FSJC-Health Drive kicks-off Tuesday

The Tenth annual campaign of the National Health Agencies and the Federal Service Joint Crusade for the International Agencies will be conducted here from February 1 through March 15.

President Johnson has urged Federal employees to give generously to the campaign to "provide better health for all Americans" and to "relieve suffering, to renew hope, and to carry on the ceaseless struggle for human dignity and freedom."

A Kick-Off Rally for Keymen involved in the project was held yesterday, with Colonel W. A. Leitner, Chairman for the Camp Lejeune Fund Drive, conducting the meeting.

Marines and Federal employees at Lejeune will receive from keymen an information folder and a contributor's envelope. A designation form enables the donor to select the agencies of his choice and specify the amount each is to receive.

Campaign goals

The campaign has three major goals:

1. Providing all Federal and military personnel with information about major disease and disabilities and the way in which the National Health Agencies fight them, and how the Federal Service Joint Crusade aids in relieving sickness, poverty, hunger and oppression among our many friends overseas.
2. Obtaining generous gifts from all potential donors at each installation. This involves 100% participation. In this respect, it is interesting to note that the Drive Chairman has stated that this drive is voluntary and neither units nor individuals will be assigned an individual dollar quota. Of prime importance is that EVERYONE should give SOMETHING.

3. Encouraging the donor to write in how he wishes to di-

UNITED Cerebral Palsy's national poster girl, Donna Marie Lucas, 6, of Fern Creek, Kentucky, chats with President Johnson and makes friends with "Him" during a visit to the White House. The Association's programs of treatment and training help make life more meaningful for many of the 600,000 victims of cerebral palsy. United Cerebral Palsy is participating in the current campaign of the voluntary National Health Agencies.

USO Silver Anniversary; celebration to last a week

On February 4, 1966, the USO will be 25 years old. The Jacksonville - Camp Lejeune USO will be celebrating this Silver Anniversary with a week of commemorative activities and entertainment.

Highlighting the festivities on Feb. 3 will be a luncheon at the City Hall, Jacksonville, N. C., in which Mr. Bob Richards, U. S. Decathlon champion three years standing, will be the featured speaker. The two time Olympic pole vault champion will speak on "Athletics and A Philosophy of Life".

Major General Claude T. Bowers, Adjutant General of the State of North Carolina will be among the many distinguished guests attending the luncheon. General Bowers will attend as the personal representative of the Honorable Dan K. Moore, Governor of North Carolina.

In the afternoon, Olympic champion Bob Richards will visit the Infantry Training Regiment. During the tour he will visit groups of 500 to 1,000 men and deliver a talk to them.

His next appearance will be at the Camp Theater, 6 p. m. to speak before an audience of approximately 1500 people. It will be carried over local radio to a listening audience of more than 30,000.

Mr. Richards will then return to the USO at Jacksonville where he will deliver a speech at 6:45 p. m. followed by a cake cutting.

Entertainment at the USO for Feb. 3 will include a variety show featuring Norman Bennett and his orchestra, Karen Nyce, Patsy Elliott, and world's accordion champion, Donald Hulme. The variety show will start at 7:30 p. m.

Approximately 40 lovely coeds from East Carolina College will entertain at the USO at 9 p. m. They are members of the East Carolina College Girls Glee Club.

February 4, 5

The Norman Bennett Show will entertain at the Area 1 Service Club on Feb. 4 at 7:30 p. m. They will also perform at the Area 5 Service Club at 9:30 p. m. on the same day. On Feb. 5 they will entertain at the Central Area Service Club at 7:30 p. m. and at the Courthouse Bay Theater at 9:30 p. m.

February 5

To continue the USO 25th Anniversary Celebration activities, an Open Invitational Boxing Match will be held Feb. 5 at 8 p. m. at the Goette Memorial Field House. Some of

Gen. Ormond R. Simpson now wearing two-star rank

Major General Ormond R. Simpson, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, wearing the two stars of his new rank, received a warm "welcome home" and congratulatory greetings last Thursday evening upon his return from Washington, D. C.

General Simpson received his two-star promotion from General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps Thursday, Jan. 20, while on a two-day visit to Headquarters Marine Corps.

Shortly after the General's aircraft landed at the Marine Corps Air Facility at New River Thursday evening he was greeted by Mrs. Simpson, who was surprised and happy to learn of her husband's promotion. Mrs. Simpson had not been officially informed of the advancement.

Also present to extend their compliments to the Division Commander were Major General H. Nickerson, Jr., Brigadier General John G. Bouker, Commanding Generals of the Marine Corps Base and Force Troops respectively, and Regimental, Battalion and Staff Officers of the 2d Marine Division.

Second Star

GEN. Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant, and LtGen. A. L. Bowers, CG, FMFLant, affix new two-star insignia on the shoulder of Major General O. R. Simpson, CG, 2d Marine Division, during ceremonies in the office of the Commandant at Headquarters Marine Corps.

BOB Richards, U. S. Decathlon Champion, will be a speaker at local USO festivities.

A different kind of war

President Johnson's concept of the Great Society is a noble effort to lift the common man from the trenches of poverty and onto a plateau of respectability. The success of such a program, depends to a large extent, on the theory of stretching money and resources so that everyone who needs to, can benefit.

Every Federal agency, including the Marine Corps, is now engaged in a colossal effort to save money which can be diverted to other uses. It is called a "War on Waste."

Those engaged in this war are advancing suggestions that range anywhere from "How to make a cheaper paper clip" to a paper hole puncher that can be converted into a stapler. Seriously, some of the ideas are splendid and are already in use.

However, in the quest to win the "War on Waste", there is an area of combat which has remained virtually untouched. Not because this area is new, but because it involves non-materialistic ideas and the savings to be reaped are intangible. They cannot be measured in dollars and cents. The war we are speaking of is a "war on the waste of human resources."

Everyone of us, as Marines, be we the dedicated type or not, have a contribution to make in this special-type war. The Commandant of the Marine Corps has called special attention to this problem. On one hand he calls it a "retention problem" and in another unseemingly related manner he refers to it as "a need for leadership."

With the Corps' authorized increase in strength, the retention problem should become a personal matter with all career Marines.

Why? Because as NCOs and officers, we have a direct influence on the hundreds of Marines who leave the Corps each day.

While it is true that many Marines who return to civilian life are the type who should, (because not everyone is suited to a military career) there are those who have left the Corps, who, with proper guidance by those of us who remain, had no valid reason to leave.

The reason some of the potential career Marines left are reflections of what we, as NCOs and officers, have failed to give—mainly a Lack of Leadership, Improper Training and Failure to Recognize the Human Element.

Lack of proper leadership

To the private or PFC, the NCO and the officer is supposed to be what the Corps is and what it stands for. When we fail to give the proper image, we have failed the young Marine who may want to emulate us. Who wants to model himself after someone who is sloppy in dress, slovenly in speech and conduct, and who does not care about his own image as a Marine? The Marine who does not know why he himself is a Marine, or what a Marine should be, certainly cannot expect his younger counterpart to understand. The young company commander who boasts about the fact that he has three months to do before he returns to his "lush job at General Motors" does little to encourage the young Marine who is undecided about a career, nor does the senior NCO make an impression when he falls to put in the same "honest day's work" he expects from his junior.

THE answer to the Corps' problems rests with the individual Marine.

Improper training

This is perhaps the most vital element in keeping the young Marine "interested in a career as a Marine". Those of us who have been working in our job for a number of years are doing so for a reason. We have found the job we like, and now that we have, we should try to train those who have been put into similar jobs.

The auto mechanic who is proud of the job he does, stimulates the man whom he is teaching. If he fails to stimulate his subordinate, perhaps it's because, here is a Marine who does not yet understand what is being taught or else it is a Marine who just can't "cut the mustard" and should be counseled in order to find a job that he is more suited for.

It would be a mistake to try to teach a Marine who was meant to be a clerk, how to be an auto mechanic instead. With proper training in the proper job, this man may become career material.

By the same token, when a young Marine does demonstrate talent and interest in the field in which he is now engaged, but still doesn't care, perhaps it is because he is being improperly trained.

There is also the case of discipline in training. Lack of discipline in teaching is as good as no teaching at all. There is the NCO or CO who says "what the heck, PFC Jones may be a trouble-maker, but he does his job well, and that's all I care about". This is a negative approach which causes the "rebel" to think, "If my superiors don't care how I act, why should I?" Perhaps he is even thinking, "How can this man be my superior, when he is unable to keep me under control?" In combat this type of attitude is dangerous—even in civilian life it doesn't do much for the man who wants to "keep the job."

Proper training and discipline keep the potential career Marine thinking of the Marine Corps as the elite organization it was meant to be.

Failure to recognize the human element

Hardened veterans sometimes fail to recognize that the Marine is also a human being. He has ambitions, pride, and a need to be recognized. The Marine who is doing a good job deserves that "pat on the back". You can do this without compromising your military dignity. Try it sometime, you may find out that it makes you feel a little better than the person you complimented for doing a fine job.

The Marine who has a special problem is a human being too. Too often, we compare his problem with one that we had at his age and say "Well, I handled that problem at his age without any difficulty. Why should I go out of my way to help him?" You should go out of your way simply because PFC Joe Johnson is simply NOT you. No two human beings are equipped to handle the same problem as well as another. Some need help and advice, others do not.

The NCO and officer who look out for the welfare of their men, are the ones who gain the respect due to that special breed of man called Marine.

Certainly, there are a dozen other categories that need improvement in the War on Waste of Human Resources. You know them, and so do I. But isn't it time we did something about it? Isn't it time we stopped this useless waste of human resources and start keeping Marines who are meant to be Marines, in the Marine Corps? The savings are self-evident. The cost to you is nothing. After all, you're only doing your job as a Marine. (L. E. W.)

Who's the loser?

Nearly every weekend, as the auto exodus from Camp Lejeune begins, numerous Marines embark upon long and dangerous journeys to "out-of-bounds" locations. What they stand to lose by making these trips far outweighs their reasons for violating a Marine Corps Order.

Let's start with loss of life. Few, if any of us have the "death wish," yet traveling by car to destinations outside the defined liberty limits invites mishap and heightens the chances of a fatal accident.

It's logical to assume that in order to reach a distant locale in a limited amount of time, a driver must exceed the speed limit if he hopes to spend much time at his destination before embarking upon the return trip. National Safety Council statistics reveal that speeders are more prone to traffic accidents than the drivers who adhere to the posted limits.

34 Deaths in 1965

Last year, 34 Camp Lejeune Marines died as a result of traffic mishaps; some of them in states as far away as Florida, Alabama, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania. Why risk death by disobeying orders and traveling out-of-bounds? That question defies a rational answer, but death isn't the only risk Camp Lejeune personnel run by driving great distances in short periods of time.

Assume for a moment that the car's driver and passengers if any, are involved in an accident but are fortunate enough to escape with their lives. What do they stand to lose? A lot more than they bargained for, that's what!

If the driver and passengers aren't injured, but because of the accident are detained and return to the base after their liberty has expired, or later investigation reveals they were out of bounds, they are liable to court martial for violating a Marine Corps Order. But what if injuries result? Then a host of possibilities become apparent.

HQMC investigates

Should a disability claim be filed as a result of the injuries, the Investigation Section of the Judge Advocate General's Office at Headquarters Marine Corps will investigate. The investigation will determine whether or not the accident was caused by the driver's misconduct. The fact that the driver was out-of-bounds will be an important point in determining misconduct.

In addition to court martial, if misconduct is found, the driver and passengers could be liable for hospital expenses, whether military or civilian, incurred as a result of accident injuries. The time spent in hospitals and away from duty because of injuries received in an out-of-bounds accident is considered "bad time", and must be made up before discharge from the service.

Loss of disability

Should a disability be incurred in an accident involving misconduct on the driver's part he is then liable to lose all and all disability payments that would normally result from a valid disability claim.

The Physical Evaluation Board at Camp Lejeune's U.S. Naval Hospital is often faced with the task of evaluating the usefulness of personnel who have been injured in auto accidents. In cases where a Marine is totally disabled, he could lose, if misconduct on his part were found, monthly disability payments amounting up to 100 per cent; all of his base pay for the rest of his life.

Certain types and amounts of Veteran's Administration benefits may also be lost by a Marine injured in a "misconduct accident."

In all, the Marine who drives out-of-bounds stands to lose a lot, not the least of which is his life. It's something to think about the next time you drive out the main gate as a "weekend warrior." (NPP)

FOUR STAR QUOTES ...

"So we have our pledge—we have our National Security at stake—and we have our growing investment in young men and treasure.

"What are we going to do about this pledge? What are we going to do about our own national stake in Southeast Asia and are we prepared to expand our growing investment?"

"There is a time for debate and we have done that. That time is past.

"There is a time to turn our cheek. We have done so . . . repeatedly. That time is over.

"And there is a time for unity, courage, and action. That time is now!" (From talk given by CMC at New England Council, Boston, Mass., Nov. 19, 1965. —Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant

Chaplain's Corner

Sensitivity is the ability to be aware of that which is beyond oneself. Through the sensory nerves one is aware of heat and cold, of taste and smell, of pain, of light and dark, of sound and silence. Through the sensory nerves one becomes aware of another's life and of his attitudes and points of view and feelings.

This power to be aware of that which is beyond oneself is a marvelous gift of God and is one of life's greatest blessings. On occasion, however, this power of sensitivity short-circuits and then becomes a liability.

When one says he is "very sensitive" usually he does not mean that he is keenly aware of other persons, of their needs and hurts, their hopes and feelings. Rather, he is extremely aware of what affects himself. His sensitivity has become inverted. He vibrates as a violin string, but only to his own emotional reactions.

A truly sensitive person does not speak of being "sensitive." Jesus was acutely sensitive. When the woman who had been ill four years so much as touched the hem of His coat, He "instantly perceived". How wonderful to have such a responsive awareness of the lives of others... to be able to place one's life alongside other people, so that one can look out from where they are and from their condition; to be able to enter into the tragedy or joy of others, their pain or happiness, their hungers and hopes...

It is indeed a wonderful gift, this instrument of sympathy, of pity, of gratitude, of love, of human understanding. ("SHE TOUCHED HIS COAT")... Jesus instantly perceived. (Mark 5: 27)

Credit Union annual meeting

The annual meeting of members of the Camp Lejeune Marine Federal Credit Union will be held at 1 p.m. on Jan. 27, 1966 at Marston Pavilion.

10,000 Marines to march in Division Birthday Parade

Nearly 10,000 2d Division Marines will commemorate the 25th anniversary of the 2d Marine Division with a parade and review and presentation of awards Tuesday, Feb. 1.

The anniversary parade and review, scheduled for 10 a.m. on the Base Parade Ground, will also pay tribute to the 25th anniversary of the United Services Organization (USO) for its contribution to Marines of the Camp Lejeune area.

All members of the Quad-command not participating in the ceremony, and the citizens of Eastern North Carolina, are cordially invited to attend the birthday celebration. All non-military personnel will be given a special events pass as they enter any of the three Camp Lejeune gates. Parking will be available in either the Base Exchange parking area or at Goettge Memorial Field House.

General Edwin A. Pollock, USMC (retired), a former 2d Division Commander, will be reviewing officer as the massed Division passes in review. Colonel C. H. Brush, Jr., Commanding Officer, 2d Marine Regiment, has been designated as Commanding Officer of troops. Other special guests will include Lieutenant General Henry W. Buse, Jr., Deputy Chief of Staff (Plans & Programs) Headquarters Marine Corps and his wife, General Buse is representing General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps. Lieutenant General A. L. Bowser, Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic and other General officers will also attend.

The Honorable Bruce A. Teachey, Mayor of Jacksonville, and the mayors of Wilmington and New Bern are also scheduled to attend.

The silver anniversary celebration will include the presentation of the "Follow Me" trophy to Company B, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines and the "Tarawa Award" to a composite squad from the 3d Battalion, 6th Marines.

The awards will be presented by Mr. Meyer I. Segal, President of the 2d Marine Division Association.

The 2d Division was formed at Camp Elliot, Calif., Feb. 1, 1941, under the command of Major General Clayton P. Vogel. The Division was comprised of some of the Corps' most renowned fighting regiments.

During World War II, the Division took part in the first and last engagements of the war, and eight members of the Division, including the former Commandant of the Marine Corps, General David M. Shoup, were awarded the nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.

In recent years the Division proved its readiness when it went ashore in the Mediterranean in 1958 to help prevent civil war in Lebanon. With the outbreak of civil war in the Dominican Republic in April, 1965, elements of the Division were dispatched to that country, where, as the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade, commanded by Brigadier General John G. Bouker, they deployed to protect American lives and property during the crisis.

Today, under the command of Major General Ormond R. Simpson, the 2d Marine Division remains—as it has for the past 25 years—a "Force in Readiness."

Radio Bn. trains at Parris Island

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C.,—More than 200 Marines, members of the 2d Radio Battalion, Force Troops, Camp Lejeune, arrived at Parris Island's Page Field Jan. 16, for a two-week training exercise.

Commanded by Major James O'Mara, the battalion traveled in convoy from Camp Lejeune to Parris Island to hold its quarterly "away from home" field exercise. The exercises are conducted by the battalion to increase the individual proficiency of its members and to train newly-assigned Marines in their Military Occupational Specialties.

The Battalion brought their own equipment and supplies in a mobility test aimed at showing that the unit can be self-sustaining and can function independently of an established supply system for short periods of time.

"We hold these exercises every three months or so," said Captain W. M. Whaley, Battalion Executive Officer. "These exercises help us train our new people from the ground up at their new jobs and under field operating conditions."

The 2d Radio Battalion is scheduled to return to its home base at Camp Lejeune early next month.

Air Delivery men sought by CMC

The Commandant of the Marine Corps has asked for volunteers to serve in military specialty 7141 (Air Delivery Man), to meet the increasing demands of the Marine Corps in this field.

The program provides that selected volunteers attend airborne infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., for three weeks to qualify as parachutists. They will subsequently attend the parachute packing and maintenance course, for twelve weeks, at Fort Lee, Va. Upon graduation they will be assigned to air delivery duties.

The prerequisites for the program are: (a) must be a volunteer, (b) corporal or below (rank waivers may be requested), (c) any MOS (less MOS indicated as short in MCO 1220.4), (d) not eligible for proficiency pay, (e) not school trained in accordance with MCO 1500.12C, and (f) not in receipt of PCS orders.

All volunteers will be screened prior to being recommended for the program. The screening will consist of an interview, physical testing and medical examination. Those Marines found qualified must be recommended to CMC by their applicable command headquarters.

3d MarDiv Assn. reunion plans told

WASHINGTON, D. C.,—New York industrialist, Charles R. Powers, who was awarded the Silver Star for bravery in World War II, has been appointed general chairman for the Third Marine Division Association's 12th annual reunion to be held in New York City July 14-17.

Theme of the convention will be honoring the combat-active Third, first U. S. division to move into South Viet-Nam to battle communist aggression. The unit, which won World War II fame on the battlefields of Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima, has been stationed on foreign soil all but a few months since being formed in 1942.

In announcing Powers' appointment, Association President Harold J. Melloy said he hoped to have a top-ranking general from the division as the main reunion banquet speaker at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Fallout shelter course might be offered here

Major John McIntosh, Base Disaster Control Officer, announced that a Fallout Shelter Analysts and Engineer course will be conducted here if sufficient interest is shown.

Conducted under the auspices of the Onslow County Office of Civil Defense, the 13-week course will be presented by General Richard L. Jewett, Army Corps of Engineers (Ret'd.). General Jewett, who has conducted several similar courses throughout the state, is on the staff of the University of North Carolina.

Graduates of accredited colleges holding baccalaureate degrees in either engineering or architecture are eligible to attend the course. Scheduled to begin sometime around the beginning of March, the course will be conducted at no expense to class members.

Graduates of the course, who will meet for two hours one night a week for 13 weeks, will be licensed by the U. S. Office of Civil Defense, Washington, D. C., as Fallout Shelter Analysts. This license, which may be attached to the graduate's professional license will authorize the graduate to inspect buildings and grade them as to their suitability as fallout shelters. The license also authorizes architects holding it to design buildings that will be designated fallout shelters prior to construction.

Qualified civilian and military personnel interested in the course who live within commuting distance of Camp Lejeune are urged to contact Maj. McIntosh by telephone at 346-2111, extension 7-5573 or 7-5720.

Boxers win sixth at Little Creek, Va.

The Camp Lejeune Boxing Team invaded Little Creek Amphibious Naval Base, Va., last Wednesday night, to defeat the Navymen for the third time this season, this time by the score of 5-3 in a somewhat disappointing meet.

Before leaving Lejeune, head coach Ray Rogers had expected that at least ten of his fighters would see action but due to other commitments, only eight Naval boxers weighed in with just six entering the ring that evening.

Light middleweight Virgil Alston led off the Marine victory by decisioning Jim Lujan, who defeated Marv Ely at Oceana NAS, last November. It was Alston's fight from the bell as he pressed his attack with powerful combinations to the head and body.

In the second round, the local boxer connected with a lightning straight hand sending Lujan to the canvas. The Naval fighter managed to get up and stay on his feet to the final bell as Alston picked up his third win of the season.

First year man Freddie Davis captured his sixth straight win of his career by scoring a TKO over light middleweight Bill May in the second round.

Davis took control of the bout from the opening bell by landing well placed left hooks and combinations. As the first round ended, the local fighter connected with a powerful right to the head scoring a knockdown.

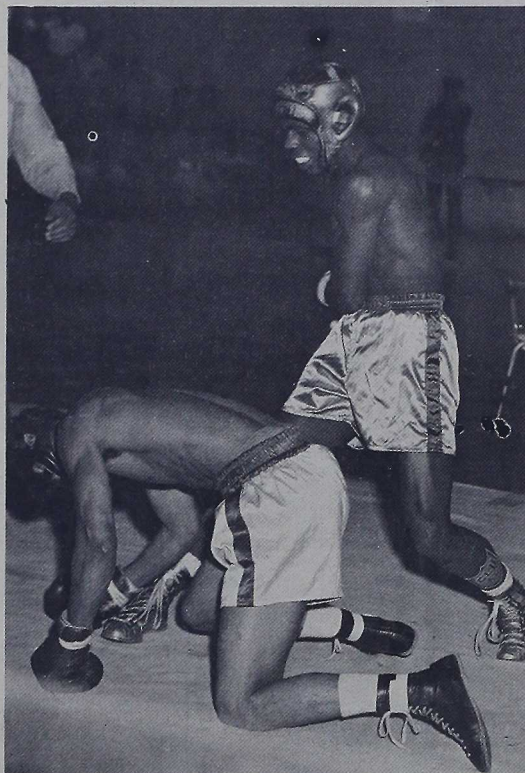

Davis came out in the second round fighting at a terrific pace scoring heavily with furies to the body and a straight right hand to the head knocking May down for the second time. The referee finally stopped the slaughter awarding the TKO to Davis.

Middleweight Tom Lucas dropped a close decision to Vince Fagan for Lejeune's first loss. Fagan, who defeated Virgil Alston at Oceana NAS, in November, out-punched the Marine middleweight throughout the first two rounds scoring with straight rights and combinations. Lucas came back in the third round carrying the fight to his opponent to take the round but it was not enough to win the bout.

Tal Montgomery, a first year middleweight, entered the ring against veteran Larry Waterford only to drop the decision to the Naval boxer.

Both men fought a heads-up battle scoring evenly throughout the first two rounds. In the final round, Waterford picked up steam connecting with several combinations to the body winning the round and the bout.

Veteran Marine light welterweight Harrison Payne captured his sixth win of the season by scoring a TKO in the second round over Morris Harris. It was the Naval boxers second loss to the Lejeune squad this season as he dropped a decision to Don Reid at Dam Neck NAS in late November.

Payne opened the bout with a series of solid combinations and straight left hands, sending Harris down for the mandatory eight count. The local boxer came out stronger in the second round, landing a series of left jabs and right hooks, decking his opponent for the second time to win the TKO.

Light middleweight Tony Griffin lost the only other Marine contest to George Sarmour in the best-matched bout of the evening.

Throughout the bout, both men scored evenly with combinations and flurries to the body. At the sound of the final bell, it was anybody's guess as to whom won, but the judges awarded Sarmour with the win.

Marine welterweight Richard Royal and heavyweight Charlie Dwyer both won their bouts without entering the ring as they both won by default as the Lejeune Fighting Leathernecks captured their sixth straight match of the season by the score of 5-3.

On Feb. 5, the Devil dogs will play host to their first home meet of the season. The Open Invitational, which will get under way at 8 p. m., will see fighters, military and civilian, from all over the East Coast, on hand for the action.

Basketball race tightens as Intramurals near end

Although the battle for the top spot in the league narrowed to a two-team race, hot shooting by a pair of individuals highlighted last week's action in the Force Troops Intramural Basketball League.

Supply Bn., 2d FSR, stretched their victory skein to seven straight with a 65-36 trouncing of 2d Topo Co. and a 82-37 slaughter of 8th Comm Bn. The only other unbeaten, 8th Motor Transport Bn., chalked up victories number five and six by downing Maintenance Bn., 2d FSR, 68-55 and 2d Field Artillery Group (FAG), 62-36. Previously undefeated H&SBn., 2d FSR, fell by the wayside as 8th Engineers edged them 49-46.

Although FAG lost three of four games last week, they found the Goettge Field House to their liking Wednesday evening as they rolled over 2d Bridge Co., 92-42, behind the 40 point scoring effort of their hot-shooting guard, Snipes.

Hitting from all angles and from all ranges the slender "Cannoneer" was unstoppable on his way to setting the season's high game total.

ANGLICO, breathing down the league leaders necks with a 6-1 record, won a trio of games, but was especially effective in their 70-38 route of 2d Tank Bn. as their onslaught was led by Cooper's 37 points.

Air Facility's cager play got under way last week as two teams bounced to the top with a quick 2-0 record. Both VMO-1 and HMM-265 emerged from last week's play undefeated. Tied for second place with 2-1 records are MACS-5 and HMM-26. Five other teams rounded out the competition.

First Battalion took over first place in the ITR League as they picked up two wins of the week. They opened with a 56-20 slaughter over PMO and then took over the number one slot by dropping 2d Bn. by a score of 53-50.

Second ranking 2d Bn., holding a 6-1 record bounced back by defeating H&SBn. 77-35. In other action, 2d place Disbursing downed 2d Co., 55-51. Motor Transport split last week when they defeated PMO 40-26 and lost a decision to Special Services by the score of 41-33.

In the H&SB Bn. MCB League Service Co. remained idle in doing so held on to first place with a 3-0 record. 2d Co. downed Bldg. 15 by a score of 60-53 to take second place. In other action Bldg. 15 defeated Motor Transport, 58-32 to remain in third place.

Motor Transport Co. wrapped up first place in the MCB Ford Point League as they ended the season with an 8-0 record. Second place H&SB Co. downed Food Services by a 59-52 decision bringing their record to five wins and three losses. Supply School finished third place with a 3-4 tally.

We watched some exciting bowling last weekend as the Men's Annual Association Tournament rolled into full swing. Some of the practice we have seen on the lanes really payed off as we note some of the high scores our bowlers chalked up.

Tournament results thus far are as follows: The leading team, with bowlers O. Robertson, Sam DeLong, Harry Coates, Ray Kargol and Chas Mostej have scored 3052 pins. In second place with 2995, are Dick Quigley, John Mallnowski, Ken Spratke, J. Matson and Robert Thomas. Teammates Bill Burnette, Bill Champion, Tom Jefferson, Andy Kelly and Ray Haversat are third with 2984--and holding down the fourth place spot are -- Bob Klefoth, Gene Stinnett, Jack Merletti, Rex Overlin and Ken Will--pinfall 2972.

Leading in the Doubles competition are: Bob Klefoth and Ken Will, 1290--Jack Merletti and Gene Stinnett, 1242--Ken Spratke and Dick Quigley, 1222 and in fourth place are Jim Mallnowski and Dennis W. czewski with 1202.

In the Singles Event, II Ordy is leading with a pinfall of 650. Ken Spratke 635--Jim Springer 627 and J. nand DeJardin 624.

At the top of the list in Events is Ken Spratke with 1926. Harry Coates is second with 1853--Jack Merletti 1831, John Mallnowski 1836 and L.L. James 1824, also leader in All Events Scratch with 1770.

There is still one week of bowling in the Tournament (8 team events, 8 sets of doubles and 16 singles) so all guys who have not bowled just look what you have to be.

Don't forget the High Game Series Club Tournament Qualifying Rounds for the High Game Club began Monday, Jan. 26 and will continue through tomorrow. Next week, qualifying rounds for the High Game Series Club. Be sure to sign up PRIOR to league bowling and use your league scores to qualify.

Pinckney named '66 baseball coach

The Athletic Department of Base Special Services announced this week, that First Lieutenant John Pinckney will become the head coach of the Camp Lejeune Post and Station Baseball Team for the 1963 season. Pinckney, who has been actively engaged in baseball for the past 15 years, arrived from the Second Division Tuesday to get the program under way.

Lieutenant Pinckney began his baseball career back in 1949 as a member of a Little League team in his home town of Austin, Texas. He broke into the game as a catcher and throughout most of his baseball career, has remained in the position.

Upon graduation from the St. Edwards University High School, Austin, Texas, in 1959, he entered the University of Texas and began a four year course in history and sociology. While attending the university, Pinckney again went out for baseball and became the number one catcher for the squad.

In June, 1963, Pinckney received his B. A. and also a regular commission in the Marine Corps. Since entering the Marine Corps, Lt. Pinckney became involved in the duties of a lieutenant and has not had much contact with the sport until his appointment as head coach.

Comical California Cuties appear at Field House of the most amusing and interesting basketball contingents to appear today is the CALIFORNIA CUTIES, an off-shoot of the famous softball aggregation that appears on diamonds throughout the nation and in lands attired in ladies' outfits to the delight of audiences everywhere.

same thing--except for the fact that they appear on the basketball court instead, in such things as dresses, feathered hats, silk stockings and a bit of lipstick here and there.

Lest the outward appearance fool you, however, the Cuties are a top notch group of athletes and the basketball team is every bit as good on the court as the softball nine is on the diamond. Their won-lost record is one of the best in existence and when they face the 2d MarDiv "All-Stars" at Goettge Field House at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Feb. 9, local cage fans will be in for an extreme treat and a lot of laughter.

The basketball team follows the same format of the softball squad and uses the same slogan: "Those Who Watch the Cuties Play, Live to Laugh Another Day."

Check the lineup for such names as these: Rebound Ruby, originator of the Cutie format and still playing in every game at the ripe old age of (shall we say) 39 to be safe; Bouncing Beulah, a 38-inch midget whose dribbling antics and cast-off shots amaze all who see her play; Diah Sore, a diminutive 6-foot, 8-inch center; Leaping Lena, a forward at 6-foot, 5 inches in height; and a host of other stars in similar characters.

In addition to the regulation game, the Cuties will also perform a pre-game show and entertain at halftime with musical and novelty numbers to keep the audience in stitches.

The game will be part of the USO week festivities. The admission is free.

Golf notes

The monthly Coastal Tournament of the Women's Golf Association was held at Camp Lejeune Jan. 18. Cherry Point's team won the cup with a low net of 290. Camp Lejeune team came in second with a close 291.

"Flight" -- low Gross Mary Bransford of Cherry Point with 85. Low net -- Lib Thompson of Morehead City with 73. Low putts -- Gloria Bushwitz of Cherry Point with 31.

"B" Flight -- Low Gross Lunette Beale of Camp Lejeune with 91. Low net -- Velma Fairchild of Camp Lejeune with 72. Low putts -- Jean Corbett of Camp Lejeune with 34.

"C" Flight -- Low Gross Marge DeGennaro of Cherry Point with 99. Low net -- Joyce Lang of Camp Lejeune with 75. Low putts -- Virginia Spielman of Camp Lejeune with 30.

Low net performers for Camp Lejeune were Faith Boyers with 74, Edna Maxwell with 74, Lunette Beale with 71 and Velma Fairchild with 72.

Next monthly Coastal Tournament will be held at Cherry Point Feb. 15.

The NCO Golf Association Meeting will be held in the tent at the Paradise Golf House at 9 a. m. on Jan. 29. All members are requested to attend and new members are welcome.

There will be a Best Ball Tourney with 3/4 handicap as it falls on the same card after the meeting. So get yourself a partner and swing away.

ing most of their players from last year's powerful team. Only three men will be returning from the '65 squad as most of last year's starters have either been transferred or received their release from active duty.

Ace relief pitcher Jerry Gidrey will lead off the list of returning players. Gidrey, who finished last year's season with a 6-0 record and a blazing 2.70 ERA, was one of the big reasons for the successful 46-21 season.

First socker Tom McHenry will be back for his third season as will shortstop Lou Lepito. Both men were the mainstays of the infield and batted around the .270 mark.

The Devil dogs will be playing a 50 game schedule this year. Due to the fact that the U. S. Army has cancelled all varsity sports, the schedule will be filled with both college and semi-pro teams, as it was last year.

On March 16, the Devil dogs will open their season against a tough Wingate College nine from Wingate, N. C. Throughout the months of March and April, all games will be played in the afternoon.

According to coach Pinckney, the screening period for pitchers and catchers will begin at 1 p. m. on Monday Jan. 31. Infielders and outfielders tryouts will get under way Feb. 14.

Anyone from the quad-command interested in trying out for the team should contact Lt. Pinckney any time prior to Jan. 31, at ext. 7-5763 or report to the Field House at 1 p. m., Jan. 31.

Boxer Profile

Charlie Davis

Of all the titles a service boxer can win throughout his career, there is only one which is considered the "Granddaddy" of them all. This title is reserved for the best fighter in each weight division of all the Armed Services. It's name -- the Interservice Championship.

Last year, a 21 year old Lejeune batamweight won this title during his second year of boxing. Considered to be one of the greatest boxers ever to fight for Lejeune, Charlie Davis won the coveted title by knocking out Air Force's Larry Mitchell in 2:59 of the final round at Hamilton AFB, Calif., last May.

Davis entered the Marine Corps in July 1962, upon graduation from Hartford Public High School in his home town of Hartford, Conn.

In 1963, he began his boxing career at Camp Lejeune. In the 1964-65 season, Davis not only captured the Interservice crown, but also won the Greensboro AAU Championship, the Carolina Golden Gloves, the Jr. National runner-up title and the All-Marine to name a few.

This year, Charlie has entered the ring four times and has not lost a fight. Included in his victories is the Greensboro AAU Championship which he captured for the second time in a row. Of the 29 times he has entered the ring since his career began three years ago, Charlie has only lost five bouts and has never been knocked off his feet by an opponent.

Improved over last season, Davis should have no trouble defending either his All-Marine crown or the Interservice title this spring.

Wives clubs join hands in dental health project

Dental disease afflicts more than 95% of Americans at some time of their lives. Its cost to those who have it is often high, in terms of its effect on total health, on personality development and the expense of eradicating the damage it does.

More draftees were rejected in World War II for poor dental health than for any other reason. And yet, if the knowledge we now have in dentistry can be spread and can be applied by all Americans, beginning in early childhood, nearly all dental disease can be prevented.

National children's dental health week

National Children's Dental Health week will be observed February 6-12 to focus attention on dental health of our children, wherein lies the genuine solution to the Nations' dental health problems. For the sixth consecutive year, school and administrators and teachers cooperating with the Base Dental Department plan a dental health program for Camp Lejeune schools which undoubtedly has effects far beyond the National Children's Dental Health Week.

Wives supporting project
The Camp Lejeune Officers' Wives' Club and Staff NCO Wives' Club have volunteered the financial requirement for this program. The money will be used to purchase pamphlets, posters, movies, etc.

The Wives Clubs are sponsoring competition between sections of grades or rooms in the school systems with prizes being drawn for the most original display of dental health. Judging of displays will be conducted by representatives of the wives clubs. Mrs. J. R. Elliot, Mrs. H. S. Tugwell and Mrs. C. J. Mosley were selected as the judges.

Dental health instruction

During National Children's Dental Health Week, dental officers from the Base Dental Department will visit each of the schools in the Camp Lejeune public school system. The children will be instructed in the practices of good dental health by the use of movies and other training aids. In addition, dental officers will be available to give dental health presentations to the PTA groups if so desired.

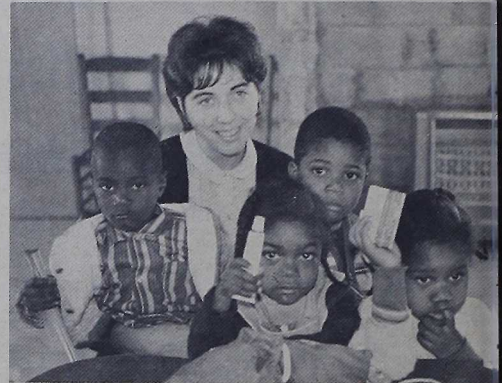

Interested PTA groups may contact the Administrative Officer of the Base Dental Department at ext. 7-5663 for information.

At Camp Lejeune, one of the significant achievements resulting from past National Children's Dental Health Week and the U. S. Naval Corps Preventive Dentistry Program is the fluoridation of the base water supply.

The best of Camp Lejeune talent show

The Tarawa Terrace Recreation Annex will present a variety show on February 22.

Plans are now being made to present some marvelous entertainment but help is needed, to make it a complete success.

There is real talent hidden behind the doors in Camp Lejeune and we are determined to find it. Our talent scouts are busy working at this very moment and we ask that anyone that is talented or knows of someone that can contribute their part to this program, please come forth.

We need, dancers, singers, magicians, comedy routines, etc. Anyone that has any unusual type of entertainment is also asked to contribute.

You are urged to contact us and not remain hidden behind your door. Share your talents with us.

Auditions will take place on February 3, so we urge you to call one of the following at your earliest convenience:

Mrs. Tesh (Annex Director) Phone 353-1038; Mrs. Sanchez (Program Director) Phone 353-2845.

MOVIE REVIEWS

THE TRAIN
A little-known but true incident of World War II, wherein the defeated Germans attempted to take a trainload of art treasures, stolen from museums out of France and to their homeland as they fled. They were prevented from doing so by a band of French patriots. The story is vividly recounted in Jules Bricken's production of "The Train." Burt Lancaster, Paul Scofield, Jeanne Moreau and Michael Simon star.

SITUATION HOPELESS BUT NOT SERIOUS
Two American airmen are hidden in a cellar by a lonely German air-raid warden during the closing days of World War II. Starring Alec Guinness, Robert Redford and Michael Connors.

CAT BALLOU
Jane Fonda, Lee Marvin, Michael Callan and Dwayne Hickman head the cast. A girl of the Far West, seeking to revenge her father's murder, leads an all-male band of outlaws against the businessmen responsible for the crime. When she shoots their leader in a scuffle, the hate-roused community prepares to hang her. In color.

SANDS OF KALAHARI
Stanley Baker, Stuart Whitman and Susan York play the leading roles. In Southwest Africa four men and a girl charter a small, privately operated plane to Johannesburg, but crash in the Kalahari Desert when they fly into a dense curtain of locusts. Then comes a long, treacherous trek across the shifting desert sands under the broiling sun, with predictable blisters, sweat and blood. They reach a hill where they find water, and a sheltering cave that evidently housed Aborigines. But the rocky heights above are inhabited by a colony of baboons, an ominous threat to the already doubtful survival of the crash victims. In the raw realism of these circumstances, the characters of the five men and lone girl emerge in happenings marked by greed, lust, jealousy and murder. In Technicolor and Panavision.

I'LL TAKE SWEDEN
An American father, upset at his daughter's choice of boy friends, flies her off to Sweden where they both learn something about love. Starring Bob Hope, Tuesday Weld, Frankie Avalon and Dina Merrill. In color.

MARRIAGE ON THE ROCKS
Frank Sinatra, Deborah Kerr, Dean Martin, Ann-Margret and Joey Bishop star in this hilarious comedy.

DR. TERROR'S HOUSE OF HORRORS
Christopher Lee and Peter Cushing head the cast. Filmed in England. The mysterious Dr. Terror predicts hair-raising dangers for five men travelling together in a railroad car. In Techniscope and Color.

BUS RILEY'S BACK IN TOWN
Starring Ann-Margret, Michael Parks, Janet Margolin, Brad Dexter and Larry Storch.

Dancing registration

Registration will be held Monday at Marston Pavilion from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. for children's dancing classes. This registration is for new children arriving in the area, not for those children already enrolled. Classes in Ballet, Toe, Tap, and Modern Jazz are given. Military dependent children from the ages of four through 17 years are eligible for lessons. If you are unable to register your child on the above date, call Mrs. Clark, telephone 353-2505.

A young man just out of the Navy returns to his hometown to begin life anew and is complicated by his former girl friend's desire to renew their old romance. In color.

Little theater notes . . . .

After an unexpected delay due to transfers of key personnel, Lejeune Little Theater is now hard at work on its forthcoming production "Mary, Mary". The director for the play is Georgette Burdette, who directed "Glass Menagerie" when it appeared at Camp Lejeune during the summer. She also acted in the first Lejeune Little Theater production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," and in the last play "Harvey." "Mary, Mary" should be ready for viewing in about six weeks.

During the January monthly meeting, a new Board of Directors was voted into office by the members. The new officers are: Lieutenant Ernestine Phillips, USN (MC), President; Lieutenant Jerry L. Johnson, USN (MSC), First Vice President; Corporal James F. Ryan, Second Vice President; Mrs. Patricia Johnson, Secretary; Miss Penny Kirk, Assistant Secretary; Miss Bobbie Kirk, Treasurer; Hospitalman Wendell Collins, Assistant Treasurer.

Lejeune Little Theater has completed one year of operation with three plays to their credit, plus hosting one production by the Cherry Point Players during the summer. New members are always welcome. There are no experience pre-requisites for membership.

Little Theater meeting

The February meeting of Lejeune Little Theater will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 1, at 7:30 p.m., Marston Pavilion. New and old members are encouraged to attend. Stage-hands are needed for the current play. Those interested should attend this meeting.

Washington Memos

Language school

Six hundred and twenty men of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps began classes Jan. 12 at the West Coast Branch of the Defense Language Institute, Monterey, Calif. According to Colonel Richard J. Long, USA, Commandant, this is the largest input in recent history, and brings enrollment to more than 2,000.

Military build-up

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has announced that "at this time we don't contemplate calling reserves or asking for additional legislation to extend tours of duty involuntarily."

McNamara said he's asking for a manpower increase of 113,000 military and 94,000 civilians. "Not all of these personnel will be in place by the end of fiscal '66, but all of them are being provided for in the budget. Equipment, for example, for all of them is being procured," he said.

The additional strength authorization would bring military strength to 3,092,766, some 6,000 less than the Korean Conflict peak and almost 300,000 more than during the Berlin Crisis.

When the current buildup started last August, authorized strength stood at 2,639,766. An additional 340,000 was authorized, bringing the total to the present 2,979,766.

Income tax

"Your Federal Income Tax," the 1966 edition of IRS publication No. 17, is available from Supt. of Documents, Dept. T, Govt. Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. It contains 160 pages of comprehensive information helping taxpayers prepare income tax forms. The price is 50 cents and the catalog number is T 22, 44:966.

National Cemetery

Arlington National Cemetery total acreage was increased Jan. 10 by more than 30 acres as interments began in portions of Ft. Meyer (South Area) adjacent to the Navy Annex and the former horse show grounds. Of the original 432 cemetery acres, only two sections remain available for interments, which average more than 125 per week. New interment areas are an integral part of Arlington, not an adjunct or an annex to "old" cemetery.

State elections

Several changes have been announced in elections slated in Arkansas, Michigan, Minnesota and New Jersey. The Arkansas primary election will be July 26 instead of previously announced Aug. 9 and the runoff primary Aug. 9 instead of Oct. 25.

Deleted from the list of those to be nominated in Michigan's primary election, Aug. 2, are lieutenant governor, secretary of state, and attorney general. Added to Minnesota's primary election scheduled for Sept. 13 are nominations for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, and attorney general. The New Jersey primary election has been rescheduled for June 7, instead of April 19. (AFNR)

BLT 3/2 Lands At Sardinia

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (Delayed) — Using naval gunfire from ships of Amphibious Squadron Ten and "Skyhawk" jet aircraft from the aircraft carrier USS America as cover, Marines of Battalion Landing Team (BLT) 3/2 stormed ashore at Porto Scudo, Sardinia, in an amphibious landing exercise Jan. 7, which started one week of field training.

This is the third major landing BLT 3/2 has made during the current deployment to the Mediterranean and the second on Sardinia, November 5, one month after leaving Camp Lejeune, the Marines landed at Aranci Bay on the northern end of the island for five days of counter-guerrilla operations.

Members of the Marine Detachment from the America acted as "aggressors" during the latest landing which served to familiarize Marines with procedures of evacuating civilians from hostile areas in situations such as was recently encountered by U. S. forces in the Caribbean.

While the ships' big guns simulated firing and the aircraft made simulated strafing and bombing runs, three companies of the BLT forced the "enemy" back as Company K evacuated the "civilians"... members of the Marine Shore Party Battalion and the Navy's Beach Master Unit Two... from the area. To give the Marines experience in handling such matters, many of the Marines and Sailors portrayed different roles, such as a convict, an expectant mother and a high-ranking local politician.

Within eight hours from the time they left the ships, the Marines had secured the area and evacuated the "civilians" to the beach to be transported to the ships.

After the short problem, the BLT settled down for one week of "live" fire problem, the first chance the Marines have had to actually fire their weapons since departing Camp Lejeune. All individual and crew-served weapons within the BLT will be fired during the training period. Also, the ships will have one day for their gunnery training while the jets from the America will practice bombing, strafing and close air support tactics.

Prior to making the landing, the Marines spent two weeks in Genoa, Italy where they celebrated the Christmas and New Year's holidays. While in the birthplace of Christopher Columbus, many Marines made trips to Munich, Germany and Pisa and Florence, Italy.

French Marine Commando Mediterranean BLT On Course For Joint Warfare Exercise

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (DELAYED)—Battalion Landing Team 2/8, invaded the Santa Manza area of Corsica in a joint warfare exercise conducted with the French Marine Commandos.

At H-Hour, the Marines hit the beach where they met heavy aggressor opposition. Utilizing methods perfected by their predecessors in battles of bygone days coupled with the modern concept of vertical envelopment, they moved up and over the beach line quickly and methodically. One company was landed by helicopter at L-Hour.

While moving inland, the commando aggressors repeatedly struck the advancing Marines with several hit and run attacks. Pursued through the rugged Corsican terrain, the commando numbers soon dwindled as one after another was pronounced a simulated casualty.

The problem ended with the aggressor command post and leaders under heavy Marine attack. By early morning the following day, the aggressors had been routed and control of the objective area was taken over by the Marines.

With the exercise completed, conducted their RECONEX. She threw the book at them--snow, rain, sleet, fog, winds, cold, and by no means last or least, command of Captain Pierre Cord'homme joined the BLT personnel in their daily training. Scheduled first was a day of tank infantry tactics utilizing tanks from Company A, 2d Tank Battalion. After an explanation of the tank, its mission and capabilities, the French Commandos had the opportunity to examine it at close range.

The tactical use of helicopters was also included in the exchange of military knowledge and techniques.

Helicopter training began with a rappelling exhibition by members of the 2d Reconnaissance Battalion who made the first descents. The commandos followed the Marines with equal dexterity on the 120 foot rope dangling from the hovering helicopter.

The morning of the fourth day saw the beginning of a Battalion Field Exercise with a platoon of French Commandos serving as aggressors under Company E, commanded by Captain T. T. Duffy. After being hoisted to the final objective which the aggressors were to defend, tactical positions were established and the long wait for initial contact began.

The FEX continued on through the day and into the night where sporadic fire could be detected

Teamwork Tops In SPECEX-65

CAMP LEJEUNE, Oct. 11—The Governor of North Carolina, the Honorable Dan K. Moore, heads the list of nearly 1200 special guests and students from military staff schools slated to witness special purpose exercise (SPECEX) here next week.

Brigadier General Ormond R. Simpson, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, is the overall coordinator for the Oct. 18-20 demonstrations of Marine Corps air-ground teamwork. Local Marines of the 2d Marine Division and Force Troops, Atlantic, along with 2d Marine Aircraft Wing personnel from Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N. C., and Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., will participate in SPECEX.

The Tarheel-state governor is scheduled to observe an amphibious and helicopter-borne assault across Onslow Beach by a battalion landing team on Wednesday afternoon. Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, will render honors upon Gov. Moore's arrival at the Base parade ground beginning at 2:30 p. m.

SPECEX guest, Major General H. Nickerson, Jr., CG, Marine Corps Base, will escort the governor to the demonstration at Riseley Pier.

Lieutenant General A. L. Bowser, Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, with headquarters in Norfolk, Va., is slated to observe all three days of the special exercise.

Vice Admiral Fitzhugh Lee, U. S. Navy, and Major General Avelin P. Tacon, U. S. Air Force, Commandant and Deputy Commandant respectively, National War College, Washington, D. C., will observe SPECEX Wednesday. Doctor Joseph Sweeney, State Department representative to Armed Force Staff College, Norfolk, will also be here Wednesday.

Three Navy rear admirals with commands located at Little Creek, Va., will observe Monday's activities. They are Rear Admiral Frank W. Vanoy, Commander, Amphibious Training, Atlantic; Rear Admiral Earl R. Crawford, Commander, Amphibious Group Two and Rear Admiral Roy G. Anderson, Commander Amphibious Group Four.

Nearly 200 members of the Amphibious Warfare School, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., will be student guest Monday.

Three hundred officers from the Air War College, Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., including 16 faculty members, will attend Tuesday. There will be 24 students from the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., and 40 members of the U. S. Navy's Surgical Team at the Oct. 19 demonstrations.

Special guests Tuesday include 30 newspaper, radio and television representatives from cities within the 8th Marine Corps District.

Wednesday, 440 student guests will attend, with 161 from the National War College and 279 from the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk.

Climaxing the exercises will be the beach landing south of Riseley Pier by BLT 2/6, commanded by Lt. Col. Robert D. Bohn.

Utilizing shipping of Amphibious Forces, Atlantic Fleet, the assault will employ techniques and equipment viewed earlier. The surface and helicopter-borne beach assault will also be supported by simulated naval gunfire, the operations of underwater demolition teams and a para-drop by Force Reconnaissance units.

Swampex Operatio Stresses Role In Counter-Insurgency

Pedro Rojas, chieftain of guerrilla forces operating in the Croatan signed a cease-fire agreement with Dozo Province Governor, "Jose Alfredo" that ended nine days of intense guerrilla warfare in which the 16th Marine Infantry Brigade killed, wounded or captured over seventy per cent of the insurgents.

WELCOME HOME—Most 2d Division Marines spend a good deal of their time away from Camp Lejeune on training exercises and deployments, some of which cover six or more months. It is a happy day for the Marines and their families when they return to home port after a long deployment. The reunions

Engineer Open House Success

CAMP LEJEUNE, Aug. 31--One hundred and fifty acres of Camp Lejeune's backwoods area were transformed into a playground and display area on Aug. 26 as the 2d Engineer Battalion, 2d Marine Division staged an open house and field day for their dependents and guests.

In addition to demonstrating their everyday work techniques and standard engineering equipment, many of the engineers found themselves performing unfamiliar roles as they entertained the younger visitors.

Utilizing organic equipment and imagination, the M-274 "mechanical mules" became modern-day versions of prairie schooners; the water purification and shower unit was transformed into a wading pool for the small-fry; and a large crane was turned into the engineer's version of a merry go-round.

Static displays and demonstrations of the unit's equipment began at 10 a. m. as the visitors inspected exhibits, watched demonstrations and sometimes operated selected items of equipment.

While the Engineers and their guests feasted on heaps of fried chicken, hamburgers and hot dogs, the 2d Division Band played during the luncheon break.

Afternoon activities pitted battalion units against one another in tests of their engineering skills. Contests ranged from pole climbing to road construction.

For the comfort and assistance of the visitors a supervised nursery and first aid test, complete with cots, mattresses and even large electric fans powered by field generators was set up in the area. During the day many of the 300 visitors found their way to the nursery, even those without children, seeking a brief relief from the heat.

Visitors attending the open house—field day went away with a closer understanding of the problems and an appreciation

Snowfex Opens In New York

CAMP DRUM, N. Y., Feb. 6--Operation SNOWFEX-65 opened this week with excellent training conditions prevailing as blinding snow flurries, chilling winds and temperatures dipping below zero greeted participating Marine units.

Training officially began Feb. 2 and by Saturday noon, all Marines of the First Battalion, Eighth Marine Regiment had spent two days and nights in the field. They learned how to move through the winter weather and practiced action to be taken if ever lost in the blinding, blowing and drifting snow.

Snow itself was a new experience for many of the 1,000 Marines in 1/8 plus supporting units. Their introduction to snowshoes and skis as the mode of travel for most of the month's training was more than enlightening.
