked away until next winter, Camp Lejeune High School starts its spring sports program today with the baseball team traveling to Trenton for a game with Jones-Central.

Coach Tom McGhee has scheduled 19 games for his diamond crew. Home games will be played at the Brewster School in the daytime and at Harry Agannis Field at night.

About sixty candidates, among them five lettermen, tried out for the team, and Coach McGhee had the squad culled down to 18-20 for today's game.

The lettermen are Carl Burks, first baseman; Joe Kuzan, shortstop; Mike Evans, pitcher; Skip Smith, third baseman; and Rick Gutekunst, outfielder.

The Coastal Plains Athletic Conference has reorganized and Lejeune will compete during 1967 against Pamlico County, Dixon, and Swansboro.

Coach Tom Webb is in charge of the other spring sport, track and field, and will bring a largely inexperienced but promising team to its first meet March 31 against Jacksonville and New Hanover High School of Wilmington.

The home meets will be held at the track at Liversedge Field and will begin at 3 p.m.

Returning members of last year's team are Dick Smith, shot put; James Riez, 880 and mile runs; Bill Glickert, high jump; Dave Ogle, 220 and 440 dashes; and Lane Argetsinger, high jump.

A newcomer, Rick Forfar, looks as if he will handle the broad-jumping.

Coach Webb is optimistic about the sophomores on the team, and feels the Devilpups will have a respectable showing.

FIRST BALL - Colonel Gildo S. Codispoti, Commanding Officer, H&S Bn., MCB, rolls the first ball to open the H&S Bn. Intramural Bowling Tournament at the Bonneyman Bowling Center.

Boys Baseball Registration To End Sat.

Registration for the Camp Lejeune Boys' Athletic Association baseball program will end this Saturday at 2 p.m. Sign-ups can be made either at Marston Pavilion or at Tarawa Terrace Bldg. 44.

Boys who are the sons of military personnel living in the Camp Lejeune vicinity and sons of civilian personnel who live aboard the base are eligible if they are between the ages of 7-15 on or before June 1.

The program will be divided into four leagues based on age. For boys 7-8, a Tee-baseball league will be set-up. Boys 9-10 will form the Minor League, while boys 11-12 will make up the Major League. The Babe Ruth League will consist of boys 13-15.

Parents must accompany their sons at the registration. There will be a fee of $2 for Athletic Card and a $3 deposit when the uniform is issued. The deposit will be returned when the uniform is turned in.

Base Schedules Bowling Tourney

A Marine Corps Base Bowling Tournament will be held March 20-24 at the Bonneyman Bowling Center. Those interested in competing should contact their unit Special Services. Commands eligible to enter teams are H&S Bn., Supply Schools, Engineer Schools, ITR, Rifle Range, Base Mat Bn., Base Medical, and Naval Hospital.

Topping 36 pistol shooters, Sgt. Richard J. Jacobs, 2d Battalion, 2d Marines, tallied a 259 out of 300 to take first place during the individual pistol competition.

Members of the winning rifle squad were: 2dLt. Rhodes, team captain; Cpl. Willie E. Porter; LCpls. George R. Zullo and Frank A. Bosquez.

Led by Capt. Richard W. Sweet, the pistol champions were: Sgt. Donald L. Hamilton; Cpl. James L. McCann, and HM3 James D. Boyd.

Major General Ormond R. Simpson, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, presented the individual and team awards during ceremonies held at the Division headquarters.

Four golfers were deadlocked for second in low gross figures with 77's. They included Colonel Herb Ing, Colonel Dick Landwehr, Commander Jim Kelly, and Commander Bob Nolf.

George Woods, John Papurca, and George Grossfuss turned in 78's in the low gross field.

John Heavey collected top low net honors with a spectacular 50. Low nets were determined by comparative figures on three blind par-four holes.

3/6, 2d Engineers Win Division Shoot

Top honors in the 2d Marine Division's Intramural Rifle and Pistol Championship Matches went to shooters from the 3d Battalion, 6th Marines, and 2d Engineer Battalion, respectively.

In taking the rifle title, "heavy hitters" from 3/6 downed 10 other teams on their climb to the top with a total team score of 874 out of a possible 1000 points.

Meanwhile, during the handgun tournament, "pistoleers" from 2d Engineer Battalion blazed past a field of eight contenders to garner top billing with a 945 out of 1200.

Individual honors went to 2dLt. Larry E. Rhodes, whose 362x400 earned him first place over 44 competitors in the individual rifle

Our newest contender for the "Would You Believe" Award is Bill (Sam) Bass who picked up the 7-10 split last Tuesday night in the Staff NCO League.

Bill says that he hit the 7 pin hard on the inside, causing it to hit the left wall. Then it bounced against the back, against the right wall, and finally hit the 10 pin.

You remember that just a couple of months ago Bill earned his ABC Century Award. Then on Monday he was telling us that he was tied for ninth place for All Events in the Men's State Tournament.

And while Bill was telling us about the State Tournament, he was holding his silver High Series Club trophy that he had just received from winning the latest contest here at the bowling center.

Bill has been doing some great things lately and it couldn't be happening to a nicer bowler.

Included in our list of "greats" is Cora Kammerer with a 120 average. Cora, on her last night in league bowling and after two years of trying, finally rolled a 175 game! Good for you Cora.

Also Curt Parks finally broke 600 for his first time since bowling at Bonnyman.

Twelve year old Bobbie Walker won the AJBC 400 series and 150 game awards when she bowled a 423 series; 162 high game.

And Roger Caves, another junior bowler, turned in his second 500 series with a big 542.

Bowling high series in the leagues this week were Ron Millar 641, Anna Coates, 489, Joyce Connell 528 and 539, Stuffy Evans 552, Marion Salser 473, Marge Schwartz 473 and 579, Mac McCabe 546.

Also Kathy Traub 554, Sandra Kempf 443, S.J. Long 652, Mike Henitz 616, M. Brown 396, Lloyd James 692, Turner 565, Gerri Falcone 511, C. Zubert 595.

Leading with high games were Ron Millar 244, Fumie Wiggs 208, Joyce Connell 208, Bob Lemmon 222, Betty Evans 180, Bob Richter 193, Eve Smith 225, Vi Cole 213, Sandra Kempf 188.

Also S.J. Long 255, J. Wilde 248, E. Head 175, Don Germann 247, Ledou 254, Gerri Falcone 192, Marge Schwartz 217, Bob Ausherman 232.

COGA Defeats Jacksonville

Paradise Point professional Jim Gantz turned in a three-under-par 69 last Sunday as the Commissioned Officers' Golf Association downed Jacksonville Country Club 132-67 at the Lejeune links.

Lucky Etheridge of Jacksonville carded a 79 and Ron Pangara, unattached professional, scored a 75.

Colonel B.W. McLean took low gross honors among the amateur players with a low gross 74.

NCO Club Serves Thousands Weekly

When it comes to the NCO Clubs at Camp Lejeune, it is obvious that it's the quality, not the quantity that counts. In fact, the only NCO Club on Base is located at Hadnot Point. However, this Club has the facilities and means to provide its members with the best in local entertainment.

SSgt. Thomas L. McCracken, manager of the Club, explained that his Club offers many advantages not found anywhere else on the Base. For instance, the Club features live entertainment and bands as often as possible, usually as much as five nights a week. He stressed that his search for top quality bands has often stretched beyond the limits of North Carolina. In fact, at the Club it is not unusual to see two and even three bands performing simultaneously in different rooms.

The Club does not limit its attention to dance music. Game night, with prizes, is observed every Tuesday night. A color TV is available seven nights a week, as are the bowling machines and the juke boxes.

The hours of operation of the Club are from 4:30 to 11:30 p.m. week-days except for Fridays, when the Club closes at 12:30 a.m. On Saturdays, the Club is open from noon till 12:30 a.m. and on Sunday, from noon till 11:30 p.m. Membership in the Club is limited strictly to Corporals and Sergeants, but accompanied civilian guests, male or female, are always welcome. Like the other Clubs, the Hadnot Point Club is totally self-supporting and it will continue to function only as long as its members continue to support it.

The Club is divided into five distinct areas: the Blue Room and the Viking Room (serving as dance floors), the Dining Room, the TV Lounge, and the Package Store. The hours of operation of the Package Store are the same as those of the club except that the Package Store is closed on Sundays and Holidays. In order to make a purchase at the Package Store, the buyer must be 21, must be a married NCO living with his family and must reside within 60 miles of the reservation.

ABC To Air Marine Show

"Our Time in Hell," an ABC News Color Special about the Marines in the Pacific during World War II, will be aired from 7:30-8:30 p.m., EST on March 21, according to ABC.

Actor Lee Marvin, a former Marine who received the Purple Heart in the Saipan campaign, will be the host-narrator. He will introduce the special and then narrate actual color footage of Marines fighting in the South Pacific.

The one-hour program will feature actual battle scenes photographed by Marines on Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Guam, Saipan, Tinian, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Marvin, who won an Academy Award for his performance in "Cat Ballou," indicated to ABC that his fee for appearing in the Marine special would be donated to the Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund.

DIVISION 'D&B' IN CARIB

An entire battalion whistled its tunes and more than 200,000 persons applauded its rhythms by the time the 2d Marine Division Drum and Bugle Corps ended a one-month tour of the Caribbean.

The 25-man Corps, led by Gunnery Sergeant Richard A. Edinger, set feet tapping in San Juan, Vieques, and Curacao during its goodwill cruise with Battalion Landing Team 2/8 and the Navy's Amphibious Squadron 8.

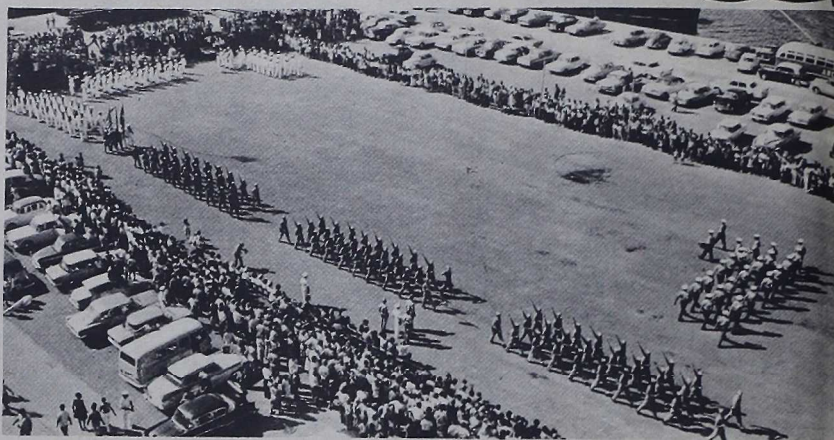

The D and B left Camp Lejeune, Feb. 2, for San Juan. There, for three days, the Corps helped the island celebrate its Mardi Gras season.

On Feb. 6, they were heli-lifted to the more spartan surroundings of Camp Garcia, Vieques, Puerto Rico. For the next nine days the Corps played morning and evening colors on this tiny island so well-known to the Marines of the 2d Division. Vieques is the home base for the Division's Caribbean landing team.

Included in the Vieques stay were two concerts in the island's town of Isabella Segunda. The concerts, on a Sunday afternoon and evening, were received with the same enthusiasm that the D and B had inspired in San Juan.

Amphibious Squadron 8, comprising the Marines of BLT 2/8, Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron (HMM) 162, and the Sailors of the USS Guam, Capricornus, York County, and Raleigh, returned to San Juan Feb. 15 for four day's liberty.

MARINES and Sailors from Amphibious Squadron-8 pass in review during the formal parade held dockside of the USS Guam on the last day in port.

FORMED AND READY to go, the D&B prepares to lead off the formal parade at Curacao.

WHILE UNDERWAY to Curacao aboard the USS Guam, Corporal Nevin H. Monk squares away his gear, preparing for the D and B's next performance.

CORPORAL Ralph E. Ussack explains the proper handling of a bugle to Pvt. Marn Uitalag, of the Royal Netherlands Marines.

The D and B provided the core of a formal guard mount and exhibition by the BLT's crack drill team, held every afternoon on the San Juan Naval Base's Pan American pier.

When comedian Jimmy Durante and band leader Skitch Henderson brought a USO troupe to entertain the squadron Feb. 17, the Marines were prepared to express their appreciation.

Informing Mr. Durante that the highest courtesy the military can bestow upon a visitor is to have him review the troops, Lieutenant Colonel Charles G. Cooper, Commanding Officer of BLT 2/8 and Landing Force Commander, invited the entertainer to be the reviewing "officer."

The seasoned show business veteran was both moved and nervous. Col. Cooper coached him through the review, which brought tears to the comedian's eyes. When the parade was over Jimmy Durante, expressing his gratitude, embraced Col. Cooper.

That weekend cars streamed to the pier. The visitors looked over the ships and helicopters, listened to the D and B, and watched the formal guard mount and drill team.

But all of this was merely a prelude of things to come. It was Curacao, 50 miles off the coast of Venezuela, and the largest of the Netherlands Antilles, that was to give the amphibious squadron and the 2d Division musicians its warmest welcome.

The three-day passage to Curacao from San Juan posed problems for the Corps. Tuesday afternoon the musicians sought in vain for a place to practice on the busy ship. The Corp's log has the following entries: "1330 --D

FOLLOWING its Sunday appearance in the parade, the D and B files through some of the thousands of people who came to listen to them.

and B fell out on the fan tail for rehearsal. Fan tail was crowded. Unable to rehearse there, 1345--D and B fell out on the hangar deck. Same situation as fan tail. Flight deck secured because of flight quarters. Secured from rehearsal because no space available."

Despite that difficulty, the unit was shined and ready to play when the amphibious squadron pulled into Willemstad. Arriving the morning of the 23rd, the U.S.S. Guam eased its way through the 75-yard wide channel that bisects the city and leads into the harbor.

Foreign ships are not a novelty in Curacao. More than 100 ships, flying the flags of England, Norway, Sweden, West Germany, the Netherlands, Canada, and the United States, stop at this sun-bathed island every year. The Royal Netherlands Navy and Royal Marine Corps have bases on the island.

The squadron had come by invitation. The response of the Antilleans was overwhelming. The number of visitors to the three ships--the Raleigh had gone to nearby Aruba--grew each day. On Saturday, 5,000 Antilleans came aboard the Guam, lining its decks to watch the formal guard mount and to hear the D and B.

Second Lieutenant J.T. Frisina, acting as Battalion Adjutant, inspected the guard. Major J.F. Cody Jr., Battalion Operations Officer, explained each step of the guard mount to the spectators as the Lieutenant went through the paces of the rifle and personnel inspection so familiar to every Marine. The D and B provided the music for the guard mount.

What was a large audience on Saturday, grew to an overflowing crowd the following day. A full-dress parade, with the D and B in undress Blues, was delayed a half-hour when the crush of the crowd trying to get up the Guam's two gangplanks, prevented the Marines and sailors in the parade from coming down to the pier.

After the parade the several thousand persons gathered on the pier tried to board the Guam. The ensuing bottleneck brought a frantic plea for the D and B, which had struggled back aboard to come ashore again. Like the Pied Piper, they lured thousands back to the other side of the pier, but not before one Antillean, frustrated in trying to get down the gangplank, dived off the hangar deck, fully clothed, and swam ashore.

For all their experience with foreign ships, the Antilleans apparently were reluctant to see the squadron leave. What appeared to be the entire school population of the island, lined the channel, stood on the walls of the ancient fortress, and crowded the shore, along with hundreds of adults for a demonstration of unabashed nostalgia for the ships and men of Amphibious Squadron 8, and the Marine Division Drum and Bugle Corps.
