FSJC-Health Drive Kicks Off Feb. 15

Emphasizing its slogan — "A Generous Gift from Everyone" — the ninth annual campaign of the National Health Agencies and the Federal Service Joint Crusade for the International Agencies will be conducted here from Feb. 15 through March 31.

The on-the-job campaign is authorized and endorsed by the President of the United States, military commanders and Federal Department heads.

A Kick-Off Rally for Keymen involved in the project is scheduled for today at the Camp heater. Colonel James Taul, Chairman for the Camp Lejeune Fund Drive.

Personnel at Lejeune will receive from keymen, an informational folder and a contributor's envelope. A designation form enables the donor to select the health Agencies of his choice and specify the amount each is to receive.

Campaign Goals

The campaign has three major goals:

1. Providing all Federal and military personnel with information about major disease and disabilities and the way in which the National Health Agencies fight them, and how the Federal Service Joint Crusade aids in relieving of sickness, poverty, hunger and oppression among our many friends overseas.

2. Obtaining generous gifts from all potential donors at each installation. This involves 100% participation. In this respect it is interesting to note that the Drive Chairman has stated that this drive is voluntary and neither units nor individuals will be assigned an individual dollar quota. Of prime importance is that EVERYONE should give SOMETHING.

3. Encouraging the donor to write in how he wishes to divide his gift among the health agencies and international agencies of his choice.

National Health Agencies

There are 12 participating National Health Agencies and four international relationship and assistance agencies.

The health agencies are: Muscular Dystrophy Assn. of America (March Against Time), National Assn. for Mental Health, National Assn. for Retarded Children, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, National Foundation—March of Dimes, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (Easter Seals), National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, United Cerebral Palsy Assn., American Cancer Society, American Heart Assn. (Heart Fund), and Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Capitol Hill News Briefs

Moonlighting a Sickness

When Commandant Greene appears with other Joint Chiefs of Staff Members before Congressional committees within the next month or so, there is little doubt that he and his fellow members will be quizzed on the subject of moonlighting in the Service.

According to the "Journal of the Armed Forces" a 6,300-man survey reveals that 23% of Marine Corps enlisted men are holding down outside jobs. Counting heavily in this total are married Marines who have high hopes of sending their children off to college and feel they could not afford to do so without the extra job.

General Greene feels that the need for officers and NCO's to moonlight in order to make ends meet is symptomatic of a sickness in military pay scales.

Service Chiefs Chided

President Johnson and Secretary of Defense McNamara have advised senior military chiefs to use more caution in their public statements concerning military pay increases, according to another report by the Journal of the Armed Forces. They were cautioned in particular not to give unsolicited support to House Armed Forces Chairman L. Mendel Rivers in his drive to get a Service pay adjustment of perhaps $800 million to $1-billion a year.

Housing Increase

President Johnson has added his voice to that of McNamara in describing the current housing plight in the Armed Forces as being "disgraceful." The President recently asked Congress to approve construction of 12,500 military family housing units, an increase from 8,250 in fiscal year 1965.

The new construction program calls for 5,040 units for the Navy and Marine Corps.

"I'm giving mine . . . I hope you are, too."

April 1 Deadline

Special 10-Man Panel To Study Military Pay

A special 10-man panel has been asked to report recommendations to President Johnson by April 1 concerning government, civilian and military pay.

The panel's chairman is Marion B. Folsom, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, now with the Eastman Kodak Co. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is one of five government members on the panel.

President Johnson has asked the Department of Defense to make available to the panel for consideration materials used in a review of the interrelationships between military, civilian and private enterprise pay. A number of other special studies and reports will also be reviewed.

The President also asked the panel to investigate and consider the views of interested organizations and individuals, including civilian employees and uniformed personnel at any level of rank, pay or authority.

Other members of the special panel are General of the Army Omar N. Bradley (ret.), now Chairman of the Board, Bulova Watch Co.; George Meany, President, American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO); Sydney Stein, Jr., partner, Stein Roe and Farnham Investment Counselors and Don K. Price, Dean of the Graduate School of Public Administration, Harvard University.

Besides Secretary McNamara, other government members are John A. Gronouski, Postmaster General; W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor; Kermit Gordon, Director, Bureau of the Budget and John W. Macy, Jr., Chairman, Civil Service Commission.

In his budget message, President Johnson noted that provision has been made in the allowance for contingencies for a possible military and civilian pay increase.

The message also states, "Federal pay raises in the past three years have moved us much nearer to realizing the principle that civilian pay rates should be comparable to those in private enterprise for the same levels of work and that changes in pay and allowances of members of the uniformed forces should keep pace with advances in the general economy."

The President named the special pay review panel because he believes, "It is equally essential to assure that any proposals for further pay adjustments during this calendar year accurately reflect pay developments in the private economy and be compatible with our national wage and price objectives."

Help Ronnie' Drive Over; Marine Tradition Upheld

A few weeks ago the question was brought up in the GLOBE asking whether Marines take care of their own, citing the case of Ronnie Elkins, who was burned severely in a fire.

Local Marines and civilians came through with fly-tying colors, and contributed more than enough to purchase a wig for Ronnie, which was needed to cover burn damage to his scalp.

Two weeks ago the GLOBE reported that enough money had been donated to buy the wig, but now there is another problem. MONEY IS STILL COMING IN. H&S Bn., 2d Force Service Regiment sent in money orders totaling $161.38, and money has been received from as far away as Canada. Excess money will be used to cover further needs by Ronnie, such as special clothing, expenses in a long series of trips to Norfolk, Va., for surgery, etc., but the immediate need is more than answered, no more money, please.

The GLOBE would suggest that all collections within units that are still underway be directed toward the local chapter of the Crippled Children's Society. The Society is doing an excellent job, and could do even better with more money to conduct its aid projects.

HQMC Reveals Data Processing Reorganization

Rapid changes in the design and capabilities of computers have resulted in the reorganization of the Data Processing Division at Headquarters, Marine Corps.

The Data Processing Division has been redesignated the Data Systems Division, providing for the establishment of the office for Management Systems Development.

The new office will study current and future trends in technological change and recommend constructive action to obtain maximum benefits from the management information systems, according to Colonel Charles H. Greene, director of the division.

VOICE OF LEJEUNE

Dear Sir:

When my husband, MSgt. Homer G. Hammond, first suggested that I try to gather badly needed books for the school children of a small village in Okinawa, I was a bit uncertain how to begin. My original attempt took the form of a letter to the GLOBE, which appeared in this week's edition. It is so encouraging to know that the GLOBE takes an interest in such projects as this.

I have been asking all of my friends and neighbors for books of a school nature that they might be able to donate. When I asked one of the teachers at Swansboro Elementary School if she could ask the pupils to bring in their unused books, she suggested I contact the school principal, Mr. King. He took an immediate interest in the book gathering project, and obtained a release from the Onslow County Board of Education so that we could have unused text books that were stored at Swansboro.

Our project seems to have met with unexpected success! Actual school text books will be a wonderful help at the Okinawan school at Kayo. Any other books donated by individuals can be used as an English-language library for the Kayo students. The children have already sent drawings to the boys and girls at Swansboro Elementary School, in exchange for art work done by the Swansboro pupils for the Kayo School children. Both groups of youngsters seem to be profiting from the undertaking, and we are in hopes of starting some "pen pal" friendships.

Thank you so much for the great amount of assistance you have given toward our project. I feel sure the Kayo School will send their own thanks when the books arrive.

Sincerely, Margaret Hammond, (Mrs. Homer G. Hammond).

EDITOR'S NOTE: Book donations are slowly trickling in. Our thanks to those who have donated and especially to Mr. King and the Onslow County Board of Education. SSgt. Bobby R. Stanfill has contacted the Community Center Annex at Tarawa Terrace No. 2 and they state they would be happy to act as a collection agent for the books. Anyone desiring to donate books of interest to youngsters in grades 1-6 may drop them off at the Community Center or at the Camp Lejeune GLOBE, Bldg. 13.

Marine Mess Hall Serves Pearl Stew

MCAS, El Toro, Calif. -- "It pays to eat in the mess hall," especially if oyster stew is being served, says Gunnery Sergeant B. T. Byers assigned to Marine Aircraft Group-33, here.

While eating a bowl of oyster stew, he bit down on what he knew was more than just oyster crackers. Upon closer examination he discovered two pearls.

The Marine Exchange jeweler placed a value of $8 to $12 on the pearl and $2 on the other that was slightly "cooked."

Pops Concert

Tuesday night at 8:15 in Christenbury Gymnasium, E. Carolina College, the popular duo pianists, Ferrante and Teicher, will appear in another of the 1964-65 Pops Concerts at Greenville, N. C., sponsored by the Student Government Association. Ticket required, $3 each to the public.

Virus Illness At Lejeune

The acute illness which is afflicting many families in the Camp Lejeune area at the present time, affecting both children and adults, is probably caused by an adenovirus, related to the virus which produces so much "flu" among recruits at Camp Geiger, say Base doctors. It is characterized by high fever which usually lasts for three to five days, generalized aching, muscle pains and a racking cough which produces little sputum.

Medical science, despite its many advances, has yet to produce an antibiotic which is effective against virus disease. Treatment is, for that reason, largely confined to supportive care of the patient while the body's defense mechanisms themselves repel the virus invasion. Adequate clear fluids — fruit juices, soft drinks, cool water provide the body with raw materials to prevent excess fever and to counteract the effects of fever. Small doses of aspirin four or five times daily for several days will make the patient more comfortable and help control fever. Bed rest, protection from chilling, and reassurance are important additional precautions.

If one realizes that the disease will normally last for around five days in its acute form, regardless of treatment, he will have a degree of self-assurance as he cares for those who are sick in his home. Knowledge of the natural course of adenoviral infections must not interfere with careful observation for complications.

During this period of overload of medical facilities it is important that home care be utilized to the greatest extent possible, so that the doctors at the dependent clinic may be more able to care for the complicated cases which will occur.

Chaplain's Corner

It is said, "The Marine Corps builds men." Any organization that seeks to build men must have a goal in mind. In the Marines, the goal is to build a fighting man. This man must be knowledgeable in the tactics of hand-to-hand combat, in the use of various weapons, in techniques of night fighting, in attacking on different types of terrain, and in a multitude of details concerning life and work in the field. In short, the good fighting man is a knowledgeable man trained to accomplish a mission when called upon.

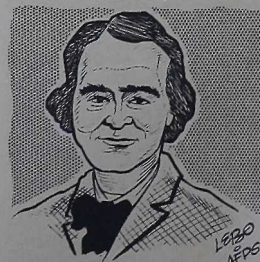

When we think of the time, talents and money expended to train a man to accomplish a task we hope he will never have to carry out; how much more consideration should we give to building men of character trained to deal with the human problems facing our world today? This takes a personal kind of training with the very highest type of goals in mind.

You have probably been asked many times, "What do you plan to do for a living?" The question I would ask, "What will you do 'with' your living?" Do we really have any goals in mind concerning what we shall do with our lives? Too many shoot for security or happiness as their goal, not realizing these can never be goals in themselves, but rather the results of reaching for higher and more meaningful goals in life. If we hope to bring about the kind of a world we all want, we need to work at establishing a new society. We need to change our selfish attitudes that have disrupted any attempt at effectual human relations in our world of today. If we expect our world to change we need to begin by changing ourselves.

Our goal must be to personally build our lives according to God's design. The apostle Paul said, "In the new man of God's design there is no distinction between... Jew and Gentile, foreigner or savage, slave or free man. Christ is all that matters..." What a thrill to be a man like that! To be controlled by a power higher than ourselves -- to bring the control of self directly under the control of God in all of life. This is the secret of living. It is our own human nature that we need to learn to control; we need to submit it to a spiritual fitness test. We need to present our lives to God as our supreme commanding officer and allow Him to control our living. Paul said, "You belong to the power you choose to obey." As you chose to serve your country by accepting the disciplines of the Marine Corps, you must choose to serve God and your fellow man by training to be "the new man of God's design." It is in the Jesus of Bethlehem; the Christ of Gethsemane, Golgotha and Eastern Sunday, that we find the pattern for God's design. It is this kind of man that will ultimately be instrumental in bringing about the peace and happiness all the world is looking for.

NATIONAL HEALTH AGENCIES

Your Support Needed Now

Military personnel have an opportunity to participate in one of the most difficult, continuing battles in the world—the fight against disease and crippling afflictions. In the forefront of this fight are the voluntary National Health Agencies which conduct health-guarding programs of research, information and community services.

The opportunity they present to us can be fulfilled in a simple, meaningful way... by making a substantial contribution to the on-the-job campaign of the National Health Agencies. If we respond to the campaign slogan—"A Generous Gift from Everyone"—it will result in the most successful solicitation ever held here.

None of us is immune to disease or disability. That is a highly personal reason why we should extend full support to the agencies fighting muscular dystrophy, mental illness, retardation, cystic fibrosis, birth defects, multiple sclerosis, crippling, blindness, cerebral palsy, cancer, heart diseases and arthritis.

Our donations help the Health Agencies' programs to prevent illness and to ease the suffering of those already stricken. By means of a special designation form, we also have the opportunity to specify the amounts of our gifts we want the Health Agencies of our choice to receive.

The GLOBE stands firmly with the President in asking for a 100 per cent voluntary effort... a generous gift from everyone.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED—Graduation exercises of the Onslow-Camp Lejeune Adult High School for nine members of the Quad-Command were held Feb. 4 at Marston Pavilion, bringing a Quad-Command total of 178 graduates. Brig. Gen. D. J. Robertson, CG, Force Troops, presented diplomas to the following cies help advance their health-guarding programs of research, information and community services. Undesignated gifts to the campaign are allocated to the agencies in the same ratio as designated contributions.

The President, his Cabinet officers and the Joint Chiefs of Staff all have urged everyone to give more than ever before to help the attack on disease and disability. They point out that the Voluntary Health Agencies aim to increase their medical research, intensify their informational activities to the general public and physicians, and broaden their present programs of community services.

FSJC Organizations

The four international relationship and assistance agencies which comprise the Federal Service Joint Crusade portion of the drive are: American-Korean Foundation, Inc., Care, Inc., People to People Health Foundation, Inc., (Project Hope), and Radio Free Europe Fund (Crusade for Freedom, Inc.).

Each of these agencies helps in its own way to sustain the hopes and courage of the needy and oppressed overseas. As President Johnson has said, "A very real contribution to a peaceful world can be made by supporting the Federal Service Joint Crusade."

FT Recon Spends Week 'Snooping' At Quantico

"Outstanding" was the adjective used by Maj. J. H. Carothers, Jr., Commanding Officer, 2d Force Reconnaissance Co., Force Troops, in describing the success of a recent intrusion problem at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., by his command.

Fifty-seven Recon-Marines para-dropped during the night from C-1A aircraft into the northeast training section of the Virginia base in 12 teams and spent a week reconnoitering various areas of the station.

During their undetected stay at Quantico, the Recon-Marines kept various strategic areas of the base under surveillance and made radio reports of their findings to a base station at Camp Lejeune manned by 8th Communication Bn., Force Troops.

Cold weather, with temperatures ranging from 12 to 41 degrees, and deep snow posed no problem for the Recon-Marines as they moved at night from area to area gathering information on troop movements, aircraft, types of construction of buildings, barriers and sentry procedures.

The intelligence gathering specialists accomplished several objectives during the problem.

Among them were improvement of compass and map reading by recon teams and improved jumpmaster proficiency in para-dropping and working in unfamiliar areas.

Teams were also given the opportunity to conduct reconnaissance and surveillance of unknown and diversified objectives in adverse weather conditions.

The problem also gave 8th Communications Bn. an opportunity to establish a base station to receive and transmit radio traffic from reconnaissance teams.

Upon completion of the problem, the Recon-Marines were taken from the area by "snatch pick-up" by U-10B aircraft and helicopters from the 135th Air Commando Group, Maryland Air National Guard and HMX-1, Quantico.

This problem was another of the many undertaken by Force Recon each year in every type of climate and terrain to keep the company's proficiency at peak perfection.

During the afternoon they watched trainees of the 1st ITR demonstrate their aggressive spirit handling situations in Combat Town, the Individual Movement range, the handling of the Flame Thrower, charging through the Infiltration Course and the Bayonet/Obstacle Course. They saw demonstrations of trainees firing rifle grenades and viewed more advanced close combat support problems and landscape firing.

The Sales Commissary Store will be closed on Saturday, Feb. 20.

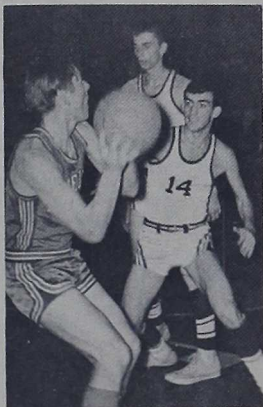

OPENING TAP—Jim Kelly, Lejeune H.S. cager, (center) tries to out-battle an unidentified Swansboro player during their recent tilt at Swansboro. The Pirates, led by Ben Licko's 34 points, humiliated the local Devilpups, 92-51.

D'Pups Muzzled In Weekend Tilts

The Devilpup basketball team, which has dropped their sixth in a row, bowed twice over the weekend. The pups were manhandled by Swansboro on Friday evening, 92-51, while losing to the Smyrna Blue Devils last Saturday 90-60.

All was not in vain however. Although the high school cagers are sporting a 1-11 record, they have found some hidden talent in their recent games.

Jim Preskitt, a tall, lanky cornerman, hit with a good percentage in their two losses. Another bright light was Don Vessey, a diminutive back-court performer, who showed his prowess in moving the ball against the full court presses of both Swansboro and Smyrna.

The Pirates, who are one of the powers in Eastern North Carolina, were ahead from the beginning. Ben Licko, a cager pegged as an all-stater, led the charge with 34 points. Playing before a full house at home, Licko shot, passed and rebounded his team to a 52-24 pt. advantage at half time. He left the game early in the fourth quarter.

Jim Kelly paced the losers with 13, as Bob McDonough and Jim Preskitt chipped in with 11 and 10 respectively.

As the scene changed to the small Smyrna court the following night, Lejeune seemed to have mastered the full court pressing of Blue Devil stars Danny Gilliken and Tom McGee at the halftime break. The home town hoopsters took a 36-30 lead off the floor at intermission.

The start of the second half brought the Smyrna followers to their feet, as the sharp-shooting pair of McGee and Gilliken hit the twine repeatedly, putting the game on ice.

The two Smyrna stars hit for a total of 52 pts., as McGee led the duo with 32. A fine shooting exhibition by both Jim Preskitt and Harry Land went for naught, as the Blue Devils stole the show. Land tallied 20 points, with Preskitt scoring 14.

The only thing that went right for the D'pups this weekend was the come from behind victories of both the girls and JV. The JV's beat Smyrna in overtime 35-32. On Friday evening the Lejeune girls overcame a five point deficit with two minutes remaining in downing the Swansboro girls 43-40.

It was the same old story again, Donna Terry. Her dead-eye foul shooting in the late stages of the game pulled it out of the fire. Donna ripped the cords for 38 points, while leading the local girls to their ninth win against only one setback.

It's off to Quantico this Friday for the Pups, as they prepare to battle their Leatherneck rivals.

Boxing Vacancies

The Camp Lejeune Boxing Team is looking for anyone interested in fighting in the 112 and 165 lb. weight classes. This will be in preparation for the All-Marine Tourney, held here in late March. Anyone interested contact either GySgt. Ray Rogers, coach, or Sgt. Al Santiago, team trainer, Mon. - Fri., between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the boxing room in the Field House.

Ft. Bragg Dragons Fight Here Tonite

The Fort Bragg "Dragons" Boxing Team will enter the lair of Camp Lejeune "Devildogs" tonight, as the local fighters prepare to do battle on their home turf for the first time this season.

Fresh off a lop-sided triumph at the Carolinas AAU Championships two weeks ago at High Point, N. C., the battling Leathernecks will be in top shape for the interservice rivals.

The only pugilist missing from coach Ray Rogers' star-studded squad against the "Dragons" will be Bob Lozada. The 1964 All-Marine Featherweight champion was injured in his last outing.

Immediately after the bouts with Ft. Bragg, the Lejeune sluggers will leave for Charlotte, to participate in the Carolinas Invitational Golden Gloves Championships, Feb. 12-13.

2d Division Rifle Team Cops Meet

The Second Marine Division Rifle and Pistol team recently sent a smallbore squad to Quantico, Va., to participate in the National Sectional Match. The local Leathernecks fired their way to a lopsided victory.

Shooting against the top civilians and military teams on the East Coast, which included three teams entered by the Marine Corps Marksmanship Unit, stationed at Quantico, the Division marksmen made a near clean sweep of the eight matches.

The team entered in the Quantico match consisted of Capt. G. A. Thomas, team captain, MSgt. Davenport, team coach, GySgt. Wagner, SSgt. Dubia, Sgt. Gibbs, and Cpl. Murdock.

The shooters posted a score of 1548x1600. Cpl. Murdock walked off with high individual match honors, posting a 788x800. All shooters placed in one or more events.

Enroute back home, the Lejeune "hawk-eyes" stopped by at Cherry point, N. C. and captured the team honors in a cold and windy outdoor match. Gunny Wagner copped the top slot with a 282x300, while the team posted an excellent 1886x1900.

Basketball Clinic

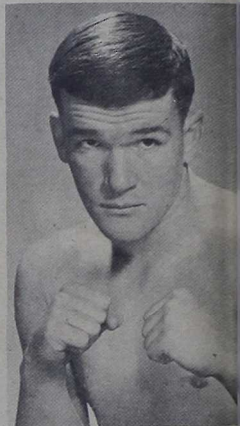

A basketball clinic will be held for those interested. All boys, between the ages of 8-12 should report to the Goette Memorial Field House every Saturday morning commencing Feb. 13. The clinic will run from 9 a.m. - 12 noon.

RAPHAEL MULETT

Members of the Boxing squad selected to travel to Charlotte are Ken Norton, Heavyweight; Art Redden, Light Heavyweight; Floyd Stevens, Middleweight; Francis Hutchinson, Welterweight; Marshall Fortune, Lightweight; Raphael Mulett, Featherweight; Charlie Davis and Bill Mercedes, Bantamweight. Bob Lozada and Don Reid have been selected as alternates.

Coach Ray Rogers has good reason to be proud of his warriors. In their four matches this season, the Marines have won three hands down, while dropping a close verdict to the talent-laden team from Fort Campbell.

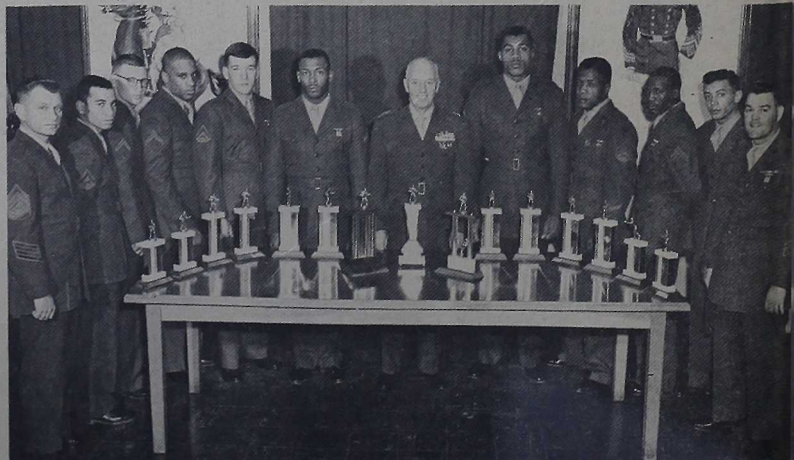

FLOYD STEVENS

The addition of newcomers Raphael Mulett and Floyd Stevens has strengthened the ready power-packed line. Mulett, victorious in both his fights since joining the team, is a flashy, quick punching boxer. Stevens, who was dropped by a Campbell fighter in his last bout, is coming along fast. High Point, the classy Middleweight KO'd his opponent 1:55 of the first round.

Art Redden, the local standout last season, will be carrying an unblemished record of 4-0 into the ring against the Bragg bombers. The Golden Hog has scored three by knockouts and one by decision.

The happiest surprise Coach Rogers this year, heavyweight Ken Norton, who played football for the D'pups this season, came out the boxing team after the campaign ended. The muscular heavyweight has copped all of his bouts thus far, winning five of them by knockouts.

With the All-Marine Championships here in late March the Devildog fighters will have an extra incentive pushing through February. The boxers will also be fighting Fort Campbell at home on Saturday, Feb. 27.

H&S Bn. On Top In FSR Cage Standings

2d FAG Upset In Force Troop Play

A pair of upset-minded, opportunity-seeking teams have thrown the Force Troops intramural basketball league race into a wide open battle with victories over previously unbeaten 2d Field Artillery Group (FAG).

Going into last week's action, the high flying "Cannoneers" were riding the crest of a 28-game winning streak and were odds-on favorites to win their second straight league championship with an unblemished record.

Unimpressed by FAG's credentials as a basketball power, Headquarters Co., Force Troops, pulled off the biggest upset of the season last week as they dumped the "Cannoneers" from the undefeated ranks, 75-69.

Led by McFarland's 12 big points in the final quarter, Headquarters staved off a late FAG rally to knotch their most impressive win of the season. Williams led the winners with 19 points while Poteat had 26 for the losers.

The win over FAG, coupled with a 67-51 victory over 8th Motor Transport Bn., moved Headquarters Co., to a 4-1 record and into a second place tie with 8th Comm Bn.

With FAG's defeat, 8th Engineer Bn., was the only remaining undefeated team in the league. Seeing an opportunity to tighten their hold on first place the Engineers added insult to injury, as they downed FAG Tuesday evening, 59-56.

A real thriller from start to finish, the Engineers dropped in four free throws in the final seconds to win in story book fashion. The loss dropped the "Cannoneers" into a fourth place tie with 8th Motors.

CONFUSION—While everyone else seems to be set on getting the elusive basketball an unidentified 8th Motor Transport Bn. player (3) seems to be in a state of confusion as to why everyone is suddenly converging on him. Action took place earlier this season in game between Motors and 2d ANGLICO.

Competition for the top spot in the league will become more and more crucial next week as Comm and Headquarters clash head-on to decide second place. Should Engineers drop from the unbeaten ranks the league championship will be up for grabs by as many as three teams.

Headquarters lone loss was to the Engineers while FAG provided the only blemish on Comm's record.

In league action tonight 8th Motors meets 2d Bridge; Engineers go against ANGLICO and Headquarters Co., tangles with 2d Tanks.

The headliner next Monday evening is Headquarters versus Comm Bn.

The 2d Force Service Regiment (2dFSR) Intramural Basketball standings as of Feb. 8 finds H&S Bn. in the lead with a 4-0 slate, followed closely by Base Material Bn., who sports a 3-1 record.

In action last week H&S Bn. drubbed Supply Bn., 70-48. Cpl. S. L. Hart led the front runners with 22 points, while teammate Tom Hill tossed in 21. In other league action, second place Base Material Bn. defeated Maintenance Bn. 56-38. Stubbs was high for Base Mats with a 13 point effort.

Roving With Rick

This Saturday at the Field House track the local carriers will host a three man, 12 mile relay race. Come rain or shine the competitors will be in for a grueling test of their endurance. All runners must register with race officials at the track at 1 p.m. An entrance fee of $1 will be charged to defray the cost of trophies and medals. Personnel without a partner will be paired up at the track. Get in touch with Lt. McDermott, at the Naval Academy for further information. His phone extension is 3313.

While a segment of the Division rifle and pistol team was away at Quantico recently, firing in small-bore competition, the remainder of the team finally was dumped in Tri-Command action. The sharpshooters from Cherry Point eked out a four point triumph, scoring 1118x2000. LCpl. D. M. Cleaves, a Division shooter, captured individual honors for his high score of 865x900.

HM2 Ray Chronister, the long time trainer of the varsity teams here at Camp Lejeune, is finally hanging up his wrapping tape and assortments of cures for the aging athletes. The "doc" has received orders for U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. The players at the academy will now benefit from his many years of experience, as he will join the training staff there.

The national pastime, baseball, is creeping up on us ever so slowly. The pitchers and catchers, trying out for the Devil dog squad have been tossing the apple since Jan. 25. This week saw the infielders and outfielders taking to the diamond, as they vie for many of the vacated spots on the team. Returnees Lou Lepito and Jim Hall, 1964 D'Dog Outstanding Player, along with Tom McHenry and Dennis Jakubeck join pitchers Dick Hall and Fred Roth to round out the men back from last year.

UP WE GO—An unidentified member of Base Material Bn., 2d FSR, drives in for a sure two points during intramural action at the Field House last week. Base Mats turned back Maintenance Bn. 56-38, while tightening their hold on 2d place.

Morrow tallied 22 points for Engineers while Anderson had 25 in a losing effort.

Other league action saw 2d Amtracs break into the victory column with a pair of wins. The "Gators" edged 2d Radio Bn., 69-67, and topped Topo, 53-47.

Also notching their initial win of the season was 2d Bridge Co., who also dumped Topo. Final score read: Bridge 63--Topo 51.

Radio Bn., was even for the week as they beat 2d Tanks, 76-46. Comm Bn. continued their winning ways as they tallied victory number four by dumping 2d Tanks, 76-57.

Children's Health Classes Slated At Stone St. School

Nothing is more vital to the health of America than the health of its children. And the best defense of good health in children is preventive medicine exercised by educated parents.

By scheduling a two-part study course, conducted by authoritative sources, the Stone Street PTA is taking an active role in educating parents within their realm.

The initial phase of the course will be held Feb. 15, at 7:30 p. m., at the Stone Street School.

Lieutenant Commander James Hughes, Chief of the Pediatrics Service at the Naval Hospital will speak on preventive medical care of children. Cmdr. Hughes will explain in detail the availability and value of the different immunizations the hospital has for children.

Dental health will also be covered during the first class. Commander Neil Demaree, Asst. Dental Officer, MCB will lecture on the subject.

Commander Hughes will hold a question-answer discussion after his lecture, and refreshments will be served.

Speakers during the second part of the course will be Mr. S. Orcutt, Director of Youth Communities Activities, and Mrs. Mildred Randall, a nutritionist.

Interested parents are urged to attend these classes.

Tarawa Terrace PTA Conducts First Meeting

At the first PTA meeting of the year, the Tarawa Terrace parents complained of not having a nurse available in the school clinic except for 45 minutes a day. As a result, a committee was formed to investigate the possibility of using a corpsman or a corps-wave.

Since this proved impossible, Mrs. Emil Sanchez, representing the PTA, contacted several Red Cross representatives to have Volunteers visit the school daily or see if mothers from the PTA could be trained.

A training program was made available, and Mrs. Sanchez gave her report at the November meeting. Twenty-four mothers volunteered to donate their time to the cause.

Mrs. Sanchez held a coffee in her home making it possible for all volunteers to meet Mr. Sheerin, Red Cross Director, and Mrs. Bobbie Zastrow, supervisor of all volunteers.

Mrs. Sylvia Champion accepted the big job of supervising and scheduling working time and planning the program.

Volunteers selected have undergone a 19 hour course and a 10 hour probationary on-the-job assignment. Giving one half or one day each week in the clinic, the mothers are caring for as many as 20 or 30 sick or injured children daily.

They also transport the children too sick to remain in school. A complete health chart is being maintained on each child and eye exams are being given.

Staff Wives Club Elects A Navy Wife President

By SHEILA CHILDS

A step has been taken here in the interest of correcting interservice rivalry.

A Navy wife has been elected President of the Camp Lejeune's Staff Noncommissioned Officers Wives Club. This is the first time in the Leatherneck Ladies Club's History....They celebrate their 14th anniversary April 15...that this position has not been held by a Marine's wife.

Madam President, Mrs. Bernice (Bunny) R. Turner, is the wife of J. W. Turner, Jr., a veteran of more than 25 years Naval service. Chief Turner is assigned to the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory at Camp Lejeune.

MRS. BERNICE TURNER

The 86 members, according to "Bunny", provide a thrift shop for the base; assist the local Navy Relief Office; provide refreshments and entertainment for bed patients at Lejeune's Naval Hospital; lend supervision to the base Teen Club; help the Jacksonville, USO, and provide scholarships for deserving high school students.

The money for the scholarship funds is obtained through the sales at the Thrift Shop. The shop's working staff is made up of club members.

"Another popular service that we provide," Bunny said, "is hospitality baskets." "It is not unusual for a family to arrive here days before their household effects."

"The family just has to contact a member of the club and they are immediately furnished with a hospitality basket which contains sufficient household implements to tide them over until their personal effects arrive."

Bunny was born and raised in nearby Rocky Mount. The Turners are enjoying their third tour of duty at Lejeune. Further more, Bunny is not a newcomer to the club she now pilots. During the past two years she has served as Sergeant-at-Arm for two six-month terms, and for the past six months as vice president. Her present term will expire June 30.

Until that time, however, Bunny, in addition to her regular duties, is planning a gal spring fashion show to be given by the club. More than 100 Marine wife has been reported to be dieting, for the club members will model all the latest in milady's finery at the show.

In addition to the Staff NCO Wives Club, Bunny takes active interest in other community projects and has been a familiar figure at local Girl Scout activities. In her spare time, according to Bunny, she "enjoys ceramics, swimming and baking."

Her present project, that typing to increase the membership of the club, could have some interesting results. Picture, if you will, a wife approaching her husband saying, "Dear, do you mind I join the 'Bunny Club'?"

MOVIE REVIEWS

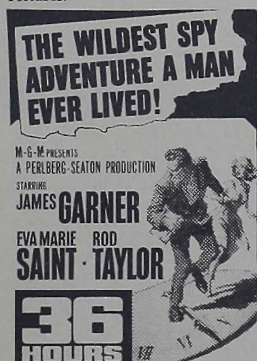

A HOUSE IS NOT A HOME
When the paths of dynamic producer Joseph E. Levine and filmmaker Clarence Greene and Russell R. Crossed, a dream became a reality and a best-selling book became a fascinating movie.
"A House Is Not A Home," now seen through Embassy Pictures, is a unique film stars Academy Award-winning actress Shirley Winters, Robert Taylor, and Richard Crawford, and Caesar Romero. The film gives an unusually perceptive and informed look at one of the most bizarre eras in American history, The Roaring Twenties and the tempestuous Thirties.
Shirley Winters, an immigrant worker, was the friend and confidante of not only gangsters, but leaders, businessmen, politicians, writers and artists. She provided a liaison between the underworld, politics, the professions and big business, and desirable women.

"A House Is Not A Home" will intrigue audiences not only because of its drama and unique topic but also because it provides a history of American morals and manners in the Twenties and Thirties, which was a fabulous era.
Don't miss "A House Is Not A Home," released through Embassy Pictures.

Woman Marines Admit— They're 22 Years Old!

By SGT. N. M. RADEL

"Lady Leathernecks" around the world will celebrate their 22nd anniversary Saturday, Feb. 13.

In October, 1942, the Secretary of the Navy authorized the Marine Corps accept women applicants for commissions and enlistments to create a Women's Reserve. This was the beginning of today's Woman Marines; but it marked the second time in Marine Corps history that women would be wearing Marine green and sharing the pride and traditions of their male counterparts.

On Feb. 13, 1943 four women faced the world and explained why a women's division of the Marine Corps was needed. These four women were in fact the entire Marine Women's Reserve, at that time.

A year later under the slogan "Free a Man to Fight", this tiny group had transformed itself into an elite organization with 800 officers and 14,000 enlisted personnel.

The first class of enlisted Women Reserves, numbering 722, entered Hunter College in New York on March 26, 1943, and completed their training one month later.

The early officer candidates of the Marine Corps Women's Reserves trained with WAVES at Mt. Holyoke College. The first class of 74 entered on March 13, 1943 and was commissioned May 4, 1943.

In July 1943, the Officer Training School and Recruit Depot for women were moved to Camp Lejeune, N. C., from Mount Holyoke College and Hunter College. Between 1943 and 1945 a total of 23,145 women answered the Corps' call to "Free a Man to Fight".

To recognize the fact that there were ladies present at Lejeune, three streets in the Women's Reserve area were named accordingly: "Virginia Dare" in memory of the first English child born in America (at Roanoke Island, not far from New River); "Lucy Brewer" commemorating the legendary character who is supposed to have dressed herself like a man and served on board the renowned CONSTITUTION, "Old Ironsides", during the War of 1812 as a regular Marine—the first "Woman Marine" and Molly Pitcher.

As these women reported for duty to take over non-combatant jobs, more and more male Marines threw on battle packs and "shoved off" for the war, Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, then Commandant of the Marine Corps, once remarked about the Women Reserves that "they were responsible for putting the 6th Marine Division in the field; for without the women filling the jobs throughout the Marine Corps, there would not have been sufficient men available to form the division".

These women performed a number of clerical jobs including those of stenographers, clerk-typists, general clerks, communication clerks, supply clerks and office machine operators. Women were also utilized in mechanical trades and skilled jobs.

In July 1945, Congress authorized the first Woman Marines to be sent to Hawaii.

In 1948, Congress passed a public law, providing for women to serve in the Armed Forces. Heretofore, women in the service were part of the Reserve program. With the enactment of the law Woman Marine Reservists assumed the title WOMAN MARINES.

With the change of title from WR TO WM, boot camp for the women switched from Camp Lejeune to Parris Island. Officers were trained at Quantico.

One hundred and sixty-four Women Marines, commanded by Captain Carol A. Vertalino, comprise the local contingent. Their daily routine, including drill and training, is similar to that of their male counterpart.

The future role of the Woman Marines is now under study.

Lieutenant General Robert Pepper, USMC (Ret) brought a special study group to Camp Lejeune in late Sept. to examine the role of Woman Marines on the base. The study group is considering problems involved in the development of the optimum peacetime requirements necessary to support Marine Corps activities.

The group visited the barracks and a number of work stations which employ the Marines. They were concerned with both living conditions and recreational facilities available to Woman Marines; also are looking into the possibilities for more formal schooling for Woman Marines.

In addition to Gen. Pepper, the group was composed of Capt. Barbara J. Bishop, Director, Woman Marines; Maj. Patricia A. Maas and Major James Wrenn.

As they celebrate their 22nd Anniversary Woman Marines around the world proudly contribute to the mission of the Corps who have served before them. "Free a Man to Fight". They stand behind their male counterparts 100 percent. They have earned the right to wear the proud emblem with distinction and honor.
