Armed Forces Day Welcome Mat Out

Civilian visitors and military dependents of the Camp Lejeune - New River Air Force Base area will be treated to a night and a day of combat action demonstrations and displays Friday and Saturday as the quad-command celebrates Armed Forces Day and how America's Power for Peace.

Visitors may begin their sight-seeing Friday at 3:00 p.m. when static displays of the Camp Lejeune Parade will open to the public.

For a very non-static display, the First Infantry Training Regiment will stage a two and a half hour show at the Ana Loop training area where spectators will hear a concert and then see the liveliest fireworks display this side of the 4th of July. A full arsenal of infantry weapons will be shown and described to the visiting citizens and then an awesome demonstration of the techniques of nighttime use of the machine guns, flame-throwers, bazookas and other hand carried weapons of the Marine infantryman.

Air Wing Band

Commanding Warrant Officer Griswold will strike up the music with his 2d Marine Air Wing Band from Cherry Point at 5:15 p.m. and there won't be another idle moment until the final protective line of fire has been delivered at 7:45.

Award

Between the acts of the band concert and firing demonstration W. R. Page, Chairman of the Greater Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce Military Affairs Committee and Major General A. L. Bowser, Marine Corps Base Commander, will recognize the Serviceman of the Month and present a plaque awarded by the Military.

Purple Heart Awarded To Lejeune Marines

PFC Conrad L. Bossler

Sgt. S. Camarillo

LCpl. George W. Haney

LCpl. Kenneth M. Sapp

PFC David H. Sutherland

PFC John L. Tognarina

(Suitable photograph of 7th Purple Heart awardee, PFC F. A. Feeslin, was unavailable at press time.)

Seven Camp Lejeune Marines were awarded a Purple Heart Medal for wounds received while serving in rebellion-torn Santo Domingo.

They are: PFC Conrad L. Bossler, Sgt. S. Camarillo, PFC F. A. Feeslin, LCpl. George W. Haney, LCpl. Kenneth M. Sapp, PFC David H. Sutherland and PFC John L. Tognarina.

The awards were presented by the Second Marine Division Commanding General, Brigadier General O. R. Simpson. In an unusual move, the awards were given to the Marines at Womack Army Hospital, Fort Bragg, N. C., where they are recuperating from wounds.

Even more unusual was the presentation made to PFC Sutherland who received the award on his 19th birthday. The general made the award to Sutherland, shared a birthday cake with him and then, in another surprise move, promoted the young man to PFC.

Draft bill hits snag

It now seems that the legislative study concerning the continuation of the draft will not reach the President before June. The report was scheduled to reach the White House in April but ran into internal problems.

The report, which is expected to recommend against ending the draft, will place a price tag on it and make recommendations on how career improvements will lead more men to volunteer.

One of the huge obstacles facing the Pentagon is the fairness of the system, in which only 55% of all eligible men will serve.

With the growth in population, a larger group of eligible men are available, but there is less need for them now, as compared to 1948 when the program was set up.

The number of men available (those who have reached 18 years of age) is growing about one to 1.5 million a year. Under the present system, by the mid 1970's only three out of every 10 men who reach eligibility will be selected for some form of military duty.

Another phase of the program under watchful eyes is the proposed pay structure.

The panel has decided that in peace time, the military pay should be competitive with civilian pay. The amount of this all-volunteer force has been reported as an additional 6 billion dollars.

President, Service Chiefs, Secretaries Send Armed Forces Day Greetings

Our country today is stronger militarily than at any other time in our peacetime history. Our strength of arms is greater than that ever assembled by any other nation.

The successful execution of all our policies depends upon the ability to retain the talent and fitness of the outstanding men and women in the military services. Those who serve their country in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, from whom we ask so much, are the cornerstone of our military might. Their contribution to our freedom and security is beyond measure.

As Commander-in-Chief, I join all of my fellow Americans in high tribute to our servicemen and women on Armed Forces Day, 1965.

—Lyndon B. Johnson
President of the United States

On this Armed Forces Day, I should like to remind all Americans that our "Power for Peace" is in fact the combat-ready forces of the United States unified and specified commands. These officers and men provide our main deterrent to war and deserve full credit and honor for their dedicated and patriotic service.

—Adm. David L. McDonald
Chief of Naval Operations

Armed Forces Day is a fitting occasion to take stock of our military services and their significance in a world of crisis and alarm.

As the nation's amphibious force-in-readiness, we Marines are proud of our contribution to our country's power for peace, and we invite our fellow citizens to visit our installations during Armed Forces Week.

—Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Jr.
Commandant, USMC

Armed Forces Day finds units of the Navy-Marine Corps team employed in a multitude of varied tasks to which our country has committed itself in defense of freedom. This flexible, versatile and highly mobile team—joined together with other members of the armed forces—demonstrates the tremendous military power available to our country in its efforts to fulfill its worldwide responsibilities.

Armed Forces Day Amateur Radio Activities

The Army, Navy and Air Force are co-sponsors of a program for the participation of amateur radio operators in celebration of Armed Forces Day.

The program will feature competition in CW Receiving and Radio - Teletypewriter (RATT) Receiving, with certificates of merit being issued for perfect copies of a message sent from the Secretary of Defense. This competition is open to all amateur operators.

All interested persons should read OPNAV NOTICE 5720 of March 5, 1965 for time schedules, transmitting stations and assigned frequencies.

For further information, call the Base Amateur Radio Station; phone numbers 7-5312 or 7-5886.

Armed Forces Day Prayer

O Eternal Lord God, who art the confidence of all who dwell upon the earth, a sure voice of calm to those afar off upon the sea; Thou who makest the clouds thy chariot and walkest upon the wings of the wind, hear, we beseech Thee, our prayer.

On the occasion of this Armed Forces Day of 1965, make us who serve in the defense of our beloved country, more aware of the sacred trust and privilege that is ours. Instill into our lives a deeper sense of righteousness above compromise, justice in our daily relationships, and a love of peace with honor in our dealings with all men.

We are humbly grateful to Thee for the true and meaningful values which are a source of inspiration to us in our American way of life. Our Father, make us constantly sensitive to the grave responsibility that is ours—that of setting an example of peace and goodwill to all the nations and peoples of the earth. O Thou who hast made of one blood all the nations of the earth, mercifully hear our supplications, and remove from the world forever the dreadful menace of war.

On this occasion, we would rededicate ourselves to Thee and to the more unselfish service of our beloved nation. Grant us renewed courage and conviction to pledge ourselves to defend the rights and privileges in which the whole human family shares.

We beseech Thee to guide all mankind in the way of Thy truth and peace, so that we may never fail in the blessing which Thou has provided to that people whose God is the Lord. Amen.

Service vote total good, but could be much better

The Department of Defense has recently released a report on the record of absentee voting by service men and women in the 1964 Presidential election.

At first glance, the statistics are impressive. A little better than one out of two eligible uniformed voters -- 51.3 percent, to be exact -- cast a ballot in last year's election. This was an increase of 11.8 percent over the service vote total in 1960.

A jump of 10 percent in four years is certainly nothing to be ashamed of, but there are, good reasons why the total should always be up in the 80 to 90 percent range.

About nine months before election day, the Department of Defense launched a massive "get out the vote" program in each of the services. Voting posters appeared on posts and bases throughout the world. Officers were well stocked with pamphlets and brochures with full details on how to register and apply for absentee ballots in each state. The American Heritage Foundation and the Freedom Foundation joined the Defense Department in the program, sponsoring contests to increase interest in service voting.

How simple can it get for a person to cast a ballot? Certainly the service did everything possible to be sure each of us was aware of the election, of how important it was for us to vote, and how to do it once we had made up our minds.

It is our opinion that men and women in uniform should be the first ones scrambling to get an absentee ballot when election time rolls around. Why? Because, as members of the work force that implements the programs and policies adopted by our government. If we like the way things have been going, we should be anxious to vote for the people who are going to keep things that way. If we aren't too happy with the status quo, our vote is the most effective voice we can use to get things squared away.

We feel it is obvious that no one in uniform can sit back, feeling smug and satisfied about that 11.8 percent increase. We should do better!

By RALPH DEAVI

Someone was about a young Marine, ping for six, a while. His name seemed to a bell.

"Was that the guy who reenlisted while parading to earth with his commanding officer?"

"No, you're thinking about 'Nose' McHam. He did that, about a year ago."

"Oh, yeah; that's right. This was the one who had just finished 1100 pushups, 900 squats, and the 5 mile run, or something like that."

"Wrong. This one just walked into the old office and was sworn in."

"He had his three little boys in their mirror blues looking on, didn't he?"

"The only son this guy has is a girl. Far as I know, she doesn't have any more blues."

"Did he ship for embassy duty in Paris, or guage School? Recruit duty in his home town?"

"No. No. . . . He was for a tour with the 1st."

"Did he get a steady dinner with the CO and the First Sergeant?"

"I don't know. I don't think so."

"Sounds kinda weird, doesn't it?"

"Well . . . They did ask him if he'd like to be listed at the GLOBE house. Kinda to show the camaraderie between sergeants and their troops is an influence upon enlistments. They also offered to ship him over the steps at Headquarters, holding a chain with his platoon leader and his platoon sergeant—you know, denoting that his enlistment helps hold the chain together. But he said it wasn't necessary."

"How about his older brothers and younger sisters who are in the Corps?"

"No. . . . If he had any, they weren't there."

It sounded pretty good to me.

"Did he happen the Marine of the 1st or the squad leader year, or anything like that?"

"No, none of those things."

He explained that wasn't anything unusual about the man or the money.

"Imagine that! imagine that! A guy over and doesn't thing. I guess he just ed the bonus. Well, body to their own thing."

"He looked enough; I think he what he wanted, what I heard him say."

"What's that?"

"Well, I heard him the colonel: 'My enlist was up . . . I HAD to over. Not going to me being an Ex-Marine. I bet you DON'T'

PLEASURE SEEKERS
 In DeLuxe Color and Cinemascope, The Pleasure Seekers stars Ann-Margaret, Tony Franciosa, Carol Lynley, Gardner McKay and Pamela Tiffin.

It is the story of three American girls who live in Madrid. Each has her own notion about love which undergoes drastic change.

DEVIL DOLL
 Devil Dolls presents Bryant Haidy, William Sylvester and Yvonne Romain in a strong dose of horror. Underneath the suspense and horror that pervades the film is the question: "Can a human being control the actions, the voice, the body and the soul of an inanimate robot to obey without question all orders—even one to kill?"

THOSE CALLOWAYS
 A Walt Disney presentation in Technicolor, Those Calloways stars Brian Keith, Vera Miles, Brandon de Wilde, Walter Brennan and Ed Wynn.

It is the stirring tale about a simple woodsman and his proud family who put everything they own on the block to protect the great flocks of wild geese that cross their sky.
 The picture takes a long, hard look at "small town U.S.A." and comes up with the refreshing viewpoint that Americans are just as proud and principled as they ever were, when the chips are down. But this is not a "message" picture. The Calloways are characters, normally, with a 500 pound bear in the cellar, a loud-mouthed crow in the kitchen, and a lop-eared hound dog who doesn't know when to stop chasing a deadly wolverine. There is also a love story that will warm the hearts of even the most sophisticated of audiences.

IN THE COOL OF THE DAY
 MGM presents Peter Finch, Jane Fonda, Angela Lansbury in Panavision and Metrocolor. The story is of three persons, each imprisoned by emotional fetters and seeking an elusive love. It was filmed against backgrounds in London, Paris and Greece.

PETER FINCH / JANE FONDA
ANGELA LANSBURY
THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA
 Starring Richard Burton, Ava Gardner, Deborah Kerr and Sue Lyon. The Night of the Iguana deals with a defrocked minister and the three women who play a vital part in his life.

7 FACES OF DR. LAO
 MGM presents Tony Randall, Arthur O'Connell, Barbara Eden and John Ericson in Metrocolor in the 7 Faces of Dr. Lao.
 Tony Randall plays seven different roles combining fantasy, drama, mystery and comedy. Tony's title role is as Merlin the Magician. The other six personages are Medusa, Apollonius of Tyana, Pan, the Abominable Snowman and a Great Serpent.

LOOKING FOR LOVE
 Looking for Love stars Connie Francis and Jim Hutton and guest-stars Johnny Carson, George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux, Paula Prentiss and Danny Thomas.
 A light, song-fest, MGM color comedy, the plot revolves around the question—which is more important to a girl, career or marriage? A chance to be delightfully entertained.

HONEYMOON HOTEL
 Honeymoon Hotel stars Robert Goulet, Nancy Kwan, Robert Morse and Jill St. John in Panavision and Metrocolor.
 It is a sophisticated, romantic comedy revolving around two bachelors who find themselves guests at a luxurious Caribbean island hotel reserved exclusively for newlyweds.

Comandant impressed by Far East combat readiness

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Statement by Commandant Marine Corps at Pentagon Press Conference Friday, 10:30 a.m. (EDST), April 30, 1965.)

The past week has been an eventful one for the Marine Corps and for me. It has demonstrated that our Marines—particularly those in the Pacific and Caribbean areas—are performing in the manner in which the American people have come to expect.

Departing here just a week ago—with Lieutenant General Buse and Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps McHugh—I visited the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Japan and the 3rd Marine Division in Okinawa. In both cases, I was impressed by the combat readiness of these important elements of our Far East air-ground team. Their state of training and material readiness were in fine shape, and I am confident that they are prepared to carry out any mission which may be assigned.

The next leg took us to Saigon where I conferred with General Westmoreland for an up-to-the-minute briefing on the situation in Viet Nam.

Wednesday I spent the day with General Karch and the Marines of the 9th Marine Expeditionary Brigade at Da Nang and Hue. I was encouraged by the manner in which they are performing their mission of providing security for this vital air base. In true Marine fashion, they are not content to sit on their hands in a static defense, but are conducting our usual aggressive patrolling designed to provide security against the elusive Viet Cong.

I found the state of combat readiness and equipment—and, above all, the spirit of our Marines—most gratifying. They know and understand the importance of their mission in Viet Nam, and they are eager to get on with the job. They have developed a good appetite for contact with the Viet Cong which is an outgrowth of our patrol action connected with our defense of the Da Nang Air Base.

As a result of my visit I will introduce a light-weight, short-sleeve uniform which will be more compatible with operations in the extremely hot climate.

On our return flight, in Hawaii, in the absence of Admiral Sharp, CINCPAC, I called upon Admiral Roy Johnson, CINCPACFLT; and then consulted with Lieutenant General Krulak, Commanding General of our Marine Forces in the Pacific. We exchanged current reports regarding the various elements of General Krulak's command.

VISITING VMI STUDENTS—Students from the Virginia Military Institute get set for a ride in an amphibian tractor during their visit to Camp Lejeune on April 30 and May 1. Two hundred and twenty First Classmen from VMI toured the base and viewed a static display of 2d Marine Division equipment. After the display the students went to Onslow Beach for a briefing and demonstration by 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn.

"HERE IS A REAL LIVE ONE—He thinks that the Navy Relief has something to do with the President's program a poverty."

Seat belts are mandatory in all late model vehicles

In an attempt to cut down on the number of accidents aboard the base involving personal vehicles, this command has come out with an order mandating that owners of late model automobiles have seat belts installed.

The North Carolina Motor Vehicle Laws and the Camp Lejeune Command requires that all motor vehicles registered in this state and manufactured, assembled, or sold after January 1, 1964 must be equipped with at least two sets of seat belts in the front seat.

Owners of automobiles, falling into this category, who have already been issued a permanent set of base tags, will ensure that the required two sets of seat belts for the front seat are installed by June 2.

Seat belts may be purchased at the Marine Corps Exchange Service Center, and will be installed free, provided extensive modification to the vehicle is not necessary.

Personnel who do not comply with the base order (BORD 111) will have their base automobile tags taken away until the belts are installed.

In conjunction with this policy, the Traffic Investigation Department at Camp Lejeune will be holding safety clinics throughout the base. If you are stopped and your car reveals some defective part, a courtesy tag will be issued. You will have seven (7) days to make necessary corrections to your base privileges.

A Red Cross Thank You

To: Commanding General, Marine Corps Camp Lejeune
On behalf of the Tidewater Red Cross Bloodmobile Center, I extend appreciation and congratulations to you and your staff, and the personnel of your command for the successful Bloodmobile service May 4-5.

We understand the sudden deployment of so many commendations is a challenge for achieving success. Please convey our thanks to all who worked this, to the volunteers at the visits, and to the donors who can be each donation is needed patients in hospitals.

Navy Relief

A new series of Pre-Natal classes will start on Thursday, May 20. These classes will be held each Thursday for five weeks from 1 to 3 p.m. in the U. S. Naval Hospital Theater.

Subjects covered will be: layettes, care of the expectant mother, labor and delivery, hospital routine, and methods of infant feeding. The classes will be supplemented with visual aids, demonstrations, and free literature.

Camp Lejeune has collected $14,304.50 so far for the annual Navy Relief drive. Now in its second week, the total collected presents slightly more than 20% of the final goal of $70,000.

MarDiv Assn. Reunion In July

First and present 2d Division Marines are invited to attend the 16th Annual Marine Division Association's 16th Annual Reunion, July 22-25, in Chicago. This year's get-together, tagged as "friendship" year, is slated to be held at the Sheraton Motor Hotel. Marines and former Marines have an opportunity to "not the breeze" with buddies once served with at Tulagualcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, Okinawa and many other places men of the Silent Second have been stationed.

The reunion is also a family affair with many activities planned for the entire family. During the four-day event there will be luncheons, dinners and refreshments with a songfest and a general get-together.

Various tours of the Windy City will highlight the Reunion activities including a trip to the ladies through Avon's netic factory. Other tours take guests to Lincoln Park, the Science and Industry Building, and Tribune Tower. Further information for those interested in attending the Reunion may be obtained from the association's Association representative, Lieutenant Colonel J. Vroegindewey, extension 70.

Girl Scouts award adult service pins

Last Monday at Marston Hill, the Girl Scouts of area held an Adult Recognition Dinner. Service pins representing the years of an individual's active participation in Girl Scouting were awarded to:

Joanne Giddens for 20 years' service; Joan Bedell 15 years; Lois Maxwell, Mary Lockhart, Barbara Giddens, Donna Brookings, Nellie Marge Phelps and Anne Abbott, each with 10 years' service. The speaker for the program was the Rev. Floyd Kler, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Our Savior in Bensonville.

DOD Is Stumped On Buckle Change

Men, don't start discarding those cans of brass polisher yet. The Department of Defense has thrown in the towel on the idea of issuing the members of the Armed Forces a common belt buckle.

In recent years Defense officials have been trying, unsuccessfully, to come up with a belt buckle that all military men could wear. The idea of a black buckle, which was to replace the Army and Navy's brass buckle, the Air Force's silver buckle and the Marine Corps' differently styled brass buckle, has gone awry.

Vice Admiral J. M. Lyle, Director of the Defense Supply Agency recently told the House Appropriations Committee during the hearings on the Defense budget, that industry could not develop a black buckle, "which is comparable in quality and cost with existing service buckles."

The plan, which was to save the Defense Department thousands of dollars each year, however, accomplished one thing. With the unsuccessful try at the belt buckle, it may mean an end to attempts at standardizing distinctive items of the uniforms of the different branches of the service.

Local State Dept. agent designated

Major William C. Jaech, Room 233, Bldg. No. 1, Marine Corps Base, has been designated as an Agent of the Department of State.

As such, he is authorized to accept applications for passports and to administer oaths to the following who require passports to perform necessary travel in compliance with official orders:

a. Members of the Navy and Marine Corps and their legal dependents when authorized by competent authority.

b. Graded and ungraded federal employees of the Navy and Marine Corps and their dependents when authorized by competent authority.

Karl Schuon's "U. S. Marine Corps Biographical Dictionary" was recently published by Franklin, Watt Inc.

The book is a history of the generals who are today's leaders of the Corps and the Marines who won the nation's highest award—the Medal of Honor. Also sketched are the lives of the Commandants, from Samuel Nicholas, the first one, through Wallace M. Greene, Jr.

This Marine Corps biographical dictionary provides the biographical sketches of the Marines that made its legend and tradition.

Show Cancellation

The MCAF, MAG-26 Amateur Variety Show, scheduled for Sunday, May 16, at the Air Facility, has been cancelled due to the deployment of many key personnel who were to participate. It is hoped that the show will be presented later on in the summer or possibly early fall.

Service Chiefs quizzed on military pay hike

(Condensed from Journal of the Armed Forces)

The four Service Chiefs and the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force have spelled out their views on the need for a military pay raise during hearings before the House Armed Services Committee.

The testimony of the top military and civilian officials, taken behind closed doors, has just been made public.

It reveals that Navy and Marine Corps leaders—who previously won high praise from Chairman L. Mendel Rivers told the House Committee that if they could have additional funds, they would put the money into the pockets of their men rather than into weapons.

Navy Secretary Paul H. Nitze said the solution to the Navy's manpower problem is of greater importance "than any single item of additional equipment for our forces."

Admiral David L. McDonald, CNO, and General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps, expressed the same viewpoint.

Army and Air Force leaders were less concise, but they were not questioned by the Committee to the same extent and in the same manner as was the Navy leadership. The Navy and Marine Corps leaders were asked specifically whether, if provided additional funds, they would spend the money on personnel needs.

During the interrogation of the Air Force witnesses, Chairman Rivers observed that the AF had expressed concern about the retention of personnel as it relates to "pay, housing and promotions."

Air Force CoS General John P. McConnell and Secretary Eugene Zuckert were questioned closely about an AF study which, Chairman Rivers said, shows that "the military is $3-billion behind" in comparison with the pay of Federal civilian employees.

Chairman Rivers subsequently asked, "...the military is $3-billion behind the civilians, is this a fact?"

General McConnell said: "That is what the study showed, Mr. Chairman."

Chairman Rivers noted that Secretary Zuckert was "shaking his head."

Not Convinced

The Air Force Secretary said, "Well, this figure, this $3-billion, or 2.8, whatever it is, was a figure arrived at by this study, but that doesn't make it right."

Chairman Rivers said: "Of course not. It doesn't make it right unless it puts the military behind. You fellows are so afraid to take a stand for the military. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

Secretary Zuckert later observed: "If you count retirement, the military pay has risen since 1952 more than 10%."

He was interrupted by Chairman Rivers who declared: "I have never seen more people work harder to find an excuse to deny people who are dying for their country a comparable way of life equal to the life they are protecting."

Secretary Nitze was asked by Representative Otis Pike (D-NY) if he "would accept a reduction in hardware in order to get an increase in pay."

The Navy Secretary said, "If that increase in pay would be the difference between meeting our retention objectives, and if this were the key and the correctly designed key, certainly I would be prepared to accept a reduction in hardware in order to meet that problem which I consider to be the outstanding problem."

Outstanding Effort

The Marine Commandant was asked a similar question. If he had more money would he "put it in pay as a first priority over any hardware or any other housing or any other thing that the Marine Corps might want?"

General Greene said: "Speaking purely for the Marine Corps, my answer is yes."

Earlier, the Marine leader complimented the House Committee on the introduction of the $1-billion military pay proposal sponsored by 34 of the Committee members. He said it was an "outstanding effort" to do something about pay, and added: "I personally want to thank all of you, not only for myself, but also for the Marine Corps."

"If the U. S. Marine Corps is as important to you as a large-scale American industry, I maintain that the basic rate of pay for officers and men in the Marine Corps should be comparable to the pay that they could receive in industry."

The Marine Commandant discussed the "moonlighting" problem in great detail and said he had gone to special pains to find out why Leathernecks are working in after-hours jobs. He cited specific examples including one of a sergeant in the Washington, D. C. area who said he would like to own a home but his income doesn't qualify him for a loan.

General Greene disclosed that he has 54 enlisted men working in his data processing division at HQMC and that 26 (or 48%) of them are moonlighting.

He told the Committee, "the only solution to this specific problem is an increase in pay."

At one stage of the pay testimony, Chairman Rivers commented that the military budget "has addressed itself to everything but pay."

He said, "We've got housing; we've got guns; we've got missiles. We've got everything but morale."

Viet Nam veterans aided by approved tax refunds

The speeding up of income tax refunds to military personnel who served in Vietnam in 1964 by the Internal Revenue Service was announced recently by the White House. Further indications revealed that several states will follow the federal government's lead and allow refunds for 1964 and exclusions for 1965 for military personnel serving in Viet Nam.

It was further stated that servicemen can get a refund on money withheld this year.

All enlisted men and warrant officers, (W-1 through W-4), get complete exclusion of military pay and officers are exempt up to $200 a month. Personnel hospitalized while serving in Viet Nam receive complete exclusion for the period of hospitalization.

White house officials announced that service for any part of a month will permit servicemen to exclude pay received for that entire month.

Taxpayers who performed military service in Viet Nam in 1964, and who have already filed their returns, may claim refunds on amended returns or on claims for refund filed on Form 1040.

All amended returns should be marked "AMENDED-COMBAT ZONE" at the top of the form. Original returns and claims should be marked simply "COMBAT ZONE".

These claims should be sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue office at which the original return was filed.

Upon filling out these claims the servicemen should state the exact number of months served in Viet Nam.

All taxpayers who have not filed their 1964 returns because of military service in Viet Nam have an automatic extension of time for filing. Returns will not be due until 180 days after the combat zone veterans leave Viet Nam. If they are hospitalized outside the U. S. as a result of Vietnamese services, they will have 180 days after they have left the hospital to file.

Military men who are hospitalized as a result of service in Viet Nam receive complete exclusion of their military pay no matter where they are hospitalized, but the automatic extension of time for filing applies only to those hospitalized outside the U. S.

Tax experts advise that those who enter combat zone exclusions on their Form 1040 should do so in the section marked "Part III" -- Adjustments. "This appears in the lower left-hand corner of page 2 of the return. Probably line 4 (Payments by self employed persons to retire) should be crossed out. Then over the crossed-out sentence write in, "Combat zone exclusion certificate attached."

The 57-year-old battle for recognition by Navy Nurses

By PFC D. E. Belsey

The year was 1811—nine years before the birth of Florence Nightingale—and a young Navy surgeon, Dr. William Paul Crillon Barton was commissioned by the Secretary of the Navy to put down on paper "such ideas as he entertained respecting the proper and systematic mode of conducting hospitals and institutions for the sick."

"Such ideas as he entertained," in a world where compassionate and scientific care of the sick had not yet entered heavily into man's social consciousness, were remarkably far sighted. Regarding the part nurses were to play he was fairly explicit.

"The nurses, whose number should be proportionate to the extent of the hospitals and number of patients, should have women of humane disposition and tender manners; active and healthy. They should be neat and cleanly in their persons.

It was almost 100 years later—May 13, 1908—before Dr. Barton's recommendations bore fruit, and the Navy Nurse Corps was born. For that intervening period, the ships' surgeons who cared for the men of the fleet were still to carry on without trained nurses. The colorful pages in the history of the U. S. Navy contain many testimonials to the surgeons' courage and resourcefulness. Their only assistants were members of the crew assigned to them. These surgeons felt the need for trained workers. As the science of medicine and the concern for the humane social order developed, medical care for the armed forces grew in importance.

It was in accord with this trend that a Bureau of Medicine and Surgery was established by Act of Congress in 1842, and in 1898 the Hospital Corps was authorized, raising the ship's sick-bay to an organized group of corpsmen with specified qualifications and duties.

The first trained nurses in the Navy were not an official unit, neither enrolled or enlisted. A group of women were employed at the Naval Hospital, Norfolk, Va., in 1890 to care for the sick and wounded of the Spanish-American War. In 1910 when the Navy sent its first nurses to the Philippine Islands, Guam, Honolulu, Yokahama, Samoa, the Virgin Islands, Haiti, and Guantanamo Bay the Corps was blooming into acceptance and recognition.

World War I

During WWI, came the first great challenge. By now, the nursing profession had developed into a organized unit. The prejudices of the earlier days were fading away and women were entering into a society that had once barred them. They were assigned to hospitals in England, Ireland, Scotland, and the coast of France. Four Navy Nurses were awarded the Navy Cross for outstanding service, three of the awards being made posthumously; two other nurses received the Army citation "for special, meritorious, and conspicuous service". The professional nurses of the United States had now earned the respect and love of fighting men and of their countrymen.

World War II

At the outbreak of World War II, 16 Navy Nurses were captured on Bataan and Guam by the Japanese. In September 1945 all were awarded the Bronze Star Medal, gold star in lieu of a second Bronze Star Medal, and the Army's Distinguished Unit Badge. One nurse, after serving on Bataan, was awarded the Legion of Merit for outstanding devotion to duty. During the War, the Navy Nurse Corps ranks swelled to 11,021.

In September 1946, 11 Navy Nurses were attached to the 1st Marine Division serving in Fientsin, China, one of these nurses being the present Officer in Charge of Nurses at the USNH, Camp Lejeune; Commander P. W. Schmid.

Korean Conflict

The Navy's Nurses were not absent from the Korean Conflict either. They served aboard the hospital ships USS Consolation, Repose, and Haven in Korean waters.

The U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune, has 45 Navy Nurses all of whom are under the present direction of Captain Ruth Erickson, Director, Navy Nurse Corps.

A Salute To The USNH

During National Hospital Week, May 9-15, we of Camp Lejeune pay tribute to our own U. S. Naval Hospital.

Camp Lejeune's Naval Hospital, one of the largest hospitals in the South, marks its 22nd anniversary month. It was completed at a cost of $7,500,000 initially contained the best medical facilities. The hospital area rests on 17 acres.

Since its beginning, the hospital has progressively increased its medical capabilities to include all the specialized departments usually found in modern hospitals.

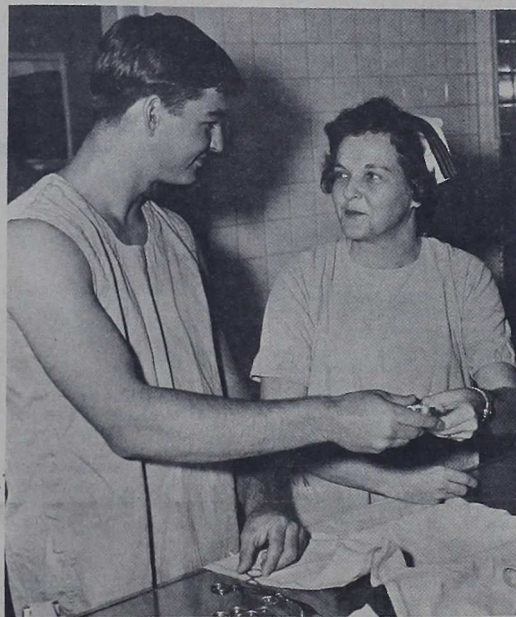

The hospital is authorized peace-time beddage of 153. It has 47 doctors on board, 45 nurses, 266 corpsmen and 269 civilian workers.

In addition to its inpatient treatment, the Naval Hospital also maintains outpatient clinics for military and dependent personnel. For the month of April, 1965, the hospital patient department served 10,093 patients. It serves 36,666 military, 32,000 dependents, 600 retired at Camp Lejeune; while at the Air Facility it serves 7,000 military and 10,000 dependents. The average patient load on a monthly basis is 418 patients. The hospital had 1,089 admissions during April.

One may be bored by statistics, but this is the main way that achievements are recognized.

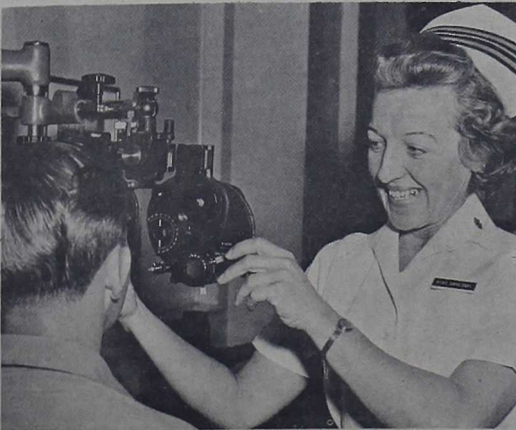

Besides the medical personnel that care for the ailing, one must also take into account the unsung, and often forgotten, heroes of the hospital, the volunteers. These dedicated men and women devote their time and energy to relieve the hospital staff of extra duties, thus providing extra benefits for patients.

Know Your Navy Relief

TOR'S NOTE: Second in a series of articles designed to help you, Navy Personnel and their dependents become better acquainted with the Navy Relief and its operations.

Where does the Navy Relief get its funds?

The Society receives about $100,000 a year from investments and about $1,500,000 contributions by Navy and Marine Corps personnel and their families.

Does the Navy Relief Society receive any money from government?

The Society does not receive any government funds.

Are Navy Relief Society funds audited?

All funds of the Auxiliary are audited monthly and annually. Headquarters accounts are audited semi-annually.

Why does the Navy Relief Society conduct a separate financial campaign each year in lieu of participating in joint fund raising campaigns?

The Society is the personnel of the Navy's own organization to assist its own in time of need. Since it carries on its activities exclusively among Naval and Marine personnel and their families, it has little in common with the other organizations which operate in broader and more general fields and whose work is for and among a different segment of our population. It is inappropriate, therefore, to associate Society fund raising projects with other organizations whose objectives are quite different.

Charlie Davis wins bantamweight title

Lejeune's Charlie Davis TKO'd Air Force's Lawrence Mitchell in 2:59 minutes of the third round to become the 1965 Interservice Bantamweight Champion. Davis, who won the All-Marine Corps title in March, was the only local boxer to win an Interservice title last week, at the boxing tournament held at Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif.

The 119-pound fighter won his bid for the finals by decisioning Army's Jerry Upshur. In the first round of the semi-final bout, Upshur decked Davis for the mandatory eight count, but the local boxer came back in the second and third rounds to outscore his opponent.

In the finals, Davis had to again fight an up-hill battle against Mitchell in the first two rounds. The third round proved to be Davis' from the bell. Out slugging the Air Force contender throughout the round, Davis finally connected with several combinations to the head and body to send Mitchell to the canvas. Too stunned to continue, the referee called the fight and awarded Davis the TKO after 2:59 minutes of the final round.

Three other Lejeune boxers entered the semi-final bouts on the first and second nights of the tournament. In the 153 pound division, Floyd Stevens knocked out Hugh Crisswell of the Air Force in the second round. Heavyweight Ken Norton also won his semi-final bout by decisioning Navy's Dick Pettigrew. Norton scored a knock down in the first round and remained on top throughout the final two rounds to win his twelfth straight fight.

The only local fighter to get stopped in the semi-finals was Bob Lozada. Amado Cavazo, a 124 pound Air Force contender, TKO'd Lozada in the third round.

Floyd Stevens had to settle for the runner-up award as Roy McMillan of the Army team, defeated him in the final bout.

FLOYD STEVENS wins runner-up in the lightweight division.

McMillan scored a TKO over Stevens in the second round to bring the middleweight's record to 7 wins and 4 defeats.

Ken Norton lost his first fight of his career to Army's Wheeler Johnson during the heavyweight bout. According to Coach Rogers, both fighters scored well, with a close decision going to the Army.

the ten bouts. The Marine Corps captured the remaining four, shutting out both the Navy and the Air Force. The other three Marine victories were won by Camp Pendleton boxers. Mike Adame won the flyweight title while MacArthur Forster copied the light-heavyweight crown. Maurice Frilot recaptured his welterweight title for the fourth straight year by TKO'ing Navy's Ralph Pelliccia.

Keglers compete at All-Marine

Sixty bowlers fired up the lanes yesterday, as the 1965 All-Marine Corps Bowling Tournament got under way. Leatherneck bowlers from all over the world arrived at the Base Bowling Center to compete in the three day championship tourney.

Each kegler will be rolling eighteen games, with six games, being tossed on each day of the three dates. Awards will be presented to the top three individual high score winners and the high total pin fall winners.

The highest three scores in both men and women divisions will be forwarded to Headquarters Marine Corps for selection as the 1965 All-Marine Champion.

Tomorrow, being the final day of the tournament, should prove to be one of the most exciting climaxes yet held at the Bowling Center.

Boat Owners

There will be a meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, of the Camp Lejeune Boat and Ski Club to be held at the Wallace Creek Boathouse. All boat owners and water skiers interested in obtaining membership in the club are cordially invited to attend. The agenda of the meeting will be on the summer water ski and boating program which is scheduled to start on June 1.

Pott Shots

The creed of contemporary athletics was summed up by Leo Durocher when he so admirably said, "Nice guys don't win." Today, the ascent of competitive sports has become focused upon the final result, not on how one plays the game. Sportsmanship plays a large role in athletics, but just as the flyin' and the V-formation have become shelved with the dust covered score books of yesteryear, so has the concept of "it's how you play the game counts," faded into the past.

The win is, and rightly so, the goal of any competitive sports. This was not the case, there would be no need for boards and umpires. The frequency of games played throughout the world, naturally, would decrease to a point just above non-existence. So the concept of winning or losing can safely be said to be the life blood of competitive sports.

But we find a flaw in the above statement. The flaw takes the form of Eddie Feigner and his career.

Last week, the Harry Agganis Stadium heeled over 7,500 spectators during a softball game—of all things. People flocked from near and far to see the King of the Underhanded Pitches. The King's name, however, is not the point to be made here, is that the people did not come to see if the local All-Stars could defeat this famous team, instead they came to witness how this famous team played the game. Even if the scoreboard in the field had been operative, few people would have had their eyes off Feigner long enough to see what the score was.

Few teams have been able to veer from the competitive aspect of sports and remained in existence. Only a novelty act such as the King and his Court have been able to accomplish such a feat. And for the sports fan, such a game is a welcomed change. It allows him to sit back and enjoy the finer points of the game without the anxieties of whether his team will come out ahead. But if all sports were conducted on the same criterion, the average fan would soon get restless and invest his leisure hours in some other recreational activity.

Thus the all-important win is here to stay. No matter how all spectators enjoy seeing a shortstop make a play or a football player run 100 yards for a touchdown, this is just the frosting on a cake, for the fact remains that a team will live or die, simply in relation to how it stands in the win column.

Base Pistol Team Wins

The Marine Corps Base Rifle and Pistol Team walked away with all of the trophies last week at the Registered 2700 Aggregate Pistol Tournament held at the Camp Lejeune rifle range. Teams from Marksmanship training Unit Fort Meade; MCS Quantico; Parris Island; 8th Marine Corps District, New Orleans; MCAS Cherry Point; Force Troops; 2d Division and MCB were on hand for the competition.

Warrant Officer E. S. Sarver made a clean sweep of the individual awards by winning the .22 cal., .45 cal., and the centerfire competition to become the over-all Aggregate Champion of the meet.

Sarver began his monopolization of the trophies by copying the .22 cal. match with a 877/34 X out of a possible 900. He came back later in the day to defeat the other marksmen in the .45 cal. competition by firing at a 864/29 X clip. Not satisfied with his first two wins, Sarver proceeded to outscore the pack in the centerfire match to again come out on top with a blazing 878/45 X score. His combined total of 2619/108 X out of a possible 2700 points entitled him to take home the Aggregate Championship trophy.

Spear-headed by Sarver, the MCB team captured all of the team matches to make the tournament rather one sided. In the .22 cal. competition, the base marksmen totaled a 1152/45 X out of a possible 1200 score to cop their first win. A 1149/-

43 X tally was good enough to bring home the winning trophy. In the .38 cal. match, the team rounded out the competition by winning both the .45 cal. match and the .45 cal. match with the score of 1123/33 X respectively.

E. S. SARVER cops individual awards.

KEN NORTON loses first fight of his career.

By MARGE STINNETT

We'd like to dedicate this week's column to some of our bowling personalities. Among them you will find -- Jim Robertson, a faithful league bowler who carries a 75 average and hopes someday to beat his DAD, Jimmy is 5 years old. Bowling in the Tuesday Morning League is Mrs. Ruth McCoy. Ruth started her bowling career last September with a rousing 59 average. At the present time she is averaging 96 and has rolled a high game of 153. Our "Ruthie" is 70 years young.

Included among our bowlers of note is Peg Glen - We're not telling her age - just her score. Peg has an average of 177 and is a leading scorer among both men and women bowlers.

Much coveted by all bowlers are our award emblems. These are presented by the house to individuals who bowl scores of 200, 225 and 250 in the game club. In the series club, scores of 500, 550, 600 and 650 qualify for emblems. (The women's emblems include 175 games and 450 series). According to our records, at least two of our bowlers have qualified for all of these awards. They are - Lew Nicoletta and John Nicholas. Many others are lacking only one or two for their complete collection.

Another bowling enthusiast whom you may find on the lanes during the noon hour is Major General A. L. Bowser. He and members of his staff enjoy keen competition whenever his busy schedule permits.

Our Bowling SNOOP for the week -- What female bowler who averages 153, bowled a 366 series last week - first name Mickey.

There are still openings in summer leagues so whether you are 5 or 70, come out and register now for many hours of bowling recreation and fun.

Camp Lejeune Track Team hosts cross country race

The Camp Lejeune Track Team sponsored a three and six mile Cross Country race last Sunday at Goette Field. Trackmen from the surrounding area competed for the honors.

The Goldsboro Jr. High School captured the first four places in the three mile run. Bill Johnson ran the course in 15:34 to win the first place medal. John Kornegy placed second with a time of 15:39. Melford Jones and Ken Webb won third and fourth place stopping the clock at 16:04 and 17:29 respectively.

Al Bishop, an Air Force dependent, ran the six mile course in 35:43.1 to cop first place. Marine First Lieutenant Ed Laughton captured second place with a 36:55.0 clocking. The local thinclads also placed third with the efforts of Gus Gustafson, who crossed the line in 38:37.3 Fred Hurd, from the North Carolina Track Club copped fourth with a time of 39:52.0.

On May 15, the local trackmen will travel to Quantico, Va., to compete in a dual meet with the Baltimore Olympic Track Club.

The triangular track and field meet is scheduled to get under way at 11 a.m.

ED LAUGHTON crosses the finish line as his wife calls out the time.

Pro/Am Golf Tournament

Approximately 50 top Carolina Professionals and 175 amateurs will tee off on May 21 and 22 in the Camp Lejeune's 2d Annual Professional/Amateur Golf Tournament to be held at the Paradise Point Golf Course.

At the present time, 49 pros and 123 amateurs have submitted applications for the tourney. Registration is still open and will remain open until 6 p.m. on May 17. All persons still interested in participating in the tournament should obtain entry forms from unit Special Services Officers; Registrations Office, Goette Memorial Field House; starter's desk at the No. 1 and No. 2 Courses and in the Golf Pro Shop at Paradise Point Golf Course. All applications must be submitted to the Pro Shop with an entry fee of $6.00 for amateurs and $10.00 for professionals.

Mr. Jim Gantz, golf pro, has requested that all applicants confirm their applications no later than 8 a.m. on May 17. This request was made due to the fact that with the deployment of several Camp Lejeune units, it has become difficult to ascertain the exact number of golfers who will be on hand for the tournament. Confirmation can be made by calling the Pro Shop at extension 6-6751.

Team assignments and tee-off times will be available Tuesday morning, May 18, and will be posted at various locations including, the Field House, the Pro Shop, the Bowling Center, and other recreation areas throughout the Camp Lejeune complex.

At the present time, each team is scheduled to consist of one professional and three amateurs for each low, medium, and high handicap fields.

Although a purse of $1,500 has been allocated as prize money, entry fees collected will supplement and increase this amount. Professionals and amateurs will be eligible for awards which will be determined by team standings. Cash prizes will be given to the pros and gift certificates will be awarded to the amateurs.

Keglers

The First Annual Singles Classic Bowling Tournament will get underway this Saturday, May 15. All those who have submitted entry forms have been asked to confirm their starting times as soon as possible.

Down The Middle

By Skip Vierling

Another hole-in-one leads the news this week. The "Big One" was dropped by Bill Planer, a 9 handicap golfer who has been at the game for some 15 years. He did it on 17 of the #1 course using a 4 iron. It sure sounds easy.

This weekend is Scotch Four-some Sunday again, so plan on being at the course well before 11:00 to sign up.

The final day is rapidly approaching for ending the Spring Tournament, so if you have signed up but haven't shot your 3 qualifying rounds you had better get with it. There is a possibility of an extension of this tournament but at this writing nothing firm has come to light. So be on the safe side and finish your 3 rounds now.

Have you shot an eagle lately? Broke 100 for the first time? Or maybe played a round that had an interesting side-light. If you have any news either of happenings on the CLNC courses or of CLNC golfers then let me know so we can put it in print. The number is 2-2750 AWH and if you get a busy signal then just keep trying.

News Notes

Greensboro College

Doris Broome, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. N. C. Broome of 2120 MOQ, was elected president of the senior class at Greensboro College.

Miss Broome is a senior majoring in English. She is a native of Athens, Georgia, and a graduate of Warren High School, Warren, Rhode Island.

Camp Lejeune Promenaders

The Camp Lejeune Promenaders will start a new adult instruction class tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The lessons will be held at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center Annex and will continue for three consecutive Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.

There is always a professional "caller" on hand to officiate the dances. Military couples are welcome to join the fun and become expert square dancers.

Don't forget the teenage square dance classes held at Marston Pavilion every Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. They are open to all military dependents 12 years of age and up.

Group V, OWC

Group V will hold a buffet luncheon tomorrow at the Paradise Point Officer's Club. The luncheon, hosted by Mrs. R. O. Dillow and wives of the Anti-Tank Bn., will consist of curried chicken with condiments, green salad, rolls, coffee and a fruit sherbert, at a cost of $1.50 per person. The social hour will begin at 11:30 followed by the luncheon at 12:15 p.m.

Mrs. H. V. Martin, Chairman of Group V, announces that there will be a demonstration of floral arrangements.

All members of the Officers' Wives Club are invited to attend. Reservations will be made by the group callers.

TOPS Club

The recently formed Lejeune TOPS Club met at the Midway Park Community Center on Monday, May 2. Mrs. Carol Odom was "Queen" for the month of April and received the TOPS Charm for the most weight lost for the month. Mrs. Leah Newcomb was runner-up.

Service Wives who are interested in the Lejeune TOPS Club (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) may call Carol Odom at 353-2744 for further information. The Club meets at the Midway Park Community Center each Monday at 7 p.m.

TT ladies win

In Saturday's game with the Knox Trailer Park team, the Tarawa Terrace Ladies' Softball Team won with a score of 31-4.

The team is anxious to play any other women's team in the area. They are coached by SSgt. Emil Sanchez who can be reached at base Ext. 7-3932.

Art Exhibit

Camp Lejeune dependent schools annual art exhibit will be held at Brewster School May 18, 19 and 20 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Also an evening showing will be presented Wednesday evening, May 19th, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Dining, dancing & singing Hawaiian style, May 22

Hawaiian or casual attire will be the order of the evening on May 22, as the Paradise Point Club goes Native for an enchanted gathering for farewells and fun.

"Roast Pig" heads the pertinent menu, and those who aren't convinced by the dinner that they're dining at the Royal Hawaiian, will be certain that they're "on the island" as the floor show begins.

Johnny Pineapple and his troupe, fresh from New York where they starred at the Stork Club, will fill the evening with the magic of Old Hawaii in dance and song.

Those "wahines" (wives) whose "kanes" (husbands) will be over the "Big Water" are especially invited to attend, since this evening is a wives' function and will include the installation of the new club officers for 1965-66. This is a combined effort of all OWC groups and is the time for you to make your farewells for the summer months.

So, don your brightest skirts and dresses, your prettiest flowers, and join the fun in fabulous Hawaii.

Aloha until the 22nd.

FAIR WEATHER FEMMES—Pictured are just some of the models and a few of the delightful fashions shown by Group VIII, OWC, during their final luncheon held last Thursday. The luncheon menu was Baked Swiss Steak dinners with a strawberry parfait dessert. Special guests on hand to take part in this farewell get-together were: Mrs. Bowser, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Bouker, Mrs. Weir and Mrs. Harrington. The group will reform sometime in September.

CODE OF THE U.S. FIGHTING MAN

I am an American fighting man. I serve in the forces which guard my country and our way of life. I am prepared to give my life in their defense.

A member of the Armed Forces is always a fighting man. As such, it is his duty to oppose the enemies of the United States regardless of the circumstances in which he may find himself, whether in active participation or as a prisoner of war.

SAFETY AND COURTESY are the guide words when riding a bicycle says Timmy P. Mills, left, as he accepts the Savings Bond from Colonel T. S. Ivey.

WSI Meeting

The Water Safety Instructors Association will be holding a meeting on Wednesday, May 19 at 7 p.m. at the Area 5 swimming pool, Bldg. 540.

What to do until an emergency happens

Emergencies have practically no sense of fair play. And almost always pick the worst possible time to happen.

People seem to prefer the day your insurance lapses to trip on your sidewalk, for example.

And the car usually waits until your bank account registers empty before demanding expensive repairs.

There's no fighting it. But you can be ready. By tucking away some reserve funds in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds, themselves, are emergency proof. You can't lose the money you invest in them, even if fire, flood, robbers or plain carelessness causes you to lose the Bonds.

And when something expensive happens, you can just take them into any bank and get yourself solvent again.

In the meantime, Uncle Sam uses your Bond dollars to handle other urgent matters, like taking care of your freedom.

Buy Bonds where you bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Get yourself really prepared and you might even discourage a few emergencies from ever happening.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Wading through contracts no job for the amateur

Every enlistee who enters the Marine Corps contract. For some it may be the first contract they ever signed. But odds are against it being the last therein lies a potential problem, because it will rare day when a Marine will ever again encounter

Contract so straight-forward and simple as the enlistment contract.

Basically, a contract is a written, legally binding agreement between two or more parties. One party agrees to do something and the other party agrees to do something else in return. In the military enlistment contract, the enlistee agrees to serve in the armed forces for a prescribed amount of time and to follow all lawful orders given to him by his designated superiors. In return, the parent service agrees to pay him, feed and house him and release him from duty at the end of the contract.

The problem with many other contracts is that they are couched in such technical terminology that the average person has a hard time fathoming just what it is he's being asked to sign.

The importance of knowing what you're signing can't be overstressed. Proof was illustrated recently when a group of people were given formal contracts, asked to read them carefully and sign if they agreed to the provisions. The contracts, many of which were signed and returned, evidenced the signer's willingness to have his head amputated "in the interests of medical research."

In the strictest legal sense, the signers might well have found themselves being waltzed off to the operating table if the contracts had been offered in a serious project. However, it was merely a test to see how carefully people read before they sign.

A service member who signs a contract he doesn't understand may find himself almost as much troubled because he is a service man has an ace in the hole.

Every military installation any size provides a legal assistance officer. These officers are highly trained in legal matters and one of their functions is explaining contracts and offering advice possible pitfalls in their provisions. The wise service man will enter no serious contract without checking it thoroughly with his legal assistance officer.

It is equally important servicemen to insist that IS a written contract in serious transactions, verbal promises of a salary are never legally binding if there is the slightest promise will be fulfilled the serviceman should that they be put in writing.

Then the serviceman may take the agreement legal assistance officer, checked out, and he has done all he can to protect himself.
