Marines Commended for Heroism

Five Marines were commended by Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, 1st Marine Division, for their heroic act in saving the lives of two teenagers. The Marines are Sgts. D. R. Nelson, W. B. Dobbie, Jr., Cpls. R. M. Gordon and J. Williams, of the 3d Marine Division, and Sgt. F. V. Kruk, MCS, Quantico. All were competing in the Marine Corps races. The act happened early in the morning of June 1, at twelve miles west of New on Highway 55 in a one accident involving four teenagers. The car, traveling at a high speed went out of control for nearly 315 feet, then rolled a creek and landed on its side in approximately three feet of water. The creek was reported to be about 81 feet deep. The two survivors were rescued.

VA Urges Policy Holders Update Beneficiary Listing

Mr. John S. Gleason, Jr., administrator of Veterans Affairs, recently told the annual American Legion Rehabilitation Conference in Washington, D. C. "The most serious problems facing veterans who hold insurance is to keep their beneficiary listing up to date." According to Mr. Gleason a recent survey disclosed that 10 percent of GI policyholders had some form of error in their beneficiary listing and in one-third of the cases the major beneficiary designation had to be changed. "Most of the major errors arise when a veteran, who had originally designated a parent as a beneficiary, marries and forgets to name his wife, or, later, his children as beneficiary and co-beneficiaries. Any veteran who has married or remarried since designating his insurance beneficiary, or who has had children, and now wishes should write to the VA insurance office to which he pays his premium," the Administrator urged.

Notice

The 2d Marine Division will assist in the training of all but the 1st Ordnance Field Maintenance Co., which is being trained by 2d Force Service Regiment.

All of these units are part of the 4th Marine Division U. S. Marine Corps Reserve organized last year to serve as a back-up for the regular Marine Corps as part of the nation's Force in Readiness. A total of 8,600 reserves are scheduled to train at Camp Lejeune this summer.

Finale of this week's training will be a sunset parade at 6:15 p. m., Friday, June 14, on the Base parade ground in front of Bldg. 1, with all reserve units. Music for the marching units will be provided by the 2d Marine Division Band.

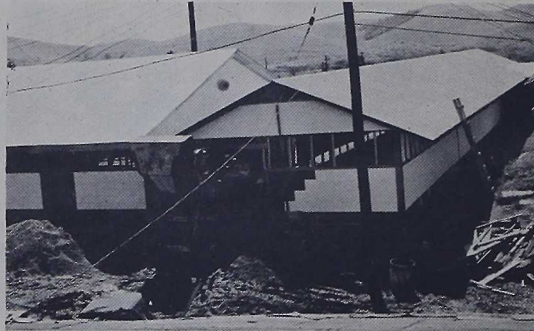

WELCOME, CITIZEN MARINES—Jacksonville Mayor A. D. Guy, right, and Mr. Dan Southerland met with Lt. Col. Frank J. Murray, left, and the 1st Sergeants of Marine Corps Reserve Units to welcome the first 8,600 Citizen Marines who will train at Camp Lejeune this summer. Mayor Guy and Mr. Southerland, President of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, presented descriptive booklets telling of attractions, facilities, and services offered by the city.

Vieques Given 'Face Lifting'

Reconstructing a mess-hall, building a heliport, or adding a taxi strip and parking apron to the airstrip at Camp Garcia, Vieques, Puerto Rico, are all a part of the "plan of the day" for members of Force Troops' 8th Engineer Battalion, currently serving their tour on the tropical isle.

Engineer's "C" Company, commanded by Captain T. J. Gipson, relieved "A" Company on May 1, taking up the projects under construction where "A" Company left off. Reconstruction of the mess-hall was assigned to SSgt. R. F. Murphy and his 1st Platoon. They expect to complete the messhall by June 15.

MESSHALL—The 1st Platoon of "C" Co., 8th Engr. Bn., is reconstructing the detachment messhall at Camp Garcia, Vieques. Upon completion of the messhall next week, it will service 400 Marines from the detachment and engineers.

The messhall, which will feed 400 Marines from the detachment and engineers, will be completely modernized right down to electrical ranges. It will offer another convenience, that of being located right in the company area instead of being near the airstrip.

The 2d Platoon, with SSgt. C. Elder at the helm, has been given the task of completing the heliport.

SSgt. K. O. Matee and his crew have the job of completing the parking and taxiing for the aircraft.

As a secondary mission, the Engineers have the job of gradual improvement of the camp and the support of units coming to Vieques for training.

ROCK CRUSHER—The operators of this rock crusher are members of 2d Platoon, "C" Co., 8th Engr.-Bn. They are presently working on the new heliport at Camp Garcia, Vieques, Puerto Rico.

Improved Communication Center Gives Better All-Round Service

The new "Communication Centrally ANTSC-15, one of the newest additions to the Marine Corps communication facilities was viewed by Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, commanding General, Force Troops, at a display and demonstration held for him by Comm. Co., 8th Comm. Bn.

The main feature of the portable central is, that it can transmit four teletype and three voice transmissions simultaneously. Another feature of the ANTSC-15, as it is commonly called, is that it can be air lifted from one point to another by helicopter.

Communication Company's Commander, Maj. J. E. Buynak, explained the operations of the new central to Gen. Kyle.

The new comm center was featured in last month's GAZETTE and was used in a field problem held by the communicators last month.

Long-Range Shells Slated For Corps

WASHINGTON -- Marines Corps artillerymen are to be firing "extended range" ammunition which is based, it is believed, on an idea dating back to the days of smoothbore cannons and muzzle-loading rifles. The Germans used "sabot" rounds to attain a range of 76 miles for the 265-pound, 210-mm shells they hit Paris with in World War I. A sabot is a ring of plastic or metal that fits around a shell, allowing rounds smaller than the diameter of the tube to be fired. Thus larger powder charges power smaller, lighter shells for longer than normal distances.

This sabot, (sah-bow) which means shoe, provides the seal for the gases formed when powder explodes and seats itself in the spiraling "lands and grooves" of the bore. This given the shell spin which makes it fly straight.

The Marines are expected to make fairly large purchases of extended range 103 and 155 mm ammunition in this fiscal year, according to testimony before the House Appropriation Committee's subcommittee on defense by Maj. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman, Jr., assistant chief of staff for supply.

AWAITING TESTS—A new self-propelled 155mm Howitzer is standing by to travel to Twentynine Palms where it will be studied by the artillerymen in preparation for field testing and firing beginning around July 1. It is not officially accepted by the Marine Corps yet. The weapon itself is a 26-ton tracked vehicle using an aluminum alloy armor extensively which contributes to its relatively light weight. It is powered by a V-8 diesel engine and mounts its cannon on a turret having a full 360 degree traverse.

President Tours MCRD San Diego; Feels New Corps As Good As Old

"The old Corps may have been a great Corps, but the new Corps is just as good," said President Kennedy after a man-to-man look at how a Marine recruit is trained. The President spent two and a half hours at the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot June 6. In a speech before 5,000 Marines, and 3,500 navymen from neighboring Naval Training Center, the President said, "You men on this (Hall) field help maintain the security of countries 11,000 miles away

The President saw a fair sampling of the complete 11-weeks of training during his tour of the Recruit Training Regiment. He started at Dan Daly Receiving Barracks and ended by inspecting a platoon which had just graduated.

As soon as the President appeared in the door of his helicopter on arrival, a 21-gun salute started and the MCRD Band began playing "Hail to the Chief". The President then viewed and inspected the honor guard from the MCRD Sea School.

In the condensed, chronological tour of recruit training, the President saw recruits: in close order drill, attending class on Marine Corps History, running the obstacle course, pugil stick fighting, and taking the CMC physical readiness and physical strength tests. He went into a recruit hut and talked to recruits and their drill instructor.

Throughout the tight schedule the President stopped to talk to recruits, DI's and other instructors. He asked them where they came from, how they liked the training, and--in the case of DI's--how long they'd been in the Marine Corps.

"After seeing the long-haired new arrivals in the receiving barracks and inspecting the final product, the President seemed pleased and gratified," said Col. M. M. Day, Recruit Training Regiment commanding officer. "He was very impressed with the role of the drill instructor in recruit training."

The President asked one tall recruit if he had put on any weight. "Yes, Sir!" said the private in his 10th week of training, "Thirty-nine pounds, Sir."

The Commander-in-Chief was accompanied on his tour of the Depot's Recruit Training Regiment by Gen. David M.

Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, MCRD commanding general, and Colonel Day.

President Kennedy arrived at 1 p.m. and left at 3:30 p.m. for the USS CLISKANY to view 1st Fleet maneuvers off the California coast.

Modernizing Plans Set To Improve Corps' Tanks

WASHINGTON -- The Marines will be getting two "new tanks" during the next year. They will look the same as those now in the Corps, but they will be faster, longer-legged, cheaper to operate, easier to maintain and their guns will be more accurate.

These improvements will not come with buying "new" tanks, but by modernizing the existing Marine tanks until they are "superior to any other tank in the field today," according to a Marine tank specialist.

The Marines now operate two tanks--the M48A1 medium with a 90-mm gun and the M103A1 heavy with a 120-mm cannon.

Both versions are getting new frame finders, new engines, improved fording gear and better turret controls.

The old stereoscopic range finder has five markings in a "V" shape, superimposed over the target. When the center mark appears over the target the gun is supposedly on target.

The new sight is a coincidence sight similar to those used on cameras. It presents two images of the target. When they are brought together the gun is on target.

The coincidence sight is expected greatly to improve gunnery and to cut gunnery training time in half.

The second major change is replacing the gasoline engines in the two tanks with diesels. This change will more than double the operating time of the tanks, making them faster and providing simplified maintenance.

Today the two types of Marine tanks can normally operate in the field about 10 hours without refueling. The new diesels--plus a slight change in the tanks' fuel tanks--will up this to about 25 hours.

Modernization of the 120-mm M103A1s will start about the first of 1964 and finish up by April 1, 1964. They will then be known as M103A2s.

The Marines have several hundred of each type.

The Corps has no plans to purchase the M60 tank. This is the only "main battle" tank now being bought by the Army and features a 105-mm gun and a diesel power plant. A Marine spokesman told Navy Times that the modernized M48s and M103s are equal or superior to the M60 for the Corps' needs.

Unofficial predictions for the next generation of Marine "battle" tanks include lighter vehicles that can be easily air lifted and possibly even air dropped. These tanks will have improved engines and "guns" that can fire both missiles and conventional shells.

Col. Bell relieved Colonel Anthony Caputo, who has been assigned as commanding officer, Headquarters and Service Battalion, Marine Corps Base.

Invited guests included, Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, MCB, Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, commanding general, 2d Marine Division, and Brig. Gen. R. McC. Tompkins, assistant division commander.

HERE MARINES ARE "BORN"—The first few minutes in life of a Marine are observed by President John F. Kennedy and Navy Secretary Fred Korth (right) during a tour of Dan Daly Barracks at the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot, June 6. GySgt. Riley Deshotel (center) tells the President that it takes 56 minutes to complete the initial indoctrination. In less than an hour the recruits have their hair cut, wear and initial clothing issue. The recruits here are drawn a bucket-issu of health and comfort items.

Witnesses the Marines, without hesitation or regard for their own personal safety, used the two survivors and aid.

R. R. Clyde Smith, Craven County Coroner, in a letter to General Berkeley stated, "I personally believe had it not been for the selfless and heroic spirit and bravery of these five young Marines that this teen boy and girl would not be alive today as it would have only been a matter of minutes before young Hill would have bled to death leaving Miss Robinson to drown."

Flag Day Observed Tomorrow

One hundred and eighty-six years ago tomorrow, a resolution was passed by the Continental Congress establishing a National Standard which has become the banner of hope and freedom for generations of Americans.

Born amid the flames of America's first fight for freedom, our Flag is the symbol of a country that has grown from colonies to a united brotherhood of 50 sovereign states. Planted firmly on the high peaks of American Faith, Glory has grown into something more than just a flag. It has become an inspiration to untold millions and a symbol of freedom for suppressed people the world over.

Our Heritage is our Flag for it is our symbol of freedom. The stars are a symbol of the heavens and the divine goal to which man has aspired from time immemorial, and the stripes are symbolic of the rays of light emanating from the sun. On Flag Day, June 14, these stars and stripes forever, so dear to Americans, will fly over this great nation of ours.

Its spirit is fervently expressed in the words of Thomas Jefferson: "I swear, before the altar of God, eternal hostility to every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

The story of the origin of our Old Glory parallels the story of the origin of our country. As our country received its birthright from the peoples of many lands who gathered on these shores to found a new nation, so did the pattern of the Stars and Stripes rise from the several origins back in the past to become emblazoned on the standards of the infant republic.

Since its beginning in Philadelphia, June 14, 1777, it has, many times by its presence alone, protected American citizens and property on the four points of the globe. In wars, both big and small, fighting men have followed it into battle while preserving the very liberty it stands for.

So long as men love liberty more than life itself, treasuring the priceless privileges bought with their blood and the blood of their forefathers and as long as the principles of truth, justice and charity for all, remain deeply rooted in human hearts, our Flag shall continue to be the enduring banner of freedom and of our Nation.

As we celebrate the day of its birth, let us be ever mindful that it has witnessed a great history, that it is the emblem of our unity, our power, and our thought and purpose as a nation. It is a symbol of freedom and Our Heritage.

Editorials

Anniversary

Wherever you find the Marine Corps, there you will find the Navy Hospital Corpsman. During peacetime he labors unceasingly, day and night, often in routine monotonous duties. During wartime he lands on the beaches with the Marines in the assault waves, is with the forward elements of front line troops, is employed in transporting wounded, and serves on all types of ships, submarines, and landing craft. Willing and prepared to serve his country and his fellow man above and beyond the call of duty, the hospital corpsman may be found wherever medical service may be required.

They stormed ashore in the tornado of fire that greeted the Marines on the beaches of Tarawa and slithered through the mud with patrols in the steaming jungles of Guadalcanal. They performed emergency operations during the hell that was Peleliu while shell fragments clipped their clothing and snipers aimed at their red cross arm bands.

With cold numbed hands they gave aid to Marines suffering with frozen fingers and toes, in foxholes chipped and blasted out of the icy soil in the Frozen Chosin.

Some hard cold facts to show that they serve with special distinction are: During the Korean Conflict the Marine Corps had 1 out of 3 wounded, and lost 1 out of 29. This was a lower mortality rate than any other service came close to equalling.

The Medal of Honor was awarded to 15 enlisted men of the Navy during World War II. Of this number, 7 or 46 percent of the total receiving this award were Hospital Corpsmen.

Their's is not an easy profession, even in peace time. They face danger daily in the test tubes and culture racks. They are perpetually on the firing line in the endless war against disease and premature death.

The GLOBE wishes to extend their congratulations to the Navy Hospital Corps and a special tribute to the 1157 Corpsmen stationed at Camp Lejeune.

Sameness

Someone remarked recently about the "sameness" of GLOBE editorials. What he would like to see, the speaker said, was an editorial on a controversial subject. On the surface this appears to be a legitimate complaint, but actually it isn't.

Controversy, according to Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary is a "discussion of a controverted matter or controversial issue; dispute, debate; sometimes, quarrel; strife."

Rank reductions, punishments and regulations are quite controversial to Marines. We feel there is a need to belabor these and other subjects again and again in editorials.

When a Marine fails in his duty in any respect, another Marine has to take action. In many cases it means the loss of rank and pay for the accused and lost man hours for the Marine Corps. It also means that while one man is being tried,

How many times have we either seen or dressed down a Marine because of shoddy appearance in uniform or a lack of military courtesy? And how many times have we as Officers and NCO's stopped to think that one of our own number is the reason that we have to "chew out" this young Marine? We certainly have the inevitable 10 percent but more often than not the fact that a man is not "squared away" is due to some senior man shirking his responsibility and failing to provide the leadership and guidance required in the making of a good Marine.

There is no doubt that responsibility is a two edged sword for officer, NCO and Marine but it is also true that the average Marine gains his sense of responsibility by seeing it in the actions of his leaders. The Marine Corps promotes a man on the basis of proficiency in his MOS but the most important thing in the collective mind of any promotion board is: "can this Marine assume the responsibilities inherent in the rank to which he aspires?" When a man attains the status of an NCO has proven to his superiors he is capable of taking care of himself and that he is ready to assume responsibility of taking care of others; thus the fireteam leader, squad leader, section leader, platoon sergeant are developed and progress.

It logically follows then that an unkempt, unmilitary Marine the product of a leader who did not have the time because of his interests or laziness to either at that Marine on the right road guide him to it when he strayed

If you are responsible for every man, pause and take a look at him today! Does he reflect the pride of his Corps and of your guidance and leadership? Would you be proud to have him seen by another officer or NCO, seen in the knowledge that there would be no reason to stop YOUR Marine because of appearance or failure to salute? If not then step out to the mirror and take a look at the man responsible for the Marine who doesn't measure up; he doesn't then do you?

Chaplain's Corner

In the New English Bible, II Corinthians 3:5, we note an interesting statement: "There is no question of being qualified in ourselves; we can claim anything as our own." Of course this is the feeling of the Apostle Paul concerning his spiritual ministry. Generally speaking I find it quite true in the life of every man. Man is aware that in human life there is an element of despair. There is a great gap between what man is and what he ought to be. While man recognizes that he is inferior to greatness he is keenly aware how far short he falls below greatness. One can look about him and he finds mothers, fathers, sons, daughters, husbands, wives, educators, and leaders of all positions of life feeling inadequate, incomplete, and ineffective.

One can rest assured that if he feels such emotions of uncertainty, insecurity he is not alone in the world. While the neighbor, or leader who he admires, may give every appearance of being poised and adequate to the task, means nothing. Everyone has his ups and downs and his doubts prove membership in the human family. The greatest men of Bible history had long periods of uncertainty: There is Adam and his sin in the Garden of Eden; There is Noah and his drunken condition; There is Abraham and his tendency to misrepresent truth in times of strain; there is Moses whom I couldn't let enter the promised land; there is Elijah who was discouraged and begging to die; and there is Pilate with his profanity in Pilate's Court.

The feeling of human inadequacy in reality a sure sign of being a man. Not only feels inadequate, but just that. The world is too complex for him. He is actually at the mercy of everything. At any moment his life can be ended by a virus too small for microscopic description, or by an automobile in the hands of a careless driver. No man is truly as wise or as skillful as should hope to be and yet he goes on taking steps, making decisions and bearing the responsibility of life given him.

Let no man despair however of sense of inadequacy, but rather let him as did the Great Apostle, recognize and acknowledge his dependence upon God and therefore strive for the highest attainments of life.

As men, let us admit that we are never fully adequate to life's demands — and yet let us apply ourselves wholeheartedly to the stewardship which God has given us.

MOVIE REVIEWS

SEVEN SEAS TO CALAIS

Lovers of historical-adventure-action-romance type films will enjoy this film, centered about the life of the famed Sir Francis Drake, sea hijacker, who plundered the richly laden galleons of the Spaniards to replenish the nearly bankrupt British throne. In technicolor, the film stars Rod Taylor and Irene Worth.

MARCO POLO

Rory Calhoun portrays this adventurous hero of another age, in scenes combining action and imaginative settings. Color and CinemaScope add to the vivid Oriental motif duplicating the grand Khan's 13th Century kingdom behind the great Chinese Wall. Yoko Tani, petite Paris-born Japanese actress, stars with Calhoun as a Chinese princess, and Robert Hundar as a scheming prime minister is properly sinister. Costuming, settings, battle scenes and grandeur make this a film that is a "must" on the entertainment list.

THE HOOK

Korea, 1953, and the winning acting team of Kirk Douglas, Robert Wagner and Nick Adams portrays a group of rock-hard American G.I.s "up front" in an action packed drama of war and death. The trio escapes from a dangerous beachhead on a tanker loaded with high octane gas, accompanied by a downed Red Chinese pilot who is ordered to be shot. The action of the younger G.I.s gives an unforgettable insight into the limits of wartime duty and the strain it places on the man with the gun.

PANIC IN YEAR ZERO

Los Angeles is scrambled by an atomic attack. Ray Milland and his family (Jean Hagen, Mary Michell and Frankie Avalon) are terrorized by teenagers on the loose, crazed and violent at the sudden end of organized law enforcement. Competent acting and an unusual situation make the film well worth seeing.

"We're the new highway patrol...dad...somebody dropped a bomb...crazy kick!"

PEPE

Mexico's beloved Charlie Chaplin, first introduced to this country in a brilliant supporting role in "Around the World in 80 Days," hits the bright spots in Mexico, Hollywood and Las Vegas. Color and gaiety sparkle throughout the film. A long list of noted actors are billed.

65th 'Official' Birthday

"It is no easy profession, even in peacetime. There is danger in the test tubes and culture racks as menacing as the guns of an unvanquished enemy. The Hospital Corps is never at peace. It is forever on the firing line in the ceaseless war against disease and premature death. That is why the Corps' emblem is truly 'the red badge of courage,' a designation to all the world that the person who wears it has been self-dedicated to service of humanity."

(Editor's Note: The above is an excerpt from a Commendation to the Hospital Corps made by the late Honorable James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy during World War II.)

is he just a man who keeps Marine's health records correct and up to date.

Where there are Marines, there are Corpsmen. Corpsmen waded beside Marines onto the Pacific beaches during World War II. They were on the roller coaster of Korea's hills with Marines. They were on hospital ships and in sickbays of other ships tending the wounded being brought aboard.

As the methods of caring for the wounded were crude in the early stages of our country, the predecessor of today's corpsman had du-world-wide will be celebrating their 65th official anniversary. Their history and traditions go back through the years to the Revolutionary War and the Continental Navy.

Since the beginning of the hospital corpsman, Marines have come to know and respect their naval comrades. Marines know he is not just a man who gives inoculations or issues APC's. Nor ties that were just as crude.

From the very beginning of the Navy it was found necessary to make provisions for the care of the sick and wounded, and an act of Congress in 1799, provided: "A convenient place shall be set apart for the sick and hurt men, to which they are to be removed, and some of the crew shall be appointed to attend them." This portion of the ship was first designated as the "cockpit." It was normally in the forward section of the ship and below the water line as protection against shot and shell. The name of this section of the ship changed to "sick berth" and eventually changed again to "sickbay."

There were apparently no enlisted men trained to perform the corpsman's duty, although a number of the least necessary members of the crew were usually assigned the task of tending to the wounded and sick. During that period, most larger ships carried a surgeon and surgeon's mate.

In Navy Regulations of 1814, the "loblolly boy" was referred to as an assistant to the surgeon and the surgeon's mate. That sounds much like today's Corpsman but there is a difference in methods used in performing the duties.

The loblolly boy was responsible for going throughout the ship ringing a small bell as notice to "those slightly indisposed and with ulcers" to attend the surgeon at the mainmast.

Also, before a battle he was to put a water supply in the cockpit, containers for amputated limbs, braziers of charcoal for heating the irons used to sear the exposed surface left by amputations and for heating the tar used to stop hemorrhages. He was also to supply buckets of a sand in which to catch the blood from amputations and wounds and to pour over the blood spilled on the deck to keep the surgeon and surgeon's mate

Commendation Message

I join with you around the world in celebrating the 65th anniversary of the Hospital Corps. The laboratory and women of the Hospital Corps are measurably to the efficiency of the Hospital Corps in Readiness of the past and the future of Marine and Navy. The Hospital Corps is a heritage of which you are proud and with the steadfastness and garrison of research and garrison of the Hospital Corps in the future. Best wishes to the Hospital Corps organization.

Field Surgical Team

Marked By Navy's 'Docs'

KOREA—Liquid life was administered to a wounded Marine by an unidentified Navy corpsman near the Nakdong River front in the early days of the Korean war. Many corpsmen received the same treatment as the result of wounds suffered in caring for Marines in the combat areas.

Corps for performance of duty, especially in the field with the Marine Corps, was greatly enhanced. Many of the Corpsmen were cited for valor by both the United States and France.

Fifteen navy personnel received the Medal of Honor for their actions in World War II. Seven of these (46 percent) were Hospital Corpsmen. The World War II corpsmen were awarded the Navy Cross and Silver and Bronze Star Medals by the hundreds for their deeds of valor.

also to display the knowledge and judgment required to meet all emergencies and in every possible manner assist to the best of their ability. The basic code by which they work is, "to keep as many men as many guns as many days as possible."

Wherever you find the Navy, wherever you find the Marine Corps, there you will find the Navy Hospital Corpsman. In times of peace, he toils unceasingly, day and night, often in routine monotonous duties. In times of war, he is on the from slipping.

As medical progress was made and modernization began taking place within the Navy, the medical personnel were becoming more and more similar to those of the present.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery was established in 1842 and a surgeon's steward was assigned to ships and hospitals, replacing the loblolly boy. The first listed pay for the surgeon's steward was $18 a month and one ration. This was evidently the beginning of the selection of specially qualified personnel to aid the surgeons.

A Navy Department order in 1863 allowed male nurses on receiving ships in number proportionate to the necessities of the case. Three years later, the name of surgeon's steward was changed to "Apothecary." A candidate for examination and first enlistment as an apothecary had to be a graduate of some recognized college of pharmacy and between the ages of 21-28. The title of "male nurse" was changed to "bayman" in 1873.

The Hospital Corps came into existence as an organized unit of the Medical Department through an Act of Congress June 17, 1898. Two years later, during the Boxer Rebellion in China, a Hospital Apprentice became the first member of the Hospital Corps to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor.

During World War I, the reputation of the Hospital

The present day mission of the Corpsman is to give on land, sea and in the air, intelligent, capable, and efficient assistance to Medical, Dental, Medical Service, Nurse, and Hospital Corps officers in the eternal war against disease, injury and death, and to aid in maintaining the supply and administrative functions of the supportive branches of the Medical Department. He is beaches with the Marines, is employed in amphibious operations, in transportation of the wounded by air, on the front battle lines, on all types of ships, and landing craft. In short, wherever medical services may be required, the hospital corpsman is there, not only willing but prepared to serve his country and his fellow man above and beyond the call of duty.

Lejeune Sweeps Series With Paige All-Stars

Booming bats, sound pitching and weak resistance powered mighty Camp Lejeune to an awesome 24-3 victory over Satchel Paige's All Stars and gave them a clean sweep of the three game series.

Lejeune started the onslaught in the first inning by scoring 12 runs and then coasted to an easy triumph. Buddy Simpson started off the first inning by drawing a base on balls, stole second and remained there while Billy Garrett also drew a walk. Norton struckout and Westendick reached first on an infield error by the third baseman. Telechea forced Westendick at second, as Simpson scored on the play.

Cicero McClellan then clouted a triple which chased home Garrett and Telechea, O'Leary's single scored McClellan and he in turn was advanced to third on a single by Garcia; Johnson then walked and was driven home along with Garcia and O'Leary on a single by Simpson and a combination of All Star errors.

But this wasn't all; Garrett reached first on an error, Norton singled, Westendick followed with the same and chased home Garrett and Norton. George Borders pinch hitting for Telechea hit a towering home-run over the left field fence scoring Westendick along with himself.

The All Stars broke into the scoring column in the third inning when Anderson doubled and scored on a single by Oscar Walker and he in turn was driven home on a two bagger by Green the right fielder. The All Stars managed one more run in the fourth inning when Davis led off with a single and rode home on Oscar Walker's second hit of the evening.

Lejeune's five run outburst in the fifth was highlighted by home-runs off the bats of Hal Norton and Chico Lugo which accounted for three of the runs; the other two were driven home on Simpson's third consecutive single.

Lejeune totaled five more runs in the fifth and sixth innings featured by a two run pinch homer by Dennis Jakeb in the sixth while batting for relief pitcher Mike Hamilton.

Mike Hamilton was the winning pitcher for the Stars giving up 15 runs in 4 innings.

Head Grid Mentor Wanted

Base Special Services is accepting applications for the position as head football coach of the 1963 Lejeune football team. Applications, including experience and other pertinent data should be forwarded to Base Special Services, Goettge Memorial Field House, Bldg. 751, prior to 4:30 p.m., June 21 for consideration.

The Marines came back in the bottom of the fifth scoring two more as Westendick walked, took second on a wild pitch

Lejeune wrapped up their bombardment in the seventh as Simpson, Norton, Lugo and O'Leary singled to finish out the scoring in the contest at 18-6 Lejeune.

Education Related to Advancement

The table shown below is an extract from Marine Corps Bulletin 1133. It is printed as an item of interest to all Marines.

| Completed Educational Level | WO | E-8 | E-7 | E-6 | E-5 | E-4 | E-3 | E-2 | E-1 |
|-----------------------------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|
| 4 yrs HS | 97.41% | 81.44% | 80.68% | 76.42% | 71.14% | 75.87% | 70.52% | 59.61% | 49.83% |
| 3 yrs HS | 98.94 | 86.61 | 85.55 | 81.00 | 75.93 | 81.14 | 11.99 | 69.31 | 61.78 |
| 2 yrs HS | 99.65 | 92.51 | 92.10 | 88.13 | 83.68 | 88.08 | 87.59 | 92.49 | 77.88 |

Educational achievement is directly related to advancement and higher pay in the Marine Corps. It is readily apparent in the above table (compiled 1962) that only 49.83% of all Privates had completed four years of high school whereas 81.44% of all First Sergeants and Master Sergeants had completed this level of education.

The Marine Corps offers many means towards improvement of education and advancement. Check with your educational Officer and have him advise you as to the best method for your particular case.

OOOPPPSSS—Col. J. A. Donovan, Jr., commanding officer, 2d Service Battalion, appears to have his hand in the tray of Maj. C. F. Langely, acting executive officer, but he is actually reaching for a hot bun. More than 900 men attended the cookout held for the battalion last Thursday.

Service Bn.'s 'Cookout' Proves Large Success

A noon meal "cookout" attended by more than 900 men was held for 2d Service Battalion personnel in the vicinity of Mess Hall #508 here last Thursday.

SSgt. Billy G. Ray, Bn. Mess Sgt., said it was the first time the battalion had experienced a cookout, and that it served a dual purpose: that of morale building, and to get the different sections within the battalion better acquainted.

The menu, reading like a connoisseur's dream, listed charcoal-broiled steaks, aluminum-wrapped baked potatoes, onions and mushrooms, butter, hot buns, buttered corn, salad bar, and chocolate cake with icing.

Frankfurters, America's most popular outing snack, were also served.

According to SSgt. Ray, "the outing had a couple disadvantages such as requiring extra time to feed all hands, and having the food cool quickly."

These drawbacks were evidently not shared by all, for Col. J. A. Donovan, Jr., commanding officer, of the battalion, and Maj. Charles F. Langely, acting executive officer, along with other key officers and personnel in the battalion accounted for more than 800 used food trays

Melodic Tunes Waxed By Four Military Bands

Recordings made by the four U. S. military bands—Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps—are now on sale to the public.

This marks the first time such recordings have been commercially available.

President Kennedy received copies of the records and publicly thanked all those responsible for the recordings.

Each service album has a distinctive sound, flavor and personality, and opens with the familiar service "theme song" and closes with the Star-Spangled Banner. In between are nine selections, whose variety shows off the bands' virtuosity.
