FMF Flexes Muscles On Vieques

THE COMMAND TO FIRE comes over the phones and the 155-mm howitzer projectile is on the way to the target.

Navy And Marine Corps Team Up In Combined Arms Firing Exercise

A combined-arms field firing exercise (FFEX-64), involving organizations from the 2d Marine Division and Force Troops, Atlantic, naval warships and carrier based Marine and Navy aircraft was conducted at Vieques, Puerto Rico.

This marks the first time in recent years that an exercise of this type has been conducted by Marines and Navy from eastern United States. A similar exercise, utilizing artillery as naval gunfire, was conducted in 1956 at the Marine Corps Base, 29 Palms, Calif.

Division units participating in the exercise included the 1st and 4th Battalions and Battery E, 2d Battalion of the 10th Marines.

Force Troops units participating included the 155-mm. Self-propelled Gun Battery and the 8-inch Self-propelled Howitzer Battery of the 2d Field Artillery Group (2d FAG).

Naval gunfire support for the exercise was supplied by the USS BOSTON (Heavy Cruiser with a missile capability) and the destroyers USS LAWE and USS ZELLARS. Close air support for the operation was provided by Marine and Navy aircraft from the carrier FORRESTAL. Other aircraft were based at the Naval Air Station, Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico.

The exercise, directed by Col. H. H. Reichner, Jr., former Commanding Officer, 10th Marines, simulated combat conditions. Col. Reichner has been assigned duty as a member of the joint Staff, Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Pentagon, Washington, D. C.

The 2d Marine Expeditionary Force (2d MEF) made an amphibious landing, expanded its beachhead, seized the remainder of Vieques Island, and destroyed the remaining enemy forces. Local security and camouflage, found in any combat situation, were highly stressed.

FFEX-64 combined artillery, naval gunfire, and close air support firing exercises in the attack of targets and fire support coordination. The desired objectives of the exercise were proficiency in the speed and accuracy of attacks on targets, selection of the best means and methods of attacks, and the application of proper fire support coordination techniques.

Personnel received time on target (TOT) firing practice. In artillery, this is a fire direction technique by which surprise fires from several artillery units arrive on the target simultaneously.

High ranking flag officers from the 2d Marine Division; Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic; Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune; Force Troops, Atlantic; and the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing witnessed the exercise and toured positions.

The visiting dignitaries included MajGen. R. K. Rottet, Deputy Commander, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, with headquarters in Norfolk, Va.; MajGen. A. L. Bowser, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, MajGen. W. J. Van Ryzin, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, BrigGen. D. J. Robertson, Commanding General, Force Troops, Atlantic, Camp Lejeune; and BrigGen. P. J. Fontana, Commanding General, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point, N. C.

Garden Plots Available For Officers And Enlisted

In the Spring everyone turns to gardens and flowers. The Quarters and Housing Division is now assigning garden plots to married enlisted and officer personnel. Enlisted personnel may submit their requests to the Quarters and Housing Office, Bldg. TT-43. Officers can submit their request to the HQ Quarters and Housing Office. The assignment of plots will be on a first-come basis. The garden plots are 30 by 50 feet. Garden manuals will be available at the Housing Office. You must supply your own garden tools and water hose.

If space permits flowers may be planted by occupants of quarters with the following four rules:

1. Plantings will be in the front and rear of quarters only in a regular flower bed. Flowers may not be planted along driveways, and sidewalks.

2. No plant shall be planted closer than three feet to any building.

3. Flower beds shall not be wider than three feet, nor extend beyond the end of the quarters. Flower bed border fences may be used but cannot exceed one foot in height.

4. The training of vines on walls, trees or other locations where vines can grow into contact with roof or siding is prohibited; however, vines on Capehart carports are permitted.

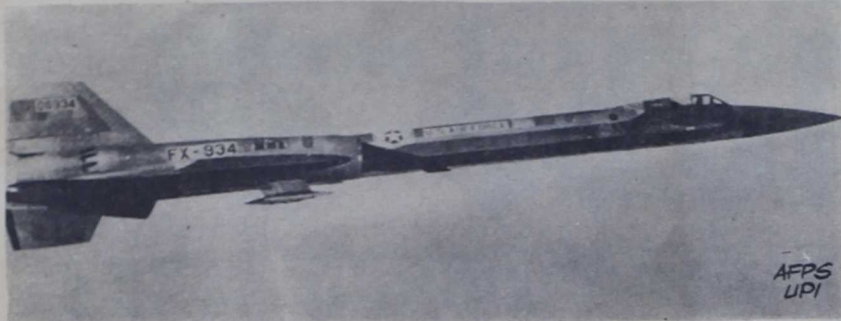

Come in now to the Housing Office and register for your garden plot.

Quantico Housing

The government housing situation has eased at Quantico according to a recent MCS bulletin.

In some cases, there has been little or no waiting for assignment to government quarters for personnel reporting in. Personnel in receipt of orders to Quantico are urged to check with the Base Housing Office before going house hunting.

2d Bridge Co. Platoon Become Foster Parents

By Lt. D. E. Blevens

Third Platoon, 2d Bridge Co., Force Troops-29705; TERESA-IT-4321. These numbers may seem meaningless to you as they once did to us. The way we obtained these numbers was; one morning our right guide, Sgt. E. R. Hanson, came in with a suggestion about an article he had read about becoming foster parents to children overseas.

We put it to a vote and every member of the platoon backed the idea. TERESA-IT-4321 is now the foster child of Third Platoon, 2d Bridge Co.

Her full name is Russo. She was born Oct. 1, 1955, about 12 miles from Naples, Italy. She is four feet in height, has a 17 inch waist and weighs 57 lbs. Teresa is rather thin, but in good health. She has honey colored hair and chestnut brown eyes. She is lively and cheerful and has a strong strain for native independence. Teresa is in the third grade of primary school, doing good work, and is very anxious to keep on with her studies. Teresa wants to qualify herself to work in an office so that some day she might be able to help others and repay her friends for all of their kindness. Like girls all over the world Teresa likes to play with dolls.

Life has not been kind to Teresa, she is one of five orphaned children. She has two older brothers, ages 17 and 14, and older sister, age 11, and a younger sister, age 6.

Her father served in World War II, and because of an illness contacted at that time, became paralyzed. He died of typhus in July, 1961. The mother, who had struggled valiantly to take care of her husband and support her children, was only 36, when she succumbed to blood poisoning.

The grandmother and grandfather took them in after the children were left alone. The grandfather is 77 years old and feeble. His monthly pension is $19.22, barely enough to support himself and his wife. But now it must stretch for the needs of seven. The grandmother is 69 years old and suffers from chronic asthma, yet day after day she works as a domestic. The most she can earn is $12.88 a month.

They have a large bed, a smaller one; a table, six chairs, a closet and a cupboard. Everything is worn, marred by time and poverty. Teresa is but one of many cases where just $13.00 per month can bring a little comfort and happiness into the lives of orphaned and homeless children and give them a little hope for the future.

Camp Lejeune is proud of the natural beauty of the Base. Much of the credit for its beauty is given to the individual quarters and housing areas. Their efforts materially assist station forces in keeping Camp Lejeune neat and attractive.

The Camp Lejeune Command sends advanced thanks for the continuing cooperation in keeping the Base an attractive place to live.

High-Speed Interceptor Revealed By President

The United States has developed a high-speed jet aircraft which, according to President Johnson, "far exceeds that of any other aircraft in the world today," in performance.

Disclosure of the A-11 advanced experimental jet aircraft was made by the President at his first live television press conference Feb. 29.

The President said the aircraft has been tested in sustained flight at more than three times the speed of sound (over 2,000 mph) and at altitudes in excess of 70,000 feet.

Development of the new aircraft has been underway since 1959. According to the President, the A-11 aircraft now at Edwards AFB, Calif., are undergoing extensive tests to determine their uses as long-range interceptors.

The President said the plane's high speed, high altitude and long-range performance of thousands of miles are a technical accomplishment with both military and commercial applications possible.

One of the important technical achievements in development of the A-11 has been perfecting of the titanium metal required for the high temperatures experienced by the aircraft because of its speed.

"In view of the continuing importance of these developments to our national security," President Johnson explained, "the detailed performance of the A-11 will remain strictly classified and all individuals associated with the program have been directed to refrain from making any further disclosures concerning this program."

Col. Ing's Med. Marines Hold 'Sea-Going' Party

BLT 1/8, With the U. S. Sixth Fleet--The Eastern Mediterranean Fun and Games Committee of Battalion Landing Team 1/8 held its first Annual Sea-going George Washington's Birthday Gala Stag Party Feb. 22, aboard the attack transport USS Fremont (APA-44), marking their 38th consecutive day at sea.

The around-the-clock festivities began in the early morning with a Balloon Shoot off of the ship's fantail. A good percentage of the embarked Marines and ship's personnel took their two chances at hitting the six-inch targets launched from the fantail.

Following the marksmanship event, more than 1,000 Marines and sailors were entertained at an open-air Variety Show, put on by the BLT-Marines and members of the ship's crew. The show consisted of vocal and instrumental groups, playing and singing popular songs; comedy sketches and a yarn spinner, all of which kept the audience yelling for more.

Main event of the all-day celebration was the BLT's first Mediterranean Smoker of the current cruise.

Twenty Marines and sailors entered into 10 bouts of three two-minute rounds. The rock 'em, sock 'em pre-Clay-Liston encounters kept the fighters' ring-side shipmates cheering and shouting encouragements throughout the two-hour exhibition.

The BLT, commanded by Lt. Col. H. E. Ing, Jr., is currently deployed on a six-month joint operational and "good will" tour of the Mediterranean area as the amphibious striking arm of the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

The Marine unit is scheduled to return to the United States in mid-June.

"ROCK-A-BILLIES"—The "Rock-A-Billies," a Marine vocal and instrumental group entertain more than 1,000 Marines from Battalion Landing Team 1/8 and sailors from the crew of the attack transports USS Fremont (APA-44) at a Variety Show aboard the amphibious force ship on Washington's Birthday. The Marines and sailors held an all-day celebration of the first president's birthday, marking their 38th consecutive day at sea. "Rock-A-Billies" are, left to right, Cpl. E. C. Kohl, Headquarters and Service Company; PFC M. Syck, Company "D"; and, PFC D. Huskisson, Company "D".

The World This Week

NICOSIA, Cyprus--The heavy fighting of the current crisis raged in several areas Cyprus this week and the Greek government threatened to intervene on this Mediterranean island if the clashes continued. Diplomatic observers said Cyprus was dangerously near the brink of all-out civil war as cease-fire efforts failed in several areas where Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots are locked in battle. NOM PENH, Cambodia--Cambodian Chief of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk said this week his efforts to win a negotiated neutral status for his kingdom have collapsed because of what he described as the hostility of the United States. At an emergency conference of royal dignitaries, broadcast to the nation, Sihanouk again held out the threat of opening negotiations with Communist North Viet-Nam and the Laotian Red-led Pathet Lao rebels.

NEW DELHI, India--A visiting Russian official confirmed that the Soviet Union and Communist China are holding talks to settle their border dispute. The official, Ivan Vasilievich Spiridonov, said a joint commission has been established by Moscow and Peking to "work out and delimit certain parts of the border."

Spiridonov is a member of a visiting Soviet parliamentary.

2d ANGLICO In Field To Test New Equipment

Second Air and Naval Gunfire Liaison Co., Force Troops, commanded by LtCol. J. W. Tuma began a four-day field exercise on March 4 to test new communication equipment.

The communication section field tested for the first time, the AN/PRC-47, single-sideband radio, which is replacing the AN-GRC-9 and the AN/PRC-41, AM radio, which is taking the place of the MAY.

The AN/PRC-47 will be used by ANGLICO spot teams for communicating from shore to ships or ground to ground for calling in artillery or naval gunfire.

ANGLICO recently demonstrated the ability of the AN/PRC-47 to transmit over long distances by talking with the 4th ANGLICO, a Marine Corps Reserve unit in Miami, Fla. This could formerly be done only by using the more powerful MRC-83 radio, which is mounted in a jeep.

Capt. R. Phillips, communications officer for ANGLICO, said the greatest advantage of the PRC-47 over the AN-GRC-9 is its simplicity of operation. Also, due to modular construction, it is easily maintained since entire circuits can be replaced instead of having to search for individual tube breakdown.

He further explained that the old AN-GRC-9 was a four man load weighing 80 lbs. and required two men to operate it. The AN/PRC-47 single-sideband radio weighs just 43 lbs. and requires only one operator.

Of the two men operating the AN-GRC-9, one is needed to turn the hand-cranked generator. The single-sideband radio has silver zinc, wet cell batteries that replace the hand-cranked generator. The batteries are good for 12 hours of continuous operation. These can be recharged in much the same manner as a car battery.

The ANGLICO spot teams also tried out the AN/PRC-41 AM radio which is replacing the MAY radio for communicating from ground to air during close air support missions.

The chief advantage of the AN/PRC-41 is the increased range, reliability and ease of maintenance due to modular construction.

Capt. Phillips added that the new radios will greatly improve the efficiency of ANGLICO spot teams in calling in close air support and naval gunfire.

COMMENDED—First Class Scout Michael J. Beatty, Troop 590 of Berkeley Manor, received a Letter of Commendation from Capt. F. T. Norris, Commanding Officer, U. S. Naval Hospital. The letter, presented to Michael during the Feb. 26 meeting of his troop by HMI Doucette on behalf of Capt. Norris, praised him for his performance of duty as Honorary Commanding Officer of the hospital, Wednesday, Feb. 12, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Pet Registration Program Slated To Begin March 16

All Camp Lejeune personnel who are owners of dogs and cats are given notice of the annual animal rabies vaccination and pet registration program. This program includes all dogs and cats within the geographical limits of Camp Lejeune, including all housing and quarters areas.

The vaccination and registration program will be in effect from March 16 through March 21.

Any licensed veterinarian may give the necessary immunization, but for the convenience of pet owners, arrangements have been made for a veterinarian to be at the following places at the designated times.

Knox Traller Park, Bldg. D-38, 1-3 p. m. March 16.

Midway Park Fire Station, 1-3 p. m. March 17.

Geiger Traller Park Community Center, 1-3 p. m. March 18.

Paradise Point, Bldg. 2626, 1-3 p. m. March 19.

Tarawa Terrace, Bldg. TT-38, 1-3 p. m. March 20 and 21.

The cost of inoculations given at the above listed locations will be two dollars.

Dogs need not be immunized against rabies until they have reached the age of six months; cats and other mammalian pets need not be immunized against rabies until they have reached the age of four months, but they must be registered at the Base Provosts Marshal's Office.

A certificate of Rabies Immunization dated after Jan. 1, 1964, or the green tag issued must be presented at the time of registration, except for those dogs vaccinated in 1962 or 1963 with Chick-embryo vaccine which is good for three years. Cats and other mammalian pets must be vaccinated annually.

All owners of dogs, cats, and other pets specifically authorized by the Commanding General must register or re-register their pets during the period March 16 through March 21, inclusive, at the office of the Base Provost Marshal, Bldg. 37, or at the established vaccination stations where the Provost Marshal will maintain a registration clerk.

WHERE'S THE END?—Men of the Construction Platoon of Radio Relay and Construction Co., 8th Comm Bn., Force Troops struggle with what seems to be an endless cable after removing it from an old rifle range near the Dixon School for use elsewhere on the base.

Seat Belts Offer All A Bargain In Safety

Private Smith was the original bargain-hunter. He never missed a chance to save money.

He failed to recognize one bargain, however, until it was almost too late.

Smith had never really thought much about installing seat belts in his car. Sure, he'd read all the reports and seen all the statistics showing the definite advantages of using seat belts but he never classed them as "bargains."

One Sunday evening, returning to the base after a weekend pass, the car Smith was following stopped suddenly and Smith's car crashed into the back of it. Smith hit the instrument panel and was knocked unconscious.

Fortunately, he suffered only minor bruises. But he had learned a lesson. If he had been using seat belts at the time of the accident, chances are there would have been no injury at all.

Research by the National Safety Council has shown that seat belts lessen the force of impact against such car interiors as the steering assembly, instrument panel, windshield and door structure.

Also, seat belts keep little accidents from becoming big accidents because you stay in your seat and keep control of the steering wheel and brakes even after a collision.

Research by universities, automobile companies, government agencies and police has proved that the use of seat belts could save more than 5,000 lives annually and reduce major injuries by one-third.

Private Smith had to learn the hard way that seat belts are a big bargain in safety and security. Why should YOU wait until you get a rap on the head or lose a few teeth before you learn that seat belts in automobiles can be the best bargain any driver ever invested in?

Bulletin Boards Important

We would like to pass on a few thoughts about an old Marine Corps tradition — the bulletin board.

This little item of grass-root communication can be invaluable as a means of "passing the word." It can also be abused and misused.

Tradition, and in fact, regulation require that the bulletin board be read twice daily by all hands. Most commanding officers will hold you to that. If you're up for office hours for not getting the word and it is posted on the bulletin board, chances are that "The Man" will have very little sympathy for you.

It's an individual's responsibility to read the bulletin board and that it is important. Now let's look at the other side of the picture.

Of equal importance is the responsibility on the part of the commanding officer, sergeant major, first sergeant, chief clerk, or others who control what goes on the board, to see that the boards are kept up to date, and that bulletins, orders and memos, etc., that are no longer effective are pulled from the board. Shouldn't there be a bonafide reason for putting something on the bulletin board?

It would seem that a bulletin board loses much of its effectiveness if the "meat" is camouflaged by old duty rosters, last month's parade rosters and outdated training schedules.

Chaplain's Corner

In the population of this world we have the doers, the don'ts, the promoters and those who never commit themselves — no-siders.

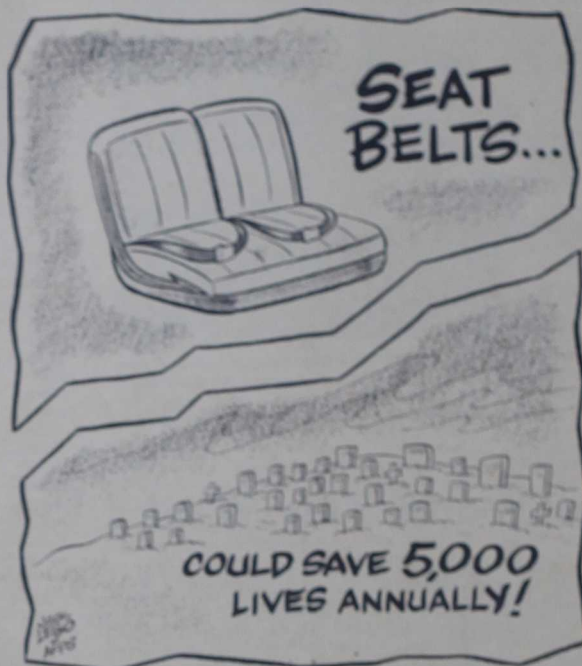

To take sides, is uncouth to the so-called intellectual. An intellectual is said to be the possessor of an open mind, a neutralist. The truth is that very few minds are indeed neutral since most people are inclined to lean one way or another depending on the issue. We all have ideas and some convictions.

But the pity of the "no-siders" is that they wish to participate but do not wish to lose out to be governed by the rules of play. Their reasoning is based on having no convictions and thus they side-step issues most of their lives. They escape responsibility by emphatically announcing their lack of concern. Yet, they seek to be counted in with the totals.

Frankly speaking, there is a lurking danger to our way of life — to democracy. Democracy to many, is just a word, a vacuum, an empty thing. These people are blind to the expenses of transplanting people or entire nations; nations once humming with happiness and freedom. A freedom no longer known, but memories that linger about the "good old days." At one time they had a choice to make; the choice, they discovered later, was their way of life. A way of life no longer open to them.

Our nation needs and deserves a true mass of dedicated people. We cannot afford "no-siders," pessimists, and don'ts. Even a "no-sider" must, sooner or later, descend from that perch. A choice must be made — freedom and our way of life or a synthetic substitute. This nation is Ours, the choice is ours. On whose side are you?

—Chaplain Foreman

If You Ask Me:

Do you enjoy serving aboard a Marine Corps Base?

HMCA V. VAN ALSTYNE—I've only been here a week but I was stationed at Camp Pendleton before, so I am familiar with the Marine Corps. I like working with the Corps because it offers a variety of duties, especially in a dispensary. While I was at Pendleton I married a Marine and we plan to settle near there when we retire.

HN E. R. BURNS—I find duty at Camp Lejeune about the same as it would be aboard a Navy Base but I do find it hard to get used to being under Marine Corps command. The one reason I do like duty here is the housing facilities. Aboard a Navy Base it's hard to get a lower rated man to get B1 Housing.

HN JUDY YANDELL—I like it! Although this is the first Marine Corps Base I've been stationed on, I think the work is pleasant and the people I work for are real nice. I find working at WM sick call much easier than working with dependents, which is what I was doing in Norfolk before I came here. Dependents can be very demanding at times.

HN W. BEECHEL—I would much rather be on a ship somewhere than behind a desk at Lejeune. I joined the Navy to travel. I been here two years and the only place I've seen is North Carolina. The liberty here isn't too good 'cause you have to go too far, at the clubs on the base don't add enough to compensate for the loss of liberty off base. Maybe if I meals were served at the clubs would be 100% better.

Thousands of Quad-Command personnel have already learned that their off-duty hours do not have to be spent sitting around a barracks or at home in front of a television set busily doing nothing.

in the lack of facilities available for painting and body work. However, trained and experienced assistants are at these shops to aid and guide patrons through any other repair. This allows anyone, regardless of how much or how little he or she knows about automobile engines, to accomplish any work needed or desired.

The Hadnot Point auto hobby shop alone averages more than 1,100 patrons each month. The month of January was a record month for this shop when the number of patrons exceeded 1,300.

By doing their own labor in automobile repairs, the do-it-yourself auto mechanics save the cost of professional labor, get to know the inside of their cars better and in some cases, the shop's facilities aid persons just interested in learning about automotive mechanics.

Woodworking

For the self-made carpenters in the Quad-Command area, there are five woodworking hobby shops ready for use. Three are operated by Marine Corps Base, one by the 2d Division and one by the New River Air Facility.

These shops are unlimited in their facilities. The five shops together average more than 700 patrons per month which means there is room for still more. Necessary woods and other accessories, whatever type desired for any chosen project, are available at a reasonable cost in all five shops.

The most common product to come out of their doors are coffee tables and cabinets. Again, as at the auto hobby shop, there are experienced personnel available to give assistance when needed and advice when asked for.

Ceramics

In recent years, ceramics has become one of the most popular and fastest growing hobbies. This is especially true with the ladies, but this does not mean, however, that the hobby is limited to the women and household decorations.

There are two such hobby shops in this area, one being at Hadnot Point and the other at the Air Facility. The Hadnot Point shop itself offers more

SEASON OPENS

MC Seeks Applications For 4th AF Skeet Matches

The Fourth Armed Forces Invitational Skeet Championship will be held at Ent Air Force Base, Colorado Springs, Colorado, June 8-13, 1964 with the Air Defense Command serving as host.

Individual applications to participate in the subject matches as a member of the Marine Corps Skeet Team are invited.

The program consists of individual, 2-man team, and 5-man team events fired with 12, .410, 20, and 28 guage guns. Eligibility for team matches requires personnel to be from the same base or club.

Ammunition will be available for sale at the club house. Reloads are permitted to be fired in the competition.

To represent the Marine Corps a team of six shooters, as selected by the Team Captain, Marine Corps Shooting Teams, will be ordered to the match site by Headquarters, Marine Corps.

Funding support for the Marine Corps Skeet Team will be from Marine Corps Headquarters Marksmanship Funds. All travel will be by government air when available.

The fact that the Marine Corps will support a 6-man group in the subject championship does not prohibit local commands from supporting individuals or teams within the means locally available.

Marine Corps personnel stationed in the continental USA who currently hold National Skeet Shooting Association Classifications of AA or A are invited to submit requests for selection as a member of the Marine Corps Skeet Team.

Requests will be sent via local commanders and addressed to the Team Captain, Marine Corps Shooting Teams, Weapons Training Battalion, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia to arrive not later than May 1, 1964.

In addition to showing the current NSSA classification held, a resume of matches entered, scores shot, and places won since January 1963 should be included in the request.

Endorsement of the immediate commanding officer must include approval or disapproval of the request, and a statement regarding availability of the shooter.

Local Nine Said Ready In Opener With Wil. Co

After plenty of good weather (and some bad) the Camp Lejeune baseball squad has worked out the kinks and is ready with to open the Camp Lejeune baseball season with Wilmington College, Monday, March 16 beginning at 1:30 p. m.

The Wilmington-Lejeune game, first of a 3-game series opens the 1964 baseball season for both squads and is the first of a 55 home game series for the local nine.

Camp Lejeune figures to be tough with the lumber this year with six .300 plus hitters back from last year. They are Buddy Simpson, Hal Norton, Dave Hinz, Dick Garcia, Tom O'Leary and Jake Jakubek.

The over-all pitching will be stronger this year because of the large turn-out of starters at the beginning of the season. Camp Lejeune won the 1963 East Coast Interservice Conference championship and would be a safe prediction they will repeat this year.

19th Hole

By BOB SPENCER

Definitions

1. ADDRESSING THE BALL: A player has "addressed the ball" when he has taken his stance by placing his feet on the ground in position for and preparatory to making a stroke and has also grounded his club, except that in a hazard a player has "addressed the ball" when he has taken his stance preparatory to making a stroke.

2. ADVICE: "Advice" is any counsel or suggestion which could influence a player in determining his play, the choice of a club, or the method of making a stroke. Information on the Rules or Local Rules is not "Advice".

3. BALL DEEMED TO MOVE: A ball is deemed to have "moved" if it leaves its position and comes to rest in any other place.

4. BALL HOLED: A ball is "holed" when it lies within the circumference of the hole and all of it is below the level of the lip of the hole.

Tip of the Week

The tip of the Week concerns the Lofting of Fairway Woods. A great number of golfers have trouble getting the ball into the air with Fairway Woods. A key to solving this problem is what I call hiding the right hip. Basically, the cause of topped shots is swaying of the hips, instead of making the proper pivot. When the hips sway to the right, your point of concentration also moves to the right.

As a result, the tendency is to hit behind the ball or come over the top of it.

To correct this, your pivot, or "coil", must be executed carefully. I use a square stance with Fairway Wood shots, with the hands slightly ahead of the ball at address. Playing the ball slightly inside my left heel, I begin the backswing with a forward press to release any tension that might develop.

I let my left side bring the club back, turning my hips not swaying them, until the right hip has become hidden at the top of the backswing.

Hiding the right means simply that anyone standing opposite you would not be able to see your right side when you reach this point in the swing.

One of the best "hiders" today is Sam Snead. I believe that his hip action is one of the big reasons why he is still a winner at the age of 52.

Once you have reached the top of your backswing, the "recoil" begins. This action is initiated by the transfer of your weight from the right side to the left. If your hands are working correctly, the clubhead will strike the ball first and the left of the face will lift the ball off the ground.

One way to check your swaying is to turn your back to the sun and observe your shadow. If your hips are moving to the right on the backswing, you can be sure that you are not pivoting correctly.

Next week I will start a series of tips on putting and how to read a green.

Garth House at the helm teamed up with Norm Fertsch, an experienced skipper from previous sailing series, to take both races on New River last Saturday. Carol Zeh, with her parents crewing for her, came in third and second in the two races.

It was a matter of feet at the finish of the first race with Jon Vining overtaking Garth House for a close second. Both races were characterized by close, well timed starts. Jon Vining started on the windward end of the line with wind free only to be overtaken and passed by Garth House who then held his lead. At the start of the second race, Carol Zeh tacked strategically into the windward position. Garth House soon overtook her and again maintained his lead.

Standings in the series show Jon Vining first with 18 points, Garth House 15, John Rutherford 11, Carol Zeh 10, Denis Tollefson 4, and Walter Zeh 2.

The Sailing Committee plans to hold a meeting, 7:30 p. m., Thursday, March 12 at the Wallace Boat Creek Boat House to plan the Spring Sailing Series. Anyone interested in racing may attend the meeting at the Boat House or contact Jon Vining at 7-3879, during working hours.

History Of Communism

Toil And Hunger Contr Life Of Common Russian

(Eighteenth of a series of 20 articles entitled The History of Communism, by MSgt. Walter M. Stewart, USMC. Reprinted by AFPS from the San Diego Chevron, Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.)

One may judge the level of contentment under totalitarian government by the 12 million people who have fled the yoke of Communism in the Sino-Soviet bloc since the end of WWII.

But let's deal with specifics. Let's take a look at life in Russia on the individual level:

Income: There are five different socio-economic classes in the "classless" society. Top-level governmental and military officials (numbering several hundred families) are in the half-million-rubles-and-up bracket. Secondary officials and leading scientists, etc.—a category in which there are some five million people—draw wages in excess of 100,000 rubles per year. A third class, comprised of engineers, technicians, etc., earn about 20,000 rubles. The rest of Russia—90 percent of its population—is made up of the semi-skilled (8,000 rubles) and the unskilled (about 4,000 rubles). A family of four must earn well over 10,000 rubles for a bare existence (1 ruble; $1.10); consequently, all adults and able children must be wage earners.

Work Conditions: Job training starts in childhood, with very few changes permitted. The law permits a worker to quit on two weeks' notice but the worker loses his seniority and accrued vacation time and gets no health benefits (a crucial factor) for the first six months on the new job. Periodically, "volunteers" are drafted for new work projects in the Russian wilderness. Strikes are prohibited.

Housing: Among the well-to-do, individuals may own private housing, but not the land it sits upon, making occupancy subject to the benevolence of the party. Otherwise, most urban dwellers live in apartments. Some 50 million live in "communal" apartments, in which several families share the kitchen and bathroom.

Politics: Only Communism and communist doctrines are permitted; violators are prosecuted.

cuted under the criminal for antistate or counter-revolutionary activities. People protest the manner in regulations are carried out not the rules themselves elections (voting is mandatory) the single slate system is impossible to vote for but party designates.

Women: The average sian housewife is both a keeper and wage-earner. woman who is not employed in any branch of the economy is defined as "unproductive." As an economic necessity, she turns her children over to the state-operated nursery and joins the ladies in the heavy unskilled labor of industry and agriculture.

Education: A compulsory seven-year education was recently changed to eight years. Some 50 to 60 percent go further. Exceptional academic standings and political ability are requisites for secondary education. While there are no tuition fees in advanced schools, attendance costs permit few average students at such schools. Communist doctrine is taught in all schools and teachers are duty bound to "instill in children hatred for the enemies of the people."

Religion: Many of the revolution cities have churches. The holding of religious services, however permitted, although discouraged. Religious enthusiasts are put under observation by secret police and charged with "spreading superstition." Churches are required to report governmental policies. Anti-religious propaganda is beamed at children. One official Soviet publication observed, "Parents must be able to answer for any social, religious education the children in the family."

News Media: Every newspaper and magazine is under absolute control of the Communist Party as are all radio and television stations. According to Lenin's doctrine, "Public enterprises must not be permitted to abuse their autonomy by pursuing a policy that is entirely the Party policy."

MAJ. SOLTYS RETIRES—Ceremonies for Maj. Frank Solty, Base Postal and Career Advisory Officer at Camp Lejeune were held last week in the office of the Base Commanding General, MajGen. A. L. Bowser. Maj. Solty retired with a total of 33 years, 8 months service. A personal letter from the Commandant expressed appreciation for Maj. Solty's "many contributions to his Corps and country" and expressed "best wishes for the future." Maj. Solty plans to reside in Onslow County. No stranger to Camp Lejeune, Maj. Solty's initial appearance here is mentioned in the first edition of THE NEW RIVER PIONEER, dated October 31, 1942; forerunner to the CAMP LEJEUNE GLOBE. At that time, the Major was a platoon sergeant.
