Chosin Reservoir Hero Takes First Command

Silver Star holder Lieutenant Colonel W. R. Gould became the first commanding officer of the 2d Marine Division's newly activated 2d Shore Party Battalion July 1 during a Battalion activation ceremony.

Brigadier General J. G. Bourker, Assistant Division Commander, presented the Battalion Colors to Col. Gould.

The new battalion was formed from the 2d Service Battalion and assumes a primary mission of providing command control, administration and operational personnel and equipment needed by the assault troops of the division to cross the beach in surface and helicopter assaults and provide beach traffic control during subsequent operations ashore.

The 2d Shore Party Battalion was deactivated here in October 1958.

With its reduced mission, the 2d Service Battalion will be enabled to furnish increased services as the division's logistical and maintenance battalion.

LtCol. W. R. Gould

Col. Gould graduated from the University of Wyoming with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering in 1943 and was commissioned in the Marine Corps the same year.

Col. Gould was awarded the Silver Star Medal for his part in delaying the enemy in the withdrawal from the Chosin Reservoir in December of 1950.

Expeditionary Medal Available

The word is out, Marines who have become eligible for the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal since it was first authorized for landings in Lebanon, back in 1958, will soon be getting the long-awaited medal itself.

Details on how and where to apply for it are contained in MCO 1650, which includes a sample application form for use by Marines whose CO's are unable to determine eligibility.

Bowling Jobs

Bowling Center applications are now being accepted for the following positions at the new Camp Lejeune Bowling Center:

Part time positions: Counter Attendants, Nursery Attendants, Janitors, Instructors, Coaches, Mechanic Trainee.

Submit applications to Bowling Center Manager, Goettge Memorial Field House, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C. Phone ext. 7-3125.

Base Personnel Warned Of Insecticide Dangers

Fresh, vine ripened tomatoes picked from your own backyard garden are mighty hard to beat, aren't they? And surely does gall a man to see his beautiful cabbage and tender greens and other vegetables being eaten by worms and bugs, doesn't it?

Yes, all the above is true, but these delicious and potentially healthy vegetables can become very unhealthful—even lethal—if you become careless with the use of pesticides.

The Base Safety Office has issued a warning to Camp Lejeune personnel to exercise caution using any kind of household or garden insecticides. Remember, if the insecticides weren't poison, you wouldn't be using them, you use them to kill bugs and other insect pests, but they can also be injurious to humans.

Camp Lejeune Marine Corps Exchanges recently removed a number of pesticides from the sales shelves because base safety authorities felt that the warning labels were not sufficient.

Open Letter To The Naval Hospital

Just over twenty-two weeks ago yesterday my wife entered the U. S. Naval Hospital, Camp Lejeune, N. C., for hip surgery. Just eight days ago she was finally and completely removed from her body cast. This meant that for twenty-two weeks my wife was almost completely dependent upon the hospital personnel to meet her every need.

This letter is one of appreciation and gratitude to the doctors, nurses, assistants, corpswives, corpsmen, and maids of surgery and Wards 5, 15 and 26; they handed out much TLC to my wife and were our morale boosters and helpers.

Words cannot adequately express our thanks but we give it to all of the aforementioned personnel and especially to LtCmdr. R. R. Roberts, (MC, USN), Chief of Orthopedics at the Naval Hospital and my wife's doctor, for all of his fine help and understanding.

The Navy can be justifiably proud of the staff and service of our Navy Hospital here at Camp Lejeune.

Thank You,
GySgt. and Mrs. J. W. Celeste McNally

2d Division Surgeon Retires Following 20 Years Of Service

Captain James R. Dineen, Medical Corps, USN, Surgeon for the 2d Marine Division since July 1963, retired June 30 after more than 20 years active Naval service.

At the ceremony, MajGen. W. J. Van Ryzin, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, said that the Navy and Marine Corps would feel a definite loss upon the surgeon's departure and that his long years of faithful service would not soon be forgotten.

Captain Dineen is a graduate of the University of Rochester School of Medicine. He took his Internship and Residency training in U. S. Navy Hospitals and the Childrens Hospital in Boston, Mass. He passed the American Board examination in Orthopedic Surgery in 1954.

Captain James R. Dineen

Vietnam Hero—Warrant Officer Charlie M. Campbell, 31, was awarded a gold star in lieu of a fifth Air Medal recently by Base CG MajGen. A. L. Bowser. Campbell earned his fifth award while serving as a corporal and a crew chief aboard a helicopter flying missions in support of the Republic of Vietnam against communist guerrilla forces. Campbell logged 100 combat missions over Vietnam and was once hit by enemy small arms fire.

Valedictory Address Earns Marine Sergeant Kiwanis Club Invitation

(Editor's Note: Sergeant Walter J. McCoy, chief clerk, Company "L", 3d Battalion, 2d Marine Division, graduated from the Onslow-Camp Lejeune Adult High School July 1 as class Valedictorian and so impressed the guests and other members of his class with his address that he was asked to repeat it to the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club.

Sgt. McCoy gave the address to the club's monthly luncheon at the Jacksonville City Hall July 7.

The GLOBE is pleased to print Sgt. McCoy's address in its entirety.)

The seats that we occupy here today are seats that we have attained through many hours of studious labor. The right to these seats was hard won. Loss of sleep, little liberty, and much difficult mental effort were the costs that each of us has paid. A writer named Frederick Ecker once wrote that: "Self-fulfillment is not achieved in leisure. It comes of suffering, toil, discipline—and work. Talent, ability, even genius are often made through discipline and endless work."

As individuals we have worked hard and applied ourselves to the academic tasks required to obtain the diplomas we will receive today. This application has resulted in two distinct acquisitions—cleaned not from books, those long accepted vessels of learning, but from our own determined efforts. We have acquired a type of discipline—a discipline that enabled us to put aside the temptations around us and instead to study, rather than to see a movie; or to write a theme, rather than visit the club; or to involve ourselves in mathematical computations, rather than enjoying the company of our wives or girl-friends. In a great sense, discipline or the ability to apply our mental faculties, is as valuable an achievement as is the hard academic knowledge we have gained in math, English, biology, or other courses of study. Discipline of one's self, or self-mastery, is a most difficult and rare accomplishment. It is infinitely more difficult and more creditable than is generally conceded or understood.

Hard academic knowledge can change as is evidenced by the recent introduction into the classroom of "new math", a startling new method of learning which promises to change all the long-cherished basic concepts of that academic subject. However, the discipline of ourselves and our faculties which we have attained—will not change. With open minds and self-discipline, we can always learn and re-learn, grasp new concepts, and mold our thinking into wider channels, thus maintaining the knowledge ability which we represent today as graduates.

The open mind is the second acquisition acquired during our academic endeavors. We have discovered for ourselves that the mind is truly a gift of God—capable of many wonderful things if we but handle it carefully and render it always open to the new and the different. It is generally conceded that the primary aim of education is not to add to the sum of human knowledge. Its purpose is to open the mind—and not fill it as we would an empty ash-tray.

The open mind and our acquired discipline are the keys to the future and further educational success—college if we so desire and can accept the challenge.

Today, we wish to extend our gratitude to the teachers who expressed the facts, principles, and ideas so vividly—the teachers who channeled our efforts into the most important and meaningful areas—the teachers who worked and taught under the same conditions and strains under which we worked and learned. Someone once said that a good scholar who becomes a teacher transforms his mind from a reservoir into a fountain from which thirsty students might drink. To teachers like these, then, we extend our deepest thanks for giving us so much of their time and effort.

We also extend our appreciation to the state of North Carolina and the Marine Corps for rendering their assistance in making available to us this opportunity. Without the state's accreditation of our efforts and its enthusiastic support of the adult program, our desire for high school diplomas would have remained unfulfilled. Without the help of the Marine Corps in furnishing tuition assistance and the physical classrooms, our ambitions would not have been realized. In addition, the example which the Marine Corps and the state of North Carolina have set in working together in the adult high school program is indeed worthy of insertion in a civics textbook—for it clearly indicates what can be accomplished when the state and the federal government work in unison.

A realization of what we have acquired, and a grateful tribute to those who have made it possible, are cherished in the thoughts of those of us who will receive diplomas today.

I would close with a challenge to all of us in this graduating class—That the diploma which we receive today should not mark the end of our educational efforts—that passing time shall not be allowed to end in a stagnation of the open minds and self-discipline we have acquired—Instead, there is the gleam of a college degree ahead if we but look far enough into our own determined spirits. Frank O'Connor, the Irish writer, tells in one of his books how, as a boy, he and his friends would make their way across the countryside and when they came to an orchard wall that seemed too high and too doubtful to try and too difficult to permit their voyage to continue, they took off their hats and tossed them over the wall—and then they had no choice but to follow them. We have tossed our hats over the wall in obtaining a high school diploma. Let us not waver or be too frightened to leap over the wall and continue to pursue the higher education which is ours for the asking and the added effort.

DIVISION BAND VISITS ATLANTA—The 2d Marine Division Band, under the Baton of Gunnery Sergeant Robert A. Gilbert, marches up Peachtree Street in Atlanta, Ga., for the annual Independence Day celebration, to the delight of thousands of flag waving, cheering spectators.

Second Division Band Helps Georgians Celebrate Independence Holiday

The roll of drums and blare of trumpets introduced the 2d Marine Division Band to Atlanta, Georgia's annual Independence Day celebration where it paraded up famed Peachtree Street in the heart of the city.

Thousands of flags waving, cheering people lined the streets and heard and saw the Lejeune Based Marines.

Colonel James D. McBrayer, Director, 6th Marine Corps District was among the Reviewing Officers.

After passing the reviewing stand the Lejeune Marines smartly executed two right turns and halted at the right of the reviewing stand where they played for the remainder of the parade for the television and parade audiences.

The band was fairly well drenched before leaving the New River Air Facility July 3, but landed in beautiful sunny weather some two and a half hours later at Dobbins Air Force Base, 20 miles outside of Atlanta.

After chow they returned to the Air Force Base where they were quartered for their two-day stay.

After July 4 parade the Lejeune musicians boarded buses for the 45 minute ride to Stone Mountain Memorial Park where they played an hour concert. The concert was played to hundreds of people who had driven many miles. Many came just to hear the band. The band was given a tour of the park by the park Director, Mr. Jack Gilchrist. The tour ended atop famed Stone Mountain where band members had ringside seats to a fireworks display.

The Band, under the direction of MSGT. Charles P. Bush, Jr., and Drum Major Robert A. Gilbert returned to Camp Lejeune July 5.

'25-Mile Hike' Successful

The exercise was Operation X-Ray. Only four people in Company "L", 3d Battalion, 2d Marines knew what really was scheduled to happen.

The company, under the command of Captain T. J. Ryan, left the battalion area on a 25-mile hike with all attached units. The announced plan to all hands was to compete with an established record for a 25-mile hike without normal arms.

Approaching the Drive-In Theater and Landing Zone Sparrow, the company rounded a bend and were greeted by the Force Troops Drum and Bugle Corps. Surprise was tantamount. The troops made a rush for the tent loaded with food and beverages. Preparing the charcoal grilled hamburgers and hot dogs was the company First Sergeant, R. J. Fenton.

The company executive officer, First Lieutenant K. D. Jordan, involved in most of the planning was caught by surprise when a birthday cake inscribed with his name was brought forward. As the Lieutenant said, "I thought I knew what was going on, but what a pleasant surprise."

Facilities were provided to play baseball and volleyball. A small area was set aside with boxing gloves to settle all arguments.

MARINE, SCHOLAR, TOASTMASTER—It's all in a day's work for Marine Sergeant Walter J. McCoy of Camp Lejeune as he addresses the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club. McCoy was invited by the club to be Guest Speaker at their weekly meeting Tuesday in the City Hall. The honor was in recognition of his achievement as Valedictorian of the Onslow-Camp Lejeune Adult High School graduation class and the subsequent Valedictory Address he delivered to his classmates and guests.

Officer Prospects Sought At Lejeune

An Officer Selection Team from the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Raleigh is slated to visit Camp Lejeune Wednesday, July 22.

The team will be equipped to administer all the necessary tests to enlist qualified applicants into the Marine Corps Officer Candidate Course or the Platoon Leaders Class.

Due to the high number of Dependent High School graduates and College students at Camp Lejeune, the Officer Selection Officer in Raleigh feels that there are enough qualified young men in the area to warrant a visit to the base each summer.

The team will set up at the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club at 9 a. m. Wednesday, July 22, and will not only administer the necessary tests but will answer questions pertaining to any Marine Corps' program leading to a Commission, either as a ground officer or as an aviator.

Because of the many tests involved in the processing of an application it is requested that interested persons arrive as early as possible.

NOTICE Road Closed

The Base Provost Marshal has announced that a portion of Highway No. 172 will be closed to all but emergency traffic July 13, from 7 a. m. to 12 noon.

Highway No. 172 from the junction of Lyman Road and Highway No. 172 at Triangle Outpost to the junction of Highway No. 172 and Sneads Ferry Road at Duck Creek will be restricted to all normal traffic.

Through traffic on Highway No. 172 when the road is closed will be re-routed on Lyman and Sneads Ferry Roads.

Exam Date Set For Varsity Grid Prospects

Physical examinations for prospective varsity football players will be held July 11 at 10 a.m., at Goettge Memorial Field House.

If you plan to go out for the team, it is very important that you take your physical at that time. In addition to the examination, there will be a meeting held before that time.

Trials begin July 13. The first game will be on Sept. 19 at Fort Benning, Ga.

FIRM BACKING FOR THE GENERAL—When 12-year-old Jacqueline Hans of Middle Village, N. Y., asked Commandant of the Marine Corps General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., for his autograph at the World's Fair, she backed into the job to lend her full support both for the general and the "Salute to the Marine Corps." Officer-in-Charge of the Corps' fair exhibit, Major L. C. Reese, center, looks on during the signing. General Greene was on hand to witness the opening ceremonies that marked a 3-day "Salute to the Marines." Jacqueline's brother, Private First Class Jay F. Hans Jr., serves at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C.

Big Problem At Fair Is Securing A Room

One of the biggest problems facing service personnel visiting New York during the World's Fair is billeting. Servicemen with families are urged to make hotel reservations well in advance of their expected arrival in New York. For aid in choosing or reserving a place to stay, write to: New York World's Fair Housing Bureau, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N. Y., 10020.

Single servicemen can take advantage of the various service clubs and YMCA's in the New York City area.

The Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen's Club and the Sloane House YMCA offer sleeping accommodations to servicemen at special rates. Servicemen should check with the USO, 132 West 43rd St., on arrival in New York to find out just what accommodations are available and receive information on how to find the various clubs which offer services to military personnel.

The USO's supply of discount admission tickets to the fair has been sold but there are still several sources remaining. Check with the USO on availability of tickets.

The fair is in full swing with nearly all planned exhibits and shows now open and running.

Of special interest to servicemen and their families is the City, State and Federal section of the fair. Here the pavilions and exhibits of various states, cities and regions of the U. S. are located. Some are exhibits of products grown and manufactured in that state or region, such as the exhibits of Oklahoma, the New England states, Oregon and West Virginia.

Other pavilions in this section feature entertainment such as the musical extravaganza at the Texas Music Hall, the hula dancers at the Hawaii Aloha Theater and the porpoise show at the Florida pavilion.

The only real draw-back to the fair is finding enough time to see and do everything. It's impossible in one day or even one week to see it all.

USAFI Helps To Ignite Educational Revolution

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of seven articles on the United States Armed Forces Institute written by Lt.(ig) June M. Catlin for AFPS.)

An ordinary gray building on a corner in Madison, Wis., doesn't look like the headquarters of a revolution, but it is.

But the revolutionaries in this building don't deal in plots to overthrow governments. Their revolution is in the field of education.

The building houses the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI). The product of the revolution within has been the elevation of the correspondence course as a method of education to a position of eminence in the Armed Forces.

USAFI was begun in 1942 to fill some pressing needs of the mushrooming Armed Forces. Primarily, the Services needed correspondence courses to teach men the skills they needed to know to fight a mechanized war—and in a hurry. The war wouldn't wait for formal classroom learning.

The services were also faced with an illiteracy problem. Some of the new recruits were deficient in the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic. These also had to be learned in a hurry.

So, with a good bit of professional civilian help, USAFI set up a program to teach reading and writing and much more from the elementary level on up.

By the end of the war the list of courses had grown from a core of 64, primarily in the program of courses in nearly every subject offered by nearly 70 civilian colleges and universities.

In 1946, with demobilization, the men and women who staffed USAFI began to return to jobs in the civilian world.

However, the need to continue this unique program was recognized and USAFI remains an integral part of the defense effort today.

LONG AND LETHAL—This 6'1" rattlesnake with 15 rattles killed recently along highway 172 by SSgt. Lonnie E. Dowdy makes a lengthy reminder that caution against snakes should be used at all times. Sgt. Dowdy was driving home from work as 2d AmTrac Bn.'s Maintenance Shop Chief when he and his car proved victorious over the rattler.

Seat Belts

In cooperation with the safety program of this base, the Marine Corps Exchange will install seat belts purchased at the exchange free of charge. This free installation will continue on a permanent basis.

Combat Squad Competition Is On

Headquarters Marine Corps has announced that the Seventh Annual Rifle Squad Combat Practice Competition will be held at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., September 21-23.

The Corps' nine infantry regiments each will send a representative unit to the Quantico finals to determine the best squad in the Marine Corps.

Before the Quantico competition, the nine finalists will have eliminated more than 900 other squads during local testing for proficiency in combat tactics and marksmanship.

Summer Season Poses Special Safety Problems

Summertime is Safety-Time!

Does that sound like just another safety slogan?

Well, it it—but it's one that has a lot to say in just a few short words, if you stop to think about it.

What are some of the reasons that the summer season, above all the others, should be a special time for safety? Here are just a few, for openers:

DRIVING SAFETY: In the summer, you, like most of the citizenry, do more driving. You're on your way to the beach, pool or picnic area. You're heading for home on leave or a long holiday week-end. Or you're just out for a pleasant drive on a sunny Sunday afternoon. And you've got lots of company! The highways are jammed with people doing the same thing. It all boils down to a simple equation: More drivers and more driving equals more chance for accidents and more need for safety.

WATER SAFETY: Swimming and boating are primarily summer sports and both of them have their own set of safety rules. Observe them and you can have a happy summer; ignore them and you might not make it through the summer.

SAFETY IN THE SUN: The same sun that makes most summer recreation so pleasurable can lay you low if you get too much of it. And remember, while you're in the Armed Forces, serious sunburn requiring medical attention and causing lost work-time can result in disciplinary action.

FIRE SAFETY: Many of us do a lot of backyard and patio cooking in the summer. Charcoal-broiled food is great, but if you're not careful with the barbecue equipment, you may wind up fiddling while something more than just the steaks and hamburgers burn.

Half the battle is over when you're alert to the special safety problems summer presents. The next step is being prepared to do something about them.

It's up to you to make sure that summertime really is safety-time.

Chaplain's Corner

This is one of our talents: the ability to express ourselves. Some people have the ability to do this in a way that can be remembered through the ages.

How many times have the following words of Stephen Grellet been repeated and commented on: "I shall pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore, that I can do or any kindness I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Here, simple truths are brought out, put into our more native thoughts and made to appear as if they belong to us. The basis of each phrase is really the echo of the Eternal Galilean. When once asked on what was the greatest commandment, the Great Teacher replied that the love of God was the supreme law and that the love of one's neighbor was of equal stature.

Thus, in Grellet's words, we are reminded how short our stay on earth is; that there is but one chance. We are sheared of any choices: there is only one obligation. Any good that we have a chance to do or wish to do, it has to be done NOW.

And what about neglect in this regard? My chance during life is my first and also last opportunity. After this stay on God's world, there are no more chances.

What do you think of the ten cent charge for Base movies?

PFC PAUL T. HOFFMAN
Motor Transport Sec., H&S Co.
2d AT Bn.—I don't mind if you want to see a movie bad enough you'll save a dime to see it.

CPL. MARVIN F. POLSTON
Base Hobby Shop—The charge must be for better movie. Every station I've ever been at already charges for movies.

LOUISE P. BAILEY, Dependent, Base Disbursing—I'm in favor of it, if it brings better movies to the troops.

CPL. GERALD L. MINSTER
Co. "C", 1st Bn., 2d Marine Division—I don't see a reason for a charge unless see some improvements.

PFC AUGUSTINE B. ZINE, HqBtry, Comm Sec. 1.—It may be a good idea sometimes — who's got the cents? It was better when we just had to show your I. Card.

boat round of beef and many more delicious items. Monday is game night and our dinner special is chicken in the basket $1.00.

NCO Club

Each week as we sit down to write this column, it seems that it will be impossible to top last week's bill of fare. After all how many clubs are there which offer entertainment five nights a week, cook-outs on Sundays, food and beverages at reduced prices, a beach annex, and free membership? Not many we can tell you.

But the manager of the NCO Club makes our job fairly easy. He's always booking new and exciting bands and floorshows. This week Manager Ken Landis has engaged a top band from Washington, D. C. for the weekend, and an act for Wednesday night which has appeared on the Ed Sullivan show. Some week I fully expect to see the chorus line from Radio City Music Hall appearing at the NCO Club.

While waiting till that time arrives come down tonight and enjoy the sounds of the Rhythm Kings. Here's a group that's becoming a club favorite. Friday night join your friends at the Stag Bar for Happy Hour and the spinning of a few sea stories. Drop into the dining room later on and enjoy the tender, moist fried shrimp platters for $1.25.

Then, straight from Washington, D. C., the fabulous Fabrons will make their first appearance in this area at the club's Blue Room. This top-named band will play here Friday, Saturday, and Sunday night. The special in the dining room for Saturday night will be charcoal broiled steaks, 10 ounce T-Bones, for $1.25.

Weather permitting there'll be another cook-out in the patio Sunday night, 5 until 9 p.m. Those of you that missed it last week owe it to yourselves to enjoy the finest cuts of meat done to your request by our chefs — true dining pleasure under the stars.

Tuesday night the BIG PRIZE should go. The mid-week special is a "really big show." In addition to the popular Rhythm Kings four beautiful young ladies and their father, the Callicoats, who some of you no doubt remember from the Ed Sullivan Show, will be on hand to provide you tops in entertainment.

USO Club News

Movies for this week are "Adventures of Robin Hood" and "It Happens Every Spring". The movies will begin Friday at 6:30 and Saturday and Sunday at 12 p.m. Hospitality Hour will be at 4 p.m. with free refreshments every Sunday, Sunday morning at 10 a.m. there will be free coffee and doughnuts in the lounge. Also the Carolina Kloggers will dance in the club lounge Sunday, July 12, at 4 p.m.

Lejeune's Summer Youth Program

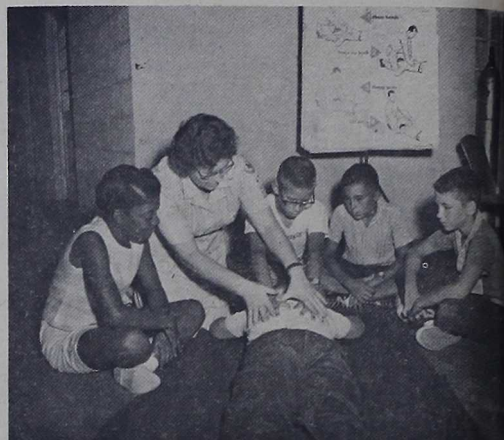

Canoes, once mastered are easy to handle

Everyone should know how to twirl

The live you save may be someone else's

The Camp Lejeune Dependent Childrens Youth Program is now in full swing with over 500 children participating.

The program, now in its fourth week of the first session, is provided for all military and civilian dependent boys and girls of school age, grades one through 12, living on base.

There are many activities for the children, ranging from water sports to baby sitting.

These activities are not provided for the childrens recreation alone. They are provided for education, to give the children confidence, and coordination. It also gives them a chance to appreciate such things as art and music. They are given a chance to compete with others, and most of all it provides them with the opportunity to meet and establish good relationships with others.

The program has been organized into two groups, a senior and a junior group. The seniors have such activities as swimming, sailing, canoeing, tennis and bowling, while the junior group has such things as folk singing, baton twirling, art and leather crafts. These are just a few of the many activities in the summer youth program. All in all there are over twenty subjects which can be taken.

The program is being held in assigned areas and facilities of Camp Lejeune and the children are taught by competent instructors. The instructor staff is composed of teachers, college students studying to be teachers and high school students who have attended youth programs of the past.

The first session will be completed this week but there is still time to register for

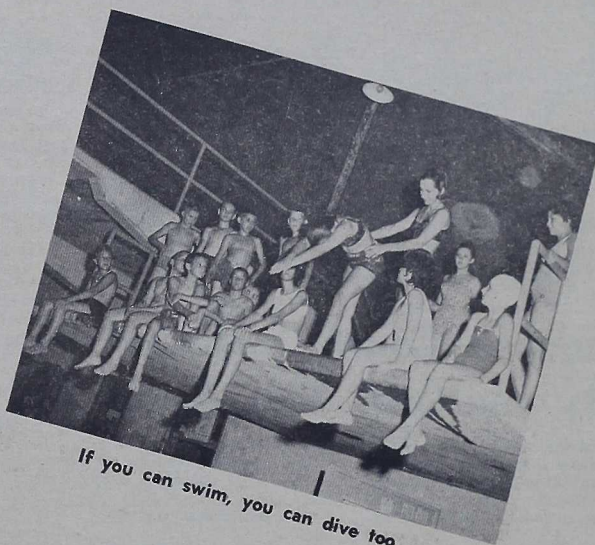

Nice and smooth

- A Break For Parents

the second session, which will commence July 27 and last until August 20. Registration day for the second session will be held in the Goettge Memorial Field House July 11 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

A fee of $6.00 per child is required and no more than four children per family can register. This fee covers the child for all activities with the exception of golf, bowling, and ceramics. Additional fees are charged for these activities.

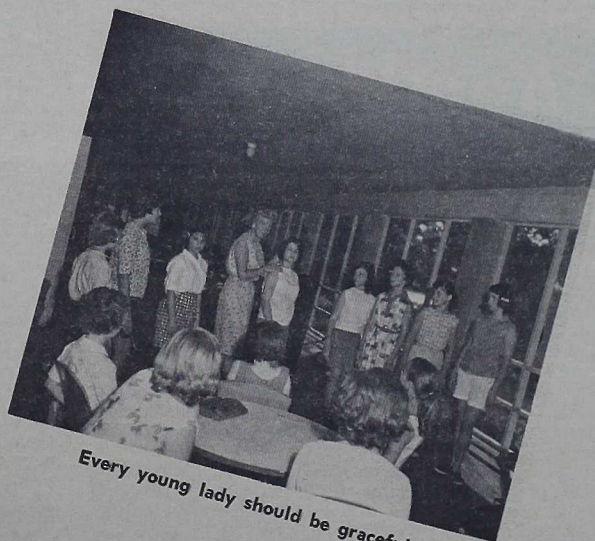

Transportation to and from the activities is no problem as military buses have been provided to take the children from their housing areas to the activities and return.

Daily sessions will consist of two 80 minute or three 60 minute periods to be conducted on Tuesdays and Thursdays or Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

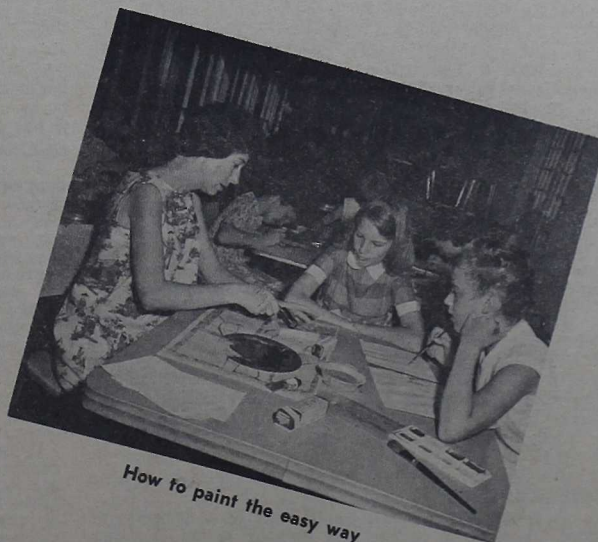

Participation will be permitted in both the Monday, Wednesday and Friday group, and in the Tuesday and Thursday group during both sessions. However, participation will not be permitted in the same subjects during both the Monday, Wednesday and Friday group and the Tuesday and Thursday group.

Families may register all of their children, however, only four will be assured of participation in the program. The others may be put on a stand-by status first come, first served.

Families will be officially notified by mail the week following the registration as to the status of their children. If they could not be accepted, the registration fee will be refunded.

ANYONE FOR SQUASH?—Major General W. J. Van Ryzin, left, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, receives a work order, one live squash and a packet of squash seeds for building one do-it-yourself squash court. Making the July 2 presentation to General Van Ryzin is Lieutenant Colonel F. R. DeNormandie, right, Commanding Officer, 2d Engineer Battalion. Marines from his battalion constructed the court.

Squash Court Dedicated By MajGen. Van Ryzin

Major General W. J. Van Ryzin, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, officially opened the recently completed squash court last Thursday.

Squash is similar to handball, in that the ball is played from the walls of the court. However, a squash ball is a little smaller than a handball, and the ball is hit with a racquet about the size of a badminton racquet. Like handball, the game of squash is very fast, and requires good reflexes, coordination and stamina.

Several members of the quad-command are trying to form a squash club. Anyone interested in joining may get more details by calling base extension 7-5720.

Ramblin' With Rich

The baseball team is now sitting in a very unfamiliar slot in the ECIC . . . second place. Fort Bragg is leading the pack with 15 wins and three losses.

Hovering in third place is Ft. Eustis with 15-6, ready to pick up the pieces if either of the top two teams fail.

The way it looks now, Eustis will probably hold firm with six conference losses through the rest of the season. They have no more conference games slated with either Bragg or Lejeune, the two teams most capable of defeating them.

The crucial conference games will be played Aug. 10-11, 19-20, when Lejeune and Bragg will meet. Barring upsets, these games should decide the conference championship.

George Borders, a veteran of last year's championship baseball team, has been recruited to take up some of the slack created by Dick Garcia's recent injury.

Borders will play in home games, and a few road games. As adjutant of 2d AT's, he won't be able to get away very often. Benchied a good portion of last season because of an injured ankle, Borders still finished the season with a .383 batting average, and showed tremendous defensive ability at second base . . .

Although football season opens September 19 for the Devildogs, the Lejeune gridders won't play a home game until October 17. Originally Fort Devens was scheduled to be here October 10, however they were unable to field a team.

Special Services booked a game against Elon College to fill the open date, but the game will be played at Elon College. You died-in-the-wool football fans might want to go to Elon (near Burlington) to see the game. If you do, wear your uniform, and you can get in free . . .

Football fans who followed the team last year will miss seeing Art Redden galloping up and down the field. After the grid season the "Golden Hog" tried out for the boxing team, made it, later won the All-Marine middle-weight title, went on to take the Interservice light-heavy-weight crown, and was selected as an alternate to the U. S. Olympic Boxing Team. He had never boxed before he went out for the team.

Oh yeah . . . he was also a Leatherneck All-Marine Halfback last year . . .

A prediction . . . there will soon be a decrease of about 10 per cent in the cost of gear at the Paradise Point Golf Pro Shop . . . more about that later . . .

The FMFL Tennis Finals will be held tomorrow at the courts over by the PX. They start at 8 a.m., and will finish around 4 p.m. . . .

Devildogs Return: Baseball Tonight

The Camp Lejeune Devildogs will play their opening game of a four home-stand tonight at 7:30 p.m. against Fort Lee, after an extended road trip.

The Lejeune baseball team will play the same team again tomorrow and then will host Leone's Boys Club, from Baltimore, during the next two days.

In last week's diamond action, Camp Lejeune won one, lost one, and had one rained out.

Fort McPherson bowed 2-1 to the Lejeune unit, but three days later the Marine lost 10-9 to the Fort Benning "Doughboys".

According to Dick Garcia, the Devildog second-baseman, who returned early from the road trip early due to injury, "We're hitting the ball well, and the pitching is holding up.

We're just getting bad breaks. With the bases loaded, we'll hit into a double play, or a hard line drive will be right at a player."

Lejeune is currently in the middle of a three-team scramble for first place in the East Coast Interservice Conference. Fort Bragg, and Fort Eustis are also in contention for the conference lead.

In ECIC games on the road, Lejeune lost three and won only one, to set their conference marks at 11 wins and three losses.

Over-all, Lejeune has a 49 win, 23 loss season record. Home games for July are as follows:

July 9--7:30 p. m.--Fort Lee
10--7:30 p. m.--Leone's
12--1:30 p. m.--Leone's
26--1:30 p. m.--Bragg
27--7:30 p. m.--Bragg
28--7:30 p. m.--Benning
29--7:30 p. m.--Benning

Four conference games are slated during July for the Marines. July 16-17 they play Edgewood Arsenal, and July 22-23 they will go against McGuire Air Force Base for a pair of conference tilts.

Straight Scoop On Snakes

(Editor's Note: This article is not meant to minimize the danger of poisonous snakes, or to downgrade the value of them for their use in the snake industry. However, old-wives-tales are rampant of snakes. This article might put this reptilian problem in its proper perspective, and lend peace of mind to leary outdoorsmen. Naval medical authorities recommend that if you can get to a hospital within a reasonable time, that you not cut and tourniquet the bite, but remain calm, and go to the hospital for anti-venom.)

By Luther Partin

RALEIGH, N. C.—We are now approaching the time of year when snake bites begin to circulate. It's hard to find anything under the sun that is the object of many exaggerations and superstitions as the snake. As an object of lowly contempt it has no equal. You can daily hear expressions such as, "dirty as a snake," "as a snake," "lower than a snake's belly," and so on.

It's no wonder these members of the reptile family hang out under logs and stones, or retreat to the seclusion of thickets and swamps. They're ashamed to be seen in public.

Every few years you hear the old story about someone who jumped into a pond or stream and was bitten to death by dozens, and sometimes hundreds, of "water moccasins". But if you want to go to the funeral, or express your sympathy to the family, you can't find the name of the victim.

It usually is somebody in a neighboring community or town, and no one is quite sure of the name. This story was invented maybe a couple of hundred years ago, or so the newspapers inform us, by parents concerned over their children swimming in dangerous waters without supervision.

Even today, in some areas where hollow stumps reputedly produce and intoxicating "juice". You are apt to hear stories about a dangerous, giant bear in the woods that came from a circus train through. The stories are ferret, but both use a wildlife as the scapegoat. The idea is to keep children away from the water, in one case everyone out of the woods, other.

Grid Officials Needed

The New River Officials Assn. is looking for officials to referee intramural football here.

A meeting for interested personnel will be held in the balcony at the Goettge Memorial Field House at 11:30 a.m. July 10. An alternate meeting date, July 17, same time, same place, has been set for persons not able to make the July 10 meeting.

4th Of July Water Show A Splashing Success

Due to the holiday migration on Camp Lejeune, and overcast skies, large crowds turned out for the July 4th Water Show, and fireworks.

Featured in the event were water races, a water ski show, CUBA demonstrations, canoeing, and background of good music by the Drum and Bugle Corps.

After a day and threatening rain, craft warnings saw the skippers and crews waiting on the dock at Wallops Island awaiting the start.

On July 4, nine crews of two each trailing their sails, battens, paddles, and other gear, raced to their boats, hoisted their sails, and sailed out of the creek.

Al Pepin and Garth House topped the first two boats in the positions were traded several times in the creek. It was difficult due to the water and eddying.

One in the river, Garth House and Norm Fertch took the lead. In Vining and his wife, followed a close second, Al Pepin and Stan Benedict tied third.

The positions, though changed continuously, held until the finish.

Emerging from a paddling, pushing, splashing medley billed as the canoeing race were: Chuck Pelon and Len Habas, first; Jim Aaron and Mark Larson, second; and Punky Kelly and Phyllis Lemolne, third. Trophies will be presented to all by the Base Special Services Officer.

In the afternoon sailboat race, Gary Ford and Carol Mallard followed a course entirely different from the rest of the fleet and took an impressive lead at the first mark which held until the finish.

Generally speaking, snakes

ents. One researcher found e speed of a striking snake to e 10 miles per hour.
Probably less than 10% of our akes are poisonous. This,
with their secretive na-
e usual choice of habi-e, greatly reduces our chances e a snake, and even fur-inks the possibility of contact with a venomous var-lety. The bite of a poisonous snake is not necessarily fatal even without medical treatment.

But it can be very painful and can make you very sick. Small children and older people are most susceptible.

In case you should be bitten by a venomous snake, and there is not much chance that you will be,
kill the snake for positive identification and to prevent being bitten again. You should immediately apply a tourniquet just above the bite to slow the spread of the venom. Remember to loosen it for a few seconds every 15 minutes.

If the situation permits, the fang punctures should be crosscut with a sterile blade, and several other small cuts made immediately around the bite to encourage bleeding. Apply suction by mouth, if there are no cuts to breaks in the lining of the mouth or lips, or with a suction cup if one is available.
Avoid exertion and stimulants.
That old remedy, whiskey, is very dangerous for snake-bite victims. Get to a doctor as calmly and quickly as possible, but at a safe speed.

150 Gridders Expected For Physicals, Tryouts

An estimated 150 prospective football players are expected to turn out for the pre-tryout physical examination slated for 8 a.m. this Saturday, according to Coach "Luke" Lucas.

A look at questionnaires already filled out by prospective players indicates a lot of potential talent this year. There is a wealth of gridders with college experience, men with service ball under their belts, and many returnees from last year's Devildogs.

Among the players returning from last year are Jim Heard, a '63 Leatherneck All-Marine Halfback; George Tallafiero, '63 Honorable Mention to the Leatherneck All-Marine team, Paul Gehringer, Clark Blake, Jerry Knapper, Lawrence Humphreys, Paul Lund, Bill Johnson, Gay Thompson, and Max Pierson.

Art Redden, one of Lejeune's top stars last year will be unable to play football this year due to an Olympic obligation. He will be going to Tokyo as an alternate on the Olympic Boxing Team.

As nearly as can be determined now, the end positions are weakest in numbers and experience, although there are several good prospects for these slots.

Lucas pointed out that, "Although a lot of people have talked to us about the tryouts, nobody has made the team until after the tryouts are over. Everyone has an equal chance."

Tryouts begin July 13. The opening game this year will be at Fort Benning, Ga., September 19.

Fishing With Steve Koroly

Tarpon have been the big news in fishing this week along the Carolina coast, with catches up to 88 lbs. being reported. Many of the tarpon hooked are lost due to their famous jumping ability.

King mackerel have picked up both in size and numbers, amberjack are plentiful but hit in flurries or not at all. Dolphin up to nearly 40 lbs. have been reported.

Drum fishing has been good all along the coast. Surf casting, using large pieces of cut bait are producing the best results.

Spanish mackerel and bluefish are still providing excellent sport in the inlets for small boat enthusiasts and surf casters.

Flounder are plentiful in nearly all coastal areas in large numbers under the right conditions.

Warrant Officer Around Athlete

Who says, "A woman's place is in the home?"

Mar Thompson is very much woman, and she's at home in the Marine Corps District Office at Headquarters, Quantico, Va. She is proud of her title, All-Services, United States Armed Forces (Europe) Golf Champion, which she won in 1959 while serving in Paris, France.

She was, until recently, a member of a women's shooting team, firing expert with both the .22 rifle and pistol.

Opening the trunk of her car resembles the old "Fibber McGee" closet of the radio era. There are her treasures... swimming fins and face mask; badminton racket and birds; tennis balls and sneakers; bowling ball, golf clubs...and amid all this, a spare tire and a spare bathing suit.

Club Plans Horse Show

The public is invited to attend a horsemanship show on July 19 at 1:30 p. m. It is the first annual horse show sponsored by the Onslow County Saddle Club. The show will be held at the Maughan Stable, five miles east of Highway 17 on Gum Branch Road. Both English and western riding will be featured. Carolina Travelers

This summer set your course Southport, North Carolina's most natural harbor. If you are into fishing, swimming, and an Art Clusters of fun, this is the spot for Central.

Southport, Brunswick County is located on a bluff overlooking the mouth of the Cape Fear River. At this point the river opens into a natural harbor for ships which traverse the river. The intracoastal waterway passes by the docks and there is a small harbor for boats and trawlers.

At Old Brunswick there now remains only the brick ruins of St. Philip's Church which was the first seat of colonial government. It was there that the first armed resistance to the Stamp Act occurred. Old Brunswick and Orton Plantation, famous historic gardens with the only remaining plantation mansion in the vicinity, are near Southport on the River Road. Fort Johnson, in the center of town, is the oldest fort in the state and ruins of Civil War fortifications are still to be seen at Fort Caswell across the river. Caswell is now State Baptist Assembly Retreat and is reached by automobile. The first ship yard ever operated in the United States was a short distance up the Cape Fear River. Southport is located on N. C. 211-87 just off Coastal Highway U. S. 17.

Defense Warning Sirens Set To Blast July 16th

After several years of silence, Camp Lejeune's Air Defense Warning sirens will shatter the quiet tranquility of the Camp Lejeune area.

The sirens, located on base will "sound off" at 10:05 a. m., July 16.

The testing of the sirens will serve a threefold purpose. Because it has been so long since the sirens have been sounded, the test will give Base Maintenance an opportunity to insure that all the sirens are in working order.

The effectiveness of the sirens in their present location will also be noted during the test, and it will give base personnel a chance to re-familiarize themselves with the warning signals and their meanings.

The first signal to be sounded will be the AIR DEFENSE WARNING YELLOW, as the military calls it, or the ALERT as it's referred to within the Civil Defense system.

This signal means an attack is likely and for test purposes will be a steady blast for one minute. For other than test purposes the signal would be a steady blast for three to five minutes on whistles, horns, or similar devices.

The second signal heard will be the AIR DEFENSE WARNING RED in military terminology, or the TAKE COVER in Civil Defense terms.

This signal means an attack is imminent and for test purposes will be a wailing tone, or

Fire Stations throughout the short blasts for one minute. During an actual alert the signal would be a wailing tone or short blasts for three minutes on sirens, whistles, horns or similar devices.

Due to recent changes in the Warning System there will be no all clear sounded, either in the test or during an actual alert. The all clear signal is now passed by word of mouth to eliminate confusion and to simplify the warning system.

Base personnel are not required to take any action during the test and their normal routine should not be interrupted.

Separation Pay Decision Made

The long awaited decision on the eligibility of servicemen whose families reside in government quarters to receive separation pay has been handed down by the Comptroller General.

The comptroller did not make a ruling, but stood on the letter of the Law which reads--family separation allowance goes only to the people who are "entitled to a basic allowance for quarters."

People assigned to government quarters are not entitled to a quarters allowance, and so therefore are not entitled to a separation allowance.

The test case which brought on the Comptroller General's decision was of a Lieutenant Colonel who was transferred to Okinawa where his family was not allowed. The colonel's family remained in government housing in Hawaii.

Marine disbursing officials argued that even though his family was living in quarters, there are still extra expenses when the man of the house is away and separation pay should be allowed. The Comptroller General disagreed.

A bill has been introduced to the House to allow separation pay in these cases but it is not expected to be acted on this year.

WHERE'S THE ROAD—Advanced drivers from the 4th Motor Transport Battalion, USMCR, Atlanta, Ga., undergo deep water fording training at Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune. Insecticides ficiently clear and conspicuous to be safe. Extreme care needed to assure that no one is injured by the use of pesticides. All household and garden poisons bear warning labels, however, many of these labels are in the fine print and are very easy to look.

The most hazardous poisons used home poisons those containing chlordane, aldrin, dieldrin, heptachlor, lindane, malathion, rennel and toxaphene. If it is possible to control without using these substances. Among the least dangerous preparations are those which all active ingredients come from this list: rethrin, allethrin, rotenone, and amorphous silica aerogel.

If you must fight insects with insecticides, the following rules will help make house and garden safer: Read the instructions and labels printed on the labels of all insecticides where there is no way for small children to reach them; never spray garden after fruit or vegetables have formed; and finally, doubt, don't use the insecticides.
