MARINES HEAD FOR BIG SHOOT—Heavily-laden with packs, seabags and rifles, Marines of the 2d Marine Division board the USS OKINAWA Saturday at Morehead City, N. C. Approximately 2,000 officers and men of the Division's artillery arm — the 10th Marines — are on their way to FIREX-65. The three-week exercise, to be held on the Caribbean Island of Vieques, will see cannons of the 10th Marines pouring thousands of rounds of ammunition onto the island during day and night firing. Col. H. Poggemeyer, Jr., commanding officer of the artillery regiment is the exercise director for FIREX.

Marine Missile Battalion Dispatched to Viet Nam

A U. S. Marine Corps Hawk Air Defense Missile Battalion is now in Da Nang, Republic of Viet-Nam, as one of the steps taken by the United States in response to recent surprise attacks by the Viet Cong.

President Johnson ordered deployment of the First Light Anti-Aircraft Missile (LAAM) Battalion to the Republic after conferring with the National Security Council Feb. 7.

The battalion is equipped with launchers carrying 54 Hawk missiles.

Last November the battalion was deployed to the western Pacific. Primary mission of the LAAM battalion, officials said, is to provide medium range defense of assigned installations or areas against hostile aircraft and medium altitude targets.

A typical Marine LAAM battalion consists of 31 officers, 1,000 enlisted men, one Navy medical officer and 11 Navy aviators. Lieutenant Colonel E. Cook commands the Hawk missile units of the 1st and 2nd Marine Corps have been deployed to Europe, the Middle East and Panama in addition to the recent assignment of the battalion to the Southeast Asia theater.

The supersonic Hawk missile is propelled by a solid propellant, is armed with a conventional warhead and uses a homing guidance system.

On Friday, a special heavy equipment air drop is scheduled which will test Recon Bn's claim of air transportability. In what is believed to be another first, six Mighty Mite vehicles and trailers will be air dropped to advance party.

SecNav Urges Marines To 'Send Advice Direct'

There is probably not a Marine today who hasn't at one time or another, wished that he could sit behind the desk of the Commandant of the Marine Corps for just one day and recommend some changes that he thought would benefit the Corps and himself.

Of course such a situation is impossible. However, Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze has offered the next best solution.

According to an article that appeared recently in NAVY TIMES, he has offered Marines and Sailors a chance to write to him directly and offer ideas they might have which could solve the reenlistment problem. According to the TIMES article, Marines and Sailors may write directly to the Secretary of the Navy and offer constructive ideas that would aid the Navy and Marine Corps in keeping their men career men.

Meanwhile, Rear Admiral John M. Alford, is heading a special task force, created to make an in-depth study of the problem.

The direct communication invitation has been extended "principally to save time," according to Adm. Alford. The group must submit its final report to Mr. Nitze by July 1.

Admiral Alford told NAVY TIMES that, "By July 1, the task force will have identified the problems and will have suggested practical courses of action to improve the situation. We hope to remove, on a general basis, some of the obstacles presently standing in the way of an attractive career."

Military members of the group include Capt. Lester E. Hubbell, John H. Cheffey (MC), Charles D. Nace, Means Johnston, Wade W. Lape, Hugh M.

The task force has been divided into groups responsible for probing different areas bearing on the retention problem. One group is studying fleet operational policies. A second is dealing with administrative policies such as education, training, promotions, work hours, and discipline.

Other groups are studying distribution and rotation policies, pay and fringe benefits, and studies are being made of the civilian view of a Navy-Marine Corps career, life aboard ship, family and troop housing, and specific problems of sea service officers and enlisted men.

Woman Marine Lauded For Acts During Accident

Woman Marine Captain Patricia T. Vogler was recently for the unselfish devotion and assistance rendered Mrs. Joseph P. Cosgrove during a serious automobile accident occurring in Jacksonville, N. C., involving Mrs. Cosgrove and her two small children.

She received a Letter of Appreciation from Col. T. S. Ivey, Asst. CG, on Feb. 16. Captain Vogler, is the Adjutant of the Base Bn., 2d Force Service Regiment.

Captain Vogler joined the Company at Camp Lejeune on Nov. 6, 1964. Six days later while having lunch at a roadside restaurant she heard a loud crash. Investigating the noise and she found a car had hit a pole near the restaurant.

The occupant of the car, Mrs. Cosgrove was thrown from the car and was wandering around in a state of shock. Captain Vogler who managed to quiet her down asked the person who came to the scene of the accident to call an ambulance. Mrs. Cosgrove kept repeating "my baby, my baby". Captain Vogler took a six month old baby from the car and rendered first aid to the injured child.

A second child who occupied the car, Mrs. Cosgrove's 2 year old daughter, was removed from the car and the ambulance carried both mother and daughter to the hospital. The 2 year old daughter died before she reached the hospital.

Mrs. Cosgrove had asked Captain Vogler to take the six month old baby, who was thought uninjured, to the Cosgrove home.

Mr. Cosgrove, an aircraft worker at the Marine Corps Air Facility had been working on helicopters at Cherry Point at the time. Lieutenant Colonel E. C. Stanton, for whom Mr. Cosgrove was working notified him of the accident. Colonel Stanton then proceeded to the Cosgrove home. When he arrived there he found Captain Vogler and the six month old

'Operation Surefoot' Takes 2d Recon Bn. To Georgia Forests

Nearly 30 members of the 2d Reconnaissance Battalion, 2d Marine Division, FMF, will depart this Marine Corps Base for Operation SUREFOOT, a two-week cold weather mountain training exercise in northeastern Georgia's Chattahoochee National Forest.

Commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Jack Westerman, Operation SUREFOOT will test joint service unity as well as afford a Marine Corps Reserve Unit an opportunity to support a regular Marine Corps organization.

An advance party of 41 men departed Camp Lejeune Wednesday by motor convoy, and was expected to arrive at the training site today. The advance group will prepare a base camp for the main body.

On Friday, a special heavy equipment air drop is scheduled which will test Recon Bn's claim of air transportability. In what is believed to be another first, six Mighty Mite vehicles and trailers will be air dropped to advance party.

In addition to the Mighty Mites and trailers, other equipment and supplies to be air dropped on the same day include 40 hexagonal tents, 40 space heaters, 8 55-gal. drums of gas and all the ammunition to be used during the exercise.

Main body personnel, 250 strong, will depart from the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N. C. Saturday in C-130 aircraft of the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point, N. C. Upon arrival at Dobbins Air Force Base, Atlanta, Ga., the members of the main body will be transferred to waiting trucks of the 4th Motor Transport Battalion, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, Atlanta, which will transport the personnel to the training site nearly 60 miles away.

On Sunday after the main body of personnel arrives, a second air drop will be made. This drop will include 375 cases of combat rations and cooking fuel, 2,000 pounds of assorted batteries and 20 5-gal. water cans.

If There's Hope -There's Health

In more than half the world, one doctor may care for as many as a quarter of a million people. Per capita income ranges from $50 to $300. Hunger, bad diet, inadequate housing breed disease. Sickness, deformity and injury go untreated. Preventable illness runs rampant. Infants die from curable disease before they learn to walk.

Through Project HOPE, physicians, dentists, nurses and health technicians from every corner of America have moved into this medical vacuum to update professional knowledge and practice in the emerging nations overseas.

Providing care alone is not enough, for this would cost millions and still fall short of the need. Instead, Project HOPE, adapting its program to the needs of each nation visited, helps local medical and health authorities fill in their own special health gaps.

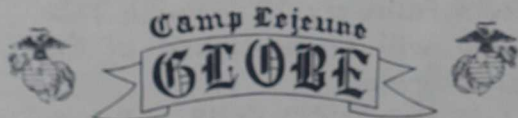

In Indonesia and South Viet Nam, for example, where untreated disease and injury have crippled so many, physical therapy and orthopedic rehabilitation were stressed. In Peru and Ecuador, where trained medical auxiliaries are scarce, HOPE emphasized on-the-job training of nurses, aides, orderlies and medical technicians. In Guinea, where preventable disease like measles, mumps, TB, diphtheria, and small pox are virtually unchecked, the Ministry of Health has enlisted HOPE's aid on a crash mass public health effort.

HOPE's medical staff is maintained at roughly a hundred physicians, dentists, nurses and medical auxiliaries. The vital element consists of 30-man rotating teams of physicians and dentists, from as many as twenty for specialties, who serve aboard ship and ashore without pay for two-month periods.

On board, HOPE's dedicated medical crew demonstrates a modern hospital in action, working side-by-side with local counterparts, teaching modern medicine by example, lectures, and seminars. Ashore, her physicians and nurses work as demonstrators in hospitals, set up immunization, nutrition and milk programs in city slums and rural areas, give lectures and seminars.

This unique program of Project HOPE continues to win friends for the United States in emerging nations.

It can only succeed with your continued support through a donation to the Federal Services Joint Crusade. Give generously.

VOICE OF LEJEUNE

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column reserved for publication of letters from readers of the GLOBE. All letters must be signed and contain name and address, however, names and units will be omitted on request.

My family and I would like to say "Thank You" to the men and women of Camp Lejeune for their help in obtaining a custom built wheel chair for our nine year old daughter, Debra. It was all made possible through the joint efforts of the men and women of Camp Lejeune, Chief of Pediatrics, U. S. Naval Hospital, and the Muscular Dystrophy Assn.

Without solicitation we were contacted by Mr. J. Clyde Branson, District Director of Muscular Dystrophy concerning the need of a wheel chair for Debra. All that was required was a letter from a doctor substantiating Debra's physical handicap. The Chief of Pediatrics happily obliged to write it and the chair was ordered and delivered by Mr. Branson.

Again my family and I wish to extend a deep sentiment of gratitude to men and women of Camp Lejeune for their help by generously contributing to Muscular Dystrophy and materially helping a little girl be a little happier and comfortable. Sincerely yours, George E. Bosse, DTC, USN, 4th Dental Company, Force Troops.

Was He?

Last night I saw upon the stairs
A little man who wasn't there.
He wasn't there again today;
Gee, I wish he'd go away!

THE LAND WHERE HATE SHOULD DIE

This is the land where hate should die—

No fueds of faith, no spleen of race,

No darkly brooding fear should try.

Beneath our flag to find a place.

Lo! every people here has sent

Its sons to answer freedom's call;

Their lifeblood is the strong cement

That builds and binds the nation's wall.

This is the land where hate should die—

Though dear to me my faith and shrine,

I serve my country well when I

Respect beliefs that are not mine

He little loves his land who'd cast

Upon his neighbor's word a doubt

Or cite the wrongs of ages past

From present rights to bar him out.

This is the land where hate should die—

This is the land where strife should cease

Where foul, suspicious fear should fly

Before our flag of light and peace.

Then let us purge from poisoned thought

That service to the State we give,

And so be worthy as we ought

Of this great Land in which we live!

Chaplain's Corner

It is so easy to misunderstand the other guy that one is constantly amazed that we all get along with one another as well as we do!

Someone has the dubious ability to kid with a straight face—take him seriously and he wonders why he lost a friend.

Someone in authority makes a decision we don't like, may be that he made the decision against his own desires, in view of certain facts we don't know. In our ignorance, those facts we misunderstand and think he is against

Someone passes us on the road without the usual cheer

"hello". We think he is unfriendly and has scratched us from his list. The poor misunderstood guy probably had some weight problem on his mind at the moment (like what was he supposed to get for his wife at the commissary) and was deep in concentration.

Someone tells us that somebody told him that someone told him that so-and-so did such-and-such. By now the story is a garbled (as anyone who has played the children's game of "Whisper" knows), but we believe it. We misunderstand, false judge, and someone suffers great harm.

There are endless examples of such misunderstanding. The point is: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor". This may be extended to also mean: "Thou shalt not think falsely against thy neighbor".

Because it is so easy to misunderstand, we all need to practice the wise, and practical, and Christian philosophy of giving everyone the benefit of the doubt—to try to understand the other guy. If we truly love our neighbor as ourselves as we are commanded to do by Christ, we will not believe something harmful about the other guy without solid reason. Rather, we will try to protect him from harmful gossip, will try to understand him and try to help him. And, if there seems to be a barrier between us and someone, we will go to him—not spread it to others—square it away with him.

Let's try not to misunderstand the other guy. Rather, let's quietly get the facts first, give him the benefit of the doubt, square it away with him, and then offer him genuine help in Christ Love.

CG FOR A DAY—Mike Baysden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baysden, 804 Williams St., Jacksonville, N. C., practices duties as Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, under the guidance of the acting Base Commander, Col. T. S. Ivey. Twenty other Onslow County Boy Scouts took various Marine Corps posts aboard the base Feb. 9 for Civic Day of Boy Scout week as guests of the tri-command.

Long Distance Rates Lowered, Hours Added

JACKSONVILLE — New long distance telephone rates, put into effect Feb. 1, by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, will mean more available time for long distance calls at reduced rates to subscribers in this area.

The changes apply to both interstate and intrastate rates. The maximum charge for three-minute station-to-station calls within the continental United States is $1.50, while the evening rate is in effect, and $1.00 when the night rate begins. Evening rates apply from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 4:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. on Saturday. The new Saturday schedule represents a major change from the old one, during which the evening rate applied only after 8 p. m. Night rates for station-to-station interstate calls apply from 8 p. m. to 3:30 a. m., Monday through Saturday, and any time on Sunday. There are no changes in person-to-person interstate rates. The maximum charge for the first three minutes of a station-to-station call within the state of North Carolina is $1.30, under the day rate; 90 cents under the evening rate; and 60 cents under the night rate. The intrastate station-to-station day rate applies from 3:30 a. m. to 6:00 p. m., Monday through Friday. Evening rates are in effect from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 4:30 a. m. to 8 p. m. on Saturday. The night rate is in effect from 8 p. m. to 4:30 a. m., Monday through Saturday, and any time on Sunday.

N. C. Day Rates

The day rate for a person-to-person call within the state of North Carolina is $1.95 for three minutes and it is applicable from 4:30 a. m. to 6 p. m., Monday through Saturday. Both evening and night rates are $1.65 for intrastate person-to-person calls from 6 p. m. to 4:30 a. m., Monday through Saturday, and any time on Sunday.

These reduced rates exist only for the first three minutes of a long distance call. Each additional minute is divisible by one-third. Therefore, if the charge for the first three minutes of an interstate station-to-station call were $1.50, each additional minute of conversation would be 50 cents.

Reno - Carson - Vegas 12th Annual Reunion At Quantico March 27

Marine Corps Schools, Quantico—Plans for the 12th Reno-Carson-Vegas Reunion were announced this week by LtCol. Robert F. Young, reunion coordinator.

The annual reunion of Korean veterans, who participated in the vicious fighting north of Seoul, is scheduled to be held this year at the Staff NCO Club at Quantico on March 27.

Colonel Young said, "We are continuing a special effort to invite enlisted Marines and Navy men who were members of the 5th Marines (reinforced) during the period March 26-30, 1953".

It was during this period that the Chinese Communists launched an all-out assault on the perimeter held by the First Marine Division. Only after savage hand-to-hand fighting did the enemy retire to his original positions.

All Marine and Navy veterans, active and inactive, who participated in this action with the 5th Marines are invited to attend the reunion.

Additional information may be obtained from Colonel Young at the Amphibious Warfare School, MCS, Quantico, Va.

baby. Capt. Vogler suggested that the baby be taken to see a doctor because of a bump she noticed on the child's head. Upon medical examination of the child it was found to have a broken leg and the child was given medical treatment.

Over the span of five hours Capt. Vogler rendered aid and assistance to the mother and child contributing to their comfort and welfare during hours of stress.

The letter of appreciation read in part "Your presence of mind, consideration for others, and prompt, decisive action did much to alleviate the seriousness of the situation. Your actions during and subsequent to the emergency are indicative of the highest traditions of the Marine Corps". It was signed by the CG, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, MCAS, Cherry Point, N. C., Brig. Gen. G. S. Bowman, Jr.

Capt. Vogler commented after the ceremony that most people are afraid to stop when they see an accident. "If more people would stop to render aid when they see an accident, less people would die as a result of accidents". The Captain followed the golden rule applying to accidents and accident victims, "do unto others as you would have them do unto you".

Capt. Vogler is married to Capt. L. D. Vogler.

J'ville's Lutheran Service Center Keeps You, The Marine, In Mind

The Lutheran Service Center, located across from the bus station in Jacksonville, represents an organization that began 14 years ago — in an old quonset hut. From this hut, the service center has evolved into the attractive, but unpretentious activity now housed in a modern brick building.

Supported by the Lutheran Church, the center has facilities for TV watching, letter writing, pool shooting, ping-pong, shuffleboard, and just relaxing. An average of 3,500 servicemen visit the center every month.

According to Charles Loken, director of the center, the big asset of the activity is not in the physical facilities offered, but in counselling, and spiritual guidance.

It is apparent from the center's schedule, that the needs and desires of the majority of Marines who visit there are considered. It is also apparent that minority interests receive attention.

For instance, there is an art class every Thursday. A man interested in painting, leathercraft, etc., can find an outlet and a place to work at these classes.

Discussion groups have a friendly appeal for service center inhabitants. A group will get together and discuss a topic, which can be about almost anything, but quite often concerns some aspect of military life.

Ideas are brought out, talked over, and usually both sides of the topic are seen. Sometimes the discussion will end without any conclusions being drawn, but a better understanding is reached, and the participants feel better due to the mental calisthenics involved.

A variety of facilities for a variety of interests are available at the Lutheran Service Center. If you haven't visited the club, you ought to stop in sometime, and see if they have anything for you.

BLT 3/8 Finishes Jungle School, Then On To Jamaica For Liberty

By SGT. BILL MAY

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, Feb. 8 — Battalion Landing Team 3/8 (BLT 3/8), today arrived at its first "liberty port" of the current cruise in the Caribbean after winding up 8 days of counter-guerrilla jungle warfare training in the Panama Canal Zone.

The four ships of Amphibious Squadron 12, which are transporting the Marines around the Caribbean, split up and headed for two resort areas; the LPH, USS Guadalcanal, and ACTS, USS Vermillion, landed while the FLS, USS Plymouth Rock, and the LST, USS Lorrain County, docked at Montego Bay.

Members of the BLT will be given four days of liberty in this winter resort area, before moving on to Isle de Vieques, P. R., where amphibious landing operations training will be conducted.

Prior to this port, the Marines underwent intensive jungle warfare training at Fort Sherman, Panama Canal Zone. During the training, the men were instructed on the different phases of jungle warfare and jungle living by Army instructors. They then put the lessons into practical application during four days of simulated guerrilla warfare.

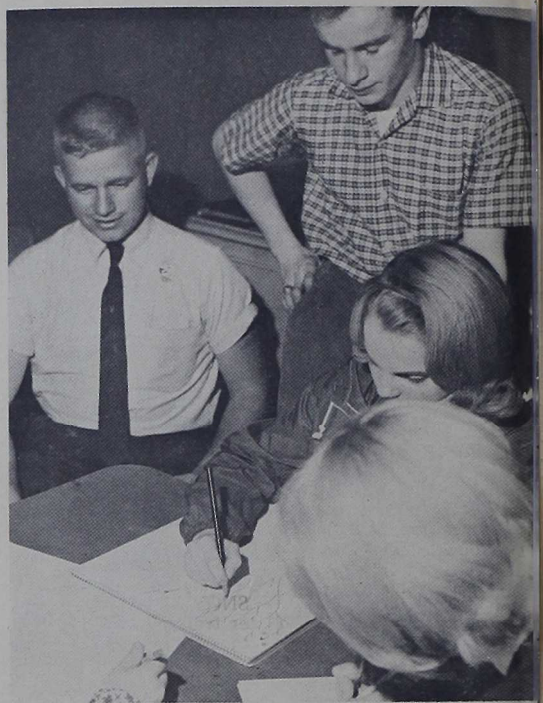

The first two days of the simulated war were spent on company and small unit operations, while the last two days were spent on large scale operations.

After winding up the large-scale operations Thursday morning, the BLT took the afternoon off and visited one of the man-made "wonders of the world," Gatun Locks of the Panama Canal, which is the Atlantic entrance to the Canal and one of three locks ships must navigate in order to pass from one ocean to the other.

Other liberty stops on this cruise for BLT 2/8 will include Bridgetown, Barbados, Fort de France, Martinique, and San Juan, P. R.

GETTING A CLOSE LOOK—Lieutenant Colonel R. F. Van Cantfort, Commanding Officer, Battalion Landing Team 3/8 (BLT 3/8), holds a boa constrictor at the zoo at Fort Sherman, Panama Canal Zone, after his unit received a lecture on jungle wildlife at this Army Tropic Test and Jungle Warfare Training Center.

DOD Praises Military For Professional Bearing During Viet Cong Attack

U. S. servicemen in the Republic of Viet-Nam have received high praise for their professionalism and quick reaction following the surprise attack by Viet Cong forces Feb. 7.

Defense authorities relayed this praise after receiving a first-hand report from an official who had just returned from the Republic of Viet-Nam.

An example of heroism was demonstrated when a military policeman warned officers and men in the compound at Pleiku of the on-coming Viet Cong. Moments later he was killed. Those in the compound fought off the attackers before any large explosive charges could be placed.

The same example of professionalism was portrayed at Camp Holloway, an air strip about four miles from Pleiku. In the dead of darkness their reaction to the Viet Cong assault was impressive.

The "deliberate surprise attacks" by the Viet Cong took the lives of eight U. S. servicemen and wounded many.

Immediate reaction came from the United States following a meeting by President Johnson and the National Security Council.

Withdrawal of dependents, deployment of a Hawk missile battalion to the Republic of Viet-Nam and air strikes by U. S. and South Vietnamese air elements against North Viet-Nam targets were among the actions taken by the United States following the Viet Cong raids.

"It has become clear that Hanoi has undertaken a more aggressive course of action against both South Vietnamese and American installations," President Johnson said, "and against Americans who are in South Viet-Nam assisting the people of the country to defend their freedom."

The President explained, "We have no choice now but to clear the decks and make absolutely clear our continued determination to back South Viet-Nam in its fight to maintain its independence."

Initial attacks on Dong Hoi barracks and staging area in the southern part of North Viet-Nam were by aircraft from the carriers USS Ranger, USS Hancock, and USS Coral Sea. An A-4 aircraft from the Coral Sea was lost. Adverse weather conditions forced some U. S. and South Vietnamese aircraft to abort their mission.

A second strike, Feb. 8, consisting of South Vietnamese aircraft, was against targets in the area of Vinh Linh. U. S. A-1F aircraft provided flak suppression during the mission.

Vinh Linh is near the 17th parallel, the line of demarcation between North and South Viet-Nam.

SNOWFEX EXERCISE

Operation SNOWFEX-65 got underway Feb. 2 at the U. S. Army Cold Weather Training Center, Camp Drum, Watertown, N. Y.

More than 1,000 Marines from the 1st Battalion, 8th Marines, 2d Marine Division, FMF, and support troops from the 2d Division and Force Troops, Camp Lejeune, and Marine Helicopter Squadron 265, Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N. C., are taking part in the cold weather training exercise.

SNOWFEX-65 is directed by Colonel Richard S. Johnson, Commanding Officer, 8th Marines.

This is the first time many of the southern-based Marines have used snowshoes or skis. This introduction to the special problems of cold weather combat training has been educational for the majority of the participants.

In addition, the Marines are learning safety measures, survival techniques, and combat tactics which are employed in frozen regions.

Through hard work and determination the Marines are overcoming their initial awkwardness with the new footwear and many "beginners" are rapidly becoming "pros."

The first field firing exercise, conducted by the 1st Platoon, Company "A", 2d Anti-Tank Battalion, was scheduled for Feb. 10-12.

Open House

Marines engaged in SNOWFEX-65 cold weather training at Camp Drum took time out Feb. 13 to allow Watertown area residents the opportunity to see their latest equipment and weapons.

On display was a CH-46A Sea Knight helicopter and UH-1E 'copter. Both aircraft are jet powered. The Sea Knight is the newest Marine Corps helicopter and is being tested in cold weather for the first time by Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 265.

Weapons being used in support of the First Battalion, 8th Marines were offered for viewing.

The latest in lightweight Marine Corps vehicles, including the Mule and Mighty Mite, were also available for viewing.

In addition, communications equipment, flight survival gear, cold weather clothing being used locally, and other equipment was displayed.

SNOW SHELTER—Two members of Company "C", 1st Bn., 8th Marines, unpack and get set for evening meal in the field.

TANK KILLER—Lance Corporal F. Rivera taps Private F. J. Chiero on the head to signal the 3.5 inch Rocket Launcher is loaded and ready to fire.

WINTER VIGIL—Lance Corporal A. L. Ortiz, 8th Marines, takes aim on the "enemy" with a sled-mounted M-60 machine gun while PFC R. D. Schermen gets set for rifle support.

COOL COFFEE BREAK — PFC A. O. Self takes time out for a warm cup of coffee.

SNOWFEX SKIERS—Marines try the beginners ski slope at Camp Drum. The rucksacks are worn to prepare the men for movement once in the field during the month-long exercise.

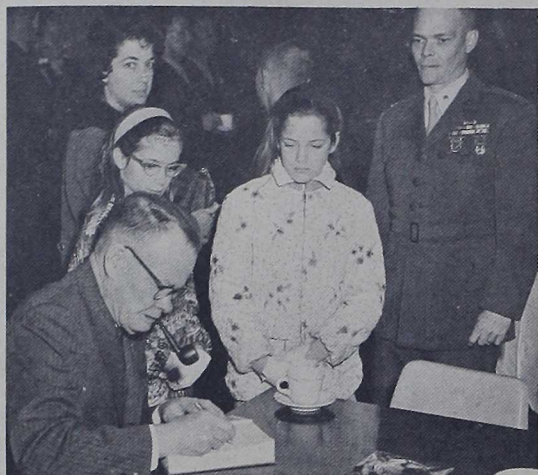

WINTER WEATHER—Marines take time out from cold weather training at Company "C", 1st Bn., 8th Marines bivouac area.

TRY AGAIN—Falling snow and falling skiers highlighted the beginning of training.

Watson, a veteran of 21 years Marine Aviation achieved two milestones of his career recently when he took command of Heavy Marine Helicopter Squadron 461 and flew his 1000th accident free hour in a squadron aircraft, the CH37. The 1000th hour was flown on a flight from Jacksonville, N. C. to Montgomery, Ala. Appropriately enough Maj. Watson's crew chief in the flight, Sgt. T. Lanham (right) has over 1000 hours in the same type aircraft. Prior to coming to HMH-461 30 months ago, Maj. Watson had logged 4700 hours in various types of aircraft, both jet and conventional.

THREE IS A CROWD—Marine Gunnery Sergeant Clyde C. Stevens, a member of MABS-26, MCAF, New River, recently had a very busy day for himself. There was enough happening to him for three people. He was discharged, he reenlisted for six years and was promoted to his present rank all within a matter of hours. The "Gunny" appears to be rather bewildered by the exchange of paperwork. His commanding officer, Lt. Col. James H. Rinehart made the presentations during informal ceremonies in his office.

IWO JIMA - A SOLDIER'S STORY

LTCOL. WILSON L. COOK, HqCo., H&S Bn., MCB, Base Exchange Officer — "This was the first campaign that I had ever seen the Japanese use rockets. They would set a 10-12 foot rocket upright on two welded railroad irons with 1000 pound warhead and set it off. They were very inaccurate and very destructive." Col. Cook was wounded during the fight for hill 382.

GYSGT. VICTOR E. BRANDT, MT School Co., MCSC — "Every time you closed one entrance to a cave, it would seem like the Japanese would come out of the ground in another location. Underground tunnels connected the gun emplacements. In these hidden, twisting passageways, 35 feet underground, the Japanese could move easily from one defensive position to another. Naval gunfire and bombings had little effect on these concrete structures."

MAJ. EVANDER C. WOOTEN, 2d Bn., 1st ITR — "The way the underground caves were tied in with the gun emplacements and the pillboxes, if you could make a 100 yards a day you were doing good. Just when you thought you had an area cleaned up and the Japanese were in front of you, they would appear behind you. We would see their footprints all over our area the next morning when we commenced the attack."

MEMORIAL CEMETERY—Wilbur H. Tuck, Camp Lejeune's Superintendent of Schools was Officer-in-Charge of the firing squad which assisted in the dedication of the Memorial Cemetery on Iwo Jima. He was then a lieutenant, and is seen to the left in photo in hand salute.

For three days and three nights, U. S. ships and planes had unleashed tons of explosives on Iwo Jima in preparation for an amphibious assault which began twenty years ago tomorrow.

In the early morning hours of Feb. 19, 1945, the 4th and 5th Marine Divisions boarded the landing craft that would take them ashore.

Rockets from U. S. ships streaked through the skies, plummeting into island targets. Marine, Navy, and Army Air Corps aircraft ravaged enemy positions with napalm, bombs, bullets and rockets.

A wave of armored amphibians ground into the black ash beaches of Iwo at 0902. Three minutes later, amtracs in the second wave were unloading Marines on the beach.

Marines charged through the open hatches of the amtracs. Their charge slowed as they bogged down in ankle-deep volcanic ash.

The Marines reorganized and began their inland push. Resistance was light during the first few minutes. Scattered mortar, artillery and machine-gun fire was encountered. The only man made objects on the beach were land mines. There were no enemy emplacements.

Strength Underestimated

The Japanese had buttoned-up in well concealed caves and tunnels emerging only after the heavy bombardment shifted. Intelligence reports of enemy strength had been underestimated by the Americans.

The Japanese reacted quickly after the bombardment lifted. Fifteen minutes after the Marines had landed, they were receiving heavy fire.

Throughout the hours of D-Day Marine riflemen slugged their way inch by inch, through intense machine-gun and rifle fire.

D-Day at Iwo was an uneven struggle with the advantage of terrain and disposition heavily in favor of the Japanese.

Marines were forced to advance over open ground while subjected to a terrific pounding from positions that were difficult to locate.

Six Marine infantry regiments and six Marine artillery battalions landed on Iwo that first day. Along with two tank battalions these Marines began to prepare for an expected Japanese night counter-attack as darkness closed around the island. These units were tied in with physical contact all along the front, except for two small gaps. Both of these gaps however, were well-covered by fire and observation.

INLAND SHOT taken at 0900 D-Day plus 1.

CAPT. MARION E. LEWIS, MCSC — "The Japanese counter-attacks were well organized until near the end of the campaign. As the numbers of Japanese officers and NCO's were killed off the men seemed to be bewildered about the operation, leaving their protective shelters and attacking aimlessly. The inability of the average Japanese soldier to take command when his officers and NCO's were killed was one of the factors leading to his defeat."

SSGT. CARL F. BLADES, Service Co., H&S Bn., MCB — "When I landed with my mortar team and set up, I found no shortage of targets or ammunition, but that volcanic ash seemed to dig the mortar in after every round and we would have to correct so our fire mission would stay on target. Our forward observer would call in the fire missions to the Company Commander and he would designate our targets."

MSGT. JOE HUDDLESTON, Motor Transport Schools — During the Iwo campaign, Huddleston served aboard the Heavy Cruiser USS Alaska as a seagoing Marine; a member of the gun crew. "During the operation we fired supporting missions for the ground troops until I could see the paint peel from my 5-inch gun. We were also fighting off Japanese aircraft who were out to destroy the big ships."

SDY IN COURAGE

CWO R. C. MCINTYRE (Ret.), Base Special Services — "My regiment, (21st Marines) landed on D-2 in support of the 5th Marine Division's push on Mount Suribachi. The island seemed so quiet, almost deserted as the assault forces moved in toward shore, it became furiously alive. It spouted death and destruction from every direction." McIntyre was wounded in the leg with grenade fragments but not evacuated during the early days of the operation.

MARINE CORPS MEMORIAL with Washington in background

GYSGT. ROBERT L. REISNER, MCSC, MCB — He was then a 19-year-old PFC of "I" Co., 3d Bn., 13th Marines, 5th Marine Division. Entrusted with the capture of Mt. Suribachi were the 28th Marines. "Artillery preparation began on the night of Feb. 19. We poured everything we had into Suribachi to soften it up for the 28th Marines. Actually twice that morning (Feb. 23) the American flag was raised on Suribachi, and a prettier sight I never did see."

MAJ. EVERETT HAMPTON, HqCo., H&S Bn., Assistant Base G-4 — "We had some pretty stiff resistance from the Japanese when we started our drive up north . . . casualties were high. Within seven days from the time we landed I was the senior officer in the company due to the casualties inflicted on us and I took over as company commander." Major Hampton was wounded twice during the campaign.

Throughout the night the enemy tried to infiltrate the Marines' lines, but there was no large-scale counterattack.

24 More Days of Struggle

The next 25 days would not be unlike D-Day. They would be filled with bitterness and disappointment . . . and, eventually, victory.

It was on the 26th day of the assault (March 16) that Iwo Jima was declared secured. Dedicated Japanese soldiers would drag the battle through the late winter months into May before all resistance would cease.

During the battle for Iwo Jima, 22,056 Marines fell in battle. Of these, 4,564 were killed in action. Another 1,331 died of wounds sustained in the battle. This total amounted to almost one-third of all the Marines killed during World War II.

Japanese killed in action numbered approximately 19,000. Slightly more than 1,000 were captured.

The operation was planned and executed in accordance with the grim necessities of the air war against Japan. Strategically located Iwo Jima had to be taken.

Why Iwo Jima?

Situated some 650 air miles from Japan the island was to be used as an emergency landing field for distressed B-29 Superfortresses. It would also be used for refueling aircraft on long-distance flights and as a base for fighter-aircraft who would fly air cover for the big bombers.

The urgency of the Marines' mission in capturing Iwo was impressed upon them as early as March 4 (D-plus 13). That day the first damaged B-29 limped into Iwo while the battle still raged.

By the end of the war, 2,251 Superforts carrying 24,761 crewmen landed on the island. A significant number of these would have been lost if Iwo had not been available.

Only Men Win Wars

In the final analysis, battles are won not by machines but by men trained to fight, wanting to live, but unafraid to die. Iwo Jima has come to symbolize the courage and offensive spirit that brought victory to the Armed Forces of the United States during World War II.

The 24 Medals of Honor awarded for valor during the campaign reflect the high level of individual and collective heroism characteristic of that action.

SGT. G. B. GORMAN, FSSC, MCSC — Sergeant Gorman didn't land on Iwo as a Marine. He was a "Seabee" attached to "B" Co., 24th Marines, 4th Marine Division. "Everything about our operation was difficult, dirty and horrifying. That coarse volcanic grit filled your shoes, cascaded down your neck, cut into your face and eyes. My battalion was among the first waves that hit Iwo, and our casualties were 25% higher than some of the Marine units."

Base Boxers Bump Bragg In Their Home Debut, 5-3

The red-hot Camp Lejeune Boxing team racked up two more victories this past week, as they downed Fort Bragg in their home opener last Thursday 5-3. On Friday and Saturday the Devildogs battled their way to the team championship in the Carolinas Invitational Golden Gloves Championships at Charlotte, N. C., grabbing 5 of their 6 bouts.

Opening at home before a crowd of approximately 1100 cheering Marines, Coach Ray Rogers' sluggers stopped the Fort Bragg Dragons, who were making their 1965 ring debut. Bill Mercedos, the 119 lb.

sparkplug, won a close decision over Charles Spence of Bragg. Both fighters looked sharp, battling toe-to-toe in the final minute of their bout.

Army's Steve Adams evened the card in the evening's second bout, as he was awarded a close decision over Lejeune's 132 pounder, Don Reid.

Marine Light Welterweight Harrison Payne TKO'd Arthur Washington in 1:17 of Round 2. The fast-moving 139 pounder stopped the game Dragon fighter with a flurry of hard left hooks and straight right hands.

In the second 139 lb. clash, Bill Boston was handed a split decision against Stanley Jackson of Bragg. Both Boston and Jackson stung each other throughout the fight with good right hand exchanges.

Marshall Fortune, the third Light Welterweight to see action, lost a unanimous decision to Fort Bragg's Walter Wallace.

The Army's James Ross brought the score cards to an even 3-3 as he decided Devildog, Francis Hutchinson, Hutch, fighting his first fight at 147 pounds, didn't seem to have the steam or strength he had while fighting Light Middleweight. Ross picked away at the Welterweight's weak defense, scoring on punches to the mid-section.

Charles Perry, Camp Lejeune Welterweight, had the fans cheering as he outclassed Billy Smith. The shifty 147 pounder landed good combinations throughout their three round contest, Smith was at "nerves' end" when the fight closed. He wasn't able to land a glove on the fleet-of-foot Marine.

In the evening finale, Floyd Stevens TKO'd Don Miller in 1:47 of round 3. The classy Light Middleweight, who has the right handed power of an exploding 105 shell, jolted his opponent with regularity.

Golden Gloves Champs

As "big Red", the Lejeune Boxing Team bus, pulled out last Friday, the number of men scheduled to fight at Charlotte that evening had been cut to six.

Francis Hutchinson and Bill Mercedos were dropped from the card due to illness.

After traveling 250 miles the local pugilists had only four hours to rest before they entered the ring at the beautiful Park Center in Charlotte.

Rafael Mulett, Marshall Fortune and Art Redden were the only three Marines to see action however on Friday. Ken Norton, Charlie Davis and Floyd Stevens drew byes into the finals.

Mulett was awarded the semi-final bout by a forfeit, while Marshall Fortune won a unanimous decision from Henry Nielson of Charleston, S. C.

Art Redden didn't waste any time as he knocked out Junior Bentley of Lenoir, N. C., in 1:47 of round 1. The hard-hitting Interservice Light-Heavyweight champion stung his victim with repeated rights to the body.

As the finals began on Saturday Charlie Davis, the Lejeune Bantamweight, set the format the Marine scrappers were to follow for the evening, as he grabbed a unanimous decision over Bucky McGinnis of Gastonia, N. C. Davis, moving with the quickness of a cat, landed sharp left hooks and combinations all evening.

In Lejeune's second fight, Rafael Mulett was awarded a split decision over Jimmy Hester of High Point, N. C., in their three round contest. The two Featherweights hurt each other in different stages of the match, with Mulett scoring heavily in the final two minutes.

Hitting with a marksman's accuracy, Mulett stunned the game fighter from High Point, who is about to enter the Marine Corps.

Marshall Fortune bounced back from his loss against Fort Bragg by knocking out Allen Richardson of Cherry Point in 1:28 of round 3. Richardson, who stuck and ran for the first two rounds, was corraled by Fortune in the third round. The local Welterweight cornered the game Marine from Cherry Point, and started the weakening process on him. Coming out of the corner Richardson was greeted by two straight right hands, which sent him sprawling. Up at the count of nine, Fortune put him down to stay with a series of lefts and a straight right to the head.

The only Lejeune setback of the evening came when Ricky Ballenger of Blacksburg, S. C., was awarded a split decision over Devildog, Floyd Stevens, who was victorious against Bragg, didn't seem to have the pep in his punch. Ballenger who hit with the authority of a heavyweight out-slugged the classy Lejeune fighter.

Art Redden, fighting Kenneth O'Neal for the second time, in as many weeks, gave the Kings-tree, S. C., slugger a boxing lesson. The Golden Hog scored a TKO in 1:17 of round 3. Stalking his prey with the cunning of a lion, Redden waited for his opening and then let fly. O'Neal was on the bicycle the entire fight, but the brakes were applied when Redden unloaded a fast flurry of punches.

The card closed with a return match, pitting Ken Norton of Lejeune against Welton Benton of Columbia, S. C. Norton, who defeated Benton at the AAU Championships two weeks ago, scored a unanimous decision over the hard-hitting heavy-weight.

"Golden Boy", a name Norton has acquired recently, raised his winning streak to seven. Five of his wins have been by knockout. Art Redden also kept his clean slate unblemished, copping his sixth win, in as many outings.

Next up for the Devildogs will be a return match at home against the battle-tested conquerors of Lejeune, Fort Campbell. The Screaming Eagles are the only team to have defeated the battling locals so far this year.

A large part of the credit for the team's success this year can also be given to their trainer, Rocky Santiago. A veteran of many years ring experience Santiago has helped mold one of the best service teams around. The Hawaiian born Marine, who made it to the semi-finals of the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia, works the team hard, always coming up with good results.

Coach Rogers and trainer Santiago are looking forward to a reversal of their 7-3 loss at the hands of the Army boxers. The match will be held at the fieldhouse, Saturday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m. The bouts are presented free of charge and are open to the public.

Skeet Team Shoots High

The Camp Lejeune Skeet Club returned from Seymour Johnson Air Force Base this past Sunday with 12 trophies, including seven individual firsts and five man team championships. Vern Mull led the Lejeune shooters, as he copped first in the 28 gauge competition with a 49x50, 410 gauge clay AA matches with a 40x50, and Class AA runnerup in the 12 gauge competition, with a 93x100.

Jim Smith captured individual championships, finishing first in the Class C division of the 12 gauge competition with a 91x100, while John Shindelar was ed off with the 12 gauge Class D championship with a 93x100.

These four marksman teamed up with John Bishop to capture the five man team championship at the Valentine O. Skeet Tournament with a blazing 462x500.

HqCo. Cagers Finish 1st In Base Basketball Play

Headquarters Company captured the Base Intramural Basketball Championship last week as they downed Motor Transport Company, 60-49. Disaster nearly struck the front-runners, when Elmer Stone, team's leading scorer, sprained his ankle at the end of the first half.

Playing a ragged first half and third quarter, coach Bill Maro's cagers started looking as the final stanza got underway.

Walt Weaver, HqCo. scorer and leader in the game with 19 points, hit a jump shot, which put the Maromen on top 41-40 with 5 minutes remaining. Rick Thalman a member of the HqCo. team, stole the ball and hit, restoring the lead to three.

From there on out the game was out of reach, Dennis Cheatham, playing in his best game of the season, led the front runners in the late stages of the game, as he repeatedly scored from the floor.

Jim Clark, the big man of the HqCo. cagers, swept the boards all evening long. The lanky center, who will be leaving the team before the base tourney gets underway, chipped in with 11 markers.

The fast-breaking, high scoring champions tallied 529 points in their eight games for an average of 66.2 points a game, while allowing their opponents only 39.5 points, or 49.3 a game. The base title holders placed three men in double figures. Stonely led the onslaught with a 21.5 average, followed by Rick Thalman and Walt Weaver, both averaging 11 pts. a game.

Force Troops Play Enters Last Week

Upsets continued to be in order in Force Troops intramural basketball play last week as 2d Radio Bn. upended previously undefeated 8th Engineer Bn., 73-67, and 8th Motor Transport Bn. dampened 8th Comm's title hopes with a 65-63 victory.

Radio Bn., enjoying only a mediocre season, got a 30 point effort from Fegley and 24 points from Barlow to pace them to their most impressive win of the season.

Morrow poured in 38 points in an effort to keep the Engineer's slate clean.

In a real barn-burner from start to finish, Motors eked out a two point win over Comm on Brian Butterly's long field goal at the final gun.

Butterly had 19 points for the winners while Richardson and Lorah each had 22 for Comm.

Headquarters Co., Force Troops, moved into first place with a pair of wins last week. They dumped 2d ANGLICO, 82-63, and routed 2d Tanks, 94-62, as they gained momentum toward the final week of league play.

Comm was even for the week as they beat Amtracs, 72-67, while Bridge Co., won over ANGLICO, 60-57, and dropped a 73-54 decision to 8th Motors.

Radio Bn. knocked their second victory of the week by downing 2d Topo, 53-49, and Engineers bounced back with a 66-51 win over ANGLICO.

League action comes to an end next week with six games on tap. Tonight Motors meets Engineers in what could be a deciding game. Engineers must win to tie for first, while a loss would give Headquarters Co., and open door to the championship.

BATTLE ROYAL — Unidentified players from 8th Motor Transport Bn., and 2d ANGLICO battle for a rebound during their game earlier this season. Force Troops intramural basketball moves into its final week of play next week with several teams still in contention for first place honors.

Havelock Rams Butt Pups, 82-62

The Camp Lejeune Devilpups Basketball squad slipped to a 1-13 mark this past week, dropping decisions to Havelock at home 82-62, and losing a closely contested game to their service rivals at Quantico, 58-46.

The Pups, giving roughly four inches a man to the towering Havelock Rams, played a good floor game. They matched the Rams point for point in the second half, but the first half bulge was too much to overcome.

Jim Kelly, Bob Taylor and Harry Land sparked the undersized, but over-spirited pups, as they poured 17, 16 and 15 points respectively.

After spotting the Rams a 20 point first half lead, the Lejeune cagers returned after the halftime break and began peppering the nets from all over the floor.

As the scene changed to Quantico later in the week the Pups were up for the game against their Marine rivals.

The Quantico cagers, who who were never ahead by more than three points the entire game, spurred in the final minutes. Jim Kelly tallied 14 points for the losers, while Harry Land chipped in with 13 markers.

STOP—An unidentified member of the Havelock basketball team, (left), seems to be telling Jim Kelly (with ball) not to shoot. The high riding Havelock Rams dumped the Lejeune cagers 82-62.

Roving With Rick

Bowlers, man your lanes! A two day roll off will be held at the Lejeune lanes on March 10 and 11 in preparation for the upcoming East Coast Interservice Conference Bowling Championships. The ECIC Bowling tourney, which will be hosted by the new base lanes, will be held on April 12-14. The 12 highest average bowlers who contact the Base Athletic office by March 1 will be selected to participate in the pre-ECIC Bowling Championships roll-off. Six of these keggers will represent Camp Lejeune in the April Championships.

Competing in the first National Rifle Association sanctioned match, sponsored by the Camp Lejeune Rifle & Pistol club for the 1965 season, the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing team from Cherry Point walked off with the majority of awards. They say a person has to be completely dedicated to distance running. This past weekend at Camp Lejeune saw 15 people brave the torrential rains and the biting temperatures in their efforts to capture the 3-man twelve-mile relay run. The team of Voss, Taylor and McDermott crossed the finish line a sloshing first in 75 minutes and 26 seconds. The Lejeune Harriers have another meet scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 28 at 1:30 p.m. on the field house track. There will be two divisions: a 1-mile Junior division run, and a 3-mile Senior race. For further information contact Lt. R. W. McDermott, U. S. Naval Hospital, 4-4313.

Hurry back "Smitty". Although we have been having a weather we have been having a good weekend, so in closing let's hope for the best next Monday and Sunday and keep our fingers crossed.

'Where The Jobs Are' Theme Of Pre-Retirement Orientation Class Feb. 23

By 1STLT. M. R. ARNOLD

"What are you gonna do when you retire Gunny?" "I'm gonna get me a nice soft job that will pay me about $400.00 a month and add my retirement pay to that and take life easy."

"Where you gonna get this job?"

"I'm gonna go back home. I'm figuring on gettin' me a nice house there and raise my kids in the old home town."

With the $189.60 per month retainer pay of a gunnery sergeant transferring to the Fleet Reserve on the minimum 19 and six, a $400.00 a month job would serve most retiring Marines pretty well, but what about the $400.00?

The $189.60 is assured and to help prospective Quad-Command retirees qualify for the additional $400.00 or more, the first Camp Lejeune Pre-Retirement Orientation Briefing of the year is scheduled at the Camp Theatre on February 23 at 1:30.

Sponsored by the Department of Defense and the Department of Labor with the assistance of several North Carolina agencies, the briefing is a part of a continuing series of sessions to offer pre-retirement assistance and counseling on civilian employment.

All personnel planning to retire from any of the Camp Lejeune and MCAF commands are urged to attend the meeting. Representatives of North Carolina employment and veterans service agencies as well as Marine Corps career advisory office speakers will present information concerning employment opportunities and conduct a question and answer period.

Colonel R. W. Gilckert, Base G-1, will open the session and S. Marvin Burton, Director of the North Carolina Veteran's Employment Service will introduce the program and provide job market information. Colonel Charles Burgess (Retired), Employment Service Supervisor will discuss Conditioning for a Second Career and Mr. Burton will follow up with more information on other employment assistance contacts.

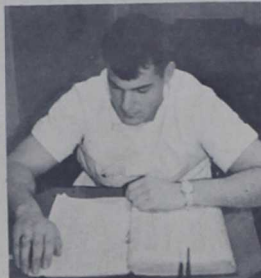

W. C. Cox, State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will explain assistance offered prospective retirees by veterans organizations and Collin McKinne, Director of the North Carolina Veteran's Commission will outline benefits available to veterans.

Assistant Employment Service Director Alden Honeycutt will describe the services of the Public Employment Service and before the question and answer period. SSgt. R. E. Renegar, 2d Division Career Advisory representative, will explain the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan offered by the Federal Government.

IF YOU ASK ME ?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Last week NAVY TIMES reported that the Secretary of the Navy, Paul M. Nitze, invited Marines and Sailors to send ideas direct to him on how to cure retention problems in the Naval Service. This action, which broaches all the ordinary channels to which correspondence of this type is subjected, prompted this week's question.)

QUESTION—What would your main point be if you sent a letter to the Secretary of the Navy concerning the retention problem?

HN ROLAND ZIMMERMAN, 2d Hosp. Co.—"I believe that the emphasis on pay is greatly overstated. I believe that a person in the armed services should be given more personal freedom during his off-duty hours."

SSGT. ROBERT DIBBLE, H&HS (Operations), MCAF—"Initiate an effort to bring back the intense feeling of Esprit-de-Corps that was so prevalent among Marines 10-15 years ago."

CPL. RICHARD DERAGISCH, H&HS, Ground Elec., MCAF—"Improvement of general living conditions in the barracks, an increase in pay, and fair judgement of misdemeanors might influence personnel to stay in."

SGT. CARL ENEIX, Spec. Serv., SqCo., H&S Bn., MCB—"Improvement of general living conditions would help, and also if all service personnel had an increase in pay to help meet the ever-increasing costs of living, more people might stay in service."

LCPL. MICHAEL ISENBERG, Comm. Section, H&S Co., 1st ITR—"A new system of promotion would help keep Marines in the 'Corps'."

February 22 is a holiday celebrated by Americans over the world. They celebrate a holiday, and birthday of the world's famous Free fighters, General George Washington.

Marines of the 2d Marine Division are also fighting freedom this holiday, but in a different way than General Washington. Freedom from the world's greatest killer, Highway Deaths.

The Marines first line of defense, under the supervision of the Division's Traffic Safety Section, will be coffee bars up at strategic locations in Eastern North Carolina's highways.

The coffee bars will be set at the junction of U. S. Highway 17 and Wrightsville Beach Road, seven miles North of Wilmington, N. C.; the junction of Highway 70 and U. S. Highway 258, one mile west of Kinston, N. C. and the James K. School, two miles East of Warsaw, N. C. on North Carolina Highway 24.

Hours of operation will be from 4 p. m. Feb. 22, until 8 a. m. Feb. 23.

Members of the 2d Marine Regiment will operate the bars at Kinston, while the 2d Tank Battalion the one at Wilmington. The 2d Motor Transport Battalion will man the bars at Warsaw. The 2d Motor Transport Battalion will be the one at Warsaw.

Marine's Prayer

Eternal and loving Father, we commend to Thy protection and care the officers and men of our Marine Corps Guide and direct us in the maintenance of our country's honor. Protect us in the hour of danger. Grant that wherever we serve our nation—on land, on sea or in the air, we may at all times put our trust in Thee and commit ourselves and our loved ones to Thy fatherly keeping. Enable us to win the victory for human liberty; but above all give us the better victory over temptation and sin—over life and death that we may be more than conquerors through Him who loved and laid down His life for us—Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.

Commissary

The Sales Commissary Store will be closed on Saturday, Feb. 20.

Donations Sought For Residence Foundation

WASHINGTON — The Commandant of the Marine Corps is spearheading a fund-raising drive for contributions to the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation.

General Greene initiated the campaign by turning over a check to the Foundation at HQMC. The Corps-wide drive will seek voluntary contributions from Marine officers. Marine contributions will be added to funds received from Army and Coast Guard officers, and will be the basis of an endowment fund for the Foundation. The residence, Vinson Hall, will provide housing for senior (minimum age 62) officers of Marine, Navy and Coast Guard officers; the officers of reserve officers who on active duty or who retired after at least 20 years active service; retired officers and their wives; retired commissioned women officers, and their husbands; and retired officers on a space available basis.

General Greene, in a previous endorsement of the Foundation, said, "The Foundation is a worthy undertaking. It is sponsored by capable and responsible individuals. It has begun on a sound financial basis, but its assistance to continue. It is the support of all of us. The Marine Corps is squarely behind this project."

DRIVE CHAIRMAN is Col. Robert E. Collier, HQMC, a former G-2 at Camp Lejeune.

Don't Forget SS No. On Tax Return

Don't forget to list your Social Security number on your Federal income tax return. A penalty may be assessed for each failure to include the Social Security number unless a reasonable cause can be shown not including it.

An Internal Revenue Service spokesman said Social Security numbers are being omitted on returns. Taxpayers should double check to make sure that social security numbers are complete and accurate.

Night Driving

Darkness, calls for a special type of driving. The most important requirements are increased alertness, better control of car and reduction of speed.

Weaving in traffic is always dangerous, but more so at night. Observe lane markings and keep to the right except when passing. Pedestrians are hard to see at night especially when they are wearing dark clothing. Always give them the right-of-way to allow for poor judgment or confusion on their part.

Give the driver ahead of you plenty of room at night, and be particularly alert in watching for his signals. If you follow too closely, your headlights (even on low beam) will reflect in his rear view mirror and seriously reduce his vision. His reduced vision increases his chances of getting into trouble, and your driving too closely increases your chances of getting into trouble right along with him.

Stay well within your own lane, particularly on curves, and watch out for approaching drivers who may be out of their lane on the wrong side of the street.

Watch out for parked or stopped vehicles on the roadway with poor lights or no lights at all.

At the first sign of drowsiness, do something about it. Get off the roadway as soon as possible. If you don't have a competent relief driver, take a rest before continuing. Also, rest periods more often than during daylight driving. Don't overdrive your headlights. You must see where you are going. If you are driving 60 mph, it will take you, under average conditions, about 366 feet to stop. If you can see only 200 feet ahead, you will be in serious trouble if a stopped vehicle or obstruction requires you to stop at the speed.

But on your directional signals well in advance to allow for reduced visibility.

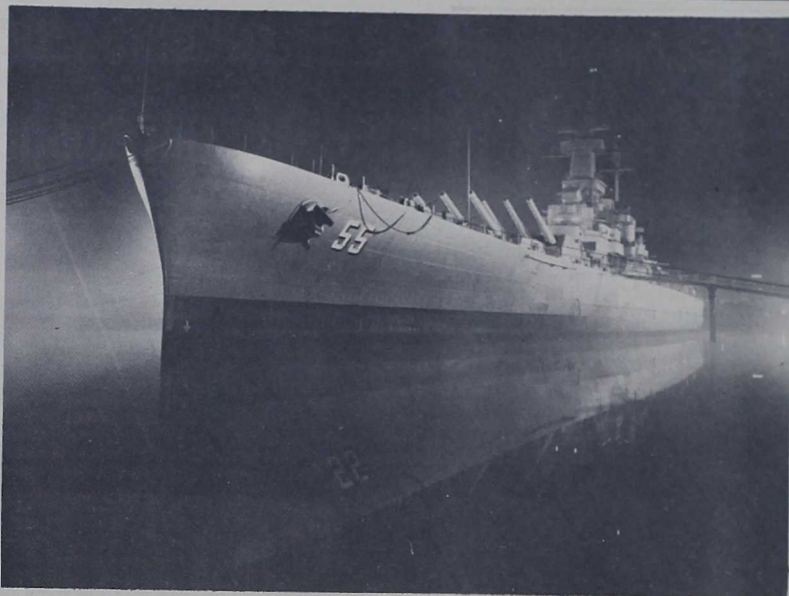

Don't use parking lights when in motion. You need your headlights to see and be seen.

Make special adjustments for bad weather at night. Bad weather further reduces your already severely limited vision. Dim your instrument panel lights to avoid glare inside the car.

If an approaching driver fails to dim his lights after you signal him, don't keep your bright lights on, too. Dim your lights to keep your eyes on the road shoulder or the lane edge to give you slow down.

Never trust your judgment in estimating the speed of an approaching vehicle by its headlights.

"IMMORTAL SHOWBOAT"—A night view of the U.S.S. North Carolina in her permanent mooring at Wilmington, N. C. The Battleship, open daily to visitors as a war memorial, will be the star of a nightly sound and light spectacle, "The Immortal Showboat," April 1 through Labor Day.

U.S.S. North Carolina At Wilmington To Star In 'Sound And Light' Show

The Battleship USS North Carolina, which earned 12 battle stars in World War II, will star nightly in a "sound and light" spectacular April 1 through Labor Day at Wilmington, N. C., where the huge ship is permanently moored as a war memorial open to visitors year around.

Sound and light techniques have been developed into a fine art in Europe to dramatize the Royal Palace at Versailles, the Forum of Rome, the Acropolis at Athens and some 50 others of the world's most famous historical landmarks. Now, for the first time, they will be used to re-create the history of 20th Century war vessel—a history which blazes with the sound and light of naval combat from Guadalcanal to Tokyo.

Immortal Showboat

The USS North Carolina was so colorful in action that she was known as the "Showboat". The electronic spectacular relating the saga of the 35,000-ton super dreadnaught from her keel-laying in 1937 until her triumphant arrival in Tokyo Bay in 1945 is entitled "The Immortal Showboat".

It is being produced for the USS North Carolina Battleship Commission, a State agency, by Sound and Light Productions, Inc., with Pierre Arnaud of Paris, France, as staging director. Arnaud, known for many highly successful sound and light productions in Europe, is confident that "The Immortal Showboat" will be a masterpiece. He points out that this is the first application of sound and light to something so dynamic as the Battleship.

Basically, sound and light is the re-creation of history at the place where it occurred. Spectators thus become eavesdroppers of history, their imaginations stimulated by a mood medium which peoples the sound and light subject with ghosts which become "real".

Earle Luby, story editor for CBS-TV's "The 20th Century" series, wrote the script for "The Immortal Showboat" and special music has been composed by Bernie Green of New York. The voices of more than 50 professional actors have been recorded in New York, together with sound effects which include the roar of guns and planes, the impact of shells and bullets, and the hurried footsteps of the ship's crew as battle stations are manned.

New Grandstand

Spectators will see and hear "The Immortal Showboat" from a new 1,200 seat grandstand on the shore of the Cape Fear River inlet where the USS North Carolina is moored opposite downtown Wilmington. Between the grandstand and the ship, the inlet is being enlarged to provide a reflecting pool for the 728-foot vessel which is trimly maintained with guns and gear in place.

The key to the entire sound and light spectacle is a 10-track electronic tape which not only produces sound through amplifiers located around the grandstand but cues in lighting effects aboard the ship. As the story unfolds, lights will glow from the ship's turrets, superstructure and portholes to create the illusion that the USS North Carolina is peopled by her entire wartime complement of 108 officers and 1,772 enlisted men.

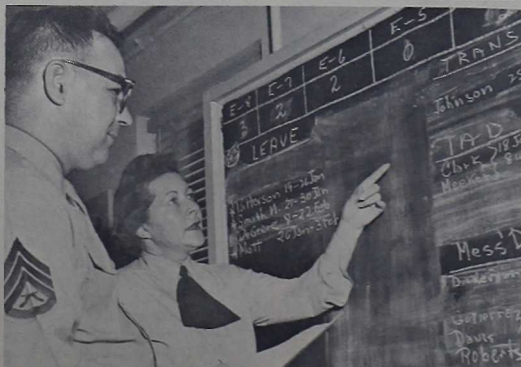

The USS North Carolina Battleship Commission, headed by Hugh Morton of Wilmington, has announced that admission prices to "The Immortal Showboat" will be $1.00 for service men in uniform. Daytime visiting hours at the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial continue to be 8 a. m. until sundown, daily and Sundays, with admission 50¢ for adults and 25¢ for children.

Second Health Class

The second phase of the children's health class being sponsored by Stone Street School is scheduled 7:30 p.m. this Tuesday.

If you took advantage of the first meeting, ( fall short of your responsibility now. Your children's health maintenance is a vital part of your role as a parent.

If you were unable to attend the last class, don't miss this one. The information will be invaluable to you and your children.

The speakers will be Mr. S. Orcutt, Director of Youth Communities Activities, and Mrs.

Mildred Randall, a nutritionist.

President Kennedy encouraged a strenuous program of physical fitness. But unless basic health of our children sound, such a program is possible. A healthy youth creates a healthy America.

Interested parents are invited and urged to attend class.

MOVIE REVIEWS

GORGON
 Peter Cushing and Christopher Lee in Gorgon, the movie about a flying monster who can turn people to stone merely by looking at them. Set in a superstitious Spanish village, Gorgon offers a suspenseful and electrifying evening. Your heart can stand the strain, but miss this horror of horrors.

KISSIN' COUSINS
 Elvis Presley and Elvis Presley having his first double role in movies and having himself a little of a good time. It all happens in his latest MGM musical, Kissin' Cousins. You know, Elvis No. 1 is a missile expert in the U. S. Army. And Elvis No. 2 is a mountain boy, who heads one of the feudin' clans in a war hills. When the Army decides to build a missile base on top of Old Key, those two Elvises meet face to face and fist to fist. Yes, Kissin' Cousins adds up to the funniest free-for-all you ever set eyes on with mountain gals by the dozen. A shaggy dog named Hezekiah and a whole swinging hootenanny of wonderful country songs.

letter charging that Sir Mark Loddon is an impostor; that the man claiming to be Mark is actually an ex-actor who looks exactly like him and who, after Mark's death, in the war, has taken over his identity—and his wife. Bogarde plays the dual-role of Mark and the ex-actor. Miss de Havilland is seen as the wife. Word by word—witness by witness—shock by shock—Libel is a fantastic story moving to an unpredictable climax.

STAGE TO THUNDER ROCK
 If you enjoy action-packed westerns with gun-blazing showdowns, then Paramount's Stage to Thunder Rock is the film for you. It stars Barry Sullivan, who portrays a two-fisted sheriff sworn to protect the prisoner he has captured and the money he has recovered. Marilyn Maxwell portrays his long lost girl; Scott Brady, a desperate gunfighter; and Lon Chaney, a beaten rancher. See Stage to Thunder Rock, filmed in Technicolor and Techniscope.

EVERYBODY OUTRANKS HIM—Gomer Pyle (Jim Nabors) has the feeling that everyone outranks him on "Gomer Pyle—USMC," seen Fridays on the CBS Television Network. When the show's new staff car was delivered recently it bore the California license "PFC 367." (Since the car is privately owned, it must carry civilian plates when in use on public streets.) Nabors is still a private.

What Will You Do If A Bomb Falls?

The late President John F. Kennedy said: "To recognize the possibilities of nuclear war in the missile age, without our citizens knowing what they should do and where they should go if bombs begin to fall, would be a failure of responsibility."

To alert private citizens and military personnel of Jacksonville and Camp Lejeune to their role in civil defense, a series of civil defense classes have been scheduled by the Base Education Officer in conjunction with state and local Civil Defense officials. Classes will begin February 23 at 7 p. m. at the Brewster Elementary School. There is no charge for any of the classes and all area citizens are eligible to enroll.

Classes will be offered on a continuing basis to military personnel, their dependents, and civilians to inform them of the basic principles and practices of civil defense. This program is designed to give enrollees experience in personal and community survival planning, so they can fulfill their responsibilities in time of disaster, particularly in case of attack by nuclear weapons.

The course "Education For Living In The Nuclear Age," is designed to give individuals a basic understanding of civil defense and what action they must take to protect their families and community in case of a nuclear attack, or natural disaster. The following is the schedule of classes that will be offered Feb. 23, 1965 to June 23, 1965.

FIRST CLASS: Tuesday and Thursday 7-9 p. m. with registration on Feb. 23. Classes begin Feb. 23 and end Mar. 11.

SECOND CLASS: Monday and Wednesday 7-9 p. m. with registration on Mar. 29. Classes begin Mar. 29 and end Apr. 14.

THIRD CLASS: Tuesday and Thursday from 7-9 p. m. with registration on Apr. 27. Classes begin Apr. 27 and end May 13.

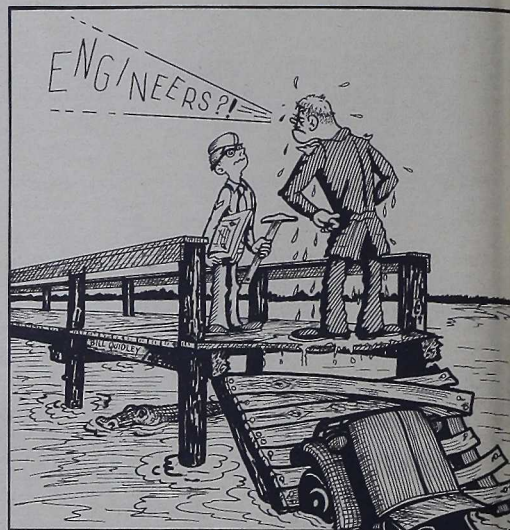

FOURTH CLASS: Monday and Wednesday from 7-9 p. m. with registration on June 7. Classes begin June 7 and end June 23. AFTERNOON CLASSES: Monday and Wednesday from 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. with registration on Mar. 15. Classes begin Mar. 15 and end Apr. 21.

Registration for each session will be conducted at Brewster Elementary School during the first class meeting of each term.

Students satisfactorily completing the course "Education For Living In The Nuclear Age" will receive a certificate of completion.

Military bus service is available to students who desire transportation. The bus will depart from the Hadnot Point Bus Depot, Track 6, at 6 p. m. for Brewster School and return to the depot leaving the school at 9:30 p. m.

Engineer Officers in the Lejeune area will hold their annually scheduled celebration in honor of St. Patrick, patron saint of engineers, on the evening of March 20 at the Paradise Point Officer's Club.

All active duty and retired Engineer Officers, including those officers serving with engineer organizations, are invited to attend.

Specifics will be forthcoming, but don't wait — plan now to attend.

Vacation Guide Available Free

Spring and summer will soon be here. With the warm weather will come the yearning for traveling. The State of North Carolina has just published a 64 page guide to its travel attractions from seashore to mountains.

The 1965 edition of "North Carolina, Variety Vacationland", illustrated with more than 150 color photographs, is available, free on request, from the State Travel Information Division, Department of Conservation and Development, Raleigh.

Parks, historical and recreational sites, sports, outdoor dramas and summer theatres, festivals, and gardens are among the many Variety Vacationland features presented in words and pictures. These features, in localities from Atlantic Ocean beaches to Southern Appalachian ranges, are within a day's travel time.

"Variety Vacationland is more than a slogan in North Carolina," writes Governor Dan K. Moore in his introduction to the new travel guide.

It is an accurate description of a state that offers the visitor matchless vacation adventures.

Swim Shop

The Water Safety Instructors Association aboard Camp Lejeune announced that they are planning a swim shop at the Area 5 pool on March 1. The shop is set up in the hope of perfecting flaws in the instructors work, such as teaching techniques, and swimming strokes, etc.
