McNamara Undecided

It was just a year ago that Secretary of Defense McNamara said he wanted a pay raise every year for servicemen so that they can keep in step with their civilian counterparts.

Servicemen, for the most part, felt satisfied and hopefully planned on the yearly raise. For a while, it looked like McNamara's yearly pay proposal was following in logical order. There was the big pay raise in 1963 followed by a smaller one in 1964.

Although all the Service Chiefs have publicly announced their support for another pay raise this year, McNamara seems concerned about budgetary problems. His specific complaint has been the rising cost of retired pay and active duty pay. On Dec. 12 he said, "...reviewing the retirement program, it now totals $61 billion. There is a tremendous cost associated with our retirement program." A few weeks later he complained when he stated that personnel pay costs (civilian military and retired) have jumped $2.8 billion a year.

That he is worried is obvious. What worries servicemen is whether his budgetary concerns will affect his recommendations for a pay raise this year. So far, no proposal has been put before the current session of Congress.

New Base School Dedication Soon

A brand new addition to the Marine Corps Base school system, the DeLallo Elementary School at Marine Corps Air Facility will be dedicated January 20th at 10 a. m.

The family of the late Lieutenant Colonel A. H. DeLallo will attend the dedication ceremony that will be presided over by General A. L. Bowser, Camp Lejeune's Base Commander. Lieutenant General J. P. Berkeley, Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force Atlantic, will deliver the principal address at the dedication.

LtCol. DeLallo was one of the first Marine Corps helicopter pilots and was killed in a helicopter crash at Patuxent River, during a test flight in 1952. During his career, Colonel DeLallo logged more than four-thousand-hours of flying time and received, among many awards, the Navy Cross and two Purple Hearts.

The DeLallo School is located adjacent to the main gate at the New River Air Facility.

New York Cold Weather Exercise

1800 LEATHERNECKS SET FOR SNOWFEX-65

By SSGT. LARRY JAMES

Area Marines are slated for the largest cold weather assignment for this coast since the '40s as 1,800 men move to Camp Drum, N. Y., for SNOWFEX-65, Feb. 1 - Mar. 1.

Units of the 2d Marine Division, Force Troops and the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing begin departing Jan. 21 for the month-long cold weather training exercise at the U. S. Army training site in upstate New York.

Colonel Richard S. Johnson, Commanding Officer Eighth Marine Regiment, has been selected as Exercise Director for the operation. The first battalion, Eighth Marines, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel E. F. Danowitz, comprises the bulk of the trainees.

This marks the third time in a year that combat-ready, East Coast-based members of the Fleet Marine Forces have appeared in the northern New York area.

Last winter, 300 Marines from Company L, 3/6 and supporting units, conducted a two-week SNOWFEX-64. During the summer, local Marines were attached to the USS DESOTO COUNTY (LST 1171) for the Great Lakes Cruise. The ship stopped at Clayton, Ogdensburg and Oswego, all within 50 miles of Camp Drum.

This year's SNOWFEX is the largest East Coast cold weather deployment since the Sixth Regiment was assigned to Iceland in mid-1941 and when Marines traveled to Labrador in 1948.

For the 2d Division, the training provides an icy tinge to the beginning of their silver anniversary year. The Division moves into its 25th year of existence Feb. 1.

The 1,000 plus members of 1/8 will be supported in the training by Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 265, a unit of the 2d Wing's Marine Aircraft Group 26, based at MCAF New River, N. C. The squadron is commanded by LtCol. E. C. Stanton, and will have attached units from the Group's H&MS and MABS squadrons.

The CH-46A, jet-powered Seahawk helicopters are assigned to HMM-265. Squadron pilots are slated to begin the six-hour ferry hop to Camp Drum Jan. 26 with final copeters to be flown north Feb. 1.

All SNOWFEX trainees will be flown by Marine transports MCAS, Cherry Point, to northern New York.

Company A, 2d Tank Battalion, Force Troops will provide the tankers to support 1/8 in the exercise. However, in the interest of economy in transportation, the visiting Marines will use tanks of Companies B and D, 4th Tank Battalion, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, Hancock Field, Syracuse, N. Y. Major G. H. Polakoff serves as the Inspector-Instructor for the Syracuse Reserve unit.

Division units attached for training and support include: members of Reconnaissance Battalion, Engineer Bn., Medical Bn., Service Bn., a company from Motor Transport Bn., an Ontos platoon from Anti-Tank Bn., and a Howtar unit from the Second Battalion, Tenth Marines.

In addition to the heavy equipment, vehicles, weapons and helicopters to be used in support of the training, snow removal equipment will be tested by the Marine Corps Development Center, Quantico, Va., for possible use on roads and air-

MarCor MOS Structure Undergoes Vast Changes

As of Feb. 1, some of the most sweeping changes in recent years will occur within the Marine Corps MOS structure, according to NAVY TIMES.

Changes include deletions, re-groupings, additions and revisions.

It will give new skill designators to certain occupational fields where it has become necessary to identify a related skill with the basic skill.

And it gives identifying MOS's in the revised occupational fields to master sergeant and master gunnery sergeants.

While officers MOS's will undergo some changes, most changes will occur in the enlisted structure, particularly in the electronic fields.

Officer changes include five MOS's completely deleted, 20 revised, nine new MOS job descriptions or skill designator codes added, and two MOS's transferred to new occupational fields.

Most sweeping changes to the enlisted structure have been the new job descriptions given to 33 MOS's and the transfer of 72 functions to new occupational fields.

55 Voices Proclaim:

Little Theater Is Answer To Entertainment Void

If Little Theater is the answer to a possible entertainment void at Camp Lejeune, that void will be filled very shortly, judging by the enthusiasm and progress of a group of 55 theater-philies who held an organizational meeting last night at Marston Pavilion.

Guided by Major Thomas Hodges, 2d Division Special Services Officer, the group was quick to affirm that they definitely wanted to establish a Camp Lejeune Little Theatre group. Almost as quickly a steering committee was nominated to draft a constitution and by-laws and to make preliminary nominations of candidates for officers for the proposed theatre organization.

Sub-committees were decided upon within the steering committee and are meeting several times this week to prepare recommendations for presentation to the full committee at a meeting to be held at the GLOBE office, Saturday, Jan. 16, at 1 p. m.

Steering committee members elected Major Hodges to head their activities and those who will meet with him Saturday include Barbara Vandegrift, Chaplain William C. Glaser, Georgeanna Burdette, Joe Faulhaber, Sgt. Robbie Robinson, Lt. Pat Sanders, LCpl. Paul Sheehan, Lt. Maw Arnold, Gy-Sgt. C. I. Roberts and SSgt. Lee Witconis.

Proposed constitution and by-laws and nominations for a slate of officers will be presented to the membership at the next general meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 19, at Marston Pavilion. Additional nominations from the floor will be accepted and election of officers will follow at the Tuesday meeting.

Upon agreement on a constitution and by-laws and the election of officers, and selection of a name, formal application for approval of the formation of the Little Theatre Group will be presented to the Commanding General, Marine Corps Base.

All quad-command personnel and their dependents are welcome to attend this session and assist in forming the Little Theatre group.

Discussions were held at last Tuesday's meeting to determine the desires of those present concerning types of productions, frequency of presentations, date of first production and ways and means of accomplishing the goals of the group. No attempt was made to set any specific plans at this first meeting, though it was generally agreed that a target date of on or about April 1 would be a good time for a first effort, and sentiment was strong for a comedy as an opening show.

"GOOD LOOKING WEAPON, MARINE"—LtCol. J. H. Berge, a member of the Inspector General's Party, hands back Pvt. R. E. Callan, HqCo., H&S Bn., MCB, his rifle, during the Personnel and Rifle Inspection held Jan. 12. In the Marine's eagerness to retrieve his rifle, he had flipped his bayonet into an upside-down position. We hope it is too late for the Colonel to gig the young man.

2d Division Helps Lower Nation's Auto Fatalities

The 2d Marine Division has taken positive steps to curb part of the nation's highway holiday death toll. For the past four years, Marines stationed here have set up coffee bars in strategic location on North Carolina highways, to serve free coffee and doughnuts to travel-weary military and civilian motorists.

Since these coffee bars started operation, a 100 percent reduction in traffic fatalities to Camp Lejeune Marines has been recorded, and only two minor accidents involving Marines have occurred within the coffee bars' zones of operation.

According to a Division Traffic Safety Section spokesman, "Prior to the establishment of the Division-operated coffee bars, there were quite a few accidents reported in this area."

Over the past Christmas holiday period, the coffee bars served more than 350 dozen doughnuts and 4,500 cups of coffee to some 2,000 motorists. While the coffee bars were in operation, there were no reported accidents within a 50-mile radius of Camp Lejeune.

The spokesman for the Division's Traffic Safety Section also commented, "while there is no positive proof that the coffee bars have stopped the slaughter of Marines on the North Carolina highways, the fact that no fatalities have been reported in this area since the establishment of the coffee bars, indicates that they are a major factor in making holiday travel safer for Eastern North Carolina's motorists."

SGT. E. A. MIKELAITS

Force Troops Parachutist Guest On CBS TV Show

A record setting parachute jump was the topic of discussion on the Columbia Broadcasting System's "To Tell the Truth" television program Jan. 4 as Sgt. Edward A. Mikelaits, 2d Force Reconnaissance Co., Force Troops, related his experiences as a member of a Marine sport parachute team which set a group night free fall record.

The jump, made over Ft. Bragg, N. C., a few months ago was made from 44,100 feet with a free fall distance of 42,300 feet. The previous record, held by the Russians, was a free fall total distance of 36,000 feet.

In "telling the truth" Sgt. Mikelaits told of boarding a KC 130F aircraft and putting on an oxygen mask immediately to get all the nitrogen out of his system to eliminate any chance of getting the bends. Bends, a swelling of the joints caused by difference in air pressure, can be fatal.

At approximately 1:45 a. m. the nine-man group exited the aircraft and much to their surprise, found the temperature frigid 70 degrees below zero.

The extreme cold caused goggles and altimeters to ice-up and malfunction. The goggles were discarded after attempts to de-ice them failed. A night flare was used to thaw out the instruments.

Since the ground crew ran out of flares, the parachute team dropped nearly 23,000 feet without any sense of direction.

At 1,800 feet ripcords were pulled and the team floated down to the new free fall record. Total time elapsed from exiting the aircraft to "hitting the silk" was 3 minutes and thirty seconds.

Sgt. Mikelaits has nearly 700 free fall jumps with the Marine Sport Parachute Club.

trees from leaving the service after 20 years. Subjects to be studied include the impact such a program would have on the promotion system and mainly, how much the government can save by keeping the 20 year men for 30.

Representative L. Mendel Rivers (D., SC.), new chairman of the House Armed Services Committee is quoted as saying "I don't know why we should give the military the privilege to retire after 20 years. I have always felt that way."

End the Draft

The Defense Department continues its study on a proposal to end the draft. According to latest estimates, the government could possibly save approximately $6 billion a year by ending the draft.

Just the mention of such a proposal, however, seems to have caused a decline in recruiting and reenlistments in all branches of the service. DOD reports that enlistments were 9 percent lower in August, 5 percent lower in September and as low as 15 percent in October.

At the end of November the Marine Corps was under strength by 500.

The report is scheduled to go to the President for a decision.

300 Garden Plots Now Available For Planting

With Camp Lejeune weather fluctuating between bitter cold days and periods of balmy spring weather, perhaps it isn't too far fetched to begin thinking of plans for garden plots.

In any case, Base Housing says that those who plan on starting garden plots in housing areas had better get their reservations in early.

Garden plots which have been disced, staked and numbered are being assigned by the Base Housing Office now, as follows:

PARADISE POINT--91 plots available, sizes 24' by 50', in Paradise Point golf course area.

BERKELEY MANOR--100 plots available, sizes 30' by 50' in Stone Street--Maintenance Bldg. area.

TARAWA TERRACE, MIDWAY PARK, KNOX AND GEIGER TRAILER PARKS--120 plots available, sizes 30' by 50', off Highway 24 East, Piney Green area.

Water supply is available at sites. Occupants must furnish water hose, garden tools, seeds and related equipment and any soil treatment supplies.

Assignments are made on a "first-come first-serve" basis and may be obtained by contacting the Base Housing Office, Bldg. TT-43, Tarawa Terrace, telephone 2-2125, in person or by phone.

field runways on any future assignment to cold regions.

Over 100 Marines from the Eighth Marines Regimental Headquarters will serve as the Exercise Director's Staff at Camp Drum.

Liaison personnel leave Camp Lejeune Jan. 21. A 300-member Advance party is slated to depart Jan. 24-25. The majority of the trainees will be flown to New York during the first three days of February.

At Camp Drum, the first phase of training emphasizes cold weather indoctrination with instruction in the building of shelters, use of skis and snow shoes and methods of movement. The second phase includes field firing and company-sized tactics. A battalion field exercise comprises the final phase with a 92-hour problem slated.

Three Commanding Generals are slated to observe the training during SNOWFEX. Lieutenant General J. P. Berkeley, CG, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic is slated to visit the training site Feb. 16. Second Division CG, Major General

W. J. Van Ryzin is scheduled for a Feb. 15-17 trip to the SNOWFEX and Brigadier General Donn J. Robertson, CG, Force Troops, is slated for a Feb. 18 visit.

Blood Donors Needed

Blood donations, on a volunteer basis, are now being taken at the Naval Hospital, under the Navy Blood Program.

Marine Corps Base is scheduled to give blood Jan. 4-10, Jan. 15-21, Feb. 15-21, and March 8-14.

Blood from the 2d Marine Division will be taken Jan. 11-17, Feb. 1-7, Feb. 22-28, and March 15-21.

Force Troops is scheduled to give blood Jan. 18-24, Feb. 8-14, March 1-7, and March 22-28.

Blood collected through this program will be stored in the Blood Bank at the Naval Hospital.

Nat'l Childrens' Dental Health Week Feb. 7-13

Camp Lejeune public schools will observe National Children's Dental Health Week Feb. 7-13. This will be the fifth consecutive year that the Base Dental Department has participated in the program.

Dental surveys in this country continue to report and emphasize the high incidence and prevalence of dental disease. Once every year a special effort is made to focus this country's attention on the seriousness of this problem. During the week long project, organized dentistry conducts a very extensive educational program designed to impress the importance of good dental health in the Nation's youth.

This year the Officers Wives Club and the Staff NCO Wives Club will jointly support the program by contributing time and money. The money is being used to purchase pamphlets, posters, slides, films, etc. The Wives Clubs are sponsoring competition between sections of graded or rooms in the school systems with prizes being given for the most original displays of dental health.

During NCDHW, dental officers from the Base Dental Department will visit each of the schools in the Camp Lejeune public school system.

The children will be instructed in the practices of good dental health making use of films and various other training aids. In addition, dental officers will be available to give talks to the TA groups at their February meetings.

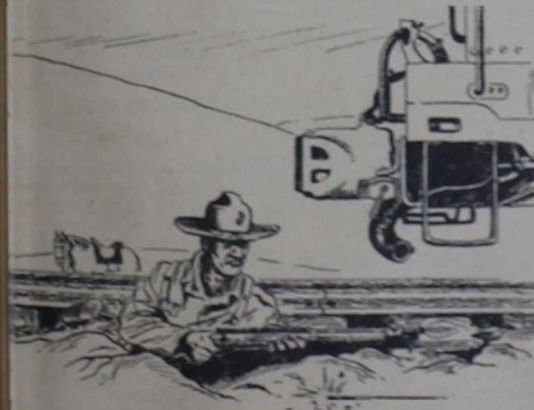

At Camp Lejeune one of the significant achievements resulting from past NCDHW and the U. S. Naval Dental Corps preventive Dentistry Program is the fluoridation of the base water supply.

Sunday School

Sunday School for Jewish children, ages 6-12 will begin on Jan. 17 at Brewster School at 9 a.m. For further information call the Jewish Chaplain at Ext. 7-5822.

They Answered The Call . .

Near the end of the Marine Corps occupation of Nicaragua (prior to World War II), Captain Lewis B. "Chesky" Puller volunteered to lead a patrol of 80 men and six officers to insure that a new railroad line from Leon to El Sauce would be completed in time for its official opening ceremony, Jan. 1, 1933. Other than crossing a couple of rickety trestles, the ride was uneventful until they arrive a few miles from El Sauce. There a gang of bandits on horseback hit the train. In the "catch-as-catch-can" battle of one hour and ten minutes, Puller's patrol suffered three dead and three wounded while the bandits had 32 dead and lost 63 horses. As a result of their actions, Marine Lieutenant Bunn and Navy Medical Corpsman Lynch were awarded the Navy Cross and Nicaraguan President Moncada held his opening ceremony on time.

STUDENT VISIT—Students of the 9th Grade Vocational Education Class at Jacksonville Senior High School, Jacksonville, N. C., visiting Camp Lejeune were impressed by the "Giant" Metal Cutting Press during a tour of the Base Motor Transport Facilities. The 45 freshmen were given a briefing by the Industrial Relations Officer, then visited the Water Purification Plant and toured Base Motor Transport.

Special Shield Protects President At Inauguration

President Johnson will view the inaugural parade sitting behind a one-and-a-half-inch-thick section of bullet-resistant plate glass, measuring three and a half feet high by 10 feet long.

The special enclosure will be on the Presidential Pavilion in front of the White House.

The bullet proof glass will rest in a special frame atop quarter-inch steel armor plate measuring four and a half feet by 10 feet. The steel shield will be inside the Presidential box and will not be visible to the general public.

Also, the floor of the box will be covered by a 5-by-10-foot steel plate to protect against any attempt to place a bomb or other device under the stands.

At the top and bottom of the thick slabs of glass will be four fluorescent lighting fixtures. If the parade lasts into the evening, as it did four years ago, the fluorescent lights can be turned on so the public will be able to see the President.

Gen. Buse Promoted To Three Stars

The post of Marine Corps Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans and Programs HQMC, has been upgraded to a three star assignment by the President of the United States.

The upgrading resulted in a promotion for Major General Henry W. Buse, Jr., to Lieutenant General. He currently heads the department and with his promotion, he joins five other Marine Corps Lieutenant generals on active duty.

After graduating from the Naval Academy and accepting a commission in May 1934, General Buse began his career with a year of sea duty aboard the USS OKLAHOMA with the Marine Detachment.

During World War II, he fought in the Guadalcanal Campaign where he was awarded the Bronze Star with Combat "V". Later at Cape Gloucester he was awarded the Silver Star Medal and a second Bronze Star.

As Chief of Staff for the 1st Marine Division during the Korean war, Gen. Buse was awarded the Legion of Merit with Combat "V". He served in that capacity from Oct. 1952 to June 1953.

Before being named to his current post, Gen. Buse commanded the Okinawa based 3d Marine Division. He assumed his present duties in July 1963.

Tax Seminar Set For February 18

Agents of the Internal Revenue Service will conduct a one-day seminar on Federal Income Tax in the Base Theater on Thursday, February 18, from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. A special question and answer period will be conducted from 3:30 to 5 p. m.

Commanding Officers have been urged to send as many representatives as are deemed necessary to assist members of their command in the preparation of income tax returns.

5-Year-Old Dependent Boy Needs Help From You

Leatherneck tradition has it that, "The Marine Corps Takes Care Of Its Own." This tradition has held true many times. We now have a chance to prove again that we do take care of our own.

Ronnie Elkins, five-year-old son of SSgt. and Mrs. Chalmer Elkins, was playing in his father's car during a storm, nearly two years ago, when lightning hit the car. In the resulting fire, Ronnie received burns on 60 percent of his body.

After five months in the Naval Hospital, undergoing repeated operations, Ronnie was allowed to go home, and the next year was spent convalescing, except for periodic operations.

Ronnie is doing well now, and is well on his way to a normal life, except for one problem.

His scalp was severely damaged in the fire, and as a result, he has had extensive skin grafted on his head, and will never be able to grow hair.

Obviously, a wig is the answer to Ronnie's problems, however an ordinary wig is no good.

Ronnie's wig must have a special medicated foundation because the grafted skin on his head is especially sensitive to infection. The wig must also be specially fitted, and blended to match the remaining hair.

A trip to New York will be required for the fitting, and in all, it will cost several hundred dollars for the wig, which the Elkins don't have right now, due to various expenses (special clothing, etc.) connected with the tragedy.

Medicare cannot ease the problem, nor can the Crippled Children's Society.

Can we?

Pat Barker, a member of the Jacksonville Daily News Staff, originally ran a story on Ronnie, and mentioned that the Crippled Children's Society had offered to act as a clearinghouse for any donations. A check with Jerry Brooks, local representative of the Society disclosed that no money had been received.

Pat Barker said that she was planning to appeal to various civic and social organizations for help, which might raise some money. But is that necessary?

If we "take care of our own," it isn't.

Anyone interested in helping Ronnie can send checks or money orders made out to Ronnie Elkins, to the Onslow Crippled Children's Society, PO Box 1157, Jacksonville, N. C., attention: Jerry Brooks.

MCI QUIPS

"...AND, I WILL COMPLETE MY MCI COURSE!"

How many New Years' resolutions have you made that you will keep throughout the year? If every Marine that took an MCI course last year did so because of a New Years' resolution, then over 50% broke their promises to themselves.

Let's make this year the best year yet. Resolutions are always made for personal improvement. Other than on-the-job training, there is no better way to professionally improve yourself mentally, than participation in an MCI course. Many of you are working out of your MCI. For you especially, MCI courses are just the thing to keep up with the latest word about your field. There are almost no fields today in the Marine Corps that are not covered by an MCI course. A good example of personnel working out of their fields are those currently on State Department duty. There are approximately 725 serving in these billets and the total number of MCI courses being pursued by these Marines totals 682. These Marines will be right up to date when they are returned to duty with their MCI's. They will most assuredly be ready to take their tests for promotion. Will you?

Don't put it off a minute longer! See your Training Officer or Training MCI and enroll in an MCI course now.

Count Transfers As Part Of Career Fringe Benefits

"If it weren't for the moving around," I've heard people say, "I think I'd like a military career."

They acknowledge such attractions as educational opportunities, a steady job with steady pay, medical benefits, a 30-day paid vacation each year, and the others. But, lacking experience, they keep coming back to the same old objection: "But, they move you around too much."

Now, you and I, being career Marines who've lived everywhere from Argentina to Zipangu — figuratively speaking, of course — know this objection is only a point-of-view held by salesmen, teachers, clerks, farmers, and a whole host of other non-Marines. We know, from past experience, that a transfer as a Marine does not contain the element that others dread—the element of CHANGE. We know that a new man can get settled in at his new post with as little time and trouble as saying "Sergeant Jones . . . reporting for duty, sir."

My first day here at Lejeune, I met five or six people I had served with before. Within ten days I ran onto at least as many more, discovered four or five who were acquainted with folks I know, and my wife met several wives she knew, at various places around the base.

At your new post, the same friendly people run the commissary store, the laundry and cleaners, and the rental offices. If you didn't know better you'd think the service clubs, the swimming pool, and the movie theater had been transferred with you from your former duty station. Uniform regulations are similar, working hours almost identical, and leave and liberty policies practically the same as anywhere else you have served. Except for location, climate, and local custom, you'd never know you had moved.

Rather than detracting, transfers ENHANCE a man's effectiveness. They give him a fresh approach to his job, an opportunity to learn new methods, and a wider acquaintance of key personnel within his occupational field. No doubt about it, moving is another of the many benefits of a Marine Corps Career!

★ Your America ★ BY CLARK KINNAIRD

Today, with moon travel a prospect regularly headlined in most newspapers, it's interesting to note that 129 years ago, people within the circulation areas of New York City newspapers were reading avidly of moon inhabitants.

Four days later, spurred by the evident interest of readers, the Sun began a series concocted by Mr. Locke. It was explained that, "by a transfusion of artificial light through the focal object of vision," Mr. Herschel's telescope had attained a 42,000 magnifying power and he had seen midjet people inhabiting the moon. Mr. Locke wrote in such believable details that the circulation of the Sun went up like a rocket.

An imaginative reporter for the New York Sun, Richard Adams Locke, speculated about what Sir John Herschel, British astronomer, might have seen through a powerful new telescope that had been set up at the Cape of Good Hope in 1834 to study the stars and nebulae. Mr. Locke wrote an article, published Aug. 21, 1835, purporting to quote the Edinburgh Courant to the effect that Herschel had made discoveries "of the most wonderful description."

Since there were no cables or fast mail service, weeks passed before the hoax was exposed. Quite naturally, some belief continued.

VOICE OF LEJEUNE

Dear Sir,

Last night, Thursday, Dec. 17, 1964, I went to the Base Drive-in Theater. Upon approaching the ticket booth I turned off my headlights to parking lights, paid my admission and proceeded with my headlights back on to dim. Almost immediately two flash lights started flashing and pointing at me so I proceeded to the closest one. The Marine on duty informed me that there was an order stating that parking lights only would be used in the drive-in. I asked him what kind of order it was and he said Base Order 1710 point something and pointed to the screen which had a slide projected on it giving the regulation about not crossing the speaker isle but to use normal routes to change lanes.

This had nothing to do with headlights nor parking lights I found out the next morning when I looked up BO 1710.8B.

As it happened, it was raining that night and not the best conditions for driving; even at 5 mph as is the speed limit. With many of the newer cars, the parking lights are yellow and very poor to drive by. I counted eight other cars who were stopped for the same reason that night, driving with their headlights on. I also noted how people ran from their cars to the snack-bar because of the rain, they could have been hit easily by a passing car.

It seems to me that this practice is not a good one prior to the movie starting because there are only four main lights in the rear of the parking area and they do not, in my opinion, provide proper lighting for anyone to drive by with only their parking lights on. After the movie starts, headlights flashing across the screen and other cars would be annoying for a few seconds or so (how long does it take to park?) so parking lights only at this time might be in order but still you have the safety factor.

Would not eight more main lights solve this? Four on each side of the parking area in addition to the four in the rear, or just move the four in the rear to the edge of the lot and add four more on the other edge, turned so they point into the center-front of the parking spaces.

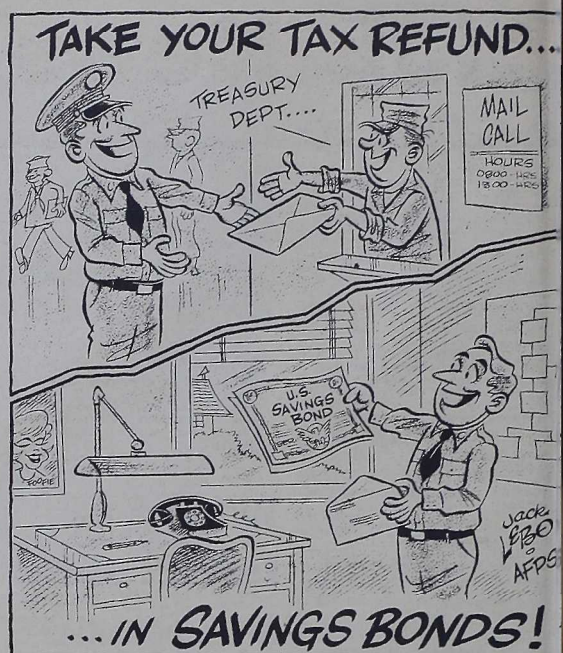

I have not heard of anyone getting hit at the drive-in but I think it could happen because of poor lighting.

Respectfully submitted, Sgt. Kenneth W. Schenck, USMC, HQCo, MCB.

FOUR STAR QUOTES . . .

"We are not unaware that our existence from time to time has been threatened. So we seek to improve our usefulness to the nation as the best guarantee of longevity. We consider the quality of our troops — of the individual Marine, his competence and esprit — basic to this usefulness. Accordingly, our efforts in the future will continue to be devoted towards increasing the quality of the individual Marine, of our combatant forces, and of our Corps, in every respect." Bonds Best Way To Keep 'Save Money' Resolution

One New Year's resolution always seems to get lost in the shuffle—the promise to save money.

Every year servicemen resolve to buckle down and really save money in the New Year. Most of them fail in their promise because they have no substantial plan for saving.

One good solution to the problem is to purchase savings bonds. By using the savings bond allotment program provided by all the armed services, a serviceman is able to save money for himself, and also provide the government money to help carry on its functions.

An allotment plan takes the worry and bother out of saving money and assures the serviceman that he will have a certain amount of money available whenever he needs it.

The beginning of the new year is a good time to start buying bonds by allotment since a person can get his income tax refund in the form of a savings bond.

The tax return you must file before April 15, 1965, contains a line to check if you desire your refund in Series E Savings Bonds. Your refund will consist of a bond of the largest denomination that can be purchased from the total amount of your refund, plus a check for the difference.

Certainly a resolution to save money is a good thing, but unless an orderly, consistent plan of saving is laid out, the resolution is worth nothing. You have such a plan available in the form of a savings bond allotment.

Chaplain's Corner

"At that time the disciples came to Jesus, saying, 'Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?' And calling to him a child, he put him in the midst of them, and said, 'Truly I say to you, unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever humbles himself like this child, he is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.'" (Matthew 18:1-4)

What is it that the child has which we adults — in Jesus' eyes — so sadly lack? What is this "childlike" quality by which our very suitability for heaven is measured? Apparently it is the exact opposite of the chief characteristic found in grown-ups: DISTRUST. The child lives in a world of untruffled trust. He meets reality as it is with simple acceptance.

We adults clutter up our world with unrealities, illusions, formalities and trivialities which we take with great seriousness. We are by no means childlike any more, so we call ourselves "mature"; but a truer term would be "inhibited" or "blind." Our children, who deal directly with real things, are surprised and confused by the hardness and the narrowness they find in us, and they are utterly confused by our set of values. We disregard the child's real world as being immature. He will grow out of it, we say, and unfortunately, he does. But our Lord tells us that it is we who need to change, not the child. We need to outgrow our "maturity." The little child is the opposite of what we have become. We need to learn from him how to evaluate things — how to see things as they really are.

MOVIE REVIEWS

ISLAND OF THE BLUE DOLPHINS

One of the most honored literary classics of our times has been brought to the screen as an unusual and exciting motion picture adventure in color. Scott O'Dell's "Island of the Blue Dolphins" is the moving story of a young girl played by Celia Kaye, abandoned on a California Coastal island, and how, like Robinson Crusoe, she ingeniously survives.

CHARADE

The love affair of a team of sophisticates in Paris is smartly told with a debonair Cary Grant and a worldly wise Audrey Hepburn in the Technicolor film "Charade." This film discreetly and delightfully tells of the unconventional courtship of an adventurous American (Grant) and a newly-made widow (Hepburn). It's a comedy-mystery-romance set in a Paris decor with cocktails, murder and Givency gowns.

CAVALRY COMMAND

A forbidden love affair with a native girl, complicates life for a U. S. Cavalryman assigned to wipe out bandit armies in the Philippines. Technicolor epic "Cavalry Command," is a dramatic achievement for John Agar and an excellent cast. Romance and lots of action is the order of the day in Cavalry Command.

MGM'S BIG PARADE OF COMEDY
Laughter has always been a keynote of entertainment and MGM offers you laughs in abundance in "MGM's Big Parade of Comedy," a feature picture highlighting the screen's most hilarious comedy moments, dating back to the early silent movie days.

Utilizing features and short subjects made prior to 1947, director Bob Youngson selected comedy scenes involving more than 50 stars of past and present, including Clark Gable, Jean Harlowe, Cary Grant, Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, Jimmy Durante, The Three Stooges and many more.

LILI
Leslie Caron, as a homeless French waif, finds security and romance with Mel Ferrer, a carnival puppeteer, in "Lili," one of MGM's most memorable color productions, which is again captivating movie audiences. The puppets share stellar honors in a cast which also includes Jean Pierre Aumont, Zsa Zsa Gabor and Kurt Karnag.

YOUR CHEATIN' HEART
The story of Hank Williams, America's famous country singer composer, is unfolded in "Your Cheatin' Heart," a motion picture which touches the heart. It is a compelling drama, alternating between joy and tragedy, and highlighted by many of the ballads, religious songs and popular country music which Williams sung across the country and which made him one of the most beloved entertainers of his day.

TAMAHINE
When you spring a lovely, uninhibited, seventeen-year-old Polynesian girl named Tamahine on the impressionable students of a boys' public school in England, you can expect some astonishing, explosive and hilarious repercussions. That is exactly what you get when Nancy Kwan is sent from a tropical Pacific island to join her uncle, Poole (Dennis Price), at Hallow, the venerable and staid school of which he is headmaster, in the new MGM and Seven Arts comedy-drama "Tamahine."

MISS MIAMI BEACH

GOING DOWN—Master Gunnery Sergeant C. A. Bender, (right), president of the Camp Lejeune Judo Club, flips an unidentified member during one of their weekly meetings. The club, which is open to all military personnel stationed aboard Lejeune, is looking for new members.

Lejeune Judo Club Eyeing New Talent

Every Marine stationed aboard Camp Lejeune, at one time or another, participates in some form of recreation. People interested in baseball, football, basketball and fishing know where to go to enjoy these sports. What about the Judo fan?

Many of the personnel assigned to Lejeune, who are interested in the ancient oriental art, have wanted to join the Judo club, but do not know where to go or whom to see.

Master Gunnery Sergeant C. A. Bender, who holds the rank of 1st degree black belt, is president of the base Judo club. The club, which is geographically situated west of the Goettge Memorial Field house and south of the Base Protestant Chapel, is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7:30-9.

Sergeant Bender is looking for rated and experienced men to promote Judo here at Lejeune. All Marines, who wish to join the club as a beginner, are welcome. The judo-gi, the uniform used while playing, will be furnished free for the first few weeks to the students, until they decide whether or not to stick with the club.

The style of Judo used at Camp Lejeune is called Kodokan. It stems from the ancient oriental manner of fighting called Ju-Jitsu. Thanks to the efforts of a few Chinese the art was carried over, with modifications, until we now have the present form of sport judo.

The Lejeune Judo Club is the only official Judo authority on base. All personnel, who train on their own and intend to enter open competition on the outside, must go through the local club. For further information concerning admittance into the Judo club contact Sergeant Bender at 73647 during working hours.

Locals Run On Saturday

An open, two-man, six mile relay race will be held this Saturday, January 16, as the Camp Lejeune Harriers extend an invitation to all college, high school, military and dependent runners to enter this meet.

The race, which begins promptly at 1:30 p. m., will be held at the Goettge Memorial Field House track on a fairly flat one mile rectangular course. Spikes are not recommended.

All runners will be paired into two-man teams. If you don't have a partner, come over anyway, because there will be plenty of partners to go around.

The first runner of each team runs a mile and then passes a baton to his teammate, who runs and next mile. The runners continue running alternate miles until each man has run three separate miles.

An entry fee of $1 per runner will be charged to defray the cost of the eight attractive trophies, which will be presented to members of the first four teams across the finish line.

Runners wishing to compete in the upcoming race should register with the race officials at the track one-half hour prior to the start of the race. The grueling six mile event will be run rain or shine. For further information contact Lt. R. W. McDermott, USN, U. S. Naval Hospital (Ext. 44-313), or 1st Lt. Ed Loughton, Marine Corps Air Facility (Ext. 06-147).

Broad Physical Training Achieves Olympic Goals

Assistant Secretary of Defense (Public Affairs) Arthur Sylvester told returning U. S. military Olympic medalists he believes the consistent outstanding performance of our athletes is traced to the broad physical training and sports programs conducted by the military departments.

Mr. Sylvester recently greeted the medalists at the Pentagon in behalf of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Also included in the welcoming party were Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower) Norman S. Paul, Secretary of the Army Stephen Alles, Undersecretary of the Navy Paul Fay, Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps Lieutenant General Charles Hayes and Air Force Director of Military Personnel Major General G. B. Greene, Jr.

Secretary Sylvester said, it is generally recognized that international sport is an effective bridge to international understanding and friendship.

He further explained that the physical training and sports programs not only contribute to better physical fitness, troop morale and enhancement of the world-wide prestige of U. S. forces, but they teach each individual the important lesson that victory in any contest requires training and self-sacrifice.

"The goals of international athletes competing in the successive Olympiads down the years," the secretary said in his address to the medalists, "have been greater heights, faster speeds and ever-increasing strength. You have achieved these Olympic goals and I congratulate you."

Down The Middle

By Skip Vierling

Over 40 golfers attended the "Burger Bucket" clinic and Blitz last Saturday and the quality of instruction and playing was outstanding. It appears that all hands will be primed and ready for next weekend's clash with Cherry Point.

Everyone who signed up to play in the tournament prior to Jan. 2 will be paired for play. You should check with the Pro Shop between Wednesday and Saturday for your pairings and starting times. Anyone who has not signed up but would like to compete can go to Cherry Point and they will be paired by the Pro in the event of any dropouts. All transportation of CP must be provided for by the individuals, so check the list and get together with other members on a car-pool basis. Speaking of driving, allow yourself plenty of time, you must report to the Cherry Point Pro 30 minutes prior to your starting time so start early enough to make the trip and to meet the required advanced reporting time.

Congrats to the host of winners we report this week. First of all the Burger Bucket Blitz with 14 under Col. B. W. McLain, GySgt. J. R. Romp, SSgt. J. K. Newcomb and Ron Marrs, that foursome really burned up the course. Tied for 2d spot was

W. E. Perkins, Capt. Murphy, 1st Lt. C. R. Mitchell and LCpl. L. Carroll in one foursome with W. O. C. R. Waters, MSgt. Limpack, 1st Sgt. L. E. Lovell and 1st Sgt. P. E. Lovett in the other.

Scotch Foursome honors last week went to B. and V. Spellman, W. Hood, H. Young and J. Sutton, second slot to the team of H. Troy, M. Danowitz, BGen. Booker, and V. Robertson.

And last but by far from least a nod to the winners of the CLNC Ladies Golf Assn., Ladder Tournament, Ladder #1 Lola Dyer and Edna Maxwell, Ladder #2 Margaret Puckett and Virginia Spielman. The gals are getting their Arena Tournament underway and are looking for new members so all you women golfers get out and join up with these fine sportswomen. While on the female side of the ledger, a special nod to Lunette Beale for that fine 87 last week.

Well that brings us to the 19th for this week. Keep the info coming in and much luck at Cherry Point.

HARD WORK REWARDED—Lieutenant Colonel Howard T. Pittman, Commanding Officer, Headquarters Battalion, 2d Marine Division, delivers a letter of appreciation to Lance Corporal Richard A. Schude, (left), HqCo., Headquarters Battalion, for the Marine's fine work with the Camp Lejeune Boys League. Schude acted in the capacity as both baseball coach and football official from April 1963 through Dec. 1964. The letter of appreciation was originated by Major General Alpha L. Bowser, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune.

SEVENTH TIME AROUND—First Sergeant John G. Best, Company "G", 2d Battalion, 8th Marines, 2d Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, reenlists Dec. 18, for the seventh time since 1934. Battalion Commander, Lieutenant Colonel James B. Orr, Jr., administers the oath of enlistment. Sergeant Major Willard J. Mason, Battalion Sergeant Major and long-time friend of Sergeant Best, looks on. Sergeants Mason and Best had previously served together in 1958.

First Sergeant Reviews Thirty Years In 'Corps

"The Marine Corps has changed in the past 30 years, but more important, the men in the Marine Corps have changed," says First Sergeant John G. Best, Company "G", 2d Battalion, 8th Marines, 2d Marine Division, who reenlisted Dec. 18, for the seventh time since 1934.

On Reenlistment

New Order Clears Up Incentives

According to Marine Corps Order 1133.15F, a first term Leatherneck who ships over for four or six years can confidently expect to get one of his three incentive choices, and can be sure that every reasonable consideration is given to the priority of his choices.

The order, recently revised, has no added reenlistment incentives, but says that a man must submit three options, made up of any combination of the presently available incentives.

Choices offered are formal schooling, retraining in another field a choice of duty station, sea duty, State Department duty, or retention at present duty station for an additional year.

As explained by the new order, a re-enlistee who elects to remain at Camp Lejeune, for example, will not be transferred from that base for at least one year. If, however, he elects retention in a 2d Marine Division unit, he will not be transferred out of division control for at least a year, but he may be transferred to any unit, including a transplacement unit, within the division.

The new directive also states that retention in or transfer to a post, station or FMF unit does not guarantee that the individual will remain in the particular geographic locality where he first joins the outfit if the unit itself is moved or disbanded.

Reenlistments

2D MARINE DIVISION:
Sgt. E. Vasquez, H&S Co., 2d Recon Bn.; Aviation retraining.
Cpl. P. Dudley, Co. "M", 3/6; Portsmouth, N. H.
Cpl. R. A. Cobb, Co. "E", 2/2; retention at duty station.
Cpl. F. F. Dernat, HqCo., 2d Marines; retention at duty station.

The biggest change in the Corps, Sergeant Best believes, "...is the development of vertical envelopment—the use of helicopters in tactical warfare." However, he says, "...education has had a lot to do with the changes within the Corps in the past 30 years." According to Sergeant Best, "All Marines should take advantage of the Marine Corps Institute, U. S. Armed Forces Institute, Military Schools and all college courses offered." His one word of advice is, "Study."

His opinion of today's Marine is, "The Marine is better qualified and better educated today than when I entered the Marine Corps and because of this, senior NCO's are more fully qualified to hold positions of responsibility." But, the first sergeant sounded a note of sadness by saying "...the Marine of today does not have the will of yesterday. In '34, a man remained a Marine for the tradition. Today, he stays because of tradition and pay."

He conceded that it is easier to obtain rank today than when he first joined, but insisted that the Marine NCO's prestige has not diminished within the past 30 years.

MERITORIOUS PROMOTION—Sergeant Harold P. Dean was meritoriously promoted to his new rank by LtCol. Frank R. DeNormandie, Commanding Officer, 2d Engineer Battalion, 2d Marine Division, Dec. 23. Sergeant Dean's wife, Edith, and their two children were present for the ceremony which took place in Col. DeNormandie's office. Sergeant Dean is squad leader of the 1st Squad, 1st Platoon, Company "B". He was promoted for his outstanding ability to carry out assigned duties which normally require the leadership and knowledge of a man of senior grade.

2d Battalion, 2d Marines Gets New Commander

Lieutenant Colonel James W. Donnell assumed command of the 2d Battalion, 2d Marines, 2d Marine Division, during a change of command ceremony recently. He relieved Lieutenant Colonel Joseph F. Holzbauer.

A veteran of more than 23 years Marine Corps service, Col. Donnell entered the Marine Corps as a private in Feb. 1941 and made his way up the promotion ladder to the rank of sergeant.

He was then commissioned a second lieutenant, and following two months school at Quantico, Va., was assigned to the 24th Marines, as a platoon commander.

During his 20 years commissioned service, Col. Donnell has served as an infantry platoon commander, rifle company commander, S-3 officer of an infantry battalion, executive officer of an infantry regiment, Inspector-Instructor of a Marine Corps Reserve Rifle Co. and Officer Procurement Officer.

Prior to reporting to Camp Lejeune for duty with the 2d Marine Division, Col. Donnell served three years with the U. S. Naval Mission in Venezuela.

Colonel Holzbauer, outgoing battalion commander, has received orders to report to the NATO Defense College, Paris, France. Upon completion of Schooling at the NATO Defense College he will report for duty with Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE).

Hand Salute Stems From Middle Ages

When an enlisted man salutes an officer, he carries on a custom practiced by cavemen.

Hand raising as a formal greeting probably originated in prehistoric times when fearful strangers wanted to prove to one another that they carried no weapons.

In the Middle Ages, an armored knight on horseback raised his right arm for the practical purpose of lifting the heavy visor of his helmet. This movement also served to show trust and friendship since it revealed his face to a stranger and kept his sword hand away from the weapon.

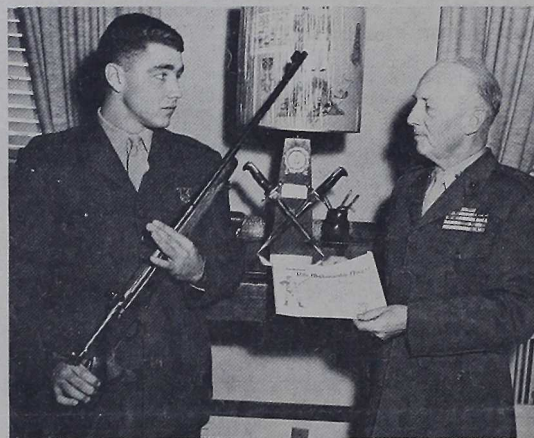

But the modern hand salute was not in general use by armies before the 19th century.

Previously, British soldiers saluted by tipping their hats, a custom dating back to Roman time when partial disrobing was considered a mark of respect.

The hand salute is now common among military forces around the world, but there are variations. British soldiers show the palm. The French touch fingertips to temple with palm forward. German and Italian troops in WWII revived a snapping, straight-arm salute which had been popular centuries ago with Greek warriors.

The ceremony of saluting by gunfire developed after the introduction of cannon to warfare. A victor would demand a cannon salute, possibly to make sure the defeated enemy's guns were empty.

John Paul Jones, father of the U. S. Navy, established a 13-gun salute for American ships, one gun for each original state. Later, the government adopted the traditional 21-gun salute used in Great Britain.

EXPERT—For his accomplishments as an expert rifleman, Lance Corporal Michael J. McMahon received the Leatherneck Rifle Marksmanship Awards of a Winchester Rifle, Marine Corps Lamp and a Leatherneck Marksmanship Certificate from Major General A. L. Bowser, Camp Lejeune Base Commander. McMahon dropped only 8 points to score 242.

Division Marine Lauded For Hometown Recruiting

Lance Corporal Randy T. Curtis, Battery "C", 1st Battalion, 10th Marines, 2d Marine Division, FMF, was awarded a Letter of Appreciation recently for his part in actively recruiting high school seniors from his hometown while on 10 days leave.

Originated by the Officer in Charge, U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Louisville, Ky., the letter praised Lance Corporal Curtis' active efforts to present the Marine Corps to former school friends.

According to the letter, "Lance Corporal Curtis, while on leave in Georgetown, Ky., voluntarily accompanied the Marine Recruiter from Lexington, Ky., to both Georgetown City High School, which he had attended, and Scott County High School to assist in whatever way possible.

"Because he knew most of the senior students, and was a familiar figure in that area, his assistance was invaluable. He wore his uniform proudly and was a distinct credit to both his unit and his Corps."

"He spoke to the students particularly of the phases of recruit training and the opportunities available to them in different occupational fields."

"The tremendous student response was greater than during any previous year's presentation, and there is no doubt that it must be attributed to Lance Corporal Curtis' enthusiasm and example."

Mobile Historical Museum To Visit Camp Lejeune

The Mobile Museum of History, North Carolina's only traveling museum, will be on display at Brewster School from Jan. 18 to Jan. 28, as introduced by Mrs. Annette Marlow, local sponsor of the Mobile Museum visit. Featuring a new exhibition of life in North Carolina during the Civil War, the museum is part of the program of the State Department of Archives and History's Museum Division.

The Mobile Museum consists of a custom-built trailer which contains a collection of historical artifacts, including glass doors, the museum operates by a self-contained lighting, sound, air conditioning and heating system.

Fifteen exhibits can be accommodated in the Mobile Museum at any time. Their staff takes two minutes. The story of the Civil War in North Carolina is told through various scenes of the Battle of Fort Fisher and blockade running, artifacts recovered from various Civil War ships off the North Carolina coast, photographs of Confederate officers, and an outstanding collection of Civil War photos, in addition to many other items.

The museum is free to the public from 10 to 5 and will be on display for schoolchildren at Brewster School from 10 to 5.

Organized by the Carolina Chapter, Transitory Commission and dedicated on June 11, 1962, to Governor Barker, the museum travels the whole state of North Carolina bringing the history to a new and interesting manner to the citizens of the state. The first exhibit in the Museum regarding colonial North Carolina history have now been replaced by exciting new exhibits on the Civil War in cooperation with the U. S. C. Confederate Centennial Commission, now displaying the first year of commemoration of the Civil War in the state.

Lejeune Promenaders Need More Members

Every Thursday night at Marine Pavilion from 8 p. m. to 11 p. m. the Lejeune Promenaders meet for singing, fun and relaxation. The Lejeune Promenaders are a group of young people who were first organized in 1945 at the 1st and 2nd grade classrooms. At the end of the 15 week course there is a graduation ceremony and a banquet for the graduates. The new members of the Promenaders, having completed the course are awarded a membership badge and have their place as a part of the Lejeune Promenaders.

New classes will be starting Jan. 21 and Jan. 28. A fee is charged each Thursday night for admission and this covers the cost of instruction. Upon becoming a member of the Promenaders an additional $5 is charged and this covers the cost of the membership badge.

These classes are open to all married military personnel, regardless of their military status, as long as they are a member of the Lejeune Promenaders. For further information contact Mrs. J. E. Elder at 547-0434 or Capt. R. A. Bartholomew at 5-0138.

- Pictorial Highlights - Betio Battalion At Garcia

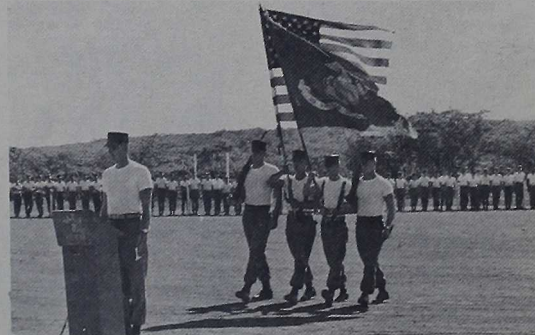

FIRING—Three members of "B" Battery, 3d Battalion, 10th Marines, attached to BLT 3/2, get plenty of experience firing the big guns while at Camp Garcia.

TWO MEMBERS of 2d Force Service Regiment attached to Battalion Landing Team 3/2 work on a 6 by 2 to keep it in proper working order.

THE TANKERS of 2d Tank Battalion, attached to Battalion Landing Team 3/2, are on target as they hold live firing exercises while at Camp Garcia.

MARCH ON THE COLORS—1stLt. G. R. Christmas calls the colors forward during the dedication ceremonies for Betio Field, built by members of the 2d Engineer Battalion, attached to the BLT. The softball field was built across from Camp Garcia Headquarters and was dedicated to those who served and died with the battalion on Betio (near Guadalcanal) 21 years ago. BLT 3/2 is now called the Betio Battalion.

HOMETOWN BOY — LCpl. R. C. Morales (in utilities), H&S Co., BLT 3/2, acts as an interpreter during a three day softball clinic held in Isabella Segunda, Vieques, Puerto Rico. The job was very gratifying to Morales as this was his place of birth. Corporal J. A. Lepito, from the same company shows the proper way to catch a ball at second base.
