10,000 Marines To Pay Honor

General O. R. Simpson Takes Command Apr. 12

The 2d Marine Division has invited the public to witness one of this year's most colorful military functions in eastern North Carolina.

On April 12, at 10:30 a.m., more than 10,000 combat-clad Division Marines will mass on the Camp Lejeune parade field to pay honors to their old and new commanding generals.

Brigadier General Ormond R. Simpson will assume command of the "Follow Me" Division from MajGen. William J. Van Ryzin. General Van Ryzin, who has commanded the 2d Division since October 1963, has been assigned to duty at Headquarters Marine Corps.

The public will get a first hand look at the East Coast's "Force in Readiness." From the stands they will be able to observe all the military pomp and ceremony connected with a Division change of command. Cannons will roar in a gun salute to the departing commander, and again to welcome Gen. Simpson.

Aircraft from MCAS, Cherry Point, and MCAF New River will dip their wings over the parade field in a salute as the finale to the colorful ceremony. The entire ceremony will last a little over an hour.

Many of North Carolina's leading business, civic, and political figures have also been invited to attend. Top ranking military commanders on the East Coast will be in the reviewing stand.

Marine military policemen will be on hand to direct persons who are unfamiliar with the Camp Lejeune complex to the parade field and parking areas.

BrigGen. O. R. Simpson

This will be the third time in almost 30 years of Marine Corps service that Gen. Simpson, a native of Corpus Christi, Texas, has served with the 2d Marine Division. The first time was as a lieutenant, when he commanded a company in the 8th Marine Regiment in November 1940, at San Diego. Years later, in January 1952, as a colonel, he rejoined the Division as regimental commander of the 6th Marine Regiment at Camp Lejeune.

Herbert J. Sweet Named SgtMaj. Of Marine Corps

WASHINGTON, April 2 — Herbert J. Sweet has been named to succeed Sergeant Major Thomas J. McHugh as Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps. Sgt. Maj. Sweet's selection was announced today by General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Sgt. Maj. Sweet is the fourth Marine to be named to this senior enlisted billet since it was established in 1957.

He will arrive here this summer to replace Sgt. Maj. McHugh, who has held the post since June 1962. McHugh will be assigned to another Marine Corps activity to be announced at a later date.

The new Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1937. He reports here from the Third Marine Division, where he is the Division Sergeant Major.

The Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps serves on the personal staff of the Commandant, and accompanies him on his official trips. He is advisor to the Commandant on all matters pertaining to enlisted Marines. Outgoing Sgt. Maj. McHugh stated that, in his view, his primary job is "to feel the pulse of an organization." He does this by talking to as many enlisted men as possible on all trips to Marine Corps installations.

The Sergeant Major is a link in communication between the enlisted Marine and the Commandant. He keeps the Commandant informed on the feelings, suggestions and recommendations made by men during informal talks with the Sergeant Major.

The outgoing Sergeant Major estimated that he traveled 150,-

000 miles in 1964, while visiting and talking with enlisted Marines.

The Marine Corps is the only U. S. Military Service that has a senior enlisted billet such as Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps. A selection board, composed of Marine Corps General Officers, submits nominations to the Commandant for the post. The Commandant then makes the final selection.

Others who have held the post since its establishment are: Sergeant Major Wilbur Bestwick (1957-1959), Sergeant Major Francis D. Rauber (1959-1962), and Sergeant Major McHugh.

FT Marines Take Part Gemini Space Project

When Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young blasted into orbit in their GEMINI spacecraft March 23, 14 Marines from two Force Troops units are on hand to assist in the recovery operations.

Force Troops Marines who participated in the GEMINI recovery operations members of the 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn. and 2d LCO. Marines from Force Troops participated in the project were: C. M. Darracott, GySgt. Sutton, SSgt. L. E. Hayden, J. C. Brownell and E. S. Corporals R. M. Hoger, J. E. Rice, W. C. Miller, M. G. Cook, and Lance Corporals M. W. Zebrowski, P. J. Sanchez of the 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn. Representatives from 2d ANGLICO were Lance Corporals J. D. E. and G. W. Wilson and P. S. Hanks.

Men were sent to Cape Kennedy two weeks prior to the scheduled shot to assist in shall-water recovery operations connected with the GEMINI project. They took with them an L-1 (Landing Vehicle Reduced, Recovery) for use in project. They borrowed it from Company "B", Amphibian Tractor Bn., Ft. Jacksonville, Fla. Their mission in the operation was to pick up the GEMINI craft in the shallow water that surrounds the Cape Kennedy area in the event that an emergency presented itself in the early seconds of the space flight. Such an emergency would have required jettisoning the spacecraft in a shallow water area where the recovery ships would not have been able to penetrate.

To accomplish their mission the men had to adapt the R-1's for safe waterborne recovery of the GEMINI spacecraft. The craft, without such an adaptation, is capable of lifting the weight of the spacecraft out of the water, but this additional weight forces the bow of the tractor beyond the safe operating limits.

A large inflatable rubber tank was attached to the bow of the tractor which enabled it to lift the 4,000 pound spacecraft safely. The air tank is similar to that used to haul gasoline behind tanks and trucks.

The Marines from 2d ANGLICO are radio operators who, with UHF radios, kept the amphibian tractors in contact with all phases of the space shot.

Final Elements Of 4th MEB Depart On Quick-Kick VII

Final elements of the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade (MEB) departed April 2 by motor convoy and helicopter for Morehead City, N. C.

At Morehead City they boarded ships of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet for transportation to Vieques Island, about 50 miles southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, in preparation for a beach assault there in conjunction with exercise QUICK KICK VII. D. Day is scheduled for April 9.

QUICK KICK VII is a joint service exercise utilizing more than 3,500 Marines of the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point complex.

Men Behind The Scene

The All-Marine Boxing Championship at Camp Lejeune is over. The noise has subsided. The excitement has fizzled. The victors are basking in the warm glow of a reputation well earned, while the losers have learned that special lesson that is carried in the heart of one who knows what it means to face defeat.

You might say the spotlight during the All-Marine Tournament was focused on the boxers—and rightly so, for that is where it primarily belongs. However, if you looked into the corners, who might see that a bit of the limelight shone on some of the most experienced and prominent men in service boxing—THE COACHES.

They are the men BEHIND the men. We hope it is not too late to thank the men responsible for some of the finest boxing teams in the Corps:

Ray Rogers

Ray Rogers, Lejeune's coach, has been in the ring, both as a gladiator and mentor, for 18 years. He has worked with top Leatherneck contenders in that time, and fought quite a few of them when he was campaigning as a light-welterweight.

Al Santiago

Another corner man of repute is Al "Rocky" Santiago. Now a trainer for the local mitts, Santiago had more than 200 fights as an amateur.

Harry Schroeder

Harry Schroeder, who cornered for the fighters in the tournament who weren't part of a team (Albany, Ga., Philadelphia, etc.) used to battle in the heavyweight class. He has done a lot of coaching, and had the Hawaii team last year. Schroeder is stationed at Camp Geiger.

Freddie Lenn

Of course the best known figure in the entire tournament was Camp Pendleton's Freddie Lenn. Lenn has more than 30 years in the game, and has left his mark. As a pro he was a top contender. As a coach he has worked in nearly every national tournament known. In international competition he has coached in the Pan American Trials, the CISM Games, and the 1964 Olympics.

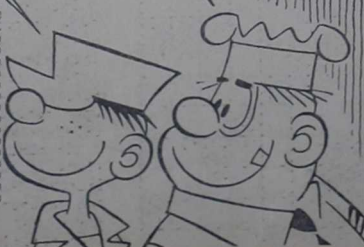

These men, though not pushing leather any more, had a great deal of influence in the tournament competition, and had a lot to do with making this year's affair one of the best, most hotly contested events in recent years.

VOICE OF LEJEUNE

Dear Editor:

After having lived aboard this Base for a year and having seen just how little people think of their neighbors rights I feel that an article like the one I am submitting might bring some thought on a much abused subject.

When the opportunity presents itself and you move into a new neighborhood you can definitely increase your new neighbor's benefits by practicing the following steps:

1. Put your children out to play each morning and do not check them all day. After all if the neighbors have to check their own what is a few more for them to check.

2. Train your "Kids" to play in other yards. This prevents wear and tear on their own toys and makes your own yard so much quieter.

3. Purchase your "Kids" tools so that they can assist Base Maintenance by removing sections of brickwork and poke holes in screens.

4. Be sure that your husband brings home enough trenching tools so that all the "Kids" can help to dig holes in the neighbors yards.

5. Train your "Kids" to run their bikes and toys along the side of that neighbor's new car. In no time at all it will look just like your old one.

6. Ensure that your "Kids" play under the windows of any sleeping infants. After all why should they sleep if your kids don't.

7. Purchase one large dog. The only place for him better than a farm is your new neighborhood. He can run loose and eat tidbits from all of the garbage cans.

8. This dog can save money for the neighbors as they need not buy garbage cans since he willingly spreads garbage equally throughout the neighborhood anyway. They no longer need buy alarm clocks as he will howl at sunrise waking all around within six blocks anyway.

9. Your dog can save people from having to purchase fertilizer as obviously who needs it with him around and this "fertilizer" helps bacteria to grow so that the toddlers can play in it and catch all of their diseases early in life.

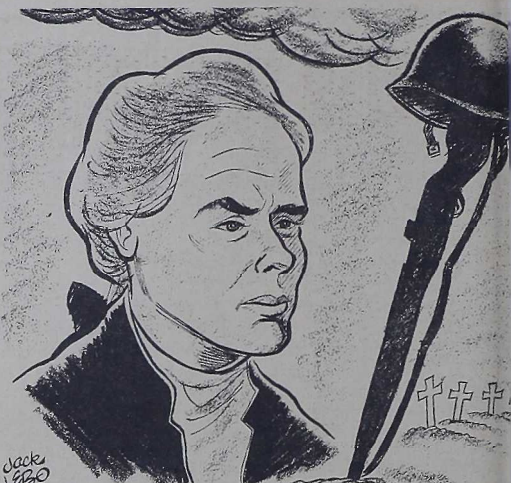

10. And when all of this is accomplished laugh it off cause before long you will be transferred and you can help another new neighborhood somewhere else.

Carl R. Noyes, Captain USMC
Camp Lejeune.

Traffic Safety

There is a definite relationship between traffic law violations and traffic accidents and all drivers are reminded of the fact that laws were made for their protection and not to stand in their way. The following basic set of rules should be followed by every motorist:

1. Know and obey all traffic laws.
2. Adjust your speed to the condition of the road, weather and traffic.
3. Always be ready to give up your right of way to avoid an accident.
4. Do not pass on hills or curves and never cut in sharply after passing.
5. Do not hog the road.
6. Heed traffic signs and signals—they are for your protection.

"GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH."

Military Oath Echoes Patrick Henry's Plea

"... Give me liberty, or give me death!" is one of the most famous statements ever made in the history of the United States.

At a meeting in Richmond, Va., March 23, 1775, a 39-year-old orator was trying to convince revolutionary conventioners that there was only one course of action for them to follow in their fight to gain independence from Great Britain.

The man was Patrick Henry, governor of Virginia and the most eloquent orator in the cause of the American Revolution.

Within a month after his plea before the Virginia Provincial Convention, British and colonial forces were "having at it" at Concord and Lexington.

Since that time, many Americans have echoed his words at various times and places—usually in time of strife.

As members of the armed forces, we too have these words brought to our minds at least once in our lives. We may not have been aware of the words have given them meaning when we took oaths of allegiance to the United States upon joining the armed forces.

Men and women, enlisted or commissioned, have repeated the sacred words "I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic." By these words we are pledging our lives to the belief, "Death before Dishonor."

The words we repeat at our enlistment ceremony are often passed off as "something appropriate" for the occasion, in truth we are telling our enemies and friends that we are echoing Patrick Henry's plea "... Give me liberty, or give me death!"

Chaplain's Corner

For thousands of years men have gone "down to the sea in ships". They have taken the great deep and utilized its resources for power, for food, for propulsion and for relaxation. Nothing is more calming to the soul of man than the sight of water on a bright and warm day, the quiet and solemnity of the blue and the cooling breeze that causes a ripple to crease this beautiful glassy picture that lies before us. Every "man of the sea" wishes his shipmates and friends the mariners' blessings of "fair skies, calm seas"...

We are men of the sea. We are American men of the sea. We are men with a mission and purpose. We are men with bright futures and glorious pasts. We should be happy men!

Your Jewish shipmates will soon observe the Passover Holiday Season which recounts the biblical story of the Crossing of the Red Sea by the Ancient Hebrews many thousands of years ago. Its waves were high, its waters deep. A redeemed people dedicated to the Service of God left captivity to seek fair skies and they faced a vicious sea. They looked before them and saw the angry waters. They looked behind them and saw the pagan armies. They had to make their choice.... the sword or the sea?

The children of Israel into the midst of the sea the Lord divided the waters "and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand and on their left". It was faith in God that they walked freedom on dry land in the midst of the sea. They sought skies and through faith in their calm seas.

This coming holy season many of us away from home loved ones. We are filled with sadness as we think of our families and relatives at home wish that we could be there. If we raise our eyes, we see the colors waving in fair skies. We cannot stop now and back. We must walk on and with faith in our mission as of peace, through readiness war, and with the fervent belief that we are children of God, indicated always to principle freedom for all people.

Your search for God, quest for peace, and your pliancy in prayer will not be easy. Many times the waves of frustration tower over us if to threaten our very breath of life. You have the potential you have the past, you have the opportunity for success today... the future is up to you. With faith in God, you too can find... FAIR SKIES AND CALM SEAS.

Shot Down By Rebel Fire

Marine Pilot Killed In Viet Nam Raid

MAG 16, DA NANG, VIETNAM, March 31—A series of four helicopter assaults, with U. S. Marine pilots supporting Vietnamese Forces, accounted for 25 Viet Cong killed and 55 captured. During the engagement a U. S. Marine pilot was killed when his UH34D helicopter was shot down by rebel small arms fire.

The attacks began on March 26, when the Da Nang based Leathernecks flew north to Hue Citadel. One-hundred-eighty soldiers of the famed Black Panther Company embarked on 14 Marine troop-transport helicopters for the initial strike.

Lieutenant Colonel Norman G. Ewers, lead his squadron into two landing zones (LZ) near the Hamlet of Dai Nal, six-miles southwest of Quang Tri. Rebels hidden in the brush and wearing camouflage uniforms bounded to their feet to open fire as the rotary-aircraft descended.

A brief but fierce skirmish ensued as Marines returned the VC fire. PFC Albert P. Montell, a machine gunner said, "We almost landed on a guerrilla. He was so well hidden that I didn't see him until he jumped up and pointed his rifle at the chopper. I opened fire."

Completing their mission, the Marines went on to Quang Tri where a reserve force of 173 Vietnamese of the 1st Division were waiting.

At 9:30 a. m. the reserves were committed to the operation when they were helilifted to the first landing area. Marines also assisted by evacuating Vietnamese wounded to Hue.

Released from their morning mission the pilots returned to Da Nang just in time to embark on their second engagement of the day. The operation centered around 76 members of the 11th Rangers who were flown about eight miles southwest of Da Nang.

Seven transport choppers escorted by two armed 'copters settled into the zone and received no VC resistance, although they were fired on while airborne just north of where they landed the troops.

On March 28, a flight of 16 Marine "Birds" and four Army "Hueys" headed for strike number three. They loaded aboard 160 Vietnamese soldiers at Quang Nam province headquarters.

Captain Marvin "Buck" Crowdis, lead his flight into the first of two LZ's near the hamlet of Thuong Phouc.

Simultaneously, the second flight lead by Captain Vincent L. Falzarano, landed near Tu Phay Tay. Both areas are 15 miles southwest of Da Nang. Heavy rebel small arms and automatic weapons fire was encountered at both landing sites.

A chopper flown by Captain William D. Reynolds, was hit in the engine while flying at an altitude of 500 feet. "Displaying calm and superior airmanship the captain managed to auto-rotate into an open area for a crash landing," said flight leader Crowdis.

Reynolds was killed shortly after the landing but the remainder of the crew was uninjured and was immediately evacuated from the crash site.

A unit of Vietnamese was flown into defend the aircraft from the VC, who were within 100 yards of the chopper. The 'copter was stripped and destroyed and the soldiers brought out of the area.

In the afternoon LtCol. Ewers led a 19-plane flight for the final assault of the day. The 11th Rangers were disembarked some eight miles southwest of Da Nang. Enemy fire was returned by Army escorts during the mission.

2d Topo Boasts 100% Enrollment In Off-Duty Study

Second Topographic Co., Force Troops, in keeping with the President's policy of furthering knowledge through increased education, boasts a 100% record of correspondence course enrollment.

The 98-man-company is subscribing to 107 "write-in" courses varying from lessons in art appreciation to MCI courses on the Marine Non-Commissioned Officer and principles of surveying.

The company is composed of a photographic mapping platoon, survey platoon and photographic section plus supporting units.

After joining the company, each man spends a probation period of on-the-job training as a topographic draftsman, cartographic draftsman, map compiler, photo topographer, surveyor computer or one of the many other highly skilled jobs in the company.

Sergeant James L. Magoun, as Education NCO and Operations Chief, explains to each new member of the company the many correspondence courses available and how they can be of benefit in preparing for a technical school.

Due to the technical nature of the jobs in Topo Co., a great deal of emphasis is placed on additional education.

In announcing the "President's Choice" program, President Johnson stated, "The history of our times and the efforts of this Administration to meet the challenges of today are graphically expressed in photographs now being made. Photography can show with peculiar power that government is personal, that we are concerned with human beings, not statistics."

In memorandum to heads of executive departments and agencies, President Johnson requested that on the first of each month, three photographs taken in their divisions of the government, be submitted for screening by an outstanding group of photographers.

Photographs which most powerfully portray the problems of America and the efforts to meet them were requested. "It is my hope that in time these photographs will be placed in exhibitions and gathered in a book which will capture the spirit of our time," the President said.

Sergeant Stibbens, a 28-year-old journalist, was named Military Photographer of the Year for 1964 and as a result of his two year tour of duty with Pacific Stars and Stripes, was awarded the Bronze Star for "meritorious service." During his tour with the Stars and Stripes, he made three trips to the Republic of Viet-Nam and it was on one of these when he took the photograph of MSgt. Johnson. He is currently serving on the staff of Leatherneck magazine.

Sergeant Johnson, presently stationed in Okinawa, has served in the Army for 23 years.

Sept. 4 - 6 Navy Marine Corps At World's Fair

When the World's Fair opens in New York this month the 10-man U. S. Marine Corps World's Fair unit will be helping the Navy-Marine exhibit.

September 4, 5, and 6 are designated Marine days by Fair officials, appearances by the Marine Drum and Bugle Corps and Marine Corps Drill Team from MB, Washington, will be featured during this three period.

The special World's Fair Marine unit, led by Maj. L. Reece, will help man the Marine Corps exhibit in Travel and Transportation Pavilion, as they did last year.

In addition, a "Cine-Cruiser" will be in the Marine Corps exhibit area. The device will project a 35mm color movie through a special 142-degree lens on a curved surface of a large ispheric screen. The audience stands within a few feet of the screen, which nearly surrounds them. With almost the field of vision occupied by the picture, they are given the feeling of actually being in the action.

Viet-Nam

Struggle for Freedom

Q. What were the provisions of the 1954 Geneva agreements and how have they worked?

The agreements, signed by representatives of France and the Viet Minh, established a truce line at the 17th parallel, with Communists to the north; non-Communists and French to the south. The agreement called for a complete end to hostilities. Neither zone was to be used as a military base to resume hostilities or further aggressive policies.

A separate declaration of the conference stated the truce line should not be permanent and called for nationwide elections in two years, under supervision of an International Control Commission (ICC) created to supervise the truce.

The Communists assumed the South would quickly collapse and come under Hanoi domination. They also considered the election provision would favor them, since they controlled the more populous zone. In case neither of these plans worked, they also left thousands of arms and munition caches hidden in the South, along with large numbers of Viet Minh military personnel ordered to go underground. These actions demonstrate their contempt for the Geneva agreements from the beginning.

By 1956, South Viet-Nam had established itself as a free republic determined to resist outside pressures and follow its own course. Government statements made between 1954 and 1956 made it clear the south did not feel obliged to take part in elections that were not free and thus would greatly favor the north. The inability of the ICC to enforce other parts of the agreements showed that free elections could not be assured in the north. Consequently, South Viet-Nam refused to agree to elections which could only result in its absorption into a totalitarian state.

TRAINING

GySgt. Benson performs a technical inspection of projection equipment.

By PVT. S. G. POTTER

In the beginning there was the Marine Corps. The Marine Corps had a problem, however. It had many red-blooded, high-spirited men, but the majority were untrained in the art of war.

The problem that confronted the "Old Marine Corps" was to teach these men what they had to know when it came time to protect their country and its heritage.

It soon became evident that the only effective way to teach the art of combat was to use a practical application approach. With orders in their hands and knowledge in their minds, our ancestral leaders assembled their troops on local squares from coast to coast. After many hard weeks of work and training, however, little progress was made.

Finally, one young officer realized that the only way his men could grasp the idea that he was trying to teach was to conduct classes in which he could present the over-all picture of combat techniques. For each class he conducted, he had to draw charts, diagrams, graphs, and maps. He came to the conclusion that most of his time was taken up in preparing the material for his classes and little time was devoted to the actual presentation. But he took this in stride and continued this practice until he retired.

Today, Things Are Different

Nowadays, instructors in the Marine Corps are not confronted with this problem. All the instructor has to do is dial or visit the TAL office and order any chart, illustration or film he needs to conduct his classes. Within minutes, the instructor has obtained the material he needs and is on his way to the classroom.

But where does the instructor call? What has changed since the time when the first classes were being taught and the present? The answer lies in the Training Aids Library.

"The finest support"

If you were to visit this building, you might think that it is an art studio, a motion picture studio, a library, a school house, a radio and TV repair shop, a printing shop, and a business office all rolled into one massive operation. Basically you would be right.

TAL, as it is nicknamed, is composed of five departments, which are inter-related and function together to produce and maintain every type of training aids used in the Marine Corps. These departments are as follows: (1) The Issuing and Receiving Department, (2) The Film Department, (3) Graphic Training Aids, (4) The Art Department, and (5) Projection Equipment Repair.

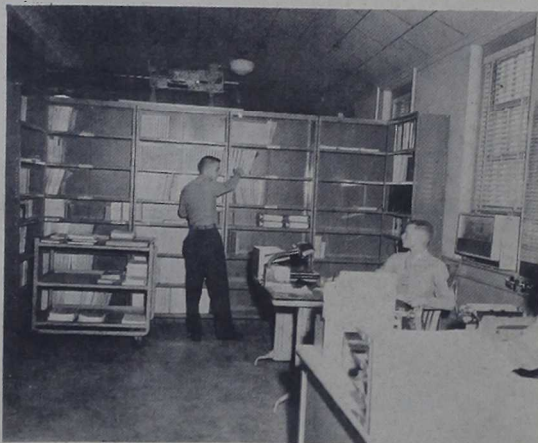

Issuing And Receiving Department

The department that most people see is the Issuing and Receiving Department. This is the office which gets incoming orders for training aids and also distributes the material which has been requested.

From the time an order arrives, to the time the requestor picks it up, many things must be done. If the material is in stock, it is the Issuing and Receiving Department's job to see that the material requested is in order and in good condition. If the material requested is not in stock, this office will get it from other sources.

TAL Catalog

Every two years, this office distributes a Training

TAL stocks over 8,000 manuals on General Military Subjects.

Aids Catalog which lists all available material instructors can use for their classes. This volume which is over 200 pages long, contains a complete list of everything from films and graphic training aids, to projection equipment and special devices.

Audio-Visual

The Issuing and Receiving Department also conducts an Audio-Visual Operators Class every week. This 16-hour class, held every Thursday and Friday, is open to anyone. After completion of this class, the student is qualified to operate most of the projection and tape recording equipment used by the Marine Corps.

The staff keeps busy at TAL.

Issuing and Receiving Department.

TAL has a large stock of audio-visual equipment, including projectors, video cameras, and 35mm slides. These materials are available to instructors for their classes.

Graduates of the Audio-Visual Operators School would use the equipment in the TAL. That's the way the TAL department works.

This machine produces 16mm film per day.

ment has a collection of over 10,000 films. These films cover almost every facet of Marine Corps activity: General Military Subjects, Technical Subjects, USAFI Courses, general education and entertainment films.

Due to the fact that these films cost anywhere from $50.00 to $1,000.00 each, they must be kept in top condition to insure their longevity. The film department staff, therefore, devotes most of its time in maintaining these films.

Everytime a film is returned to TAL, it is cleaned and repaired if damaged. Two large machines are used to clean and splice the film before it is returned to the stock. According to GySgt. A. J. Benson, NCOIC, these machines process over 70-100 films per day.

Strip Films

In addition to the film library, TAL also has a collection of over 2,500 strip films. Over 10% of these films, which are similar to slides, come with records which describe each picture. These strip films also cover such topics as GMS and Technical subjects.

Graphic Aids

The third department of TAL is the Graphic Training Aids Department. As with the film department, the graphic training aids department is a well stocked and essential part of the over-all operation of TAL. Over 500 graphic training aids are available to the instructor.

These training aids cover both GMS and technical subjects.

Reproduction Facilities

If a graphic training aid is not in stock, it can be produced on a machine called the Ozalid Machine. This machine can reproduce any graphic training aid that the instructor can dream up. If, for example, the instructor requests a diagram of a new weapon, and it is not in stock, one of the artists in the art department will draw the picture on a transparent piece of paper called a master. Once the master is completed, it is placed in the Ozalid Machine, and within minutes a graphic training aid of any size is produced. This machine produces over 350 ozalids or charts and 175 transparencies per week.

Art Department

The department which supplies the graphic training aids department with masters for the ozalid machine and supplies the tri-command with all types of illustrations, drawings, and charts is the Art Department. This department produces art which has not been produced commercially. The art department has a staff of seven illustrators and one draftsman. These artists, with their paint brushes or pencils in hand, spend the entire day painting or drawing anything from tanks to cartoons.

Repair Department

The fifth department is the Projection Equipment Repair Department. This department was set up in accordance with Base Order 4710.7 for the technical inspection of all audio-visual equipment in the tri-command. This department is equipped with all the necessary equipment to repair most malfunctions in projectors or tape recorders. If the equipment is severely damaged, it is forwarded to the factory for repair or replacement.

The Training Aids Library at Camp Lejeune is by far, one of the most up to date and fully stocked libraries in the Marine Corps. If you are interested in seeing it for yourself, tours are available at anytime by contacting GySgt. Benson to make an appointment.

Local Fighters Lift Jr. National Crown

The Camp Lejeune Marines' Boxing Team, fresh off a win in the All-Marine Tourney, captured the team trophy and six individual firsts at the 1965 Junior National Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Championships, last week in High Point, N. C. Heavyweight Ken Norton and Light Welterweight Harrison Payne led the Leatherneck battlers to their ninth team win in ten outings.

Fighting at the City Lake Pavilion in High Point, the high riding Devil Dogs ran into some stiff competition on the final night, as the fighters from the Police Athletic League (PAL), Philadelphia stopped two of Lejeune's fighters.

Thurman Hayes, a newcomer to the Lejeune squad, posted a first round knockout against David Neilson of Charlotte, N. C. Hayes, a muscular 112 pound puncher, joined the team after the completion of the All Marine bouts.

Mulett Grabs Eighth

Fast-of-foot Ray Mulett, Camp Lejeune's Featherweight boxer, used his darting speed and his swift left hook to stop George Bachelor of Georgia in the second round of their scheduled three round bout. This ran Mulett's win total to eight. He is also this year's All-Marine Featherweight Champ.

Lejeune's third win of the evening came, when Bob Lozada won a unanimous decision from Al Mussie of Philadelphia. Mussie in an earlier fight, stopped D'dog's Don Reid. The powerful Philadelphian was out-boxed and out-classed by the All-Marine Lightweight kingpin.

Payne Streaks

Harrison Payne, who turned out to be one of Coach Ray Rogers' pleasant surprises this year, grabbed a unanimous decision from Jackie Foy of Charlotte, N. C. On the road to the finals, the southpaw swinger stopped two victims via the knockout route. Foy, who recently moved up from the novice class to the open division, couldn't cope with the flashy left hand of Payne.

The Marine squad gained

their fifth win, when Art Redden turned the tables on his old adversary, Danny Hogg of Charlotte, Redden, who was stopped by Hogg in the first round of last year's tournament, came back and knocked out the strong light heavyweight in 1:05 of the second round. Hogg's lights went out, when he walked into a left hook to the head, followed up by a right to the chin and another left to the head.

Norton Wins Again.

In the evening's finale, Heavyweight Ken Norton knocked out in :54 of round one, Henry Crump of Philadelphia. Norton's winning streak is now at 10. The powerful local slugger dropped Crump with a straight right hand to the head. Crump was then met with a punishing left hook, which sent him to the canvas. The Lejeune Heavyweight was named outstanding fighter of the tourney.

Philadelphia's William Price took split decision from Lejeune's Charlie Davis in the Bantamweight finals. William Lloyd, also of Philadelphia, didn't show any brotherly love to Marine Floyd Stevens. Although Stevens came storming back in the third round, Lloyd was awarded the decision by his strong first two rounds. Stevens was awarded the Sportsmanship Award.

Marshall Fortune, Lejeune Welterweight, lost a tough decision to Colan Austin of High Point. The home town favorite didn't receive the home town cheers at the end of the bout however, Fortune was given a standing ovation for his fine showing.

The addition of a few key ball players, the hot shot fast breaking Division squad will be the team to count on in this year's hoop finale. A large part of the burden will fall on the shoulders of their sharpshooting guard Charlie Heard. The team's leading scorer, Dennis Perkins, will be out for the tournament. The double nation tourney is scheduled to run from April 12-16, all games being played at the Goettge Memorial House.

Down The Middle

By Skip Vierling

This week we devote to the ladies. Those dedicated gals of Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, who grace the greens and fairways of our courses good weather or bad.

Two teams of the "Fair Sex" will journey to Greenville on April 8 to play in the Pro/Lady Tournament with Jim Gantz and Joe Inman. Those who qualified were Edna Kinder, Lois Scott, Kay Burke, Lola Dyer, Theida Conrad and Lunette Beale. Good luck girls. Lets bring home the bacon for Camp Lejeune.

Lola Dyer took this year's Del Kinney Trophy and was presented the revolving annual award last Tuesday at the golf course. Lola is rapidly becoming the finest of all the fems on the local links.

Ringer Tournament winners were also announced last Tuesday and presented with awards. Lola Dyer with Lois Scott captured the A flight, Helen Flory and Jean Collier walked off with B flight honors and Jean Corbett and Ruth Hammerbeck cornered the C flight market. The team of Mary Sue Wyss and Fran Robertson won the D flight section.

I must make mention of one gentleman in the distaff column, and that is Mr. Walt Burrow.

I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Burrow on the course last week and found out that he is a beginner and just taking his third lesson. The truly wonderful thing about Mr. Burrow is the fact that he has been playing for years young How about that?

Don't make any plans to see the #1 course this Sunday, at least not until 3 p.m. There will be a Tri-Base, CLNC, Camp Point, Quantico, match game and they must be given serious consideration. Never feel that you have been cheated of anything, when we have the honor of hosting a major tournament; rather, take pride in the fact that we have a challenge course for a major event. Walk across the street and take apart the #2 layout.

Umpires Wanted

The New River Officers Association will hold a meeting on April 9, at 11:45 a.m. At the meeting, which will be held at the Goettge Memorial Field House, personnel interested in umpiring softball games throughout the quad-command this season can sign up.

Unbeaten Division Cagers Grab Tournament Laurels

Headquarters Company, 6th Marines, 2d Marine Division has captured the 1965 All Camp Lejeune Basketball Tournament, by dropping H&S Bn., MCB 70-68. Charlie Heard kept the Division floor game rolling with his accurate and timely baskets. The 5'10" backcourt performer poured 20 points through the hoop in leading his team to victory.

Aided by the steady play of teammates Dennis Jenkins and Marv Ely, the Division champs had control of the game from the opening whistle.

Division opened up fast in the early minutes of play, led by the steady shooting of Heard and Ely. As the first half ended, H&SBn, the base winners, were losing 41-27.

As the second half of play got underway, the Base team came storming back. They out-shot the hot Division squad in the early minutes of play, outscoring them 11-1. With the score at 42-38, Dennis Jenkins drove in for a quick two.

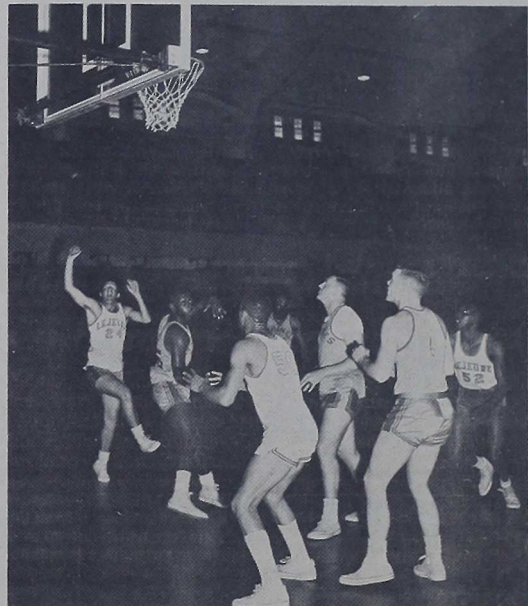

The tourney winners held a four point lead throughout most of the second half, with H&SBn only taking the lead once at 56-54.

Elmer Stone, who scored 27 points in the game, was the tourney's leading scorer with a 28.5 point average. Rick Thalman chipped in 10 points for the losers.

In the waning moments of the contest Charlie Heard hit a couple of clutch baskets, putting Division into the lead for good.

Bruno Anselcivics, center on the runner up Base squad, drove for a lay up at the end of the game, but his effort fell two points short.

Dennis Jenkins added 17 markers to the champs total,

Local Bats Quiet Wilmington Nine

Assisted with a few days of weather, the Camp Lejeune Marines Baseball Team realized on the opportunity stopped Wilmington Coltwice, 5-4 and 6-2. Dennis Jakubek and Ron Nay supplied batting power as Dick Hall and John Findlay registered second wins of the season. Friday's opener, the Devils, who now sport a 9-4 record, didn't waste any time dumping on Wilmington's Whitfield. Tom McHenry went off with a walk and then second, Joe Schratz, who bat carried the D'ogs in opening games, singled off, scoring McHenry. Er Jim Hall popped up to infield, Ron Nay ripped single to left, bringing home second. Nay moved around to base on the return throw to infield. Al Davis tapped out to the mound, and was out. Nay scored.

The locals pulled the game out of the fire in the bottom of the ninth when Jakubek, who is replacing the ailing Ken Eeles behind the plate, picked up his third single of the afternoon. Sonny Kislowksi, Lejeune's third sacker, attempted to sacrifice Jakubek to second, but Wilmington's hurler threw the ball over the outstretched reach of his second baseman. Both runners advanced. Bob Gill, pinch-hitting for John Speake, brought the tying and winning runs home with a single to center.

Saturday's contest was marred with Wilmington miscues. Four of Lejeune's runs were scored on passed balls. John Findlay gave up only six hits in registering his second win of the campaign.

Seahawks Streak

Seahawks picked up their fourth runs in the second, third, and fifth frames, went ahead of Lejeune with runs in the sixth. Er Steve Coley whiffed, Miller walked, Ray Fralton collected three hits in the all game, tapped an infield single, putting men on first second. Larry Honeycutt drove Dick Hall's seventh out victim. Elmer Maley drove the Seahawks into the lead with a single to right, scoring Miller.

Harriers Run This Sunday

The Camp Lejeune Harriers are sponsoring a Half Marathon race this Sunday, April 11 at the Goettge Memorial Fieldhouse track. Any college, high school or armed forces runners, who wish to compete in the grueling 13 mile torture test, should report to the track at 1 p. m.

The run, which will be held rain or shine, will start in the confines of the fieldhouse track and will stretch along the main road. An entry fee of $1 will be charged to all runners, in order to defray the cost of the first place trophy and the nine runner up medals.

Private First Class Ken Voss, H&SCO., 2d Medical Bn, 2d Marine Division raced across the finish line 3:39 faster than his closest rival to capture the 6.3 mile Senior division cross country run held last week at Camp Lejeune. PFC, L. Cash finished second with a 39:00 clocking while PFC, G. R. Gustafson placed third with a 39:10 timing.

The Junior division 4.4 mile race proved an exciting one, as Lt. Cpl. C. Wells of 8th Engineer Bn., turned on the steam to finish 3/10 of a second faster than PFC. R. C. Dunson of the 2d Tank Bn., with a timing of 26:49. Lt. R. W. McDermott, USNH finished third with a 27:02 clocking.

For more information on track or cross country contests, contact 1st Lt. Ed Laughon, ext 06-147, MCAF New River, or Lt. R. W. McDermott, ext. 44-313, USNH.

Division Marksmen Place High In Meet

The 2d Marine Division Rifle Team captured two first place awards and walked off with a second place in the team match last week, as the locals ventured to Cherry Point for a National Rifle Association (NRA) registered match.

Marksmanship Training Unit (MTU), Quantico, Va., outshot the Division sharpshooters by 8 points, as they fired a 984x1000 in the team match shoot.

Captain G. A. Thomas, Division's team captain, won the 600 yard slow fire competition, with a perfect 100x100 total. 1st Lt. G. J. Lehman was the only other Division winner. The local marksmen only dropped one point in registering a 99x100 in the 300 yard rapid fire match, expert division.

Sergeant M. G. Gibbs, took the runner-up title in the 200 yard off hand match with a 95x100 score. Cpl. C. E. Barry, despite his perfect score of 100x100 finished second in the 300 yard rapid fire match. His "V" count was lower than the winning total.

In the grand aggregate, Sgt. Gibbs finished second with a 388x400 total. Cpl. R. Edge from MCAS Cherry Point topped the Division shooter by 4 points.

Grant, Lee Join Forces After Century Old Strife

Time was when the name Grant or Lee was a "fightin' word"—depending on whether you were for the Union, or the Confederacy. One hundred years ago, the names were synonymous with the wide split between two warring factions.

Friday marks the 100th anniversary of the Confederate surrender at Appomattox Court House, Va. Since that day in 1865, many changes have taken place.

The War Between the States has long since ended, and with it the barriers that threw brother against brother, father against son. Grant and Lee are now names common in any corner of the South or North. The names now appear on building facades, voting ballots and parking tickets; everywhere you turn. The names no longer stir up the controversy, the animosity of a century now past.

A recent check of 2d Marine Division personnel files bears this out—at least to the extent that Lee and Grant are now serving in the same outfit; the 2d Engineer Battalion—though the two are not exactly general officers, in this instance.

The two Marines are Private First Class Frank S. Lee of Support Company, 2d Engineers, and Lance Corporal John L. Grant, of Company B—same battalion.

Another interesting paradox here is that Lee, a heavy equipment mechanic, hails from the North, (Pittsburgh), while Grant, a combat engineer, enlisted in Macon, Ga. Times definitely have changed.

Throughout the Armed Forces of the United States today, examples such as this can be seen. Today, Lee and Grant fight side by side for a common cause against a common enemy. The enmity that existed between American men during the War Between the States has been put aside and transformed into allegiance to one flag, one constitution.

It is fitting then, to reflect for a moment on the historic turn of events in April, 1865, that saw two great generals named Grant and Lee sign a paper which now allows two Marines named Grant and Lee to serve side by side under the same flag this 9th day of April, 1965.
