Operation LOGEX Tests 8th Comm.

The combat readiness and effectiveness of 8th Comm. Bn., Force Troops, was recently demonstrated when Comm. Co. and Radio Relay and Construction Co. staged Operation LOGEX at Camp Pendleton, Va., located in the Norfolk area.

The dual purpose exercise provided for detail planning for embarking and debarking from LSTs and also the opportunity for the men of 8th Comm. to set up a network for a Marine Expeditionary Force Command Post.

More than 300 communications men and more than 100 pieces of rolling stock boarded the USS Lorain County at Morehead City bound for Little (See LOGEX, Page 12)

Commanding General Salutes Chaplains' 188th Anniversary

On behalf of Marine Corps Base and all of its subordinate commands, I wish to express the best wishes of all hands to the Navy Chaplain Corps on the occasion of your 188th Anniversary.

Throughout these many years the Marine Corps has relied for spiritual guidance, counselling, and the comradeship of the Navy Chaplains serving with the Marine Corps. The devotion of the Navy Chaplains serving with the Marine Corps has been outstanding on every occasion and you have served us well, not only as our spiritual counsellors and leaders, but as true comrades both on and off the field of battle. We are most thankful for the many many years of faithful ministry which you have provided to countless Marines.

On this occasion we send you our sincere wishes for a happy anniversary and we look forward to many more years of continued association between the U. S. Marine Corps and the Chaplain Corps of the United States Navy.

Maj. Gen. A. L. Bowser

'Sheriffs' Still Follow 'Jesse James'

Names from the, Old West were added to the roster of Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron-2, a unit of the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point, N. C., as Jesse James, followed by two Sheriffs, reported for duty here recently.

A series of coincidences brought the three Marines together. All three checked into the squadron on the same day, one behind the other.

Both Sheriffs, PFC George A. and Pvt. George E., live in Carlisle, Pa., but they are neither related nor did they know each other until reporting in.

Fish Consumers Warned; Some Bad In Great Lakes

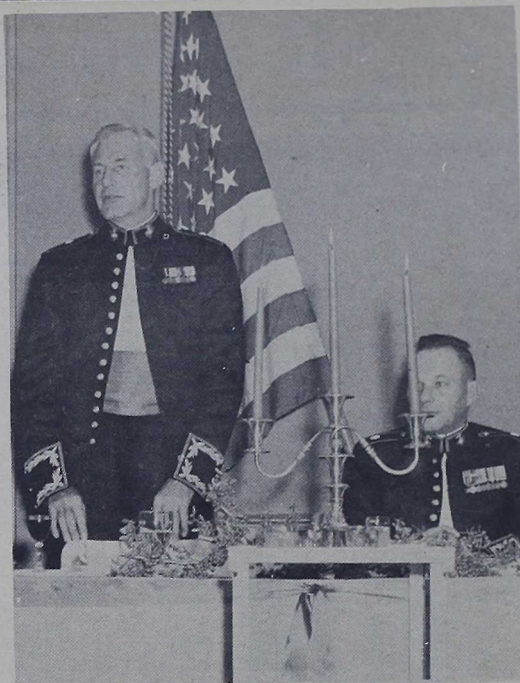

The U. S. Food and Drug Administration has recommended, along with the concurrence of BUMED that "all smoked fish products now on the market and made from Great Lakes fish or processed in establishments in the Great Lakes area should be destroyed unless it can be established with certainty that the fish was heated immediately after it was packaged in a manner that would assure a temperature of at least 180 degrees F., for at least 30 minutes in the coldest part of the fish. Such fish should be marked, perishable-keep under refrigeration or that the fish was frozen immediately after packaging and has since been maintained continuously in a frozen condition."

These products might be stocked by open and closed messes, enlisted clubs, commissary stores, in storage areas, retail stores or in the hands of consumers.

UNIVAC III Computers Aid Corps' Supply Units

Marine Corps has officially adopted three UNIVAC III computer systems into its Logistical Support System, the first of which was installed at the Marine Corps Supply Center, Albany, Ga.

The new system, under tests for the past few weeks are set for installation at the Bartsow, Calif., Supply Center and at the Supply Activity in Philadelphia, Pa., during December.

The three new systems will replace the older computers which have been in use at these locations since mid-1958. The latest systems will be used to keep track of approximately one quarter of a million items of supply with a book value of nearly one billion dollars.

The primary functions of the computers will be economical and accurate inventory control, integrated with financial control and managerial reporting.

Camp Lejeune is one of three principal customers of the Albany Supply Center and is linked to the Center by transceiver networks eliminating the need for manual computations of requirements and requisitioning.

The added data processing capability provided by the new computers will permit refinements and improvements in logistical support which are essential to keep pace with the technical advancements in equipment and new weapons systems.

Up To 30-Days Housing Available

Personnel in pay grades E-4 (with more than four years of service) through E-9 are authorized temporary housing in the Camp Geiger Trailer Park for a period not to exceed 30 days. No extensions will be authorized.

Trailers are equipped with all necessary household furnishings except bed linens, pillows and cooking utensils.

Applications should be made at the Quarters and Housing Office, bldg. TT 43 located near the Tarawa Terrace shopping center. For additional information call Base ext. 2-21-03.

L GUNNY—James Gregory, former Marine and the "gunny" of MGM-TV's "The Gunny," will be seen as the top guest star of "Capp's dy," episode of the weekly series on NBC Saturday night (Oct. 28). Gregory plays Sgt. Capp, with more than 10 years service, who gets to a romantic mixup with a Talbot, the "Lady" of a rifle. Gregory was a master sergeant in the Marines during World War II. He was stationed at Camp Lejeune, then at Camp Pendleton before going overseas to Guam, Saipan, Tinian and Okinawa.

Notice

Due to an advanced deadline date, and the break in the normal working week for a National Day of Mourning for the late President, some of the regular features on the GLOBE entertainment page have been omitted. The regular activities articles will return with the following issue.

IF YOU ASK ME

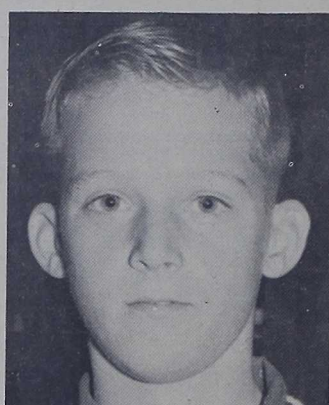

What Are You Most Thankful For This Thanksgiving?

GYSGT. FRANCES C. BILSKI, WM Co., MCB—Just living in a land where we have freedom of religion, speech and press is a wonderful thing. Also Thanksgiving Day is my wedding anniversary and this year my husband will be with me to celebrate.

SSGT. TON TUCCI, 2d Marines Special Services — "Keeping abreast on world situations as they exist today in many foreign countries. I am most thankful for having been born an American."

DANNY OVERPECK, Brewster Elementary School—"I am most thankful for the turkey and dressing. But I am most thankful for the pumpkin pie my mother bakes for dessert on Thanksgiving."

KATHLEEN MCGUIRE, Brewster Elementary School — "For Thanksgiving I am most thankful to be alive and to have such a wonderful mother and father in having such wonderful brothers and sisters."

Chaplain's Corner

Most people will celebrate Thanksgiving in 1963 with very little change in the daily routine. No one — perhaps I should say — very few will need to rise at the crack of dawn to begin getting ready for the day. This 28th day of November will be, for far too many people, a completely materialistic holiday. The turkey with all its trimmings will be placed upon a table groaning under the weight of many other dishes filled with various kinds of goodies to be eaten this day. Most of us won't have to practice eating the day before because we eat with such regularity that when Thanksgiving comes around we can put away a big meal without batting an eyelash.

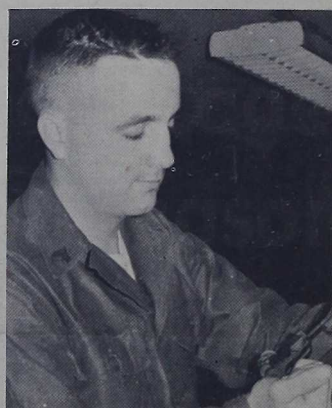

A large number of people will celebrate the 28th of November in restaurants and private clubs. This makes it easy for some because everything is done for them at a price that they can afford. Along with this group another group — small in numbers — will start their day by going to church.

Is it embarrassing to ask about God on Thanksgiving day? Does Thanksgiving day have any religious significance for us in the year 1963? There are almost two hundred million people in the United States, and only a tiny fraction of them will take time on Thanksgiving day to worship God.

This is very interesting and completely opposite from what happened on the first Thanksgiving day. The first celebration of Thanksgiving was specifically set aside to give God thanks for the blessings received, and for the opportunity of serving Him.

In this year of Our Lord we are so well blessed that many take, not only the blessings for granted, but life itself. God for many, many people does not belong in the center of life where it is very natural for parents and children to turn and give thanks. God is off on the far edge of life and need not be thanked for anything we have. However, our forefathers went to the church and very naturally turned to God and gave thanks for the harvest, and invited Him to be present with them on this day of prayer, good food, and thanksgiving. Should we do less in 1963?

—Chaplain C. E. HAILSTONE

CPL. LOUIS CARDIS, Legal Clerk, Rifle Range—"On this Thanksgiving Day I am thankful to God that I have been successful in many endeavors. I am also proud to be a citizen of a country where a man can think for himself without fear and which sets aside a special day of thanksgiving for the many benefits bestowed upon him and his loved ones."

MRS. LILA D. DURHAM, TID, 1st Avst Marshall Office, MCB—"I have so many things to be thankful for. I think most of all I am thankful for good health, and that I can spend the day with my loved ones. I'm thankful for good food, for a comfortable home and for the privilege of worshipping God in the church of my choice."

Those Who "Cooperate"

Tomorrow, November 28 is the 188th anniversary of the Chaplain Corps, U. S. Navy. Navy Chaplains look back with pride to their record of service from 1775-1963 to the men and women of the naval service in bringing them closer to God in peace and in war.

"Cooperation without Compromise" has been the unofficial slogan and spirit of the Corps for many years. It is this unity between clergymen of various faiths which in large measure made it possible for the Corps to overcome the hardships and handicaps of its early development and to come into its own place in the life and organizations of the Navy and Marine Corps.

In 1800 there were seven chaplains in the Navy; in WWI, their number increased to 203, and in WWII, the Corps reached its peak with 2,580 chaplains representing 37 different religious bodies.

At present the Corps numbers about 950. Chaplains are assigned on a ratio of one to each 1,000 (approx.) military personnel.

At present there are 37 chaplains assigned to commands in Camp Lejeune as follows: Six at Marine Corps Base, 22 in the 2d Marine Division, four with Force Troops, two at the Naval Hospital, two at the Marine Corps Air Facility, and one with Marine Air Group 26.

the ages of 21 and 33, if physically qualified, may become a Navy Chaplain if he has completed college and at least three years of graduate work in a seminary. Most denominations recommend or require from one to three years in a civilian pastorate as well. A candidate must, of course, be an ordained clergyman, endorsed by his denomination, and granted permission to enter the chaplaincy by his church. Finally, he must be able to establish fitness for the naval service through interviews and review of records.

In recent years chaplains enter the Corps in a reserve status. Opportunity is available in the course of time, for certain qualified Reserve Chaplains to transfer to the regular Navy through an in-service Augmentation.

Marines have consistently taken such good care of their "padres" that many chaplains keep asking for Marine duty on their "dream sheets". One hundred and four Navy chaplains served in the Korean War with the 1st Marine Division and 15 with the 1st Marine Air Wing. For their service, 74 chaplains received 117 combat citations including three Silver Stars and 13 Purple Hearts.

Countless numbers of service personnel have been helped out of difficult problems by chaplains, with most cases known only to the personnel and chaplains concerned. But most important of all, chaplains have taken the Church to personnel wherever they have been.

The chaplains assigned to Navy and Marine commands are dedicated to the task of attempting to bring God closer to you and you closer to God.

Athletic Action Ceases At President's Death

Sports action throughout the country came to a stand-still following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy last Friday.

His alma-mater, Harvard, led the way when it postponed the traditional Harvard-Yale classic shortly after the President's death. This game has been played every year since 1875, and was often enjoyed by the sports-loving late President.

The Athletic Assn. of Western Universities (Big Six) postponed all of the games slated for last Saturday to November 30. This affected the game between Washington and Washington State, which could have great bearing on the Rose Bowl, Invitation this year.

In all, 58 college games were cancelled or postponed.

There was also a marked effect on professional sports. The scheduled TV fight last Friday night between Allen Thomas and Johnny Persol was called off, and the National Basketball Assn. and the American Football League postponed all their scheduled games.

The three television networks cancelled all sports coverage for the weekend.

At press time there is no word as to whether the traditional Army-Navy game scheduled for Saturday will be played. This game has been played annually without interruption since 1930.

10th Marines Winners Division Intramural Title

The 10th Marines clinched the Division Intramural Football championship crown when they managed to down the fired up 2d Marines Wednesday in a 37-32 close call at Liversedge Field.

Two pass interceptions and three touchdowns marked the play of the first half in the closely matched gridiron battle. After changing the pigskin several times the red-shirted 2d Marines got down to the business at hand when Tom Foley intercepted a 10th Marines pass. Roosevelt (Rosey) Williams moved the ball downfield when he pulled in a long pass. Jim Claxton then caught an aerial thrown by Williams for the 45 yard touchdown play. Roscoe Coffield ran the extra point over the line for the 2d Marines.

A tricky 27 yard kickoff return by G. C. Cavalier for the yellow-shirted 10th Marines sparked the next touchdown drive. In spite of an illegal procedure penalty the 10th Marines moved to the enemy 15. Quarterback R. Scalzi rifled the ball to S. R. Hanten for the six-pointer. R. Crane, kicker for the 10th Marines, made the extra point good.

Kickoff and seconds later the men in yellow again had possession of the ball, via a pass interception by Crane on the five yard mark. With time running out in the first half, the fantastic 10th Marines passed and fought their way to the enemy 20 yard line. With 55 seconds to go, and no more time outs, R. L. Hill took a pass and twisted his way past swarms of defending tacklers for another tally. Crane kicked another point.

The first tally in the second half came when 10th Marines' R. L. Hill snatched a toss from the air while red-shirted 2d Marines swarmed over him. Crane split the uprights for an extra point.

The last period opened with a yellow-shirted J. D. Weir interception on the 25, teammate Ed Parker caught a TD aerial from quarterback R. Scalzi, but the charging 10th Marines' linesmen blocked the kick.

Once again in possession of the ball, the determined 2d Marines mounted a fierce offensive drive to paydirt. Red-shirted Roscoe Coffield ran his way through the midline for the touchdown.

The 10th Marines started their retaliation drive with a kick return when T. R. McClelland scratched and charged his way through the enemy for 58 yards to the 22 yard line. Ed Parker, playing right end slot, pulled in a six point aerial. His 10th teammate, R. Crane, made the extra point.

2d Marines' Roscoe Coffield outdistanced a swarm of defenders to mid-field. Coffield charged into paydirt for the six point tally. The point was passed over the line.

The stalwart 2d Marines defenders ground the yellow jerseys to a halt and regained ownership of the ball. The score of the game was tied up when Larry Gragg charged his way through four 10th Marines' tacklers for an 8 yard TD jant.

Final score, 37-32. The 10th Marines beat the 2d Marines to win the Division Intramural football championship.

Grid, Ring Action Postponed

The Lejeune-Quantico football game scheduled for November 23 was postponed indefinitely. At press time no date had been set for the game.

Boxing action slated for November 26, against Charleston Air Force Base was also called off. December 6 is the date set for the next ring battles, however Fort Campbell has not confirmed on these matches, and they too may be cancelled.

Sportsmanship

In our great desire for winning teams many of us time to time forget the one great lesson that should be taught, and learned, in amateur athletics. In fact, the learning of this lesson is one of the greatest justifications for amateur sports programs. This is the lesson of good sportsmanship, which ideally is to be held higher than scores or records of a team.

Maj. Gen. A. L. Bowser, addressing the ECI Conference winning baseball team earlier this year at their net expressed the idea of good sportsmanship when pointed out that in athletics the record of a team is a small measure of their value. He stated, "Winning is only part of the game. It is what you learn winning or losing, what you learn playing together, that counts. Many of the lessons learned on the ball field carry over into life."

In the final analysis, a particular athletic contest is only a game, nothing more. If this particular game is won or lost, there is no lasting consequence of any importance.

What is important is what is done to win or lose the game. If, for any reason, the coach or team sacrificed the integrity of good sportsmanship to win a game, or a championship, the coach or the team is a "loser."

If, on the other hand, a coach and team perform as well as possible, giving everything they have to the game, and lose, but lose cleanly, and like men, that is a "winner", even though they lose every game in the schedule.

As long as our teams measure up to the rigid specifications of good sportsmanship, win or lose, let's give them our full support. Further, let us hope that they will continue to demonstrate the ideals of sportsmanship, no matter the circumstances.

Diego Drops Pensacola Leatherneck Bowl Tilt

SAN DIEGO, CALIF., Nov. 26.—The Marine Corps Recruit Center's Devil Dogs, pointing for their first undefeated season since 1959, shot down the Pensacola Navy Goshawks 44-7 in the Sixth Annual Leatherneck Bowl Game.

Balboa Stadium crowd of 10,000 viewed the Marines as they rolled up a five touchdown over the experience-laden Goshawks.

Back Hugh Oldham ignited the offense as he boosted the score to the note of touchdowns. "Oldham is the fastest back I have ever seen," said an opposing Navy player. "Once he turns the corner you can forget him."

Ed Kirk, primarily a defensive halfback, picked up two touchdowns for the Depot eleven. Prince Hearnis lit up the scoreboard for one six-pointer, and Herb Travino booted a field goal.

Oldham broke the ice with minutes nine seconds remaining in the opening quarter. He set up a key block by fullback Perry Rodrigue and end Nawotczynski, he swept the right end and out-sprinted the opposition for a 78-yard touchdown.

Picking specialist Travino booted his conversion count as he booted the first point-after-touchdown through the uprights.

The Navy initiated their single scoring drive on the series of downs opening the second quarter. They marched from their own 40-yard line to the Devil Dog 11 in 14 plays. Quarterback Jim Damron connected with end Jim Schawb in the end zone for the lone Pensacola score and Tom Madison kicked the extra point.

The Devil Dogs grabbed the lead, which they steadily increased throughout the remainder of the game, late in the second quarter. On the same type of play as his first, Oldham cut the corner around right end and dashed 19 yards to paydirt.

From then until the final gun the Marines were rulers of the field. The big Devil Dog defensive forward wall completely stymied the Goshawks ball control type of play.

Local Angling 'Spotty'; Hatteras Area Optimistic

Although glowing fishing reports are coming in from the Cape Hatteras area, a pool of the local pier managers indicated a scarcity of fish right now. The optimism reflected by these men a couple of weeks ago seems to be on the decline.

Some pier managers at Topsail Island reported a couple of good days on sea trout, and a few puppy drum being taken, but mostly the action is slow, and not expected to improve any time soon.

At Kitty Hawk 24 school size striped bass were taken in a three day period. This is said to be more striped bass than have ever been taken along the Outer Banks before. The largest of the 24 stripes was 5-1/2 lbs. Most striped bass are caught trolling in sounds during the Autumn months.

A report from Manteo indicates that although there are plenty of trout and puppy drum in the surf, the behemoth channel bass which normally invade the surf during the first half of November have not appeared. So far, all the large bass have been taken in Hatteras Inlet by anglers casting or trolling from charter boats.

The Cape Hatteras area is world renowned for its runs of channel bass between November 1 and December 15. Prominent fishermen from all over the country have listed over the surf fishing at Hatteras during the fall run as a "must" on their schedule. It has been an accepted fact that a fantastic run of bass will occur.

the different zone defense, and if the need should arise they can set up a zone with no difficulty.

Judging from their performance during scrimmages, members of the starting team against Quantico may be Tom Gallagher, William Gross, Jim McGee, and William Jenkins, with Charles Dennis, Ernest Boyden, Charles Turner and Mahoney in a toss-up for the fifth slot.

Gallagher displayed good accuracy under the basket during scrimmage, Jenkins was hitting well from outside with a jump shot, while Gross dunked several baskets after following up a shot.

December 9 they will return here for a game against Fort

Bragg, which will be the last home action for Lejeune until December 17-18-19, when the Christmas Tournament begins.

The 19th Hole

By BOB SPENCER

A ball in the rough does not automatically call for an iron shot. When distance is needed, and getting on or near the green is important to the golfer, a wood should be used.

This may sound contradictory to the common advice you hear to play it safe with an iron, but unless the rough is extremely high or the grass thick, I personally would use a four wood.

It's been a good club for me in this type of situation for two reasons: (1) It seems that I am always in the rough, and (2) the shape of the clubhead cuts a path through the high grass much better than a two or three iron.

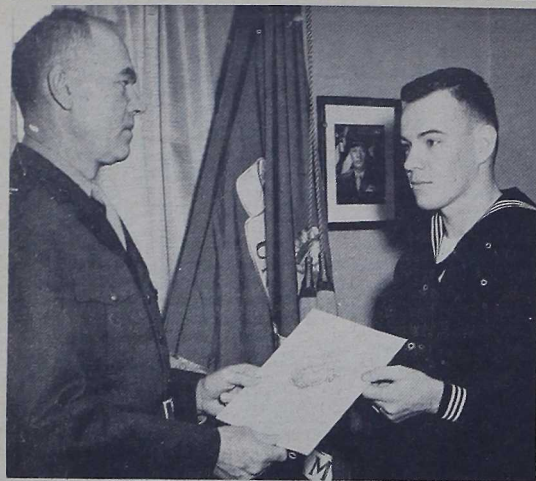

The wood has a longer shaft than the iron, and greater clubhead speed is obtained without extra force or effort. Consequently it is easier to get the clubhead through the grass and through the ball.

By playing the shot exactly as you would one from the fairway with the same club, you will get the full satisfaction of a direct hit and maximum distance.

Schools, Performances Earn Masts For Two Engineer School Marines

Two Engineer Schools Marines were recently awarded Meritorious Masts for their excellence of performance, particularly in personal leadership. The following are excerpts from their respective masts:

Corporal Lorenzo Baker joined this command on December 28, 1962, since that date he has displayed outstanding leadership abilities, a thorough knowledge of his occupational field and a marked ability to impart instruction to junior personnel. From July 19, 1963, to August 16, 1963, Corporal Baker was assigned to the NCO Leadership School, 2d Marine Division, FMF. On August 19, 1963, he was graduated from this course as a distinguished graduate, standing third in his class of thirty-nine, with an academic average of 91.90 percent.

Corporal Baker's personal appearance, initiative and his strong desire for improvement are in keeping with the high standards demanded of a Marine Non-Commissioned Officer. He is commended for his outstanding performance of duty and his academic achievements.

LCpl. Russel J. Vande Vrede, was awarded a Meritorious Mast, for service as set forth in the following Citation:

"Recently, LCpl. Vande Vrede was assigned to the Force Troops Personnel Administration School. Upon completion of five weeks of instruction, he had attained the honor of being first in a class of 19 students. LCpl. Vande Vrede graduated with a final average of 93.55 percent. This is especially commendable in the overall class average of 85.47 percent.

With only 15 months experience in Occupational Field 0100, coupled with only month of previous experience in company level administration, LCpl. Vande Vrede exhibited extraordinary initiative and ability in competition with men of senior rank, possessed varied experience within the administrative field. In his daily duties he has displayed his ability to grasp intricate administrative details, requiring experience normally associated with a man of his rank.

Lance Corporal Vande Vrede's initiative, professional competence and determination are in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Marine Corps and he is commended for a job well done.

History of Communism

Abdication By Nicholas II
Terminated Czarist Reign

(Third of a series of 20 articles entitled The History of Communism, by MSgt. Walter Stewart, USMC. Reprinted by AFPS from the San Diego Chevron, Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.)

Germany's declaration of war resulted from Russia's mobilizing against Germany, a measure that was equivalent to declaring war.

Germany's declaration of war on Russia in August 1914, although rumored quite freely, and indeed the result of Russian mobilization against Germany, still caught the Russians unprepared.

Russian artillery pieces were outmoded, ammunition of all kinds was in short supply and rifles were so scarce troops sometimes went into battle with only one rifle per 10 men. Poor logistics, inadequate training and mismanagement which bordered on being criminally stupid, cost Mother Russia the greatest toll known in modern history and perhaps of all times.

Except for fragmentary successes by Czarist forces, the real opponent on Germany's eastern front was the weather—the terrible winters which stopped Napoleon and later proved a downfall to Adolf Hitler.

After a year of war, Nicholas could be restrained (from the "game") no longer and took command in the field—another serious mistake since he was not a good tactician and lacked the strength of his ancestors such as Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great. Too, his absence from the capital (Petrograd) had the effect of turning the government over to the villainous Rasputin.

Rasputin, who claimed to be a holy man, was a filthy, drunken debauchee. The Czarina however, believed Rasputin to have divine powers and wisdom, and diligently sought to have carried out his every suggestion.

Consequently, as a result of her letters to Nicholas, Rasputin began naming and replacing ministers within the government—and his decisions were based largely on the beauty and availability of the candidate's wife. The management of fools and incompetents took their toll of the national ability.

The war became immensely unpopular. Soldiers deserted by the thousands and famine ruled the Steppes. In March, 1917, the people of Petrograd revolted.

On March 9, 300,000 demonstrators appeared in the streets of the capital city. Two days later, in another demonstration, shooting broke out. The telling blow of this uprising was the defection of the city's military forces. In three days some 170,000 men had mutinied.

END OF AN ERA—Nicholas II, Czar of Russia, photographed during his exile. A year after abdicating his throne he was executed by revolutionists at Ekaterinburg.

Alan Moorehead's, THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION, reports, "...the crowd was running amok.... police stations, were being attacked, looted and burned.... law courts were stormed and rioters ran through the building hurling documents out onto the frozen canal below.... others attacked the jails and released the prisoners—murderers, thieves, political detainees.... When night fell many fires were burning throughout the city."

The Duma took over the government and sent a messenger to the Czar, demanding his abdication. Other messages were sent to the army commanders, advising them of the Duma's new status. Military commanders presuming the Czar already had abdicated, pledged allegiance to the Duma and the days of Czarist reign were over.

Nicholas abdicated March 15, naming his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, his successor. It was an empty gesture. Upon being informed of his inheritance, Michael, too abdicated, for it was not a healthy time to be the czar.

1st Full, Safe Year

Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-265, commissioned just over a year ago, last week, flew its first 10,000 flight hours, all accident free. Lt. Col. L. C. Ritter, commanding officer of HMM-265 logged in the 10,000 hour when he landed at the Air Facility.

It was a particularly significant day for the 265 skipper who has been flying for 20 years to the day, and has been commanding officer of HMM-65 for one year to the day.

During fiscal year 1963, Ritter's Critters flew 5686 accident free hours, while making 3,621 shipboard landings to attain the 1963 FMFLant Safety Award.

HMM-265 was commissioned at New River Air Facility October 1, 1962, under the command of Maj. H. V. Larson. Within hours after commissioning, HMM-265 deployed to Memphis, Tenn., in connection with the Mississippi crisis. This feat of less than 12 hours between commissioning and deployment established a HMM-265 "SOP" (Standard Operating Procedure) that has yet to be changed.

Under its present commanding officer, the squadron loaded aboard the USS Boxer, LPH-4, in January 1963 for a two month training cruise in the Caribbean. During this period HMM-265 flew more than 2,000 accident free hours while flying extensive maneuvers in the Vieques, Puerto Rico area.

Continuing its record of actual continuous deployment since being commissioned, HMM-265 again returned to the Caribbean area for a month training exercise aboard the USS Okinawa, LST-1163, participating in all types of operations, the squadron amassed more than 3,000 hours involving thousands of hours of carrier landings and night carrier landings.

The record of 10,000 flights in the period of 13 months is itself of which the men of HMM-265 can be justly proud accomplishing this feat without an accident is truly an achievement worthy of praise.

FMF Units Battle Hard

More than 40 shooters from five commands began firing in the 1963 Fleet Marine Force Atlantic Rifle and Pistol Intramural Championships at the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range last Wednesday.

Wednesday's action began with preliminary firing in the .22, .38 and .45 caliber pistol competition with match finals fired Thursday. LOGEX —

Creek, Va. Winds up to 30 knots an hour and rain made the establishment of the command post network difficult but a complex communication system was completed to the USS Boxer at sea, Camp Lejeune, Cherry Point, FMFLant headquarters and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Commander of the exercise, Maj. J. E. Buynak, termed the operation a success and felt the poor weather conditions gave the men good experience in operating in the field under adverse weather conditions.
