NO. 49

Lyndon Baines Johnson

Lyndon Baines Johnson Thirty-Sixth President

Lyndon Baines Johnson was sworn in as the 36th President of the United States 99 minutes after President John F. Kennedy's death. Mr. Johnson, 55 years old, who was riding in the third car behind President Kennedy when the Chief Executive was felled by an assassin's bullet, was uninjured. Mr. Johnson took his oath of office in the Presidential jet plane as it stood on the runway at Love Field, Dallas, Tex. The oath was administered by District Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

In assuming the Presidency, President Johnson culminates a long and distinguished political career.

Mr. Johnson was born in a farmhouse in Stonewall, Tex., on Aug. 27, 1908. His grandfather and father both served in the Texas legislature.

He finished high school at 15 and went to work on a road-building gang. He worked his way to California doing odd jobs.

He hitchhiked to San Marcos, Tex., and entered Southwest State Teachers College. He got a part-time job as janitor at the college and worked as secretary to the college president.

Money ran short and he had to drop out of college for almost a year. During this time he taught school in a small south Texas town.

When he was 22, just three and one-half years after he had arrived at the college, Mr. Johnson received his Bachelor of Science degree.

In 1931 he entered politics as secretary to Representative Richard M. Kleberg of Texas.

It was in this period that he met his wife-to-be, Claudia Alta Taylor (nicknamed Lady Bird by a nurse).

In Washington, Mr. Johnson came to the attention of President Roosevelt, who, in 1935, appointed him Texas state administrator of the National Youth Administration.

He served two years, then resigned to run for the Congressional seat made vacant by the death of James P. Buchanan. He defeated nine other candidates to win the race and in 1938 was elected to a full term.

SSgt.'s M60 Modification Adopted By Corps, Army

A small metal pin which will improve the operating efficiency of the M60 machinegun used by the U. S. Armed Forces has earned special high-level recognition for the 1st Brigade Marine who designed it.

The weapon's modification, formally adopted by both the Marine Corps and Army, was the work of SSgt. Jerome E. Quimby, NCOIC, Infantry Weapons Repair Section, 1st Brigade's Service Bn., Hawaii.

For his efforts, the Marine armorer received a letter of appreciation from the Commandant of the Marine Corps, also indicating that the recommendation for modifying the weapon part, after complete study, has been adopted for use by the Corps and the Army.

The re-designed part will replace the clip latch pin on the machinegun. The present pin requires a tiny clip to hold the pin in place. If the clip is lost, the weapon is rendered inoperative because the canvas ammunition magazine, which is attached to the side of the weapon, would not be held in place.

Sgt. Quimby's modified part eliminated the clip. His pin, improved by drilling a hole in it, is designed to be held in place by just about anything from a paper clip to a snip of balling wire. A Marine in combat would have no difficulty repairing the pin on the spot in seconds.

FRA Dedicates Bell To Fallen President

The Camp Lejeune branch of the Fleet Reserve Association, No. 208, will conduct a Two Bell Ceremony tonight, at which a Ship's Bell will be dedicated to the memory of our late President, John F. Kennedy.

The meeting will be held at the Montford Point Staff NCO annex commencing at 8 p. m. and lasting for approximately 15 minutes.

Selection Board Picks 222 WOs

The Commandant of the Marine Corps has approved results of a selection board which picked 210 non-commissioned officers to be warrant officer candidates and 12 Reserve Marines for warrant officer promotions.

The 210 regular warrant officer candidates will undergo seven week screening course at the Marine Corps Schools, Parris, Va., beginning Jan. 13. Upon successful completion of the screening course, the candidates will be appointed warrant officers. They will then be assigned to the Basic School at Parris for 10 weeks basic warrant officer training. Candidates for promotion to warrant officer in the Marine Reserve will receive appointments.

History of Communism

The Bolsheviks Confuse A Disenchanted People

(Fourth in a series of 20 articles entitled "The History of Communism," by MSgt. Walter Stewart, USMC. Reprinted by AFPS from the San Diego Chevron, Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.)

While the revolutionary government was dominated by left-wing elements, it was not their revolution. Alan Moorehead notes, "...the truth was this March rising, like so many other lesser risings in the past, was not directly provoked by the revolutionary leaders, least of all by Lenin and the Bolsheviks" (who, in fact, were in exile at the time).

A provisional government was established and immediately gained recognition by America, Great Britain and France.

The somewhat disorganized Bolsheviks in Petrograd were commanded by two novice Leninists: Vyacheslav Molotov and ed the rioters and they never reassembled. Lenin was driven once more into exile, his Bolsheviks blamed for the entire affair.

By September, the Bolsheviks had regained much of their strength. In fact, they were able to ram through the Petrograd Soviet (council) almost their entire program: a government of socialists, exclusively; the control of industry by workers; land reforms; and agreements to sue for peace.

Prime Minister Kerensky circumvented the Leninists and gained a national election for representatives to a new government: a Constituent Assembly.

The Bolsheviks took a beating in the free elections. So Lenin waited until the assembly met and then, with his followers and a number of Bolshevik militia, routed the meeting and dispersed the membership. The date was Jan 18, 1918.

Next week: Stalin Begins His Rise.

Vissarionovich Djughashvili, the latter better known later as Joseph Stalin.

The time seemed right for the Bolshevik first string to move in. By secret arrangements with the German government, based on a pledge to sue for peace as soon as they could gain control, Lenin and others were shuttled through Germany in a sealed train and released at the Finnish border in mid-April.

Lenin was given a hero's arrival — until he spoke. His demand that the Provisional Government be destroyed, that workers, soldiers and peasants be armed for seizure of the factories, lands and government was not warmly received. He was severely rebuffed.

On the morning of Nov. 7, Trotsky, as chairman of the Military Revolutionary Committee, issued a proclamation announcing the fall of the Provisional Government — and then, with friendly troops, proceeded to deliver the coup d'grace.

Fate, however, played into Lenin's hands. The majority groups (Social Democrats and Social Revolutionaries) were hopelessly divided and neither would yield ground to the other.

The workers (the "Industrial Proletariat") found things no better in this new government, so again they revolted. When 30,000 workers appeared on the streets July 16, Lenin and his crew jumped on the bandwagon.

It was an ill-fated effort. A heavy summer shower disband-

Social Security Benefits For Servicemen, Families

Whether you are a career serviceman, a one-term, or already a veteran, some, or all of your military service may count toward social security benefits for yourself and your family.

These benefits may include: Monthly payments to you and your dependents when you retire at age 62 or later. However, if you choose to take your benefits between 62 and 65, the amount will be permanently reduced.

Monthly payments to you and your dependents, regardless of your age, if you become so severely disabled that you cannot do any substantial work.

Monthly payments to your dependent survivors when you die. A lump sum death payment to your widow or widower toward burial expenses.

The amount of social security credits you need for each of these benefits varies in the individual case. Credits received for service in the Armed Forces, credits earned in civilian employment or a combination of both, can be counted toward the total of your social security credits.

Men and women in active military service before January 1, 1957, did not earn social security credits for their base pay. However, credits may be granted by the Social Security Administration for active duty in the Armed Forces between September 16, 1940, and December 31, 1956.

Members of the Armed Forces, since January 1, 1957, have been covered by Social Security in the same way as people in civilian employment.

Since 1950, the Congress has enacted laws giving Social Security wage credits of $160 for each month of military service during (1) the WWII period—September 16, 1940, through July 24, 1947, and (2) the postwar period—July 25, 1947, through December 31, 1956.

To get these wage credits of $160 for each month of active duty served between September 16, 1940, and December 31, 1956, a veteran must have been discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable.

In addition, he must have had at least 90 days of active service or, if he had less, he must have been discharged or released because of disability or injury caused by, or made worse, in line of duty.

Once every three years it's a good idea to secure a special postcard from the Social Security district office to get a statement of the earnings credited to your account. If there is any mistake—if all your earnings in work covered by Social Security have not been credited to you—your Social Security office can help get the record corrected.

Any free Social Security credits of $160 a month that can be granted to you for active service will not appear on this statement of earnings because the decisions as to whether you are eligible to receive these credits cannot be made until a claim for benefits is filed.

Questions concerning your individual Social Security problems should be referred to the nearest Social Security district office...these are listed in the telephone directory.

Free Phone Calls During Yule Time For Armed Forces

Fifty Marines serving at remote stations around the world will be afforded the opportunity to make free telephone calls home during the holiday season.

The Communications Workers of America and the United Service Organization, Inc., (USO) cooperate in the program which will make it possible for 1,500 service personnel to make free calls home during the period, Dec. 1, through Jan. 10.

This program began in 1957, when the CWA provided funds for 10 free calls. The number has grown steadily each year.

The Army, Navy and Air Force were allotted 200, 150 and 200 calls respectively. The remaining calls will be allocated through overseas USO's and CWA locals in the U. S. Servicemen will be selected to make the calls by project officers at remote stations and by USO directors where ever USO facilities are located.

Inspection Sticker A Must On Virginia Plated Autos

Camp Lejeune motorists driving Virginia licensed vehicles are warned against driving in that state with an expired inspection sticker or completely without one.

It is suggested that any Virginia licensed vehicle being driven into the state with an expired inspection sticker stop at the first available inspection point before going further into the state.

Those persons who still retain a legal residence in Virginia are permitted to drive their vehicle to their residence and then obtain the necessary inspection.

A Virginia licensed vehicle, even if just passing through the state is not authorized to be operated on Virginia highways. These bits of information should be taken as words of caution and not ignored.

California Training Center Keeps Busy Year-Round

The Mountain Warfare Training Center at Bridgeport, Calif., established during the Korean War when Marine Corps fighting in Korea's snow-covered mountains recognized need for cold weather indoctrination in individual combat.

In late 1950, the Cold Weather Bn. began to train Marines for Korea. They were inducted to the rigors of living in bitter cold, deep snow and mountainous terrain and in methods of combat these elements.

In 1957, this type of training was essentially the only program carried out by the Cold Weather Training Bn. It was held through March. However, in July 1957, the Marine Corps instituted a program of year-round training and the end of the cold weather training unit was expanded to include a Mountain Operation Course (conducted during winter and summer months), and the Survival Evasion, Resistance to Interrogation and Escape Course.

The base camp installations are situated just above Pickel Meadows at about 8,000 feet elevation and lies in the Tietyabe National Forest.

More than 100,000 acres are utilized by the Marine Corps for training.

Five hundred Marines receive instruction in the Cold Weather Indoctrination class annually; 585 Marines participate in the Survival, Escape, Resistance to Interrogation and Evasion Course each year; another 275 Marines are indoctrinated in Mountain Operations during the summer and winter months of each year.

Americans In Uniform Mourn Departed Chief

The tragic death of our Commander-in-Chief, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, by an assassin's bullet swept the country and much of the rest of the world with numbing sorrow and a deep sense of loss.

To the men and women of the Armed Forces there was a special significance in the loss of their leader. President Kennedy, himself a combat veteran of WWII, had set a singularly powerful example of all the attributes of dynamic leadership which are held in such esteem by the Armed Forces.

Beset as he was by so many grave problems of the nation which led the Free World in its quest for peace, President Kennedy never lost sight of the welfare of our Armed Forces.

During his relatively short term in office, American men and women in uniform came to know President Kennedy as a leader who displayed an informed, personal interest in military people of all grades and services.

Frequently in speeches and messages President Kennedy drew attention to the fact that we lived in troubled times, times when it was essential to our future to maintain our readiness to apply military force, if necessary, in any part of a tense world. American soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines have remained deployed shoulder to shoulder with our allies during President Kennedy's time and may be expected to remain so after his time.

We mourn President Kennedy's untimely removal from the scene as we shall sorely miss his wise and forceful leadership. But, as Secretary of Defense McNamara has pointed out, the men and women of the Armed Services can pay no more fitting tribute to the memory of President Kennedy than to carry on in the tradition which he shared and of which he was so proud.

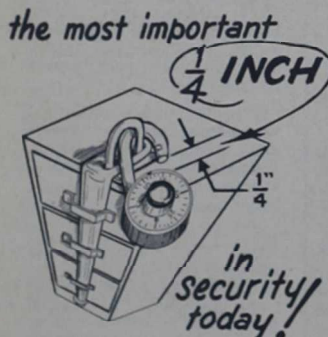

Chaplain's Corner

In a Manhattan courtroom a few summers ago a man was being tried for larceny. Posing as an usher he had taken six hundred dollars from the collection plates at the Billy Graham rally in Madison Square Garden. Dr. Graham with traditional charity dropped the charges. When the evangelist further offered the man religious counsel to win him for Christ, the reply was "No thanks, I've got enough trouble already."

There is more than a germ of truth in this reply. The adjustments demanded by a life under God, of a genuine effort to practice one's faith can be costly in the term of personal uneasiness. A disturbed man in Palestine once challenged Jesus, "Lord, what do you have to do with me?" And this is often the case with the person who really gets religion. Feelings of guilt and inadequacy spill over into the rest of life, leaving the person more disturbed and disquieted than ever. But the task of faith is not only to pinpoint error and sin! It should also place one within the total setting of forgiveness and fellowship with God, of responsibility for one's own acts. That this process hurts no one will deny. But God, the God revealed by Jesus and the prophets, is Forgiving and Loving!

That's the wonder of faith in a loving, redeeming heavenly Father. He is quite capable of taking you on now, with all your troubles and weaknesses as you are! But you have to be willing to take the trouble to admit him to your life.

Education A Vital Rung

National Education Week is now behind us for another year. But to a military man moving up the promotion ladder, every week of the 52 should be "Education Week."

When military men become eligible for promotion, particularly in the higher grades, they find that recorded educational qualifications and achievements are more important than ever before as selection factors. This is apparent in a number of ways.

In the first place, general information and education are heavily weighted. In order for a candidate to answer questions involving the chain of command, military mission, map reading, current events, and so on, he must not only have his own military specialty well in hand, but also have a background of general knowledge.

Secondly, achieving a certain recorded level of formal education is significant. Promotion chances, when everything else is equal, could swing on the highest of educational accomplishments.

Although it is possible to prove through informal self-study it seems wise to get something on the record through appropriate enrollment and/or testing, on the same principle that, no matter how good a driver a man may be, he will not get credit for it unless he has a driver's license.

Finally, it could be important to candidates for promotion not only to be able to answer questions but to have an attested record of steady educational advancement and self-improvement.

It is a ten-strike for a man seeking promotion to be able to show a well developed plan of self-improvement for the future.

A man who aspires to responsible positions knowable cannot afford to rest on his present laurels.

Education does not guarantee promotion but it is most certainly a major step in the right direction.

MOVIE REVIEWS

ROCK-A-BYE BABY

Jerry Lewis, a small town odd-jobs man, loses his childhood sweetheart to Hollywood and devotes his life to becoming a one-man fan club and dodging the affection of Connie Stevens, the star's sister who stays behind and falls in love with him.
 After years of separation, the star returns to leave her triplets in his care while she travels to Egypt to make another movie. The town is shocked at the sudden arrival of the infants on the doorstep of the bumbling bachelor, and Connie's father suspects the foulest of plots. The film is good, bright comedy, sprinkled with pleasing song, and Lewis is at his best as the incredibly inept handyman. Excellent family entertainment is provided in this movie.

ICE PALACE

The vast sweep and scope of the Alaskan territories from the end of World War I to today provides a breathtaking background to a sensitive and gripping drama of the men and women who molded the destiny of this rich and violent land.
 Richard Burton returns home after the war to find his hopes for the future shattered. After being stranded in Alaska, he is hired by Robert Ryan, a fishing boat captain who loves the land and later joins Burton in a cannery enterprise.
 Burton returns home marries a heiress to provide the necessary capital for the venture, and returns to fall in love with Ryan's fiancée.
 Ryan disappears to live with an Eskimo tribe, marries one of their women, who bears him a son. A fateful meeting with Burton's daughter years later dissolves the violent rivalry between the two men.

ADVENTURES OF A YOUNG MAN
 The story of a young writer in search of life evolves powerfully from the best-selling Hemingway novel into a mighty screen drama with a superior continental cast.

Richard Beymer the writer leaves his small home town first as a hobo, then as an advance agent for a burlesque show, which takes him to New York.
 Failing to get a job on a newspaper there, he enlists in the Italian ambulance service in World War I.

Richard Beymer stars in the screen production of Hemingway's
 "Adventures of a Young Man."

where he first encounters love and death.

The all-star cast includes Paul Newman, Ricardo Montalban, Diane Baker, Eli Wallace, Jessica Tandy, Susan Strasberg, Dan Dailey, Arthur Kennedy, and Corinne Calvet, among others. Excellent adult entertainment.

THE LEFT HANDED GUN

The life and death of Billy the Kid, covered in a moody Western melodrama. In this version, an attempt is made to understand the motives of the famous outlaw, who had killed a total of 21 men when he was gunned down at the age of 21.

Actually, the film gets off to a wrong start by trying to dramatize this little insect. A slum-shoosled shaggle-toothed little rat of a boy, Billy the Kid did indeed kill 21 men. However, the fact that the majority of them were shot down from ambush may be conspicuously missing from the film. The movie stars
 Paul Newman and Lita Milan.

SPENCER'S MOUNTAIN
 This is one of the most talked-about new films of recent years, and a success story in its own right.
 Stars are Henry Fonda, Maureen O'- Hara, James McArthur, Wally Cox, Mimsy Farmer and Donald Crisp.

In short, this is the heartwarming story of a large mountaineering family in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

One man's struggle to build his hard-working family a "dream house" atop a mountain is altered with his changing sense of values as his son fights for an education and approaches manhood. This is an excellent family movie.

BATTLE CRY
 The hard-hitting and sometimes shocking novel of the Marine Corps
 by the top-flight writer, Leon Uris, author of EXODUS and MILA 18 comes to the screen in a powerful movie of men at war.

You meet again all the lovable, fantastic creatures, Danny, Chernick, the "Professor," O'Hara, Spanish Joe and "Highockets" Huxley, who captivated over 2 million readers of the dynamic novel.

Brutal at times, and never lacking for action, this is a proud, realistic story of the men of our Corps at war.

HELEN OF TROY
 Another so-so Italian spectacle, Rossana Podesta, an unusually enticing piece of pasta, is the siren from Troy who kicks off the famous war between Sparta and Troy.

Highlights (?) include the legendary Trojan Horse and the battle between Achilles and Hector. Rated "Good" as a costume drama by reviewers.

SUMMER HOLIDAY
 Not too much information is available on this new musical, except that it stars Cliff Richard, Laurie Peters, and is a successor to "The Young Ones" which met with box office success. The primary background is Athens, Greece.

IT HAPPENED IN ATHENS
 The colorful backgrounds of the Olympic Games held in turn-of-the-century Greece form the background for this movie. A young shepherd enters the famed 26-mile marathon, and Jayne Mansfield offers to marry the winner.

Lejeune Based Marines Act Pe

The 1st Bn., 6th Marines, (BLT 1/6) commanded by Lt. Col. M. W. Schmidt, recently returned to Camp Lejeune after five and a half months in the Mediterranean. As the Landing Force of the 6th Fleet, 1/6 learned that the activities of a "Med Cruise" has its effect upon the people of those countries bordering the Mediterranean Sea.

Although amphibious operations first began in the Mediterranean area 35 centuries ago, reinforced battalions from the 2d Marine Division deployed with the 6th Fleet in Med waters, did not come into being until shortly after the end of WW II.

Ever since a 2d Division battalion made the first cruise, newspapers in Europe and the U. S. have told of the times the Marines participated in 6th Fleet relieved BLT 2/8 and assumed the designation of Task Force 62.

Turnaway landings off Mallorca Island were next on the BLT 1/6 schedule. These "wet net" exercises utilized landing craft, amphibian tractors and helicopters. Two days later, the battalion reached its first port of call: Palermo, Sicily.

Palermo

While many of the Marines toured the city in horse-drawn carriages, back aboard the USS FRANCIS MARION, a Sicilian Monsignor, accompanied by several orphans, visited the ship.

The Monsignor met BLT 1/6 Chaplain, Anthony C. Volz and told the priest of the Casa del Fanciullo, a Boys' Home located on the outskirts of the city. Father Volz listened as the Monsignor told of his difficulties in was completely painted by the Marines.

The depot's repair shop, used now as a school room and study hall, was given a new ceiling and holes in the roof were sealed with cement and tiles.

The last building, the parish church, received a new coat of paint, which included pews and doors. Installed in the Monsignor's office was an intercom system, donated by the Marines, which linked the office with all buildings.

One hundred yards of railroad track was extracted from hardened soil by the Marines. The rails, to be sold for scrap, would provide money for later modernization.

Shortly before the Marines departed Palermo, a Sicilian newspaper quoted the Monsignor in his praise

WHERE THE KIDS ARE—Wherever and whenever children of orphanages, schools and institutions congregate, Marines of BLT 1/6 also congregated and found time to spread good cheer and NATO operations. Later, more news items appear in newspapers of both continents concerning the voluntary Marine "People-to-People" programs. This article tells the role which one such battalion played in this program.

The Beginning

Battalion Landing Team 1/6, departed Morehead City on May 9 and sailed for Rota, Spain. There they maintaining the orphanage.

Word of the Sicilian priest and his visit spread among the Marines, and the following day, 85 Leathernecks proceeded to the orphanage ready to "turn to."

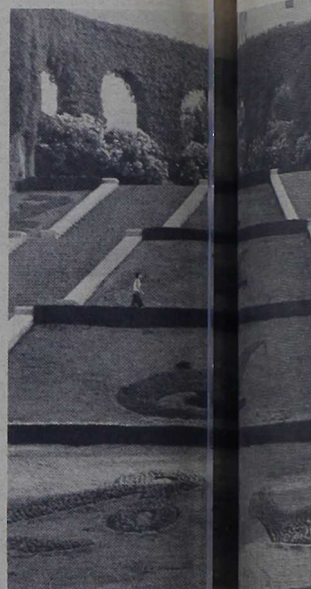

The orphanage was originally a train depot and consisted of three buildings. One building had been converted into a 12-room dormitory. This structure

The BLT 1/6 People-to-People program in Palermo did not end with the accomplishments at the orphanage. The Sicilian Branch of the Italian Red Cross were having their difficulties getting the citizens to donate for their own needs. The Marines and sailors sparked a massive volunteer blood donor campaign. Before the BLT sailed, newspapers stated that the attitude of the people had changed because of the combined Marine and Navy effort. The local Red Cross Director told how the citizens were reluctant to donate because they were unaccustomed to procedures for extracting blood. "The Sixth Fleet effort gave them confidence and now Sicilian blood needs would no longer be a problem," he told a Navy physician aboard the

Nea Peramos

An assault landing at Nea Peramos, Greece afforded the battalion training and maneuver exercises in mountainous terrain. In addition to a rigorous schedule, Marines and sailors found time to offer a hand in furthering the People-to-People program.

Lt. James J. Quinn, MC, USN, set up a medical examination center in the rear of the compact City Hall at Nea Peramos. Over a two-day period, Dr. Quinn aided by six Corpsmen, examined and, in most cases, treated better than 180 Greek civilians, who traveled over 30 miles to the facility.

From a picnic area established on the beach, and having enjoyed goodies provided by Marine cooks, the boys witnessed amphibious tractors, helicopters, and armored vehicles in action.

Landing craft transported the orphans to the USS HERMITAGE, for a demonstration of the well-deck flooding to launch two LCU's.

Located four miles from the Marine Camp was Nestor's Palace. This tourist attraction, mentioned in Homer's "Iliad," proved as interesting to the Marines as to the youngsters taken there for the hour.

Before their day with the Marines ended, the orphans

Double Benefits

Here the Marines instructed the children in soft ball and learned a few pointers in return about soccer.

The entire cruise furnished the Marines of 1/6 with an insight to such cities as: Barcelona, Athens, Rome, Naples, Genoa, Cannes, Paris and Malta.

One small Connecticut newspaper published the adventures of a home town Marine of the battalion in their weekly publication. He logged a daily journal of his activities in foreign countries and submitted the material regularly.

Ten bags of cement were left with the Greek Orthodox priests to finish the work as time ran out and the squadron sailed for Rhodes, Greece and liberty. A few hours before the Battalion embarked, however, Marine Engineers graded and packed the road farmers of the area used to transport their crops to the village. In addition, a 19-year-old girl polio victim was presented a pair of crutches bought through Marine contributions. She had used a cane for walking since she contracted the disease when she was seven.

Liberty tours at Rhodes acquainted the Marines with places mentioned in Greek mythology. There was much to be seen of the ruins of structures from civilizations once dominating the island.

Local Judo Club Plans Classes For Beginners

In an election held by the Camp Lejeune Judo Club last week Ira Bonar was elected to fill the office of president, replacing E. R. Smith, who has received orders for Okinawa. Bonar has been with the club since it began in 1961, and is going into his second stint as club president.

Classes for beginners in judo are scheduled to commence December 9. The course of ment, and start learning 40 different throws.

Bonar stressed that students will advance according to their ability, and that the club is interested in anyone who demonstrates an honest desire to learn.

In club elimination matches held at the last meeting Smith and Bonar tied in the black belt division, Kangas reaped honors both in the brown belt Instruction will then be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7 to 9 p. m., for the next three weeks. Classes will be held in bldg. 28.

Any Marine, or Marine dependent over six-years-old, who is interested in learning judo is invited to join the club and get in on the beginners classes.

The first class will cover the background and history of judo, specialized calisthenics, and learning to fall. From there students will progress through minor throws, principals of balance, proper body move-division and as All-Class Champion. Stokes won the trophy in the white belt class. The all-class match doesn't include competition from black belt holders.

Members of the club are beginning to work earnestly in preparation for the All-Marine Judo Tourney, which will be held early next spring, probably at San Diego, Calif.

Lejeune Fighters Open Season Fri.

Marines of the Camp Lejeune boxing team will battle some of the toughest men they will face all year when they enter the ring against Ft. Campbell here December 6. Fort Campbell for the past three years has had more inter-service boxing champions than any other military base.

These will be the first fights of the season for Marine coach Chuck Lawler's scrappers. They were slated to fight the team from Charleston Air Force Base last week, however Charleston was forced to cancel due to military obligations.

December 13 the Marines will fight the Police Athletic League Team from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Fight time is at 8:15 p. m. The battle site for the bouts is Goettge Memorial Field House.

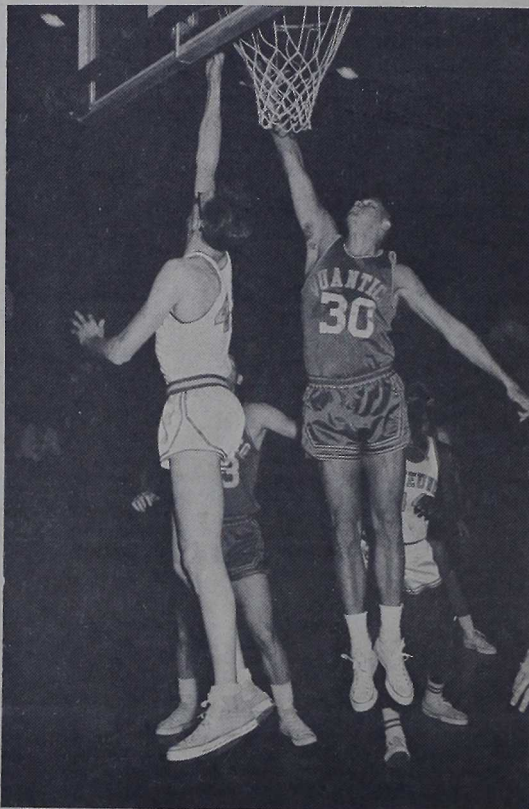

Lejeune Edged Out 84-80 In Opener With Quantico

The Camp Lejeune varsity basketball team lost its opening game 84-80 to the Quantico Marines last night despite a 17 point scoring rampage early in the second half by Lejeune's Chuck Dennis.

Quantico, featuring players ups by Jim McGee and Chuck Dennis narrowed the gap within six points before Quantico's Peloff could break the ice for the visitors.

Dennis then netted three straight baskets to bring Lejeune within two points, but Then with 5:35 left in the game Al Mahoney hit with a jump shot from the key to narrow the gap, and Bill Gross drove in with a lay-up to tie the score at 71-71.

Peloff again grabbed the lead for Quantico, this time on a set shot, and Dick Hall stretched it with a jump shot. Peloff dunked a lay-up to widen the lead further, then Lejeune's Jim McGee got Lejeune back on the track with a foul shot followed by a set shot, however Quantico held their own to hand the Lejeune squad a defeat for their first game of the year.

Chuck Dennis led the Lejeune team with 21 points, followed by Bill Jenkins with 16, and Jim McGee with 14.

Dick Peloff led for Quantico with 25, "Puddy" Sheehan was second on the team, with 19.

Lejeune Defeat Quantico 87-82 In Second Cage

Camp Lejeune basketball team avenged their previous night's 84-80 defeat down Quantico 87-82 in a second action-packed battle.

Quantico pulled ahead in the game and was led by 7 points when Lejeune charged with 6 minutes left in the first half and cut their lead to one point.

Lejeune pulled ahead 24-19 on a jump shot by Bill Jenkins. Quantico took the lead again with less than two minutes in the half and lead 42-39.

Behind the sharp shooting Bill Gross, Joe Gallagher, Charlie Dennis, Lejeune narrowed the gap to one point. With five seconds remaining Gallagher scored a basket, fouled and dunked the free throw to pull the Lejeune Marines ahead 52-50 at the half.

The 19th Hole

By BOB SPENCER

If you have slipped out of groove and have become erratic, regain your tempo by slowing down your swing on practice tee.

Slow it down to the point where you are hitting these shots about 135 yards instead of 225 to 300 yards. This tempo will enable you to feel all the basic parts of the swing.

You will then be focusing your eyes and your attention on the foundation of the swing on which you have learned to rely. For example, you will be able to feel the gradual wobble, the pushing off of the side, the transfer of weight, the pulling motion with the side and the wrist snap at the bottom of the swing.

More often it is faulty timing that causes most of the gravitating errors. Correct one fault and the others will more than likely disappear.

This method is especially practical for the Zero to handicap players. It is not recommended as a method of learning how to play, but to get back into the real swing of things. Go the slow and easy route on the practice tee to your rhythm returns and you will be back in the groove.

Coach Solves Problem; Creates National Sport

Back in December of 1891 young physical education instructor at the International Men's Christian Association training school, now Springfield College, at Springfield, Mass., had a problem. The students at Springfield, trying to become Y. M. C. A. members had only Swedish, man and French forms of sthenics for activity to fill void between football and basketball season. The students rather bored with the exercises.

He head of the physical education department at Springfield College assigned the young instructor to devise an indoor game to fill the gap. The instructor, named James Naismith, then proceeded to come with the game of basketball, only major sport of strict J. S. origin.

Principles Set

After trying unsuccessfully to modify outdoor games, Naismith came up with 13 rules and the five principles that govern the game. The principles are (1) There must be a ball, large, light, and handled in the hands; (2) There shall be no running with the ball; (3) No man on either team shall be restricted from getting the ball at any time it is in play; (4) Both teams are to occupy the same area, yet there shall be no personal contact and the goal shall be horizontal and elevated.

Though the principle is the same, the resemblance between the original game and the fast-moving, action packed game of today is very minute.

Peach Baskets Used

In the beginning a pair of peach baskets were nailed to a 10 foot high balcony for goals, a soccer ball was used, and players had a choice of three types of uniforms. They could use length football type trousers, jersey tights, used by basketballers, or short padded knickerbockers, which were the forerunners of today's uniform.

The soccer ball was soon discarded in favor of a larger, round ball, which was followed by the lacrosse ball in 1897, and in 1901 the molded ball which is used today was adopted.

The situation was not too good around the backboard in the beginning. After a goal the ball was retrieved with a ladder. It didn't take long until they had a trap-door affair with a chain so the officials could release the ball from the floor. The net, as used today was developed soon after the trap-door gimmick.

Courts Take Shape

Until 1903 the courts were of regular shapes with obstructions in the way in some cases: stairways, pillars, offices, and things of that nature. In the first years of the game, the playing space determined the number of men on a team, but in 1905 the team size was set at five.

The evolution from early basketball to today's game has been a gradual change, as evidenced by the rule modifications.

In 1895 the value of a field goal was changed from three points to two points, and foul shots which had counted three points were degraded to one point in value.

In 1901 a restriction was made that a dribbler could not shoot a basket, however this rule lasted only a few years, being withdrawn in 1909.

Before 1919 once a player is taken out of the game he could not re-enter. The backboard was moved two feet inside the walls of the courts to prevent players from "climbing" the wall for a shot. Running with the ball became a violation rather than a foul in 1922.

Before 1924, the most accurate player on a team would take all the foul shots. This rule was changed so that the man fouled had to take his own shot.

The ten second rule which makes it mandatory for the team that has the ball to advance beyond half court, was adopted in 1933.

Tall Players Hindered

In 1937, in an attempt to limit the effectiveness of the taller players, a ruling was passed to prohibit players from standing in the free throw lane for more than three seconds at a time.

Another rule to curb the effectiveness of the tall players was passed in 1945, when it was made illegal for a defensive player to touch a ball on its downward flight while the ball was above the level of the basket. This kept the "Sky-scrappers" from jumping higher than the rim and knocking a shot away before it reached the basket. Restrictions were lifted on substitutes also during 1945.

Although the evolution of basketball was slow and gradual, its growth in popularity was meteoric. Within three years it was being played at many colleges, and had been demonstrated in Canada, France and England.

One of the biggest single factors to influence basketball occurred in 1915. Prior to this time each college formed its own rules committee. As can be imagined this created considerable confusion, so in 1915 the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., the Amateur Athletic Union, and the Y. M. C. A. formed a joint rules committee to standardize the game.

Most Popular Sport

Encyclopedia Britannica states that basketball is watched by more spectators in the United States than any other sport. The figures set for high school contests numbers more than 100 million fans. Colleges attract 15-20 million spectators annually.

So, out of young Naismith's problem came the most popular spectator sport, a game that small schools can participate in successfully, the only popular All-American game, and a game that has been adopted as a part of Olympic competition.

FAG, Engineer Teams Still Unbeaten In Force Troops Intramural Net Action

The high scoring basketball machines of 8th Engineer Bn. and 2d Field Artillery Group continued to roll over their opponents and remain tied for first place in the Force Troops Intramural Basketball League, thus setting the stage for last night's head on clash of the two unbeaten.

Engineers took a six game victory string into last night's game while the FAG "Canonnereers" laid their five game winning streak on the line. A victory for either team means undisputed possession of first place as the only undefeated, while the loser drops into a second place tie with once-beaten Headquarters Co.

Radio Co. rolled over winless 2d Topo Co., 67-41, with McBeth and Ward garnering 14 points each for the winners.

Eighth Communication Bn. broke into the win column with a 68-23 victory over the spirited 2d Bridge Co., team. Baxa was high for Comm with 17 points, while Moore added 14 and Bowden 12 to the winning cause.

Motor Transport Bn., turned the tables on Radio Co. for their first win, 61-57. A 28 point effort by Perrotto led MT's scoring. Hennelly and Campbell added 12 and 11 points respectively for the winners.

Engineers staved off a late rally by 8th Comm to slip by the communicators 67-63 and remain undefeated. Luttrell tallied 23 for Engineers, while Bradford added 20.

Headquarters tightened their hold on second place with a 76-48 victory over 2d Topo Co. Thomas and Jenkins led Headquarters with 20 points apiece.

Engineers continued to roll as they crushed 2d Topo Co., 73-47. High scoring Luttrell led the winners with 27 points.

Topo's mainstay Gasparovic scored 14, while Williams added 13 and Davis 10.

MAJ. GEN. A. L. BOWSER PLACES A PLAQUE commemorating the achievements of Col. Goettge, at Goettge Memorial Field House.

Plaque Honoring Goettge Placed In Field House

The late Colonel Frank B. Goettge, one of the greatest athletes ever to wear the globe and anchor, received further recognition for his outstanding athletic achievements when he was elected to the Summit County, Ohio, Sports Hall of Fame (Football), at an awards Banquet held at the Sheraton Hotel, in Akron, Ohio on October 28, 1963. Colonel Donald L. Dickson, USMCR, Editor-Publisher of the Leatherneck Magazine accepted the Award Plaque on behalf of the Marine Corps. Guest Speaker for the banquet was Steve Nagy, President, Professional Bowlers Association.

In ceremonies earlier this week, Maj. Gen. A. L. Bowser, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, dedicated the Award Plaque for permanent placement in the Goettge Memorial Field House.

Colonel Goettge was born in Canton, Ohio, on December 30, 1895, and began his rise to football fame at Ohio University. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in May, 1917, and was commissioned a 2nd Lt.

in July, 1918, and sailed for France in August of that year.

He was member of the famed Second Division AEF Football Team in France, but the events that made him a gridiron immortal, occurred in the early 20's at Quantico, Virginia.

As a member of the Quantico squad in this era, Colonel Goettge played on the team that won the President's Cup in 1925, and earned for himself the title of the "Great Goettge". In 1926 he coached the All-Marine Football Team which again won the President's Cup.

Colonel Goettge's professional career was equally distinguished including service in Haiti, China, Presidential Aide and Aide to the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

In the early days of fighting during the bitter Guadalcanal campaign Colonel Goettge, then the 1st Marine Division Intelligence Officer, was led to believe by intelligence reports and information received from prisoners that the enemy was starving and ripe for surrender. He took command of the reconnaissance party to probe enemy lines to substantiate this information. During the night of August 12 his party was ambushed and he was killed. He was posthumously awarded the Legion of Merit for his part in planning the successful amphibious landing at Guadalcanal.

The Summit County Sports Hall of Fame was inaugurated in 1957 to recognize Summit County residents who have been outstanding in one or more of the organized sports. In recognition of such outstanding achievements, persons duly elected to the Summit County Sports Hall of Fame are honored at the Annual Summit County Sports Celebrity Round-Up and Hall of Fame Banquet.

Goettge Memorial Field House was named in honor of Colonel Frank B. Goettge. It was constructed in 1950 and is large enough to handle two basketball games simultaneously. The average participation for post and station intramural basketball, boxing, wrestling, volleyball and judo events is 34,834 spectators annually. An additional 20,202 spectators saw special entertainment attractions as the Harlem Globetrotters, Polack Bros. Circus, and Louis Armstrong.

Recipe Of The Week

Christmas Tree Salad

lime gelatin
chopped celery chopped onion
tiny white pickled onions cranberries from cooked sauce tinted mayonnaise or sour cream

The Christmas Tree Salad is made with lime gelatin in which you have popped a generous supply of chopped celery and minced onion, before pouring into miniature Christmas tree molds. The white celery and onion bits help "decorate" the tree, but when it is unmolded tiny white pickled onions and cranberries, from cooked sauce, are added as trimming. Serve with mayonnaise, tinting it green if you like, or using sour cream for a snowy effect.

A Christmas Meditation

Cities bustling with busy shoppers . . . holly wreaths with crimson bows . . . Santa and his sleigh drawn by eight reindeer with Rudolph lighting the way . . . huge silver bells . . . Christmas trees . . . carols being chimed throughout department stores . . . packages wrapped with red and green satin bows . . . gaily colored decorations strung from streetlights . . . "in the air there's a feeling of Christmas."

A Christmas Prayer

Oh, Father up in heaven
We have wandered far away
From the Holy Little Christ Child
Who was born on Christmas Day . . .

And the Peace on Earth
You promised
We have been unmindful of
Not believing we could find it
In a simple thing called Love . . .

We've forgotten why You sent us
Jesus Christ, Your only Son,
And in arrogance and ignorance
It's OUR WILL Not THINE, BE DONE . . .

Oh, forgive us, heavenly Father
Teach us how to be more kind
So that we may judge all people
With our heart
And not our mind . . .

And, Oh God, in Thy great goodness
May our guidance Christmas Night
Be the Star the Wise Men followed —
Not a man-made satellite.

Registering Aboard Base

Auto Registration Not Complicated If Owner Has Forms, Forms, Forms

Buying a new car soon or trading the old jalopy for a "new" used one? If you are planning either of the above transactions or are bringing a car aboard the base for the first time, there is a new standard form that will be required before you can obtain your permanent base tags. Change 5 to Base Order P5560.2B, Motor Vehicle and Traffic Regulations outlines to all Camp Lejeune personnel the complete procedure for obtaining permanent tags and explains the use of the new form, DD1409, Vehicle Registration and Driver Record Form.

The DD1409 is intended to be a permanent driving record that will go with the individual serviceman or his dependent from station to station. Marines at Camp Lejeune must obtain a completed DD-

1409 Form from their unit office for each vehicle being registered aboard the base for the first time. This means that even though an individual may have been stationed at Camp Lejeune for a period of years, he must complete a DD1409 at his company office for each vehicle he registers for the first time, regardless of how many other vehicles he may already have registered at Camp Lejeune. Civilians other than dependents of military personnel will obtain their DD1409 at the Registration and Identification Desk in Building #37 at the time of initial application for base tags.

Upon permanent change of station, military personnel will pick up the DD1409 Forms for any vehicles registered by them or their dependents and deliver them to their unit commander for forwarding with staff returns to the next duty station.

Besides the DD1409, there are five documents needed by all persons registering a car on the base and a sixth for anyone registering a vehicle owned by anyone other than himself or his spouse.

A list of the documents needed to obtain permanent base tags includes:

1. ID Card, either military, dependent or civilian as appropriate.
2. Valid state drivers license.
3. Valid certificate of licensing or registration of vehicle.
4. Insurance policy or certificate showing $5,000/- $10,000/$5,000 personal injury property damage and liability insurance.
5. Base motor vehicle safety inspection certificate.
6. DD1409.
7. Notarized written permission to operate vehicle if owned by ANYONE other than self or spouse.

Complete details are contained in Base Order P5560.2B.

Lyndon Johnson, as a member of the Naval Reserve, became the first member of Congress to enter active duty.

He won the Silver Star gallantry in action on a five-over enemy positions in Guinea.

After a year in service, holding the rank of lieutenant commander, he returned to the House when President Roosevelt ordered all members of Congress in the service to turn to their offices.

After five successive terms in the House, Mr. Johnson was elected to the Senate in 1948. From 1952 until 1954 he was minority leader of the Senate. He assumed the majority leadership in 1954.

In 1960 he became the first Southerner since the Civil War to receive serious national consideration as a candidate for Democratic Presidential nomination. He lost the nomination to Massachusetts Senator John F. Kennedy in the first ballot.

After teaming with Mr. Kennedy on the Democratic ticket, he campaigned vigorously and was elected Vice-President along with the late President Kennedy.

When not in Washington, Johnson and Mrs. Johnson live at the Texas ranch near Johnson City. They have two daughters, Lynda Bird and Lucy Baines Johnson.
