Nine Prep School Slots Filled By Lejeune Men

Nine Camp Lejeune Marines
have recently received orders to report to the Naval Preparatory School, Bainbridge, Md., for possible appointment to the United States Naval Academy,
Annapolis, Md.

Two men from the 2d Marine Division were among the nine.
They are PFC R. R. Austin,
Hq. Co., 6th Marines and PFC
W. Morse, 3d Bn., 10th Marines.

Force Troops accounted for three of the nine selectees. They are LCpl. J. A. Degroot, a tank mechanic in H&S Co., 2d Tank
Bn.; PFCs J. F. Devir, 2d
ANGLICO and W. H. Wishard,
H&S Co., 2d Tank Bn.

The four remaining Lejeune
men were selected from Marine Corps Base. They are LCpls.
E. J. Lesky, Service Co., H&S
Bn. and M. A. Russo, Hq. Co., H&S Bn.; Pvts. F. B. Morgan and E. H. O. Boeckler, both of 1st ITR.

The candidates for the Naval Preparatory School were administered an examination in June prior to their selection
by the Commandant of the Marine Corps. To qualify for the school program, a candidate must be at least 17 and not more than 21 years of age as of July 1 of the year in which selected. He must also have completed high school, or be a high school graduate at the completion of the nine-month

"Prep" School. The "Prep"
school allows its graduates
three and one half credits toward their high school diploma upon completion of the school.

While at the school, each candidate is given an examination for entrance to the Naval Academy in March of the year following his initial enrollment.
The Secretary of the Navy selects the appointees on the basis of the examination. If selected, a candidate must serve a minimum of four years
as an officer after graduation
from the Academy.

Congressmen Agree Hike Will Take Effect October 1

Regardless of a delay in final approval of the 1963 military pay bill (H. R. 5555), servicemen have been assured that the effective date of Oct. 1 will stand.

Both Sen. Richard Russell
(D., Ga.), Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D., S. C.) of the House Armed Services Committee,

told Armed Forces Press Service that any delay "would not alter the effective date of Oct
1."

This means the pay raise
would be retroactive if passage is stymied by other, more urgent bills in Congress.

It is likely, according to reports, that the committees will meet in September. But there exists a remote possibility that the committees will not get together until October or November.

As it now stands, the Senate and House have passed separate military pay bills that differ in some areas. A conference committee from each must meet to iron-out the differences before the bill can be sent to President Kennedy for signature.

The House conferees are Reps. Rivers, P. J. Philbin
(D., Mass.), F. E. Hebert (D., La.) W. A. Winstead (D., Miss.),
Walter Norblad (R., Ore.), W. H.
Bates (R., Mass.) and W. G.
Bray (R., Ind.).

Senate spokesman said an announcement will be made of the Senate conferees.

ree Squads Selected For Combat Competition

Final selections have been made as to the squads representing the 2d Marine Division
in the Corps-wide Combat Marksmanship Course competition to be held at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., Sept. 17, 18 and 19.

The three squads, representing the 2d, 6th and 8th Marines, will depart for Quantico sometime between Sept. 6 and 10.

Representing the 2d Division will be the 2d squad, 2d Platoon, Company "I", 3d Battalion, 2d Marines, led by Sgt.
Dennis D. Dooley; the 3d squad
3d Platoon, Company "M", 3d Battalion, led by Cpl. Pete Tim-berlake, will represent the 6th
Marines and the 3d squad, 3d Platoon, Company "B", 1st Battalion, 8th Marines will be led by Sgt. John W. Brown.

Combat Marksmanship competition is held at Quantico each year, when the Corps' outstanding squads meet to compete for top Marine Corps honors. Officer in charge of the representative squad is Lt. J. J. Carroll of the 2d Marines.

On Sept. 21, after the competition, a Sunset Parade and awards ceremony will be held at Eighth and Eye streets,
Washington, D. C. All competing squads will be present for the parade and ceremonies.

The 2d Division's squads have been training at Camp Lejeune's F-12 range, which is similar to the one they will use at Quantico.

The Division squads are determined that one of them will bring back the winners' award
to the Commanding General.

Billeted in the 6th Marines area, the squads participate in a rigorous daily physical training program. Each morning the squads run one mile with full combat gear (including body armor), after which they run

two 60-yard sprints.

Prior to completion of the course, the squads will come under an assimilated gas attack, and the Marines will be judged on the amount of time it takes to properly put on their gas masks. After the masks are in place the squads must then cover themselves with pon-chos and wait for the all clear.

Each squad is composed of 14 men and alternates. The alternates will be used in case a member of the squad becomes sick or otherwise unable to participate in the competition.

2d Div. Headquarters Units Conduct CPX

When personnel of the 2d Marine Division headquarters units start laying communications wire, erecting tents, and camouflaging vehicles and equipment, you can bet that a command post exercise (CPX) is under way.

ESTABLISHING COMMUNICATIONS — Stringing telephone wires through the Division's CPX falls on the shoulders of communication's wiremen.

Is about to get underway. Such was the case here in Camp Lejeune's training area last week, as headquarters units of the 2d Marine Division, commanded by Brig. Gen. R. McC. Tompkins, held a CPX which started at 1 p. m. Aug. 26, and ended Aug. 29.

As this CPX was essentially a communications exercise, no aggressors were employed in the probe.

The "enemy" from the mythical country of Noscara, landed across Onslow Beach, and the 2d Division was called on to contain them.

During the first day and night's activities, the division command post was located at the abandoned air strip on route 172, near Onslow Beach.

On Tuesday morning the division moved its command post to the area located in the vicinity of the parachute tower, behind the base drive-in theater.

During the exercise subordinate commands of the division moved twice, once during daylight hours, and once after dark. The exercise was concluded when elements of the 2d Division tactically gained control of the beach area near Wilmington.

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (Delayed)—Battalion Landing Team 1/6 recently ended five days of liberty at the port city of Genoa, Italy. Called the "Gateway to the Italian Riviera", the city is the birthplace of Christopher Columbus.

While visiting Genoa, BLT Marines were afforded the opportunity to take tours to Venice, Rome, Pisa, Florence, and Munich, Germany.

The Mediterranean Landing Force, under the command of Lt. Col. M. W. Schmidt, is scheduled to proceed to Porto Cervo, Sardinia for training.

Creative Initiative Results In Unusual Training

Personal initiative and creative ideas produced a new training aid for instruction of ME-10 Refrigeration Units at the Utilities School, Marine Corps Engineer Schools.

GySgt. Reno R. Renaldo, refrigeration instructor, designed and built a "exploded" working model of the refrigeration from salvaged parts. The construction of the unit took over a month and many of Sgt. Renaldo's off-duty hours.

The working parts of this unit are spaced far apart making it possible for the students to see the parts in operation where it is extremely difficult with the encased model.

No longer must the skin knuckles to man in cramped quarters to point out to his particular component.

Another quality of that the flow of can be traced by valves and codes. The color of the high and low pressure and liquid lines are to the understanding of refrigeration cycle.

Using training aids and constructed by the attention and ingenuity of the instructors, the Utilities Platoon is better to successfully perform mission.

Capt. W. J. Demer relieved Capt. R. B. Lytle, DC, USN, who has served as commanding officer, 2d Dental Co. since July 1, 1960.

Capt. Demer, prior to assuming his new duties, served as executive officer at the U. S. Naval Dental Clinic, Naval Station, Washington, D. C.

Present for the change of command was Captain V. L. Anderson, DC, USN, Force Dental Officer, who has been observing the field testing of dental equipment.

Lt. Col. Bertram H. Curwen, Jr., has assumed command of the 2d Recon. Bn., relieving Lt. Col. Joseph A. Goss, who has received orders to the 3d Marine Division.

Col. Goss had commanded the battalion since last year.

In his welcome speech, Col. Ing told that he was "glad to be home," he had served a pany commander, "C", and Weapons Co., 8th Marines from 1950.

Odds Against Pedestrians

In the continuous battle between pedestrians and automobiles, the pedestrian is fighting a "stacked deck." Lejeune traffic fatality statistics show approximately one third were pedestrians.

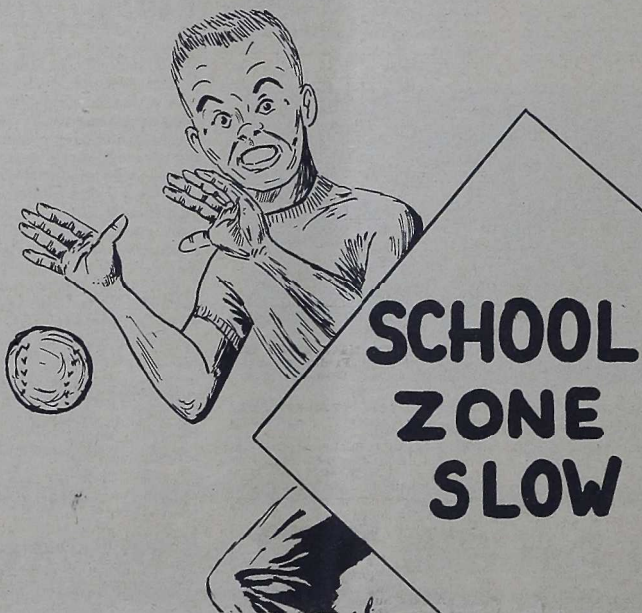

It is simpler to control a pair of feet than to operate an automobile, yet some persons neglect the rules of safety and caution when crossing a street. Basically, a look in the directions of traffic may prove sufficient caution and does not take much time at all. Hitch hiking is an invitation to death for the shoulders of a highway are not paved sidewalks.

Of course, crossing only at the proper places will also add to safety. Use the painted cross walks and do not cross in the middle of a block or cut between parked cars. When crossing at an intersection with a STOP sign in your favor and a car is approaching, don't gamble on that car stopping just because you are in the right — be sure.

Although the pedestrian has the right of way in many cases, he won't be able to argue the point in court with the driver who hit him. Be sure it is safe to cross before you start and don't gamble on your being able to reach the other side before that approaching car reaches you. Don't take chances with your most valuable possession. — YOUR LIFE.

Year Round Pride

Have you ever noticed how easy it is to slip into shoddy uniform habits?

It may start with putting off shining your shoes after you have worn them all day, because they still have a good shine on them. Then the first thing you know, you have put it off for two days, then they don't shine so well.

Or maybe you try to wear a shirt for a second day after you get it from the laundry, without pressing it. It only has a few small wrinkles in it, but add yesterday's wrinkles to the ones you will today, and the shirt begins looking pretty disheveled.

Much is said about it by the senior NCO's job to make their men as squared away. It is true to some extent, but a basic responsibility is for a man to keep himself up to Marine Corps standards in appearance.

The Marine Corps tradition of immaculate dress is a hard standard to measure up to, for MAR is synonymous with spit-shine leather, glistening brass, and fitting uniforms. Marines have been building this tradition since the Continental Congress established the first uniform for Marines 182 years ago today.

If, after honest evaluation, feel that possibly you are slipping in your appearance, how about getting all your uniforms out of the closet and checking for profit, and to make sure they are completely serviceable. Make sure your trouser legs meet the interseam of the back of the shoe and heel exactly, not almost.

Then take the uniforms to the tailor for alterations to the tailor's first thing in the morning. Throw away the ragged, frayed clothing, and make sure the remainder of your uniforms are cleaned and pressed, ready to wear.

After you finish checking your clothes, spend a little time on your shoes and brass. Then follow this gear every night.

When you have done all that, put on the uniform, square your shoulders, and see if you don't experience a feeling of pride when people see you looking the way a Marine should. It's worth the trouble.

Chaplain's Corner

In the Old Testament there is a verse (Psalms 119:71) which reads: "It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy law." Our disadvantages, disappointments, and difficulties do not necessarily need to become sources of appointments to us. Often our obstacles can become open doors to outstanding opportunity. There is an adage which says in essence: "Turn your stumbling blocks into stepping stones." It was certainly a blessing if the truth of this adage were to receive more attention.

Here in the Old Testament we have a man looking back upon his past, appears to be analyzing and examining the values of the problems and troubles he has had through the years. One sees from his words that his path has been beset with thorns and thistles. His has not been a life which always enjoyed the cool waters of peace in the green pastures of satisfaction. He appears rather, that his journey has led into the valleys of bereavement, sometimes along the rocky ledges of affliction, and often into the still plains of trouble. Often he has doubt had the precious things of heart and life snatched as it were without pity from his clutching hands. His experience has been that of a man whose eyes have known the blind tears of sorrow and his heart the burden of disappointment.

The marvel of this whole situation is that when he stops to reflect upon life he does not have the spirit of defeat. Instead of looking upon himself with pity or whining about the unfairness of life, he examines the problem for their educational value. This man believes that the good of life outweighs the evil and he will therefore dedicate himself to turning his pains into blessings and disadvantages into advantages.

marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-263. The beginning of this year, HMM-263 was aboard the USS Boxer (LST-1162), off the coast of Puerto Rico. Home in September, a detachment left for Quantico, to assist the Marine Helicopter Squadron (HMX) there. Near the end of September all hands were in Memphis, Tenn., for two weeks, in the support of the National Guard units, which were dispatched to that town in the racial torn South.

While home at New River, the squadron flew relief missions when storms hit Cape Hatteras.

In the following three months the blue-nosed aircraft called four different aircraft carriers home, while handling six assignments. A last trip, this one to Atlanta, Ga., closed the book of fiscal year 1963. With over 12,000 flight hours, 900 external cargo lifts and 6,000 carrier landings, the officers and men of HMM-263 can look back and say "well done."

Jones pass was good for one extra point.

In the third quarter Barksdale skirted right end for 25 yards and a touchdown. Tom Briscoe smashed across for the extra point. Leaving the score at 19-0 in favor of Tanks.

In the final frame Rich Phillips turned on the steam and galloped 24 yards for Tanks final tally, making the final score 26-0.

In other action Sept. 28, 2d Composite Radio Company beat out 8th Engineer Battalion, 18-8, in a roughly played game.

In a wild and wooly game which saw four players ejected by the officials, 2d Composite Radio Company relied on the passing of Ray Lunch for all of its tallies over 8th Engineer Bn., as the "sling-shot-armed" quarterback hit John Friska with a 35 yard TD pass in the first quarter. Aubrey Hinson for a six pointer from six and James MacVelgh with a 25 yard touchdown toss in the final period.

Engineers only touchdown came on Ray Miller's screen pass to Ted Coleman from nine yards out in the first quarter. Bill Gross trapped Lynch in the end zone for a safety in the third period for Engineers eight points.

The 19th Hole

BY BOB SPENCER

TIP OF THE WEEK: Pitching from the Trap.

The pitch shot from a trap fifty to seventy five yards from the green is performed almost the same as the pitch shot from the fairway.

The swing is the same: However, because you cannot ground the club in the trap, you have to address the ball from above the sand.

Be sure you make contact with the ball first, play it back of center, toward the right foot. The swing is motivated by the hands, which are advanced slightly ahead of the club head. Using either a wedge or a nine-iron (a longer club if distance demands), contact the ball first, the sand afterward, with a one-half or three-quarter swing and a solid follow through.

This action will displace sand in the same way a fairway divot is taken.

Practice this as you would other approach shots, and you'll be pleased with the results.

Next weeks tip concerns hitting out of wet sand.

Marines May Play With Navy Teams

Recent changes originating in the Bureau of Naval Personnel have brought some welcome revisions for sports participants. A notification by dispatch, and also through the Special Services Newsletter, effected a lift of the restriction on use of Marine Corps personnel as members of Navy teams in All-Navy Championships.

The basic idea in the change was to allow outstanding Marine athletes to progress to a point where selections to appropriate teams were to be made in United States International Sports.

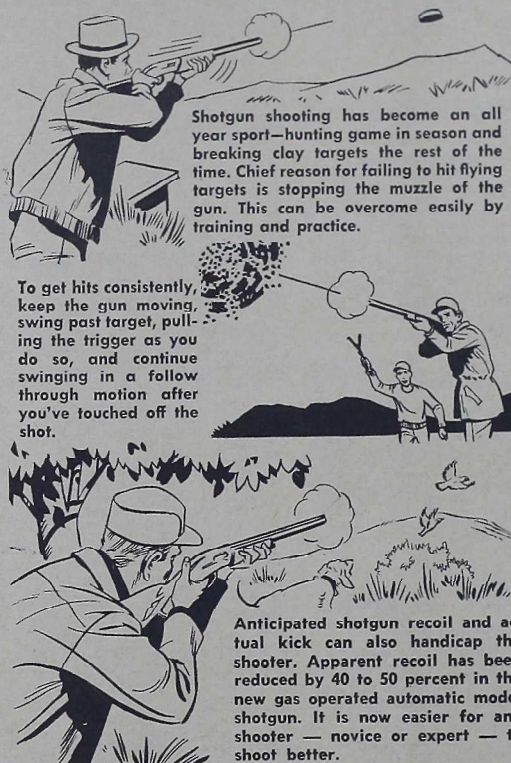

This change affected mostly the Marines who were unable to have the chance for such sports through Marine Corps Championships.

However the change had no bearing on Marine Corps commands at the various levels of competition. No change was made concerning the policy affecting personnel of other services.

A change to the Special Services Manual reflecting a more positive stand and including the changes rules will be published shortly according to the Special Services Newsletter.

HOW TO HIT A FLYING TARGET

Shotgun shooting has become an all year sport—hunting game in season and breaking clay targets the rest of the time. Chief reason for failing to hit flying targets is stopping the muzzle of the gun. This can be overcome easily by training and practice.

To get hits consistently, keep the gun moving, swing past target, pulling the trigger as you do so, and continue swinging in a follow through motion after you've touched off the shot.

Anticipated shotgun recoil and actual kick can also handicap the shooter. Apparent recoil has been reduced by 40 to 50 percent in the new gas operated automatic model shotgun. It is now easier for any shooter—novice or expert—to shoot better.

Dove Season Will Open September 7

Dove season will officially open in North Carolina on September 7 and will close on October 12. There will be a split season, the second will start on December 13 and close on January 15. The hours for hunting ing license is required. Persons who are not residents of North Carolina, or have not lived in the state for six months will not be able to obtain a county license, but a state license will be available to them.

The limit on the birds this year will be 10 daily bag limit or 20 birds in possession.

All persons planning a hunt this year are reminded to check out with their S-3 office, or the Base Range Office to make sure the area they plan to hunt will be clear for them.

Here are a few simple safety rules to practice for a safe and successful hunting season.

10 Commandments on Gun Safety:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your car, camp or house.

3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

4. Always carry your gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.

5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

6. Never point your gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

7. Never climb a tree or fence (or go through a fence), with a loaded gun.

8. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

9. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.

10. Do not mix gunpowder with alcohol.

WINNERS—The annual Commanding Officer, U. S. Naval Hospital Golf Tournament has been completed. Taking first place was E. R. Peters, following him for second place was Jack Wilson. The winner and runner up of the second flite were J. S. Sagan, Jr., and E. H. Johnson. From left to right are Johnson, Sagan, The CO, F. H. Norris, Medical Center, Wilson and Peters.

Div. Drivers Well Tested

GySgt. Sidney S. Bryant
2d Mt. Bn., holds an unique position in the 2d Division—
the success of his job depend-on the over-all success
others.

GySgt. Bryant is the Division
Motor Transport Licensor, a has the responsibility of tes-ing all persons within the Division—written and road—before issuing a license. His assistant, Ssgt. Wayne E. Allen is also the Career Advise NCO for the battalion.

Any driver in the Division
holding a valid government divers license or motor vehicle operators permit, has been GySgt. Bryant or someone in like position. Exceptions, to every rule, are tracked vehicle drivers who possess
special licenses.

According to GySgt. Bryant
"We've turned down quite few, but, about 3500 Marine have been issued licenses this year."

Division Marine Repeats History

Webster defines HISTORY as "something that belongs to past..." and REPEAT as defined as, "to make, do, or pe-
form again."

Both terms, and definition
were put to use last week
when Cpl. Johnny I. Miller, Company "A", 2d Anti-tank Bn., stood at rigid attention before his company commander, repeating the oath of enlistment
as the company 1st Sgt, look-on.

Miller cast a quick glance
the 1st Sgt, and started reminiscing.

The corporals' thought-drifted back over a chain of events that began at a recruiting station in Dallas, Texas
four years ago.

Miller had left his home
Charleston, S. C., to visit friend who was on recruit-duty in Dallas. The two had become buddies when the recruit was serving at Marine Base
racks, U. S. Naval Base Charleston.

During the visit, Miller
learned what Marine recruits
do and eventually found him-
signing up for a four-year hitch
in the Corps.

After completing his recruitment at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego,
Calif., Miller was assigned duty
at Marine Corps Air Station
Santa Ana, Calif. He then ser-ed a tour with the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Japan, a-upon his return to the United States, he was assigned to Camp
Lejeune, where he joined the 2d Anti Tank Bn.

Two months later Miller
unit received a new First Sergeant. This was not worthy of much concern, for many uni-receive new first sergeants, but this one caused a familiar image in the corporal's mind... it was his Charleston Buddy, the Dallas recruiter, 1st Sgt. James
H. Turner.

On Aug. 23, Miller saw his history repeat itself as he stood before 1st Lt. Terry B. Light, repeating the oath of enlistment
while 1st Sgt. (recruiter) Turner looked on.

Swim Way To Fitness

"Swim and Stay Fit", says the American Red Cross, and the children of Warrant Officer and Mrs. Mike Ransom agree wholeheartedly with the advice.

Terry, 16 and Cindy, 13, have both passed beyond the 65 mile buoy; Judy, 11, has swum 40 miles; Michael, 7, has covered 26 miles, and the twins Mary and Susy, 6, who learned to swim only this summer, have dog-paddled, breaststroked and backstroked their way to 3-1/2 miles in and under the water of the Montford Point Pool. Each of the Ransom children are following the swim and stay fit program under which participants swim for 50 miles or more.

The Red Cross Swim and Stay Fit program is a planned activity that encourages swimmers to swim regularly and often until they have reached 50 miles, and then it is hoped they will continue for the pleasure of keeping fit.

The program, as outlined by the Red Cross, requires that a participant swim all but the initial three miles in multiples of 440 yards. During the first three miles the swimmer must swim 440 yards in one visit to the pool, but he may stop as often as he wishes, after that he must swim 1/4 mile or multiples thereof at a time. Upon completing 50 miles, swimmers are awarded an attractive badge to be worn on the swim suits.

Mike and Marlys Ransom encourage their children to swim at least a mile on each visit to the pool when time allows. On one occasion the two older girls swam 6-1/2 miles in one visit, taking more than four hours to log the distance.

'63 National Highpower Service Rifle Champion

Marine Sets New Record In National Rifle Matches

Marine Sergeant Frank V. Kruk, Quantico, Va., set a new National Match record, winning the 1963 National High Power Service Rifle Championship Wednesday. He shot a 792-64, surpassing the former record of 790-69 set by fellow Marine Sgt. David Luke who is also at Camp Perry this year shooting in the matches.

Marine Staff Sergeant Jack Titterington, also of Quantico, was second in the championship, which included the total scores for seven matches which have been fired since August 23.

Army Staff Sergeant Raymond J. Calvez, Ft. Benning, Ga., was third with 791-65. All the top three scores surpassed the previous National Match record set by Luke.

The match that decided Kruk's victory was the Nevada Cup Match, final match of the series, outpacing Calvez, Titterington, who started slow, beamed up scores near the end of the matches to move ahead of Calvez, making it a Marine finish.

In 1962, Sergeant Kruk was a member of the Herrick Trophy Team Championship team, and won the California State Rifle Championship.

Hatteras' Contest Deadline Extended

Base Special Services has announced that the current contest for renaming the Special Services' deep sea fishing boat has been extended due to sparse response. A name making the craft more closely related with the Marine Corps is desired. The deadline for the submission of names has been moved to Tuesday, Sept. 17. Crank up the imagination and contribute in naming your boat.

As presently called, the "Hatteras" was recently acquired and refurbished as a deep sea fishing boat for Camp Lejeune personnel, including their dependents.

No limit has been placed on the number of names a person may submit. The contest is open to all military personnel of Camp Lejeune (including MCAF) and their dependents. Names are to be submitted to the Recreation Director, bldg. 751, Goettge Memorial Field House.

Awards will be Marine Corps Exchange Gift Certificates of $15, $10 and $5 for 1st, 2nd and 3rd selections respectively.

Lifeguards Needed

Special services needs several qualified life guards to begin work immediately during their off-duty hours.

Anyone who is a qualified senior life saver or a water safety instructor, and is interested may contact Gysgt. Hall at extension 7-5694 or 7-5528.

Week day hours are from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Weekends and holidays the hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., however there will be alternates on every job, so the demands won't be as time consuming.

Lejeune's Teachers Meet Prepare For Coming Year

More than 200 teachers of the Camp Lejeune Dependent's School System ended a three-day Orientation here, August 30.

The Orientation was held in the Lejeune Junior Senior High School, with Major General A. L. Bowser giving the opening address.

In his speech the General stated, "The various backgrounds of the teachers here and on other military installations provides a wide variety of teaching experiences, giving our children training that is hard to match."

Margaret Hodgins, Principal of Tarawa Terrace Elementary School, stressed devotion to duty of the teachers. "Accuracy must not be neglected for speed...and above all, we must create in the young minds ideas of citizenship by teaching our students to be loyal to themselves, their fellowman, and to their country," stated Miss Hodgins.

The remaining two days of the teachers' workshop were spent in briefing on subject matters and administrative work.

The Dependents' School expect an anticipated enrollment of about 4,800 of which approximately 600 will be high school students.

BRIEFING SESSION—Teachers of the Camp Lejeune Dependents' High School, listen attentively as Joseph H. Jones, history instructor, lectures on history subjects during the Teachers' Orientation held from August 27-30. The teachers of the Dependents' School System were briefed on subjects to be taught during the coming school year and administrative procedures of the school.

Field Medical Research Laboratory Marks 20th Anniversary In Operation

August 30 marked the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory here.

During World War II it became apparent that medical problems of a special nature accompanied the conduct of amphibious warfare. None of the existing research laboratories possessed the capability of investigating these problems.

By joint agreement of the Commandant of the Marine Corps, and the Surgeon General, U. S. Navy, this laboratory was commissioned in 1943 and has enjoyed a productive operational existence since then. It functions under the military control of the Commanding General, MCB, Camp Lejeune and under the management control of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

Early problems involved development of personnel protective gear, i. e., body armor, etc. The history of this laboratory is also closely tied to the evolution and refinement of the anti-personnel mine boot and numerous other items designed to protect the Marine in battle. These contributions have endured and constitute a keystone of strength.

The Marine is a man of movement and investigation of his "physiology of activity" provides useful baselines for comparison with other age groups and with his civilian counterparts.

At the same time much information of general importance is derived that is directly applicable to his own problems of survival in an unfriendly tropical environment. This laboratory continues to investigate the physiological mechanisms involved in the adaptation to heat stress and other environmental stresses.

A vast screening operation by the Virology Division in collaboration with the National Institutes of Health has identified the causative factor of primary atypical pneumonia in Marine recruits and an effective treatment has been developed. A protective vaccine is under evaluation.

Medical and dental field equipment testing and development constitutes a major segment of the total operation and its productivity is sharply higher in response to increasing requirements from the field. The year 1943 was memorable for many naval launchings. NMFL looks back with pride on its accomplishments and looks forward with confidence.

Troops Approve Bi-Weekly Pay

More than 80 percent of the Navy men and Marines stationed at bases which have been paying bi-weekly instead of twice a month prefer the new system, according to surveys conducted recently.

Of the remainder, 13-1/2 percent did not like the new system, while the remainder had no preference.

The Navy is encouraging all commands to adopt the bi-weekly method of payment, which eliminates the occasional "flat-broke" weekends that occur under the twice-a-month system.

In the bi-weekly system, any day of the week may be established as a regular payday, taking into consideration local conditions such as banking facilities, shopping hours and base operating schedules.

When a regular payday falls on a holiday, the payday is usually scheduled for the day preceding.

The new system increases the number of paydays per year to 26 instead of 24.

Air Facility Electrician Rescues Fellow Worker

Clear thinking and quick action on the part of Gerald Williams, an electrician working at the Marine Corps Air Facility helped save a fellow worker from possible death.

James Todd had gotten on a "hot line" while making repairs on a telephone pole.

Williams saw Todd in trouble, and took the following action: He sent a Marine standing nearby to summon an ambulance, provided verbal stimulus to Todd to keep him conscious and at the same time instructed another Marine to keep talking to Todd to keep him conscious, so he wouldn't slump back into the power line.

Williams then climbed another pole and shut off the power in the line that Todd had been on, then went up the pole to help get Todd down.

A letter of commendation said in part, "Your quick thinking and immediate response to a dangerous situation, implemented by positive action, in effecting this rescue of a fellow worker from probable fatal electrocution demonstrates unusual competence and courage in your official employment."

Williams has had about 17 years experience working around power lines. He has taken part in two previous rescues.

IN RECOGNITION—Gerald Williams receives a cash award of $25 from Col. E. C. Fusan, commanding officer, Marine Corps Air Facility, in recognition of his rescue of a fellow worker.

Jewish Services

The Base Chaplain has been advised that Jewish services will be held regularly in the Jacksonville Synagogue on Friday evenings at 8:30.

Personnel of the Jewish faith will have opportunity of observing religious obligations during the High Holy Days. The synagogue is located on Wardola St., near Wilson Bay Park.
