Operating Cost Increase Causes Spec. Serv. Fees

Beginning March 1, there will be a slight charge for some of the special services facilities that have previously been available without cost. There are three reasons for fees being placed on these facilities.

Explaining the necessity for the charges, Col. A. M. Wilkinson, Base Special Services Officer said, "Fees have become necessary due to the increased operating cost of the special services program. These increased costs are due to three factors. The deletion of military personnel from the special services table of organization requires us to hire civilians to replace them."

Col. Wilkinson further explained that "general rising costs throughout the special services economy, such as increases in salaries, and the rising cost of maintenance and equipment add to the increasing costs."

The third factor is due to a trend toward increased financial self-sufficiency. Certain areas of maintenance, for instance, that were previously taken care of by the base are now the responsibility of special services.

Only a few of the facilities will have a charge added March 1, however, a study is underway now with a view towards having all feasible activities take on a portion of the expense load rather than have only a few facilities carrying the brunt of the burden.

Expansion Program

An extensive program of expansion, construction, improvement, and building of new recreational facilities is planned for 1964.

The biggest and most expensive is the bowling center. It should be open for business early this summer.

Under the improvement program 20 tennis courts in the quad-command area are being re-surfaced and lighting installed so that these facilities may be used at night.

The capabilities of the ceramics hobby shop will be enlarged through the addition of new kilns.

Another hobby shop slated for improvement is the auto shop at Hadnot Point. New lighting will be installed in the shop; the lighting will be improved in the parking/work area; and separate facilities will be constructed for engine rebuilding work.

A starter's shed will be built on the #2 golf course, and toilet facilities will be built on both the #1 and #2 courses. Pending approval from CMC extensive modifications will be made to the Paradise Point clubhouse.

Lighted Handball Courts

Two lighted handball courts are being built near Harry Agganis Field (the baseball field), and special services is aiming toward handball courts at Montford Point and Camp Geiger.

One project affecting Marines at Montford Point that is underway now is modifying the outdoor theater there to accommodate more cars by adding speakers.

An improvement with top priority, pending CMC approval is the air conditioning of the area #1, #2 and #5 recreation centers.

Extensive improvements are scheduled in conjunction with youth activities. The community centers at Geiger and Knox trailer parks will be air conditioned; playground equipment will be provided in the areas at Berkeley Manor and Capehart housing; recreational areas will be cleaned and equipped with barbecue pits and picnic tables at Knox and Geiger trailer parks and in Midway Park. A boys league field is being built behind the Stone Street School so that the little leagues may be expanded.

Varsity athletics will be continued with one exception. There will be no varsity basketball team next year.

"Basketball has not been budgeted for next year due to lack of spectator interest," explained Col. Wilkinson.

Camp Lejeune will continue to field teams for football, baseball, boxing, tennis, and golf. Plans have been made to have a base bowling team for competition in the East Coast Interservice Conference.

Fees to be charged for the use of certain Special Services facilities and activities are:

Greens' fees at

Paradise Point Golf Course

Individual daily rate, $50.

Guest daily rate, $100.

Individual monthly rate, $200.

Family monthly rate, $350.

Rental fees at

Ceramic Hobby Shop

$10 per mold.

Fishing Craft, MONTEZUMA

A $25.00 fee will be charged parties, other than organized unit parties, for use of the MONTEZUMA, on weekends.

Summer Youth Program

$6.00 per child.

Dependents' Athletic Program

$1.00 per member annual fee (includes Dependents' Swimming Team).

Son Of Lejeune Marine Helped By Donations To Nat. Health Agencies

Osteo-dyschondroplasia is an adult tongue twister, but, for a boy 11 years of age to tell people that he is victim of this malady is definitely a challenge—and challenge it he does.

Osteo-dyschondroplasia, more commonly known as Ollier's Disease, is named for Dr. Deuward Ollier, a noted French surgeon of the late 19th century who first named the disease.

Stephen Ward, son of Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Richard A. Ward, was born with Osteo-dyschondroplasia, an abnormality of bone growth which caused Stephen's left leg to become progressively shorter than his right.

Faced with this problem, the Wards decided that Stephen should have his chance in life like any other child. He would receive equal attention with his brothers and sisters, all normal children, and he would be shown no favoritism because of his handicap. In addition, Stephen would have to learn to live with his problem and overcome it.

As Stephen grew he became aware of the fact that he could not keep up with his brothers and friends whose youthful vitality demanded 100 percent coordination and effort from their legs.

When the youngster questioned his parents about this problem, he was informed, in an adult manner, that he had a crippled leg that would always be a handicap to him. The degree of handicap, however, depended entirely upon him. If Stephen had done what many adults before him have done, he would have shrugged his shoulders, and resigned himself to a fate of lifelong uselessness.

This was not the case. The strong-willed youngster strived harder than other children to show his parents and doctors that he was just as good as anyone—and in many instances better. When it was Stephen's turn to cut the grass he was right in there pushing the mower. When it was time to walk to the store or to school, he made the walk like other children.

New Challenge

Today Stephen is facing another challenge. He has been taken out of leg braces and put into a specially designed artificial leg which fits over his own leg. He must now learn how to walk, sit, stand, run, jump and hop on his new leg just as an infant must learn to crawl and walk.

Stephen, however, has met this challenge head on, and according to Captain James R. Dineen, USN, Medical Corps, Division Surgeon, 2d Marine CEREMONIES FOR CORPORAL CONOVER—Cpl. James H. Conover, (center) Service Company, Hq. Bn., 2d Marine Division was meritoriously promoted to his present rank February 20, by Maj. Gen. W. J. Van Ryzin, (left), Commanding General of the Division. Cpl. Conover, a staff car driver, has been driving for the Assistant Division Commander, Brig. Gen. R. McC. Tompkins, (right), for the past year. During this time "... he has continuously demonstrated the highest degree of enthusiasm, initiative, determination and sense of responsibility ..." according to a letter from the corporal's company commander recommending him for the promotion. The ceremonies took place in the office of the Commanding General.

WANTED

"Emotionally stable, reliable, physically fit Marines, 21 or older, Cpls. or above with military bearing, and a professional attitude..."

These are some of the qualifications for what has been called "... one of the highest achievements open to a non-commissioned officer in the Marine Corps," that of taking a young man, ignorant in the ways of the Corps, and molding him into a proud, confident Marine. The job of Drill Instructor.

If you feel you can meet the high standards required of a DI, check MCO 1306.7D, and then see your First Sergeant.

A Drill Instructor Screening Team from MCRD, Parris Island, will be here March 1-6 to interview recommended applicants.

F. T. Bridge Co. Increases Efficiency In Realistic Counter-Guerrilla Exercise

The men of Force Troops' Second Bridge Company carved their way through the boon-docks for a week when they participated in a very realistic counter-guerrilla exercise at the Mile Hammock Bay area.

Approximately 150 men took part in the exercise which was designed to improve the efficiency of the bridgemen in counter-guerrilla warfare while utilizing their bridge training for support of a division in the assault.

During the first two days the "bridgers" brushed up on anchor and suspension systems, floating foot bridges, watermanship with bridges erection boats, aluminum assault-foot-bridges and up to 60-ton-capacity floating bridges.

After constructing various types of bridges the men practiced camouflage, perimeter defense and building field fortifications.

Second Topographic Company and the Headquarters section of 2d Bridge Co., acted as aggressors, theoretically left behind after a Marine division had passed during the assault.

Bridge Company had constructed bridges for the division and now the bypassed enemy was using guerrilla tactics in an attempt to destroy the bridges.

PFC Marcelo Ninodeguzman, of the 1st Platoon and a native of Bolivia, South America, was very effective in his role as the mayor of a village located in the area. His persuasive manner and fluent Spanish added realism to the situation. However, he failed to lure the Bridge Company defenders out of their lines.

Ninodeguzman and the Villagers used every means available including soft Spanish music played into the Marine perimeter over loudspeakers and promises of good food and plenty of tequila.

Pvt. Julio L. Ortez, 2d Platoon, Bridge Co., was authentic in his role as the lieutenant in charge of the guerrilla hold-outs. Ortez also speaks fluent Spanish and used different tactics in his broadcast attempts. After previous appeals had failed, Ortez and his guerrillas threatened the Marines with starvation and promised them he and his band would wipe them out to the last man.

Orders were then issued from Division Headquarters for Bridge Company to eliminate the guerrillas and restore civil law in the area.

Night reconnaissance patrols were sent out in an attempt to locate the guerrilla command post and reopen lines of communications.

The guerrillas, formerly an organized army unit, were still in possession of weapons not normally found with such units. Consequently, the Marines from Bridge Co., were on the receiving end of a night gas attack while on a patrol. The Bridgemen proved that their previous training in gas warfare paid-off by quickly donning gas masks and routing the attacking guerrillas.

The guerrilla command post was located on a hammock of dry land in the middle of a swamp. A combat patrol then systematically destroyed the guerrilla stronghold and the captured survivors were interrogated and sent to the rear to a prisoner-of-war camp.

Maj. W. E. Snyder, commanding officer of 2d Bridge Co., said the exercise was very successful and contributed greatly to increase morale and motivation of the personnel in the company.

Fidel Castro has confirmed Western suspicions by announcing that Cuba is firmly in the camp of the Communists and is using his island as a base of operations for spreading the proletarian revolution among those lands where poverty and illiteracy mark the people.

While there is perhaps no nation in the Western Hemisphere which has no Communist Party (either openly or covertly), the political passions of Central and South America make them especially fertile ground for espionage, sabotage and subversion.

Whether the Communists succeed or not is yet to be determined; it will take a monumental effort by all Americans—north and south of the equator—to slay the beast.

History Of Communism

A Party Begins To End In The Late, Late Hours

(Sixteen of a series of 20 articles entitled The History of Communism, by M. S. E. Walter M. Stewart, USMC. Reprinted by AFPS from the San Diego Chevron, Marine Corps Recruiting Depot, San Diego, Calif.)

After WWII, the Communist Party, USA, resumed its old intransigence...and lost membership. As Soviet Russia swallowed the nations of Eastern Europe and launched the Cold War members and sympathizers fell out of love or sympathy with the Bolshevik ideals. And the attack on South Korea was the clincher.

Today, the American branch of the Communist Party (emphasis is made here of the fact that not even a national headquarters makes policy decisions; such are reserved only for the Kremlin) is headquartered in New York City, where about one-third of the members reside.

Gus Hall, as general secretary, is boss, having succeeded Earl Browder and the late William Z. Foster at the party helm.

Cherry Point Squadron Eyes And Ears Of FMF

Combine 12 crusaders, 7 Skyknights, 21 professional aviators, 15 Electronic Countermeasures Operators and you have instant collection—a force in readiness—Marine Composite Reconnaissance Squadron-2 (VMCJ-2), the "eyes and ears" of the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing maintains a constant state of operational readiness to provide unlimited and invaluable reconnaissance data in support of the Fleet Marine Force.

Whether operating its aircraft from home base in support of a training exercise, or in support of the "real thing" from an expeditionary field, VMCJ-2 is always poised in the Launch position, ready to provide permanent, unbiased, and accurate reconnaissance data.

The wheels of progress, professionalism and dedication at VMCJ-2 are set in motion when the briefing officer receives a photo request mission. The first order of business is to plan the mission and compile the necessary maps and other printed data that accompany the pilot on a photo mission. After planning is completed, the photo installations section is notified as to the required configuration of the aircraft to fly the mission.

When a pilot is scheduled to fly a mission, he is briefed in detail. This briefing includes such things as location of the target; expected weather; desired results; and many other technical computations necessary in order to successfully complete the mission.

On arrival at his aircraft the pilot not only goes through the normal mechanical pre-flight of the aircraft, but he must also complete a check list to insure that the complicated camera systems are properly programmed. Seldom does the pilot encounter difficulties with these check lists, however, for the alert and proficient men working in the maintenance and technical sections of VMCJ-2 are dedicated professionals who know their job and do it well.

Precisely handling of the RF-8A Crusader aircraft is a must and the pilot finds himself conforming to such standards as a maximum of three degrees of wing rock and fifty feet of altitude variation in order to "bring home the bacon".

Returning to the line after his flight, the pilot finds an installations man waiting to process the information received and obtain the weather and altitude at the target area.

VMCJ-2, being a composite reconnaissance Squadron, has another side to its personality...namely electronic reconnaissance.

With both the RF-8A

Crusaders and EF-10B Skyknights combined in a swift striking team, the 2d Wing has a most formidable squadron,

VMCJ-2, for fulfilling its Reconnaissance mission in this fast moving age.

MAYBE WE'LL BE THERE NEXT—Lt. Col. Mark A. Rainer, left, points out to Maj. William C. Wilson a few of the places where the two Marines have served together.

Okinawa Based Marines Follow Close Careers

"Friendship needs a certain parallelism of life, a community of thought, a rivalry of aim..."

These words written in 1906 by Henry Brooks Adams, noted American historian, could very well have been written in 1964 by Lt. Col. Mark A. Rainer and Maj. William C. Wilson.

Lt. Col. Rainer, Commanding Officer, and Maj. Wilson, S-3 Officer, 2nd Battalion, 12th Marines, Camp Sukran, have all the "friendly" ingredients deemed necessary by Mr. Adams, with a few extra tossed in for good measure.

The home towns of the two career Marines are but 60 miles apart in the state of Alabama; Rainer from Bellamy, and Wilson from Birmingham.

However, even with the nearness of their homes, they had never met, and it wasn't until 1953 that they began to realize the parallelism of their lives.

Rainer, after attending Auburn University, Auburn, Ala., for three years, enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1943. He was selected for the V-12 officers training program at Duke University, and upon completion in 1944, was commissioned a second lieutenant.

Wilson, entered Auburn University in 1948, and upon graduation in 1952, entered the Marine Corps and was commissioned a few months later.

Second Lieutenant Wilson reported for duty with the 12th Marines, Camp Pendleton, Calif., and upon his arrival was assigned as liaison officer for "B" Battery, 1st Battalion.

"I was Commanding Officer of 'B' Battery at the time, but it wasn't until we were halfway to Japan aboard a troop transport ship in 1953 that we discovered we both had attended Auburn University," related Lt. Col. Rainer.

While studying at Auburn, both men won honors though in widely separated fields.

Rainer, starred on the football team and was a member of the "A" club, while being affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Wilson, on the other hand, was student body president, in addition to being named one of the ten most outstanding men on campus. He was selected for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". Fraternity-wise, the major was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Their assignment to "B" Battery was their first tour of duty together, but there would be more such tours.

Capt. Rainer and Lt. Wilson had served at Camp McNair, Japan for eight months when Rainer received orders to the 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines in Korea.

One month later, identical orders arrived for Wilson, and he became Capt. Rainer's executive officer at "H" Battery.

"We served together until July 1954, when we received orders for separate duty stations," commented Maj. Wilson.

This was the first time that they had been separated since Wilson's commissioning, but as it turned out, it was for only a short time. They were back together again at Camp Pendleton, Calif., in 1958.

Meanwhile, both men, advanced a step up the promotion ladder. It was now Maj. Rainer and Capt. Wilson, and as fate would have it, their advancements came in the same year, 1955.

Reporting to Pendleton from Quantico, where he attended Junior School, Maj. Rainer assumed command of the 1st Battalion, 11th Marines. Wilson was named his S-3 Officer (training and operations).

Two years at Pendleton and it was time for a change of duty station.

They parted ways again in 1960, for what was to become another brief parting.

Promotions Follow

During this separation, Rainer was promoted to Lt. Col. In 1962, Captain Wilson became Maj. Wilson only a few months later, in 1963.

"In July 1963, I was ordered to Okinawa and duty with the 3rd Marine Division," says Col. Rainer.

Major Wilson knew it wouldn't be long before he would be ordered to Okinawa.

He wasn't wrong. One month later, in August, he reported to the 12th Marines to become Col. Rainer's S-3 Officer.

While the two artillerymen are serving together on Okinawa, their wives are continuing a friendship that has existed over the years. They reside one block apart in Vista, Calif.

Citizenship Study Begins March 10

Citizenship Classes will begin March 10 for alien military personnel and alien dependents in Room 2 of the annex to Brewster Elementary School.

The classes have been designed to assist aliens in preparing for their naturalization examination and will be divided into two sections.

One section will instruct in the knowledge needed to pass the naturalization examination; History of the United States; United States Constitution; the Federal Government; etc. The second section will offer special reading instruction for students with little or no ability to read English.

The first meeting will be March 10 from 7-9 p.m., and it is important that all aliens interested in attending the Citizenship Classes attend. Literacy tests will be given at this time to determine class section assignments.

Thereafter classes will meet each Tuesday evening from 7-9 p.m. until June 2. Textbooks will be loaned to the students but they will have to supply their own paper and pencils.

HMM-265 CO

Lt. Col. Eldon C. Stanton

Last week Lt. Col. L. C. Ritter, long time commanding officer of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-265, MCAF turned over the reins of the squadron to Lt. Col. Eldon C. Stanton.

Lt. Col. Ritter, who has been at the helm of HMM-265 since its commissioning fifteen months ago, will be reporting to the west coast for further transfer overseas. While at 265, the squadron became affectionately known as "Ritter's Critters".

Lt. Col. Stanton, who has been executive officer of HMM-265 for five months, is the holder of the Presidential Unit Citation with one star, the Air Medal with nine stars and the Navy Commendation Ribbon. A graduate of the University of Maryland, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps on March 15, 1944. Col. Stanton saw action while serving with VMF-224 in the Okinawa operations, and later with the Japanese occupation.

On hand to witness the change of command ceremony was Brig. Gen. Paul J. Fontana, Commanding General, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, MCAS Cherry Point, N.C., Col. Ernest C. Fusan, commanding officer of MCAF New River, and Col. Kenneth L. Reusser, MAG-26 commander. Music for the ceremonies was furnished by the 2nd MAW band.

Marine Takes 2nd Place In 'Freedoms' Contest

A five-stanza poem entitled "What Can I Do For Freedom" won second place honors in the 1963 Freedoms Foundation Letter Awards competition for its author Maj. Paul E. Wilson, USMC.

In all, eleven Marines were named to receive awards in the annual Freedoms contest. This was the major's fourth winning entry.

Along with the other top-ten winners Maj. Wilson toured Valley Forge Feb. 21 and was a guest of honor at the awards ceremony Feb. 22.

Maj. Wilson received $100 and a George Washington Honor Medal as will six other Marine Winners. Two Marines will receive $50 and George Washington Honor Medals, while two other Marines will receive Honor Medals.

Along with Maj. Wilson, the other Marine winners are: Sgt. Tom Bartlett, 1st Marine Corps District, Garden City, N.Y.; Pvt. Frank Carlin, 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.; SSgt. Noel A. John, 3rd Marine Division, Okinawa; Gy. Sgt. William F. Kobera, III, 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point, N.C.; Capt. Jack C. Thompson, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., and Lt. Col. Don P. Wyckoff, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. ($100 and medal)

Cpl. T. W. Berndt, 3rd Marine Division, Okinawa and LCpl. Robert A. Clark, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C. ($50 and medal)

LCpls. John J. Mahan, Jr. and Gerald W. Potkay, both 3rd Marine Division, Okinawa. (Honor Medal winners)

Son Of Lejeune Marine—

Division, "Stephen will progress almost as normally as any youngster, for he has a young boy's spunk."

Captain Dineen first met Stephen in early 1953, when the boy was taken to the U. S. Naval Hospital, Chelsea, Mass., where Dr. Dineen was a member of the orthopedic staff.

Captain Dineen examined young Stephen and prescribed that he be registered in the world famous Children's Medical Center, Boston, Mass., so that a definite growth study and follow-up treatment program could be established for him regardless of the location of his parents. There he was placed under the care of Doctor William T. Green, Professor of Orthopedics.

In 1954, a special built up shoe was prescribed for Stephen and this enabled the boy to start walking at one year of age.

As can be expected of a military family, SSgt. Ward received orders to report to Camp Lejeune, N. C., in 1955. At that time the Wards outlook for Stephen's future seemed bleak for they would have to start treatment with a new doctor, but, fate works in strange ways, and Dr. Dineen also received orders to Camp Lejeune.

By 1960, the young lad was proving himself quite the scrapper. He was walking very well on his still and riding bicycles and climbing trees—just like other boys, but, in the midst of progress the dark cloud of doubt re-appeared, Doctor and patient were again parting company, for Dr. Dineen was transferred to the U. S. Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif., as Chief of Orthopedics and SSgt. Ward was transferred to Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Back To Lejeune

In 1962, the Ward family returned to Camp Lejeune, where it was determined that the deformity in Stephen's leg had progressed to the point that surgery would be required to correct it.

Although the surgery was successful, it could not fully correct the malady.

Last summer, Capt. Dineen returned to Camp Lejeune, and again doctor and patient became united, and again they set out to fight Stephen's handicap.

While stationed at the Oak Knoll Navy Hospital, Dr. Dineen was in charge of the Navy Prosthetic Research Laboratory, which earned a reputation in World War II and Korea as one of two Navy hospitals excelling in making artificial limbs.

Oak Knoll Hospital was so adept in limb construction that research money was provided for dependent children to have unusual prosthetic problems made available to them.

Using this experience, Dr. Dineen decided last summer to try a prosthetic leg on Stephen without amputating the boy's foot.

Dr. Dineen presented his idea to Dr. Green and his associates in Boston, and they agreed to try to construct an artificial leg which could be fitted over the entire leg and foot.

Study, Patience Pays Off

After much study, trial and error and patience, Stephen Ward today wears shoes on both feet. The required artificial limb was constructed by Mr. Frank Floyd, orthotist and prosthodontist, from Wilmington, N. C., and was paid for by the Easter Seal Fund.

When the boy dresses in long trousers the deformity of his short leg is not seen, but the battle continues for he needs many hours of orthopedic supervision over an extended period of time.

Learning to walk on his artificial leg requires the special talents of a physiotherapist who can guide Stephen through his more trying hours and carry out the doctor's prescriptions of gait training in this prosthesis. Mrs. Trudy Aman, physiotherapist on the Onslow County Hospital staff, will guide Stephen through this training.

Once young Stephen has graduated in his gait training to the point that he can pass required achievement tests, he must be checked frequently by Dr. Dineen and Mrs. Aman, to correct any poor habits that he may develop. These could prove harmful unless caught and corrected early.

As a Marine Corps dependent Stephen has been the recipient of the professional medical assistance available through naval medical facilities. Despite this fact, however, the expense to his family has been enormous, so great in fact as to make prohibitive the cost of his newly-acquired artificial limb and the therapy involved in its initial use. It was at this point that the Easter Seal Fund, which specializes in research and treatment of crippling diseases, stepped in, to furnish free that which was needed to transform Stephen into the picture of health he now appears to be.

Ollier's disease cannot be prevented or cured, but the deformity it creates in the body skeleton can be treated and kept at a minimum only through skilled teamwork such as the Easter Seal Fund has provided in Stephen's case.

Mobile Museum Held Over Two Days

The North Carolina Mobile Museum of Natural History will be held over for an extra two days for the benefit of Marines at Lejeune. The mobile display unit was originally scheduled to appear at Brewster School only, from Feb. 24-28. A change in schedule allows the unit to be seen at the Main PX parking lot on Friday, Feb. 28 from 5-7 p. m., and on Saturday, Feb. 29 from 9 a. m., to 5 p. m.

The colorful and educational exhibits depict the early stages of the growth and development of North Carolina and graphically illustrate some of the most significant events in this state's colonial history.

Armed Forces Uphold Brotherhood Goals

The United States observed the 31st annual celebration of National Brotherhood Week, Feb. 16 through Feb. 23.

This year's observance was dedicated to the principle of "To bigotry no sanction; to persecution no assistance," as expressed by our first President, George Washington.

One of the goals of Brotherhood Week is to extend this principle to all men at all times.

Bigotry doesn't fare well in the Armed Forces. Our infantry patrols, air crews and ships' companies are all chosen for their ability to work together in close harmony, not for any basis of race, creed or color. Our position as the foremost fighting force in the world proves that this selection is sound.

In the battle against persecution, the Armed Forces have always been in the vanguard. Since our first fight, in the Revolutionary War, we have either been fighting for freedom or defending it. In today's cold war conflicts we stand side by side with servicemen of many nations, preserving freedom on many fronts.

While we can be justifiably proud of our record in the field to sit back and wait for the praise of brotherhood, we can't afford to roll in.

The quest for brotherhood is constant. We must maintain our vigilance against bigotry and persecution and continue to serve as an example of Brotherhood in action.

Chaplain's Corner

For the man on guard duty, a bright moon and a sky full of stars on the late watch often speak of calm and tranquility. In our time, when our daily routine is seldom calm or tranquil, it is not too difficult to start wishing that life was always like that late watch. But for many of us, there are many times when peace and quiet seem hard to come by. And to make matters worse, we are not certain of what may lie ahead; and we become frightened with the possibility that whatever it is, it will be something worse than the present.

It is natural that we should want a sense of security. Our world seems very much in a mood to pay almost any price for it. But there is no permanent running away from uncertainty, and we cannot really hope to live a useful life without occasionally running up against the difficult.

The armed forces does not commission a unit just so that it will be around on special days for military reviews; that unit was also built for the conflicts which might prove necessary in preserving peace.

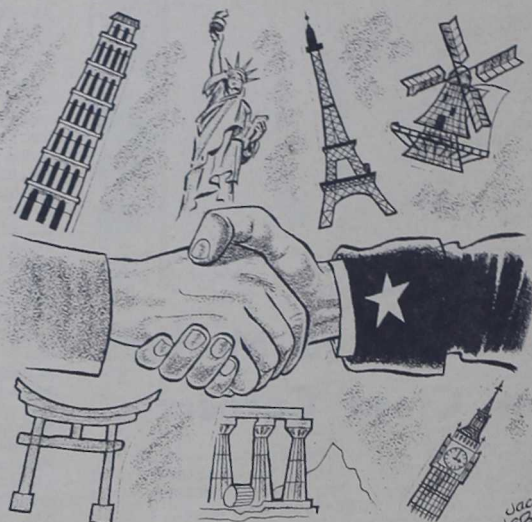

Although there is no guarantee of safety and security, there can be a certainty of strength and courage to live in a disturbed uncertain world. In a real sense, it depends largely upon a person's individual perspective in life — about himself, his fellow men and women, and his God.

For one thing, a proper perspective ought to keep us from needlessly worrying about little things. It didn't seem to matter to our Lord that the rain fell on the "righteous" and the "unrighteous" alike because in the long run, unrighteousness cannot be considered a failure just because certain forces on the international scene breed the gospel of hate; hate, itself, one day will die.

The tranquility of God is much more than this. It is an act of faith. There is no suggestion here of mere idleness or even a Pollyanna-type assurance that things just might be worse. Rather, it means enough calmness to face facts squarely and steadily, and having done this, to live an uncomplaining life, of which God is still very much the Master.

BROTHERHOOD...

THROUGHOUT THE WORLD!

If You Ask Me:

What recreational activity would you like to see added at Camp Lejeune?

SGT. DON L. WILLIS — "I've talked with several people aboard the base about a Riding Stable and most of them seem to agree that it would be an excellent idea."

LCPL. ALLEN B. GILL — "I enjoy photography very much and I also enjoy developing and printing what I shoot. If a photo hobby shop was established here I am sure many would put it to practical use."

PFC SYLVIA S. SEBASTIAN — "There are few recreational activities here during the winter months. A roller rink would be an activity that could be enjoyed during winter months and the year round. I feel it would be a good thing to have on base."

PFC SUSAN M. SMITH — "A recreational activity that might prove interesting would be competition between the Woman Marine Company and various male Marine Companies in sports such as tennis, bowling, softball, etc."

Movie Reviews

MARY, MARY

A couple, Debbie Reynolds as Mary and Barry Nelson as Bob, awaiting their divorce in two weeks, have reconciled after being thrown together in an apartment in which they had once lived and the husband occupied alone after their separation. Popping in and out are three other characters, a wealthy and attractive blond the husband has become engaged to, a Hollywood matinee idol who tries to seduce the heroine and a lawyer friend of the married couple who is instrumental in bringing them together.

TWILIGHT OF HONOR

Richard Chamberlain has his first starring film role in a sensational courtroom drama, as an inexperienced trial attorney, assigned to the seemingly impossible defense of a hitchhiker who has killed the leading citizen of a New Mexico town. The dead man, a wealthy rancher, is revered locally as a beloved benefactor while the confessed killer is an ignorant, emotionally unstable drifter blindly loyal to his promiscuous teenage wife. But the young lawyer is determined that the miserable prisoner shall have his day in court as well as full a measure of justice as possible in the face of a screaming press, hostile jurors culled from outraged citizens, a biased judge, a prosecutor who hopes to further his political ambitions and the false testimony of the defendant's wife.

THE LEOPARD

Like the novel on which it is based, the Leopard tells a leisurely, lengthy story of Sicily in the 19th century after the Garibaldi-led revolution and the expanding middle class have made the decline of the Italian aristocracy inevitable. A Sicilian prince, Burt Lancaster, outwardly accepting the adjustment that is needed to live in his altered world, arranges a marriage between his handsome, dashing but penniless nephew and the daughter of the town's bourgeois mayor. There is little action as such, but the true magnificent re-creation of a period and its people, the life of a Sicilian aristocrat of a century ago creates a mood that is emotionally and aesthetically absorbing.

Bridge Championship

The Commissioned Officer's Duplicate Bridge Championship will be played March 1, 1964 at the Paradise Point Officers Club. It will start at 1 and last until 5 p.m. and from 7 until 11:30 p.m., admission $2. per person. The defending champions are Mrs. E. S. Rust and Mrs. Nancy Lee Deemer. SNOW MARINES—If this were at night, these Marines, wearing a white camouflage covering over their cold weather uniforms, would be almost invisible.

Camouflage in snow is among many of the subjects that were taught to Marines who participated in operation SNOWFEX 1-64.

The possibility of 2d Division Marines using the Army's Camp Drum, at Watertown, N. Y., as an annual cold weather training site has evolved from the highly successful Operation SNOWFEX 1-64 held there in January.

During the long, cold cold upstate New York winter, Camp Drum can usually be found beneath several feet of snow. Its bleak, biting-cold atmosphere provided the perfect setting for the 10-day cold weather training exercise for 300 Marines from the 2d Division.

Units from the 6th and 10th Marines, and other supporting personnel from the 2d Marine Division participated in another Marine Corps "first" during SNOWFEX. They were the initial non-U. S. Army units to use the area for training in the camp's 53-year history.

Maj. Gen. W. J. Van Ryzin, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, revealed the possibility that Marines would use Camp Drum for training in the future after witnessing SNOWFEX.

Gen. Van Ryzin, in a speech to the Greater Watertown, N. Y. Chamber of Commerce, January 24, stated that an agreement for use of Camp Drum had been signed. He anticipated being able to train nearly 2,000 Marines at Drum each winter.

The invitation for use of the area had been extend-

A FEW LAUGHS; MORE SPILLS—This was the scene at Camp Drum, N. Y., when some of the advance party of Marines, there for SNOWFEX 1-64, took time out for some recreational skiing. There were lots of laughs and spills when the Marines began their afternoon of skiing.

SERVICES IN THE FIELD—Lt. R. J. from Battery "D", 2d Bn., 10th took time out from their 48-hr firing exercise to attend Church ed for several years by the U. S. Army, but this marks the first year the Marines have taken advantage of the offer.

Previously cold weather training for 2d Division Marines has been conducted in the North Carolina mountains and distant Labrador, however, suitable conditions for training in those areas was not available.

SNOWFEX 1-64, commanded by Maj. T. W. Ford, executive officer, 3d Bn., 6th Marines, marked the first time that a U. S. Army unit had trained at Camp Drum. It is believed to have been the first time that a unit has held a training exercise of this type in the eastern United States. An advance party of about 50 SNOWFEX Marines arrived at Drum on January 13 to get the hall and barracks ready for the main body of Marines. The main body of Marines arrived January 14, and the training exercise began. The main body of Marines arrived January 14, and the training exercise began. ## H&S Bn. I-M Bowling Title Won By Service Company

The three day H&S Battalion, Marine Corps Base Intramural Bowling Tournament concluded Feb. 20th with Service Company coming out on top.

Service Company swept the tournament with a 20-4 record. Following close behind and only one game out of first place was Headquarters Company with a 19-5 record. Military Police and Guard Company came in third with a 7-17 record. Motor Transport Company ran last, having to forfeit 8 games, four games to Service Company and four games to Headquarters due to work commitments, with a record of 2-22.

The games played on Feb. 17th ran like this.

Service Company started the tournament off at a rapid pace by taking three games from Headquarters Company and losing one game to them in the four game series. For Service Company Captain R. B. Quigley had a high total pin series of 577, with SSgt. G. P. Clopton from Headquarters Company running a high series of 574.

Headquarters Company came back strong taking all four games from Motor Transport Company. High series total pin fall for Headquarters Company again went to SSgt. G. P. Clopton with a 558. Motor Transport Company's SSgt. I. W. Liverman was high with a total pin fall of 558.

Military Police and Guard Company won three and dropped one game to Motor Transport Company in the next round. LCpl. G. Silvis from the MP's was high with a series of 548. SSgt. I. W. Liverman from Motor Transport Company had a high series of 541.

Service Company took four games from Military Police and Guard Company and the high total pin fall series again went to Capt. R. B. Quigley with 610. High series for the MP's went to SSgt. R. Duncan with a 536 series.

On the third and final day of the tournament, Feb. 20th, it was a neck and neck race between Headquarters Company and Service Company. To start the race off Motor Transport Company forfeited eight games, four to Headquarters Company and four to Service Company which they were to bowl against that day, because of a shortage of players, due to prior work commitments.

Service Company then took four games from Military Police and Guard Company with SSgt. R. A. Parkhurst bowling high total pin series for Service Company with a 571. LCpl. G. Silvis was high for Military Police & Guard Company with a series of 532.

In the final games of the tournament Headquarters Company took four from Military Police and Guard Company. Sgt. D. L. Jolley rolling for Headquarters Company was high man with a 550 series. For Military Police and Guard Company SSgt. R. Duncan was high with a 510 series.

According to the Tournament, Director, SSgt. George S. Galinous, NCOIC, H&S Bn., Special Services, two, seven man teams will be selected from the winners and runner-ups of this tournament to enter the Marine Corps Base Bowling Championships, representing Headquarters and Service Battalion.

THE BEST TWO OUT OF THREE—Cora Combs, woman wrestler will compete against Penny Banner, the number three women's professional wrestler in the United States tonight at the Field House. Starting time is 8 p.m. Tickets $7.50 on sale at the Field House.

Bolling AFB Hosts Local Boxing Team

The Camp Lejeune fighters will face a rugged test tonight when they face the airmen from Bolling Air Force Base.

Last year the Bolling fighters came in second in the interservice bouts, with only Ft. Campbell claiming more championships.

In a recent attack on the airmen, the Camp Lejeune boxing team battled their way to four wins in seven matches against the champion laden Bolling.

In this encounter the Marines

John C. Davis

Mighty "Mouse" Mercedes, Lejeune's 112 pound ring representative, took his third win in three fights when he beat Howard Smith on a decision. Since that fight Mercedes traveled to the Carolinas AAU at High Point, N. C. and came back winning the first championship for the Marines in the 112 lb. division with his win over Terry Simms of Charlotte, N. C.

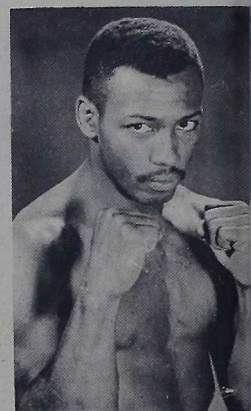

John Davis made it three in a row for the Marines when he faced Jody Harris in the last encounter with the Bolling Air Force fighters. Davis won the 147 lb. championship at High Point, N. C. since that fight by downing Ken Gibson in 46 seconds when Davis unleashed a straight right hand shot to dec

Art Redden of Camp Lejeune fighting at 178 pounds beat O. McCorkle of Bolling Air Force Base the last time the Marines encountered the airmen. Redden with a strong left arm came out strong and pressed the fight to the Air Force AAU Champ with explosive left hand punches and took the

Force Troops Rifle And Pistol Results

Members of the Force Troops Rifle and Pistol Team took honors in a .22 caliber, aggregate, pistol match MCAS, Cherry Point on Feb. 22.

Shooters for Force Troops were Gysgt. Loren O. Pfau of Second CIT, and Sgt. Arthur E. Becker, of 2d Bridge Company in the Masters Class and Austin E. Wellborn, of Headquarters Company and James W. Spratt, of 2d Anglin in the Sharpshooter Class.

The match was sponsored by the Cherry Point Rifle and Pistol Club. In addition to the Force Troops shooters, competition was furnished by the Second Marine Aircraft Wing, Second Marine Division, Camp Lejeune and shooters from other military bases in the area.

In the Masters Class, Pfau was match winner with an aggregate score of 869X900 which included a winning score of 183X200 in slow fire and a winning rapid fire score of 199X200. Becker was Second Master in timed fire with 198X200.

Among the sharpshooters, Wellborn was match winner with an aggregate score of 808X900 and Spratt was 1st Sharpshooter over the National Match Course with 282X300.

NOTICE

The New River Officers Association will hold a business meeting Friday, March 6, at 11:45 a.m. in the Goettge Memorial Field House. All members are urged to attend.

19th Hole

By BOB SPENCER

Golf Etiquette

No one should move, talk or stand close to or directly behind the ball or the hole when a player is addressing the ball or making a stroke.

No player should play until the players in front are out of range.

In the interest of all, you should play without delay.

Players searching for a ball should allow players coming up to pass them.

Before leaving a bunker, a player should carefully fill up all holes made by him.

When the play of a hole has been completed, players should immediately leave the putting green.

Tip of the Week

The tip this week concerns the Fade Shot.

A fade shot is best defined as a moderate and well-controlled slice. Both shots have a flight pattern from left to right.

With the fade, the object is either to position wood shots accurately or to hit iron shots to difficult greens.

To hit the fade shot, bring the clubhead into the ball along a slightly out-side-in-line. This is not of course the pronounced cut-across action that produces the slice, but a modification of it. On the backswing, start the clubhead away from the ball a little bit outside the line. Instead of directly away from the ball as you would for a straight shot.

This makes it easy to produce the modified outside-in action on the downswing. There is no need to make adjustments in the grip or stance unless you happen to be a big hooker.

On March 1st, the Commissioned Officers Golf Association will have a match with the Cape Fear C.C. at Cape Fear, Wilmington, N. C.

Bynum Finance Here Sat. Varsity Basketball Ends

The local quintet will play their last home game of the season here, Saturday, Feb. 29th in the Goette Memorial Field House at 8 p.m.

This will be an exhibition game against Bynum Finance and will not count against their ECIC record.

They will wind up the 1964 basketball season March 3rd when they face Fort Bragg at Fort Bragg, N. C.

This will be the last season of varsity basketball play at Lejeune. Basketball has been dropped from the Special Services budget because the poor attendance at the games did not justify the expense.

In last Wednesday's net action the Lejeune quintet coasted to an easy 84-74 win over the Ft. Lee Travellers, despite the 36 point effort of the Traveller's Herb Lee.

Bob Abney opened up the scoring for Lejeune when he connected with a free throw to put the locals ahead 1-0, and after that Lejeune never fell behind.

At the end of the first half Lejeune led 48-25 and the lead stayed around 23 points until the last ten minutes of play, when the Travellers began whittling away to cut it to 10 points before the game ended.

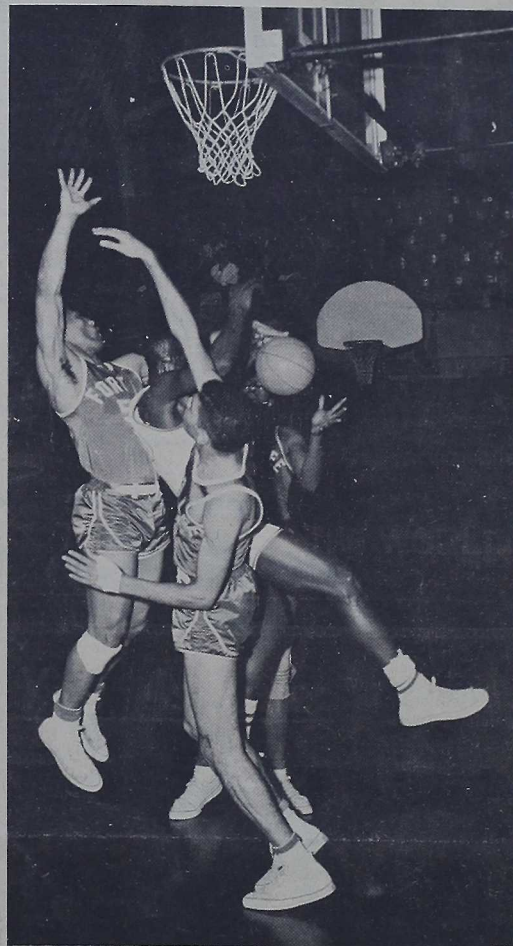

Coach Joe Walsh had his second team in the game through most of the second half.

MT, Still Undeclared In Div. Basketball Tourney

Tournament scoring leader, forward John Glover leads unbeaten Motor Transport Battalion into the 2d Marine Division Basketball finals Thursday at 7 p.m., in the area No. 2 gym.

Glover has garnered 64 points in the three MT tourney wins for a 21.3 average. Teammate Marv Franklin has provided consistent support with a 15 point average.

While Glover was tallying his tournament high of 25 points as MT eked out a 59-58 overtime decision over 2/10 in their opener, Franklin provided the scoring punch when needed by scoring all seven of the team's points in the extra stanza.

The Motors' playmaker, guard Gerald King, pumped in 17 points in the opener before sustaining an ankle injury that kept him out of the second game. He returned for a few minutes play in a 67-57 win over 1/6 and scored 10 quick points.

Coach J. R. Kelbaugh has pronounced King "ready to go" for Thursday's title tussle and his return could provide the floor leadership and scoring balance to enable MT to sweep the tourney undefeated.

Facing MT in the finals will be the winner of the losers' bracket competition between 1/6 and 1/2. The 1/6 team was unbeaten this year before facing MT last week.

The 1/2 five advanced to the lower bracket finals on Tuesday (results not available at press time) with a pair of identical 76-62 wins over 2/6 and a 50-48 decision over pre-tourney co-favorite AT. Their lone loss came at the hands of 1/6, 54-50.

Abbreviated tournament play last week saw MT handing 1/6 their first loss in the 67-57 encounter and 1/2 eliminating 2/6, 76-62.

Balanced scoring sparked the Motors' win with Glover and Ronnie Wilcoxon scoring 15 and 11 points respectively in the first half for a 31-21 intermission lead. The last half was a 36-36 standoff with Franklin and King each contributing 10 points to the winner's cause. Glover led the winners with 22, followed by Wilcoxon, Franklin and King with 15, 14 and 10 respectively as the four tallied all but six MT points.

Cornelius Williams took game scoring honors with 23 points as he attempted to keep 1/6 unbeaten by dumping in 17 points in the first half.

John Prichard, Fred Barton and Walter Johnson chalked up 56 points in the 1/2 win as they moved to a one-sided 41-28 halftime margin.

Prichard and Barton scored 21 and 20 respectively, and Johnson added 15. Edmon Corkett paced the losing 2/6 squad with 21.

FT I-M Cage Action Ends

The battle is on for second place in Force Troops' Intramural Basketball League, now that the Field Artillery Group has sewn up first place. The 8th Engineers and 2nd Anglico are going at it with full steam and, in one game, head to head.

Anglico picked up two wins in the past week, socking the 2nd Tank Bn., 80-69, with Jim Durda sinking 43 points for the winners and Saunders dropping 24 for the Tankers, and in the other win over 2nd Radio Co., Durda popped-in 23 to give Anglico a 79-66 margin. Ousler was high man for the Radio Company with 22 points.

In other hardwood action during the week, Headquarters Company edged by Motor Transport, 63-60 with Gene Williams notching 21 for the winners and Schratz sinking 17 for Motor Transport.

Second Topographic Company mauled Bridge Company, 82-45, with two men tied for honors, Ronald Gnech (six) and Bob Davis, 20 points each for the winners and Halton and Thompson were tied with 15 each in the losing cause.

WELL DONE—Lt. Col. James A. Gallo, Jr., (left), Commanding Officer, 1st Bn., 2d Marines, congratulates Cpl. Bobby R. Schumacher and PFC Charles B. Phillips, (right), following presentation of letters of Meritorious Mast. Both recipients, members of Battery "G", 3d Bn., 10th Marines, were awarded the mast for outstanding efforts while attached to TRALEX 2-63 in the Caribbean. According to the masts, PFC Phillips performed his duties as a mess cook in an outstanding manner, and Cpl. Schumacher was instrumental in enabling Battery "G" to complete a deployment without a vehicle being declined despite working under expeditionary conditions.

OUTSTANDING—Cpl. William R. Eller, right, of HqCo., FT, was awarded a Meritorious Mast by Capt. R. J. Appezato, left, Commanding Officer, on February 12. The Meritorious Mast presented for "outstanding performance of duty and exemplary conduct while serving as an instructor with the Force Troops Clerical School," read in part: "His exceptional initiative and teaching ability has received outstanding comments from both senior and junior students. He has devoted long hours to research of additional information to assure greater knowledge of his assigned subjects."

St. John's Gallery Group V, OWC Presents Fashion Bouquet Mar. 19

An exhibit of paintings and sculpture by 24 artist-members of the Carolina Art Association is now being shown at St. John's Gallery in Wilmington and will be on view through February 29.

Under the auspices of the Gibbes Art Gallery, Charleston, S. C., the exhibit consists of 18 paintings and 9 pieces of sculpture.

The Carolina Art Association was organized in 1858. In 1905 it occupied its present home, the Gibbes Art Gallery through a bequest by James Gibbes. The Gibbes Art Gallery is maintained by the City of Charleston and the Carolina Art Association as co-trustees and is the center of art activities in Charleston.

Paintings and sculpture that exemplify the art of the region predominate its collections, though works by many notable American and European artists are represented, together with a collection of miniatures and a "key" collection of Japanese prints.

Floral Spectacular

Spring, always an early visitor to North Carolina's sunny Mid-South resorts and southeastern coast, will step right over the threshold for an indoor appearance in Charlotte, March 7-15.

The fourth annual South-eastern Flower and Garden Show at the huge Merchandise Mart in the state's largest city will feature 18 gardens designed by some of the foremost landscape architects in the U. S. A.

Azaleas, camellias, tupis, wildflowers, roses, dogwood, ornamentals and a host of other flowers which brighten the Variety Vacationland State between February and summertime will decorate the indoor gardens during the big show.

By show time, camellias will be blooming profusely in the gardens of Wilmington and other cities in Eastern North Carolina; and in the Sandhills resorts of Pinehurst and Southern Pines. Camellia shows are February 22-23 at Whiteville, February 29-March 1 in Wilmington, March 7-8 in Charlotte and Clinton, and March 21-22 in Elizabeth City.

The State's largest spring festival, the North Carolina Azalea Festival in Wilmington, is slated to be held April 2-5. Azaleas at such famous gardens as Greenfield, Orton, Airline and Pleasant Oaks begin blooming by late March and continue through April.

Spring begins its trek up the Blue Ridge Divide when April carpets the forest floors and meadows of the mountain vacationlands with small wildflowers and splashes the slopes with shadblow and silverbell. May and June bring the mountain flower parade to its showiest display when mountain laurel, flame azaleas and crimson rhododendron bloom at high altitudes.

Cub Pack 90

There will be a meeting of Cub Scout Pack 90 Thursday, February 27 at 7 p.m. at the Stone Street Elementary School. All parents are urged to attend.

Recon Marines In Training A

Two hundred members of the 2d Marine Division's Reconnaissance Battalion began two weeks of rigorous mountain training Monday in the Big Ivy section (near Asheville, N. C.) of the Pisgah forest.

Four companies of the 2d Recon Bn., will undergo the semi-annual training which will feature a four-day field exercise, March 2-5. The Recon Marines will return to Camp Lejeune the following day.

The Feb. 24-March 1 training will stress mountain climbing and rappelling, and the use of shoes and rope.

The advance party of the Recon Battalion arrived Wednesday, Feb. 24. The body of the 200 members of the Recon Bn. will arrive the following day. Lt. Col. B. H. the Commanding Officer of the Recon Bn.

FSA Not Payable All O'Seas Cases

If you elect to serve overseas without your dependents even for the shorter tour, are not eligible for family separation allowance (FSA).

This is the latest ruling from the Comptroller General of the United States. FSA and affects thousands of servicemen who voluntarily leave their families states while serving overseas.

Marines as a whole are affected by this ruling because the majority of them sent overseas are not given the choice of taking dependents. In many cases, Marines assigned to non-FMF units are authorized to be accompanied by their families.

Assignment to the FMF still what the Comptroller calls an "enforced separation" entitles the serviceman to $100 per month FSA.

In the case of a Marine assigned to a non-FMF unit where dependent travel is authorized and he does not take his family, even if he serves the short tour because of family separation, the comptroller classifies this as a voluntary separation and FSA is not payable.

State Tag Change Must Be Reported

It is required that any changes in new State license plates be reported to the Registration and Identification Section of the Base Provost Marshal's Office.

If you have not already reported the change you should call phone extension 7-5240. It is not necessary to go to the Provost Marshal's Office. You will also need to know your Base Tag number when you make the report.
