MARINE CORPS BASE, CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.

BLT 1/6 Makes Good Will Deposit In Vieques Bank

"How much?"
"One hundred and seventy-seven pints."
"That's twenty-two gallons of blood, isn't it?"

"That was a typical conversation likely to be overheard in the town of Isabel Segunda, Vieques, Puerto Rico Friday, June 12.

What they were talking about was the one hundred and seventy-seven pints of blood that BLT 1/6 donated to the blood bank of the Municipal Hospital of Isabel Segunda as part of their Good Will program, which was started last week by the Marines of BLT 1/6.

An American Red Cross Mobile Unit of Puerto Rico traveled from the mainland to set up their unit at the USO Club in Isabel Segunda. The Red Cross unit, under the direction of Doctor Edwin Ramos, Director of the Vieques Health Center, extended its scheduled departure from Vieques in order to take advantage of the extra number of donors from BLT 1/6.

BLT 1/6, first to give their blood were LtCol. Leo B. Shinn, Commanding Officer of BLT 1/6 and SgtMaj. Lou Gallego, the BLT's Sergeant Major. Next in line were the men of Company "C" led by their commanding officer, Capt. Richard L. Beery and 1stSgt. William L. Davis. Company "C" had the largest number of volunteers, 127 men. Lending a helping hand to the Red Cross Nurses were the BLT's Corpsmen led by Lt. Franciscio A. Cebollero, U. S. Navy Medical Corps. The Corpsmen helped out by assisting the fill out information cards, taking blood pressure, temperatures, and aiding with the preliminary physicals.

Once the Marines made their contribution they were served refreshments by the ladies of the Puerto Rican Red Cross, before returning to Camp Garcia, where they were undergoing training.

The blood donated by the members of BLT1/6 will be used at the Isabel Segunda Municipal Hospital and will permit the issue of a like amount, free of charge, to the people of Vieques.

Navy Relief Over The Top! Friday Is The Big Day For Local Subscribers

Now that the Navy Relief Fund Drive is over and the results are in, the figures show that the drive was a huge success. Nearly $72,000 was contributed by Camp Lejeune personnel, with each command turning in over 100 per cent of their goal.

The percentages of each of the Quaf-Command's contributions so far are: Marine Corps Base, 123 per cent; Air Facility, 130 per cent; Force Troops, 103 per cent; and 2d Division, 100 per cent; One official states that when the contributions come in from units that are not at Camp Lejeune at the present time the total collected should reach the $75,000 mark.

2d Force Service Regiment's contribution was computed separately and they ended up with 116 per cent of their set goal.

The drawing for the Navy Relief Fund Drive awards will be held tomorrow, June 26, in Goettge Memorial Field House. The awards will be on display outside the Field House from 9 a. m. until the drawing and presentation at 12:30 p. m.

All military personnel and civilians interested, along with their dependents, are urged to attend.

The Membership Card stubs will be drawn from a barrel in the order of Award sequence.

The holder of the Membership card whose stub is drawn first will be eligible for the first award, a 1964 Cadillac, the second stub; the second award, and so on until all seven winning stubs have been drawn. Once a stub is drawn from the barrel, it will be verified and if the holder of the corresponding Membership card is present, he or she will be called to the platform to accept the presentation.

If an award winner is not present at the drawing, notification of the award will be made by telephone or letter which ever is appropriate.

An award winner need not have his Membership card to accept the presentation, all that is needed is positive identification if his name is on the stub. If there is no name on the stub the Membership card will be required.

In addition to the announcement of the Award winner, the seller of the winning Membership card, if present, will be asked to come to the platform for the presentation of the bonus award.

All awards must be claimed and accepted by respective winners by August 15. If an award winner is not able to accept delivery of the award personally, he may designate an agent to act in his behalf.

Want Excitement, Summer Fun? Be A Statistic!

Are you bored with it all? Are you looking for a new horizon? Have an accident!

Accidents can open up a whole new exciting world for you. You'll see places and experience sensations like way out there.

You'll meet pretty young nurses--and probing doctors. You'll learn how emergency wards, operating room, surgeons and other specialists function--first hand.

You may get a stub or scar which will make an ideal conversation piece.

You can write a best seller on, "How a Cripple Can Up his Income".

You may get your name in the paper. Maybe even get a headline like "Drunk Runs Into School Bus."

You can collect on that accident insurance you've been pouring money down the drain on so long.

You can sit around the house while recuperating and catch up on all the daytime TV shows.

You can solicit sympathy you'd never get otherwise, maybe even from the kids and spouse.

Your physical system will be injected with shots and drugs and stimulants.

The doctor may have to put you on a regimen to cure some of your bad habits.

You might have to learn a new trade to replace the old one you can't continue and didn't like anyway.

So live modern. Have an accident. Experience can be a good teacher--IF YOU LIVE THROUGH IT. (Robert D. Gidel, The National Safety News).

Red Drive On Religion Is A Sign Of Insecurity

In Russia, under the Soviet Constitution, citizens are guaranteed the right of religious worship.

Yes, that's what the document says. Just like our own Constitution.

Or is it? What's the real picture?

The real picture is that the Communist Party, which holds a steel grip on the Russian people, has launched an all-out campaign for "popularization of atheism." Pravda, the party newspaper, says the anti-religious offensive was urged by the presidium of the Central Council of Trade Unions which controls the mass of Soviet labor.

Press, radio and television are to go all-out in praise of atheism. Atheist reading poems are to be established and atheist evening lecture sessions organized. Workers are to urge "believing" comrades to abandon their religious faith.

And how will they do this? "Popularization of atheism," says the Trade Unions Council, "must be based on the outstanding achievements of Soviet science and the materialistic point of view."

After all their years of rule, the Red bosses must feel mighty insecure about the appeal of godlessness to the masses. And this is more than speculation. When a group of American churchmen recently made a three-week visit to the Soviet Union, they reported that all the services they attended "were always full."

Said one of them: "The strongest impression I shall take away with me is the vitality of Russian church worship."

Indeed something for Khrushchev & Co. to think about.

Red Cross Director Departs Lejeune

Robert L. Templeton, field director at the Base American Red Cross field office will be leaving Camp Lejeune this month for an overseas assignment at Naples, Italy.

Since coming to Lejeune in 1962 from Ft. Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, Mr. Templeton has been responsible for all Red Cross programs and activities which included: communications assistance and financial assistance to servicemen and their families, the blood collection program, the first aid, small craft and water safety services.

Mr. Templeton wishes to take this opportunity to thank the fine volunteers who contributed to the operation of the blood and water safety programs and also to thank personnel of the military units for their cooperation with the Red Cross field office.

The departing field director states that he will always remember with pleasure his associations here at Camp Lejeune.

BEWARE The Slow Driver

During the next week, servicemen will be cautioned about their driving through all available media as we attempt to cut down on the 4th of July death toll. In general, safety lectures, movies and radio will warn against the fast driver as a leading cause of traffic fatalities. Although this is certainly very true, an equally dangerous driver who seldom is credited with the accidents he causes is the slow driver.

The slow driver travels well below the safe and legal speed limit to the complete exasperation of motorists who would like to get past him. This slow driver is very cautious about his own welfare and will take no risks himself, but he cares little of the risks he leads others to take. Some of our most serious head-on collisions have been the work of the slow driver.

The following minimum speed limits apply in North Carolina and are being enforced at Camp Lejeune:

- 40 MPH in a 55 MPH zone
- 45 MPH in a 60 MPH zone

If you are planning to travel over the 4th of July, drive sensibly and safely, and if you haven't thought to do so, now is the time to put your car in proper running order.

Bible School

Vacation Bible School will be held this year July 13-24, from 8:45 a.m. - 11:45 a.m., weekdays in the following areas: Stone Street; Tarawa Terrace; Midway Park; and Montford Point. Details for the registration of children will be published at a later date. If there are any questions contact the Base Chaplain's Office, telephone 7-5633.

Chaplain's Corner

It has been noted that life in the big cities creates a self-centeredness, and leads to the sickness of non-involvement. There seems to be no desire to aid the weak, helpless and troubled. But, the problem is not confined solely to the urban society. The universality of not wishing to become involved, is seen in the pages of history as well as our daily newspapers. All evidence points to the blatant fact of modern man's alienation from God and thus from his neighbor, and himself. As long as it's not their blood, their lives, so far as they could see or feel, people walk away and leave the helpless to their own ill fate.

We seem to have lost the fact that we are members one of another. Thus if one of the members suffer, we all suffer. We does this mean to the Christian and how can he use the displays of non-involvement? We should realize that if it were not for the grace of God, we would be just as cruel as the self-centered spectator, who yelled, "Jump, Jump" to the man who was attempting a leap from a tall building. We as Christians must aid in helping the helpless, and support any work that brings dignity and hope to the faceless millions.

We who call ourselves Christians, but fail to share with others the intensely meaningful life that Christ has given us, are something less than Christian. To be alive, one must be "involved" in God and in one's neighbor. This means to share the life with the man on the ledge and die with him inwardly if he jumps. Although this seems ludicrous and forbidding, this is the paradox of the Christian life. As we weep with those who weep we strangely enough, that we can rejoice with those who rejoice. Finally, we should realize that no help or source of strength can substitute what only Christ can do. He gives to man a life that non-involvement becomes an impossibility.

Instructors Get Instructions

The "do's" and "don'ts" of military instruction methods do not always come easily and naturally to those who must stand before students to give a presentation. Good, polished instructors tend to make for well given instruction, and thus, the Marine Corps' Instructors' Training Unit (ITU), located at Montford Point, has its mission.

Since its founding more than eight years ago, the school has been turning out the needed instructors for the Corps' formal schools as well as instructors for unit level instruction. It has trained more than 700 students to become qualified instructors in formal schools, and well over 1,400 of its students have graduated as unit level instructors.

During the course of one fiscal year, ITU generally graduates five 20-day Formal Schools' classes and nine 14-day unit level classes. In addition to these regularly scheduled classes, the ITU conducts several special courses each year for Seabees and Marine Corps reservists undergoing annual field training at Camp Lejeune.

Formal Course

Although this course is basically designed to prepare officers and staff non-commissioned officers as instructors in formal schools, the rank requirement is occasionally waived to allow junior non-commissioned officers, assigned instructional billets in the schools, to attend the course. These students spend approximately 70 per cent of the course in application. During the course, the students give eight presentations, ranging in length from a three minute presentation on the very first day of class to a 50-minute final.

The presentations enable the students to practice teaching through the lecture, demonstrations and conference methods and are designed in accordance with their military occupational specialty. These presentations may vary widely from operation and maintenance of a bulldozer to the frying of eggs.

Unit Level Course

This course is designed for both officers and non-commissioned officers on the unit level and during the course, their five student presentations range in length as in the formal course.

Only 27 of the 80 hours in the course are devoted to instruction by ITU's staff. The remaining hours are used for student application.

Each student, or both the formal and unit level, is evaluated on his presentation, mannerism, military bearing, neatness, and other aspects of proper military instruction. These evaluations are kept on record by the ITU staff, enabling the staff instructors to see in which area the student has improved or where more work is needed.

During the critique following each student's presentation, other students are called upon to state their own views and opinions of the presentation. It is at this time that the staff instructors make their comments, often with a ringing bell indicating an "ah" or a dropped "g" from the end of a word.

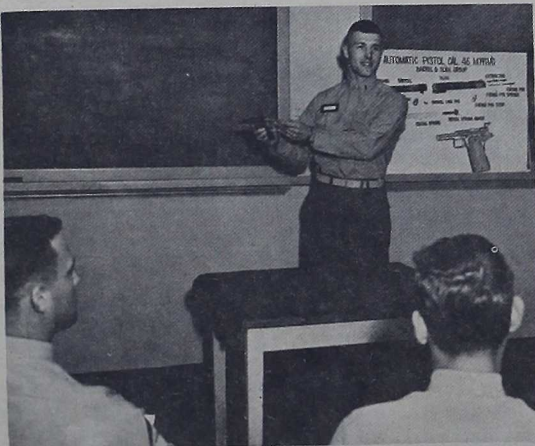

The mission and importance of the role played by the Instructors' Training Unit is the same today as when first established in 1956. It holds a proud record of accomplishment in its history of producing highly qualified instructors.

The unit's importance is Corps-wide in that the better the instructor the better the instructions, thus, leading to Marines more proficient in their jobs, who in turn lead to a more efficient Marine Corps.

WHAT NOW COACH?—Coming up with a question while preparing the lesson plan for his next presentation, Cpl. D. L. Paxson, a member of 8th Comm. Bn., receives a staff instructor's individual guidance and counseling, offered to any student of the school.

Sgt. G. F. Selby

COURSE OBJECTIVE—Regardless of subject, an instructor must get his point across to others, as 2ndLt. J. L. Newton, of the 3d Bn., 2d Marines, is doing with several of his fellow students.

DOING IT RIGHT—Evidence that the unit level course is not limited to Marines only, HM2 R. L. Tenley of H&S Co., 2d Tank Bn., puts the final dab of color to the training aids he has made to help in presenting his instruction to fellow students.

MARK ANOTHER ONE DOWN—Staff instructors 1stLt. E. B. Spurr and GySgt. V. Barrow, Jr., conduct a critique following each student's presentation. Lt. Spurr rings the bell, indicating that a dropped "G" from the end of a word has slipped from a student participating in the critique.

TIME, EFFORT, INITIATIVE—Showing interest and enthusiasm and putting themselves into the task assigned, student instructors have often turned-out unusual and interesting training aids which are on display in the school's Training Aids Museum.

New Ontos Related For Corps Soon

The M50 ONTOS, in service since 1955, soon will be replaced by a modernized M50A1 which features many improvements and increased capabilities, Headquarters Marine Corps announced today. Marine Corps and Marine Corps Reserve Antitank Battalions will be equipped with the modernized, powerful M50A1 ONTOS, while the Tracked Vehicle School at Camp Pendleton and Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., will receive the new tracked vehicle for constructional purposes. The change-over is expected to start this month.

Principal improvements in the modified ONTOS include: a more powerful gasoline engine, the Chrysler V-8 with an output of 180 H. P.; a night firing capability which utilizes a left and right azimuth scale, elevation quadrant and range card procedures for night firing; and improved, longer life track. The M50's potent destructive features will remain. All six 105 mm rifles and four .50 caliber potting rifles will be retained as primary armament. The 40 caliber machine gun remains as secondary armament.

The more powerful engine gives the M50A1 many advantages not present in the M50. This will allow faster operation over more rugged terrain, thus increasing the value of the ONTOS as a mobile antitank weapon.

Corps Needs More NAO's

Applicants for the Naval Aviation Observer (NAO) Program are being sought by the Commandant of the Marine Corps to meet expanding crew requirements in Marine aviation.

The increase in Naval Aviation Observers is needed to provide crew members for the new multi-seat jet aircraft now entering the Corps' Fleet Marine Force aviation units. The NAO will fill billets that include radar intercept operator, bombardier-navigator and electronic countermeasures operator.

Marines in the following categories are eligible to apply for NAO training:

Unrestricted lieutenants on active duty, under the age of 27 at the time of application.

Captains who hold, or have held, an OF-73MOS.

Enlisted personnel selected for NAO training in conjunction with the annual Warrant Officer Selection Program. Such applicants must be under age 27 at the time of application. Marines already appointed warrant officers are not eligible for NAO training.

Officers and MARC ADS whose flight training is discontinued after completion of primary phase, unless such is by their own request or because of academic failure.

Montford Point Russian Seminar A Corps 'First'

The first Marine Corps Russian Language Seminar is now in its fourth day at the FMFLant Language School, Montford Point.

Force Troops Commanding General, BrigGen. Donn

J. Robertson, welcomed the 16 visiting Russian speaking Marines to the seminar and added that this was the finest group of Marine Corps Russian linguists ever assembled.

The English language was spoken for the last time during the seminar by 1stLt. J. J. Guenther, G-2, Force Troops, also a Russian linguist, when he introduced Professor A. S. Raibotnikoff and Professor V. V. Timkovsky, instructors from the Defense Language Institute, east coast branch, Washington, D. C.

The idea for this first Russian Language seminar was thought of several years ago by LtCol. E. F. Danowitz, G-3, Force Troops, as a method of maintaining language proficiency for Marine Russian linguists not actually assigned to a foreign language billet.

Lieutenant Colonel Danowitz holds a PhD. in Slavic Studies and is fluent in Spanish, Russian, and Polish.

The visiting linguists are divided into two groups with a language professor heading each group, where they discuss topics including military subjects, politics, and sociology of the Soviet Union.

During the next two weeks the Marine linguists will listen to Russian music, tapes, and for entertainment they will have the opportunity to see Russian movies.

Through the cooperation of the Marine Corps Supply School messhall, a special dining area has been set aside where the Marines attending the seminar can practice speaking Russian while eating the noon meal.

The language backgrounds of the visiting linguists are both interesting and varied, including several Marines who were born in the Soviet Union.

Others attended three to four year courses at Armed Forces language schools, and one Marine became proficient in the Russian language by attending four semesters of night studies at the University of Maryland.

If this seminar proves to be a success the Marine Corps plans to hold additional seminars in other foreign languages.

Dependents Open House At Court House Bay

Marine Corps Engineer School held its 2nd Annual Open House Wednesday, June 17, for wives and children of personnel and student personnel to help them understand how hubby or daddy spends his day.

All in all, with nearly 400 persons attending, the Open House gave the families a clearer picture of the duties and responsibilities of a Marine Corps engineer, especially those of their own Marine.

Beginning at 11 a. m., the guests viewed the activities of the various schools and the variety of Marine Corps engineering equipment at Court House Bay. Much interest was shown in the school-made training devices, which were actual operative, cut-a-way models of engines, transmissions and other normally hidden equipment parts.

Following the viewing and general tour of the Courthouse Bay area, the sponsors and their guests headed for the Boathouse where they enjoyed a charcoal-grilled, picnic-style lunch.

A general picnic atmosphere prevailed the remainder of the afternoon, with some playing volleyball, others keeping a close watch over the children and still others just simply relaxing in the shade and breeze with music piped from a public address system.

The children could be heard all afternoon while playing on swings and gliders but more enjoyed the climbing, jumping, bouncing and rolling on inflated pontoon sections used in floating bridge construction.

With a dual purpose, to enlighten the dependents of engineer school personnel, and to allow all a chance to get together for a little fun, the 2nd Annual Open House proved to be as successful as its predecessor held last June.

COMPLIMENTS TO THE CHEF—When the appetizing aroma of charcoal-grilled burgers and franks began drifting through the Courthouse Bay air during Engineer School's 2nd Annual

Open House, Wednesday, June 17, eager, empty stomachs prepared to accept their fair share of the "goodies."

IT WORKS TOO—As the family of GySgt. John DeViney view a massive and intricate training device, the working, cutaway model of a transmission used in a heavy-duty road grader, they realize that Marines involved with the maintenance of engineering equipment have big jobs on their hands.

FUN IS FUN—The children attending Engineer School's 2nd Annual Open House, Wednesday, June 17, found their fun not only on conventional recreational devices but discovered as much fun, if not more, could be had on inflated pontoon sections.

Devildogs To Play In Roxboro Tourney

The Camp Lejeune Devildogs were recently entered in the 30th Annual North Carolina Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament, to be held at Roxboro, July 15 to August 8. If the 'Dogs win the tournament they will be eligible to play in the National Semi-Pro tourney at Wichita, Kansas.

Several trophies will be awarded after this double-elimination event. In addition to the National Baseball Congress State Championship Trophy which will be given to the winning team, awards will be given to the outstanding batter, outstanding pitcher, and the player making the most outstanding fielding play in the tournament.

The Marines are slated to play their first game on July 15. If they win that game they will play again either July 24th or 25th.

McGuire Downed

Lejeune made it 10 straight in ECI Conference competition last week, coming from behind in the last of the ninth inning to tie McGuire AFB, and then beating the airmen 8-5 in extra innings.

ROUNDING THIRD in last week's game against McGuire AFB, which Camp Lejeune won 14-7 are, left to right, shortstop Lou Lepito, outfielder Buddy Simpson, Ron Burke, Hal Norton and Jim Hall drew walks in the last of the ninth. Chico Lugo then hit a ground ball to the shortstop, who threw to second base for the force-out. The second-sacker then whirled, and pegged the ball toward first, trying for a double play. The ball hit Jim Hall, and two Lejeune runs came home on the error.

Then in the 11th stanza Norton singled, Jim Hall walked, and Chico Lugo cleared the bases with a 370' blast over the left-centerfield wall to win the game.

After the home games against McGuire, the Marines traveled to Fort Bragg, where they split a pair of non-conference battles with the Army nine.

Lejeune dropped the first game 8-7, after carrying a 7-6 lead until the eighth frame.

Lugo belted out his second homer of the season, clouting a 380' drive out of the park.

The Devildogs wreaked vengeance in the second game of the series, winning 9-3, piling up seven runs in the second.

In the big inning Dick Garcia and Lou Lepito singled, "Jake" Jakubek was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases, and then Fred Roth, a newly-acquired southpaw, drove in the runners with a triple. Tom McHenry and Hal Norton both drew a base on balls, to again fill the bags, and Jim Hall drove three runs in with a long single. Lugo brought Hall in with a base hit before the sides could be retired.

Air-Filled Boxing Gloves Being Tested By CISM

BRUSSELS, Belgium--The Consell International du Sport Militaire (CISM) Academy of Sports Medicine is currently testing air-filled boxing gloves and headgear for amateur boxers.

CISM is a 34 country organization in which the military athletes of the countries compete. CISM meets are often referred to as the "Military Olympics". The Academy is headed by Raoul Mollet, of Belgium, Secretary General of the sports council.

According to Al Bianco, of the United States, who is head of the Coaching and Training Section of the Academy, this research is being done to "find ways to prevent ring injuries and improve public opinion of amateur boxing."

"Boxing has come under heavy criticism. Most of this criticism is the result of recent deaths in professional boxing, but it also hurts amateur boxing," stated Bianco.

"Doctors at our meetings agreed that boxing has a low injury rate compared to other contact sports, but they also have several suggestions for increasing ring safety."

An air-filled glove which has been developed is said to have reduced the force of a blow by 50 per cent. Boxers using the glove said they didn't feel the blows. Yet the glove did not prevent knockouts.

Right now the U. S. is the only country in the world that requires it's amateur fighters to wear headgear. CISM is playing a lead role in gaining international acceptance of headgear by requiring it in CISM championships.

Bowling Center Opens Aug. 17

Opening date for the new bowling center has now been set at August 17--and it is like this goal is going to be met.

The concrete flooring has been poured now, and by the end of the week all the floors and windows will be installed and the air conditioning operable.

The following two weeks will be devoted to putting in the fixtures, etc.

July 6, AMF will begin painting in the lanes, pin setters, other like equipment, etc. While the kitchens, snack bar, nursery and club will be completed.

AMF takes 42 days to complete their work. The day after AMF finishes, the bowling center will be opened.

When the center goes into operation, at least eight of 32 lanes will be kept available for open bowling. It will be 35 cents per game to bowlers.

Fishing With Steve Koroly

(Editor's Note: Steve Koroly, a Lejeune based Gunner Sergeant, has fished the local water for about 13 years, off-and-on. He currently owns and operates a 40-foot sports fishing boat, from Swansboro.

Fishing along the coast is in full swing. Nearly all the fish normally caught in this area have made an appearance.

Sheepshead are increasing in numbers and can be caught around old pilings using fiddler crabs for bait.

Large numbers of flounder are falling prey to fishermen.

Surf casters have been catching drum up to 40 lbs. in the favorite holes along the beaches.

Tarpon have not appeared yet this year, but are expected any day. Pier fishermen usually take the first tarpon, because the "silver kings" often feed in the surf.

It takes time and experimenting to catch fish unless you're lucky. The weather and tide affect fishing, so inquire at bait and tackle shops, etc., for best methods and times to fish.

ECIC Qualifying Tourney Now In Progress

The elimination tournament for prospective East Coast Interservice Conference golfers began Monday, with 14 men entered in the open division, and six in the senior bracket.

This 54-hole qualifying tournament is used to determine who will represent Camp Lejeune in the ECIC Tournament, which will get underway at Fort Bragg, July 27-29.

To get into the qualifying tourney you must have an established handicap of 10 or less for the open division and 15 or less for the senior division. To compete in the seniors, a man must be at least 45-years-old by July 27.

The elimination tournament competitors in this tournament must register at the Paradise Point Pro Shop three days before they plan to play--and have permission to be absent from their organizations July 27-30.

Check Base Bulletin 1710 for further details.

Lejeune Drops 1st ECIC Game

The Devildogs took their first ECIC loss of the year Monday night when Fort Eustis rallied in the sixth inning to pull ahead, and win 4-2.

The Marine team was leading 2-1 going into the sixth, when Eustis converted two walks, a single and a two-base hit into three runs.

The 'Dogs ran up a string of 10 straight wins before falling to Eustis.

By C. C. THOMAS

LtCol. "Stormy" Davis, head coach of the '64 football team says he needs either an offensive line coach or defensive backfield coach.

Anyone interested can contact Col. Davis at Goettge Memorial Field House for an interview.

Lloyd James, manager of the soon-to-be-opened bowling center here, is looking for people who are, or want to become junior bowling instructors.

There are no set qualifications for the job, but a person who would succeed in the task would by necessity be a pretty fair bowler, and interested in teaching youngsters.

If you are interested, and are not an AJBC Certified Instructor, you must attend a two-day instructors school in Raleigh on July 8-9.

James can be contacted in the Special Services Office, at Goettge Memorial Field House for further information.

The Camp Lejeune Karate Club is looking for men to hold brown belts, and are interested in competing in the World Karate Championships at the Chicago Coliseum, Sept. 6.

For further details contact Sgt. D. F. Bohan, at Extension 7-3380.

Chip Patton, a member of the Camp Lejeune "Devilfish" won a gold medal recently, in the Carolina's AAU Swimming Championship Meet.

Patton pulled ahead in the last lap of the 200 yard individual medley race, to edge out H. Haywood, of the Raleigh Swim Club.

Eighteen swimming clubs, in addition to the "Devilfish" were entered in the event, held at Raleigh. The "Devilfish" is a dependents' swimming club, coached by Lt. Jack Hayes.

A big water show is planned for the Fourth of July at Marston Pavilion and the Wallace Creek Boat House.

There will be 30 minute rides on the "Montezuma," sailboat races, SCUBA demonstrations, a water ski show, canoe jousting and races, rowboat races, and music by the Drum and Bugle Corps.

To cap the day's action there will be a fireworks display at the Camp Parade Ground, at 7:30 p.m.

The show starts at 9 a.m. and runs all day. Anyone interested in taking part in the water ski show should meet Mr. Aaron at Marston Pavilion at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Garth House and crewman, Norm Fertsch, increased their first place stature in the June Sailing Series by narrowly winning over Cherry Point's Dick Simpson. Mike and Marion Ashley recovered from a foul that occurred before the first mark and left them trailing, to salvage third.

There are still several boats left that may be reserved for the July 4th races. This year's races are expected to be one of the most exciting events of the day.

The Ski Club is floundering for a reason that seems rather ludicrous, considering our environment. They are well equipped with skis--all kinds, boats--several, motors--also several, and personnel--interested.

However--no water and no beach. Wallace Creek is dangerously crowded; the Air Facility too far; Hospital Point too residential; Northeast Creek no parking or bus service; Mile Hammock Bay unauthorized; and so on down the line. Water water everywhere, etc.

2 Norfolk Teams Added To ECIC

Two new commands were accepted into the East Coast Interservice Conference at a recent conference meeting.

Naval Air Station, and SUB-LANT, both based at Norfolk, Va., were voted in, to give the ECIC membership 12 teams.

Other conference members are, Camp Lejeune, Fort Devens, Ft. Dix, McGuire AFB, Edgewood Arsenal, Ft. Eustis, Ft. Lee, Ft. Bragg, Quantico, and Ft. Meade.

The ECIC holds competition in nearly all major sports, however, conference members are not required to field teams in all the sports.

Hdqtrs. Co. Holds Lead In Force Troops Softball

Headquarters Co. continued to dominate the Force Troops intramural softball league as they ran their victory string to four straight last week by downing previously unbeaten 8th Comm Bn., 4-0, and blasting 2d Field Artillery Group, 17-2.

The only other unbeaten team in the league, 2d Topo Co., won a 7-0 forfeit over 2d Tank Bn., to run their record to 2-0.

After two scoreless innings, Headquarters jumped on "Pancho" Martinez for a pair of runs in the second and pushed across single tallies in the fifth and sixth to hand the Comm hurler his first loss of the year.

Fastballing "A.C." Cook allowed Comm only two hits as he went the route for Headquarters.

O'Brien was the big stick for Headquarters as he collected two hits in three trips to the plate, including a triple. Cook also had a triple for the winners.

Cook notched his second win of the week as he baffled 2d FAG with his vast variety of pitches and allowed them only one hit as Headquarters bombed the "Cannoneers", 17-2.

The lone FAG hit was a two-run homer by John Parker.

Headquarters wasted no time in getting started as they scored four runs in the first, four in the second, six in the third and three more in the fourth.

Despite the barrage of runs, FAG pitcher James Wallace gave up only six hits as Headquarters capitalized on FAG's fielding mistakes for most of their runs.

Cook also wielded a big bat as he homered for Headquarters. "Heavy" Miller and John Murray had doubles for the winners for the only other extra base hits.

In other league action, 2d Bridge pasted 2d AmTracBn., 12-5, and 2d Tanks downed 2d Bridge, 7-4.

League standings as of June 22:

TEAM	W	L
HqCo., ForTrps	4	0
2d Topo Co.	2	0

All-Marine Golf Plans Underway

Planning is now underway for the Eighth Annual All-Marine Championship Golf Tournament. It will be held this year at Parris Island, S. C., August 19-21.

To get in on the tournament you will have to have an established handicap of four or less--and written permission to be away from your unit Aug. 17-22. Competition will be held only in the open division.

There will probably be eight golfers representing Camp Lejeune in the tourney. If you want to be on the team you must submit written permission to be absent from your command, and your established handicap card, to the Base Athletic Officer prior to Aug. 1.

For further details, call extension 7-5763.

--From The Hull Of Montezuma--

If women aboard ship brings bad luck, as the old sailor's superstition claims, the "Montezuma" may never be the same again.

Last Saturday 27 Woman Marines invaded the "Montezuma," the special services fishing boat, for a day of fun, fishing, swimming, sun-bathing and relaxation on the high seas.

Although all but five of the girls suffered mild to severe cases of sea-sickness, they seemed to have a good time, and even caught a few fish.

Joe Latham, skipper of the Montezuma, said he thought they were "a good crew," but he only came out of the wheel-house once.

Meritorious Masts

HOSPITAL CORPSMAN THIRD CLASS RICHARD L. BROWN, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Nuclear, Biological and Chemical Defense School, was awarded a meritorious mast by BrigGen. Donn J. Robertson, Commanding General, Force Troops, for exceptional performance of duty in treating a severe chemical burn accidentally sustained by an instructor at the FMFLantNBC School. The mast read in part:

"On January 21, 1964, 1stLt. Anore R. Brousseau III, an instructor at the FMFLantNBC School, accidentally sustained a severe chemical burn from a blister type agent. The burn was diagnosed as a third degree burn to the left hand affecting primarily the two middle fingers, the knuckles, and portions of the wrist.

You rendered initial first aid in the absence of a doctor. Thereafter, under only general supervision of a doctor, by your initiative, devotion to duty, and unending research concerning this type of injury; with no regard for personal convenience, normal working hours or holidays, you are credited with saving the officer's hand from becoming infected.

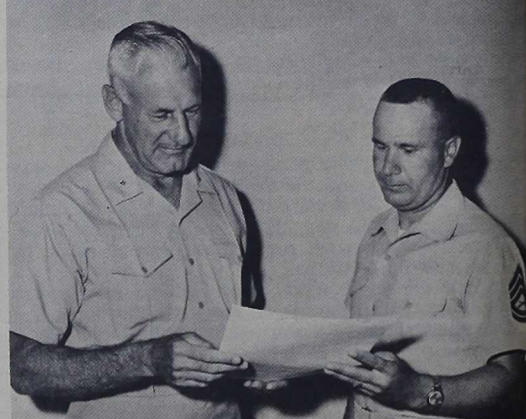

By your actions, no hospitalization or skin grafts were required and the officer suffered no loss of work due to the accident. The hand of the instructor is now fully healed with no scarring and with full mobility and use.

Records of similar incidents reveal that infections requiring skin grafts, prolonged hospitalization, and loss of work are almost a certainty in this type of burn. Your efforts and professional ability in dealing with this incident are in the highest nature.

By your initiative and devotion to duty, you have contributed materially to the successful accomplishment of the mission of your unit."

2D AMTRACBN, CO., LtCol. T. W. Clarke, presented Meritorious Masts to three corporals for their outstanding performance of duty in the battalion's supply system. They were: Cpls. A. F. Redman, C. C. Smith and K. E. Hall.

LANCE CORPORAL CHARLES T. NEAL received a meritorious mast for his outstanding performance in single-handedly controlling and operating the base military taxi dispatch system.

Carolina Travelers

Two Wagon Trains in North Carolina's mountains will recreate scenes of the past over the Fourth of July holidays.

At Andrews in Southwestern North Carolina, the 7th annual Fourth of July Wagon Train will pull out at 6 a. m. July 2 for 25-mile trek to Hayesville, with the return journey culminating in a celebration and parade at Andrews July 4. Overnight encampments will be at Hayesville and Peachtree School. The people of Hayesville will welcome the Wagon Train and spectators with square dancing and mountain music the evening of July 2.

The second annual Daniel Boone Wagon Train in Northwestern North Carolina will travel from North Wilkesboro to one June 30-July 3, with overnight encampments at Ferguson, Darby and Triplett. Wagon trains will assemble June 27 in North Wilkesboro, where the public is invited to an old-fashioned singling the afternoon of June 28, and a parade, games and program of music and dancing June 29. After making final encampment at Boone July 3, the Wagon Train party will see the outdoor drama "Horn In The West" that evening, and parade through the town at 10 a. m. July 4. Special programs for the Wagon Train party and the public are planned at Ferguson the evening of July 30, Darby the evening of July 1, and Triplett the evening of July 2.

Both Wagon Trains will follow secondary roads for the most part, and there are many points along their routes to which visitors can drive their automobiles and watch wagons and horseback riders making their way through spectacular mountain country.

The Wagon Train from Andrews will follow the Junaluska Road and continue to Hayesville via Big Choga, Tuni Gap and Tusquitee into Hayesville July 2. The return trip will be via Mission Dam, Peachtree and Marble. Much of the route is in Nantahala National Forest.

The route of Daniel Boone Wagon Train parallels that taken by Old Dan'l when he led a party of settlers across the Blue Ridge Divide in 1773. The June 30 trek will be on N. C. Highway 268 along the shores of the big new Kerr Scott Reservoir and through portions of Happy Valley to Ferguson. On the following day, the Train will take an unpaved secondary road up Elk Creek Valley to Darby, continuing to Triplett on a similar route July 2. Triplett is accessible to motorists via a paved highway connecting with U. S. 421 east of Boone, but the Wagon Train will take a steep, unpaved road up the Blue Ridge Divide and cross the Blue Ridge Parkway near Cook's Gap July 3.

From 50 to 100 wagons and up to 200 horseback riders will participate in each Wagon Train. Vehicles must be antique or authentic restorations, and drivers and passengers don pioneer garb for the journey. While most of the wagons are pulled by horses or mules, there will be some oxen-drawn wagons in the Daniel Boone Wagon Train. Members of the Wagon Train carry their own food and camping equipment, plus feed for their livestock. Wagon masters enforce strict discipline of the type essential to survival in pioneer days.

Capt. Frank W. Swan, a hale and hearty 70-plus, is Wagon Master for the Andrews to Hayesville Wagon Train. Ivey Moore of North Wilkesboro, descendant of frontiersmen who fought in the Battle of Kings Mountain, leads the Daniel Boone Wagon Train as chief scout.

Civilian Employees On MCB Receive Group Insurance

An all-around group insurance plan for civilian employees of Marine Corps exchanges, clubs, messes and recreation funds went into effect June 16 Headquarters Marine Corps announced.

The insurance plan, underwritten by Aetna Life Insurance Company, provides uniform life insurance and medical insurance to approximately 3,200 civilian employees and their dependents.

Employees participating in optional plan will contribute 50 percent of the premium costs, with the other half being paid from non-appropriated funds by Headquarters Marine Corps.

In addition to providing financial security for civilian employees, the new insurance plan is expected to assist recruitment of high quality career personnel.

Discount Tickets For 'The Lost Colony'

Children See Air Facility

Marine Aircraft Group-26 played host, recently, to 153 very important visitors. The visitors in question were 153 first grade students from the Stone Street School of Camp Lejeune.

Under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Louise Green the children and their accompanying teachers were taken on a tour of the MAG-26 area and the Marine Corps Air Facility.

Arriving at the Air Facility at mid-morning, the class was guided to the MAG-26 maintenance hangar where they observed aircraft in different stages of repair and maintenance. A brief explanation and visual inspection of the aircraft and talking with several of the maintenance personnel rounded out the tour of the hangar.

Next on the list of things to see, the class watched one of new UH-1E helicopters take-off and complete several of his pre-flight maneuvers prior to transition to forward flight.

Once again on the buses, the children were taken to the Air Facility side of the base for a look at the station twin engine aircraft and the T-28, a single engine attack fighter aircraft. Questions flew hot and heavy about the two big "birds" and the children gazed intently at them, visualizing themselves in the pilot seat's in the distant future.

To top off the morning tour, the class was taken to the Air Facility Marina where Staff Sergeant Paul A. Davis, Assistant NCO in Charge gave a brief explanation of the marina and how it serves the men stationed on the base.

Recipe Of The Week

Frozen Cinnamon Apples

Keep the red beauties in your freezer—wonderful with pork
1 c. sugar
1 c. water
1/2 red cinnamon candies
8 to 12 medium apples

Combine sugar, water and candies in saucepan. Cook over medium heat until candies are dissolved, stirring frequently. Simmer 5 minutes.

Peel apples, cut in halves and remove cores. Cook them, a few at a time, in the syrup until they are just tender. Do not overcook and do not crowd apples in syrup.

Cool, package, seal and freeze. Makes 16 to 20 servings for relish, 8 to 12 servings when used for salad. Recommended storage time: 9 months.

To use, partially thaw apples and place one on each serving plate or place them on a relish tray, or fill centers with cream cheese mixed with chopped nuts, top with spoonfuls of salad dressing, and serve on lettuce for a colorful salad.

Sin Rangers

and Mrs. O. L. Lockhart of Camp Lejeune will be one of two Canadian Sin Rangers who will visit Coastal Carolina County, The major and his wife will be among the welcome at the Goldsboro airport when the girls arrive on July 1. The Sin Rangers, comparable to the Girl Scout, will visit in various homes in the council area and will spend some time at Camp Trillie and Pretty Pond. The schedule calls for each girl to visit two families for two weeks and to spend one week in a Council Board of meeting in Goldsboro on July 15. A farewell party will be held for them in Kinston on July 18. Cadettes and seniors from the entire council jurisdiction will attend. While visiting the various homes the girls will participate in family and community

Fast Exit System Demonstrated At Marine Corps Schools Show

MARINE CORPS SCHOOLS, QUANTICO, VA., June 15—"You have just witnessed another successful pickup by the Fulton SkyHook system." As these words were spoken Maj. Larry P. Charon, Ground Surveillance Reconnaissance Officer of the Intelligence Branch, Ground Combat Division, Landing Force Development Center, was some 200 feet above ground traveling at speeds in excess of 100 knots.

Not unusual, you say? Jet aircraft, even helicopters, go faster and much higher. This is true; but, Major Charon was "aboard" nothing more than 500 feet of tubular nylon cord (lift line) which was secured to a twin boom arrangement (yoke) on the nose of a S-2A twin engine naval aircraft.

TIG Requirements For FY-65 Testing Announced By HQ

Headquarters Marine Corps has announced the resumption of the normal General Military Subject Test cycle and established the minimum service in grade requirements for the FY-65 testing period.

GMST's are scheduled for August 7, 1964, December 4, 1964, and April 1, 1965, for Marines who meet or exceed the following minimum service in grade requirements:

Staff Sergeants who will have 30 months in grade on or before December 31, 1964 (cutoff date of rank June 62).

Sergeants who will have 29 months in grade on or before December 31, 1964 (cutoff date of rank July 31 62).

Corporals who will have 19 months in grade on or before July 31, 1964 will be tested during the August (ALFA) period (cutoff date of rank Dec. 31 62).

Corporals who will have 19 months in grade on or before November 30, 1964 (cutoff date of rank April 30, 63), will be tested during the December (BRAVO) period.

Corporals who will have 19 months in grade on or before March 31, 1965 (cut-off date of rank Aug. 31, 1963), will be tested during the April, 1965, (CHARLIE) period.

Sergeants and Staff Sergeants who pass the August (ALFA) or December (BRAVO) testing periods will be considered for promotion by the appropriate FY-66 Staff Noncommissioned Officer Selection and Review Board. Service in grade requirements will not be waived for the testing periods.

Testing of Marine Corps Class II Reservists will be accomplished during the BRAVO and CHARLIE (December, 1964, and April 1965) periods.

The Fiscal Year 1965 promotion cycle schedule for corporals to sergeant has not as yet been formulated.

A ground-to-air recovery had been successfully completed at the Marine Corps Air Station here.

The Marine Corps has been looking for a ground-to-air recovery system; some quick way to pickup reconnaissance personnel on deep patrols or personnel manning distant observation posts. Such a system is needed for the timely debriefing of personnel for subsequent missions. The system will also be used to rescue downed aircrews.

During pre-D-Day 'recon' operations, it is expected that the Navy will provide aircraft for this purpose since such operations must be approved, supported, and controlled by the amphibious task force or higher commander.

The recovery will be effected from small, normally inaccessible areas, reducing to a minimum discovery or disclosure of the intelligence collection activity or downed aviation personnel.

The Fulton "Sky-Hook" system consists of two basic groups of equipment; the aircraft component and the ground component.

The aircraft equipment primarily consists of a "sky anchor" and a winch. The ground equipment is a pickup suit with integrated parachute type harness, helium bottles, a large polyethylene balloon and several hundred feet of nylon line.

The most prominent feature on the aircraft is the twin boom arrangement called the "yoke". It is the yoke that guides the lift line into the nose of the aircraft to a device known as the "sky anchor".

The sky anchor is positioned at the apex of the "V" formed by the yoke. When the line enters the slot of the anchor, it activates a trigger and a spring-wound shaft rotates four turns and locks the line in place.

Deflection lines are strung from the leading points of the hoke back to each wing tip and are designed to protect the aircraft in the event the pilot gets too far to the right or left in his pickup attempt.

Inside the aircraft is a control box which electronically 'cocks' the sky anchor. There is also a clamp which is used when the line is transferred from the nose of the aircraft to the winch. The electronically operated winch lifts personnel into the aircraft.

The Fulton system was first evaluated by the office of Naval Research at Quantico in 1958. This evaluation included the first live pickup, which was accomplished by GySgt. Levi Woods.

At that time the potential of this system for the recovery of 4-man reconnaissance teams and downed aircrews was immediately recognized by the Marine Corps, and Headquarters was asked to procure this equipment for test and evaluation. Since the installation of airborne equipment required extensive modification to an airplane, the request was forwarded to the Bureau of Weapons.

The project was assigned the Naval Aviation Test Center, Patuxent River and The Fulton "Sky Anchor" and which were installed in a modified S2A at NAS, Pensacola.

The original plan called for the simultaneous pickup of four people, but problems with the aircraft's center of gravity have shown 675 pounds to be the maximum load capability. To date single, double and triple dummy pickups and single and double live pickups have been made. A triple live pickup will be attempted next and if successful will end the evaluation phase with this aircraft.

Three pickup kits may be used to accomplish a lift. There are the daylight kit used by Maj. Charon, the night time kit; which is equipped with four flashing lights spaced 30 feet apart at the top of the lift line; and a water pickup kit.

The primary differences are that the water kit has a standard four man life raft; a 350 foot bouyant nylon line; and a single styrofoam container for the helium storage bottles.

The bottles each contain 400 cubic feet of helium, more than the 650 cubic feet required to inflate the aerodynamically shaped balloon. Each bottle is equipped with a high pressure valve assembly and hose and is encased in a reinforced canvas bag.

Tests have shown that pilots require only a little training for daytime pickups. Nighttime techniques mean extensive training.

Crews need about eight hours of ground training and then dummy pickup training before attempting any live pickup.

During an actual pickup the aircraft makes an initial pass dropping the kit to the grounded individual. The pickup is made at a prescribed time or through radio contact. The aircraft's speed during pickup will be 120 knots.

Charon makes final adjustments to his flight suit just prior to being snatched from the ground by an S2A twin-engine naval aircraft during a demonstration of the Fulton "Sky-Hook" June 9, at the Marine Corps Air Station, Quantico. ## Vieques Little Leaguers See Good Will At Work

VIEQUES, PUERTO RICO June 18—The last, far from being the least important, of the Good Works projects undertaken by Marines of BLT 1/6 was brought to a close today as LtCol. Leo B. Shinn, CO, BLT 1/6, presented Lieutenant Alfredo DelValle, Chief of Police of Isabel Segunda, with seventy-four dollars and seventy-eight cents as a contribution to the Little League Ball Team of Vieques.

The money was presented to Lt. DelValle in ceremonies that took place at police headquarters and will be used to help furnish uniforms and equipment for the members of the Little League Teams. Also present were Judge Jose' Rivera; Sergeant Porfirio Rodriguez; Policeman Jose' R. Torrens, both members of the Isabel Segunda police force and also coaches of the Little League Ball Club.

Good Will projects undertaken by BLT 1/6, under the direction of Chaplain Lloyd A. Cornell and Capt. B. F. Cate, and completed in their short stay on Vieques, included the of a cement block wall at the USO (United Services Organization) Club; the donation of one hundred and seventy-seventy-five pints of blood to the Municipal Hospital of Isabel Segunda; a beach party for some three hundred and fifty children of the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grades of Vieques; and the construction of new lights and a new building at the Vieques High School volleyball court.

The projects completed by Marines of BLT1/6 during their short stay at Vieques, created not only good will but a better understanding and friendship which will long be remembered by the people of Vieques.

Bethlehem Baptist Church, Jacksonville, N. C. and at right, in his job as head Career Advancement NCO for the 2d Marine Division. Sgt. Thielke, a veteran of the Korean Conflict, has been ordained Minister since March.
