Gen. Bowser Assigned New Base Commander

Headquarters, Marine Corps, yesterday named Maj. Gen. Alpha L. Bowser as replacement for Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, who is slated to receive his third star and the command of FMFLant, on August 1 of this year.

General Bowser, currently assigned as Assistant Chief of Staff, Plans and Programs, Headquarters Marine Corps, graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in June 1932, was

The new tour will be General Bowser's second at Camp Lejeune, as he served here as a major in 1942 before sailing for the Pacific area in January of 1943. The General was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel the following March, and served with the 3d Marine Division at Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima. During these campaigns, he was awarded two bronze Stars and the Legion of Merit with combat "V".

'Jacksonville-Onslow Day' Re-Scheduled For Tonight

Camp Lejeune's 'Jacksonville-Onslow County Day' celebration, which was postponed due to heavy rainfall last week, will be held tonight.

Highlighting the day will be a baseball game at Harry Agganis Field, beginning at 8 p.m. between the Camp Lejeune "Marines" and the Fort Eustis "Wheels." Pre-game ceremonies will begin at 7:30.

Following the contest Mr. Jay Quinn, Chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, will present a "top player," award to Lejeune's most outstanding player during the contest.

In recognition of the fine military-community relations throughout Onslow County, the special day is being celebrated for the second consecutive year. It was officially proclaimed for 1963 by Major General James P. Berkeley, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, earlier last week.

State Representatives Carl Venters and Hugh Ragsdale and Jacksonville's Mayor A. D. Guy head a list of more than 90 county and community civic leaders who have received special invitations to the occasion.

The game is open to the general public with passes to Agganis Field available at the gate. Parking areas are available for visitors in the vicinity of the stadium and the Goettge Memorial Field House.

New Armor Halts Bullets

Three inches of a light plastic armor material shattered a bullet from a Russian 14.5 mm. gun, fired point blank 30 feet away, in a recent test of American armor.

A witness, describing the test, said there was a shower of splinters from the plastic target, but no penetration by the bullet traveling at 2,000 miles per hour.

Instead of stopping projectiles by sheer strength and thickness like steel and other metals, the plastic is said to use the bullet's own force to destroy itself. When the bullet smashes into the new non-metallic armor, the lay-up of the composite materials forces it to make a sharp-angled turn in a distance of about one-half inch and the bullet is shattered by its own energy.

The goal of the plastic development program is a new, lightweight armor that can be used by tanks, personnel carriers, small boats, planes and helicopters for protection against small arms fire and armor piercing bullets.

Although the material is still in early development stages, tests have shown that in many designs it is as much as 40 per cent lighter than many metallic armors with equal protective qualities.

IF YOU ASK ME

"If you had but one place to visit in the Mediterranean area, which place would you choose and why?"

CAPT. JAMES R. CURL, Staff Officer, Amphibious Squadron 12. "Meeting the people of foreign countries, to me, is far more the interesting part of visiting any foreign country. The sights, in a sense, can be often found in libraries or motion pictures without one having to leave their own home town. But sharing ideas with people in other lands is more educational than visiting."

Lt. Cdr. Anthony C. Volz, Chaplain, USN, H&S Co., 1st Bn., 6th Marines. "I should choose the Mediterranean port of Naples, Italy for from there it is easy to visit Rome. To me, Rome is one of the most fascinating cities in the world because of its historical and religious significance."

CPL. RILEY E. WIGGLESWORTH, Company "E", 2d Bn., 10th Marines. "I say any port in the Mediterranean on the French coast with a proximity to Paris. All of my life, Paris has been the one and only city in Europe that I yearn to visit. To me, it's a city of color and excitement around which much of the history of the old world has been associated."

SGT. EVERETT N. HARRIS, H&S Co., BLT 1/6. "I think Greece would be my choice for the one stop in the Mediterranean. There a person would be able to see in a short time, many historical places that took centuries to develop. In Greece, a person could see for himself, the places where so many events took place during the early stages of the world's development."

YOUNG GUNS OF TEXAS
The off spring of named Hollywood stars attempt to act out a melodrama of the old west. A varied group of people fall together, all searching for a lost gold shipment and are harassed by "bad guys." If our heroes wits and dialogue were as loud as their voices, this the great movie it would be.

Lejeune Leads ECIC With 5-

Drop Fort Dix 3-1, 7-1; Bright, Cuppitt Shine

The Camp Lejeune nine kept their winning streak in the East Coast Interservice Conference going as they dropped the Fort Dix "Burros" in both games of a two-night double header Friday evening 3-1; 7-1 to set their conference standing at four wins, no losses.

Chuck Cuppitt threw the first game for Lejeune, giving up one lone walk, six hits and striking out seven. Dick Laxton went all the way also for Dix giving the Marines one walk, five hits and three strikeouts. Dix suffered four errors in the first tilt while Lejeune remained clean.

Dix hit the scoreboard in the first inning to take the lead 1-0. Leadoff batter Roger Lesser walked, Dennis Lynch got to first on a bunt and Jim Egan racked up an infield hit to load the bags. Al Wise lined a double play ball to short, scoring Lesser, Herb Crank struck out to retire the side and all Dix scoring for the game.

Lejeune finally got things going in the second inning when they took the lead scoring two runs, Chuck Teletchea singled and stole second. Cicero McClellan put his big stick to work and lined one over the right-field fence, 350 feet for the only homerun of the game, scoring Teletchea from second. Cicero is now in a deadlock with Hal Norton in the homer department on the Marines squad with seven each.

Lejeune scored their final run in the bottom of the fourth on a wild pitch by Dick Laxton. Chuck Teletchea got on first with a bunt single, took third on a throwing error over the first baseman's head and came home on a pitching error.

Lejeune's ace righthander, Alex Bright, took the mound to stay in the second game putting his seasons record at 8-2 as he gave the Burros five walks, five hits and struck out 11. Alex ruined his shutout in the eighth inning when he walked four soldiers in a row for their lone run.

The Marines jumped on three Dix hurlers for a total of five walks, 11 hits and six strike outs. Dix also came up with five miscues in the second tilt against Lejeune's one. Coming to life in the third inning, Lejeune hit the scoreboard for two runs. Buddy Simpson followed Bright's strike out with a double to right field and took third on a bad pitch. Billy Garrett kept things going with another double to center, scoring Simpson.

Hal Norton flew out to center and Bill Westendick brought Garrett across the plate with a line single over second base. Chuck Teletchea followed with a single, however, Westendick was caught off base, to retire the side.

Lejeune's third run came following another double, this time by Chuck Teletchea in the fourth stanza. Tom O'Leary's single to leftfield scored Teletchea and O'Leary took second on a throwing error.

Alding Bright's cause, the Lejeune nine came up with four more scores in the fifth inning. Hal Norton started the inning off with a single to left, and stole second. Bill Westendick took first on a walk. Chuck Teletchea laid a bunt down for a single to load the bases.

Cicero McClellan struck out, and Norton came home on a wild pitch, with Westendick and Teletchea taking third and second. Tom O'Leary racked up two RBI's with a single to right, bringing both Westendick and Teletchea home.

Burros' catcher Dennis Lynch got tagged with a wild pitch and was replaced by Joe Sansone, with O'Leary taking third on the play.

Dick Garcia filed out deep to right, scoring O'Leary to set the scoreboard at Lejeune 7, Dix 0.

Dix finally put a mark on the board in the top of the eighth. Alex Bright holding the Burros to one walk and three hits since the start had control trouble and walked four in a row to ruin his shutout.

Dix was unable to threaten again as Alex bared down and struck out two, and allowed only two hits in the top of the ninth, setting his throwing record at 8-2, and the Lejeune ECIC record at 4-0.

Swamp Fort Devens 1 McClellan Hits 8th

Camp Lejeune's strong mound staff and powerful bats went to work against the Fort Devens "Hornets" Saturday night and kept the Marines undefeated in the ECIC action, as they swamped the Devens nine 11-1 behind Frank Wilhelm. Righthander, Wilhelm put his seasons record at six wins, three losses as he held the Hornets to five hits, one walk and struck out 11.

Lejeune unleashed their ferocious hitting attack on both hurlers used by Devens, racking up nine hits, six walks and striking out only five times. Eight miscues also held the Marines in their fifth straight ECIC victory.

Devens hit the scoreboard for their lone run in the second inning as Artemas Holmes took first on a walk, moved to third on a single by Ken Crider and came home on a wild pitch by Wilhelm. The pitch hit the plate and flew to the screen behind home plate.

It didn't take the Leathernecks long to go ahead in the game as they unleashed their first barrage against righthander Syl Palko in the bottom of the second inning.

Bill Westendick led off with a single to left, followed by another single to the same field by Chuck Teletchea. Cicero McClellan drew a walk to load the bases, followed by Tom O'Leary's single to score Westendick and Teletchea.

McClellan scored on a hit by Dave Hinz who later crossed the plate on a smash to center off the bat of Buddy Simpson, to set the scoreboard at 4-1 Lejeune.

Keeping their big sticks at work, the Lejeune nine took three more runs from the Army nine in the third inning.

First sacker Hal Norton lead off with a walk on four straight balls, moved to third on a hit and run play with Bill Westendick and scored on a double over third by Chuck Teletchea.

Cicero McClellan took over the lead in the homerun department as he blasted his eighth of the season 315 feet over the rightfield fence scoring Teletchea from second, making it 7-1, Lejeune.

Lejeune's sluggers took pity on Palko until the seventh inning when they uncorked their fury to pick up four additional runs.

Billy Garrett took first on a throwing error from short, replaced by pinch runner, Dick Garcia who took second on a wild pitch. Bill Lugo drew a walk with Cicero McClellan leading the bag with his walk before O'Leary cranked one to scoring Garcia and Lugo. Cellaan came home on a throwing error by the Devens to third base.

Second sacker Borders brought home with a sharp single to put the scoreboard at Lejeune.

Fort Devens replaced Syl Palko in the eighth for shortstop Keith Crider. Crider gave up no hits, walked one and struck none out.

Sunday afternoon's game the Hornets was postponed to a steady downpour. The Marines meet the Fort "Wheels" tonight at 8 p. m. following ceremonies on the playing field.

Off Duty Hours Unselfishly Applied Earn Mast For Two From Division

Two Pfc's, Myron S. Kavalgian and Gary G. Azerler, putting their off duty hours to unselfish use as instructors for the citizenship classes held on the Base were recently awarded Meritorious Masts by their commander, Maj. Gen. F. L. Wleseman.

Both Marines, members of HqCo., HqBn., served as volunteer instructors of the citizenship classes since March 4, devoting their time and efforts to instructing military and dependent aliens, enabling them to become better informed citizens.

Through the initiative of Pfc Kavalgian, instructor of American Government, arrangements were made for the Honorable David N. Henderson, U.S. House of Representatives, 3d Congressional District of North Carolina, to speak to the citizenship classes, affording them the opportunity to meet and discuss governmental policies with a member of the United States Congress.

Pfc Azerler, English instructor for the classes, along with Kavalgian, devoted their evenings and weekends to correcting papers and planning future classes.

Their valuable contribution to the effectiveness of the classes has also received praise from Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, Marine Corps Base and Capt. G. E. Shockley, Base Education Officer. The devotion shown by Azerler and Kavalgian has brought praise to the Marine Corps, to the 2d Marine Division and to themselves.

TOPS AMPHIB CLASS—2d Force Recon member, Lt. Col. J. O'Neill, accepts the honor student "paddle" from Pfc. F. A. Sweeney, OinC of the Amphibious Reconnaissance School at the Landing Force Training Unit, Camp Lejeune, Va. O'Neill distinguished himself in the two Amphib Recon Course, which stresses Hydrographic and Reconnaissance, by setting a 92 percent mark. The class average for the 19 Marine students was 83 percent.

Age Means Little In Taking Honors Of Airborne Class

Proving that age is no barrier, a 40-year-old Marine, 1st Sgt. Francis M. Sweeney, "M" Co., 3d Bn., 6th Marines, took top honors in Basic Airborne Class 37, Ft. Benning, Ga.

The four week course began with a class of more than 600 students but by the time graduation ceremonies came along only slightly more than 300 remained. 1st Sgt. Sweeney lost 18 pounds during the intensive and rigorous exercise and training.

The students, ranging in rank from Private to Lieutenant Colonel, did not know who held the top position in the class until the final jump. As the students prepared to board the aircraft, school officials brought out the blue helmet, the coveted symbol of "honor man" and placed it on Sgt. Sweeney's head as his well earned crown.

Sgt. Raymond L. Maloy out of 212 Marines with company "A" are now engaged in off-duty education. The worthy devotion to duty is attributed to the "Comm Achievement Award" awarded to this Battalion Career Advisory and Education Field, Sgt. 307 To Graduate From MarCorps' Jr.-Sr. Schools

Three-hundred-seventy officer students of the Marine Corps' Junior and Senior Schools at Quantico will graduate from nine-month classes Friday.

The Honorable Mr. Fred Korth, Secretary of the Navy, will deliver the principal commencement address.

Senior School is the Marine Corps' high level command and staff school, placing primary emphasis on use of air and surface forces in amphibious operations at division, wing and corps level.

The course covers the organization, equipment, and employment of amphibious forces up to and including corps level. Use of the helicopter for movement of troops and equipment is particularly emphasized.

Instruction is also provided on the broad general policies of the Departments of Defense, Navy and Headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps. A student's professional foundation is broadened by study of political-military theory, American foreign policy, emergency actions short of war, counter insurgency, use of nuclear weapons, military history, organization of foreign forces and effective military writing and speaking.

Junior School offers instruction in the use of reinforced infantry battalions and regiments, and aircraft squadrons and groups, as an air/ground team in amphibious operations. It is at this level of command and staff that most of the students will work immediately following attendance at the school. Here also, as in Senior School, background is presented on selected subjects of national, international political and military significance.

One-hundred-seventy Marine officers will graduate from the Junior School along with five Army, three Navy and sixteen officers from allied nations.

The Senior School will graduate eighty-five Marine officers, six Navy, six Army, two Air Force and fourteen allied officers.

2d Division Photographers Enjoy Working Conditions Aboard Ship

MED. (Delayed) -- When 2d Marine Division photographers embark with deploying units of the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic aboard the USS Francis Marion, their job of processing photo material can be done quickly and efficiently because of the ship's compact, but well equipped photo laboratory.

Should a problem arise or the Marine photographers have a question, they can walk right up to JFK and state their mind. JFK in this instance being James F. Knight, PH2, the ship's photographer in charge of the laboratory.

Space within the two small compartments making up the lab can be at a premium at times since at least two 2d Marine Division photographers are attached to the embarked Marine unit. However, the old proverb of "Too many hands in the 'Soup'" doesn't apply in this case when the two Marines and Knight are processing their own individual jobs.

According to Knight, "It's just a simple case of me developing film while the Marines are printing film or, visa versa. It's just the way our individual work seems to pan out. Of course," he continues, "priority work coming in simultaneously for Marine and Navy demand is easily processed quickly. We just work together."

Commandant General Completes Quad-Command Area; California Na

Lieutenant General M. C. Cartwright-Taylor, C. B., Commandant of the Royal Marines, climaxed a four day tour of Camp Lejeune by attending a farewell dinner held in his and Mrs. Cartwright-Taylor's honor Friday evening at the quarters of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. James P. Berkeley.

The Commandant General and his party arrived last Tuesday and he began his tour Wednesday morning after receiving honors at the Goettge Memorial Field House.

First to be visited was the Rifle Range where he observed the Eastern Division Match shooters in competition.

Later, after a briefing at the Infantry Training Regiment Headquarters, the Commandant General observed Col. W. P. Duke's ITR trainees as they went through their paces on Base Infantry ranges and training areas.

Wednesday afternoon, General Cartwright-Taylor visited the 2d AmTrac Battalion, Force Troops. After a briefing by Lt. Col. T. W. Clarke, battalion commanding officer, on the mission of the unit, he witnessed seven of the amphibious carriers unload Marines and their cargo of heavy weapons and equipment then took a short ride, accompanied by General Berkeley, Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, commanding general, Force Troops and Lt. Col. Clarke.

On Thursday the Commandant General visited the 2d Marine Division. Following a briefing he viewed an infantry weapons display and witnessed a firing exercise along with a number of major supporting units. Later he held an informal "through" of the 10th barracks.

Friday, General Cartwright-Taylor and his party departed Camp Lejeune for Tarboro, North Carolina, to attend a barbecue.

The Commandant General's party departed the morning via aircraft Marine Corps Recruiting Station, San Diego, California.

Globe Wins Photo-Offset Competition

Three Marine Corps unit newspapers have been selected as the best in their class in the American Heritage Contest, Headquarters Marine Corps recently announced.

The San Diego Chevron won the Letterpress Category, the Camp Lejeune GLOBE will receive the Photo Offset Category award, and the Bilster of the 68th Rifle Company, USMC, has won the Mimeograph Category. No Marine Corps entries were received in the Multilith or Radio and TV Categories.

The top Marine Corps winner will be announced next month by the Department of Defense. The editor of the winning publication, either the Chevron, the GLOBE or the Bilster, will be invited to attend the American Heritage Award ceremony to be held in June at Williamsburg, Virginia.

Awards were based on the extent of the unit newspaper's coverage dealing with our American heritage, our alliances to free nations, and the threat of international communism against the entire free world.

How To Avoid Becoming A Heat Casualty

The human body contains a great deal of water and considerable salt. Sweating causes the body to lose these items and they must be replaced. The body cannot "weaned" away from water or trained to do without it. Food, to the body, is like fuel to a fire. Consequently, there is less need for food in hot weather than in cold times.

Prevention. A few simple rules to avoid heat exhaustion and heat stroke during hot weather are:

Your leaders will encourage you to drink water frequently and to drink as much as you need. When working on your own, drink water when you want it and eat all you want. You may need from two quarts to three gallons a day.

Stay away from "cold drinks" while still sweating. Take the equivalent of up to six salt tablets (1 1/2 spoon) above what you normally use with food, this will replace the body salt lost by sweating.

Keep your headgear on in the sun and remember a little cothing will actually keep out the sun's heat.

If you feel sick or dizzy when heated, take it for a while. DON'T OVER-DO YOURSELF.

If you stop sweating — GET PROMPT MEDICAL. Eat lightly in hot weather and especially eat few sweets.
