Faster Promotions Seen For 1st, 2d Lieutenants

First and Second Lieutenants will begin an accelerated promotion cycle starting April 1, according to a report in Navy Times this week.

The initial report said that the Marine Corps will promote second lieutenants after only 15 months in grade as opposed to the present 18 - month waiting period, with First lieutenants moving up about six months faster.

A board to select 1400 first lieutenants for early promotion to captain will convene at Headquarters January 31. The promotion zone will include all first lieutenants with a date of rank of July 1, 1966 and earlier, the report said. The zone includes 55 LDO's.

Normally, these officers being brought into the selection zone would have been considered for the hike during July, 1967 which advances their time by five months or so.

The report said that many of the January selectees would receive their new rank during January and that all should be advanced to Captain by the end of this fiscal year.

The most junior of those advanced will be going into the zone after only 25 months commissioned service and will be getting their June promotions after about 30 months, the report pointed out.

The most senior in the new zone will be making Captain after about 36 months of commissioned service.

According to the TIMES, the standard promotion law says that the fiscal year board shall consider all first lieutenants who will finish two years in grade during the fiscal year.

With the January board getting what the July board would have gotten, it means that they will be selecting hundreds of lieutenants with less than the standard time of two years. The trend is expected to go back to its normal schedule by July 1968.

Colonel R. E. Brant New Division Chief

Colonel Robert E. Brant, former Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, relieved Brigadier General John N. McLaughlin as the 2d Marine Division's Chief of Staff in an informal ceremony here Jan. 10.

Gen McLaughlin, who received his new rank the same day, will assume duties as Deputy Director, Joint Staff, (J-5), STRIKE Command at McDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla. The general had held the position of chief of staff since December 1965.

Col. Brant joined the Marine Corps Reserve in January 1939 as a member of the 5th Infantry Battalion, Washington, D. C.

A few months after the attack on Pearl Harbor, the colonel, then a sergeant, embarked with the 1st Marine Division for Wellington, New Zealand. He was commissioned a second lieutenant while participating in the assault and occupation of Guadalcanal.

Serving as tank platoon commander, executive officer and company commander with the 1st Tank Battalion, the colonel saw action on New Guinea, New Britain, and Peleliu Islands. It was on Peleliu that he received his first Bronze Star with Combat "V" for action against the enemy.

In November 1944, Lt. Brant was transferred to Headquarters Marine Corps, Washington, D.C., where he served as tank officer in the G-4 division.

During the following eight years, the colonel held several positions in the United States. In March 1952, he was ordered to the 1st Marine Division in Korea, operations officer with the 1st Tank Battalion.

Major Brant was awarded his second Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" for the planning and coordinating of several tank-infantry attacks. Following his tour in Korea, the colonel served as operations officer, G-3 with Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, in Hawaii

FOUR DIE IN ONE CAR

"Excessive speed and reckless driving" was the cause of the worst single - car accident at Camp Lejeune, which claimed the lives of four Marines and critically injured another, Jan. 7.

Some observers who saw the aftermath of this tragedy estimate the vehicle was travelling in excess of 100 miles per hour.

After leaving the paved road, 200 feet from the bridge, the late model sports sedan collided with the bridge abutment. Even after this, the car travelled 80 feet across a creek and landed on the far bank, dropping only eight feet in its trajectory.

This fact, along with others, indicates that the speed was very near or over 100 miles per hour.

The four deaths resulted not only in a great loss to their families, but a senseless waste of training which they had received.

Sergeant K. E. Quinn, the last to be identified, was listed as a Crew Chief with H&MS-26 and had served in Vietnam. He has earned six Air Medals for that service.

Private C. R. Raynes had been serving as an Aviation Electrician with HMM-365.

PFC T. M. Surface was a

Jet Helicopter Mechanic with HMM-261 at the time of his death.

PFC J. W. Berry, the only survivor, worked with Motor Transport Co., H&S Bn., here.

And ironically, the presumed driver and owner of the death car, LCpl. R. W. Bradley, was a Motor Vehicle Operator with Motor Transport Co.

We all can learn from this example. The next time we step down on the gas pedal, to show off or hurry home, remember this one accident which could have been avoided by a little common sense.

VIETNAM ADVISOR

Maj. C. K. McAfee Wins Silver Star

The nation's third highest combat decoration, the Silver Star Medal, was presented to Major Carlos K. McAfee, 3d Battalion, 10th Marines, by Major General Ormond R. Simpson, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division.

On June 12, 1966, Major McAfee, then a captain, was serving as an advisor to the 5th Vietnamese Marine Battalion. He was accompanying a column of Marines whose objective was to capture the village of My Hung when the Marines were met by heavy machine gun, mortar and rifle fire.

The Major, according to the citation, "disregarded his own safety to insure that his unit continued the attack. He continually moved to positions of extreme vulnerability so that he could better observe and advise his counterpart."

The Marines were able to capture their objective, but met even heavier resistance as they moved towards their second objective.

Major McAfee reported the location of enemy automatic weapons and called for fire support

BLT 1/2 Returns From Guantanamo

Dependents of Marines returning with the 1st Battalion, 2d Marines will be able to greet the returnees from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba at a reception center in messhall 206, Sunday, Jan. 15, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The battalion, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel J. Angus MacDonald Jr., has served as the nucleus of the ground defense force at the U. S. Naval Base, Guantanamo Bay, since early in September.

The unit is scheduled to arrive at Morehead City, N. C., Sunday, aboard the attack transport USS SANDOVAL.

The 1st Battalion, 8th Marines, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Floyd H. Waldrop, left Camp Lejeune on Jan. 6.

as a second Marine column attempted to outflank the Viet Cong.

Another Viet Cong force, however, attacked the second Marine column, surrounding both columns, Major McAfee, despite heavy losses among his men, encouraged them and saw that no part of his defensive perimeter went uncovered.

"When a relief force of armored personnel carriers arrived, Major McAfee integrated the APC's into the defensive positions and organized a spoiling attack that drove off the Viet Cong and left the 5th Vietnamese Marine Battalion controlling the area," the citation concluded.

The 33-year-old major is a 1955 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

Morning Colors

Before, we talked about scrambling to shelter to avoid standing and rendering the proper respect to our flag during morning colors.

Now, it seems that not only are some Camp Lejeune people not rendering salutes, but altogether ignoring the morning colors as they pass by in their cars.

Some of these offenders have learned the hard way about paying the proper respect. They are the ones that have had to appear as a result of an offense report.

Regulations on any military establishment require that when riding in a vehicle near where colors are being held, you stop and sit at attention during the ceremony.

Your passengers should also sit at attention during the playing of "To the Colors" or the "National Anthem." (Base Order P5560.2B)

Only, after the sound of "Carry On" by the bugler or band are you allowed to proceed.

The offenses here occur mostly in front of the Base Headquarters since it is situated on the main thoroughfare, but it can happen at both of the other Headquarters of the 2d Marine Division and Force Troops.

Marines are fighting and dying for the principles for which our flag stands; the least we can do is show the proper respect for those principles.

Costly Littering

A Master Sergeant from our Base Maintenance brought the following to my attention this week.

When you throw a beer can from a car, along the road on or off base, you are letting yourself in for a bit of trouble if you are seen and reported.

First of all, you can be tagged for littering the grounds or roadway, which carries a penalty of 60 to 90 day suspension of on-base driving privileges, plus recommendation that you take that long walk before working hours from the Main Gate to Building No. 2.

Second and more important is that you could be charged with Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol which carries an automatic penalty of revoking your driving privileges on base permanently. Think it over and remember our newly adopted slogan:

CAMP LEJEUNE'S BEAUTY IS YOUR DUTY. . .

THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF Books

by Thelma S. Turnage

THE COMPLETE PHOTO-GRAPHER by Andreas Feininger

An expansion and updating of material in the author's previous works. This book puts you in step with today's photographic equipment and techniques by telling you how to choose from a simple camera to the most complex instrument; how to know the right lens and shutter for any purpose; choose and test film; secrets of good lighting and step-by-step instructions for doing your own developing and printing. Drawn from twenty years experience of working for LIFE LIGHT - HORSE HARRY by Noel B. Gerson

A biography of Washington's great cavalryman, General Henry Lee, father of Robert E. Lee. Born a Lee of Virginia, he led a life which had enough triumphs for half a dozen men—Governor of Virginia after the Revolution, appointed Major General of the Army by George Washington and later elected to the House of Representatives. But as his triumphs were great so were his tragedies. Widowed early, he became bankrupt after his retirement from politics and spent a year in debtor's prison. Crippled in a Baltimore riot, he journeyed to the West Indies to recover and died upon return to the country he helped create.

CAVE OF BATS by Robert MacLeod

An exciting suspense story set in modern Burma. Talos Cord, classified as a "peacemaker" by the UN, arrives in the Thau-maung Valley to act as an arbitrator in the strike of native laborers working on the local dam site. Talos decides that a Communist agent working for the Red Chinese is stirring up the laborers and in the course of his investigations sorts out friend from foe. He follows a trail that eventually leads to a deathtrap in the network of caverns in the hidden Cave of Bats and a grim solution to the mystery confronting him.

WONDERS OF THE MODERN WORLD by Joseph Gies

Thirteen great achievements of modern engineering including Japan's Bullet Train, the Dutch Delta Project, and the Aswan Dam. The reader meets America's greatest bridge engineer, Othmar A. Ammann, and witnesses the erection of his mightiest work, the Verrazano - Narrows Bridge. He explores the Interstate Highway System, which is making it possible to drive across the United States without ever seeing a stoplight. Finally, the reader tours the automated factory, in the form of Ford Engine Plant No. 2 in Cleveland, and sees the why, the how,

PANDEMONIUM ON THE POTOMAC by William C. Anderson

It was the Man from Venus who caused all the pandemonium on the Potomac. It actually started in the Pentagon and it spread all over the world. The author of this novel writes with his tongue not always in his cheek. It is all about Washington and the Government and it milks the Sacred Cow of the Pentagon with icy fingers. A Hitchcock ending makes it all seem quite believable.

Stay Loose

By 2dLt. Ralph Deaver

Well, here it is—resolution-breaking time again. I know that everyone does not break every resolution they've made; but, if I were a gambling man, I'd wager that more people break more resolutions during the first part of January each year than during all the other weeks of the year combined.

Last year I resolved — a good two weeks ahead of time—that I'd quit smoking on January 1st. And I did it, too. I stayed quit until nearly noon. Probably wouldn't have lasted that long, except the two weeks spent in conditioning myself to accept the idea gave me sufficient strength of character to prevail against such heavy odds. Next time, I may make it until mid-afternoon.

Year before last, it was my wife. Let me tell you what happened. On the 2nd day of January, she asked me if I'd noticed anything new in her behavior.

"Like what?" I asked. "Well," she said, "I made a resolution for the new year; I've been working on it since yesterday morning."

"Good for you," I said. "Resolutions are good."

"Yes. Anyway, I've decided to be a nicer person. I'm going to watch my temper, be careful of your feelings at all times, stop nagging you over inconsequential things, and keep my voice down during any discussions we have."

"That's great," I said. "That's really great. And, frankly, I think it's at least a step in the right direction."

"Watch it," she said, keeping her voice low and well - modulated. "Just watch it."

"What I mean is that recognizing our faults is the first step on the road to self - improvement."

"I know what you mean." She still kept her voice low. Well, pretty low. "I know exactly what you mean." She said something else, which I didn't catch, but which sounded suspiciously like "big mouth."

"You have the cutest dimple when you clench your teeth like that. Did you know that?"

"I'm not clenching my teeth," she said, clenching her teeth. "I'm only telling you about my resolution — a resolution, I might add, which I fully intend to keep. In spite of difficulties encountered around this house when high ideals, strong character, and other desirable traits are involved."

"Wait a minute," I said. "I didn't mean anything. I was only trying to help."

"If you really wanted to help, you might consider making a resolution to treat me a little nicer, too," she said. "Seems like that's the least you could do."

"You're right," I said. "you're absolutely right. And I want you to know that if I had any faults along that line I'd be the first to acknowledge them and do something about them"

That's when she broke her resolution. It was 3:46 p.m., January the 2d, a day like any other day. And I was there.

'Worst I Ever Saw'
Says Veteran 'Doc'

Hospitalman 2d Class (HM-2) Woodrow E. Sullivan of the newly arrived Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 71, was the first Corpsman to arrive at Saturday's accident.

He described the tragedy as the worst accident he had ever witnessed in his ten years as a Corpsman.

"Doc" Sullivan is a recent returnee from Vietnam and has seen much death and suffering but this "topped it off," he said.

He was responsible for pulling two of the victims from the wreckage and administering what first aid he could to the two men who were not killed outright. One of those two victims died Sunday and the other is recovering in Naval Hospital.

He said that eight ambulances answered the call for Camp Lejeune's worst single-car accident to date.

Division Chief of Staff...

until 1955.

Returning to the United States, Maj. Brant was assigned to Force Troops, Atlantic, at Camp Lejeune, N. C., as Assistant G-1 and later as G-1. Promoted to lieutenant colonel in 1957, he was transferred to Headquarters Marine Corps, where he served as Budget and Programs Officer.

In 1960, Lieutenant Colonel Brant was selected for the "bookstrap" program at the University of Maryland, and received his bachelor's degree in 1961.

Assigned to the Command and Staff College at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., LtCol. Brant completed student requirements as well as serving on the instructional staff at the Educational Center.

In 1962, he was transferred to the 3d Marine Division on Okinawa as G-4, at Camp Smedley D. Butler.

Returning to the United States in 1963, he was assigned to the Ground Combat Division, Marine Corps Landing Force Development Center at Quantico.

While there, he also served as a member of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff's study group, evaluating future redeployment capabilities. He received a Letter of Commendation from the Secretary of Defense for his services with this group. Later, Col. Brant assisted in the evaluation and presentation of the Marine Corps' weapons requirements to the Department of Defense.

COL. R.E. BRANT

Promoted to colonel in 1965, he was selected to attend the Naval War College at Newport, R.I. While attending the War College, Col. Brant received his Masters Degree in International Relations from George Washington University.

In June, 1966, he was assigned to the 2d Marine Division where he assumed duties as Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2.

Bronze Star for Radio Operator

In the name of the President of the United States the Bronze Star with Combat "V" was presented to LCpl. Clyde B. Glenn, Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence R. Dorsa, Commanding Officer, 2d Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, made the presentation.

LCpl. Glenn's citation reads in part, "While serving as a radio operator with 'E' Company, 2d Battalion, 9th Marines in the Republic of Vietnam, shortly after midnight on July 3, 1966, the defensive position which LCpl. Glenn's company was occupying south of DaNang was subjected to a violent mortar attack.

"When initial rounds exploded, LCpl. Glenn unhesitatingly gathered his radio equipment and was crawling towards his fighting hole when a nearby explosion inflicted a severe leg wound and separated him from his radio.

"With determination and presence of mind, LCpl. Glenn retrieved his equipment and skillfully transmitted artillery fire missions. He continued to perform his duties until the Viet Cong mortars were silenced, and only because of his weakened condition from loss of blood finally relinquished control of his radio to an alternate operator.

"His resolute effort was of inestimable value to his unit in battling the enemy, and was a source of inspiration and motivation to all with whom he served."

MGySgt. J. R. Collins Ends 30-Year Career

A colorful military career came to an end Dec. 30, during ceremonies held at 2d Marine Division Headquarters, when Master Gunnery Sergeant James R. Collins retired after 30 years service.

A native of Macon, Ga., Collins was assigned to the Division Inspector's office prior to his retirement.

Enlisting in the Marine Corps on Dec. 30, 1933, he attended recruit training at Parris Island, South Carolina. According to Sgt. Collins, "I have no fond memories of the 'Old Corps' to relate during my days in 'boot camp.' In fact, 'boot camp' is something, even at this stage of the game, I'd like to forget."

The "Top's" first duty assignment was as a security guard at the Navy Yard in Portsmouth, Va. From there he went to the Naval Gun Factory in Washington, D.C.

"In a 30 year career as a Marine," the retired leatherneck said, "you can go all over the world."

"I've had duty in such places as Tientsin, China and Naples Italy. Those are the first to come to mind, but there were many other spots I like to remember. After his first tour, Sgt. Collins was discharged from the Corps, however, three years later on Nov. 7, 1940, he returned to stay.

During World War II, he served with the 5th Marine Division, and participated in the landing on Iwo Jima in 1945.

Cost Reduction Meeting Held

Representatives from the Naval Material Command, Washington, D. C. recently conducted a Cost Reduction conference at Camp Lejeune. The conference was co-ordinated by the Management Assistance Office and was attended by representatives from Marine Corps Base, Force Troops, U. S. Naval Hospital, Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, and Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point.

The conference was conducted to familiarize Cost Reduction Program members with changes in the program as set forth in an addition to the basic Cost Reduction Manual.

50 Reservists Hiked During 3/6 Exercise

Fifty Marine Reservists from Company L, 3d Battalion, 6th Marines, received promotions to Private First Class from Lieutenant Colonel W. S. Fagan, Battalion Commander, during field exercises, Jan. 6.

Company L, commanded by Captain E. J. Hughes, has 88 six-month reservists on the rolls. More than half that number were promoted.

LETTERS OF APPRECIATION — Letters of Appreciation were presented to ten Headquarters Battalion, 2d Marine Division Leathernecks during ceremonies held Jan. 5, by their Commanding Officer, Colonel Franklin J. Harte (center). Signed by Brigadier General Edwin

B. Wheeler, Assistant Division Commander, the Letters of Appreciation were awarded to the Marines for their outstanding performance in LANTFLEX-66, as members of the 16th Marine Expeditionary Brigade. (Official USMC Photos by PFC D. D. Rossi)

Sitting service reservations should be made 24 hours in advance by calling 6-6723.

Dental Health

This is the second in a series of articles on dental health in cooperation with the Base Dental Department, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, February 5-11.

Old Wive's Tales in Dentistry

Every field of endeavor seems to have those common erroneous conceptions, commonly termed "old wive's tales", that exert their influence in either hindering or terminating progress. Dentistry is no exception in having to deal with this problem in order to provide its most desirable service.

It is hoped that by listing and briefly commenting on some of these misconceptions you will gain some profit by it.

Brushing the teeth twice daily, when arising and at bedtime, appears to be the practice most patients proudly reveal to their dentist. This procedure is better than not brushing the teeth at all, but to reduce dental decay and to keep the teeth and gums properly cleaned brushing should be done immediately after each meal.

Most patients seem to think that you should discontinue brushing in an area of the mouth when bleeding occurs. This area actually needs more brushing and attention; a check-up may be wise when this occurs. Ceasing to maintain good oral hygiene will invariably add to the cause of the bleeding.

Vincent's Infection (Trench Mouth) is not contagious and rarely occurs in a clean mouth. Among other contributing causes are a lowered resistance, stress, and an unbalanced diet.

For the benefit of the wives, they need to know that there is no logic behind the "loss of a tooth for every baby" tale. Calcium or other constituents are not resorbed from the tooth once it is formed. Pregnancy only contributes to dental decay by lack of cleansing after eating, which becomes more frequent during this period. Lack of cleansing the teeth after a cookie or other carbohydrate between meals contributes to dental decay as much as a full course dinner.

Many people believe that so long as their teeth cause them no pain it isn't necessary to seek dental care. Most decayed teeth cause very little or no pain until the decay progresses to the extent that the tooth starts to abcess. Once this situation is reached the chance of saving the tooth is greatly diminished.

Crowded or crooked front teeth are not caused by pressure from third molars (Wisdom Teeth) and their removal will not alter or change the situation; however the Orthodontist may extract teeth closer to the front to help correct this condition.

Everyone seems to want pearly white teeth. You should be pleased if your teeth are not chalky white in color. Well calcified enamel (outer coating) permits reflection of light from the yellowish dentin underneath giving the faint yellowish tinge to the healthy tooth.

As was discussed in a previous article, many people have the attitude they are going to lose their teeth anyway and desire to have them extracted in order to get it over with. Regardless of the causes for this attitude, it must be borne in mind that artificial teeth are only substitutes for your natural ones and can never function as efficiently as the natural dentition.

We still see those patients that request not to have their teeth cleaned because "it wears away the enamel". Unless these individuals realize their mistake, they usually lose more than the enamel (the tooth itself) at an earlier age from dental decay and/or periodontal (gum) involvement.

NOTICE

Looking for a good buy on lumber, table legs, hinges or the like? There will be a sale of these items and many other odd lot and shop-worn items on January 19th from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The sale will be held in building 1113.

Innocent Toy Could Produce Fiery Death

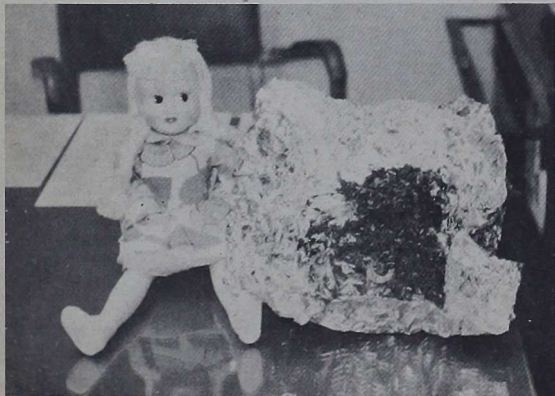

Thousands of dolls were sold over the Christmas holidays to unsuspecting people who probably didn't realize that they were purchasing extremely dangerous toys. The dolls, imported from Poland and other European countries, are made of straw, rags, and a highly flammable and hazardous plastic - nitrocellulose.

Authorities in Ohio have issued a statewide alert of the dolls' danger, and the New York City fire department has requested that anyone who knows of the existence of any of these dolls destroy them immediately. Department and discount stores all across the nation are withdrawing the dolls from their shelves.

Both the Federal Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Service are conducting investigations to determine the extent of the danger posed by the dolls. Officials in seven different states have issued warnings concerning the hazards posed by allowing the children to play with the dolls.

The foot - high, flaxen-haired dolls, usually dressed in pig-tails sold in the stores for about $1. All are stamped with the name of the country from which they are imported, and the vast majority of them were manufactured in Poland.

Authorities have reported detailed tests illustrating the flammability of the dolls' hair, but the most dangerous part of the doll is its face, the part which is made of the nitrocellulose. In addition to being a fire hazard, the face of the doll gives off a toxic gas when it burns. The authorities urge that anyone knowing the whereabouts of any of these dolls destroy them at the first possible opportunity or bring them to your local fire department, and by all means, keep the dolls away from children.

DANGEROUS - This toy doll, imported by a New York firm from Poland and other European countries, is dangerous if placed near heaters, etc. The ashes at right is all that is left of one doll exposed to 300 degrees temperature. Many could have been bought during Christmas.

EPIPHANY

Traditionally, on the 12th day after the birth of Christ, the Magi saw, and presented to the Christ-child, the gifts of gold as for a King, frankincense in adoration of the divine Savior of the world, and myrrh in honor of the future sacrifice of the Redeemer of the world. The wise men's gifts were tokens of love and gratitude to God for the birth of the Messiah.

The most often used symbol of the Epiphany is the five-pointed star. There are various interpretations of what each point of the star represents, but regardless of which set of interpretations we as individuals choose to accept, each of these five points can represent to us a meaning of Christ applicable to all. From the many interpretations available to us, let us choose those of fidelity, honesty, responsibility, duty and honor.

Fidelity is the faithfulness we display and the allegiance we show in the discharge of our duties and obligations whether it be to those to whom we are bound by affection or to our job and daily routine.

Honesty is the quality of character we display in our fair dealings with others. One usually thinks of honesty as being directed towards the ordinary sense of acting with regard for the property of others; that an honest man does not steal. But an honest man not only does not steal, he does not cheat or defraud; and to be always genuine, sincere and creditable in our daily contacts can often be difficult.

Responsibility is our capacity to perceive the distinctions of right and wrong; our ability and sense of awareness towards meeting and fulfilling our obligations.

Duty may be a moral obligation to others, himself, or his job. An obligation or a responsibility may be created by circumstances, but our duty arises from the nature of things. It also expresses respect and obedience.

Honor indicates the sense of dignity and acceptance with which we conduct ourselves in accordance to principles. When his own sense of right demands it, the honorable man will make a sacrifice which no one could require of him, nor would he take an unfair advantage that would be allowed him.

Whether you interpret the five points of the Star of Epiphany as indications of the foregoing as discussed and apply them to self, family and country; whether you interpret the meanings of protection, gratitude, sharing, love and obedience; whether you refer to the attributes of God towards power, wisdom, majesty, mercy and justice, they are all applicable towards motives for improvement.

Just as the star was the guide of Gaspard, Melchior and Balthasar towards the infant Jesus and a new way of life, likewise can the star be interpreted to the individual today as a guide to a stronger, better and more meaningful way of life.

Did You Know

That you as a military man or civilian employee of the Marine Corps, can and are encouraged to write for publication, in any form, on topics of military and professional interest, of general interest concerning the Marine Corps, in support of United States military policy or in the interest of national defense?

Here are the guidelines:

—First you are authorized by Paragraph 7029, Marine Corps Order P5720.44 and provided that:

—it does not in any way interfere with your normal duties

—it is not done during normal working hours.

—if you write for profit, you are in the same parity with civilian professional writers as far as accessibility to classified technical or operational military information is concerned.

—you do not receive pay for the preparation of any official material which your job requires to provide gratuitously.

—articles should be routed via the Commandant of the Marine Corps (Code AG) when sending them to unofficial publications.

COST REDUCTION AWARD - Lieutenant Colonel J. C. Boulware (left), Commanding Officer, Base Materiel Battalion, receives the award from Major General Joseph O. Butcher, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base. The Battalion conducted a re-warehousing program which resulted in a $34,000 savings.

Social Security No. Check Asked

Disbursing Officers at Camp Lejeune are requesting that each person paid aboard the base check the social security account number appearing on his W-2 form against the number on his social security card.

The Social Security Administration has reported a large number of errors in social security numbers on forms which reflect the individual's earnings and pay withheld.

The numbers on the W-2 form and your social security card should be identical.

A discrepancy should be immediately reported to one's commanding officer.

Failure to report an error could result in improper credit to an account, and could ultimately affect one's social security benefits.

Once every 90 days the Marine Corps turns a skeptical eye on its troopers and demands proof of what most take for granted: that Marines are in top physical condition.

When that day rolls around everyone below the age of 40 falls out regardless of rank or job titles and those with a trace of gray at the temple line up to take the same test as those with a trace of fuzz on the upper lip.

Recently the day rolled around for Headquarters Battalion, 2d Marine Division, and the pictures on this page provide a chronicle of that event, an experience common to every Marine.

What he is about to perform looks very much like a track meet, and it invariably crosses his mind that the average sane athlete would have made his entrance dressed in track skivvies. But the sergeant standing there with the clipboard does not look receptive to such an argument, and it is forgotten.

Since it is a test to determine combat readiness, the testee is asked to show up attired as he would be if, say, he were on patrol in Vietnam.

Boxers Will Battle PhibLant Wednesday

A trip to Little Creek, Va., and a battle with a strong team from the Naval Amphibious Base there is in store for Camp Lejeune's Boxing Team Wednesday.

The Marine pugilists won the first match between the two teams this season by an 8-1 score, but it was a tough battle all the way. The Navy boxers can be expected to be more effective fighting at home before a partisan crowd.

Last season, Camp Lejeune's only loss was to PhibLant in Little Creek, Marine Coach J.C. Davis has been working his team very hard in order to avoid a similar downfall.

So far the Lejeune boxers have a 4-0 season mark.

Since the last match with PhibLant, three experienced fighters who joined the team late have whipped into shape and are ready to fight. All three are All-Marine champions and will strengthen the squad.

ARMENDARIZ

Lawrence Armendariz was All-Marine in 1963-64-65 in the fly-weight division, Dick Royal is the current All-Marine welterweight champ, having won his title here last spring, and Ray Mulett was All-Marine bantamweight champion in 1965.

In the last outing with PhibLant, All-Navy Vince Fagan won his fight against Willie Cannon, staggering the Marine with a left hook. Though the other Navy fighters lost, they put up quite a battle.

Louis Ward defeated Navy's Jim Hudson, but Hudson hit Ward so hard his jaw was broken in three places and Ward will sit this one out on the sidelines.

All-Marine Billy Jenkins and heavyweight John C. Thompson also knew they had been in a fight. Thompson was knocked down, but came back to knock his opponent out. Other knockouts were recorded by Bobby Stoddard and Hinton Wilson.

Besides Ward, the only Lejeune fighter not expected to be ready for PhibLant is Willie Rosado, who has been bothered by a stomach ailment.

WILSON

Coach Davis won't match his fighters against PhibLant until the day of the match, but whoever fights for Camp Lejeune can expect to meet Navy boxers with revenge on their minds.

Supply School Wins Holiday Tournament

Marine Corps Supply Schools defeated a scrappy U. S. Naval Hospital quintet 59-48 last week in the second game of the championship playoff to take top honors in the 2d Marine Division's Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Men from the Naval Hospital had won the first contest 70-68 on a last second bucket by Ed Kwasnick to throw the two teams into another clash in the double-elimination tourney.

This was MCSS's first loss in the tournament, while Hospital suffered an earlier 66-53 defeat by Base Material.

The second game was almost anti-climatic, with the supplymen dominating play all the way through. They held a 31-26 lead at the half time, and stretched it out to as much as 13 during the second half.

Safe Boating Classes Slated

The United States Power Squadrons announced classes in motor boat safety will be conducted during the month of January.

Squadrons is the largest nationwide educational organization for boatmen in the world. The time-tested curriculum is constantly updated and is taught by dedicated and experienced Squadron members.

The course will be given at the Jacksonville City Hall beginning at 7:30 a.m. Jan. 9. There is no charge for the course which is open to all interested Marines and civilians.

ingdale, who combined for 50 points in the first game, could only muster 15 between them in the second. Kwasnick fouled out early in the second half, leaving the game with only two points, while Bloomingdale tallied 13 in the second encounter.

Tom Sinopoli and George Lee each hit for 16 markers in the nightcap of the double-header to top the scoring for the winners.

Bob Nickles had 16 for the losers to take their team's scoring honors. Nickles had to leave the game with 15 minutes left because of a minor injury. A healthy Nickles might have made the difference for the sailors.

Supply Schools kept up a sturdy zone defense through the second game, occasionally shifting to a man-to-man defense. The Navy's Kwasnick, who hit for 30 in the first game, was played "nose-to-nose" by, first Bob Lowe, and then Tony Turner. He was apparently kept down by the two hustling guards.

During the first encounter, the Hospital five had to come from behind through almost the entire game.

Supply had leads of from 10 to 12 points in both halves, only to lose them in the final minutes of play.

They had two cold streaks, one in each half, contributing to their loss. Taking nothing away from Hospital squad a couple of buckets during these frigid periods would have put the game out of reach for MCSS.

But, they just wouldn't fall for the Supplymen and, with about two minutes left, the Naval Hospital had a 68-67 lead.

A foul shot by MCSS's Bill Campbell tied it at 68-all with a minute and a half left.

Hospital put the ball into play looking for one good shot. It didn't come until a minute and 25 seconds later, and real couldn't be termed a good shot.

It was a 30-footer from the right side of the key by Kwasnick. It swished through, not even touching the rim, giving the game to the Navy.

But, success was short-lived for the Hospital aggregation, with Marine Corps Supply Schools ending up the 2d Marine Division's Holiday Tournament champions.

Wrestlers

Marines at Camp Lejeune who have Olympic-type wrestling experience and are interested in forming a wrestling club are asked to contact Captain H. D. Doss, Base Athletic Officer, 7-3125. The Marine Corps hopes to organize a wrestling team to compete in inter-service competition this spring.

Riding Classes Set at Stables

Riding classes are now being formed at the Base Stables for Marines and dependents interested in the equestrian arts.

A mens' English style class will be taught by Gunnery Sergeant J. Tucker, and beginner classes for women in English and Western styles are also available.

There are a limited number of openings in childrens classes.

Cost of the classes will be $1 per hour. For further information call the Base Stables 7-3293.

Boxer Profile

Neal Taylor, a 6-0, 165-pound middleweight, has fought twice for Camp Lejeune this season, winning a TKO in the first match against Myrtle Beach AFB and losing a decision against the North Carolina State Prison Champs.

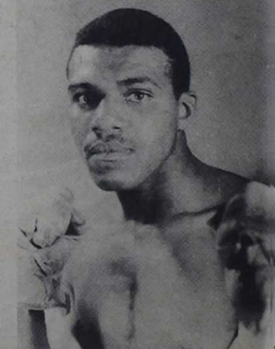

A native of Pittsburgh, Taylor started boxing in 1962 in the Pittsburgh Golden Gloves program and won a novice title after only four fights. He says his best punch is a right.

Sugar Ray Robinson is the boxer he most admires.

"I love to fight, but I don't like to work out all the time," Neal says. But he reported he started boxing because he wanted to stay in shape.

Taylor and his wife Lorena have one child, a two year old boy, Cornelius R. Taylor, Jr. Now 23 years old, Neal joined the Marine Corps in Pittsburgh in 1963. A corporal, he has seen action in Vietnam and is now at tached to Bulk Fuel Company Supply Bn., 2d Force Service Regiment.

the 11th Frame

By MARY ANN McARTOR

The New Year is upon us and we find ourselves on the approach with a new determination that, "This is the year I raise my average ten pins! I will finally get that Century patch!" or even, "This is the year I'll roll my perfect game!"

Our first duty of the New Year, however, is to say, "So long", to the former writer of the 11th Frame, John Malinowski, who has moved on to Quantico. We are going to miss John around the Bowling Center and his column just won't be the same without that personal Malinowski touch.

It was always refreshing to watch the great enthusiasm with which he played the game of ten pins and although John was one of the better bowlers here at Bonnyman, he still had time for a big smile and a few of his bowling jokes for the beginners. So to "Ski" may be say, "Good luck! So long! We'll see you at another duty station!"

Well, the big news for the past three weeks has been the Holiday "No Tap" Tournament which turned out to be a bigger success than we ever dreamed. There were 1186 entries in the mens' division and 266 entries in the womens' division.

Qualifying three game scores in the womens' division are: Cutshall 695, Gribben 690, Schwartz 682, Tyson 677, Campbell 669, Titel 668, O'Reilly 647, Gaddi 646. The list of finalists and their three game scores for the men includes: Kiphart 790, Drew 789, Toner 776, Malinowski 775, Millar 775, Gaddi 775, Coates 759, Kammerer 757.

The eight finalists in each division will be competing for big cash prizes this Saturday, January 14, at 1 p.m. at the Bonnyman Bowling Center. For the men there is $1008 to be won, while for the women there is a prize fund of $226. In this contest nobody loses as eighth place will receive 5 per cent and then the prize list will graduate up to 30 per cent for first place. So we'll be looking for you on Saturday to come on down to Bonnyman and cheer your favorite bowler on.

Whenever a tournament of any kind turns out to be as big a success as this Holiday "No Tap" has been, it is because of the careful planning and long hours of work that has been put into such a contest. Therefore, let's say, "Three Cheers" for Colonel Evans, Lloyd James, and all of the tournament committee. Let's hope we have more of these special contests and let's have them often.

In the Ball & Chain League this week Ron Miller was high with a 649 series; 233 high game. Chuck Hallstone had a 566 series; 230 high game. Santa Mott led the women with a 528 series; 203 high game. And Carole Hanley, an 81 average bowler, rolled a 134 game. Good for you Carole!

The Early Bird Mixed League found C. Zubert leading the men with a 556 series; 218 high game, while for the women Kathy Traub rolled a 534 series; 196 high game. In the Bowling Belles, a beginner ladies' league, Sue Deglau was the hero this week with a 450 series; 167 high game.

High series for the Paradise Point Mixed League was bowled by Paul Hellsner with a 562 while Debbie Woolard was high for the women with a 492. M. T. Matthews with a 227 and Betty Landwehr with a 216 rolled the high games.

Ron Millar led the Mens' Wednesday Night Scratch Doubles too with a 630 series and R. Tomayo had high game of 234. In the Sunrisers Gail Radford's 472 series was high while Millie Pehowic turned in 187 for high game.

REMINDER FOR ALL SANCTIONED BOWLERS! TOURNAMENT ENTRY DEADLINES! Mens' State at Wilmington, January 15; Womens' State at Goldsboro, January 18; Womens' City at Jacksonville, January 18; Women's National at Rochester, New York, January 20; Mens' National at Miami Beach, Florida, February 1.

tournament were J. C. Boulware, John V. Huff, H. F. Herlihy, G. H. Grossfuss, Jim Brown, and Ensley.

"Hole-in-one" contests, in which golfers are graded on how close their ball approaches the pin were held on holes 2, 8, 12, and 17, all par threes.

In that category the winners were Jim Hallett, Bart Slemmons, Raymond Fry, and Major General Ormond R. Simpson.

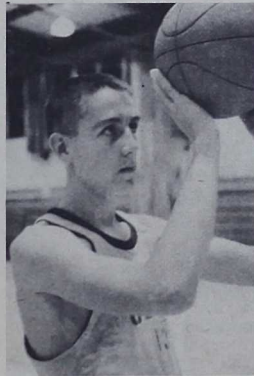

Long drive contests were held on the 7th and 13th holes. Winners were Bill Klages and R. S. Nolf.

D'pups Split With Pamlico, White Oak

Pamlico County High School took advantage of an off night for Camp Lejeune's Devilpups and handed the local high school a 69-64 loss in Coastal Plains Athletic Conference basketball competition Tuesday.

The Devilpups defeated White Oak 99-90 in a game last week and now own a 5-2 record, losing only to highly regarded Swansboro and Pamlico.

Tomorrow night Lejeune meets a strong Dixon team at Dixon and then returns to home court for a game Monday against Jones-Central of Trenton.

ARGETSINGER

Nip and tuck was the word Tuesday night, with the Devilpups coming from a five-point halftime deficit to take the lead briefly several times in the second half. But that little extra spark wasn't there and Pamlico won in the final minute.

"We gave the game away. It was one of the poorest games we've played. Our defense wasn't good and our shooting was off," commented Lejeune coach John Griffin.

The game was 61-61 with one minute to go.

"We threw the ball away on bad passes and made just lots of violations," added Griffin.

Leading the scoring for Camp Lejeune was Lane Argetsinger with 23 points and Rick Gutekunst with 17. Dave Ogle added 12 while Ron Caves had 6, Terry Berglund 4, and John Winchester 2.

Taking game scoring honors was J. Cowell of Pamlico, who ripped the nets for 29 points.

Argetsinger was the leading Lejeune rebounder with 14.

Against White Oak, the Devilpups were ragged in the first half, but bounced back with a devastating offense in the second to down the Red Devils 99-90.

Argetsinger led the Lejeune team with 32 points on 15 baskets and two free shots. It was the highest point total by a Devilpup this season.

Rick Gutekunst added 24 points, and both of the front-liners played a strong rebounding game.

The Devilpups poured in 28 points in the third quarter to take the lead after trailing at halftime and at the end of the first period.

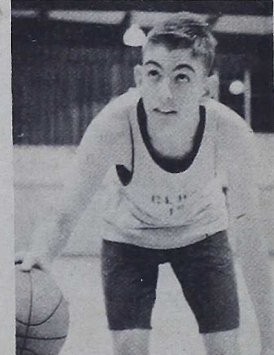

"We had one of the poorest first halves of the season down there," remarked Griffin. "We gave the ball away of violations again and again."

Good condition was a big factor in the Devilpups' second half surge. "We had their tongues hanging out there for a while," Griffin said.

The Devilpups played White Oak with only six men. John Winchester, usually a defensive standout, was sidelined with an injured ankle.

Rounding out the scoring for the Devilpups were Ronnie Caves with 17, David Ogle with 13, and Terry Berglund with 11. Wayne Judge added two.

GUTEKUNST

For White Oak, David Rowe was high with 26. Billy Rowe added 17, while Guy Huffman had 12 and Ricky Marshall 14.

VOLLEYBALL CHAMPS - Maintenance Co. Team Seven won first place in the intramural volleyball competition held by the 2d Service Battalion last month. Fourteen teams competed over a two week period before a winner was determined. Awards were presented by Colonel P. A. Davis, Battalion Executive officer. Left to right, LCpl. R. J. Quinones, Col. Davis, GySgt. H. C. Mitchell, LCpl. L. D. Knowles, Sgt. L. N. Stroup, PFC D. Connolly, and Sgt. T. F. Togia.

Archery Club to Host Indoor Shoot

Camp Lejeune's Archery Club will host Sunday at Marston Pavilion the first of a series of indoor shoots for the East Carolina Archery League.

Shoots will be held at Camp Lejeune Sunday and January 29 and February 12 and 26. The finals of this series of tournaments will be held here sometime in March.

The Club held an intra-club shoot in Marston Pavilion last week. In the men's freestyle, Paul Brannon and Gene Ellis tied for first place and will hold a shoot-off to determine who gets the top spot.

In third place was Bart Vredeveld with Carl St. Andrew finishing fourth.

In women's barebow, Vi St. Andrew won first place.

For those interested in beginning archery, the Archery Club is starting classes at Marston Pavilion on Wednesday evenings.

Instruction for dependents 12-16 will be held from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Adults 18 and older will begin at 7 p.m.

Marston Pavilion will also be open for shooting to Club members' and other qualified archers every night except Friday beginning at 7 p.m.

Archers can also shoot at Marston on Saturday and Sunday unless there is a scheduled tournament in progress.

Persons interested in joining the Archery Club or obtaining more information should contact Paul Brannon at Tarawa Terrace, 353-3493; Les Wyman at Sneads Ferry; Chuck Langin in Swansboro, 353-1735; or Carl St. Andrew, Camp Lejeune, 2-2535.

DRACULA-PRINCE OF DARKNESS

This latest of the Dracula entries, a British production, is one of the best of the lot. Christopher Lee as the Count is silent, seething and thoroughly chilling. Two married couples, on a holiday in Transylvania, are led by a series of accidents to the castle of the "late" Count Dracula. The servant at the castle slits the throat of one of the male members of the party and mixes the blood with the dusty remains of Dracula.

THE FLIGHT OF THE PHOENIX

A compelling, suspenseful drama about a plane crash in the Sahara desert and the ensuing struggle for survival on the part of its 11 inhabitants. The picture is loaded with suspense and features outstanding acting by James Stewart, Ernest Borgnine, Richard Attenborough, Dan Duryea, and Hardy Kruger. In Color.

MADAME X

A highly sentimental tear-jerker designed especially for the female audience. Loaded with extravagant costumes and sets, the movie tells the touching story of a woman who is deserted by her husband, falls in love with another man, and eventually becomes a murderess. At her trial, she is defended by her son, although neither knows the true identity of

We printed a report last week about ZIP codes which said that personal letters would not be accepted unless they contained ZIP code. We were reminded (ten times) that this was not correct and that each individual should check with the Post Office for the correct code on ZIP Codes. That portion of the "NOTICE", however, is correct.

Along the same lines, we reported comrats raised by $6. We had used an old scale of $1.09 where the current scale at the time was $1.17, making our raise only $3.90 a month.

Stars Entertain BLT 2/8 In Special Show 'Afloat'

By LCpl. S. H. Gambee
USS GUAM, SAN JUAN, P.R., Jan 2 — A lonely Christmas away from home, the first for many, was considerably brightened for Marines of Battalion Landing Team 2-8 by a United Servicemans Organization (USO)
sponsored show featuring Red Buttons as Master of Ceremonies.

The show featured stars of stage, screen and television who are presently appearing in the San Juan area. It was hosted by Commodore Ebenezer Poring Officer, USS Guam, and Lieutenant Colonel C. G. Cooper, USMC, Commanding Officer,

BLT 2-8.

Along with Red Buttons, Marty Allen and Steve Rossi, provided the humor that made every Marine in the audience laugh with enjoyment.

Introduced as the "Enchanting Woman of Song," Anna Maria Alberghetti far exceeded her praise in songs of love and laughter.

Roger Williams, composer and pianist, played "Born Free" along with other of his top hits.

Local dinner and nightclub entertainers included Tito Rodiquez, one of Puerto Rico's most famous composers, singers and recording stars; and Ken Hamilton with the Oliver Jones Quartet singing and playing modern jazz mingled with songs of Jamaica.

The final entertainers were Paul Anka, called a "phenomenon among teenagers," and Sammy Cohn, who is remembered by two generations for his lyrics of Broadway.

In speaking to the audience
he said, "of many proud moments in my career, the reception we have received here today will be among my most cherished."

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, LtCol. Cooper presented a plaque to Paul Anka from Amphibious Assault Squadron 8, in appreciation for his time and work. The presentation was made in behalf of Commodore Porter.

Acting out one of the many humorous skits they presented, Marty Allen and Steve Rossi made up the comedy portion of the show.

Seabees Here for Training

Eight hundred Seabees of Naval Mobile Construction Battalion
MCB-71 arrived here this week for three weeks of intensive infantry training and combat schooling.

The Construction Battalion, will train with the First Infantry Training Regiment during their stay at Camp Lejeune. The training period will include communication school, anti - guerilla warfare, field medical and cooking training, the use and care of the 106 mm recoilless rifle and mortars, and squad and company defensive tactics.

The Seabees, made famous during World War II for their "Can-DO" ability, are the construction arm of the Navy. While their prime task is the construction of Marine and fleet facilities, their training does include defensive tactics to enable them to defend what they build. This March Seabees will celebrate their 25th anniversary.

Marines Help Reenact Edenton Tea Party

A contingent of 2d Division Marines participated in the re-enactment of the Edenton Tea Party,
Jan. 2, in support of the North Carolina Heart Association's public education campaign.

The tea party, which originally occurred in 1774, was actually the signing of a resolution by 51 women of Edenton, protesting the English tax on tea. This year, the tea party was re-enacted by signing a resolution to fight heart disease by the Edenton Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.
Dressed in colonial attire, the daughters were headed by Mrs.
Wood Privott.

"One of the proudest martial traditions in this country," commented Mrs. Privott, "is borne by the United States Marine Corps who, through the courtesy of the Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C., saluted our undertaking. The Marine Corps also today makes an additional contribution."

A squad consisting of 12 riflemen from Company E, 2d Battalion, 2d Marines, 2d Marine Division, fired a rifle salute in support of the heart disease campaign. The Marines were commanded by Second Lieutenant George J. Eschenfelder, Company D, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines.

During the ceremonies, the New Year's Day Shooters, a Cherryville, N. C. group which honors old traditions, fired muskets in honor of the tea party, while the Marines answered with the modern gunfire of the M-14.

"To underscore our determination to prevail over this enemy," continued Mrs. Privott, "to emphasize the historic importance of the occasion, and to serve notice of the deadly seriousness of the resolution we have here executed, Marine cannoners will fire for the first time in their history, three Revolutionary War cannons."

According to Mrs. Privott, the cannons were of Swiss manufacture and delivered to Edenton in 1778.

The cannons were fired over the Chowan River to close the ceremonies. Each one weighed approximately two tons, none Staff Sergeant Patrick D. Fitton, a demolitions instructor with the 2d Engineers, and the man who fired the cannons.

Guest speakers at the ceremonies were: the Honorable Walter Jones, Representative from North Carolina to the U.S.
Congress; Mr. Hargrove Ber-les Jr., chairman of the board of North Carolina Heart Association; and Mrs. Sidney Blackman, former Broadway and motion picture star and a native of North Carolina.

The tea for the re-enactment of the tea party was supplied by the British government and the women of Edenton graciously withdrew their embargo on the English drink.

In a message from Thomas Sharman, Her Britannic Majesty's Consul-General, Mr. Shar-man said, "Now that there is no tax, either on tea or goodwill, I trust that the normal flow of commerce between Edenton and Great Britain will grow apace."
