Help, Teamwork Wins Letter Of Appreciation

Six Marines from Camp Lejeune received a letter of appreciation for the help and assistance they rendered to a family involved in an automobile accident near Richmond, Va., on June 10.

The Marines are: Cpls. Robert M. Moseley and Thomas R. Seward of Hq. Bat., 10th Marines; Pfc. James A. Henwood and Craig E. Schmoll of Hq. Co., 2d Service Battalion and LCpls. Raymond R. Simmonds and Frederick W. Kohler of HqCo, ASDBN, 2d FSR.

In a letter addressed to commanding general, Major General James P. Berkeley, Marine Corps Base, Lt. Col. Leo Rachmel, USA (Ret) commended the Marines for the "...manner in which they reacted to an emergency involving my family..."

Recommendations will emphasize, but not be limited to, matters concerning personnel

The letter further stated, "While I regret to say that a number of cars passed by without stopping to aid us in any way, a car carrying your Marines stopped. These young men went right into action. One of them rushed to notify the Virginia State Police; one of them rushed to call an ambulance; one got a pillow and a blanket and covered my wife; one checked the injuries of my son and daughter; one assisted me, handing me a pillow case from my car to help me staunch my bleeding, and the other Marine checked my car. I am sorry that I am not in a position to say which Marine did what, but they acted as a team, with discipline and efficiency, and courtesy and understanding, which I can truly state, was in the best traditions of the United States Marines."

10th Marines Conduct Field Exercise; Have Huge Success With Big Blast

The 10th Marines artillery arm of the 2d Division, successfully completed a complex three-day field firing problem at Lejeune, June 13.

Elements of the regiment's four battalions plus its Headquarters Battery participated in the maneuver, which was primarily designed to aid the artillerymen in the technique of fire direction and the elements of nuclear, biological and chemical warfare. The problem was centered around a "nuclear" blast, accomplished with over 900 gallons of diesel fuel, and a tear gas attack on all the regiment's gun positions. The regiment's mission began on the morning of June 11 and was completed on the afternoon of June 13.

Two thousand rounds of artillery ammunition were expended over the three days, plus the 900 gallons of diesel fuel necessary to affect the simulated A-bomb explosion. Set up by members of the 2d Engineer Battalion's Demolition Range School, the blast occurred at 4:30 p.m. June 11. Using 19 barrels of fuel ignited by TNT, the explosion looked like the real thing—a tremendous burst followed by the familiar mushroom cloud.

The gas attack was made on the afternoon of June 12. All of the regiment's gun positions were subjected to tear gas dispensed by both jeeps and helicopters. The gas-mask-equipped artillerymen went through simulated firing missions as special training for an authentic gas attack.

Every battalion within the regiment was represented during the three-day exercise. All three of their primary weapons—the 4.2" mortar, the 155 mm howitzer and the 105 mm howitzer—were used.

AFTER THE BLAST IS OVER—A member of Battery "M", 4th Battalion, 10th Marines, prepares to eject a spent round during the 10th Marines' field firing exercise held at Camp Lejeune June 11-13. Using the 155mm howitzer, the 4th Battalion is the "general support" artillery unit of the 2d Marine Division. (Photo by Pfc A. Wasinski).

The entire problem was conducted within the framework of a Division-size landing exercise. The regiment, theoretically, had just landed on enemy soil and was digging in for the artillery assault on the enemy. Each battery, as practice in mobility, shifted its guns and fired into all three of Lejeune's impact zones: K-2, G-10, and N-1.

The 1st Battalion, on the second day of the exercise, was airlifted by helicopter to positions across New River. On the problem's final day, they were transported back across river by tracked vehicles (LVTs) in yet another display of mobility.

The 4th Battalion used hit-and-run tactics as it dispatched a roving gun at night to the G-7 area of Lejeune's reservation. Using illumination bursts from its parent organization, the one gun from 4/10 fired point blank upon Brown's Island in the N-1 impact area where "enemy" tanks were situated on the sand dunes.

One highlight of the problem was the use of the new field radio, the AN/PRC-47, sent to Camp Lejeune from Quantico for testing purposes. A personnel-packed radio, it was termed "worthy" after use by the 10th Marines' communicators.

Col. William P. Oliver, Jr., commanding officer of the 10th Marines, was quoted as being "very delighted" and "extremely pleased" with the regiment's display during the three-day maneuver. Col. Oliver, whose history with the 10th Marines dated back to 1942, will shortly be assigned the G-1 position at 2d Division headquarters. He was particularly gratified that his last major operation with the 10th Marines was truly a successful one.

Generous Donors Decide Admiralty In S. Dakota Navy

Are you interested in becoming an admiral in the South Dakota Navy?

Such a promotion is simple. No time in grade, no IQ, and no vacancy required.

The only prerequisite is a donation to help erect a memorial honoring the USS South Dakota and those who served on her during WWII.

Donors contributing "large" amounts will be appointed admirals in the State's Navy, and given appropriate certificates and souvenirs. Memorial coins, minted in part from metal from the ship are available for $1 each. At a later date, souvenir pens, paper weights and other items will be available.

Contributions and orders for the souvenir coins may be sent to the USS South Dakota Battleship Commission, Box 537, Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

AN A-BOMB?—In appearance yes, but the blast is the work of the men from 2d Engineer Battalion's Demolition Range School at Camp Lejeune's G-4 range. The tremendous blast was accomplished through the use of 900 gallons of diesel fuel. It was part of the 10th Marines' field firing exercise held June 11-13. (Photo by LCpl. F. R. Woolcott).

Sun To Eclipse July 20; Eye Safety Emphasized

The fascinating sight of a solar eclipse can mean permanent eye damage for those unsuspecting children and adults who stare at the darkened sun through sunglasses, smoked glass, or exposed photographic film during North America's next eclipse on July 20, 1963.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has warned that there is no safe method of looking directly into the eclipse without risking incurable burns of the retina from infra-red rays of the sun. The voluntary health agency suggested other safer means of observing the phenomenon.

The NSPB advised that the July 20th eclipse be observed over television wherever possible. An image of the eclipsed sun can be projected through a telescope or binoculars onto a white screen. A simple eclipse viewer can be created from a piece of cardboard: punch a round hole in the sheet of cardboard so the sun's rays are focused through the tiny hole onto another cardboard or similar white surface.

Widespread reports of damaged vision in western states, especially among school children, after a partial eclipse of the sun three years ago prompted the NSPB warning.

The Society called on parents, school personnel and doctors to help alert the public, especially children, to the eclipse dangers. "Many adults and many more children paid a dear and needless price in damaged eyesight in past eclipses. This tragic waste should not happen this year", said the NSPB.

2d Division Asso. Scholarship Fund Available For Use

"$25,000.00 and we are having trouble giving it away!" These were the words of Eli Sobol, when he spoke of the Memorial Scholarship Fund established by the 2d Marine Division Association.

The fund provides for higher education for orphaned children of men who served with the 2d Marine Division and who were either killed or have subsequently died.

"There are few restrictions for eligibility," Sobol stated. "The amount of money available to an orphaned child is determined by need alone."

Sobol hopes to find an eligible recipient within Colorado so that a presentation can be made when the association holds its 14th Annual Reunion at the Denver Hilton Hotel, July 11-14.

Sobol, a former Major who served with the 2d Marine Division during the Guadalcanal campaign, is the Reunion Chairman for the association's Denver get-together.

Lejeune Clerk's Short Story Wins Award From Columbia University

Pfc Marshall C. Potter, a legal clerk attached to H&S Co., 2d Bn., 2d Marines, has been named the individual winner of the Columbia University's Scholastic Press Association (CUSPA) award for the best short story by a U. S. high school student in 1962.

Pfc Potter, born in 1944 at Camp Lejeune, won the nationwide honor for his sensitive handling of a teen-ager's inner guilt in the short story "Something to be Ashamed Of". The story, written in the first person, was completed by Potter when he was a senior at Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School in Maryland. Published in "Chips", the school's yearly literary magazine, it was entered in CUSPA's 1962 national high-school short story contest.

The work was selected as being best among hundreds of stories considered by the CUSPA judges.

"Something to be Ashamed Of" involves a teen-ager, simply referred to as "Stan", who is dating a girl named Sheila. The girl is suffering from a personal crisis—her mother plans to marry a man she despises. Stan, characterized by Potter as a "typical" teen-ager, feels panic with Sheila's personal crisis, and although his conscience tells him to help her, he finds that he can really give her nothing. Instead, realizing that love demands responsibility, a quality unknown to him, he rejects her depression and returns to his familiar world of irresponsibility.

Potter enlisted in the Marine Corps in August, 1962, after graduating from the prementioned Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School. He gained experience in writing by serving as the managing editor of the school's bi-monthly newspaper "The Tattler." As a contribution to the school's yearly literary magazine ("Chips"), he decided on the short story that won him the national honors. Looking to the future, the 2d Marines' author-legal clerk plans to attend college upon the completion of his four-year enlistment. He intends to further his study of journalism and creative writing, possibly at the University of Michigan. He has written a play and two other short stories, but "Something to be Ashamed Of" was the only work he has had published.

PRIZE-WINNING AUTHOR—Pfc Marshall C. Potter, H&S Co., 2d Bn., 2d Marines, ponders a literary move with the writer's prime instrument—a pencil—poised at the ready. Potter, a legal clerk with the 2d Bn., won first place honors in the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association's high-school short story contest for the year 1962. Son of a former Marine, he was born in the U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune 18 years ago. (Photo by LCpl. F. R. Woolcott).

Well Done

The 1963 Navy Relief Fund Drive at Camp Lejeune has come to a successful conclusion thanks to a magnificent effort by all hands of the Quad-Command. There are however some unsung heroes and heroines who live with Navy Relief the year round and do an amazing job without a word of praise and look for none. These are the people who run YOUR Camp Lejeune Navy Relief Auxiliary. The work of Dr. J. E. D. Humphries, Executive Vice President of the Auxiliary here and the Executive Secretary, Mrs. Lila Robson have provided Camp Lejeune with a branch of the Navy Relief Society second to none. There are others who tirelessly give of their time and themselves in behalf of Navy Relief and the good works it accomplishes; these are women such as Mrs. Wood B. Kyle and Mrs. Horace Knapp, past and present Chairmen respectively, of the Navy Relief volunteers. Space limitations prevent us from printing an honor roll of the many selfless women who have worked indefatigably as volunteers helping those of our own who are in need. Each of these women without compensation and on their own time spend countless hours working in behalf of the personnel of Camp Lejeune.

Each grant, each loan, each visit, each product of the Layette room represents far more than money. Each represents man hours, effort and the work of someone who cares enough to offer her services in order to help others.

The sum collected in this years drive is proof positive that many at Camp Lejeune appreciate the value of Navy Relief. Giving in the case of Navy Relief represents an investment rather than a gratuity. It is also indirectly a vote of confidence for those responsible for making the Camp Lejeune Auxiliary run and run well. A much deserved well done to all who contributed to the success of the drive and a simple, but we hope most eloquent "Thank You" to the backbone of our Navy Relief Society, The Navy Relief Women Volunteers.

Conduct

Military bearing and appearance are two items continuously expounded upon. Yet, do we take these lectures to heart? Do we attempt to conduct ourselves in a manner creditable to our branch of service, regardless of whether we are in or out of uniform?

Civilians and members of other services see a man in uniform and will often base their opinions of that branch of service solely upon the appearance and behavior of that individual. This may not be justified, but it's usually the case. The same holds true for servicemen when in civilian attire—they are still representatives of the Armed Forces; of their particular branch.

Don't try to escape this responsibility — face up to it with pride. Wear your uniform with dignity; conduct yourself accordingly, in uniform or civvies. Show the public that you are a representative of your service and proud of it.

Some "Sad-Sack" types will fall back on the old excuse that they're in a special category assignment and aren't required to be spit-and-polish. In some cases this may be true, but what happened to their personal pride? Will they always have someone around to tell them to shine their shoes or to straighten their ties?

The answer is NO! You are supposed to be an adult who can take care of yourself. Exercise self-evaluation — would the thousands of men that have been killed in the same uniform that you are wearing be proud to have you as a successor? They gave their lives for what that uniform represents and for this country. Can't you give it a little more time?

Chaplain's Corner

Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "God enters every man's life by a private door." The great mind of this New England philosopher had come to grips with many of the basic issues of man's relationship with the Almighty. He saw the truth, that personal religious experience is the heritage of every individual.

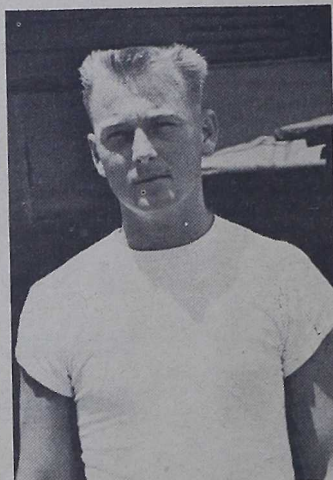

We can learn religious tradition from our church. We can study the meaning of religious laws in the Bible and religious literature of the race. We can participate in the act of worship by corporate worship at the Church or Synagogue. But until the external observances and acts become personal, we have not discovered the secret of "God's private entry." It is quite like working in a library surrounded with shelves of knowledge, yet never stopping long enough to read and make it one's own.

The Psalmist David had an insight at this point. In the midst of his activities and daily routine of life, surrounded by the myriad of voices of nature, he heard the voice of the Eternal God speak, "Be still and know that I am God." We cannot lose our keen awareness of tension, anxiety or guilt by our much doing. We cannot run from the issues of life and responsibility. If we but stop — pause and reflect — even ask the question, "Who am I? Where am I going?" a new dimension of life can open for us. We can even leave the "door ajar" and invite God to enter our lives through the open door of our will. For, after all, the choice is always ours! A closed mind is a closed door. An open mind is an open door. Both swing on the hinges of our choice.

MATINEES

MIDWAY PARK — Saturday afternoon at 2:15 James

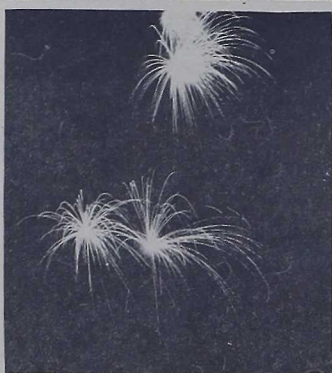

Sunday at 2:15 p.m. is one of the most fascinating and entertaining cartoon features of recent years, the Japanese-made animated film, "Magic Boy."

GEIGER INDOOR — Sunday afternoon at 2 the movie will be the same as featured at Midway Park on Saturday afternoon.

AIR FACILITY — Saturday afternoon at 2 it's "The Magic Boy," plus chapter 8 of "The Purple Monster Strikes."

Sunday at 2 p.m. we find Elvis Presley giving up his girl and horse for a song, in "Follow That Dream."

It will soon be July 4th. Millions of Americans will be driving millions of miles to find a spot that will make this day a "holiday to remember." They will fight traffic, lose fun time traveling, risk disappointment in dubious plans, and they will pay for all this.

However, Camp Lejeune Marines are more fortunate. An entire day of activities has been planned and directed toward making this July 4th, one of the most enjoyable days of the year.

If you plan to attend the water show being held at Marston Pavilion you will not only have a good time, but you will eliminate the travel and expense usually associated with a holiday.

All of the many attractions will originate from Marston Pavilion, with the exception of the Corsair rides and the sailboat races. These will start at the Wallace Creek Boathouse.

For your ease and convenience, military police will be there to aid in parking. Two mobile canteens will be on hand with refreshments, however, many will bring a picnic lunch in the true Independence Day tradition. Also, you might like to bring lawn furniture, camp stools, or a blanket to sit on.

The first open competition of the day will be the sailboat race. Anyone with a Wallace Creek sailing license may skipper one of the sleek "Rebels." The sailing committee has reconditioned the fleet to make the best race possible. They have even promised a fair day and a brisk breeze.

In order to have the race start promptly at 9:30 a.m., please deposit, or mail an entry notice to the Wallace Creek Boathouse. Entries may also be phoned in to Dr. Stram, ext. 6-6532. This must be done by boat-drawing time, which is 4 p.m., July 3.

After the second race, trophies will be awarded for first, second and third places on the basis of points earned in the two races.

Another event in open competition is canoe jousting. Each canoe is manned by a two-man team, one to paddle and one to act as "spearsman." The spearsman stands on a platform in the forward third of the canoe, equipped with a seven-foot tilting pole. The object is to either knock the opponents overboard or swamp their canoe.

BIG

There will also be a canoe race, and rowboat race. Although the boathouse has an ample number of canoe paddles on hand, brooms will be used. (To place emphasis on the sweep stroke maybe?)

With the recent gain in popularity of sports such as boating, water skiing, swimming and skin diving, the demonstration on water safety, given by the Red Cross should be of great value.

To catch your breath between events you might enjoy a ride on the "Corsair." This is the special services deep sea fishing boat. Come aboard and meet Joe Latham, her able Captain. He will show you how Camp Lejeune looks from the river. She will be docked and boarded at the Wallace Creek Boat House.

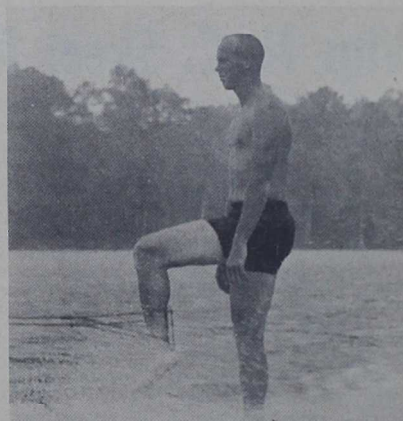

If you come upon a rather strange looking thing in a black rubber suit you will know you have met a "Sea Urchin." He is the representative of the Camp Lejeune Diving Club, who will be most happy to show and explain the display of equipment used for this sport. Have you ever breathed compressed air? If not, now is your chance. There will be a mask, air tank and regulator, complete with water to try it out in, any time during the day.

A special detail of the strongest, bravest, most lion hearted "Sea Urchins" has been organized to check out the rumor that "Puff," a very famous dragon type celebrity, spends Independence Day in Wallace Creek. The expedition will leave the line of departure at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on their daring mission.

Two of the most popular sports in the day will be at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., during the water ski shows. Many of the skiers are veterans from the shows last year. Each show consists of an hour of pyramids, cross-overs, a clown act, high speed slalom skiing, a jump act, and a few surprises.

At 8:30 p.m. the fireworks display will hit the air over the Hadnot Point parade ground to round out the holiday festivities. A colorful display will be zipping, zooming and popping for approximately one hour and 15 minutes.

Marines, dependents and their guests are invited, so come on out for a fine day of family fun.

Barnard Champ In Div. Tennis Match

Roger H. Barnard, burning up the courts, copped honors in both novice classes of the Division Tennis Tournament held last week.

He defeated Anthony Tucci for the singles championship, then teamed with Chuck Bryan to capture honors in the novice doubles, downing the team of Bob Moyer and Tucci.

Open doubles action saw William Leftwich, a winner of last years tournament, team with R. H. Thompson to defeat J. R. Blanco and L. Burke for top honors. Earlier in the tourney Thompson was victorious over T. E. Gallagher, winning the Open Singles championship.

The division tournament serves as an elimination phase for the coming Quad-Command and FMFLant tourneys. The Quad-Command Tournament is now in progress.

2d Engineers Rise In Division Softball Action

The 2d Engineer Battalion's surging nine supplied the big news in 2d Division softball activities last week by winning two games and moving into third place in the American League.

The Engineers blasted hard-fighting 1st Battalion, 8th Marines, 11-8 a week ago, and came back last Monday night to smash the 4th place 2d Medical Battalion, 4-1. In the 11-8 victory, Leroy Kase, the Engineers' hurler, was the victim of numerous errors but still went all the way for the win. Hector May-Garcia smashed a homer for the offensive spark. The strong-armed Kase came back in Monday's game by firing a 2-hit, 7-strikeout job over Jim Martin's well-balanced 2d Medical crew. May-Garcia again led the "hit-parade" with another round tripper, a solo blast, backed up by Tom Garvey's booming home run, good enough to salt the game away for Kase.

The Engineers' solid comeback in the second half of the season's schedule has been a main feature of the American League scene, virtually unexciting since Larry Munroe's Ramapping 3d Battalion, 2d Marines ran away with first-place honors. Munroe's "Marauders" have a splendid 13-0 record, and there is speculation around the league as to the possibility of their going undefeated throughout the 16-game schedule.

In other games in the American League, Bob Gutierrez and his tough 2d place 3d Battalion, 6th Marines won two games in seven days, by scores of 10-3 over the Headquarters Battery, 10th Marines, and 4-3 over a hard-luck 1st Battalion, 8th Marines. Gutierrez himself pitched the win in the 10-3 game, with top-notch help from sluggers Lacey Brooks, Joe Reale and Ed Broanax. Brooks smashed a triple and Reale and Broanax contributed two-base hits to the Gutierrez pitching effort. The 3/6 pitcher-coach has been a superb, steady hurler all season for his team. In their second game of their week, the 3d Battalion Infantrymen edged a sturdy but luckless 1/8 by 4-3. The 8th Marines men, who have been steady occupants of the American League's second-place slot for a good portion of the season, were leading 3-0 going into the bottom of the 7th inning. However, the 3d Bns. spirited sluggers rallied by loading the bases. Then Broanax, a top hitter all year, unloaded a triple to tie the game. Second-baseman Larry Palmer added to the dramatic effect by smashing a single to score Broanax and the 6th Marines went away the victors. Harry Davis gave up four hits for the win.

Switching to the National League, Lynn Larrick and his strong 2d Service Battalion added to their first-place standing by blasting 2d Battalion, 10th Marines, 8-2 last week. Larrick, one of the 2d Division's top pitchers, fired another supreme 7 innings, giving up a scant one hit and fanning 10. The two runs scored on the Service Battalion pitcher-coach were achieved through a hit, a walk, and an error. Offensively for the winners, Butch Freeman's 4 rbi's were tops. Garry Prenoveau and Will Hodges walloped doubles as further demonstrations of the Service Battalion's power. The National League pacesetters now have an 11-2 record.

Roland Cantara's 4th Battalion, 10th Marines continued in the winning groove last week by dropping 2d Battalion, 10th Marines 7-3. Ken Pidgeon, a former Canadian softball pitcher, won again for 4/10 with a 6-hit, 7-strikeout effort. The reliable cannoner also added his own cause by hitting a double good for an RBI. Some top 4/10 fielding was featured in the game, with Jim Green making two sensational catches in left field, and first-baseman Howard Mac Minn making a dashing grab at the initial sack.

Marine Signs For Mr. America Event

Carlos Rodriguez, runner-up in the 1963 "Mr. Metropolis" contest held recently at New York City, will represent the 2d Marine Division in the "Mr. America" contest to be held June 28-29, at Harrisburg, Pa.

Rodriguez has represented the Marine Corps, at his own expense six times since joining the "Corps" in Sept. 1961, entering the "Mr. Gotham" and "Mr. Metropolis" physique contests in '61, '62, and this year.

This will be the first try for the "big one" for Carlos. He will be competing with many of the top body builders in the country. In addition to the Mr. America award, trophies will be given for "best back," "best legs," "best arms" and most muscular physique.

RECORD BREAKER — Lorenzo Godwin, Jacksonville shows the 41½ lb. kingfish he landed to set a new Topsail Island record.

FISHING

Kingfish continues to be the big news on the fishing scene. Six kings were caught from a Topsail Island fishing pier one day last week. They ranged from 18 to 10-1/4 lbs., averaging out to 15 lbs.

Morehead City reports fine catches of bluefish mornings and evenings, on the ocean side, while inshore fishermen along the beaches and at Cape Lookout are making nice catches of spanish mackerel as well as blues.

Marlin are still being taken along the Carteret Coast, as well as large kingfish. If you have been saving your lunch money for that big charter boat trip, now is the time to go.

Small boat owners might like to go for cobia in the sounds and rivers. A 64 pounder was taken this year from Bogue Sound. The cobia fishing is rated excellent right now. Among the preferred cobia holes are the waters immediately south of the Newport River Bridge, and in Bogue Sound near the Blitmore Hotel, in Morehead City.

Water Sports

The crew skippered by Al Kraus again claimed top honors in the sailboat race last Saturday.

Larry Prickett gave Al a good race, finishing in second place. The boats were running neck and neck throughout most of the race, but near the end Larry tacked too short, to let Al cross the line first.

Chris O'Donnell, here for six weeks from Cherry Point, came in third, Chris, who will be competing against Lejeune when he returns to Cherry Point, says he is getting some pointers on our "Rebels" so he can beat us later.

We have a big show coming up July 4th, featuring water skiing, sailboat racing, open competition in the canoes and rowboats, bands, fireworks, and a host of other activities planned for your entertainment. The festivities begin at 9 a.m. and last all day, so come on out and enjoy the show.

AmTrac Bn. Leads League In Force Troops Softball

Softball remains the top attraction in Force Troops intramural activities as eight games were played in spite of rain and wet fields last week.

Highlight of the week's action was 8th Motors' surprising victory over 8th Engineers in nine innings, 7-5. "Jumping" Jack Coldren picked off his 10th win of the season as his AmTrac nine ripped 2d FAG, 9-6. ANGLICO handed Headquarters its fifth loss of the year, 11-10, and Recon-Topo Co. battered 2d Bridge, 5-2. The seasons' first two forfeits went to 2d Radio Co., who was unable to field a team. Eighth Comm Bn and 8th Motors were awarded 7-0 victories. After losing 11-10, to ANGLICO, Hq came back Friday evening to dump 2d FAG, 12-5, behind the six hit pitching of Morrie McPherson.

Speedballer David Donegan suffered his second loss of the year as his second place Engineer team fell behind the dangerous 8th Motors in nine innings, 7-5. Donegan allowed the winning runs in the top of the ninth inning as two came across the plate on two hits and an error on Donegan. Rex Stringfield nabbed the win.

AmTracs' Jack Coldren, the lanky winner from Courthouse Bay grabbed his 10th win as his AmTrac crew outlasted 2d FAG, 9-6. Jim Wallace pitched fine ball allowing only five hits but his team made too many miscues and Amtracs had their 10th win.

ANGLICO's big sticks came alive early in the game to blast

Headquarters 11-10. ANGLICO led Headquarters 11-3 going into the fourth inning when back to back homers and three singles drove in six big runs.

Hq Co catcher Ralph Brown hit a home run followed by Big Ben Benfield, who blasted the ball down the right field line for a homer. Mike Cuffler, a new face to the Headquarters team suffered the loss, his first of the year, while Bill Patton picked up ANGLICO's third win of the year.

Recon-Topo edged their Camp Geiger neighbors, 2d Bridge Co., 5-2. Dal Labell held the Bridgemen to three hits while recording his fifth win of the season. Al Shipp took the loss, his seventh of the year.

Headquarters brought their big bats to bear against a hapless 2d FAG nine, 12-5. Morrie "Mudcat" McPherson dazzled the FAG team with his slowball and breaking curve while his team mates jumped on Jim Wallace for nine runs in four innings. The game was highlighted by five homers, two from McPherson and three from Wallace.

Marked by the outstanding performance of Jack P. Hayes, who took six individual firsts, being on the winning team in three relay matches, Division rolled on with five more impressive victories by teams Harry Hattenback and Jack P. Hayes.

The Force Troops team won't find Division unyielding as their own Hunter Harrison, took the 200 yard breaststroke event in 3 min. 32 sec.

Force Troops, took its second, and only other top honor in the meet when Division's team was disqualified for being too soon on the breaststroke leg of the 200 yard relay. Baters Beware; Storm Time Here

A hurricane season is fully open. It began June 1 and continues until November 1.

Hurricane flags soon will be flying to signal the approach of one, Beulah, and Cindy. The Department of Commerce has prepared 18 other names for tropical storms. They will be: Debra, Edith, Flora, Gey, Helena, Irene, Janice, Kay, Laura, Margo, Nona, Od, Portia, Rachel, Sandra, Sue, Verna, and Wallis. Chances of using all of the names are remote. 1933 was the first year in this century in which as many as 21 tropical storms were reported. Since then there has been an average of 10 tropical cyclones each year.

Can You Be Critical

(Editor's Note: This is the first of six parts of an article concerning retraining of personnel for a critical MOS reprinted through the courtesy of LEATHERNECK magazine.)

The letter on the Gunny's desk in the personnel department at Headquarters Marine Corps has been staffed and researched and was now about to be "shot down". It was a request for a retraining assignment from a Pfc with 29 months left to serve on his enlistment contract. He wanted to become school trained at "Uncle's" expense to qualify for a critical MOS.

It isn't easy to turn down such a request. It would be a lot nicer...if not unwisely...to say, "Sure, fella...we're with you...anything you want." But, while few people will argue with Santa Claus, the old gentleman could be very impractical about serving the better interests of the Marine Corps if he came laden with "approvals" for all hands.

What the writer forgot...as they frequently do...was to take into account all the requirements of the Classification Retraining Policies contained in Marine Corps Order 1220.1B and 1220.2A. (These orders govern all requests for retraining in the Marine Corps.) He was already serving in a critical MOS, hence there would be little or no value to the Marine Corps in transferring him to one critical field to another. And, in every case, the MOS of the Marine Corps are considered of paramount importance; personal desires run a close second.

But, let's say you're serving your first hitch in the Corps and find yourself in a "Gunny". You're unhappy in your present assignment and feel that you could do the Corps and yourself a big favor by acquiring a new MOS; particularly a critical one that offers promise. Granted, there are many such in the Marine Corps in which an acute shortage exists; conceivably such shortages might get worse before they better.

Before you go pole-vaulting into your First Sergeant's office to dash off a personal action request to HQMC concerning your services to an understaffed MOS, consider: Are you trying to push Marine Corps on the spot? you asking, "What can the Marine Corps offer me?" (Do you have something to offer the Marine Corps?)

To be more specific, is your request for expensive retraining something that you should be gift-wrapped and dropped in your lap, or are you willing to sacrifice your energy and meet the halfway?

OLD AND NEW—Maj. L. E. Walton, left, outgoing Commanding Officer of 2d 8" Howitzer Battery (SP), 2d Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, hands over the guidon to the new Battery Commander, Maj. D. H. Morley, former S-4 officer of the Group.

Maj. D. H. Morley, assumed command of 2d 8" Howitzer Battery (SP), 2d Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, at ceremonies conducted during a live firing exercise at Op 2 on June 18.

The ceremonies and firing exercise were witnessed by numerous dependents and members of the command.

The battery guidon changed hands at the same instant the first shell called in on a firing mission was striking the impact area in the background.

After the ceremonies and demonstration, the dependents were treated to the privilege of eating the same food that Dad eats while in the field, "C Rations."

Maj. Morley, former S-4 officer of the Group relieved Maj. L. E. Walton, Jr., who has been assigned as Informational Services Officer, 8th MCRD, New Orleans, La.

ANGLICO Sgt. Sets Pace For 359 In Airborne Crse.

"Follow Me" and that is just what everyone did when Sgt. Donald E. Heim of 2d ANGLICO, Force Troops, "jumped" to first place and top honors during the Basic Airborne Course at Fort Benning, Ga., which graduated June 13.

The Airborne Course is part of the huge and complex Army Infantry School at Ft. Benning, whose motto is "Follow Me". The four week airborne course involves learning techniques of parachuting, physical conditioning, and orientation in airborne operations. This is culminated with five parachute jumps in the final week.

The 360 man graduating class started May 20 with 580 students consisting of three Marine officers and eight enlisted men plus some Air Force personnel.

Heim said: "It is a hard school and the instructors are real perfectionists, but, after completing the course you can be proud of your ability to 'take it'."

Division 'Second To None' Gains New Commander

"This Division is second to none—I propose to keep it that way." With these words Brigadier General Rathvon McC. Tompkins assumed command of the 2d Marine Division Friday at ceremonies highlighted by a pass-in-review by more than 15 battalions of combat-clad Marines and an aerial fly-over by elements of the 2d; Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point.

General Tompkins, who has served as Assistant Division Commander since September 1962, relieved Major General Frederick L. Wieseman who is slated to become Commandant, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., and has been selected for promotion to Lieutenant General.

More than 400 guests watched the change of command ceremony under bright sunny skies. High-ranking military dignitaries included: Lt. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic; Maj. Gen. Richard C. Mangrum, Commanding General, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point; Brig. Gen. Paul J. Fontana, Commanding General, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point; Brig. Gen. John P. Coursey, Assistant Wing Commander, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, Commanding General, Force Troops, Atlantic; and Col. T. S. Ivey, acting Base Commander, Marine Corps Base.

A native of Boulder, Colo.,

General Tompkins was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1936 and has since served in Iceland, England and Okinawa in addition to participating in World War II and the Korean conflict.

Nineteen years and four days ago, General Tompkins, then commanding a 2d Division infantry battalion, led his gallant Leathernecks to a vital victory over an enemy held stronghold on Saipan and was awarded the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism.

His citation reads in part: "...Rallying the weary troops who had fought all day he skillfully disposed his troops for maximum combat effect and led his men in a brilliantly executed attack against Japanese strongpoints according to plan."

The Navy Cross, this nation's second highest decoration awarded to naval personnel for extreme heroism in time of combat.

In addition to the Navy Cross the off-decorated General was awarded the Silver Star Medal for his heroic rescue of wounded Marines during landing operations on Tarawa. He won the Bronze Star Medal for Combat "V" for his achievements during action on Guadalcanal. In Korea, General was awarded a Silver Star in lieu of his second Bronze Star Medal.

Famous Painter Portrays A 'Force In Readiness'

"I have tried, in the only way I know, to show the world what it means to be a Marine. What you are about to see is not just one Marine, but every man who wears the uniform and makes up our Force in Readiness". With these words the velvet drape parted and the public viewed, for the first time, a $10,000 portrait titled a "Force In Readiness".

The spoken words and the painting both came from the same man. He is Mr. Dmitri Vail of Dallas, Texas who is known the world over as "The Painter of the Stars" and is also ranked as the foremost portrait painter in the United States.

Dmitri Vail created his "Force in Readiness" with one thought in mind...to express his feeling for a Corps of men who are always ready to defend the Flag of the United States of America.

The painting is now on public display in his gallery at the Holiday Inn Central in Dallas and will remain in its place of honor for several years. Later, it is Mr. Vail's desire, the 40" by 60" work be presented to the Marine Corps Museum in Quantico, Virginia. Still, for the present, it will stand silent with such famed figures as Jack Benny, Sophie Tucker, Johnny Carson, Carol Burnett and Chir Wills.

It was a great departure for Dmitri Vail when he set out to paint the Combat Infantryman of the Marine Corps. For more than 40 years he has worked with oils and had never embarked on such a project before. His title "Painter of the Stars" has been given him by great people of the stage and screen.

When the painting was completed an unveiling program was arranged at the Holiday Inn Central which brought out more than 350 civic and military leaders from the state of Texas. The portrait was unveiled following Flag Day ceremonies and talks by ranking officers of the combined services.

"FORCE IN READINESS—The United States Marines", is the title of this $10,000 painting by world famed artist Dmitri Vail. The painting was created for and dedicated to the combat infantrymen of the Marine Corps who are always ready to defend our flag and country.
