IL. 21—NO. 37

MARINE CORPS BASE, CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.

SEPTEMBER 16, 1965

COLONEL GERALD F. RUSSELL, 8th Marines CO, will Friday's reviewing officer.

8th Marines hold birthday parade

A former Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps and the present Commanding General of the 2d Marine Division, both of whom served as regimental adjutant of the 8th Marines early in their careers, will review the unit's 48th anniversary parade and review ceremony Friday.

Lieutenant General Merwin H. Silverthorn, USMC (Ret.), adjutant during 1923 in Haiti, will be an honored guest as over 2,000 men of the 2d Division's youngest infantry regiment march in the anniversary commemoration ceremony.

Attracting the general's particular attention to the parade's color battalion (2/8) will be the presence of his son, Lieutenant Colonel Russell L. Silverthorn, who became the unit's battalion commander in a Wednesday ceremony.

Brigadier General Ormond R. Simpson, Division CG, was a company commander in the 8th Marines in 1940 and later served as adjutant early in World War II.

The traditional birthday observance, beginning at 10 a. m. on the Base parade ground, will be highlighted by the presentation of awards and the rededication of the regimental colors.

All battalions here
All three battalions of the regiment will be able to participate in the ceremony this year—a year that has already seen units deployed for training from inside the frigid Arctic Circle in Norway...to the actual combat-hot island nation of the Dominican Republic.

Eighth Marines have seen duty near Lake Erie in our Great Lakes to the eastern reaches of the Mediterranean--experienced the wintry gusts from off Lake Ontario in upstate New York and the hotness of familiar Caribbean training areas.

Cold War 'GI Bill' moves—but still a long way off

NAVY TIMES--Signs of the times in the land of the planners, Washington, D. C., have brought Congress a lot closer to passage of a new "GI Bill". But don't plan on it for this year.

A new trend of administration thinking was opened up recently when Chairman Olin Teague of the House Veterans Affairs Committee opened hearings on S-9, a general veterans benefit bill already passed by the Senate.

A special task force to study proposed additional benefits for veterans of peacetime service was appointed by A. W. Stratton, Chief Benefits Director for the Veterans Administration.

The increased draft calls and involuntary extension of enlistments in the Navy and Marine Corps, sparked the study.

Mr. Stratton urged, and Teague backed him in a recommendation that the committee hold off final action on any general benefits bill until the administration completes its study.

Teague promised that the committee would get a bill out to the House floor by next February.

Commandant verbally raps young American knuckles

NAVY TIMES--General Wallace M. Greene Jr., CMC, verbally rapped the knuckles of young Americans who tear up their draft cards and take part in "peace" demonstrations.

The top Marine told the Marine Corps League Convention in Harrisburg, Pa., that his men "are being criticized for doing well the job they have been trained to do, and that they were sent to Viet Nam to do."

He said his recruiters report "that the Vietnamese war has been the greatest boon to marriage and post-graduate study in our history."

"What does it profit us to be the richest country on earth--to have the highest standard of living in all history--if we lack the maturity and resolution to stand up like men and defend it at any cost to our careers or our dollars?" he asked.

The general lauded the fighting spirit and morale of his troops in Viet Nam and said: "It takes the courage of all the people--I'm speaking of us as a nation--for us to achieve ultimate success in Viet Nam."

I hope we have the courage--the guts, if you will--to extend our tactics over what will have to be a long period of time to restore peace to the people of South Viet Nam and put an end to Communist aggression."

Reserve generals board to meet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8--Headquarters Marine Corps announced a Marine Corps Reserve General Officer Selection Board will convene Nov. 1 to nominate officers for selection to brigadier and major general.

Subject to their meeting the prescribed requirements, those Reserve officers eligible for consideration for promotion to the various grades will be:

To brigadier general: Senior to and including Col. Robert L. MANSFIELD.

To major general: --Senior to and including BrigGen. Sidney S. MC MATH.

LEADING FOR DAYLIGHT--Elon halfback David Gentry leads running team through the D'Dog line in Saturday's game at Liversedge Field. Camp Lejeune won the game 3. (Story and pictures on page 8.)

A 'living Constitution'

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."
—Preamble to U. S. Constitution.

"The American Constitution is, so far as I can see, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man," said William Ewart Gladstone, in a letter to the committee in charge of the celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of the American Constitution in 1887. Today, on the eve of the 178th anniversary of the Constitution, his words still ring true.

The Constitution is a story of union, it comes to involve all of our progress in wealth and welfare. The "living Constitution" serves a population forty times as large as that in the beginning, reaching across the continent and beyond, instead of being confined to a string of states along the Atlantic seaboard.

In a succession of remarkable documents, the American people announced their position of independence with the reasons for claiming it, proceeded with the organization of a new government, and in forthright language enshrined their liberties.

On September 17, 1787, after four months of deliberation, the framing and adoption of the Constitution of the United States came into effect.

Constitutional government means something more than government according to the terms of a Constitution. It means government according to rule as opposed to arbitrary government; it means government limited by the terms of the Constitution.

The Constitution of the United States was framed to correct the shortcomings of the Articles of Confederation. The center of gravity in the Confederation was in the individual state.

Conventions of the New England states, in 1779 and 1780, to protest against inflation plainly implied, in their memorials, the need for more authority in the central government and a general convention to remodel the system.

The American colonies were prepared for independence. Had there been no individuals named Washington, Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Sam and John Adams, Tom Paine, Nathanael Green, Madison, Hamilton and many more, others would have appeared to play similar parts.

Fifty-five delegates attended the Constitutional Convention. The convention was to open May 14, 1787.

Deliberations of the convention were to be secret. Care was taken to ensure that no information of the proceedings passed outside the hall. By far the most pointed and illuminating account of the debates and proceedings, however, was that of James Madison.

He was present every day the convention met, and having taken a seat where he could hear all that transpired, he industriously put it on paper in his own abbreviations. These notes, he wrote out each evening, taxing his health by his incessant application.

This was a hard-working body, sitting through the sweltering Philadelphia summer from May 25 to September 17, from ten in the morning till three or four in the afternoon, with only two breaks—two days for the fourth of July and ten days three weeks later to allow time for a committee to put the decisions of the convention together in usable form.

The significant fact in the adoption of the Constitution is that the American colonists fought and died to establish and preserve the principle of human freedom against what was then one of the greatest powers in the world.

The American people enjoy, in the routine of their daily lives, many liberties in keeping with the American charters of freedom. These freedoms have been sometime, somewhere, denied, and many of them are not among the "blessings of liberty" enjoyed by the people of some nations today.

...WE MAY RUN OUT OF MARINES."

Chaplain's Corner

He wanted to die! If not, why did he throw himself into the path of my car? In this, his final act, there was an abandonment akin to glee. It happened last night.

As I relive those moments in imagination I realize that nothing could temper the compulsion impelling him to self destruction. It was as if an overpowering force possessed him, and no other course seemed possible or desirable.

I am guilty! I saw him coming and made no attempt to avoid him. In an instant he was dead. . . . A body that once pulsed with life now lay inert—a tragic reminder of the fragile tenacity of life.

I felt no remorse. If any emotion struggled for expression it was crimson-tinged anger. "Why?", I growled, "Why did he pick me? Why did he slam into my windshield? Didn't I have enough bugs there already?" I had killed a bug!

When you drive at night you run the risk of speckled windshields. When you have recently washed your car it makes the experience an emotionally painful one.

A bug lives; in a few days he is dead. And as short as their span of life is they vie with one another to die, as if the zenith of their existence is that moment of immolation when they are fused forever with light.

Do you ever wonder why God made the bug for a moment of life? Was it to glorify His creative will? To enhance the beauty of the world? To experience the positive of life? Even, to test man's patience?

Everything that exists has a purpose, a reason for being. This reason is known in the mind of the Creator. As things move inexorably toward fulfillment of their destiny, they are guided by a super-natural providence from a Father who is God.

Nothing, then, is hapless or aimless. A Father created His creation. As we experience this direction, life may seem now white, now black, at times gray. We run the gamut from happiness to sadness and back again. But there is direction. And this implies a goal which concerns, in God, the soul.

The answer to 'life', the adult, is to become a child and to adopt the virtue of childhood—trust. God is my Father.

By the way, how do you avoid those pesky bugs?

Local students learn proper flag respect

Elementary and high school students of the base schools, Camp Lejeune, N. C. received instruction in the proper procedure for lowering and raising flags. The instruction program was instituted by the Base Commander, Major General H. Nickerson, Jr., to insure that all students at the base schools will be well educated American Citizens.

A four-man Color Guard detachment from Headquarters and Service Battalion, Marine Corps Base, and a bugler from Force Troops gave demonstrations on the proper way to lower and raise the flag. Following the demonstration, students selected by the school principal received a short period of instruction on the American flag, and proper ceremonial procedures.

Presentations were made at each of the schools in the Base School System during the period Sept. 7-14, 1965.

Group life insurance bill broadens survivor benefits

NAVY TIMES—A bill to provide low-cost group life insurance coverage for every member of the Armed Forces appears on the way to passage, despite opposition from the Defense Department and VA who urge broadening of existing survivor benefits instead.

The goal is to provide servicemen life insurance coverage they can not always get from commercial insurance companies. For example, a serviceman on orders for Viet Nam finds it most difficult to take out commercial insurance.

The coverage, which will be paid by the serviceman himself, would be in addition to any benefits his survivors are now eligible for under the existing dependency and indemnity compensation. The program would be automatic upon passage of the legislation and the serviceman would have to indicate in writing that he does not want the coverage and that if he fails to provide insurance for his survivors, the responsibility is entirely his own.

The proposal limits the amount of coverage under the serviceman's group life and the national service life insurance to $10,000. But servicemen will be permitted to convert to any individual life insurance plan within 180 days after discharge without taking a physical.

A measure recently passed by the Senate would give free $10,000 government-underwritten insurance to servicemen in hostile areas. The defects of this bill were demonstrated a few days after passage when a plane load of Marines crashed in Hong Kong harbors. Since they were on leave and on route from Viet Nam, their survivors would not benefit under the Senate bill. The survivors would have benefited if the plane had crashed upon the return from Hong Kong to Viet Nam.

Marines convert rivers into baths

HUE/PHU BAI, Viet Nam, Sept. 6—Marines in this sector have been cleaning up—on the Viet Cong with rifles and hand grenades, and on children in the surrounding villages with soap and water.

The 3rd Bn., Fourth Marine Regiment, which has killed 36 VC to date, has been operating a bathing service for youngsters as part of the battalion's Medical Civilian Assistance Program (MEDCAP).

"Our primary effort," said Lieutenant Paul R. Ek (Oceanside, Calif.), commander of 3rd Bn.'s Joint Action Company, "is to make every river a bathtub."

According to Ek, one of the major health problems in the villages is personal hygiene. He added that it is hoped that through MEDCAP the children will eventually take the baths on their own.

"The children seem to enjoy their baths," he said. "Some of them have come back for seconds within an hour."

COL. RICHARD A. MICHAEL relieved LtCol. Poul F. Pederson as CO, 3/6 on Sept. 3. The new 3/6 CO reports here from London, England and wears the Navy-Marine Corps Medal.

"FOLK SINGER"—Tom Ivey and participants in the Summer Youth Activities Program enjoy themselves as they learn the principles of singing folk songs.

Talented folk song singer, Tom Ivey composes his own

The limelight of today's music is centered on songs written from American folk lore. Camp Lejeune has a representative, Thomas "Tom" Ivey, who plays the guitar and sings folk music. He wrote "Maco Light" which tells the legend of a ghost who comes to visit a railroad crossing here in North Carolina. Camp Lejeune audiences say although he hasn't had any formal lessons on the guitar or banjo, he plays both well.

While home on summer vacation from Stetson University in DeLand, Fla., Tom made use of his talent by teaching folk singing and folk lore to students participating in the Summer Youth Activities Program. This is the second year that he has participated in the program.

During his years at Camp Lejeune's high school Tom sang with a group known as the Kinsmen. The group traveled the North Carolina area making personal appearances. Academically he also displayed talent. He was a member of the National Honor Society and was presented the Outstanding Senior award at graduation. Tom was also the Senior Class president.

After graduation from Stetson University his plans are to become a teacher.

He is the son of Colonel and Mrs. T. S. Ivey, Rock Hill, S. C. Col. Ivey is presently serving as Assistant Base Commander at Camp Lejeune.

That marriage wasn't really necessary

NAVY TIMES...To the young couple driving home on a honeymoon in a rush marriage to beat the draft with the sign "Just Married, hal hal Uncle Sam" tied to their bumper: there was no rush because in the end you might be the losers!

Lieutenant General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service said in Washington, D. C. that young men who rushed into marriage to beat the draft "will discover they didn't beat anything".

Hershey said married but childless men will be called for the draft as soon as the manpower pool of single young men falls to fill monthly quotas.

He said there seemed to be no time in the foreseeable future when the draft can be ended.

Hundreds of men flocked to marriage license bureaus throughout the country when President Johnson announced the deferment of childless married men would end at midnight August 26.

20 years ago The GLOBE said

(Taken from Sept. 12, 1945 edition of the GLOBE.)

The Marines performed an historic mission when they landed on Japan, for they brought back to the Orient the name of the Fourth Marines, the regiment which served in China from 1927 until just prior to the war when the Fourth was taken to the Philippines.

Important things for discharges to remember when they get home: Apply immediately to the nearest registration board for all ration books due you. There are many items that are still rationed and will continue to be despite the end of the war.

Eighty per cent of discharged veterans have permitted their GI insurance policies to lapse, with a loss of billions of dollars of protection to them, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

Those fight fans that dared face the threat of rain and the Fourth postponement, of Hadnot's Outdoor Smoker, which was held Friday night, were treated to a main event, which was reminiscent of bouts tinged with "little" caliber. Bob Postal, flashy 150-pounder TKO'd Kid Soave in one minute and thirty-three seconds of the second round in a scheduled five rounder.

Within six months after discharge, the ex-serviceman must pay his income tax up to date—unless he happens to be a special case with a special time limit previously set.

Cmdr. John A. Scoville (CEC) USN, has been assigned as Public Works Officer for Camp Lejeune, relieving Lt. George M. Patterson (CEC) USNR. His previous assignment was as assistant public works officer of the 15th Naval District at Balboa Canal Zone.

There are some burglars in Pittsburgh who don't read the papers. Long after the announcement that gas rationing had ended, thieves broke into Frank Miller's service station and took 400 gas ration coupons.

Penna. company cancels insurance

The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania has cancelled a substantial portion of the automobile liability insurance it had in effect in this area that was issued during the past 60 days.

Many Marines have insurance with this company and if you are one of those who are affected by the cancellation you must immediately obtain a new policy or lose the privilege of driving your automobile on the reservation. Upon obtaining a new policy report to the Pass & Inspection Section at the Provost Marshal's Office so that your name can be checked off the cancellation list.

The cancellation is final Sept. 16, 1965. If you have insurance with this company and have not received a notice of cancellation you may check with the Pass & Inspection Section, which has a list of all policies that have been cancelled.

A HEALTHFUL MEANS OF TRANSPORTATION, but safety rules must be followed—MajGen. H. Nickerson, Jr., Base Commander, signed a proclamation for Bicycle Safety Week beginning Sept. 20. Coordinators of the safety program standing left to right as the general signs the proclamation are, Lt. Joe L. Lindsay, James J. Lesko, D. W. Tallman and John L. Fristoe.

Bicycle Safety Week

More classes, more books, and more safety head the list of problems facing Camp Lejeune school officials this current school session.

The greatest problem of safety is that of children riding bicycles to and from the school grounds. To help school officials with this problem, and to teach bike safety to the children, the Base Safety Office has proclaimed Sept. 20-25 as "Bicycle Safety Week."

Seven schools will take part in the week-long program. However, bicycle inspection stations will be established, during the week, only at Tarawa Terrace Elementary, Stone Street, and DeLallo Schools. Bike riders will be tested on their knowledge of safety rules and practices along with their proficiency and skill in riding a bike. The bikes will also be inspected for condition of brakes, reflectors and tires.

After satisfactory completion of the test, and inspection, each child will receive a safety sticker for his or her bicycle.

Cooperating with the base Safety Office are the Military Police, and Mr. W. H. Tuck, Superintendent of Lejeune schools.

At the end of "Bicycle Safety Week," Major General H. Nickerson, Jr., will present an award to the school with the best safety record.

Recruiting on increase due to speed-up draft

According to the Navy Times the recruiting service is jumping with men to get in. The reason for this is increased draft calls and lowering of the recruiting standards.

In other developments both the Navy and the Marine Corps cut recruit training time Sept. 1. The Marine Corps has announced slightly lowered physical and mental standards for new recruits.

From the tall and the short of it, the littlest Marine can now be 62 inches tall, instead of the former 64 inch minimum. Visual requirements have been slightly relaxed and the Marine Corps has agreed to accept a somewhat larger percentage of recruits from the lower mental groups than before.

Defense Department sources say that the Marine Corps is seriously and reluctantly considering the use of the draft for the first time since May 1952.

The Marine Corps, a volunteer organization, would prefer not to have to go to the draft and may not have to if the August recruiting pace, up 20 percent over July's total, can be maintained.

But the Viet Nam build-up has all the services scrambling for new blood and the Marine Corps, though hopeful that its strength goals can be met by voluntary enlistments, may yet find it will have to take some draftees.

The Marine recruit training time has been cut from 12 to 8 weeks, at its Parris Island, S. C., and San Diego, Calif., boot camps.

Eight week training programs were used by the Marine Corps during World War II and the Korean conflict.

The Corps says it will accomplish the reduction in training time by working the trainees all day Saturday instead of the previous half-day and by giving four additional weeks of what is called individual specialty training later in the recruit's career.

8TH MARINES

Combining qualities of youth and aspects of the youngest infantry regiment of the 2d Marine Division. If a near half-century of service qualifies for never-ending energy—and desire for travel and adventure.

The past year put 8th Marines in such varied places as Santo Domingo, Spain and the winterlands of upstate New York — beer gardens in northern Germany and on-the-scene at the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

While the 8th Marines are the youngest in the Division, the regimental colors bear visual proof of a battle-seasoned unit.

Campaign streamers and silver bands indicate action on Haiti, Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Betio, Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa, and service both in Asia and Europe.

A listing of commanding officers reveals names familiar to Marines past and present . . . Riseley . . . Ridgely . . . A. A. Vandergriff, Jr. . . . Colonels James M. and John H. Masters . . . Col. Ronald R. Van Stockum.

The 8th Marines were organized at Quantico, Va., in 1917. During World War I they were assigned the mission of guarding the Texas-Mexico border. Camped near Galveston, they were ready to move against any attempt to destroy the Mexican oil fields.

First in Pacific

Demobilized in April 1919, they were reactivated less than a year later. In January 1920 the regiment readied for operations against the bandits in Haiti. With banditry under control for the first time in over a hundred years, the regiment was again disbanded in July 1925. This was to last for nearly 15 years before the 1st Battalion formed at San Diego. Well trained when the U. S. entered World War II, the 8th Marines was the first Marine regiment to sail into the Pacific.

Early in 1942, it was assigned the mission of holding the Samoan Islands key to the air and sea lifeline between the United States and Australia.

Called to aid the 1st Division, the 8th Marines arrived on Guadalcanal Nov. 4, 1942. Their participation in the Matanila River area earned a Presidential Unit Citation.

Less than a year later came their greatest battle: Tarawa, where in 72 hours one of the briefest and bloodiest battles in American history was won. Again the 8th Marines were awarded a Presidential Unit Citation.

From June until August 1944, they saw action at Saipan and Tinian. After the latter capture, the regiment remained on the island to provide security for the builders of airfield. The 8th would soon receive the giant B-29 bombers.

Lebanon — Spain — DomRep

Another short demobilization began in October 1949 before reactivation 10 months later at the outset of the Korean conflict.

Nearly a decade later, the 1st and 2d Battalions were included in the American forces assigned to aid the Lebanese government during the summer of 1958. The regiment was in a usual high state of readiness in 1962 at the time of the Cuban crisis. Last fall, the entire regiment participated in Steel Force I in southern Spain. This year, the 1st Battalion was quickly flown to Santo Domingo as part of the U. S. forces deployed to the strife-torn Dominican Republic.

In January, the battalion had conducted cold weather training in SNOWFEX-65 at Camp Drum, near Watertown, N. Y. The regimental headquarters also moved to the upstate New York training site as the exercise director's staff for the four week operation.

Norway

Then, reinforced Company "C", commanded by Captain Paul K. Daugherty, was flown to Voss, Norway for further training during March before taking part in Cold Winter-65.

For this, the company was moved north to nearly 300 miles inside the Arctic Circle for severe cold weather training. They joined British Marines, U. S. Army units and Norwegian forces in the week-long operation.

After a brief liberty at Frankfurt, Germany, the 220-man unit returned here. Skis, snowshoes and furlined parkas were barely stored in time to leave for Santo Domingo the end of April.

Following the June return, some 8th Marines moved to Little Creek, Va., to assist in training Naval Academy Midshipmen during the summer. Others headed for Ohio as range detail personnel and administrative personnel for the Camp Perry matches.

The 2d and 3d battalions were far from idle during this period as 2/8 served as the U. S. Sixth Fleet's landing force in the Mediterranean. The 3d Bn. had returned from amphibious training in the Caribbean just before the Dominican uprising.

D'dogs edge Elon in last minute, 6-3

Camp Lejeune's football Devil dogs will be aiming for their second straight home victory Sunday afternoon, when they play host to North Carolina A&T at 2 p.m. on Liversedge Field.

Last Saturday, it took the Devil dogs about 56 minutes to unlimber their offense. When they finally did get rolling, they managed to pull out a narrow 6-3 victory over stubborn Elon College of Burlington, N. C., before an overflow crowd.

The victory was the first at Liversedge Field since Oct. 13, 1962, when the Devil dogs whipped Fort Devens, Mass., 35-0. The home victory drought was ended on a four-yard plunge by fullback Hal Brown with only 45-seconds left to play in the contest.

With four-minutes remaining, the Leathernecks had stopped an Elon drive on the Devil dog six-yard-line after it seemed the collegians were going to put the game on ice. At that point, the Marines, who had managed only one pass completion, were trailing Elon 3-0 on the strength of a third-quarter field goal kicked from the 15-yard-line by Bobby Ferrell.

Jim Laurent and the Devil dog "red" team took over on their own six, and marched the remaining 94-yards in 13-plays and in only three-minutes and 15-seconds, to pull the game out of the fire.

The first two plays gained nothing for the Leathernecks, and it was third-down and eleven from the Lejeune five-yard-line with only three-minutes left. Then Laurent hit procedure penalty had nullified his first conversion attempt.

Fortunately, only 45-seconds remained when Brown carried the ball across, because Elon managed to reach the Lejeune 44-yard-line before time ran

While both teams took a well-deserved half-time break, the 2d Marine Division Band entertained the crowd. Major A. W. Ruete, Base Athletic Officer, read a tribute to the citizens of Jacksonville and Onslow County in an annual observance honoring Camp Lejeune's civilian neighbors.

Second-half starts

The Devil dogs got a break at the start of the second-half. Clark Blake's kickoff was fumbled by Elon's Dave Oliphant and recovered for Lejeune by center Ed Craig on the Elon 30-yard-line. But, three plays later, the Devil dog quarterback fumbled on a keeper and Oliphant redeemed himself by recovering for Elon on his own 19-yard-line to end the Leatherneck threat.

Late in the third-period, Elon marched down to the Marines' six-yard-line after blocking a Ron Nay punt on the Lejeune 40. As it had earlier in the game, the D'dog defense stiffened and Elon had to settle for a 25-yard field goal and three-points, which, at the time, looked like enough to win the ballgame.

In the final period, Elon moved from its own 19 all the way down to the Camp Lejeune six-yard-line. Stalwart defensive play once again saved the day for the Devil dogs, as half-back Eugene Jenkins was Johnny-on-the-spot to break-up one pass, and another aerial on fourth-down was incomplete.

Then the Devil dog red team provided their last-minute heroics, and the Marines had their first win at home in more than two seasons.

Coach disappointed

Elon Coach Gary Mattocks said, following the game, that he was "very disappointed by the team's inability to score, and also by a very poor pass defense."

Mattocks can be content with the showing his quarterback made, however. Tyrone McDuffie, a 5-11, 175-pound senior from Lumberton, N. C., ran and passed the Devil dogs to distraction. He completed 12-of-19 passes for 154-yards, and ran for another 69-yards. Surprisingly, McDuffie had been used as a defensive specialist for the past two-seasons.

out on the Fighting Christians. It was the opening game of the season for both squads.

Camp Lejeune won the toss and elected to receive at the onset of the ballgame, played in 95-degree heat. After Johnnie Blount returned the kickoff to the Leathernecks' 38, it looked as if the Devil dogs would take the ball all the way in to paydirt on their first series.

Several fine gains by Neil Johnston, combined with a 15-yard penalty to advance the ball to Elon's 26-yard-line, but the drive was cut off when a Laurent pass was intercepted on the 12.

The next time they got their hands on the football, the Devil dogs took it all the way to the Elon 24 before losing the ball on downs. Phil Hill had a 34-yard-run on an end sweep in that series.

The Marines were not alone in their frustrated attempts to score. With less than four-minutes remaining in the first-half, Elon was at the Lejeune three-yard-line with a third-and-goal situation. After Blount broke-up an attempted pass play on the goal-line, Bobby Ferrell missed on a field goal try from the ten, and the half ended in a scoreless tie.

POWER SWEEP—An official watches as Fullback Hal Brown (31), who later scored the Devil dogs' only touchdown, goes to the outside against Elon College Saturday. Guard Terry Miller (67) leads the blocking as his running mate Ned Chapel takes out Elon's Gene Brewer (84).

Nell Johnston on the 13-yard-line and it was fourth-and-three. Laurent elected to go with Johnston again on the crucial play, and the 185-pound half-back picked up the first-down on a sweep to the 17.

Three in a row

In rapid succession, Laurent completed tosses to Don Bartolazzi, Johnston and Johnnie Blount, and the Devil dogs were at the Elon 43-yard-line with 1:39 on the clock. After a time out, disaster nearly struck the Marines, but twice they barely escaped.

First, Laurent's pass to Johnston was almost intercepted by an Elon back, and, on the next play, the Devil dog fullback fumbled on a draw, but center Mark Glaskow recovered on the Elon 44 and the Devil dogs had a third-and-11 situation with just 1:15 left to play.

On the next play, Laurent's pass to Johnston went incomplete but the officials charged Elon with interference, and the call was good for a first-down on the 16-yard-line. After a pass to end Garland Jones fell short, Laurent hit Johnnie Blount on the four-yard-line to setup Brown's winning score. Clark Blake's extra-point try was blocked, after an illegal

sports au go go

The Devil dogs' 6-3 victory over Elon College Saturday has already put this year's team one-up over last year's squad, but several other things about the game were even more important.

First, the team showed that it has the personnel on both the offensive and defensive units, to do the job this year. At times during Saturday's game, the attack was impressive. Particularly on the Devil dogs' first and last series of the ballgame. They are loaded with running backs. Big and strong, and some not so big but faster.

The last series on which the team went 94-yards showed they can pass, and well. Coach Cherubini plans to utilize the passing attack to a greater extent again N. C. A&T Saturday, and if the pass blocking is the same—it wasn't always there in last week's game—the offense will move the ball. A good passing attack makes the running game work even better because it loosens the defense.

The game movies showed that the offensive linemen must block a little better than they did against Elon. On several occasions, an Elon linebacker was in the Devil dog backfield almost before the Marine quarterback was handed-off.

Although it took them almost the whole game to get the offense moving, the last four minutes of the game showed the coaching staff that the potential is there. Now it must be utilized!

The defense performed very well during the game, twice stopping Elon scoring bids from inside the Marine ten-yard-line. A couple of the boys deserve special mention. Defensive end Willie Wilson, a 6-2, 200-pound veteran of service ball, gets the nod for playing a whale of a game. On several occasions, he was instrumental in breaking-up Elon plays. Defensive backs Gene Jenkins and Joe Carter were outstanding throughout most of the game. Jenkins picked off an Elon pass at the close of the first half, and rambled all the way to the collegians' 15-yard-line. Had Jenkins gotten another block or two, he probably have gone all the way.

Finally, the fans at the ball game deserve mention. For the first time in my particular stay at Camp Lejeune, I saw a crowd really get behind a varsity team and cheer for them. Don't think, folks, that the team doesn't appreciate it. Coach Cherubini made mention of the appreciation immediately following the ball game, and the players showed how they felt by taking the field across for the winning score. The 2d MarDiv Band should get credit, too, for its part in kindling the crowd's spirit.

Saturday, Liversedge Field is going to be the scene of a bang-up ball game. Don't be surprised if the Devil dogs do it again this week. They've got the horses!

Meanwhile, the Camp Lejeune High School Devil dogs proved Friday night that they're a team that won't quit. Trailing by a pair of scores late in the second-half, the Pups came back to score on a long pass play, and their fans screaming in the last minutes of the contest before they had a desperation pass intercepted.

The high school boys looked like an entirely different team than last year's outfit, and coach Tom McGhee and his staff have the makings of a fine squad on hand. After the Pamlico contest, McGhee said that lack of depth and experience were the two most costly factors, but that he expects better performances from his team as the season wears on.

Junior tackle Dick Smith played an outstanding game for the Pups, and may prove to be the bulwark of the line at 200-pounds. The Lejeune team could have won the game had the breaks fallen their way, but they have nothing to be ashamed of in losing to a fine Pamlico squad. The Devilpups may be a force to be reckoned with in the Coastal Plains Conference this year.

PUSH-UP KINGS—1st Lt. Ross Rosi (left) and HM3 Alvin Hutchinson competed against each other in the push-up event during a Field Meet held last week by the 2d Marine Bn., 2d MarDiv. Both men completed 365 push-ups, but Rosi won when Hutchinson collapsed 10-seconds before 1000 was called in the 45-minute event.

g victories — intramurals

Last week's 2d MarDiv. intramural football scores are indication of what can be expected as the season swings into its third week of play, can look forward to some moving games and lopsided scores.

The 1st Bn., 6th Marines, curried the American League victory, brought their season record to 4-0 by trouncing the 3d Bn., 8th Marines 40-0 and the 3d Bn., 8th Marines, 33-7. Sparked by the accurate passing of quarterback Doug O'Donnell and the fine running of ends Tom Kocaj and Ernie Kilestak, 1/6 had little difficulty in registering the wins.

Although 3/8 did take a beating from 1/6, they also won a pair of games by rolling over the 1st Bn., 8th Marines 41-6 and Shore Party Bn., 34-2, securing their hold on second place.

CHERRY POINT, N. C. -- When the 1965 Interservice Golf Championships wound up here Sept. 10, the U. S. Air Force team left with the Interservice team trophy and the top-two Open Championships, but Camp Lejeune's Commander Jim Kinder managed a third-place finish in the Senior competition.

Air Force Captain Warren Simmons, serving on the faculty of the U. S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., captured the Open Championship by firing a tournament-course record 282, six under par, for the 72 holes of play.

Airman First Class W. M. Barfield, Homestead AFB, Fla., took second, shooting 293. In a sudden-death play-off for third, Army Specialist Fourth Class Nathaniel Starks, All-Army Champ from Fort Benning, Ga., downed All-Marine Champion, Corporal Charlie Lewis, Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Not only did Capt. Simmons set a tournament-course record, he also tied Marine Corporal Lewis' existing one-round record for tourney play, a 67, set during the recently completed All-Marine here. The previous tournament one-round mark, a 68, was set by Professional Phil Rodgers in 1959. Rodgers then played on the All-Marine team.

The Air Force had it all to themselves during the last 18 holes of Interservice play, capturing the team title after trailing in second place during the previous rounds. Air Force Golfers carded 1183 to the Army's 1187, while the Marine Team scored 1198 for third and the Navy trailed in fourth with 1209.

Not a single eagle was recorded during the 1965 Interservice tourney, and only one was carded during the All-Marine event two weeks ago. Most Interservice competitors experienced normal difficulty with the notorious Cherry Point back nine. Of particular note, before the last two leading four-somes played Friday, hole number 17 found 35 competitors going over par during the tourney; number 15 saw 34 golfers over par; and number 11 fooled 17 golfers.

Number 10, a par four, 334-yarder, saw ten players carding birdies during the full 72 holes.

Number 17 is par four, 435 yards; 15 is 415 yards, par four and 11 is a 380 yard, par four. All were particularly unkind to the visiting military golfers.

Considered one of the toughest competitive courses in the military golf circuit, Cherry Point stretches 6,441 yards with narrow fairways, clinging rough and intertemperate greens. Hurricane Betsy threatened the Interservice initially, but reversed course, leaving the military golfers playing the entire four days in near perfect, autumnal weather.

Senior golfers (those over 45 years of age) played a blistering 72 holes along with the Open competitors, unlike the All-Marine tournament when the Seniors completed only 54 holes of play. Navy Commander E. M. Peck, of Fleet Air Command, Bermuda, shot a respectable 301 to take first in the Interservice, followed by Army Lt. Col. C. R. Knowles, Fort Gordon, Ga., second with 303.

As in the Open Division, a sudden death playoff for third was necessary to determine third place finisher. Commander J. W. Kinder, representing the All-Marine team, and stationed at Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C., downed Army Master Sergeant Agon Occhialini, Headquarters, U. S. Army, Europe, one up on the first hole.

Devilpups drop opener, 13-6 to Pamlico County

By: JIM PRESKITT

The Camp Lejeune Devilpups although losing their home opener here Friday night to Pamlico showed that they were not going to be an easy team to beat this year.

The Devilpups succumbed to Pamlico County by the score of 13-6, but they showed a lot of fight, some hard hitting, and the spirit to win.

Pamlico scored early in the first-period the first time they got their hands on the ball.

The Hurricanes' drive covered 47 yards with Danny Piners sweeping left end for 36-yards and their first touchdown.

That was the only score in the first half as the Lejeune line headed by Dick Smith, Al Wilkins, and Mike Murphy held the hard charging Hurricane backs.

At the start of the third quarter, Pamlico scored again on a nifty 38-yard run up the middle by their ace halfback Dan Wayne. Wayne bucked over for the extra point and Pamlico led 13-0.

The Devilpups scored their lone TD in the fourth quarter on a brilliantly executed reverse pass which ended up with Quarterback Joe Kuzan passing to end Carl Burks for paydirt on a play that covered 44-yards.

Ward, FT Personnel Officer, looks on. Sgt. Taylor's letter of appreciation read in part . . . "Your personal leadership, initiative and devotion to duty have been outstanding in every respect. In addition you have on your own time and initiative actively sought ways to be of assistance to your section and by positive leadership examples carried these ideals out with force and dispatch. Your actions are a reflection of the traditional leadership traits expected of a Marine noncommissioned officer." Sgt. Taylor was formerly the NCOIC of the order-writing section of Force Troops and has now received orders to the 3d Marine Division.

ACHIEVEMENT RIBBON—Capt. Larned V. Bearce receives the Secretary of the Navy Commendation Achievement Ribbon for his performance of duty while serving as Marine Advisor to the Republic of South Viet Nam from February to July 1964. Presenting the ribbon on behalf of the Secretary of the Navy is MajGen. H. Nickerson, Jr., CG, MCB.
