C-1-8 Heads For Norway In Arctic Circle Exercise

By GYSGT. JACK CHILDS

A company of Marines from the 2d Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, will be airborne to Northern Norway this week to participate in a severe winter conditioning exercise.

Titled EXERCISE COLD WINTER-65, the five-day maneuvers will involve 10,000 men, and will be conducted in the central region of Troms (Inside the Arctic circle). In addition to the Marine rifle company, units from the U. S. Army, Great Britain and Norway will take part in the exercise commanded by Norwegian Major General Paul I. Strande, Commander, Land Forces North Norway.

The 2d Marine Division will be represented by Company C, 3d Battalion, 8th Marine Regiment, under the command of Captain Paul K. Dougherty. Approximately 200 Marines of the division will be involved.

No strangers to extreme cold weather training, Company C recently completed winter maneuvers in upstate New York as part of SNOWFEX-65. For the past month the men of Company C, along with 2,000 other North Carolina-based Leathernecks, have been adapting themselves to cold weather combat survival conditions on the snow-covered slopes of Camp Drum, Watertown, N. Y.

EXERCISE COLD WINTER-65 will mark the second time in as many years that Marines of the 2d Marine Division have undergone training in Northern Norway. Last year Company I, 3d Battalion, 6th Marine Regiment took part in a 20-day maneuver, NORTHERN EXPRESS, 300 miles inside the Arctic Circle.

Testing their ability to operate under severe winter conditions along with the Marines will be one infantry and one helicopter company from the U. S. Army's 4th Armored Division, one Royal Marine Commando company and one artillery company from Great Britain and a brigade and ar-tion units from the Norwegian Army.

The Norwegian units are presently training in the area, while the British units will have pre-exercise training in the same area.

PER DIEM RATE CHANGE

The Pentagon's Per Diem Committee has recommended a change in per diem rates for military travelers who must use taxis or limousines to catch planes, trains or buses. Under old rules, per diem rates did not start until the traveler departed on the plane, train or bus. Under the proposed change, the traveler begins his per diem from the time he steps into the taxi or limousine. This means, for example, if you catch your cab before noon to catch a plane which departs at 1 p. m., you could be entitled to as much as $4.00 extra—an extra quarter day per diem.

TRAVEL MILEAGE

A safety council at Chicago's Northwestern University has claimed that the new Department of Defense ruling setting minimum travel on transfers at 300 miles a day is unsafe. The DOD ruling sets an average speed of 56 miles per hour for an 8-hour day over any and all types of roads. The Chicago group has protested to the President's Council on Highway Safety. Dr. Richard Tossell, according to NAVY TIMES has stated that the President's Council might ask Department of Defense to conduct a study on the subject.

NEW COLD WAR BILL

The Senate Veterans Affairs Subcommittee is working on hearings which might lead to a new GI bill to provide post-Korea veterans with educational assistance and home and farm loan opportunities. Senator Ralph Yarborough (D. Tex.) noted that this year marks the sixth consecutive year that such a bill has been proposed, and has pledged his support for this bill which would benefit those servicemen who entered after Jan. 31, 1955.

MARDI GRAS MARINES—The 2d Marine Division Band will journey to New Orleans, for the second time in as many years to participate in the famous Mardi Gras celebration held there each year. The band, under the direction of WO William F. Shimpf, will appear in three parades in New Orleans. The Comos Parade, held March 1 will start events rolling in the 1965 Mardi Gras, to be highlighted by the King Rex Parade Tuesday morning. Closing out their trip will be the Protecus Parade.

China CMC Tours Lejeune March 8

Lieutenant General Hao Chang YU, Commandant, Chinese Marine Corps and Col. Kui Liang CHEN, Deputy Assistant Chief of Staff, Amphibious Training Command will arrive at Camp Lejeune on March 8 for an orientation visit.

The purpose of the visit is to observe all phases of Marine Corps operations including Marine Corps staff, organizational procedures, methods and techniques. The visit will include touring the facilities of MCB, 2d Marine Division, Force Troops and the MCAF, New River.

The first Chinese Marine Corps was organized in early December 1917 as a part of the Chinese Navy.

The present Chinese Marine Corps was reactivated on September 15, 1947, the date officially celebrated as the birth of the Corps.

Upon the removal of the National Government from the China mainland to the island province of Taiwan, the Marine Corps in 1949 was reorganized into a Headquarters echelon, two LVT battalions and two brigades of two regiments each.

In August 1954, the 1st Marine Brigade conducted a successful amphibious raid on Tung-Shan Island, covering the subsequent landing and withdrawal of an army division.

Again Marine units distinguished themselves when for a period of two months in 1958, the 1st and 2d LVT Battalions kept the supply lines open by ferry operations through communist bombardment of Quemoy Island. For these operations, Marine units were presented the President's Unit Banner of Meritorious Service.

In 1959, the Corps was again reorganized to provide a FMF Headquarters to plan and direct the combatant forces under the operational control of the Chinese Navy Fleet Command.

Today, the Chinese Marine

Corps, numbering about 26,000 officers and men, exists as an integral and vital part of the Chinese Navy within the Ministry of Defense of the Republic of China.

DOD Memo Bans Sales To Juniors

The military departments are preparing regulations that would prohibit senior active duty personnel from personal commercial solicitation and sale to individuals junior in rank or grade.

In a memorandum to Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Norman S. Paul explained that such solicitation would apply at any time, on or off duty, in or out of uniform.

"This limitation includes, but is not limited to," the secretary states, "the personal solicitation and sale of life and automobile insurance, stocks, mutual funds, real estate or any other commodities, goods or services."

In the memorandum to service secretaries, Secretary Paul points out, "It is believed that the traditions of the military service do not countenance personal solicitation and sale to junior servicemen by their seniors, in situations in which the military member solicited is placed in a position of either agreeing to the purchase or of risking the displeasure of those senior in military rank."

BLT 3/8 Stages Assault For Puerto Rico VIP's

By SGT. BILL MAY

CAMP GARCIA, ISLE DE VIEQUES, P. R.—With government and military officials looking over their shoulder and four days of liberty in Jamaica behind them, Marines of Battalion Landing Team 3/8 stormed shore on this Caribbean island Feb. 17 in a demonstration of the Marine Corps' vertical assault concept.

Marine pilots in "Skyhawk" aircraft from nearby Roosevelt Roads Naval Air Station flew close air-ground support for the landing, as the Marines came ashore in amphibious tractors of the 2d Amphibious Tractor Battalion.

While the amphibious assault was being made, helicopters of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron (HMM 262) dropped the remainder of the BLT in landing zones behind the beach, thus catching the simulated enemy in a two-pronged attack.

Heading the group of officials viewing the landing was Ambassador G. Lewis Jones, presently serving as Co-ordinator, Senior Seminar on Foreign Policy, Foreign Service Institute, which is conducted by the Department of State. All the officials attending the demonstration are currently enrolled at the seminar and are on a field trip to the Caribbean.

Before today's landing, the BLT 3/8 spent four days in Jamaica, the first "liberty port" of the current cruise, which is scheduled to end in April. While in Jamaica, half the BLT visited Kingston, while the others toured Montego Bay.

UNCONCERNED ABOUT CARE—This young toddler looks like he isn't concerned about the care he'll receive at the child care center. He seems to be taking pretty good care of himself. The child care center hosted MCAF to an open house Feb. 16 after Col. E. C. Fusan, CO, MCAF, cut the ribbon officially opening the new addition. Refreshments were served throughout the day to many visitors.

Who'll Take Care Of The Marine Drop-Out?

The GLOBE has come across a set of figures that should shock all of us. Did you know that 60% of the population over 17 years of age at Camp Lejeune are adults who have never graduated from high school?

So what, you may say? How does that affect me? And if you did care, what can you do about it? These are the questions this article will try to answer, plus a few others.

Why Do Kids Drop Out of School?

In a bulletin put out by the Oregon School Boards Assn., the recipe for high school drop-outs goes something like this:

"Take one poor American boy, give him as little love as possible, kick him around a bit at home, put him with a 'scholarship teacher' who sees no hope for him, fail him once or twice, never give him more than a 'D', treat him as a number rather than as a person, don't let him feel he 'belongs' in school... Stir all these difficulties together, make him angry enough to play hooky a few times, burn him to a crisp with sarcasm, and bake for two or three years. If you want to frost this with a little juvenile delinquency, deny him a job the first 30 places he tries. If this recipe still produces a good American youth, try again."

So now you are saying to yourself "This isn't the drop-out I know. The one I know had every break there is and he still quit. Besides, we're Marines, we don't have to worry about employment or security. When or if we get out, we've learned a trade, or else we have our retirement pay to fall back on."

No matter what the reason for drop-out may be, it doesn't mean the drop-out should be denied any further opportunity of correcting his mistake.

As far as security in the Marines is concerned, your right. As long as the drop-out remains in, he's got a job and has security. But... The Marine Corps is now STRESSING the importance of education. If he's a career Marine, he's got to get on the bandwagon soon or else lose out on a possible promotion, or better still a chance to get formal training. For the Marine who gets out or retires, he still has to go to work... What happens to him?

What Happens to School Drop Outs?

If he's lucky, he can get a job, but his chances for getting a good one are slim. The Census bureau tells us that anyone with an eighth grade level of education stands to average $2,251 annually. On the other side of the coin, a high school graduate can earn an average of $5,567. That's twice as much!

Further, the drop-outs are competing with those who have graduated and chances are he will have to be employed at unskilled labor.

What Can the Drop Out Do?

Here at Lejeune, the dropouts have no excuse. The Base Education office operates an Adult High School Program at a minimum cost. Why don't more people enroll? (average enrollment is 40 per class.) Maybe it's because the drop-out doesn't know how quickly he can get a high school diploma. A drop-out, for example, who has finished 10 years of school may think that he has to face two more years of school to get a diploma. Not so. The way the system works is that a student takes an achievement test. If he gets a high score, he may be able to finish school in as little as six months. High scores on the achievement tests prove that the student has gained enough practical experience in certain areas that the Board of Education feels he needs no further study in this area.

OK, so you know how easy it is to get started toward a diploma and you may even be giving serious thought to getting started. But, what about the guy who hasn't been reached by this message. What should be done?

What Should Be Done?

Marines are noted for leadership. This is where our years of training comes in. In addition to teaching, we have an additional responsibility to see to it that others get a chance to learn. Every CO, Staff NCO and NCO who knows better should be out recruiting for the High School Adult Education Program.

Many persons who drop out of high school before graduation realize later that they have made a mistake. These individuals would return to school, if they had a chance and IF THEY WERE ENCOURAGED! They have the chance here. It's up to you to do the encouraging!

Marines have always faced up to their responsibilities. Will YOU face up to this one?

A Marine Is A Marine

By WO RALPH DEEVER

One of the plus factors sometimes overlooked in considering a Marine Corps career is the occupational prestige it affords.

The title "Marine" carries as much prestige as any... more than most.

Every Marine can recall incidents when respect came into people's eyes at sight of his uniform; or, if it happened to be in "civvies," the envious tones attending his introduction to someone: "This is Tom Jones... he's a Marine." In every such case, it mattered little what his MOS might be—Clerk, Rifleman, Driver, or whatever. The thing that classed his "AOK" was being a Marine.

His Cousin Sally or Aunt Polly might think that, as a Tank Man, he is a service station attendant. His Uncle Joe could conceivably believe, upon learning he is a Company Clerk, that he works in a privately-owned mercantile store. His mother-in-law, if told he is assigned to the Motor Pool, might proclaim triumphantly, "I told Isabelle not to waste time on that boy. Now, here he is spending all his time at the pool!"

His erstwhile school buddies might conjure up pictures of him running a casino, upon hearing that he is in charge of the recreation room. "Special Services" could very well mean to his mother that he helps out at the chapel in holiday programs or other special ceremonies. His grandfather might define his job of fire-team leader as "boss of a fire-fighting crew."

They might all make these mistakes, because, you see, the folks at home seldom look beyond the primary role of a "wearer of the green: U. S. MARINE," and, when they do, he could announce that he is a sky-hook hanger, pipe-stretcher specialist, or barber pole decorator, and they'd scarcely turn a head or lift an eyebrow.

They'd know that, as a Marine, he'd hang the highest, best, and sturdiest hooks; he'd stretch the longest, straightest, and neatest pipes; and he'd paint the tallest, brightest, and most attractive barber poles ever beheld by man.

They seem to know, instinctively, that truth of which Marines themselves must sometimes be reminded: A Marine may be "all kinds of a technician," but, first of all, HE IS A MARINE!

A Marine is a Marine is a Marine... has been, since 1775.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

Brotherhood Week will be celebrated throughout the land on Feb. 21 to 28 with special observances to stir our conscience with the light of truth and goodwill. America has often been termed as a "melting pot". I think of it as something far different. The elements that are put into a melting pot lose their original identity and are indistinguishable one from the other in the entirely new substance into which they are molded.

America is not like that. Here each element maintains its identity of race, religion, and national origin. Our democracy is built upon the harmonious relationship of its component elements, each of which maintains its individual characteristics.

It is like a great work of music, played by a great orchestra. A single strain played in unison can be only a monotonous burden upon our ears. But a score with its distinct and different notes arranged in harmony, played on instruments of vast variety, can produce a thrilling and undying musical experience. Or, it is like a masterpiece of painting, where the brilliance of individual colors, losing nothing of themselves, have been blended by the artist in a scene of lasting beauty.

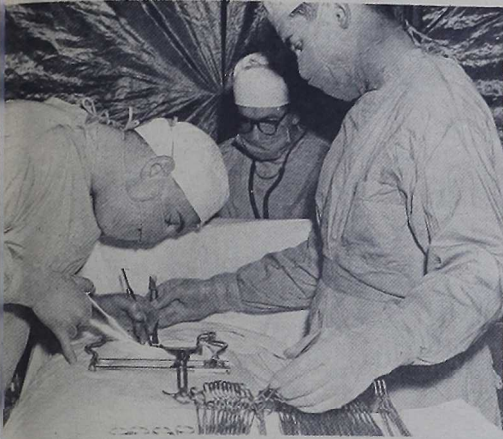

America is a composite, harmonious pattern of differences. Herein lies our strength of being, and our hope of continuing progress.

Brotherhood does not signify, by any means, similarity of likeness. Even the sons of a particular family may not be alike in appearance or thought. Yet, they are brothers, nonetheless. In a larger sense, if we believe that God is our Father, and we are His children, then no matter what or how great our differences, it must follow that we are all brothers. Indeed, differences contribute to the enrichment of life, as do varying tones to music, and varying colors to art.

In the last analysis, Brotherhood is understanding. To understand one's fellow man is to know his differences, and what makes him so. An ancient prophet of Israel once said, "Never judge a man until you yourself have come into his place." This is understanding; to be able to put yourself into the place of another.

The 2d Medical Battalion has the facilities for a staff of surgeons to perform four operations at one time.

Healing Injured Marines Job Of 2d Medical Bn.

By CPL. C. M. HOAR

Almost 98 per cent of the Marines and Sailors wounded in combat return to their units to fight again.

Credit for this exceptionally high recovery rate can be given to the medical personnel such as are now in the 2d Medical Battalion, 2d Marine Division and their counterparts throughout the world.

During World War II, the recovery rate was 97.8 per cent. Exact figures for the Korean War aren't available, but are similar according to a 2d Medical Battalion spokesman.

The 2d Medical Battalion has and four Collecting and Clearing (C&C) Companies. A C&C company is capable of supporting a Regimental Landing Team. They establish C&C stations directly to the rear of the advancing infantry units.

The C&C station is the first echelon where emergency surgery can be performed in the field. In the event of an overflow of casualties the station can be supported by Headquarters and Service Company's shock surgical teams.

Mission

The primary mission of the C&C companies is to collect casualties, and provide lifesaving surgery, give temporary hospitalization of casualties, and to provide two 30-bed clearing stations properly dispersed to passive defense concepts.

The C&C company can be separated into four detachments. Three are for detachment to various infantry battalions. The fourth will normally provide support to other elements of the division by establishing one clearing platoon in each logistic support area. The companies evacuate casualties to the rear as quickly as possible.

20 Marines Per Company

An important part of the C&C company is its 20 Marines. The Marines serve the company in many capacities. They construct the tent area, maintain the electrical supply, keep the vehicles in proper condition, drive the field ambulances, and provide the defensive perimeter. The Marines are armed with M-14 rifles, six M-60 machineguns, and two .50 caliber machineguns mounted on tripods.

A collecting platoon is divided into three units; each consists of one ambulance driver and seven corpsmen. The Marine drivers are trained in the handling of casualties brought in by the ambulance.

Personnel of the clearing platoons operate the clearing stations which consist of the casualty-reporting and sorting tent, sick bay, operating room, X-ray tent, shock and intensive therapy tent, a 30-bed ward, a laboratory and an instrument and dressing sterilization tent.

When a patient is admitted at the casualty-reporting tent, he is examined by a doctor and given a card which identifies him and his physical condition.

A report is then sent to division headquarters, so a record can be kept of a unit's effective strength.

The casualty reporting tent contains a sick bay and is set up on much the same principle as the emergency room in any hospital.

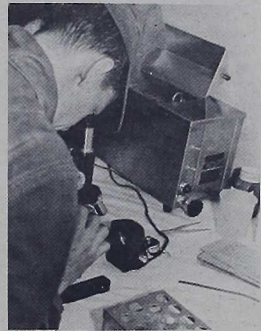

The operating room contains all the latest portable equipment necessary to perform any emergency operation.

In the X-ray tent there is a polaroid X-ray machine that works on the same principle as a polaroid land camera. It is capable of taking the X-ray and finishing it in one minute.

The clearing station also contains a sterilization unit which has two sterilizers for surgical dressings, a shock and intensive therapy tent, a laboratory with equipment for the detection and control of disease in the area of operation, and a ward with 30 beds for the holding of casualties.

Constant field training keeps the battalion ready for any and all emergencies that may occur in combat.

Hospital Corpsmen claim the distinction of having been awarded more Medals of Honor than any other occupational field in the Navy.

FIELD LABORATORY for detection and control of disease.

been a vital part of the 2d Marine Division since World War II. It is also the only battalion in the 2d Marine Division that is commanded by a Navy officer, Lieutenant Commander Norman E. Wenger.

The nearly 300 personnel of this battalion have the respect of every Marine in the division. Wherever the 2d Division may be, the 2d Medical Battalion will not be far away.

The primary duty of the battalion is to collect casualties from the front lines, transport them to the rear for further treatment and then convey them to ships and hospitals.

The battalion is highly mobile and is comprised of a Headquarters and Service Company

College GED To Be Replaced By 5-Part Exam

Five new tests will replace the current college-level General Educational Development (GED) test-battery July 1, according to Defense Department education officials.

Called GECCT (General Examinations battery of the Comprehensive College Tests), a major difference from the four-part GED is addition of a mathematics test and increased recommendation from 24 to 30 credit hours.

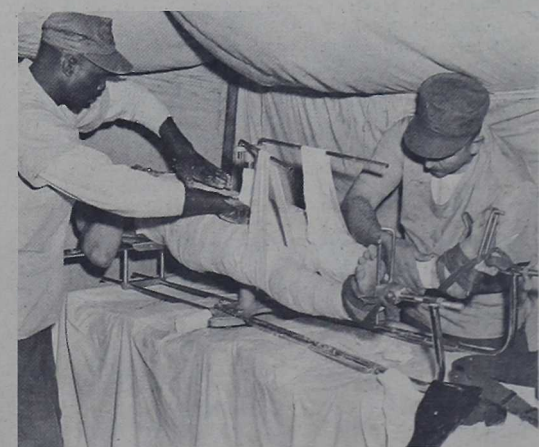

The U. S. Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) will administer the tests for active duty service personnel to establish college credits toward a baccalaureate degree or for military equivalency purposes.

GECCT samples a student's grasp of subjects ordinarily included in the general educational requirements for the first two years of college, an official said.

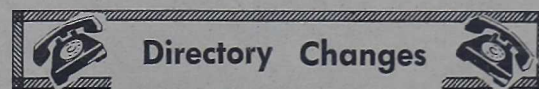

Examinations are in English composition, humanities, mathematics, natural sciences and social sciences-history.

Civilian credit recommendations are made by the American Council on Education (ACE), but actual granting of credit toward a degree is up to individual colleges or universities.

USAFI will continue to administer the current GED battery until June 30, when it will be retired from the inventory.

While in the field the 2d Medical Battalion can apply a complete body cast.

Little Theater Selects Arsenic & Old Lace' Cast

Joseph Kopfler, Director of Lejeune Little Theater's premier performance "Arsenic and Old Lace" has announced the names of actors and actresses selected.

"Arsenic and Old Lace," is the comical story of a kindly old spinster, who turn out to be not so kindly the end and who have devoted their last few years on earth to helping lonely, elderly gentlemen find happiness, their cure for loneliness is suggested in the title and is mainly diluted with home-made elderberry wine.

Playing the parts of the spinsters are Georgeanna Burdett as Aunt Abby and Janice Cranford as Aunt Martha.

Marine Life Photo Contest Deadline Mar. 24

The Mariners Museum, Newport News, Va., is now accepting entries to the 18th Annual Exhibition of Marine Photography International, a photo contest that draws entrants from seafarers throughout the world. Contest deadline is March 24. Entries accepted for the contest are displayed in the North Gallery of the museum. Winning entries are featured in a special play. Awards for winning entries are hand-carved figurines of seafarers, mounted on inscribed plaque.

Suggested subjects for the contest are marine industrial news events; views of any vessel or craft sailing, power or hand-propelled; marine and fishing industries; ship building and repairing establishments; lighthouses and navigational aids; harbor, river and canal scenes showing shipping, ship details, equipment and instruments; and internal pictures of seafarers, fishermen, stevedores, etc., while pursuing their occupations.

Monochrome prints or color slides may be submitted for the exhibition. Prints must be the work of the contributor, except for mounting.

Three awards will be given in each of the following categories: pictorial prints, documentary prints, and color slides. Prints must be mounted, and 8 1/2 x 11 in. size. The contributor's name, address and the title must be noted on the back of submitted prints, along with type camera used and negative size.

There is an entry fee of $1.50 for photos or slides. Further information can be obtained by writing The Mariners Museum, Marine Photography Exhibition, Newport News, Va.

Others selected for the play are: Rev. Harper, Donald Bartlett; Teddy, William C. Glaser; Brophy, L. L. LaRue; Mortimer, Joe Faulhaber; Miss Harper, Shirley Burdette; Jonathan Brewster, Richard Kay; Dr. Einstein, Paul Sheehan; O'Hara, Robbie Robinson; Mr. Gibbs, Tom Hodges; Mr. Witherspoon, Art Pelletier and Lt. Rooney, Rich Keller. The part of Klein has not been assigned as of this writing.

Director Kopfler is aiming for an opening date of April 1 at the Brewster Elementary School. It is expected that the play will be staged at various areas throughout Camp Lejeune following the Brewster opening.

Meanwhile, Georgeanna Burdett, director for the next play, "Mary, Mary" has stated that she is making preparations for her production and should announce casting dates in the near future.

The next general meeting of the Little Theater group is set for Mar. 2, 7:30 p. m. at Mars-ton Pavilion.

Priests Purify Road To Appease Gods

MCAS, Iwakuni, Japan (AFPS) --Shinto priests held rites here recently to remove the fears of Japanese employees that Slipway Road accidents were caused by unhappy gods.

At the site of a Dec. 28 truck accident which killed a Japanese guard and injured several U. S. Marines, the priests conducted the purification ceremony during which religious chants and food were offered to appease the gods.

The rites were arranged after Colonel Herbert A. Peters, USMC, air station commander, learned that the employees felt the gods were angered by the removal of a sacred pine tree which grew next to a shrine.

Retort Report

Two women were coming from an art exhibit. "Abstract paintings? No, I can't have them in my house," said one woman decisively. "After all, I have a 16-year-old daughter!"

"Yes, but why should that fact..."
"Well, you see," interrupted the mother, "with those abstract paintings, you never know whether they are decent or not!"

Seabees Finish Training

By JOHN F. ALDEN
JOSN, U. S. Navy

Through the pine wooded hills of North Carolina, the SEABEES of U. S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion ONE (MCB-1) proved yesterday that they have learned the lessons taught them by the Marines of Camp Lejeune in combat defensive tactics.

In a three-day joint exercise, the SEABEES set up a base and defended it against infiltrating Marine Corps aggressors.

This has been the best test as the Navy Builders applied the defensive tactics and practice they have been studying. And now, MCB-1 returns home . . . . This is the story of what they have done while they were here:

During the six weeks spent here, the Seabees' training was highlighted by setting new records on the rifle range along with outstanding cooperation in the classrooms. There was a Battalion pass-in-review, Feb. 19, honoring Col. H. E. L. Zastrow, CO of the First Infantry Training Regiment. To conclude their training, the Seabees held a three-day joint defense exercise with the Marines.

New Records Established

MCB ONE has set new records at Camp Lejeune's Rifle Range as the Battalion surpassed last year's Seabee trainees by a wide margin.

With 324 men firing the M-14 rifle, MCB ONE had 88.5 percent of its men qualify on the Navy B Course. In the Navy B Course, a score of 220 is needed to qualify as Marksman, 250 as Sharpshooter and 270 as Expert.

Of the 324 men firing, 24 made Expert and 116 Sharpshooter. Leading the field with a score of 283 apiece with Porter G. Singer, yeoman third class, from Mount Carmel, Ill., and Gary L. Miller, constructionman, from Oklahoma City, Okla.

On the .45 caliber pistol, 41 members of the Battalion fired with 65.9 per cent qualifying. With 300 the necessary score for Expert, nine men shot Expert and three Sharpshooter. William E. Strop, construction electrician master chief, from Williamsport, Pa., was high Expert shooter with a 372.

It is also noteworthy that both the Commanding Officer, Commander Richard T. Hardy, and the Executive Officer, Lieutenant James E. Whelan, shot among the Expert group on the .45. Commander Hardy is from Savannah, Ga., and Lieutenant Whelan from Wilmington, Del.

Seabees Attend Schools

In addition to the actual military training, MCB ONE's Seabees

During hand-to-hand combat, Ken Burke, from New York City, learns how to throw his adversary over his shoulder.

In learning proper methods of day patrolling, one of the phases was apprehending and bringing in prisoners.

Members of MCB ONE line up for noon chow at one of the Marine field kitchens.

Seabees practice the correct way to fall during hand-to-hand combat training.

bees attended 16 various schools. It was at these schools the Seabees showed an outstanding interest in the work they were doing by putting forth a great effort to learn the material presented. The cooperation showed by the Seabees to all their instructors throughout the training program was also very evident.

The Seabees attended four schools on weapons training: 3.5 rocket launcher, M60 machine gun, 81 MM mortar and 106 MM recoilless rifle. They also attended: Non-commissioned Officers School, communications repair, operation and maintenance of the #6000 fork lift, soil engineering, inert gas welding, and unit instructor classes.

The hospital corpsmen and doctors of the Battalion attended the field medical school, and the cooks went to field mess and cookery school. Seabees also attended: standard bridging, demolitions, STAT team medical training, and wire rope splicing.

Pass in Review

On Friday, Feb. 19, MCB ONE held a pass-in-review in honor of Col. H. E. L. Zastrow, Commanding Officer of the First Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Lejeune.

At the pass-in-review, Richard L. Higgins, Supply Corps, of Framingham, Mass., and Chief William E. Strop received the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for service in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Each member of the Battalion who was in Cuba with MCB ONE during the Battalion's deployment, in 1963-64, will receive the same medal.

Seabees Hold Defex

To wrap up the six weeks training, the Seabees of MCB ONE joined the Marines for a three-day defense exercise.

On the first day, they went into the field and received the-the-job training for setting up a camp, field sanitation, a kitchen and living quarters.

The field problem itself began on the second day and carried over to the following morning. Having constructed a base site, it was the Seabees' job to defend their work against the Marines, who were the aggressors. To conclude DEFEX, the Seabees observed a SATS demonstration. This included short runway take-offs and landings of fighter aircraft.

With the conclusion of DEFEX, the SEABEES of MCB ONE departed for their home port, Davisville, R. I., on Friday, Feb. 26.

MOVIE REVIEWS

THE LONGEST DAY
 "D-Day," June 6, 1944 — German ports confirmed the landings on Normandy. Those who had loved as perked up their ears. They raved their radios a bit louder and waited for the reports. Would the boys make it? Would their tenuous hold on the beach end in disaster? Would they be pushed back to the sea?

The President prayed; the nation prayed. This would be a day to remember forever. They and their children's children would cherish the memory of those men who made the sacrifice — so that the torch of freedom would still enlighten the world. To the people at home as well as the men in action — this was THE LONGEST DAY of their lives. It is fitting and proper that our own generation pay proper tribute to the men of D-Day. The informative, exciting film, The Longest Day, is just such a tribute. Starring John Wayne, Jeff Hunter, Sal Mineo, Robert Mitchum and a host of 38 other international stars, The Longest Day is a thrilling, informative and commemorative movie, produced by Darryl F. Zanuck.

WITCHCRAFT
 Witchcraft, Robert L. Lippert's latest production for 20th Century Fox is a spine tingling horror story in which Lon Chaney stars as a warlock, a male witch. Set in an English countryside area, it's the story of a centuries-old family feud. The Lanier and Whitlock families became enemies when the Laniers buried a Whitlock woman alive as a witch and took over the Whitlock estate. Centuries later, in the cemetery, an overturned coffin stirs... and Vanessa Whitlock, the witch buried, rises from the dead. See Witchcraft to find out what Lon Chaney, as Morgan Whitlock and Yvette Rees, as Vanessa, plan as revenge to the Laniers.

FLIPPER'S NEW ADVENTURE
 If you flipped for Flipper, just wait till you see Flipper's New Adventure. Yes, it's America's favorite dolphin — back in a brand new, grand new movie.

If you've never met Flipper, here's your chance to make the acquaintance of the most amazing, amusing creature in the ocean. In his new adventure you'll see Flipper the fearless outwit a gang of desperados in a tremendous underwater battle. See him "teach" a family of castaways how to survive on a tropical island. Watch him rescue a drowning girl from the shark-infested waters of the Caribbean. And see a team of doctors fight to save Flipper's life.

You'll find a world of excitement and wonderful fun in Flipper's New Adventure, filmed in breathtaking color at the Florida Coast and in the beautiful Bahamas.

SIGNPOST TO MURDER

SIGNPOST TO MURDER
 Are we all potential killers? Signpost to Murder is a thrill story; a love story out of the dangerous world we live in. No film has ever exposed, so nakedly, the savage nature of men and women. DON'T SEE IT IF YOU ARE AFRAID OF WHAT IT MAY REVEAL ABOUT YOURSELF! An unforgettable screen experience starring Joanne Woodward and Stuart Whitman.

THE BELLS ARE RINGING
 The hit play, The Bells Are Ringing, is winning its way this way from Broadway. Now on the motion picture screen in CinemaScope and Metro Color, it stars Judy Holliday and Dean Martin.

It's the romantic comedy about the Switchboard Cinderella and her handsome fellow Judy is the blonde telephone Belle who falls in love with one of her private numbers. And Dean is the bachelor who gets her romantic message. It's a wonderful fun story with 14 hit songs like "The Party's Over" and "Just in Time." An Arthur Freed production, with a happy cast, including Fred Clark and Eddie Foy, Jr., The Bells Are Ringing, creates more love, fun and laughter amid more song and dances than ever. Don't miss it!

The ever increasing emphasis on Nuclear, Biological and Chemical weaponry has brought about a need for trained personnel to fill NBC Defense billets within the Marine Corps.

Fulfilling the mammoth job of training Marines on the east coast in proper NBC Defense techniques is the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Nuclear, Biological and Chemical Defense School, located at Camp Geiger.

This highly diversified and specialized school offers a curriculum of courses designed to meet the particular needs of any size unit.

The various courses offered by the school include a three week course for officers; a four week course for NCO's and a Decontamination and Monitoring course for Lance Corporals and below.

Courses are conducted to meet special NBC requirements of any particular unit.

As an example, special courses for Women Marines and Ammunition Handlers are conducted to train them in their role as Marines in a nuclear age.

Courses conducted by the school aren't strictly long hours of lectures and classroom instruction. There is ample field work and practical application within each course which gives the student an opportunity to test his skills and knowledge of NBC Defense.

Adding realism to the field work and practical application phases of each course is the use of radioactive sources, toxic chemical agents and live, harmless biological organisms.

These agents give the students a chance to monitor, detect and decontaminate various NBC agents. By using the latest NBC equipment available to the Marine Corps the student gains confidence in his equipment and his ability to use it correctly.

Over 650 students went through the NBC Defense School's formal courses last year. An expected 1,000 enrollment is forecast for 1965.

In addition to the formal courses conducted by the school, the NBC School staff also conducts special instruction classes and practical application exercises in monitoring and decontamination for units within the area.

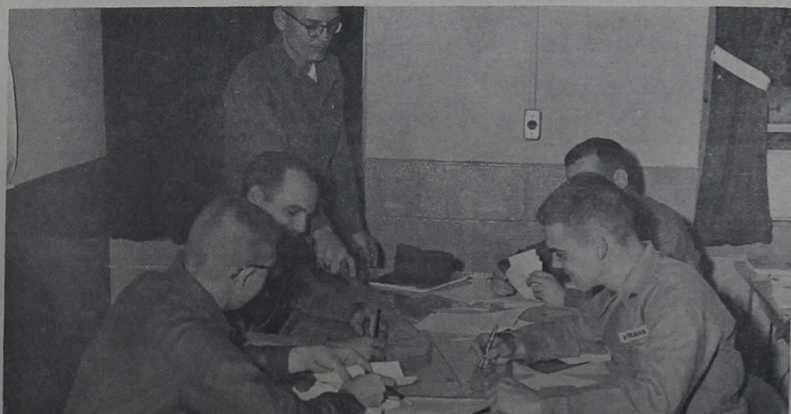

Over half of the personnel of the Quad-Command received their NBC training last year through lectures and gas chamber exercises conducted by the school.

This "extra" training provided by the school required 1500 man hours outside of regular classes for the staff of over 20 instructors.

All of the instruction provided by the school for both formal classes and the specialized training is in keeping with the school's motto "knowledge replaces fear with courage."

Camp Fighters Hook Here On Sat.

Camp Lejeune's high flying Leatherneck scrappers can be expecting some rough weather this weekend, as the Screaming Eagles from Fort Campbell invade the local lair Saturday night at 8 p.m.

The Lejeune fighters, who are sporting a near-perfect 5-1 slate, will be running up against their old nemesis.

Earlier this year Fort Campbell, one of the Army's biggest powers, handed the Devil dogs a 7-3 loss in their home ring. The locals, however, improved on the efforts of last year's teams which were drubbed 9-1 both times.

Art Redden, Lejeune's rugged Light-Heavyweight bomber, will be looking for a repeat win against Campbell's Isaiah Davis. The Golden Hog has his winning skeln up to six for this season, with his most recent triumph coming at the Carolinas Invitational Golden Gloves Championships at Charlotte two weeks ago.

Last year's Interservice Light Heavyweight Champion and All-Marine Middleweight Kingpin, the bruising boxer will be the locals best bet against the Army.

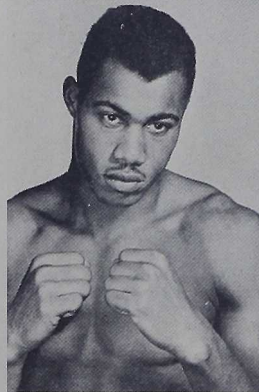

Newcomer Ken Norton, also a winner at Fort Campbell, has gained a little ring savvy since his last encounter with the leather-slinging Eagle fighters. Norton, who had never had his hands in a pair of gloves before this year, has won all seven of his fights this year. Five of them have been by knockout. At Campbell he decisioned James Johnson, who was fighting when the muscular Devil dog was in the third grade.

Marshall Fortune, Lejeune's only other victor at Campbell, has dropped down to Light Welterweight. The 139 pound puncher has had more ring action than any other Lejeune pugilist this year. Winning five of his eight bouts, Fortune has looked impressive in his last two outings.

Bill Mercedes, Marine Bantamweight, will be trying to reverse the decision, which was called against him at the Eagles' nest. The much disputed call had the Lejeune buzzsaw walking away shaking his head.

Hard-hitting Ray Owens of the Army will be leading the Eagles' onslaught. Owens, who was stung in the first two rounds of his match with D'og Floyd Stevens in late January, knocked out the classy Marine boxer. Owens, along with Isaiah Davis

Pistol Team Cops Match

The Camp Lejeune Rifle and Pistol team saw action this weekend, competing in two meets. The rifle team traveled to Conover, N. C. to compete in the N. C. Indoor Rifle Championships, while the pistol team journeyed to Cherry Point.

Corporal G. Murdock was the high individual shooter for Division in the rifle competition with a 785x800. The two Marine teams entered finished second and third. The local shooters captured six individual firsts, all in the master class.

The pistol team, shooting at the Cherry Point course, captured 18 individual awards, with LCpl. D. Cleaves pacing the shooters with a 2595x2700. He finished second to SSgt. R. Vancott of the 2d MAW in the grand aggregate.

In team play the Division shooters placed 2nd in the .22 caliber competition and captured the .45 caliber team match.

Army's Ray Owens

are the only two returning fighters from last years highly lauded squad.

Marines Charlie Davis, Francis Hutchinson, Floyd Stevens and Harrison Payne will all be on hand trying to reverse the finishes of their bouts at the Army post.

Coach Ray Rogers, a veteran of nineteen years ring experience, predicts a close match this time. He, along with trainer Al Santiago, has been working the locals. Nothing comes easy though unless you work hard at it, especially in the fight game.

There will be plenty of seats in the Field House, and the matches are free. The fights will be open to the public.

Ivey, (center) Acting Base Commander, raises the hands of Art Redden (to his left) and Ken Norton in triumph after their successful showing at the Carolinas Invitational Golden Gloves Championships held recently in Charlotte, N. C. The Marine sluggers, entered in six bouts, walked off with five firsts and one

Roving With Rick

Three of last years standouts on the D'Dog ball club, Hal Norton, 1st Base; Buddy Simpson, centerfielder; and Chico Lugo, utility infielder, have all been named to the 1965 San Diego ball club. Simpson who batted a robust .394 last season broke the long time mark set by Harry Agganis, for whom the ball field was named after.

For those interested in traveling around the Heel state this weekend, there will be the 16th Annual Camellia Show in Wilmington on Saturday and Sunday evening at Raleigh, the N. C. State Wolf plays host to the Deacons of Wake Forest in an ACC ketball game. Sunday finds us traveling to the Golf Farm in Southern Pines, for a horse show. Also on Sunday there are two ice hockey games. For those interested in big time hockey drive on out to either Charlotte Greensboro where the Charlotte Checkers will host the Charlotte Hornets, and the Greensboro Generals vie with Knoxville.

Bowlers, man your lanes! A two day roll-off will be held at the Lejeune lanes on March 10 and 11 in preparation for the upcoming East Coast Interservice Conference Bowling Championships. The ECIC Bowling tourney, which will be hosted by the new base lanes, will be held on April 12-14. The 12 highest average bowlers who contact the Base Athletic office by March 1 will be selected to participate in the pre-ECIC Bowling Championships roll-off. Six of these keggers will represent Camp Lejeune in the April tourney. Sorry ladies, this is strictly for the men.

D'pup Girls Grab Conference Title

The Camp Lejeune High School Girls Basketball team, despite the 47-37 loss to Pamlico High School Friday, have captured their conference championship. Sparked throughout their winning season by high scoring of Donna Terry, the Lejeune girls come

Miss Terry, a dead-eye marksman who could hold her own in nearly any league, averaged well over 20 points a game while leading her team to key victories throughout the campaign.

Coach Jim Owens, who worked the girls hard, was well satisfied with their season's showing.

This Saturday at the West Carteret High School gymnasium, the girls will be entered in their Conference tournament. All members of the conference will vie against each other, with the winner being dubbed Coastal Plains Conference Tourney Queen. By capturing first place in league play the Lejeune girls drew a bye in the opening round. They will meet the winner of the Beaufort-Pamlico game Saturday.

The Camp Lejeune high school Varsity Boys Team finished a rather dismal 2-14 season on a happy note, as they handed Pamlico High School a 88-78 loss on the latter's home court. Leading throughout the entire game, a well rounded team effort overcame the stubborn bids by the battling Pamlico squad.

Harry Land paced the Devilpups with 22 points. The sharpshooting cornerman ripped the nets repeatedly with his 20 foot jumpers.

Earlier last week, the D'pups lost the home game finale to Beaufort 80-54. Finally jelling after a slow first half, the Le-jeune cagers were only scored by seven points in the halftime break. Bertrum and John Way were the winners with 28 and 24 points respectively. Bigman the local cagers was Jim who tossed in 18 markers.

The Lejeune cagers will travel to Carteret this Thursday for their conference tournament opener.

ZEROING IN—Donna Terry (far right) arcs another shot during Camp Lejeune's victory over Beaufort last night. The high scoring Miss Terry peppered the nets for 24 points, as she led the girls to a close 34-32

Five Teams Tied For 1st In FT Basketball League

A five way tie for first place developed in the Force Troops intramural basketball league last week as 8th Motor Transport Bn. and 8th Communication Bn. kept their title hopes alive scoring with a pair of victories apiece.

Motors' "big" win was their 59-50 conquering of pace-setting 8th Engineer Bn.

Engineers piled up a 29-18 game lead, but couldn't cope with Motors scoring in the second half. A third quarter scoreless tie in which they outscored the Engineers, 24-12, ended the margin of victory for Motors.

H. Jones, Motors hot-shooting guard, led the winners with 24 points, while Brian Early added 12.

Other scorers for the Engineers were Brown and Smith who had 13 and 11 points respectively.

Motor number seven for the week came at the expense of Tank Bn., who fell 67-42, and the balance scoring attended by Brian Butterly's 15 points, Bob Butz's 8 markers and Tank's 13.

Engineers, still smarting from their loss to 8th Motors days earlier, were hitting 11 cylinders as they dumped Headquarters Co., Force Troops, 77-70.

Engineers had to stave a fourth quarter rally to notch their win against twofold losses. Richardson found the range for 14 points for Comm and got 2 point "assist" from 20 for Headquarters.

Williams chipped in 19 points, Cooksey 16, and the team kept pace with the leaders with victory over six as they downed 2d Co., 27-37 in a lackluster performance.

Coach was high for the "Commander" with 14 points, but scoring honors went to Owens who had 16.

Headquarters Co., couldn't find their offense from sputtering from time to time as they staged an improving 2d Co., quintet, 61-58.

Leading scorer for the winners was Hull with 16 points, followed by Cooksey and O'Conner who had 12 points each. A man for Bridge was the any Commander, Capt. Dalzell, who tallied 14.

Amtracs dropped their second game of the week as they fell 64-52 to their "armored partners", 2d Tanks.

Tom Callan led the "Tankers" with 22 points, followed by Bob Scott's 14 and Dennis Barksdale's 13.

Best for Amtracs was Robertson, with 24 points. In other league action, 2d Topo downed cellar-dwelling 2d ANGLICO, 47-34. Owens had 16 for the winners while Burdett led the losers with 10 markers.

Radio Bn was out of action for the week due to training commitments. Neither of its postponed games last week will have any bearing on the league leaders.

Engineers was scheduled to meet Tanks last night while Motors was to finish its season against 2d Topo.

GOING UP—An unidentified 2d ANGLICO player leaves the 8th Motors defense "flat footed" as he slips in for a basket. Final action in the Force Troops intramural league will be tonight as five front running teams tune-up for a play-off to decide the league champion.

Tonight Headquarters Co., meets a dangerous 2d Radio Bn. quintet while Comm and Engineers collide head on in a game which will cut one team out of first place.

The Golf Clinic being held by Jim Gantz has drawn fine attendance and Jim feels it's time his students put their knowledge to use. There will be no clinic this Friday night, instead it will be conducted Saturday morning at 10 on the driving range.

Congrats to LtCol. Ben Sohn, he filled his bag with a new set of clubs, took 3 lessons from Jim, then went out and broke 90 for the first time. Cmdr. Kinder had better get a good grip on that Club Championship!

COGA will try once again to hold the much rained out Blind Bogey Tournament, with a "gimmie" from the weatherman it will kick off at 9 a. m. Sunday, Feb. 28. All members and prospective members should sign up at the Pro Shop as early as possible.

I don't know how many of you watched the Hogan-Snead match on TV Sunday, but for those of you that missed it a heart felt sympathy goes out. Without a doubt the two Hall of Fame seniors put together a game that was superb.

Well that brings us to the 19th for this week, keep the news coming in and see you on the course.

Golf Clinic

The free golf clinic lesson No. 4 will be held at the driving range, Paradise Point Golf Course, Saturday morning at 10 a.m. in lieu of the final Friday night lesson at the Field House.

Lejeune Readies For Coming Year

With the arrival of the good weather, the air will once again be filled with the screams of baseball fans. Bugged down by the recent rains, the Camp Lejeune Marines have again started practice. The team, which should be cut down to regulation strength by the end of the week, will open their season Thursday, Mar. 11, against Wilmington College, here.

Coach Jim Schwab, who played his college ball at Georgetown University, plans on carrying 10 pitchers through April. Once the Devil Dogs begin their defense of the East Coast Interservice Conference Championships in May, the staff will be cut to seven.

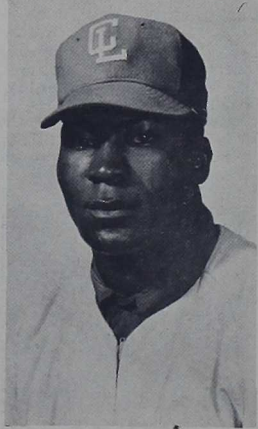

The loss of Tom O'Leary, last year's front line catcher, has been bolstered by the acquisition of Ken Eeles. The wiry backstop standout played for the Okinawa Royals last season, and has two years of Class B ball with the Chicago White Sox under his belt.

Ron Nay, another newcomer, has sewn up the centerfield spot. He will be trying to fill the shoes of Buddy Simpson, who has been transferred to the west coast.

With the return of last year's stellar performers, such as Jim Hall, 1964 Most Valuable Player at Lejeune, Dick Hall, who compiled a 14-4 mark last season, plus, regulars Lou Lepito, shortstop, Tom McHenry, first base, pitcher Fred Roth and catcher, Dennis Jakubek, the outlook for a good season is a little brighter than expected.

Their seasons opener will get underway at 1:30 p. m., and will be played at the Harry Aganis Baseball Field.

Swim Shop

The Water Safety Instructors Association aboard Camp Lejeune has announced that they are planning a swim shop at the Area 5 Pool on March 3. The shop is set up in the hope of perfecting flaws in the instructors work, such as teaching techniques, and swimming strokes, etc. All WSI's who have not registered with the local Red Cross Chapter aboard the base are requested to do so, in order that the Chapter can keep a running account of all qualified swimming instructors.

All America Bowls

The straight ball is one that rolls directly down the lane, without deviation, to the target.

It is the easiest to control and recommended for the beginner. Don't monkey around with hooks and curves until you have mastered the simple, straight-as-an-arrow roll.

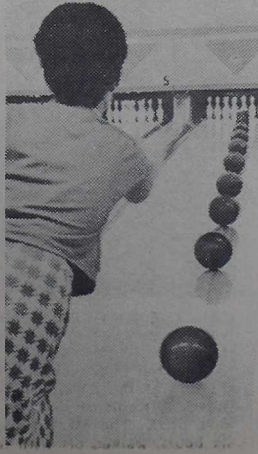

Phyllis Notaro, of the AMF Staff of Champions, suggests that in rolling a straight ball, you imagine the thumb as one of the hands on a clock dial. The thumb hole should be at 12 o'clock, with the thumb pointing straight at the objective during the approach.

When the ball is released, the thumb should be still at high noon, lined up with the target. The thumb and fingers, which are directly underneath the ball, should be released at almost the same instant.

For a strike shot, the straight ball should be delivered from the right side of the approach. Most bowlers find it best for the ball to touch down on the lane seven or eight boards from the right-hand gutter. From this position, it travels straight to the pocket formed by the 1 and 3 pins.

The straight ball will not mix as well as some other rolls, but it is easier to handle and should be mastered thoroughly before you progress to the hook.

Who Really Suffers When You Take Advantage Of Uncle Sam?

GySgt. Joe Marine — as all Marines do at one time or another — got permanent change of station orders. Like all Marines in the grades and ranks of sergeant or above, and corporals with more than four years service, he asked the government to move his household goods.

Now, Joe knew that there was a weight limit prescribed for the furniture and other belongings that he could move at government expense. He even knew that if his shipment exceeded the prescribed limitation, he would have to pay for the moving of the excess.

But, Joe didn't know until he got ready to check into his new government quarters at his new station, that he could only draw as much government furniture as the difference between the weight of his shipment and his allowance.

Joe checked into his new station and went to the Quarters Furniture people and asked for furniture to supplement his personally owned gear. Here came the sad awakening! The furniture man broke out Marine Corps Bulletin 10160 of Sept. 1, 1964, which has since become a permanent change to the Marine Corps Supply Manual, Marine Corps Order P4400.22. He pointed out the part of the bulletin that states The...quantity of items provided should not...exceed the unused weight allowance.

Since Joe had shipped 6,350 pounds and the table of weight allowances permitted him to ship 6,500 pounds, this gave him 150 pounds difference that he could draw on. This didn't give Joe much leeway to add new furnishings.

His wife insisted that she had to have a rug for the living room. A 9x12 rug and pad used up 120 pounds of his allowance and now there was only 30 pounds left. He drew a coffee table and that was it! He had used the difference between the weight of his shipment and the maximum weight he was entitled to move.

To keep from getting yourself into the same fix that Joe found himself in, the Marine Corps Base Quarters Furniture Section of Base Property Control has offered some tips.

Do you have a brick bookcase in your present quarters? You would be wise to take the shelves and leave the bricks behind on your next move. They'll only cost you five cents apiece to replace, and at 2-1/2 pounds each you couldn't move them across country for the price.

Do you really need all those back issues of the weekly news magazine that you've got stacked up in the carport?

How about that old TV set that doesn't work anymore? You might get $10.00 for it through the TRADER and reduce your moving weight enough to give you an extra easy chair at your next location.

In short, before you move again, look through your house and carport and see what there is that isn't really worth the weight penalty that you may have to pay nor the cost for the government to move it. Sort out those items that you don't actually need and you'll be doing yourself a favor and saving part of your tax dollar that Uncle Sam has to spend to move you.

Retirement Data Due Dec. 1, 1965

President Johnson has asked a Cabinet-level committee for its final report on Federal retirement programs by Dec. 1, 1965.

President Johnson appointed the committee to "establish up-to-date guides for use in the executive branch in considering proposed changes and further improvements in retirement plans."

The President requested a thorough review of retirement policies as to objectives, civilian and uniformed personnel coverage, benefit patterns, financial soundness and overall consistency.

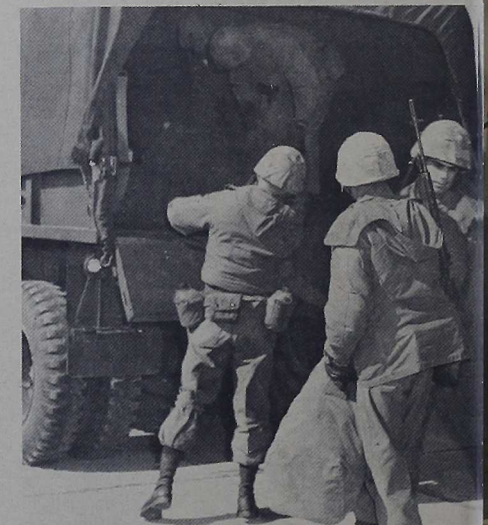

He further requested that survivor benefits under various retirement plans be examined in relationship to similar benefits provided under Social Security, Government Life Insurance and other disability, death and survivor programs.

DO UNTO OTHERS—Woman Marine Capt. Patricia T. O'Keefe received a Letter of Appreciation from Col. T. S. Ivey, Assistant Base Commander on Feb. 17 for the unselfish drive and assistance she rendered Mrs. Joseph P. Cosgrove during a serious automobile accident occurring in Jacksonville. The accident involved Mrs. Cosgrove and her two small children.

CHRISTMAS IN FEBRUARY—Woman Marine WO D. Keeler, Communications Watch Officer at MCB, Camp Lejeune, surprised her brother Pvt. Russell Keeler with Christmas gifts when he arrived at Lejeune for duty. Keeler was undergoing Recruit Training at Parris Island during the past Christmas season. He is presently assigned to "A" Co., 1st Bn., 1st ITR.

WHEELS FOR THE INFANTRY—While a Marine relies on his feet for the long trek to the front lines, the long trek to the front lines for the Georgia mountains for operation SUREFOOT, Saturday made by trucks from the Atlanta-based 4th Motor Transport Battalion, USMC—and the infantry appreciated it.

The landing was the beginning of a two-day problem, which is only the first of many exercises the Marines will be involved in during their three week stay on this island.

While the infantry units of the BLT are undergoing training in the field, the air-arm of the unit will be working on the "choppers," preparing them for the next exercise where air-lifting is required, as well as undergoing their specialized training.

Prior to the landing, helicopters from Marine Observation Squadron 1, which is attached to HMM 262, flew reconnaissance missions over the landing zones and beaches. During the landing Feb. 17, craft of Marine Heavy Helicopter Squadron 461, also attached to HMM 262, carried ashore the bulk of supplies and heavy equipment the Marines will need in the field.

After leaving this island, the BLT will again split up, half going to Bridgetown, Barbados and the rest going to Fort de France, Martinique, the second "liberty stop" of the cruise. Another scheduled stop is San Juan, P. R.
