MARINE CORPS BASE, CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.,

JANUARY 28, 1965

Corps Strength Increase OK'd

Although President Johnson's $49 billion defense budget calls for a 36,000 man cut in the armed forces, the Marine Corps and the Navy will get 20,000 additional men.

It has not been specified yet how many of the 20,000 will be Marines, but an educated guess would be about 3,000.

Due to the technical advancement within the Corps, and the adoption of several new weapons, this personnel increase is essential.

Radar operators will be needed to fill the rear seat of the newly acquired F4B aircraft. As the F4B is phased into a squadron, the unit will require 80-100 more ground crewmen. This will call for a raise in the T/O of Marine squadrons.

Red Eye (pg. 12, Jan. 21, GLOBE) will require more Marines. The Red Eye is a shoulder-launched, surface-to-air missile designed for use by infantry against strafing aircraft.

Army - Air Force Cut

A hefty cut was taken in the personnel strength of the Army and Air Force. Between the two branches of service, 56,000 men will be lost.

This cut reflects the tapering-off of a military buildup which began four years ago.

President Johnson now feels that the armed forces have a commanding superiority over any enemy and need little further expansion.

"With the rapid strides made in the past four years and the future gains already scheduled, our powerful modern forces will be adequate to their tasks for years to come," the President stated.

Further improvement will place emphasis on quality rather than quantity, and vigorous research on weapons of the future.

During the fiscal year beginning July 1, the total military manpower count is scheduled to drop to 2,640,000. At the end of last fiscal year, 2,685,000 were in service.

The new budget calls for $51.6 billion. This is $600 million less than last year. This decrease is attributed to a vigorous cost reduction program, including the shutting down of 95 military bases which were determined unnecessary by the Defense Department. Forty-nine billion dollars of the total defense budget is earmarked for military assistance and defense department activities.

West Coast Units Set For Exercise

A major fleet exercise involving more than 80 ships and 70,000 Navy-Marine Corps personnel of the U. S. Pacific Fleet will be held between Feb. 23 and March 12, 1965.

The exercise, named Silver Lance, will be conducted at sea off southern California; on the off-shore islands of San Clemente, San Nicolas and San Miguel; and ashore at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Silver Lance will encompass strike warfare, antisubmarine warfare, peacekeeping in a counterinsurgency environment, two major amphibious landings by sea and air, and auxiliary amphibious operations.

Lieutenant General Victor H. Krulak, CG, FMFPac will command the Third Marine Expeditionary Corps and direct operations ashore. His forces include more than 40,000 Marines from the First Marine Brigade, based in Hawaii; the First Marine Division, with Headquarters at Camp Pendleton; the Third Marine Aircraft Wing, located at El Toro and other support units.

Base Elementary School Dedicated To War Hero

A pioneer Marine Corps helicopter pilot who lost his life in 1952 test-flying a new type of helicopter at Patuxent River, Md., was honored at Camp Lejeune last Wednesday when the A. H. DeLallo Elementary School was dedicated in his name.

The late Lieutenant Colonel Armond Hector DeLallo was one of the first helicopter pilots in the Marine Corps and a World War II hero. He won the nation's second highest combat award, the Navy Cross, during the battle of Midway Island in 1942. War-time Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox commended then Captain DeLallo for his "extraordinary heroism as a pilot in Marine Scout Bombing Squadron 241 during action against the enemy...."

In the dedication ceremonies at Camp Lejeune, Lieutenant General J. P. Berkeley, Commander of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, stated that the new school was "dedicated to one whose life was dedicated to the service of his Corps and his country."

Berkeley Cites DeLallo

General Berkeley, in reviewing the contribution to Marine Corps aviation made by Col. DeLallo, stated that the concept which DeLallo helped develop are now doctrine throughout the Marine Corps. He further credited DeLallo with helping the Marine Corps become a leader in the concept of vertical development. The general praised the courage and patriotism of Col. DeLallo and averred that there is no more fitting place than a school to dedicate to these qualities.

Mrs. DeLallo expressed her own appreciation of the honors bestowed upon her husband. "This will be an occasion that I and all the members of our family will remember for all of our lives," she said. Many of the children who joined in the ceremonies later gathered about Mrs. DeLallo to talk with her about the school and to ask questions about the Marine for whom their school is named.

Mrs. DeLallo Attends

Colonel DeLallo's widow, Mrs. Helene DeLallo, his mother, Mrs. Leon DeLallo and the late colonel's four children and other relatives traveled from Long Island, Vermont and other eastern localities to witness the activities. Mrs. DeLallo now lives in Long Island. Other members of the family on the reviewing stand were sons, Armond H. Jr., and Roberts, two daughters, Joan and Jacquelyn. The colonel's brothers Leon and Robert, his sister, Mrs. Al Statte and her husband, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Leon DeLallo.

540-600 Students

The new DeLallo school, with 12 classrooms and planned expansion to 20, offers full accommodations for 540 to 600 students, including a library, speech and music rooms, an assembly-dining room with

MRS. DELALLO—Mrs. Helene DeLallo, widow of the late Lt. Col. Armond H. DeLallo, stopped to talk with students from the school dedicated to the memory of DeLallo, one of the Marine Corps' first helicopter pilots.

Birthday Messages

MARINE CORPS BASE

To all hands of the 2d Marine Division I take the occasion of this, your 24th anniversary to extend the congratulations of the Marine Corps Base.

The colorful history and demonstrated readiness of the 2d Division is on constant display to members of this command. We take pride in the fact that a fighting organization of your magnitude, which stands out within a Corps of combat-readiness, calls Camp Lejeune home.

—A. L. BOWSER

Major General, U. S. Marine Corps

FORCE TROOPS

On behalf of the members of Force Troops, I extend best wishes to the 2d Marine Division on its 24th Anniversary. In the best tradition of "Follow Me," you have continued to set the example as a true force in readiness.

Force Troops takes great pleasure in supporting a unit that is "second to none."

Congratulations on the addition of another highly successful year to the proud history of the 2d Marine Division.

Local Hopefuls Selected For DI School Training

With nearly all the prospective applicants for Drill Instructors School screened, the Drill Instructors Screening Board, visiting here from Parris Island, S. C., selected 78 Marines out of 114 interviews, according to a board spokesman.

Twenty-four members of the 2d Marine Division were chosen, out of 28 possibles. Force Troops had 17 Marines selected out of 19 prospects. Eight interviews with MCB personnel turned out four eligible men. There are more interviews slated for MCB.

Eight were selected from New River; all from MAG-26. Fourteen men from MAG-26 were interviewed.

Over-all, 68.3 percent of the Marines interviewed were selected. The percentage of Marines chosen from ground units (2d Marine Division, Force Troops, and Marine Corps Base) was considerably higher than those chosen from air commands.

Prior Screening Vital

The feeling of one member of the board is that the percentage variation is not due to a difference between the Marines in the two types of duties, but in prior screening.

Marine Corps Order 1306.7E sets forth the standards for entrance to the school. Preliminary screening is given at command levels.

Some of the requirements to get assignment to drill instructors school are; minimum age of 21, one year on station, and emotional stability and reliability.

A potential drill instructor's personal history is of interest to the board. They want to make certain that the candidate has no problems that would interfere with his duties on the drill field. His professional and medical history also receive attention from the board.

One of the biggest reasons that men are failed is lack of motivation. Life as a drill instructor is known to be trying at times, and demanding all the time.

On the positive side, a drill

Instructors billet is often a short-cut to a promotion. An NCO who has successfully completed a tour of duty as a DI is general regarded as a superior Marine who has proven his leadership ability.

Assists Promotion

Promotion boards at Headquarters Marine Corps which convene to select sergeants and above are told in effect, "The records of some of the non-commissioned officers you are considering will indicate that they have had duty as drill instructors. This is a very exacting type of duty. Requirements for assignment to it are very stringent. It is apparent, therefore, that a successful tour of duty as a drill instructor is indicative of superior leadership qualities."

Five points are added to the composite scores of corporals who are DIs. An entry is made in their record books stating that five points should be added, and the entry is effective for one year.

Extra Pay

Another factor on the positive side of the drill instructor duty is Superior Performance Pay.

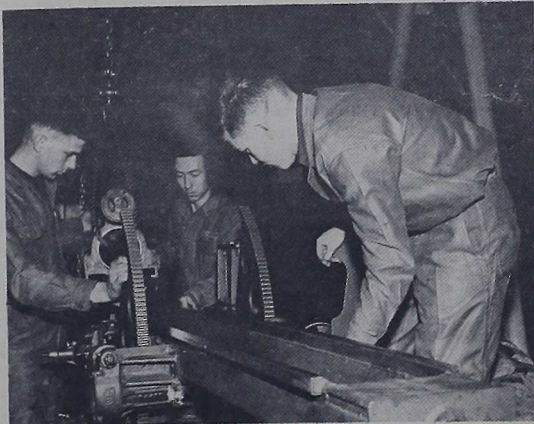

Probably the biggest benefit to be gained from working on the "grinder" is the knowledge a Marine gains while teaching recruits, and from the insight gained through dealing with these neophyte Marines.

Marines accepted by the Board attend eight weeks school at Parris Island before commencing drill instructor duties.

Demonstration

A Recruit Regiment Training Team is scheduled to present a 45 minute lecture to local unit commanders and potential nominees. This presentation will be held at the Camp Theater Feb. 10, at 1 p. m.

The Drill Instructor Screening Board is scheduled to return to Camp Lejeune during the first part of April.

Col. H. Wallace Named New CO For 2d FSR

Colonel H. Wallace will succeed Colonel P. H. Millichap as Commanding Officer of the 2d Force Service Regiment on Jan. 29, during formal ceremonies on the Base Parade Ground. Ceremonies are set for 2 p. m. In the event of inclement weather, the ceremonies will take place at the Camp Theater.

Colonel Millichap enlisted in the Marine Corps at New York in 1941 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in May of the same year.

He took part in the Tarawa, Saipan-Tinian and Okinawa operation and was awarded the Bronze Star with combat "V" for service in these engagements.

In 1961 he came to Lejeune as Division Supply Officer and took over his present post in January 1963. He is being transferred to Albany, Ga.

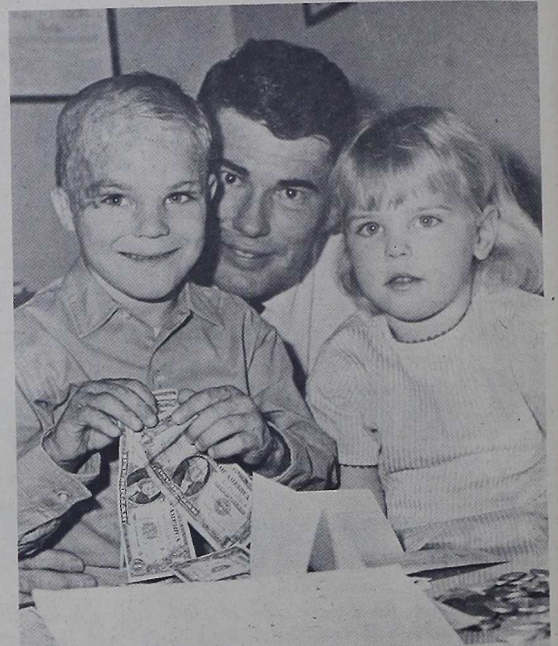

Entertainers Needed

Magicians, jugglers, tumblers, singers, musicians, dancers or any entertainment suitable for Cub Scout age groups; the call for assistance is out from our sister base Cherry Point.

In planning for the Annual Blue and Gold Banquet, a talent famine was discovered at the Air Station.

Talent wishing to perform for the mutual benefit of themselves and a worthy group, are asked to contact 1st Sgt. Abbott, Base Special Services at 7-3794 or direct to Sgt. Maj. Drohan, 3d LAAM at Cherry Point, 2453 or 2751.

The banquet is scheduled for the evening of Feb. 27 in the Moose Lodge at Havelock, N. C.

NEW YORK BOUND—Ronnie Elkins gathers part of the $725 donated by Lejeune personnel, prior to his trip to New York City for his wig fitting. Offering encouragement are Jerry Brooks, who acted as collecting agent, and Ronnie's sister, Pam.

Ronnie Says 'Thank You'

Two weeks ago the GLOBE asked the question, "Does the Marine Corps take care of its own?" The article told the story of five-year-old Ronnie Elkins, who was trapped in a burning car, and needed a wig to cover burn damage to his head.

The answer to the question is an unqualified YES. This affirmative reply was given in the form of $725 in donations to the boy. This is plenty to cover the cost of the wig.

Ronnie arrived in New York for his fitting last Saturday. The wig will be ready in four weeks. It is to cost $520. Any money left over after trip expenses and the wig will be used to buy special clothing that Ronnie requires.

Money for the wig came from many sources. Units took collections, the Thrift Shop donated, Data Processing mustered up more than $50 through a bake sale, and many individual donations went into the cause.

H&S Co., Base Materiel Bn., 2d FSR, SSgt. Chalmer Elkins' (the father) unit, collected $200 from Marines and civilians there. Second Anti-Tank Bn. donated $81, "T" Btry., 3/10 rounded up $51, H&S Co., 1/8 contributed $63, and Serv. Co., H&S Bn., MCB, gave $47 towards Ronnie's wig.

This is a fine example of grassroots charity—no pressure, or quotas involved, but people contributing because they want to.

Caribbean BLTs Switch; 3/2 At Home—3/8 At Sea

Battalion Landing Team 3/8, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Rollin F. Van Cantfort has departed from Norfolk, Va., for a three month deployment to the Caribbean area. BLT 3/8 relieves BLT 3/2, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel James A. Winzenegger, which returned to Lejeune Jan. 25 after being deployed since Sept. 15.

Embarked aboard ships of Amphibious Squadron-12, commanded by Navy Captain A. H. Higgs, BLT 3/8 will undergo extensive training in the Panama Canal Zone and throughout the Caribbean.

Nearly 1,800 Marines, make up the BLT, which is comprised of an infantry battalion with supporting ground, air and artillery units.

BLT 3/8 departed Camp Lejeune Jan. 19 and traveled by motor convoy to Norfolk where they boarded the USS Guadalcanal (LPH-7), USS Vermillion (AKA-107), USS Lorrain County (LST-1177) and USS Plymouth Rock (LSD-29).

In addition to their extensive training program, the BLT will make people-to-people visits at such ports as San Juan, Kingston, Martinique and Barbados.

BLT 3/8 is scheduled to return to Camp Lejeune in April.

Red Cross Bloodmobile

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Camp Lejeune on Feb. 23. Special donation hours at Marston Pavilion have been set up for units within the Quad-Command. Interested donors are urged to check with their First Sergeant or Base Bulletin 6530 of Jan. 14 for further details.

RETIREMENT...

There's More To It Than Monthly Check

Just about everyone dreams of and plans for the day when he can count himself among the "retireds" of this country. For those of us in the armed forces, this dream can become a reality much sooner than with our civilian counterparts.

Although some servicemen do not actually retire after their 20 years of service, they still are a big jump ahead of men who must wait until they are in their 60s before they can "go fishin'".

While a retired serviceman will probably get a job to supplement his retirement pay, he will receive a monthly check from the government for the rest of his life.

Along with the regular monthly check come other benefits that civilians must pay for out of their own pocket. For example, if a retired serviceman and his family want to take a vacation in Germany they need not worry too much about transportation costs since one of his benefits is an annual trip on Military Sea Transportation Service ships or Military Air Transport Service planes at nominal cost, space available.

Upon retirement, the government lets the retiree pick his own place to live and moves him and his family there free of charge. If a retiree decides to reside near a military installation he is then able to collect a few more benefits that civilians cannot get. Retired servicemen and their dependents, in most cases, have the privilege of using such base facilities as the commissary and exchange stores, recreational facilities, medical services, club facilities and other low-cost service benefits.

For the man on his first hitch, 20 years may seem like a long time to spend working for the same "company". But a civilian often stays with the same concern most of his working life. If he changes jobs too often, he loses seniority and misses promotions. When he's 65 he won't be able to enjoy the same retirement benefits that he could have had if he had stayed with the same company.

The serviceman who stays in 20 years has the opportunity to increase his retirement pay through promotions and, through off-duty education, to further himself so that when the day for retirement comes he will be better qualified to accept a good civilian position.

Thus, a 20-year investment (at no cost to the individual) can pay off big dividends in retirement.

VOICE OF LEJEUNE

To the Editor:
I would like to publicly thank everyone at Camp Lejeune who contributed to the pleasant visit we made there recently. Everyone was very nice and treated us courteously — especially Mrs. Carolyn V. Zihar, Manager of the Hostess House.

Thank you,
Mr. and Mrs. John Mancini

Trenton, N. J.

Dear Sir:

When the troops at Lejeune think its cold, maybe they'd like to take a good look at cold weather. I'm a member of Marine Corps Schools, Montford Point presently doing a TAD tour with the Army Test Center here in Alaska.

When it gets to zero we think spring is here. I'm sending a photo to you for release. This is a picture of the coldest Mess Hall in North, North America.

Yours truly, SSgt. William T. Butler, Hq. A. T. C. APO 98-783, Seattle, Wash.

FOUR STAR QUOTES...

"Our active duty personnel have always assumed that the same (Medical) care would be available following retirement. This problem has now grown to the point where it has reached serious proportions as our retired rolls increase. The Congress has taken notice of the requirement for improved medicare and hospital facilities for these families, both active and retired. A subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee conducted a lengthy study of the problem and concluded that the government does have an obligation to continue to provide medical care for dependents of each category. THE MARINE CORPS CERTAINLY CONCURS IN THIS CONCLUSION."

A Tribute To An Honorary U. S. Citizen

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL
1874-1965

The world has joined the British in paying tribute and in sweeping aside centuries old protocol for the 90-year-old statesman who died Jan. 24. President Johnson and the Congress quickly proclaimed Churchill an honorary U. S. citizen and ordered all U. S. flags to be flown at half mast. In England, Queen Elizabeth commanded a State Funeral and announced that she and the royal family would attend the funeral this Saturday, despite the fact that Churchill was a commoner.

Chaplain's Corner

PREVIEW OF 1965

A prospective fountain pen purchaser wrote tempus fugis (time flies) on the stationer's scratch pad. The salesgirl read what he had written and helpfully remarked, "Perhaps you would like to try this one Mr. Fugit."

We don't know if "Mr. Fugit" bought a fountain pen or not, but we do know that time does fly. Its swift flight is brought home to us as last year moves into this one. '64 is gone, the door is shut, before us lies the new. Because we are human, we are curious about tomorrow. What will the terrain be like? What will befall us and our world in the year ahead?

Change will meet us. New responsibilities and new possibilities for good or evil await us. Our journey will bring us to hills and valleys. At times our spirits will soar, we will ride the crest of happiness. Yet we are prone to fall in the valley of despair, into the depths of sadness.

For the traveler who trusts the Lord of the encircling years, it will be a journey guided and guarded by infinite wisdom and love. We may fail and falter, retreat and weaken; He will never fail, nor will His Divine providence grow weary. "The eyes of the Lord your God are always upon it, from the beginning of the Year to the end of the Year." (Deuteronomy 11:12). We could not stress too much the eternal watch-care of our God upon us as we begin this year. His unceasing concern is for us regardless of our underserving nature. He that has His eye on the sparrow watches his own children. Yes, God as revealed to us in Jesus Christ, is the one companion that we must have for this year to amount to anything.

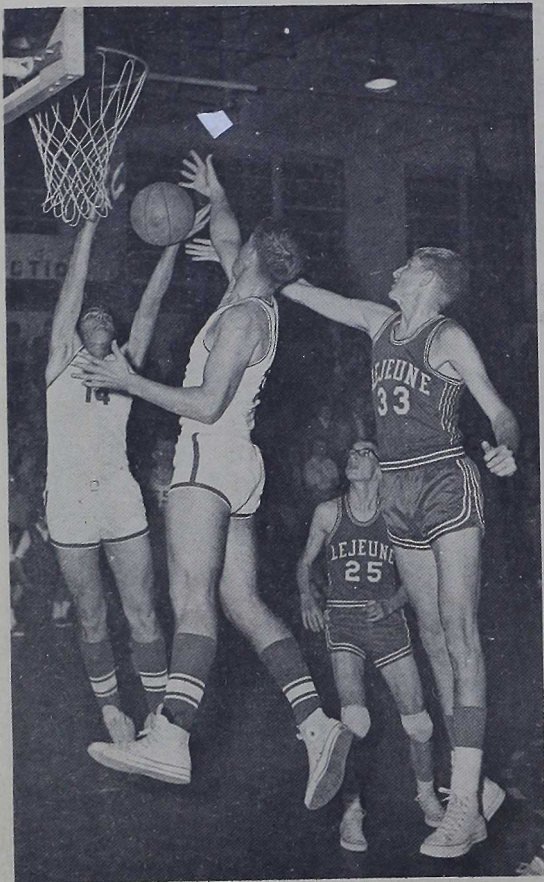

Why travel alone? Won't you instead reach out and take God to yourself. Yes, 1965 with God, can be a great year.

—Chaplain Don C. Alexander

Quote of the Week

"... In choosing their Representatives, the people should have one vote for one man as nearly as ... possible." — Justice Hugo L. Black, voicing the Supreme Court decision holding that the Constitution requires the Congressional districts within each state to be substantially equal in population.

Pups Lose 2 In Weekend Tilts

The Camp Lejeune Devilpups dropped a pair of games over the weekend, as the High School cage squad was edged by White Oak 61-55, Friday evening and was drubbed by Midway 83-60 on Saturday.

Brilliant in both defeats was Bill Stinnett. The Lejeune diminutive backcourt man sparkled on both offense and defense, as the hapless Pups began to falter.

In Friday's action, the Lejeune rooters saw an eightpoint lead at the half slip away as the White Oak 'Red Devils', playing before the home town crowd, pulled ahead midway through the third quarter.

With three minutes remaining in the see-saw battle, Bill Stinnett scored, putting the locals in the lead, 55-52. Jimmy Pierce hit a pair of free throws and a hook shot as the Red Devils took over the lead 56-55. At this point Rich Gasperson, White Oak sharpshooter, scored five consecutive points as the Marine dependents dropped a close decision 61-55.

Jim Kelly paced the loser with 14, while Stinnett chipped in 12 points. Bob Goodman tallied 17 for the Red Devils, followed by Jim Pierce and Rich Gasperson with 15 apiece.

Returning to their home floor on Saturday, the D'pups were caught napping, as the Midway 'Raiders' scored repeatedly on fast breaks. The visiting cagers took a 35-26 lead with them into the dressing room at intermission.

It seemed for a brief moment that the Pups would overcome the speedy, well-drilled Raiders. Harry Land and Bill Stinnett hit back-to-back jump shots, as Lejeune moved to within seven of the leaders. The all-around play of the Raiders and the collapsing defense of the Devilpups lead to their downfall, losing 83-60.

Harry Land led the scorers with 20 markers, while Bill Stinnett tossed in 18 points.

The Devilpups, coached by Tom Webb, will play tomorrow night at Beaufort.

The Lejeune Girls team lost their first of the season, as Midway stopped them in overtime, 45-40. With seven wins to their credit against one setback, the girls team, coached by Jim Owens, will be up for the game with Beaufort tomorrow. The girls boast one of the best players in the state in Donna Terry. Over the weekend, the high scoring roving guard tallied 59 points in her two games.

Locals Entered In State AAU Boxing

The Camp Lejeune Devildog Boxing team will open defense of their team championship tonight at the City Lake Pavilion-Gym, High Point, N. C., as the three day North Carolina Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Boxing Tournament gets underway.

Bringing a 2-1 slate into the ring at High Point, the Lejeune sluggers will be aiming to garner all the laurels.

Gunnery Sergeant Ray Rogers, coach of the highly vaunted Marine team, expects a good showing from every division entered. "Gunny" Rogers, after a loss to the Fort Campbell "Screaming Eagles" last week, has had his boys training hard for the upcoming tourney.

Leading the Marines into the ring will be Art Redden. The 1964 All-Marine Middleweight Champion, and reigning Inter-service Light Heavyweight kingpin, has copped all three of his bouts this year. The "golden hog" KO'd his first two victims, while he captured a unanimous decision from the hard-nosed Campbell slugger, Isiah Davis.

Ken Norton, the novice heavyweight, who has won all four of his bouts this year, will also add his punching prowess to the talent laden Lejeune squad. This is the first year that Norton has put on the gloves. The muscular heavyweight has looked impressive in all his fights, stopping Weldon Benton last year's runner-up in the National AAU's, and decisioning Fort Campbell stalwart James Johnson.

Another bright spot on the Devildog squad is Marshall Fortune. Also making his ring debut this year, the swift welterweight puncher has walked off with three of his four bouts. In his only loss, Fortune, was nudged out of the decision by Jimmy Ham of Cherry Point, N. C.

Add the experience and ring savvy of Lightweight, Bob Lozada, 1964 All-Marine Featherweight Champion, Bill Mercados, 1964 N. C. AAU Flyweight title holder, and the D'dogs Featherweight puglist, Charlie Davis to the power-packed lineup, and you come up with a winning combination.

The other promising members of the Lejeune boxing team are Harrison Payne, Light Welterweight; Francis Hutchinson and Charles Perry, Light Middleweights; and Floyd Stevens, Middleweight.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner of each division, with four special awards being presented to the outstanding boxers.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT—Camp Lejeune Heavyweight Ken Norton works out on the heavy bag during the team workout, in preparation for the North Carolina AAU Championships, being held at High Point, N. C. tonight.

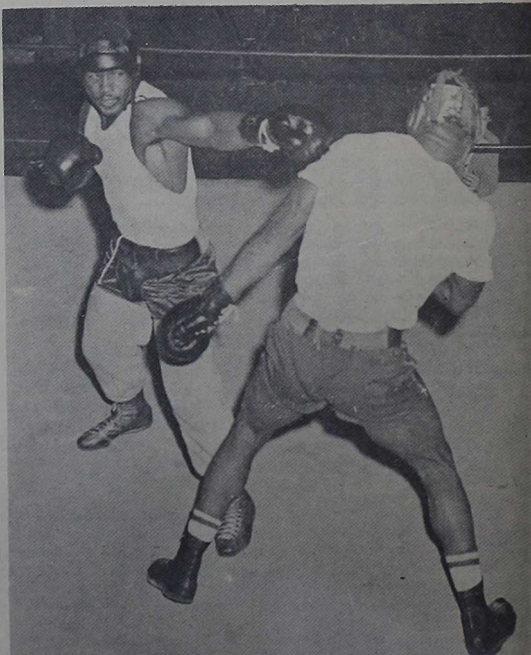

Rifle Match To Division

For the third time in as many weeks the Second Marine Division Rifle Team emerged victors over the Force Troops, MCB, and 2d MAW rifle teams in the 22 Cal Rifle Matches, held at Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point last week.

Headed by Capt. G. A. Thomas the team has been working hard day by day, and is about ready to take on all comers.

With a couple of hand warmers to keep the trigger fingers in good working order, the team shot a four position match; prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing. Top to be score achieved by each individual was 400.

The Division pistol team, firing in their first match against the tri-command teams and Cherry Point, finished on top, as Division made a clean sweep of things.

JABBING AWAY—Art Redden, (left), Lejeune Light Heavyweight champion, throws a jab at heavyweight Ken Norton during a Devildog team workout last week. The slugging Leathernecks will be on the card at the North Carolina AAU Championships, as they open tonight at High Point, N. C.

As the 2d Marine Division celebrates its 24th anniversary, a solemn note marks the occasion.

The Division's first Commanding General, retired Major General Clayton B. Vogel, died Nov. 26, 1964, at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa. He was buried with full military honors, at Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., Dec. 1.

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18, 1882, Gen. Vogel was commissioned a Marine second lieutenant in Aug. 1904. General Vogel, who served on active duty for 42 years, was named as the Division's first commander when the 2d Marine Division was formed Feb. 1, 1941, at San Diego, Calif.

FOR 24 YEARS IN PEACE AND IN WAR, MEMBERS OF THE DIVISION HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO ITS PROUD RECORD OF SERVICE TO OUR COUNTRY. WE WHO ARE MEMBERS OF THE 2D MARINE DIVISION TODAY ARE PROUD GUARDIANS OF THIS RECORD. WE CARRY THE COLORS AND STREAMERS THAT RECALL TARAWA, SAIPAN, GUADALCANAL AND OKINAWA. TO US FALLS THE RESPONSIBILITY AS A FORCE-IN-READINESS OF CARRYING THESE COLORS FURTHER IN THE CAUSE OF WORLD FREEDOM AND DEMOCRACY. WE ARE THE FRONT-LINE DEFENDERS OF THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE. WE MUST STAND READY TO DEFEND OUR NATION AND OUR ALLIES IN THE FREE WORLD AGAINST THOSE WHO WOULD TRY TO TAKE AWAY OUR GOD-GIVEN FREEDOM BY OUTWARD ACTS OF AGGRESSION.

WE MUST CONTINUE TO BE THE WELL-TRAINED, CLOSELY-KNIT ORGANIZATION THAT HAS GAINED US A REPUTATION AS ONE OF THE FINEST FIGHTING UNITS IN THE WORLD.

TODAY WE OBSERVE THE 24TH ANNIVERSARY OF OUR DIVISION. TOMORROW WE EMBARK ON OUR 25TH YEAR WITH THE CONFIDENCE AND PRIDE THAT HAS BECOME SYMBOLIC OF THE 2D MARINE DIVISION.

The 2d Marine Division began its 24th year with its present commanding general MajGen. W. J. Van Ryzin, at the helm and BrigGen. R. McG. Tompkins serving as Assistant Division Commander. The year began with Division troops undergoing exhaustive training from snow-covered Camp Drum, N. Y., to the steaming, snake-infested jungles of Panama.

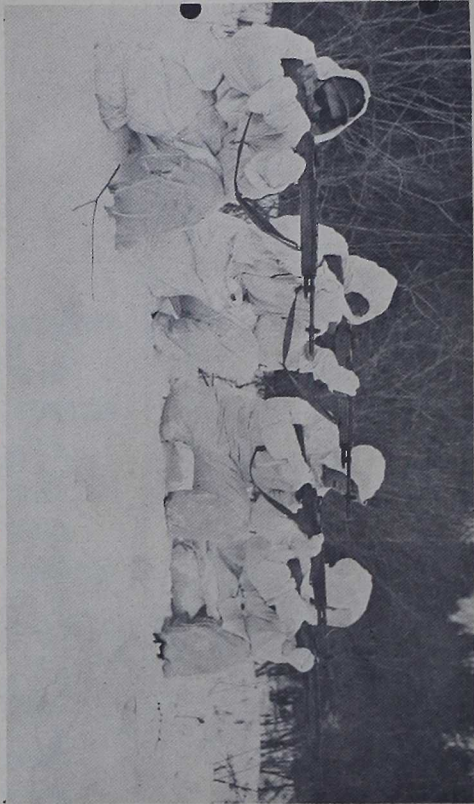

At Camp Drum, it was the men of Co. I 3d Bn, 6th Marines and Btry. D of the 10th Marines. The 3d Bn, 8th Marines (Reinf.) was, at the same time, just concluding jungle training in Panama. The 3d Bn, 2d Marines was in the Mediterranean, while 1st Bn, 8th Marines was getting ready to relieve Btry. D of the amphibious force of the U. S.

Retelmer, who had led the artillery arm of the Division since June 1963, joined the Joint Staff, Joint Chiefs of Staff, Washington, D. C.

The 2d Bn, 10th Marines, commanded by Lt. Col. R. J. Edwards, held a 10-day field firing exercise at Fort Bragg, N. C., early this month.

Capt. B. R. Schultze was awarded a Letter of Commendation from the National Aeronautic and Space Administration (NASA) and the Navy Aviation Medical Acceleration Laboratory while serving with Btry. D of the 10th Marines. The captain was commended for his contribution and participation in the research and development of the Apollo Physiological Centrifuge Program, preparation for the manned Apollo space capsule launching. He took part in the program during September 1963.

Second Motor Transport Battalion, winner of the Division Intramural Basketball crown, went on to win the Quad-Command tournament in the style by squeaking out MAC-26 in a 65-63 tilt.

Here at Lejeune, Division Special Services arranged bus trips to the World's Fair. Hundreds of personnel took advantage of the specially reduced rate.

The 10th Marines started getting acquainted with the M109 self-propelled howitzer. The fully-tracked armored weapon is air transportable. When equipped with a flotation kit, it becomes amphibious. With the kit the M109 is capable of fording limited depths.

Individual achievements continued to be chalked up by Division officers and enlisted personnel during the month. 1st Lt. Troy T. Shirley, Co. E, 2d Bn, 6th Marines, won a double-headed arrow when he was named the best marksman in the Division for the month of May with demonstrations for the 34th Department of Defense-sponsored Joint Civilian Orientation Conference. Traveling from as far away as Alaska and Hawaii, the 68 JCO members were from 23 states and the District of Columbia. Conference representatives business and civic leaders from across the nation.

Military leaders getting a first-hand look at the Division in action included the Secretary of the Navy, Paul H. Nitze; General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps; LtGen. James P. Berkeley, CG, FMF; LtGen. Kim Du Chan, Commandant of the Republic of Korea Marine Corps; and BGen Lee Yong Woo, Deputy Chief of Staff, ROKMC. Two hundred-forty Armed Forces Staff College members and 18 instructors—faculty members from Norfolk, Va., helped swell the visitor total. Also observing activities were members of the Strategic Air Command, Atlantic Staff, surgical teams of the Naval Reserve, and ranking officers from all the services.

OPERATION GRASSROOTS-64, which pitted the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade against guerrilla forces of the mythical country of Mob, was held Sept. 1-10 at Camp Pickett, Va. The exercise was one of the largest counter-guerrilla/counter-insurgency training exercises ever held by East Coast Marines. MEB forces were commanded by BGen. J. G. Bouker. The exercise was termed highly successful. One of the highlights of the realistic problem was the visit of the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Jr.

"Best Rifle Squad in the Marine Corps" is the title claimed by a group of 14 men of Co. I, 3d Bn., 2d Marines, which won the distinction by out-pointing squads representing all Marine infantry regiments during the 7th annual Rifle Squad Combat Practice Competition at Quantico, Va., Sept. 21-23.

2d FAG Leads In FT Hoop Ratings

The Force Troops intramural basketball league got off to a flying start last week with 2d Field Artillery Group, (FAG), starting where they left off last season, as they chalked up four straight wins.

FAG, defending league champion, stretched their winning streak over two seasons to 24 straight as they rolled over 2d Topo, 79-55; outran 2d Tanks, 70-51; downed an improving 2d Radio Bn. team, 62-50; and outlasted a strong 8th Motors quintet, 56-48.

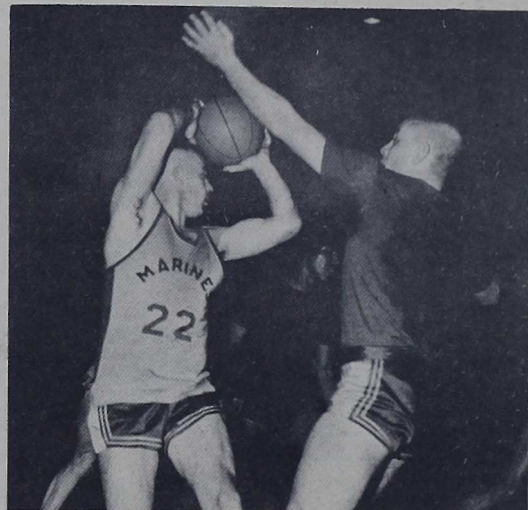

Other league contenders who came out on top first week action were Headquarters Co., Force Troops who downed 2d Amtracs, 62-52, behind the 27 point performance of Williams; 8th Engineers who turned back 2d Bridge Co., 62-55; and 8th Comm Bn., which rolled over hapless 2d ANGLICO, 68-29.

Motors and Topo broke even for the week as they downed 2d ANGLICO and 2d Tanks respectively.

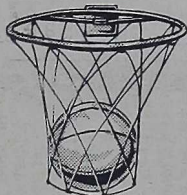

Tanks broke into the win column with a 46-39 win over 2d Bridge Co.

League action for next week includes 2d Topo versus Headquarters Co., Force Troops; 2d FAG plays 2d ANGLICO and 8th Motors goes against 2d Amtracs tonight.

Amtracs meets 2d Radio Bn., Topo goes against Bridge and FAG tangles with Headquarters Co., Force Troops next Monday.

HELP—Bob Fletcher (22), 8th Motor Transport Bn., looks for help from his teammates as an unidentified ANGLICO player battles him for possession of the ball.

Tuesday's action pits Tanks against Radio and FAG against Engineers.

Wednesday night play features Amtracs against Topo; Headquarters Co., Force Troops versus Motors and Comm. going against 2d Tanks.

League-leading Headquarters Company, H&S Bn., took it on the chin Monday night, as an aroused Service Company handed the Base leaders their first set back against five wins.

Led by the all around play of J. C. Colson, and the scoring of Bill Barrett and Larry Clapp, Service Company pulled away to an eight point advantage with four minutes remaining.

Headquarters came battling back as Elmer Stone hit a jump shot knotting the score at 48 apiece. With a 1:20 showing on scoreboard clock, the Service Company cagers began freezing the ball, holding for last shot. When the clock read 20 seconds, Larry Clapp broke loose and laid it in. Headquarters came down court and missed their attempt as the buzzer went off.

Service Company now take over sole possession of second place with a 5-2 slate, while Motor Transport Company holds down the number three slot, with a 3-2 record.

The Second Marine Division Intramural Basketball play is well underway, with their teams divided into two leagues, an American and a National League.

There are close battles in both league for the top slot, as the First Battalion, 6th Marines holds down the American League standings with a 5-0 record, followed closely by the 2d Recon Bn. cagers, who sport a 4-1 ledger.

In the National League, 2d Battalion, 10th Marines is half a game ahead of Headquarters Battalion, with a 3-0 record. HqBn's record is 3-1.

Golf Clinic

A golf clinic will be held for four weeks, beginning Feb. 5 at the Goettge Memorial Field House. Jim Gantz, Paradise Point Golf Club Professional, will be holding the classes free of charge for all military personnel and dependents. The clinic, which will be held at 7 p.m. on the four Fridays, is trying to help the average duffer and his game. For further information contact the Athletic Office, Field House, Monday, Friday between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

EXCELLENT SHOOTING—Master Gunnery Sergeant Vern Mull, (right) a member of the Camp Lejeune Skeet Shooting team, is congratulated by Norman Amstutz, President of the Pinehurst Gun Club. MGySgt. Mull placed second in the Annual Mid Winter Skeet Championships held recently, firing a 98X100.

Boxing Tryouts

The Camp Lejeune Boxing Team is looking for fighters, weighing 112, 125 and 165 lbs., to fill vacant positions on the Devildog squad. Anyone interested in trying out for these three weight classes should report to the Boxing room in the Goettge Memorial Field House, Monday, Feb. 1, between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. All personnel trying out report to GySgt. Rogers, boxing coach.

Angler Time Once Again

Are you interested in winning a new set of fishing tackle? If you are, break out your rod and reel and dust off the cobwebs, because the Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club is sponsoring a fishing tournament for all eligible members to run from Jan. 1 to Aug. 1.

The contest will be in three categories. Salt water class will be for the largest king mackerel. Prizes will also be awarded for two fresh water classes; the biggest bass and the largest fresh water bream caught. Appropriate fishing tackle prizes will be awarded for each class.

Application forms can be obtained at the Rod and Gun Club located in Bldg. 1938, which is behind Seth Williams Blvd. Tennis courts. Further information on where the fish are to be weighed in can be obtained by calling base extension 6-6888 on any meeting night after 7:30 p.m.

All fish entries must be weighed in within 24 hours after they are caught.

The Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club, which boasts 250 members, meet in Bldg. 1938 every other Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

'Ville Car Club In Driver's Seat Sun.

The Pine Tree Sports Car Club of Jacksonville, N. C., is sponsoring a rally this Sunday. Although many rally tests specifically involve navigator skills, this "potpourri rally" is of the gimmick type, requiring no specialized knowledge or equipment. All that will be needed is a car (big, small, foreign, what have you), a driver, a friend and pencil.

The rally, lasting three hours, should provide fun for the novice as well as the experienced ralliist. Entrants will meet at the Colonial Store, New River Shopping Center at 11 a.m., Sunday. A small entrance fee will be charged to offset the cost of trophies.

Down The Middle

By Skip Vierling

There isn't too much joy around the Club House this week. That vacant space on top of the Trophy Case, where the Burger Bucket once rested, seems a bitter pill to swallow. But as they used to say in Brooklyn years ago "Just wait until next time."

Our group had 45% fewer cavers and 7 fewer points! The tally was Cherry Point 6, Camp Lejeune 199, that's pretty close match considering 180 golfers were teamed to 45 foursomes. Incidentally, it is the largest turn out any Bucket Tournament has ever had.

Sunday dawned grey and overcast and stayed that way until dark. Shortly after 8:30 a.m., the first foursomes began teeing off from both the 1st and 10th tees with 7 minute intervals between foursomes. The tee boxes were soggy after 40 to 50 people teed off and it took a little while to find a place with enough footing to give yourself at least a fighting chance for a decent tee shot. As the morning progressed so did the wind, short par 3 holes were being attacked with everything from a 5 wood to a 3 iron and even some of those were sort of the green.

All in all, even though we left the "Bucket" behind, everyone seems to have had a fine day. The folks at Cherry Point did a splendid job in a most professional manner.

A special congrats to the CLNC team Golfers who sure brought home their share of the points. Nine points winners were S. W. Smith and R. K. Smith, Marlin and Keeton; 8-1/2 point winners were Marrs and Worthman, Deemer and McGhee, Steinmetz and Vierling; eight point winners were Galavin and Griviner; 7-1/2 point winners were Lovett and Waldron.

UP AND IN—Dave Sherrod (21), 2d ANGLICO, gets by Stan Pratt (4), 8th Motor Transport Bn., for a two pointer during last week's battle between the "Motormen" and the "Communicators." Motors won the game 74-43.

TAMAHINE

When you spring a lovely, uninhibited seventeen-year-old Polynesian girl named Tamahine on the impressionable students of a boys' public school in England, you can expect some astonishing explosive and hilarious repercussions.

That is exactly what you get when Nancy Kwan is sent from a tropical Pacific island to join her uncle, Poole (Dennis Price), at Hallow, the venerable and staid school of which he is headmaster, in the new MGM and Seven Arts comedy-drama "Tamahine."

WHERE LOVE HAS GONE

"Where Love Has Gone," the best-selling novel by Harold Robbins is now a tension-packed motion picture filled with explosive excitement and drama. Heading the cast is Susan Hayward, and Bette Davis, followed by Michael Connors and newcomer Joey Heatherton.

"Where Love Has Gone" is the shattering story of indiscretion, human frailty, murder by a teenage girl and regeneration. It is set in the glittering high society world of San Francisco.

THE YOUNG LOVERS

"The Young Lovers" is the frank and touching story of two college students whose love affair almost ends up a tragedy. What happens when two young people fall passionately in love but can't afford the added expense of marriage? What happens when a guy sees the girl he loves in trouble because he couldn't wait? These are some of the questions answered in "The Young Lovers," portraying a young couple are Peter Fonda and Sharon Hugueny.

GET YOURSELF A COLLEGE GIRL

"Get Yourself a College Girl" is a fast moving musical comedy with a dazzling array of musicals including the Dave Clark Five, Animals, Stan Getz and Astrud Gilberto. It's the wildest dancehall loveathon and swingathon of century when coeds Mary Ann Yuley, Nancy Sinatra and Joan O'Brien bring the Watani to college.

A Report On

New Developments In Weapons & Equipment

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second part of a two part series on the latest developments in the weaponry and equipment field of the Marine Corps. Material taken from USMC Informational Services Notes, published by Division of Information.)

In order to fulfill the Marine Corps' requirement for an effective helicopter transportable command and control system for integrated aircraft and missile defense, the Corps has developed the Marine Tactical Data System (MTDS). This system will provide the Landing

Force Commander with a capability of very rapid assessment of the entire air situation in order to make timely decisions on the employment of aircraft and missile elements under his control.

MTDS is an assembly of helicopter transportable huts containing high data rate electronic digital computers, data processors, storage and display elements designed to accept and process information from radars, IFF equipment and manual inputs. During amphibious operations it is integrated with and employed in conjunction with Navy data systems, and it is compatible with data systems of other Services as well as NATO countries.

MTDS sorts and transmits target information to the Tactical Air Control Center (TACC) via various communication means.

Utilizing this information, the TACC controls and coordinates the various Tactical Air Operations Centers in their air defense role, as well as Marine Air Traffic Control units in their air control function and the Direct Air Support Centers in their close air support role. In short, MTDS means faster and better air support and air defense for the Marine on the ground.

New Assault Support 'Copters

The operational environment of the Marine combat division and the task requirement which must be supported demand a VTOL aircraft that is versatile and simple to maintain in a combat environment. The UH-1E has been designed to meet these requirements. A seven-place utility helicopter with skid type landing gear, it is powered by a turbo shaft engine. The UH-1E will replace the obsolete OH-43D observation helicopter and the 1B/C light observation plane. It has the capability of lifting 800 pounds, speed in excess of 120 knots, and will perform missions pertaining to command liaison, observation, reconnaissance surveillance, casualty evacuation, radiological survey, wire laying and minor logistic support.

In addition to the new UH-1E Assault Support Helicopter now entering the Marine Corps' inventory, two new helicopters are slated to further enhance the Corps' vertical assault capabilities. These are the CH-46A Medium Assault Helicopter and the CH-53A Heavy Assault Transport Helicopter. The CH-46A will provide an improved medium lift capability over the UH-34D (HUS-1) which it replaces. Its primary mission is the transporting of assault troops, with a secondary mission of transporting cargo and evacuating casualties.

Known as the Sea Knight, the CH-46A has a new loading ramp, coupled with an integrated cargo handling system and a watertight hull. It has a payload of 4000 pounds or 17 combat-equipped Marines and can cruise at speeds in excess of 130 knots. It's powered by two T-58 gas turbine engines. It is scheduled to be delivered to the Marine Corps during the end of FY-64.

The CH-53A will provide an improved heavy lift capability to the Marine Corps for the ship-to-shore movement of cargo, equipment and troops during the amphibious assault, and for subsequent operations ashore. It will replace the CH-37C (HR2S) which is becoming over age and obsolete. Its primary mission is the transporting of assault cargo, with a secondary mission of transporting troops and evacuating casualties.

Lighter Uniform

In an effort to reduce heat stress in hot, sticky climates caused by sweat-soaked clothing, the Marine Corps is testing a lighter, cooler uniform. Made from 6-oz. Nycop poplin (50% nylon and 50% cotton), the uniform consists of a cap, shirt and trousers. The shirt has two breast pockets, a convertible collar, and may be worn either out or tucked in. The trousers are made in the standard pattern with two side and two hip patch-type pockets. Cooling effect is caused by the high porosity cloth which passes sweat through to the outside where it evaporates. In addition, the special blend of nylon and cotton is rip and snag resistant.

Helmet Liner

A new helmet liner has been adopted for use by Fleet Marine Force units. The new liner, made by bonding layers of ballistic nylon with synthetic resin, is more comfortable to wear and will provide ballistic protection. It weighs only 16 ounces, or one-third as much as the steel helmet. Although the new helmet liner can be worn under the steel shell, its lightweight and ballistic properties make it suitable for use as a one-piece helmet in hot climates where weight is a critical factor. It is expected that the new helmet liner will be available for distribution to FMF units late this year.

Amphibian Vehicles

In the area of mobility, the Marine Corps continues to conduct research, development and testing of several types of vehicles. Current projects for four types of amphibian vehicles include:

Improved tracked armored assault personnel and cargo carriers (LVT) capable of the ship-to-shore movement through 10-foot surf and proceeding to inland objectives for subsequent tactical uses ashore.

-- High speed support amphibians using planing hulls or hydrofoils that are retractable for land operations.

-- Trucks that can operate on or off the road, cross streams, and land through moderate surf.

-- Swamp amphibian vehicles for superior mobility over marginal terrain such as rice paddies, snow, mud and tundra.

The adoption of the M-79 grenade launcher has resulted in the face-lifting of the traditional Marine rifle squad. A fourteenth man, armed with the M-79, has been added to give the squad greatly increased fire power. Designed to overlap the gap between maximum hand grenade range and minimum 81mm mortar range, the M-79 fires a 6-ounce, 40mm high explosive projectile with great accuracy at ranges up to 400 meters.

The development of new weapons and equipment provides today's modern Marine Corps with the capability required for modern warfare. New items are introduced into the inventory in such a manner as not to disrupt the Corps' current readiness posture.

Evasion & Survival Test Termed Success By 2/6

By: Cpl. C. M. Hoar

North Carolina's Croatan National Forest was the scene of an Evasion & Survival (E&S) problem conducted by 56 members of the 2d Battalion, 6th Marines, 2d Marine Division, Jan. 4-8. The problem was designed to increase the combat ability of Marines operating in guerrilla infested areas, and to build self confidence in the individual Marine.

Assuming the role of the E&S group were four teams of four to six men each. The opposing force was comprised of 39 Marines.

At the beginning of the problem, the E&S teams were transported into the problem area by helicopter and strategically placed nearly 14 miles from the base camp. No team was told where the base camp was located. However, each man was told within what boundaries the problem would be operated.

Each Marine wore his combat equipment, and each team had one machete, one signal mirror, one snake bite kit, three fish hooks, and fifty feet of light fishing line.

The mission of the E&S teams was to make their way to the base camp by Friday morning without being captured by the 39-man guerrilla force, comprised of members of the 81mm Mortar Section, H&S Co., 2d Battalion, 6th Marines who were patrolling the area.

Adding realism to the problem each Marine was to forage for himself. Wild game was scarce so the men relied on their ability to make friends with the local citizenry. Cooperation by the populace, and Forest Service was termed "excellent" by the Marines at the conclusion of the operation.

One team failed to return by the pre-scheduled time, but was spotted Friday afternoon by a helicopter patrol. After embarking the team aboard the helicopter, the men were delivered to the rendezvous point.

A critique was then held by all participants and the problem was termed "outstanding". Another problem, larger in scope is being planned for the coming summer.

REGISTRATION

Alien members of the Marine Corps who are in the U. S. on Jan. 1 are required to report their addresses to the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the U. S. Department of Justice during the month of January.

Aliens temporarily outside the U. S. on Jan. 1 must report their addresses within 10 days of their return to the U. S.

If an alien willfully or inexcusably fails to report, he can be taken into custody and deported. In addition, a fine and imprisonment may be levied before deportation.

New Tank Adds Power To Tank Bn

The modernized M103A heavy tank became an operational part of the armored division of the 2d Tank Bn., Force Troops, on Jan. 18.

The M103A2 is an improvement over the M103A1, utilizing the same primary and secondary armament. The most notable improvement features are the diesel engine, coincidence type rangefinder, interchangeable powerpack and conversion to the metric system fire control.

Operating range of the tank with its diesel engine has been vastly increased. The tank's normal operating range was 60-70 miles. The modernized tank has increased operating range to 300 miles.

This additional range feature has great significance.

the tactical employment of supporting arm and operations the tank has been increased 27 continuous hours without fueling.

Another feature, the coincidence type rangefinder marks a radical departure from the system employed in the M103A1. The new system employs the same principle as the camera industry's double image. If the rangefinder has two images on the rangefinder he is not on target. By moving the rangefinder dial until he moves the images into one he is on target.

With the change to diesel engines in the M103A2's tanks are now equipped with interchangeable engines, transmission which allows the powerpack of one to be installed in others.

Drivers Failing To Heed Signs For Emergency

It has been brought to the attention of the Base Personnel and Military Department apparently do not mean the meaning of an emergency red light or siren.

Base Order 4460.2B states "Upon the immediate approach of an authorized emergency vehicle (Military Police or Fire Department) exhibiting a blinking red light the driver of every vehicle shall yield the right-of-way, and immediately drive same to position as near as possible to the right hand edge or clear of any intersection roads, and shall 'STOP' remain in such a position directed by a Military Police man, until the emergency vehicle shall have passed.

Missing Officers

The two officers who peered at the door of 2506 at or about 8 p.m. Jan. 18 to report a fire at Senior Guest House, 2601, are requested to the Investigating Office telephone 7-5720 or 6-638.
