2d Marine Division Band Participates in New Orleans Mardi Gras Parade

The 73-member 2d Marine Division Band arrived in New Orleans on Feb. 9 for parade appearances during the Mardi Gras.

The band, led by WO Frank E. Barthold, will remain in New Orleans for four days and will participate in the Proteus and Comus parades.

This marks the first appearance of the Division Band in New Orleans and the first known participation of any Marine Band in the Mardi Gras.

Marine Bands have long had a history of public performances at civic and festive affairs and this is true of the 2d Marine Division Band. At the close of the 1958 football season they performed before huge crowds at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas and Miami's Orange Bowl.

On a Great Lakes area tour including appearances in Milwaukee and at the Chicago International Trade Fair, the band played before half a million spectators. On this tour the bands men lined Chicago streets to serenade the Queen of England on her visit there.

But all is not spit-and-polish for big city crowds. At Camp Lejeune, they maintain their Marine readiness along with holding 60 musical formations a month and long rehearsal sessions.

The 2d Division Band will be housed aboard the USS Lexington which will be moored at the Dumaine Street wharf.

Wanted From MCB

LCpl. or below for OJT in MOS 0161 (Postal). Must have one year remaining on current enlistment or be willing to extend. Call Postal Chief, Bldg. 1005, Ext. 7-5662.

Federal Service Joint Crusade And National Health Agencies Fund Campaign To Get Underway Saturday

This Saturday, February 15th, marks the opening of the 1964 fund raising campaign aboard Camp Lejeune for the Federal Service Joint Crusade and National Health Agencies.

The fund raising drive, led by overall chairman, Colonel H. E. L. Zastrow, will end March 31. Col. Zastrow will be assisted by Co-Chairmen Lt. Col. D. J. Wright, Marine Corps Base, ext. 7-5752; Maj. J. W. Hammond, 2d Marine Division, ext. 7-5623; Maj. G. F. Guay, Force Troops, ext. 7-5552; and Lt. Col. E. L. Parker, Marine Corps Air Facility, ext. 06-304.

There have been no monetary quotas or goals established for this campaign, however, 100 percent voluntary participation by all military and civilian personnel of the Quad-Command complex is desired.

It is hoped that the 1964 contributions to the worthy causes match or surpass those in 1963 when the Quad-Command donated $18,026.36 for an average of 78 cents per donor.

The Federal Services Joint Crusade consists of four agencies dedicated to international relationships and assistance. Their goal is to relieve sickness, poverty, hunger and oppression among the country's overseas neighbors.

These four agencies are the American-Korean Foundation, CARE, Project HOPE (People-to-People Health Foundation), and Radio Free Europe (Crusade for Freedom).

Of the 11 agencies which make up the National Health Agencies, seven are members of the local fund raising campaign. All are devoted to alleviation of pain and suffering, to conquer disease, disability and chronic illness, and to achieve better health.

The National Health Agencies are continuously striving to find the cures to the many diseases maiming and taking human lives but they must first have financial support to keep up their fight. This is where the donation of every Marine and civilian employee aboard Camp Lejeune does its work.

The seven local organizations are the American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

New Assignments Set For Eleven General Officers

New assignments for 11 Marine Corps general officers were announced by Headquarters Marine Corps.

New assignments are: Maj. Gen. William R. Collins, who is Deputy Chief of Staff, Commander in Chief of lantic, will become Commanding General, 3d Marine Division.

He will be replaced by Brig. Gen. Rathvon McC Tompkins, now Assistant Division Commander, 2d Marine Division. Col. John W. Antonelli (selected for brigadier general), now in the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will become Deputy J-3, Commander in Chief, Europe, replacing Brig. Gen. Odell M. Conoley who will retire.

Brig. Gen. George S. Bowman, Jr., Assistant Wing Commander, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, will move to the same position in the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing.

Brig. Gen. John P. Coursey, now Commander, Marine Corps Air Bases, East; and Commanding General, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., will replace Gen. Bowman.

Brig. Gen. Norman J. Anderson, who is now Assistant Wing Commander, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, will move to the position vacated by Gen. Coursey.

Col. William G. Thrash (selected for brigadier general) was ordered to Headquarters Marine Corps from Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic.

Brig. Gen. William K. Jones, Legislative Assistant to the Commandant of the Marine Corps, will become Commanding General, Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, and Marine Corps Base, Twentynine Palms, California, replacing Brig. Gen. Joseph L. Stewart, who will report to Headquarters Marine Corps.

Brig. Gen. Ronald R. Van Stockum, Director of the Marine Corps Reserve, will become Commanding General, Landing Force Training Unit, Pacific.

He will replace Brig. Gen. John G. Bouker, whose new assignment will be as Assistant Division Commander, 2d Marine Division.

The new assignments will be effected within the next few months.

IN COMMAND—Joining hands with the Boy Scouts of America in celebrating Boy Scout Week, Maj. Gen. A. L. Bowser, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, turns over his desk to Eagle Scout Mike Berry (seated), Troop 357, Jacksonville, as Base Commanding General for the day. Mike, who is senior scout of the three, will command the senior Marine post while his colleagues, John Turville, (left), Star Scout of Troop 590, Camp Lejeune, will be CG of the 2d Marine Division and Warren Bray, (right), Star Scout of Troop 90, Camp Lejeune takes over as Commander-for-the-Day of Force Troops. Mike Berry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Berry; John Turville is the son of Navy Capt. and Mrs. W. C. Turville and Warren Bray is the son of Capt. and Mrs. W. R. Bray. They held the generals' seats during the noon-hour of February 13, here at Camp Lejeune. (Photo by 55gt. Bob Owens.)

AFTER 20—GySgt. Myrtle Stinson, WM Co., H&S Bn., receives orders transferring her to the Fleet Marine Reserve, from Battalion Commander, Col. J. F. Mallard, while her company commander, Capt. Jane Wallis, looks on. GySgt. Stinson first WM to retire at Camp Lejeune, is presently at Camp Pendleton to spend two weeks with her husband who is due for transfer overseas with the 3d Marine Division. She will then return to her home in Jacksonville.

A PREVIEW OF WHAT'S TO COME—Marines of H&S Bn., Marine Corps Base, enjoying one of the many outdoor Smorgasbords prepared last summer by battalion cooks under the supervision of "The Smorgasbord King," Lt. Col. Peter P. Yezierski.

Marine Col. Is 'Smorgasbord King' In Eyes Of Admiring Leathernecks

By SSgt. Leon F. Witconis

If you were asked to name the single major factor affecting troop morale, what would it be? According to Lieutenant Colonel Peter P. Yezierski, Food Services Officer, it's FOOD!

Col. Yezierski, the first LDO in the food services field to hold the rank of lieutenant colonel, states that "the purpose of the food service program is to show troops what can be done with food as a morale factor...whether it's done indoors or outdoors."

One of the colonel's favorite methods of demonstrating his food-morale theory is his famous indoor-outdoor Smorgasbord feasts, first introduced to the Corps at Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor in 1949. Because he has instituted this practice at every duty station where he has served since, he has been dubbed "The Smorgasbord King" by many enlisted Marines.

For those not familiar with smorgasbord, it is a Swedish type of luncheon, served buffet style and consisting of many hors d'oeuvres, hot and cold meats, smoked and pickled fish, sausages, cheeses, salads, relishes, desserts—often 50 different dishes.

The "King" ushered this epicurean delight to Camp Lejeune in 1961 at all Base messes and at Force Troops. As soon as weather permits, outdoor steak fries and smorgasbord a la Yezierski will once more be the plan of the day—at least once every two weeks.

At the time of Col. Yezierski's entry into the Corps in 1931, there were no formal schools for food service training. Perhaps it was to the Corps' advantage that things worked out that way. Otherwise, the experience he gained while a chef at the Renowned Waldorf-Astoria of New York City, would have been lost to the Corps forever.

According to the Col. "Good cooks, as such, are gone...it is a field that requires long hours and even longer studies. It's estimated that there are only about 4,000 to 5,000 European-trained chefs in the U. S. today.

Lt. Col. Peter P. Yezierski

The colonel claims the Europeans are still the masters of the chef world because of their artistic ability. Under the heading of artistic ability comes the craft of presenting food that has eye appeal. This has become the "King's" motto.

He cited a specific example of creating eye appeal: It has been his practice to take a standard food item such as "C" ration canned beef and gravy, which he transforms into a mouth-watering beef barbecue.

Instead of merely emptying the contents into a pot, heating and serving; he freezes the can, cuts both ends from the can and pushes the frozen contents out. It is then sliced, cooked and served on a hamburger bun with prepared barbecue sauce. "The troops always stand in line for seconds", he beamed proudly.

In 1963, Colonel Yezierski was senior member of a board which tested the new "B" ration (dehydrated foods). The results of this testing are now at Headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps.

Using dehydrated foods, troops will be able to experience the taste of freshly prepared meals simply by adding water to the dehydrated item and heating for about 15-18 minutes. Because of this new set-up, a variety of new soups can be introduced to the ration system, as well as such items as chicken and shrimp.

Col. Yezierski is more than a food services manager. He is a cook in his own right. After considerable pressure, he parted with one of his favorite recipes, but retained the right to secrecy when it came to the specific amount of ingredients used in preparation. Here is the recipe for YEZIERSKI BAKED HAM:

Bone ham. Pull out leg bone or hock bone, stuff with dressing of ground apple, orange and celery. Glaze ham with mixture of brown sugar, bay leaves, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, pineapple slices, orange peel, hard cider and rum. Bake at 350 degrees F.

Marine Recruiting Sgt. Visits Here Tomorrow

(Editor's Note: On several occasions, Marines of the Camp Lejeune complex have, when returning from leave or extended liberty, brought civilian friends or relatives back with them thinking they could be enlisted into the Marine Corps here. All enlistments must be processed through the recruiting service. The following article is published for information.)

A representative of the Marine Corps Recruiting Service will set up shop at Camp Lejeune for a one day visit tomorrow.

SSgt. M. R. Jacobson, NCO in charge of the recruiting substation in Wilson will be at the Base Career Advisory Office, Building 50, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. February 14.

Prospective Marine enlistees must be processed through the recruiting service and Wilson, N. C., is the nearest office.

For the convenience of applicants in the Jacksonville-Camp Lejeune area, Sgt. Jacobson is planning periodic one-day visits, the first of which is tomorrow.

Two of the enlistment programs Sgt. Jacobson feels prospective Marines should know about are the 120-day Delay Enlistment Program and the Aviation Guarantee Program.

Enlistees who qualify for the aviation program are guaranteed this option prior to joining and are slated for aviation school upon graduation from recruit training.

The 120-day Delay Enlistment Program allows a young man or woman to join the Marines and remain home for 120 days before actually beginning active duty.

This delay period allows an enlistee to complete schooling or to remain at his civilian job longer. Time served in the delay program counts towards the first pay raise and promotion and lessens the remaining obligated service time after the active tour has been served.

In addition to providing information on Marine Corps programs, Sgt. Jacobson is authorized to administer the Platoon Leader Class (PLC) program selection test to college students and those seniors and graduates who have been accepted by an accredited college or university.

Attention To Duty Earns Merit. Mast For FT Sgt.

Sgt. Herbert C. Richardson, of the 8th Communication Battalion, Force Troops was congratulated and presented with a Meritorious Mast by Battalion Commander, Lt. Col. B. E. Horner, during ceremonies held in the CO's office on December 30. The Meritorious Mast awarded for "outstanding performance and attention to duty," read in part:

"During the period November 28, 1963 to December 15, 1963, you held the duties as Section Chief of the MEF Terminal Section, Radio Relay Platoon, a billet normally held by a Staff Sergeant. By your personal initiative and display of competence, you were instrumental in the planning phase of the Radio Relay plan which was used during Operation Quick Kick IV. You distinguished yourself throughout the operation by your initiative, attention to duty, and your effectiveness in supervising the installation of all radio relay terminals in the MEF Command Post complex. As a result of your continued efforts and technical abilities all radio relay circuits for Quick Kick IV were operative for an exceptionally long period of time.

No Ice No Tickee

Frost and ice on the windshields or any other window of your car must be removed before driving aboard the base if you are to be in accord with Base Order P5560.2B, Base Motor Vehicle Regulation.

The Base Provost Marshal has issued a warning that the Base Order will be enforced and violators will be stopped.

Protect your life and the lives of others and avoid holding up traffic while you wait for the MPs to write you a citation. Clean off all frost and ice before you start your trip to work.

ATTENTION TO DUTY—Sgt. Herbert C. Richardson, right, of 8th Comm Bn., Force Troops, is congratulated and presented with a Meritorious Mast by Battalion Commander, Lt. Col. B. E. Horner, during ceremonies held in the CO's office.

Happy Birthday, Woman Marines

Commandant's Message

Traditionally, the attainment of 21 years marks a coming of age. From the time of crisis which necessitated your entry into the Corps of February 13, 1943, you have diligently worked for and honestly won the respect and admiration of your fellow Marines. May future years enhance the enthusiasm and dedication which have become the hallmarks of the Woman Marine.

Congratulations and all good wishes to our Women Marines on their twenty-first anniversary.

Wallace M. Greene, Jr.
General, U. S. Marine Corps
Commandant of the Marine Corps

Director's Message

A 21st anniversary is one of special significance since it carries with it new privileges and greater responsibilities. Many years before this anniversary, Women Marines as full-fledged members of the Marine Corps team, were accorded their fair share in the traditions, privileges and responsibilities of the Corps.

As we reach this important milestone on February 13, 1964, may Women Marines everywhere acknowledge their debt to those women whose past devoted service earned our present enviable position. In gratitude and with renewed vigor, may we rededicate our abilities and loyalties to greater service to our Corps.

Barbara J. Bishop
Colonel, U. S. Marine Corps
Director of Women Marines

Twenty-one years ago today, on February 13, 1943, four women faced the world and explained why a woman's division of the Marine Corps was needed.

These four women were, in fact, on that date, the entire Marine Women's Reserve.

A year later, under the slogan, "Free a Man to Fight", this tiny group had transformed itself into an elite organization with 800 officers and 14,000 enlisted personnel.

Today, with a strength of 1,600 to 1,650, the United States Woman Marines proudly stand ready to defend their right to serve shoulder-to-shoulder with their brother Marines.

The history of Woman Marines at Camp Lejeune began in March 1943 when Colonel (then Major) Ruth C. Streeter visited the camp to survey the housing facilities and job needs.

The first women actually assigned to duty here were officers, (all lieutenants) who reported aboard on Easter Sunday, 1943. Included in the group was a woman who was destined to become Director of Woman Marines, Julia E. Hamblet.

By June 1943, some 200 Woman Marines were attending the Quartermaster, Cooks and Bakers, NCO Leadership, and Motor Transport Schools here.

The New River Pioneer, predecessor of the Globe, dated May 6, 1943, ran this in a front page article:

"Eyed with interest from all quarters, the first contingent of enlisted Women Marines arrived at Camp Lejeune last weekend. Many were doubtless surprised at the snap and precision exhibited by the female Marines as they stepped smartly through their paces in close order drill."

At the time, Woman Reservists were such a novelty, the men stood on sidewalks watching the women muster for chow, drill, etc. After 21 years, the novelty has not worn off, for the same curiosity prevails today.

The initial year for women at Camp Lejeune saw the first all-Marine wedding here between a Woman Marine staff sergeant and a male sergeant. In July 1943, the Officer Training School and Recruit Depot for women were moved to Lejeune from Mount Holyoke college and Hunter college respectively.

At the same time, 18 male drill instructors from Parris Island were sent to Lejeune to train the recruits. The Base was then known as New River. It was later renamed in honor of General John A. Lejeune, whose daughter, Private Eugenia Lejeune, completed recruit training here in August 1944.

In July 1945, Congress authorized the first Woman Marines to be sent to Hawaii.

In September 1946, the Woman Marines were demobilized, except for 100, who were kept on active duty in D. C.

In 1948, Congress passed a public law, providing for women to serve in the Armed Forces. Hereafter, women in the service were part of the Reserve program. With the enactment of the law Woman Marine Reservists assumed the title of WOMAN MARINES.

With the change of title from WR to WM, boot camp for the women switched from Camp Lejeune to Parris Island. Officers were trained at Quantico.

Woman Marines also saw service during World War I under the title of Marinettes. Headquarters Marine Corps was the only post staffed by the 305 Marinettes accepted for duty. In July 1919, Marines put aside their high buttoned shoes and long skirts and were disbanded.

One hundred and eighty-nine Woman Marines, commanded by Captain J. L. Wallis, comprise the local contingent. Their daily routine, including drill and training, is similar to that of their male counterpart. (A few years back, the women undertook a 6-1/2 mile hike just to prove their worth).

The mission of the Woman Marine today is still the same as in 1943—"Free a Man to Fight". They stand behind their theme 100 percent.

Captain Jane L. Wallis

Invitation

On February 13, 1964, over 200 Woman Marines from Camp Lejeune will celebrate the 21st Anniversary of their founding.

Birthday ceremonies and festivities will begin at 6:30 p.m. at Marston Pavillion with a buffet dinner. From 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. the Division Band will provide music for dancing at the Pavillion.

Guests of honor for the ceremonies will be Maj. Gen. A. L. Bowser, and Col. J. F. Mallard, CO, H&S Bn., MCB, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Capt. J. L. Wallis, commanding officer of Woman Marine Company, has extended an invitation to all former Woman Marines and their guests to attend the celebration.

Why did you choose the Marine Corps as your branch of service?

LT. ROSEMARY CURRY — I joined the Marine Corps because its program for women offered more opportunity for flexibility in making future plans.

PFC JANICE R. EDWARDS — I chose the Marine Corps because I thought it would be the roughest and more of a challenge to me.

WO DOROTHY L. VOLLMER — The Marine Corps was my first choice because it is second to none. So why settle for anything less than the best.

LCPL. CHARLOTTE JOHANSON — I chose the Marine Corps because I think it is the best in every way.

SGT. JOHANNA L. DESCHUYTNER (Former Woman Marine) — I chose the Marine Corps to continue a family tradition and to replace a dear friend killed in Korea.

No Educational System Offers Students More

Service in the Armed Forces of the United States offers an opportunity to secure one of the best educations in the world, particularly in the technological fields, according to a report from the Bureau of Publications, Teachers College, Columbia University.

The Columbia report says the Armed Forces spend more money on education than all the American colleges and universities combined and provide one of the most extensive and advanced educational programs.

The report examines basic recruit training, technical training, officer-candidate courses, officer training, the service war colleges, the joint colleges and off-duty education at local institutions, on base and by correspondence courses provided by the service.

It also covers the military services' teacher-training programs, educational research projects, other research, and instructional methods.

The report says "the quality of instruction in the Armed Forces is superior." The time and money spent by the Armed Forces on educational research greatly exceed that of traditional academic institutions.

The subjects taught by the Armed Forces range from the three R's to requirements for a Ph.D. degree. At any one time, the survey shows, as many as 300,000 military personnel may be attending school.

Are you among these 300,000? Can you afford not to be? Many jobs in the Armed Forces now require skills and knowledge that were unheard of a few years back.

Don't let your job advance beyond your capabilities. Columbia University says you have one of the best educational systems at your disposal — take advantage of it.

A Doctor Talks On Traffic Safety

This article on traffic safety appeared recently in the Alexander Hamilton's newspaper, "HAMILTONIAN." Editor LT Harry Kennedy, MD, mindful of the increasing traffic fatalities, penned the following editorial.

We are justly proud of our country and all that she stands for, and are also proud of the things which she has been able to accomplish in time of war and peace, in factories and on the playing fields of many sports. We hold production records, we hold speed records, we have a record of high literacy, we hold world records in nearly every sport, but this DEATH record is one that we can do without.

In the year 1963, we have set a record for traffic fatalities on Memorial Day, Fourth of July, and Labor Day, a total of 1250 lives. This averages out, over the holiday period, to 140 per day.

You may ask, "So what's it to him?" So this is my answer. Both as a medical student and as an Intern in Springfield, Ohio, the days in an Emergency Room that I hated the most were the holidays. This isn't only my experience, but that of any doctor who has had "ER" duty on a big holiday. There are sights to be seen in an Emergency Room that you will never be able to erase from your mind. The sight of a drunken, father, sobbing over his 8-9 year old daughter who had lost an arm in traffic accident which he caused. I will never forget this case, because I was the first to see her; and I was in the operating room when she died on the operating table from internal bleeding that we couldn't stop. I remember a beauty queen from Wittenburg College, in Springfield, Ohio, who had been out with her date looking for something to do on New Year's Eve and decided that it would be fun to try all the Springfield one-way streets the wrong way. They were eventually stopped, by a truck, when his Triumph went under it. He was killed instantly, but it was her that I remember. To describe her now seems almost humorous. She had lost her right ear, and her nose. She eventually lost the sight of one eye. Her face was disfigured to the point where even a doctor was horrified at her appearance. That's an awful price to pay for a few kicks on a holiday weekend. When the little girl died in Richmond, I cried because I could see my daughter lying there on the table. And that girl from Springfield, I often wonder and worry how she will ever be able to face the world. All this I feel for people I don't even know.

FROM RAIL-SPLITTER... TO PRESIDENT!

Lesson From Lincoln — Failure Isn't Fatal

Too often, it appears, people lose their courage in facing life because of past failures or fear that they may fail in the future.

One good way to overcome these fears is to remember the story of a man who actually built a lifetime of accomplishment out of individual defeats — Abraham Lincoln.

A run-down of some of the failures that punctuated his life before his election to the Presidency illustrates a remarkable triumph over obstacles which might have been, to a lesser man, insurmountable.

During a five-year period he lost his job, was defeated for the legislature, failed in private business, saw his sweetheart die and suffered a nervous breakdown.

Lincoln survived these setbacks and won election to Congress, only to fail in his attempt to secure renomination for a second term.

But Abe Lincoln had a goal and he stuck to it despite further defeats. Following his term in Congress he was defeated for the Senate in 1854, failed to get the nomination for Vice-President in 1856 and was again beaten for the Senate in 1858.

Finally Lincoln secured the Republican presidential nomination in 1860 and, despite a bitter campaign against him, won the election.

Lincoln's triumph rose from a deep conviction that God had given him a mission to fulfill.

As members of the Armed Forces, we may have suffered setbacks which seemed severe — A change of orders from Hawaii to Korea — A new regulation that made a promotion impossible — An assignment that was taken off the concurrent travel list at the last minute — but few of us will ever meet as many defeats as Lincoln.

Keep the perseverance of Abraham Lincoln in mind when the going gets rough. Recalling his courage could help us make a success out of apparent failure.

Chaplain's Corner

"Why do we celebrate Lent?"

To answer, one reason would be: Because these forty days can be a period of significant religious growth; and a second: Matthew 4 records that "Jesus was then led away by the Spirit into the wilderness, to be tempted by the devil. For forty days and nights he fasted, and at the end of them he was famished." The basis of Lent appears in Scripture; but we observe the forty days because they can be a period of renewed meaning in our lives.

Part of the amazing thing about God is that He became man. God does not spare himself the problems of mankind by remaining aloof. Becoming human in every way was no experiment; it involved too much suffering and anguish for that. For God to be a man was for Him to give all that He could.

Jesus of Nazareth went into the wilderness to be tempted. Too often, temptation has only one meaning for us, that is that we are tempted to sin. More Biblical and certainly more relevant, is the suggestion that this was a period of testing. Jesus went into the wilderness to be a man; not a sinner. If He could pass the test, then He would be prepared for His life and work.

Few of us fast or separate ourselves from society; but all of us are tested. As followers of the Christ, Lent will be observed in our lives only as we use it as a period of preparation and religious growth.

This Friday night we celebrate St. Valentine's birthday with a dance.

We start the weekend off with our congenial "Happy Hour" time from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. During these hours we feature reduced prices on "Cheers." Late on in the evening it becomes time to celebrate St. Valentine's Birthday and we do so by presenting the original Divisionaires on the bandstand. Direct from their record smashing engagement at the Tarawa Terrace Nursery, these versatile musicians will provide all sorts of sounds for you. You may even like it, so bring your favorite Valentine along and have an evening of entertainment with us.

Saturday night is music night once again and back by popular demand we have the Avalons. Music kicks off at 9 p.m. and goes until 1 a.m.

It's Swingeroot time on Sunday evening because that's when Paul Peek and his Peek-A-Boos will make their weekly appearance. If you haven't heard and seen this highly talented crew, you don't know what you're missing. Paul's guitars are pure pleasure to hear, and the rest of the combo performs equally well on their respective instruments. Drop in for a look and a listen this Sunday night.

Tuesday night is good ole "Game Night" and it's always something new for the players at our house. The big one is still there and new surprises have been added to increase your enjoyment as a player. We start at 8 p.m. sharp. Don't be late.

For information purposes please be advised that Officer guests are not eligible for club benefits except on the LAST Friday of the month. (Bosses Night) and other special activities where special permission can be secured through channels. Don't cause an embarrassing situation to both us and your guest. Please help us enforce this club regulation as it should be.

Work 31 Pct. Completed On Base Bowling Center

In a report this week it was learned that the bowling alley is 31 percent completed.

Due to the cold, rainy weather from the middle of December to date, construction was held up and the estimated date of completion will be around the middle of May. This is a conservative estimate depending on the weather conditions.

Plans are still underway for setting up various leagues, methods of holding invitational tournaments are being considered and thought is being given to formulating a varsity bowling team for entrance into the East Coast Interservice Conference when the bowling alley is completed.

For those who do not care for league bowling there will be at least eight lanes free of league action for open bowling.

The bowling center will have 32 lanes, a nursery, a snack bar, a lounge and a meeting room.

For the keggers who don't own bowling shoes or a bowling ball, approximately 320 balls and 360 pairs of shoes, in sizes for men, women and children are being ordered.

Rod And Gun Club

The regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club will be held at 7 p.m. tonight in the club house at French Creek. All members are requested to attend.

19th Hole

By BOB SPENCER

The tip this week concerns driving range practice.

Probably the most familiar complaint heard on the golf course is "I can't understand it, I hit the ball a ton at the driving range last night, and today I can't do a thing".

The first thing to remember is that the word "driving" in driving range does not belong there if you plan to improve your game. You should think of the range as a practice range.

You should learn proper practice procedures for driving ranges, then you can transfer your range ability to the golf course. So try to duplicate golf course conditions when you visit the range.

Always use your own clubs. Wear your golf shoes and if you use a glove, take it with you. Plan your practice routine before going to the range.

Start your session with a five iron.

Take your time between shots. Let your hands relax, you should only hit one ball every minute.

Practice in grassy area if possible.

Use imaginary fairway boundaries to practice accuracy and try to hit the spots.

You should make up games to add pressure.

If the range has a sand trap you should use it. Also work on trouble shots such as poor lies and shots from behind trees.

Try to hit every club in the bag, and a lot of different shots with each one.

The Paradise Point Golf Course has three practice ranges, two in which you can use your own practice balls and one range where (our pro) Ducky Miller furnishes balls at a very small cost.

Wrestling Stars To Appear

Base Special Services brings back professional TV wrestling stars to the Goettge Memorial Field House for a thrill-packed card on Thursday evening, February 27th at 8 p.m.

The card will feature a main event, a women's match and a tag team match. Admission will be $.75 for all seats. Tickets will be on sale at the reservations office in the Field House starting February 10.

Names of the wrestlers will be announced next week.

Local Netters Host Edgewood Tonight

The Camp Lejeune basketball team will meet Edgewood Arsenal tonight in the Goettge Field House at 8 p.m., with only a one day lay-off after playing Quantico.

Edgewood Arsenal was previously dumped by Fort Lee, Virginia 81-67 by an outmanned Fort Lee team. The high man for Edgewood Arsenal was G. Johnson with 17 points. For Fort Lee, G. Lee racked up 31 points to outthrust Edgewood Arsenal.

Last Monday the Camp Lejeune quintet played a two game series with Fort Dix. The Fort Dix "Burros" won both games with scores of 105-79 and 107-86.

Charlie Dennis led the Marines with 17 points, Jim McGee with 16 followed by Bill Gross with 15 points. Five men from the Fort Dix "Burros" scored in double figures with Edleman leading the scoring with 24, followed by Don Kelsner with 19.

The Fort Dix "Burros" have eight conference wins against one loss.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

The remaining games on the Camp Lejeune basketball schedule are as follows:

- 19 *FORT LEE
- 22 *Edgewood Arsenal
- 25 *Fort Belvoir
- 26 *Fort Meade
- 29 BYNUM FINANCE (Exhibition Game)

MARCH

3 Fort Bragg
All home games will be held at Goettge Memorial Field House, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Camp Lejeune basketball team dropped two games to Quantico, Va. early this week. By winning these games Quantico insured their entry into the All-Marine Basketball Tournament in Hawaii representing the East Coast. Going into this two game series Lejeune had won one and lost one game against the Quantico Marines. Had Lejeune won these games they would have represented the East Coast Marines in the Hawaiian Tournament.

ServCo. Loses 1; Breaks Win Streak

In Marine Corps Base Intra-Battalion basketball action last Monday Headquarters Company pulled an upset victory over Service Company 52-50.

With three seconds left in the game D. L. Jolley hit for two to break a 50-50 tie and lead Headquarters Company to their first victory in four starts, Jolley led Headquarters Company scoring by racking up 17 points. J. E. Colson dunked in 14 points to lead Service Company in the scoring column.

Motor Transport Company put up a stiff defense against Headquarters Company in their next game limiting them to 35 points, while Motor Transport Company hit for 50. Motor Transport Company's M. A. Stigall showed signs of being a one man team as he plunked in 22 of the 50 points that trounced Headquarters Company. D. L. Jolley, high man for Headquarters Company, was held to nine points.

H. T. Tucker of Service Company came through with 16 points in last Wednesday night's game against Military Police and Guard Company to bring his team a 40-38 victory. This saw defensive battle saw scoring from both sides but Service Company playing for their fourth win in five starts lasted the Military Police and Guard Company men to come out victorious. W. Izzard, Jr., a big gun for Military Police and Guard Company, was high scorer for his team with 14 points.

Games are played under the National High School Basketball rules at 5 p.m., at the Goettge Field House. Upon completion of this tournament a team will be selected from participants to represent Headquarters and Service Battalion in the Base Intramural Basketball Tournament which will begin February 24th.

The remaining games on the Intra-Battalion Basketball Schedule are as follows:

- Feb. 17--MP&GDCO vs MTCO.
- Feb. 18--SERVCO vs MTCO.

Know Your Team

Charlie Turner, a well coordinated, 6' guard on the Lejeune team has proven his genuine enthusiasm for the game by contributing to his team effort by taking a full part in both attack and defense when he is playing.

His basketball experience goes back to high school basketball at West Philadelphia High School, Philadelphia, Pa. When he graduated from high school Turner joined the Marine Corps. He played basketball with the 3d Marine Division on Okinawa as a varsity guard. Turner participated in the All-Division exhibition games held in Japan and Hawaii.

When he returned from Okinawa, Turner started playing basketball with the base varsity team. He has played three years on the Le-jeune team. During that period he played all positions on the team but specializes in playing guard.

Coach Joe Walsh said that the 22 year old Philadelphia ace "moves quickly about the court, constantly changing direction, varying his speed, turning, jumping, and starting and stopping rapidly". "He is an asset to the team because he can change rapidly from attack to defense."

"He is a good man to have on the boards for rebounds", added Coach Walsh, "but I think his one-hand jump shot is his best shot".

Turner has been an aggressive, enthusiastic member of the team all season. He is presently a member of Hq. Btry., 2d Battalion, 10th Marines.

Post Military Boxing In Full Swing For Olympic Year

Boxing in the Armed Forces now packs a pretty powerful punch. For this reason the Olympic Committee, in an Olympic year, keeps a keen eye turned toward the military boxing tournaments now in full swing.

Interest in boxing in the Armed Forces has mushroomed in the past 10 years, and the high calibre of amateur fighters in uniform may be the core of the United States strength in Olympic boxing at Tokyo this Fall.

Through refined organization, more qualified teaching and tight safety precautions, boxing at the post or base level has cut into enthusiasm normally reserved for basketball in the military winter sports schedule.

In addition, physical conditioning required for good boxing is almost a ready-made feature of the Armed Forces.

Boxing interest at installations like Camp Pendleton, Calif., Fort Campbell, Bowling B, Md., and Norfolk Naval Base, Va., runs so high that team coaches are "forced" to pick from as many as 250 men at tryouts.

Now, for the next four months the Armed Forces will have a chance to show off their amateur boxing prowess.

Winners of base and post tournaments are eligible for nomination to tournament fields in their respective services. Here the going gets rougher as the services bring together installation champions. The schedule of tournaments:

All-Army, Ft. Hood, Texas, Apr 3-May 4; All-Navy, Mare Island, Calif., Apr 15-17; All-Air Force, Bolling AFB, Mar 30-Apr 3, and All-Marine Corps, Camp Pendleton, Mar 23-28.

Then the services each will send a team of champions in 10 weight divisions to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for the Interservice Championships May 4-6. A week later the Olympic Boxing Trials will take place on the World's Fairgrounds in New York City.

Fighters Win 5-7 Against St. Pete

The Camp Lejeune boxing team again demonstrated their power last Thursday night, beating the Police Athletic League fighters at St. Petersburg, Fla., in five bouts out of seven. Four of the five victories were by knockouts.

Ed Medina, a 125 lb. ring artist who recently joined the team, provided the first win for the Marines. He bombed T. C. White with both hands throughout the opening round, and White was unable to answer the bell for round two. Medina was awarded the outstanding fighter trophy after the matches. Medina recently won the Carolinas AAU title in the 125 lb. division, fighting for Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C.

Bob Lazada, fighting at 132 lb., made it two in a row for Lejeune, scoring a TKO over James Mells. Lazada had dropped Mells once in the first round, and the referee stopped Heavyweight Charlie Dwyer collected the final victory for the Marines, decisioning Wayne Bunyan.

The first Marine loss came in the 147 lb. bout, Buddy Mullens of St. Petersburg decisioned Gary Presley.

Excel Calhoun dropped a split-decision to Dub Huntley in the 156 lb. battle. Huntley came out very strong in the opening round; the second stanza was about even, then in the final round Calhoun made a furious bid for the fight and nearly scored a knockout before the round closed.

The fights scheduled for last Wednesday here against Charleston Air Force Base were cancelled.

Eight members of the Charleston Team made the trip to Camp Lejeune, however four of the boxers declined to fight, on the grounds that they were not in good condition.

the fight after the hammering hands of Lazada had rendered Mells defenseless in the second.

Art Redden of Camp Lejeune won his third fight in four starts, kayoling Lacy Hydra in the third round with a straight right hand shot. Redden has won all three of his fights by knockouts.

Bob Glaister, a 178 pounder, racked up another victory for the Marines, by sending Mose Morfleet to the canvas for the count in the third round, with a long right hand punch. Glaister kept Norfleet off balance throughout the fight with a stiff left jab.

Undefeated AT, 1/6 Open Div. Basketball Tourney

Regular season league winners, AT and 1/6, drew opening round byes for the 2d Marine Division's double elimination basketball tournament which began Tuesday night.

Major General W. J. Van Ryzin, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, was slated to open the six-team tourney, which began play in the Area 2 gym, by tossing up the final jump ball.

Motor Transport met 2/10 in the opening game, and 2/6 and 1/2 clashed in the nightcap. (Results were not available by press time.)

AT and 1/6, both of whom finished with unblemished records in eight outings, were slated to meet the opening night winners on Wednesday. The AT squad was to meet the Motor Transport-1/2 winner.

Two games in the losers bracket are on tap this evening in the Area 2 gym with tip-offs at 6 and 7:30 p. m. After a weekend layoff the tournament resumes action Tuesday evening in the Area 2 gym.

The Division tournament winner and runnerup will advance to the Quad-Command tourney in March. Also, the winners, augmented by Division standouts, will host the six-team FMF/Lant classic beginning March 23.

DIVISION LEAGUE STANDINGS

Only three teams remain undefeated in the 2d Division's two intramural volleyball leagues with less than two weeks remaining on the schedule.

Headquarters Battalion tops the American League with six wins and no setbacks. They downed runnerup 1/2 earlier and their February 25 match could virtually assure the championship.

In the National League, Headquarters Company, 2d Marines and 1/6 top the six-team loop with 4-0 and 3-0 won-lost records respectively. They will meet twice before league play closes on February 26 in time for the Division Tournament.

Baseball Officials Meeting, Clinic

Beginning February 17 at 8:45 a.m. there will be a meeting for all experienced baseball officials in the Postage Fieldhouse to discuss plans for a forthcoming clinic.

Attendance at the clinic will be a prerequisite for officiating the varsity baseball games.

Anyone interested can get more information by calling Sgts. Gates at extension 7-463.

4th All-Mar Basketball Tourney Site Selected

The 1964 schedule for the Annual All-Marine Basketball Tournament Championship has been announced by Headquarters, Marine Corps.

Meet Marine Force, Pacific Hawaii has been selected as site for the Tournament, during the period 17-22 February 1964.

International Amateur Basketball Federation (F. I. B. A.) rules have been adopted and will be used in the All-Marine Basketball Tournament Championship.

The type of tournament will be a double elimination with a complete round robin played in the first three games. A draw will determine which two teams play the first round. The second game will be between the team which had a bye the first round and the team that lost the first game. The third game will be between the two teams which were not played each other. A draw will determine which two teams play the fourth game. In the end of three games, each team has one loss and one win. The number of playing members on a squad will not exceed 12. The winning team of the All-Marine Corps Championship will represent the Marine Corps in an All-Marine team in the Interservice Championship.

2d FAG Still Unbeaten In FT Intramural Action

2d FAG laid claim to the Force Troops basketball crown this past week and 8th Comm. Bn., turned in its finest performance of the season.

Two successive victories before large crowds gave 2d FAG a 19-0 record this past week and the right to represent Force Troops in the Quad-Command playoffs. With the consistent shooting and fine teamwork they have shown all season, the "field gunners" swept by 2d Amtrac Bn. 85-41 and downed 2d Anglico 93-76. Joe Anderson was top scorer for 2d FAG in the Amtrac contest with 18 points, and Max Pierson collected 22 points against 2d Anglico.

A skillful 8th Comm. Bn. team demonstrated its suspected potential this past week by chalking up four victories in the same number of outings. Ken Bowden, with 18 points, led the communicators to an 81-64 victory over Hq. Co., Force Troops. 8th Comm. Bn. then downed 2d Radio Co. 79-55 and defeated the league's second-place team, 8th Engineer Bn., 80-71. Dave Lorah, 8th Comm. Bn.'s shooting ace, added 27 points in the 2d Radio Co. contest and tallied 32 points against the 2d Engineers.

2d Amtrac Bn. and 2d Topographic Co. provided the most exciting moments in Force Troops court-play this past week. The 2d Amtrac team held a comfortable 15 point lead going into the closing 4 minutes of the game. Then two of the tractor-men fouled out and left their team at a distinct numerical disadvantage.

2d Amtrac rooters were brought closer to the edge of their seats when Ken McGill, the power of the remaining Amtrac trio, pulled up lame with an injured leg. 2d Topo then went to work and Jim O'Connor, who scored 33 points, brought his team within 2 points of 2d Amtrac Bn. However, time ran out and three worried Amtrac players salvaged a 70-68 victory.

2d Tank Bn. rounded out action for the week by defeating 8th Mt. Bn. 66-56 and topping Hq. Co., Force Troops 70-63.

Sharp Atsugi Guns Break All Records

Local pistol shooters representing the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing did it again at Atsugi. They shot a score of 1117 points with 27 X's which was good enough to win the Tachikawa 1200 Aggregate 45 caliber match and good enough to break the record of the highest team score ever shot on the Atsugi range.

In the individual competition Ssgt. Robert C. Cate won his seventh consecutive place position for the Grand Aggregate. Sgt. Phillip J. Fitch won First Master and HMI Tommy L. Kelgley captured Third Master. The other individual winner of the MAW team was Cpt. Richard A. Foster who shot 1089-24X to win First Sharpshooter.

Quad Command Highlights

CAN-DO GUNNY—GySgt. Herbert C. McBride, 1st Bn., 1st ITR, is presented a Meritorious Mast by Col. Anthony Caputo, Regimental Commander, 1st ITR, while Lt. Col. R. R. Wilson, Commander, 1st Bn., looks on. GySgt. McBride was cited for displaying outstanding energy, devotion to duty, and leadership and initiative while performing the duties of First Sergeant and Gunnery Sergeant of training companies of the 1st Bn.

Retirement Ceremonies Held For FAG Sgt. Maj.

Sgt. Maj. Howard R. Taylor, Sergeant Major of 2d Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, was transferred to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve January 31. He reviewed his troops for the last time on that date as they marched in ceremonies in his honor.

The sergeant major enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1939. A veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict, he has been awarded the following decorations: American Defense Service Medal; Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal; World War II Victory Medal; Navy Unit Citation; Navy Occupation Service Medal; Korean Service Medal; National Defense Medal; American Area; and Good Conduct Sixth Award.

Speaking on behalf of the "Corps" and particularly the members of 2d Field Artillery Group, Col. F. R. Schlesinger, Group Commander, extended a hearty "Well Done" to Sgt. Maj. Taylor and his wife, wishing them continued success and happiness in the years ahead.

"Good-Bye and God Bless you," were Col. Schlesinger's final words, closing the book on a career which will be remembered by all those who have served with him.

Sgt. Maj. Taylor was relieved by Sgt. Maj. Linwood C. Bailey, who reported here from Portsmouth, N. H.

NOTICE

The cafeteria portion of the Marine Corps Exchange cafeteria will reopen for business at 7 a.m., Monday, February 17. "Open House" will be held throughout the Exchange Cafeteria all day Thursday, February 20.

Fast Thinking Cpl. Prevents Accident

"Cool" thinking in a "hot" situation ultimately aided a squad leader of a 6th Marine flamethrower section in being selected as the Regiment's January "Marine of the Month".

Fast action by Lance Corporal Francis P. Richardson averted a possible serious accident in early January while the Flamethrower Section, H&S Company, 1st Battalion 6th Marines, 2d Marine Division, was undergoing a firing problem.

A member of the section was firing unthickened fuel on the D-27 range when the flamethrower "ran away". Fuel tanks could explode when this "running away" occurs.

F. P. Richardson

Richardson prevented possible injury to the section member and others on the firing line by calmly bracing the Marine and turning off the flamethrower's pressure.

The corporal's letter for nomination as Regimental "Marine of the Month" pointed out his...excellent presence of mind averted what could have been a very serious accident."

The letter additionally credited Richardson with aiding in the development of an improvised plunger filler which reduces the time required to fill a flamethrower fuel tank.

The Fairhope, Alabama Marine entered the Marine Corps in June 1962.

New Training Device For Marine Helicopter Pilots

The U. S. Naval Training Device Center reported that it has provided to the U. S. Marine Corps Air Group-26, the first training device ever developed that simulates the tandem-rotor helicopter.

intensive training program in cockpit familiarization, instrument flying, inflight planning, normal and emergency procedures, and ground operation. Techniques taught may include the use of the aircraft communication system and the navigation system."

The simulator, presented to MCAF, is the exact duplicate of the cockpit of the CH46A helicopter, which MAG-26 will be receiving shortly. (Photo by LCpl. Santiago-Martinez.)

Known as Operational Flight Trainer 2F75, the new training device simulates the CH-46A all-weather helicopter designed by the Vertol Division of Boeing Co., specifically for Marine Corps use.

According to Capt. Carl O. Holmquist, USN, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Naval Training Device Center, "the mission of this training device is to give CH-46A pilots and copilots training in the handling of the helicopter on the ground and in flight. Due to the facilities incorporated in the device, this includes a thorough and

According to Colonel E. C. Fusan, USMC, Commanding Officer of the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River "The mission of the CH-46A helicopter is to rapidly disperse combat troops, support equipment, and supplies from amphibious assault landing ships and established airfields to advanced bases with limited maintenance and logistic support. To insure the fulfillment of this mission in the most efficient manner, the Naval Training Device Center has provided the 2F75 trainer, which serves to achieve the high degree of pilot and copilot proficiency."

Whirl O' Fashion Slated For Mar. 4

"Whirl O' Fashion" was the password of the Staff NCO Wives' luncheon meeting Thursday, February 6, at the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club. Excitement and suspense flaired as plans were revealed by the committee chairman in charge of the fashion show to be given March 4 at Marston Pavilion.

Special guest at the luncheon was Mrs. Edward J. Catallo, president of the Staff NCO Wives' at MCAF.

The next regular meeting and luncheon is Thursday, February 20, at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center at 8:15 a. m. All members and guests are reminded not to disturb the Scout meeting which is held there until 8 a. m.

All dependent personnel from all branches of the military are invited to come and get in the "Whirl O' Things".

Local HS Students Band Clinic Slated

More than 250 student musicians and 50 local band leaders from North Carolina high schools are expected to attend the Eastern Division 1964 All State Band Clinic to be held at East Carolina college, Greenville Friday and Saturday February 7-8.

Donald Griffin, Camp Lejeune High School band leader and six Base high school students will be the local representatives. The students are; Jim Horn, Mike Soltys, George Cyr, Bob Taylor, Ray Fuson, and Ron McCann.

Director of Bands, for ECC's School of Music, Mr. Herbert L. Carter stated that "The two day clinic will offer an intensive program of instruction, rehearsal, and public performance for participants. Outstanding musicians and band directors from North Carolina schools will also conduct sectional rehearsals in various band instruments during the two day meeting."

The two day clinic will be highlighted by a concert presented by the East Carolina Symphonic Band and the Clinic Symphonic and Concert Band. Both programs will be open to the public in Wright Auditorium.

Activities Calendar

Diet and Exercise Club

Diet and exercise Club at Camp Lejeune will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, at 8 p. m., in the Tarawa Terrace Community Center. This club is for losing inches as well as pounds. It is also for girls who are underweight and wish to gain pounds and inches. All military dependents are welcome to join. There is a small charge for joining the club. This is also a non-profit organization. The funds are used for a banquet which is held every three months and for a monthly prize given to the member who loses the most weight.

Nursery rates are reduced for all club members. For further information call Mrs. Donald Shurtlett at Base ext. 22398.

Group II, OWC

Mrs. E. L. Roberts, assisted by Mrs. J. V. Manis and the wives of the officers of Materiel Supply and Maintenance Battalion will be hostesses at a Wig Show in connection with the monthly luncheon, for Group II, Thursday, February 20th, in the Lejeune Room of the Paradise Point Officers' club.

A social hour will begin at 11 a. m. with lunch being served at 12 p. m.

Group V, OWC

Group V of the OWC will hold a coffee at the Paradise Point Officers' club on Friday at 10 a. m., February 14, 1964. For reservations consult the newsletter.

Sweetheart Ball

The Sweetheart Ball sponsored by Group I of the Officers' Wives' Club of Camp Lejeune will be held Saturday night February 15th from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the Goettege Memorial Field House.

Girl Scouts

An informal coffee will be held Tuesday, February 18, from 9:45-11:30 a. m. at the Midway Park Community Building to get some new people interested in Girl Scouts. A color film, "This is Girl Scouting" will be shown and talks will be given by various Girl Scout volunteers about their particular jobs.

All registered Girl Scout adults are being urged to attend and to bring a friend. Uniforms are to be worn if leaders, committee members and others that have them.

Baby sitting will be available at the Community Building at a small charge per family.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. F. E. Tomlinson, Onslow District public relations chairman, phone 0-1725.

Pre-Natal Classes

A new series of Pre-Natal classes will start on Thursday, Feb. 20, at Camp Lejeune. These classes will be held each Thursday for five weeks from 1 to 3 p. m. in the U. S. Naval Hospital Theater.

Subjects covered will be layettes, care of the expectant mother, labor, and delivery, hospital routine, and methods of infant feeding. The classes will be supplemented with visual aids, demonstrations, and free literature.

The classes are taught by a Registered Nurse, and are provided free of charge to Navy and Marine Dependents by the Camp Lejeune Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society.

LET'S CELEBRATE—The 23rd anniversary of the USO. PFC Paul Ford Jr., receives the first slice of cake from Maj. Gen. A. L. Bowser, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C., as Brig. Gen. Donn J. Robertson, Commanding General, Force Troops, Atlantic, Mr. Albert Ellis, President Jacksonville-Camp Lejeune USO Council, Maj. Gen. W. J. Van Ryzin, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, and the Right Rev. Monsignor Lawrence Newman, Infant of Prague Church join in the festivities marking the 23rd Anniversary of the national USO and the 22nd Anniversary of the local chapter. More than 300 Marines and Navy personnel were present for the entertainment program and refreshments last Sunday, February 2.

"FAM FLIGHT"—Brig. Gen. Paul J. Fontana (in cockpit), Commanding General, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, prepares for his first A-4C Skyhawk familiarization flight in a Marine Attack Squadron-332 jet at Cherry Point on January 21. PFC Bobby L. Niday, VMA-332 check crew member, readies the aircraft prior to the General's flight. General Fontana completed a week of ground schooling at VMA-332 before piloting the Skyhawk jet.

Notice

The recently formed Water Safety Instructors Association is having a meeting at the Area 5 swimming pool the evening of Feb. 19 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. All personnel, military and/or dependent, who possess a valid Water Safety Instructor certificate are invited to attend. The main purpose of the club is to keep all Water Safety Instructors up-to-date as to requirements for different types of swimming, aid in any difficulties of individual instructors, and to maintain the instructional quality of all members of the club. For further information, call Sgt. Forest R. McDaniel at 5-7294 during normal working hours. BRING YOUR SWIM SUIT!

What's In A Name?

There is no doubt that "Faith", "Hope", "Charity" and "Virtue" can be found aboard Camp Lejeune. How many Marines and dependents must have driven and hiked past them without recognizing their existence. They are here though, in reality and in black and white.

Faith, Hope, Charity and Virtue are four roads within the confines of Camp Lejeune on which driving restrictions are definitely strict. The traffic using these roads, although slight, is normally heavily laden and of vital importance to every Marine.

These are not roads for playful children or the casual Sunday drivers. Nor are these roads suggested for the heavy smoker or persons careless with matches and cigarettes.

This writer does not know who named these four roads or even when, but it must have been someone with a keen sense of humor. This deduction comes from the fact that Faith, Hope, Charity and Virtue are arteries rambling through Camp Lejeune's Ammunition Storage Areas.

New Services At Main Exchange

The Watch Repair Shop at the Marine Corps Exchange has been moved to the location formerly occupied by the Shoe Department. Key making, laminating, engraving, photostating, and making of name tags and desk plates are some of the services now available.

Ladies and children's shoes are now located near the Ladies and Children's ready-to-wear for more convenience to patrons shopping for dependents. Lingerie is within the Ladies' Department, and privacy for the lady shopper has been retained.

The Optician occupies the space which was formerly the Lingerie Department.

Luggage is in the Ladies' and Children's Shoe Department.

Outpatient Clinic

The Outpatient Clinic of the Naval Hospital will be closed on Friday, and Saturday, February 21 and 22. Facilities will be available on Ward 2 to see only bonafide emergencies that occur during this time.

SS Program Not Only For Old Folks

Adrian Hatfield, District Manager of the Social Security Office in New Bern, advised that many people do not know about the family protection they have under the Social Security Program. "People seem to just naturally think of Social Security as something for 'old folks'", he said. They overlook two outstanding parts of the program, the DISABILITY provision and the SURVIVORS provision.

A worker who becomes disabled and has five years of social security credit in the 10-year period preceding the time he became disabled, may be approved for disability benefits if his disability is so severe that he is unable to do any substantial work and his condition is of a permanent nature. When a worker is approved for disability benefits, his wife and minor children may receive benefits, on his record until the youngest child reaches age 18.

If a worker dies, his wife and minor children may receive monthly benefits until the youngest child reaches 18. Suppose, John Jones died when he was 35 and left Mrs. Jones and their two-year-old daughter, June. Mrs. Jones and June would receive monthly benefits for 16 years. If their benefit was $90 a month, they would receive a total of $17,280 over this period. Mrs. Jones could resume receiving monthly benefits for herself when she reaches 62 if she has not remarried.

Also, benefits may be payable to unmarried children who are over 18 if they became severely disabled before age 18. This benefit is payable under both provisions. In addition, a 62-year-old dependent parent of a deceased worker may receive monthly benefits on the worker's account if the parent was receiving at least one-half of his support from the worker when he died.

Mr. Hatfield emphasizes that these provisions offer significant protection to a worker's family. The social security tax that a worker is paying now is building protection NOW, and is not just something laid away for future use at retirement.

With this in mind, Mr. Hatfield adds that each worker should make sure that he gets proper credit for his work by checking his social security account once every three years.

History of Communism

Red Bear, Yellow Tiger Prowl Throughout Asia

(Fourteenth of a series of 20 articles entitled The History of Communism, by MSgt. Walter M. Stewart, USMC. Reprinted by AFPS from the San Diego Chevron, Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.)

Communists made tremendous advances in both France and Italy during WWII (through collaboration with underground forces). During the post-war years, however, the party in France has gone from a height of 29 percent of voters in the late forties to its present weaker status in the government headed by General de Gaulle.

Communism has grown, on the other hand, in Italy. In 1947 party membership there was approximately two million; in 1951 it had grown, through merger with the Socialists, to the point of casting some six million votes. No current figures are available, but the Party in Italy is one of considerable influence.

In the British Isles, Communism has not flourished, although the extreme left wing position is occasionally indistinguishable from that advocated by the Communist Party. However, Socialist parties in Great Britain and also in most of Western Europe, have actively opposed Communism.

The largest single bloc to fall into Red hands was the Republic of China. Chinese communists formed a party organization in the early twenties and, unlike its European counterparts, it was overtly militant. The movement grew rapidly however, in view of the fact that its opposition was directed primarily at the Japanese—who invaded Manchuria in 1931 and, by 1940, had a strangled hold on most of China.

When Russia entered the war against Japan—at almost the conclusion of the war—she occupied Manchuria and that part of Korea north of the 38th Parallel, as well as part of the Kuril Islands north of Japan. Russia promptly "sovietized" Manchuria and North Korea (industry was nationalized; farms were collectivized).

Belatedly complying with a post-war U. N. directive, Russia turned the two governments over to the people, insuring that important posts went to Communists. She also turned over tremendous stocks of captured Japanese munitions to the Red Chinese Army.

With Russian technical assistance, Manchurian wealth and Japanese munitions, the Red Chinese forces under Mao Tse-tung swept south to conquer nationalist forces under Chiang Kai-shek.

Mao found little resistance from the Chinese peasantry, who resented the nationalists' failure to institute promised agrarian reforms. By 1949, China (except for Formosa), with a population presently numbering 700 million, was under the Red flag.

Southeastern Asia—a part from China—has been extremely fluid over the past decade. With a few notable exceptions (such as the Philippine Islands, South Vietnam, Thailand and Malaya) the nations have wavered between communistic and democratic influences. India has succeeded in remaining neutral and pacifistic (the invasion of Goa notwithstanding), apparently resisting Communism by virtue of its nationalism and (Hindu) religion.

In Japan, the "revolution of the proletariat" has a number of followers, but the party does not approach the status of political control. And Red overtures in North Africa have largely been rebuffed. Even so, Africa's new nations are being ardently wooed by the communists.

Next week: Communism in the Western Hemisphere.

Servicemen May Claim Retroactive Travel Pay

Members of the Armed Forces who have not been paid for extra travel involved in a change to PCS orders received while on leave may now claim that money.

Public Law 88-238 dated Dec. 23, 1963, provides for retroactive payments to active duty and former members of the uniformed services for travel performed under orders cancelled or modified while on leave enroute between stations.

Deadline for filing claims is Dec. 22, 1964. Travel by the member or his dependents must have been accomplished on or after Oct. 1, 1949.

Directives detailing claims procedures are now being prepared by the Marine Corps.
