Gen. Berkeley To FMFLant

Navy Relief Drive Gains Momentum

April 25th, when Major General James P. Berkeley, base commanding general, Marine Corps Base, was named the first of the Medal of Honor recipients to launch the 1963 Navy Relief Fund Drive, two additional units have "gone over the top" with their contribution to the 100% mark.

The Motor Transport Section, Marine Corps Supply Schools, and the Food Services School, all of which are contributing to the drive, have reached the 100% mark.

Promotion To Third Star Announced By President

Major General James P. Berkeley, base commanding general, has been nominated for promotion to Lieutenant General by the President and will assume command of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, on August 1. He will succeed Lieutenant General Robert B. Luckey, commanding general, FMFLant who is slated for retirement.

General Berkeley enlisted in the Marine Corps on March 1, 1927. As an enlisted man, he served in Nicaragua until December of 1928.

Commissioned a Marine 2d Lieutenant in January of 1930, he attended Officers' Basic School, and was transferred to the American Legation in Peiping, China, where he served until 1934.

Returning to the States in 1935, he served in various posts and stations.

In March, 1942, he was promoted to Major and assigned to Headquarters, Marine Corps for duty.

General Berkeley later accompanied the Commandant on an inspection tour of Guadalcanal and other South Pacific areas in 1942.

After serving with the British Armed Forces in Italy as an observer, he returned to Camp Pendleton where he commanded the Field Signal Battalion before being named Signal Officer of the 5th Marine Division in 1944.

While serving in the above capacity, he was awarded the Legion of Merit with combat "V" for his services on Iwo Jima.

In the years preceeding 1949, he served in various military advisory capacities, and was appointed in that year to the Armed Forces Staff of the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island.

Leaving the War College in 1953, he served as Commanding Officer, Marine Barracks, 8th & I and was Director of the Marine Corps Institute.

In 1954 he served as Chief of Staff of the 1st Marine Division in Korea.

Returning to Pendleton, then Colonel Berkeley was promoted to the rank of brigadier general and was assigned as Assistant Chief of Staff G-1, at Headquarters, Marine Corps. He was promoted to major general in July of 1958 and assumed duties as Commanding General, Department of the Pacific in San Francisco, California.

Following this assignment, he commanded the 2d Marine Division in November of 1959, and assumed his present command in November of 1961.

'Open House', Displays Are Planned For Armed Forces Day Observance

Marine Corps Base, 2d Marine Division, Force Troops and U. S. Naval coordinators have been busy this week firming plans for the observance of Armed Forces Day at Camp Lejeune on Saturday May 18, when "open house" will be held.

weapons utilized in training of new Marines; a one hour band concert by the 2d Division Band, beginning at 6:30, and a live firing display of infantry weapons, beginning at 7:30. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The majority of the Quad Command's participation on Saturday will center about activities and exhibits on display at the Goettge Memorial Field House and the Marine Corps Base Parade Ground. Displays will be open to both military and civilian observers beginning at 9:30 a. m., continuing until 3:30 that afternoon. Passes for civilian visitors will be issued at the Main Gate.

Displays will also be provided by Army Units from Fort Bragg, and Marine Air Group 26.

Also planned are concerts by the 2d Marine Division Band, an open house of both the Had-not point Chapels and the U. S. Naval Hospital.

prompt Action By Two FT Marines Helped Save Accident Victims Lives

Marines of Headquarters Company, 8th Engineer Battalion, Force Troops, Pfc R. H. Payne and Myron D. West, were following a 1950 model automobile on U. S. Highway 258 about one mile south of Richlands, N. C., at about 8:00 p. m. last Saturday evening when the vehicle suddenly attempted to pass another vehicle ahead.

The older car, occupied by four Marines, suddenly met an oncoming automobile. There was apparently no time to swerve back into the right hand lane, and the cars met with a deafening impact, throwing both vehicles off the road.

Both automobiles overturned, and flames spread from the engine compartment into the interior, threatening the dazed and injured occupants.

Payne and West hurriedly pulled their car over, stopped only long enough to take blankets from the trunk, then rushed to the burning automobile.

With the aid of two civilians the Marines rocked the blazing automobile back on its wheels, forced open the doors and pulled the victims away from the flames. According to Payne, the

Navy Nurses Set To Observe 55th Birthday

More than 50 nurses at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Camp Lejeune, will observe the 55th Anniversary of the Navy Nurse Corps on Monday, May 13. Highlight of the celebration will be a cake cutting and reception at the Paradise Point Officers Club Saturday night.

The Nurse Corps has proved itself to be a vital and unique component of the sea service. It is unique in that nurses are the only women allowed to break an old naval tradition and serve beside men in advance areas.

It is vital because the skills of hundreds of professionally trained women are utilized on behalf of injured men who are often in desperate need of these skills.

The Nurse Corps was established in 1908, beginning with 44 nurses. At present there are approximately 2,500 Nurse Corps officers on active duty.

Nurse Corps officers commissioned in the Navy are fully qualified as professional nurses, having received formal education in nursing at qualified civilian schools of nursing and all are registered in one or more states.

They are required to maintain current state registrations and hold their membership in the American Nurses Association as well as other nursing organizations if they have a specialty.

The responsibilities of the Navy nurse are threefold: they care for the patient, they teach him health rules and they aid in the instruction of the hospital Corpsman in fundamental nursing care, operating room techniques, blood bank and physical and occupational therapy.

They serve at most Navy and Marine Corps activities throughout the United States and the world, as needed by our Armed Forces.

Nurse Corps officers are stationed at U. S. Naval hospitals, infirmaries, despen-saries, officer procurement officers, in Japan, Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Alaska, Italy, Argentina, Guantanamo Bay, and as flight nurses with military sea transport services.

From the first group in 1908 to the present day, the Navy Nurse Corps has developed into a well-trained, proud corps of "women in white" with a high standard of service.

Converted AmTrac Improves Field Command Posts

A new mobile command post is now afforded regimental and battalion commanders by 2d AmTracBn., Force Troops. Along with armored protection and mobility, it also affords the commander complete blackout capabilities.

The mobile command post consists of four main features; an LVTP5, a standard command post tent, a special built frame, and section of canvas, to be fitted to the frame.

When the commanding officer gives word to set up the command post, the LVT crew pitches a CP tent with one side rolled up to enable the LVTP5 to drive up to the open side and drop its ramp. The specially built frame connects the tent with the tractor and the section of canvas covers the area over the ramp. Once the tractor and tent have been connected, the C. O. has complete blackout capabilities.

The mobile command post affords the commanding officer, (regimental or battalion) the capability of maintaining continuous control over his organic and supporting units during ship to shore movements, beach assault, and subsequent inland movement.

Pests And Problems

A Rattle To Beware!

Rattle snakes are unique in that they warn with a rattle on the end of the tail which causes a buzzing noise when it is vibrated by the snake.

This serves a dual purpose for the owner. First, it will serve as a warning to animals and humans nearing the rattle snake's locality. Secondly, the animal or human has the tendency to stop and listen with caution at the buzzing being emitted from the rattle, thus giving the snake the opportunity to strike. It will then rush for protection until such time it feels it is safe to return.

The rattle snakes are born with a horny button at the tip of their tail which serves as the foundation for the future rattle.

When the snake sheds its skin, the button at the end of the tail forms into a rattle, and each succeeding time it sheds or molts, a new rattle is formed.

Contrary to belief, one cannot accurately determine the age of the rattle snake by the number of rattles on his tail, for the rattle is very fragile and easily worn off. It's, just as common to see a young rattler with six or seven rattles, as it would be to see a much older rattler with only five or six rattles.

PIGMY RATTLER

Our first subject for study in the rattle snake realm is the Pigmy or Ground rattler. It has a brownish color with a dorsal row of darker blotches running the length of the back, and a series of smaller ones along the side. The belly is whitish in color with dark blotches running the length of the snake.

Smallest of the Pit Vipers, the Pigmy rattler attains a length of about 18 inches, and is found from North Carolina to Florida and west to Texas.

Although small, it is dangerous and can cause a bitten individual unpleasantness for several days.

The largest number of victims bitten by this rattler are bird dogs, especially during the fall when hunting season is in full swing. From this, the third name attached to this snake fits perfectly, "Bird Dog Rattler".

CANEBRAKE RATTLER

Second member of the rattle family found in the Camp Lejeune area is the Canebroke rattler. It is brown in color with darker crossbands which have uneven edges. It is yellowish on the underside area, and has black spots mingled in the yellow on the belly. The tail is wholly black on adults, and has black splotches on the front part of the back.

The Canebroke rattler will attain a length of at least five feet and ranges from North Carolina to Texas, and up the Mississippi to as far north as Tennessee.

It is exceeded in length and girth only by the Diamond Back rattler, so, because of its size, it is definitely one of our most dangerous snakes.

DIAMOND BACK RATTLER

The third member of the rattle family familiar to us is the Diamond rattler, commonly called the Diamond Back rattler.

It is brown in color with about 20 diamond-shaped blotches running down its back. The points or corners of one diamond will connect with the point or corner of another, causing a continuous chain of diamonds.

Underparts of the Diamond rattler are yellowish, and its tail is ringed with light and dark bands.

The Diamond rattler attains a length of over six feet locally, and over eight feet in length in Florida. This type of rattler is found mostly in the southern part of North Carolina.

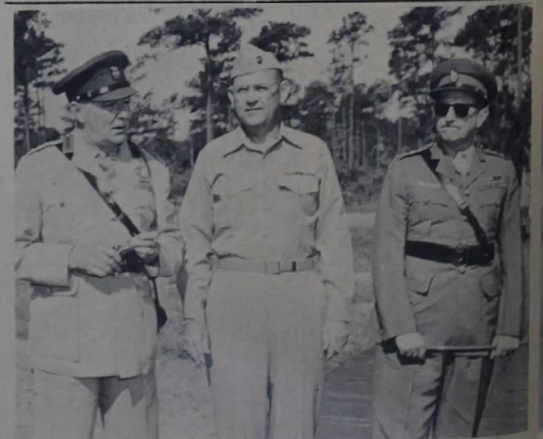

Species of this snake are more or less confined to swamp regions where they can live away from man. They will not, as a rule, infest densely populated areas.

It is the largest, heaviest and most dangerous of rattle snakes, and its diet consists mainly of rabbits.

If bitten by this snake, treatment should be administered immediately. It is advisable for persons to carry snake bite kits when venturing into areas where this type of rattler is known or believed to be found.

Like the Copperhead and Moccasin, the rattle snake is of the viperine family and his bite ejects a hemorrhagin type poison.

Next week; the mushroom, one of the more innocent looking types of danger.

NEIGHBORLY CHAT—Lt. Col. G. R. Long, center, 2d Marine Division Inspector, chats with Brigadier D. C. Cameron, Commandant of the Canadian Staff College and Col. J. O. A. Letellier, right, Canadian Army, members of the Staff College class which visited Camp Lejeune from Norfolk, Va., last week.

ADDING SOMETHING NEW to command posts is this specially arranged AmTrac from 2d AmTracBn., Force Troops, affording regimental and battalion commanders the facilities of a command post, mobility and blackout capabilities.

ASTRONAUT IN TRAINING—Astronaut Leroy G. Cooper, dressed in a space suit and carrying a portable air conditioning unit, descends the stairs in hanger at Cape Canaveral during training for his forthcoming 22-orbit flight scheduled for mid-May.

Bloodmobile Visit Set For Lejeune May 14-15

Marines will replenish the supplies for the Camp Lejeune Blood Donors Program on May 14 and 15 when the Red Cross Blood Mobile visits Marston Pavilion.

A time, date and amount of donors needed has been set up for each participating unit at Camp Lejeune and the Marine Corps Air Facility.

Blood donors are asked to refrain from eating fatty or fried foods, especially gravies and creams, prior to giving blood.

A donor must be 18-years-old, weighing 110 pounds or over. No restrictions are placed on either sex or race. They must not have received a blood transfusion within the preceding six months and if they recently donated blood, there must be an eight to 10 week interval.

Any illness during the past month may be a cause for deferment. The physician in charge of accepting donors will survey them for various illnesses and recent medical injections.

Further information pertaining to assigned dates of donations and medical deferments may be obtained from Base Bulletin 6530, dated April 22, 1963.

3,000 E-5's, E-6's Offered Early Out

Three thousand Staff and Gunnery Sergeants (E-5, 6) are eligible for "convenience of the government" discharge announced by Headquarters Marine Corps last week.

The directive, MarCorps Bulletin 1910 of May 1, established the authority for the "discharge at their own request" for those who had not been selected for promotion by a FY63 selection board.

Of this total figure, approximately 1,000 are Gunnery Sergeants with the balance of 2,000 being Staff Sergeants.

Commanding Officers are authorized to discharge any person in this category with the following exceptions: (1) possess a critical MOS; (2) have completed less than 18 months' service following completion of a formal course of instruction at a school where the quotas are controlled by the Commandant; (3) are in a disciplinary or probationary status; (4) require medical treatment, or, are indebted to the Government.

Personnel discharged under this authority will not be allowed to re-enlist within 90 days after discharge. This ruling will eliminate the Marine being eligible for a reenlistment bonus. In addition, recoupment of reenlistment bonus will be effected prior to discharge.

MSgt. David E. O'Shea

Retiring Sgt. Recalls 20 Eventful Years Of Travel

When Master Sergeant David E. "Rick" O'Shea, 2d Composite Radio Company, Force Troops, received his orders transferring him to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve on April 30, he closed the book on a career which sounds like a chapter from an adventure travel story.

Enlisting in the "Corps" in January 1943, a veteran of World War II and Korea, O'Shea recalls guarding Ex-President Hoover at the World's Fair in Belgium; visiting the famed ballet in Moscow; being received by Pope Pius XII; winning an Interservice Championship in football; and winning the Belgian National Championship in baseball.

In March 1951, as a member of the 2d Bn., 6th Marines, 2d Division, he boarded ship for a Mediterranean Cruise. With 2/6, he went to Italy where he was received in mass audience by Pope Pius XII. Highly impressed, he described with reverence the feeling he experienced in kissing the Papal Ring, and of his subsequent visit to St. Peter's Basilica, where the catafalque of Pope Pius XII was exposed during the preliminaries of the Beatification Rites.

In July 1952, he was ordered to Korea, where for once he had all the action he had ever desired. It was with the 7th Marines, 1st Marine Division, on the bloody "Hook", that searing shell fragments tore through his body.

O'Shea was evacuated to the hospital ship "Repose", and then to Tripler General Hospital in Hawaii. It was at the latter that the renowned Major General Christian Schilt—Medal of Honor winner—pinned the Commendation Medal with Combat "V" and the Purple Heart on O'Shea's chest for his actions on the "Hook".

In June 1955, he received orders for duty with the State Department, and soon found himself NCO in Charge of the Marine Security Guard in the American Embassy, Moscow, Russia. Here he spent 15 months, and in spite of his demanding duties, O'Shea found time to visit the famed Ballet at the Bolshoi Theatre, the Kremlin, and Tolstol's home.

Leaving the bitter cold of Moscow's winter, "Top" joined the Security Guard at the American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium. Here he was entrusted with the 24 hour security watch over the Atomic Reactor which was part of the American exhibit at the World's Fair; in addition, he received the mission of guarding Ex-President Hoover.

He then took over management of the demoralized Brussels "Senators"—a baseball team composed of American civilians and servicemen in Belgium. He whipped his team into shape, and astonished all Belgians by defeating the famed "Borgerhout" baseball club, thereby accomplishing the unprecedented feat of winning the Belgian National Baseball Championship for 1958.

In February 1960, he received orders to Turkey, where he coached the Marine football team into the 1960 Interservice Championship.

In February 1962, MSgt. O'Shea assumed duties as Operations Chief, of 2d Composite Radio Company.

When asked what he planned to do after leaving the Marine Corps, Sgt. O'Shea said that he planned to do two things; to get married and go to college.

Holiday Routine

Holiday routine will prevail at Camp Lejeune on Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30. All Marine Corps Exchange activities and the Commissary store will be closed on that day. The only recreational activities scheduled to be closed are the Camp Hobby Shops.

Commencing at 12 noon on May 30, a unit of the 10th Marines will render a National salute of 21 guns.

Camp Medical Society To Have Guest Speaker

A meeting of the Camp Lejeune Medical Society will be held on Friday, May 17, at the Paradise Point Officers' Club 6:30 p. m.

Guest Speaker for the evening will be Dr. A. J. Prange, who is Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine. His subject for a meeting will be: Some Clinical and Research Experiments with Psychoactive Drugs. The Medical Society, at the present time has a total of 81 members, and has successfully embarked on a course of Socio-Professional meetings.

Officers of the Camp Lejeune Medical Society are: President, Captain G. L. Calvy, MC, USN; Vice-President: Captain J. K. Cunningham, MC, USN; Secretary: Captain F. T. Norris, MC, USN; Treasurer: LCDR G. E. Wire, MC, USN; Special Events: Captain J. E. D. Humphries, MC, USN, Lt. N. Livieri, MC, USN.

May 7—Jubilant Day 18 Years Ago

Eighteen years and two days ago, on May 7, 1945, Camp Lejeune personnel were joining with people around the world in celebrating the best news they had heard for a long time—victory in Europe.

It had taken six years to accomplish the task, but Hitler had been stopped. The news gave that year's Mother's Day a little brighter shine.

Lejeune Marines, men and women alike, took the news calmly but with mixed thoughts of the future. The GLOBE of 1945 had interviewed several personnel and learned that some felt that the Nazi Regime collapse was unexpected, while others had thought the Germans would not hold out as long as they did. All, however, felt they should not be too jubilant nor should they begin to slacken in their efforts at their jobs and their training as long as the war was still on in the Pacific.

At the time the news of the European victory was received, Marines were still fighting in the Pacific. The Okinawa Campaign was raging and mopping up operations were continuing on Guam. The Allied Forces in Europe had completed half the assigned task, the forces in the Pacific later finished theirs but the same assignment continues today—world peace.

Mother's Day

Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her. (Proverbs 31:28)

Abraham Lincoln once stated; "All that I am, or hope to be, I owe to my angel Mother." The words of a great man, spoken in sincere admiration of the most important woman in his life.

Mother's Day was instituted in 1904 by Mr. Frank E. Hering, as a day set aside by lodges in honor of mothers everywhere. In 1914 Congress recognized it as a National Holiday.

Today, Mother's Day is celebrated by millions. It is a day in which people of all ages pay homage to their Mothers, both alive and those deceased.

This Sunday families throughout the nation will be gathering together to pay respect to their individual Moms. Here on the Base as well, Marines will pay tribute to their Mothers with a gift, an endearing message, a personal visit, or a special prayer.

When you attend Chapel Services this Sunday, do so with the memory of the days Your Mother started you on the right path in life. She brought you up, don't let her down, let her know you are thinking of her on her own, very special day.

Alcoholic Drink

An incident occurred in Morehead City a few weeks ago which is of importance to us all.

The case in point involved Marines charged with possession of alcoholic beverages on a public beach for which the necessary state tax had not been paid. The beverage was purchased on Base and then transported to the Morehead City area.

Needless to say, the penalty affixed to this case could have a more far-reaching effect than just a slap on the wrist or a fine to the culprits.

Sale of alcoholic beverages aboard the base are subject to rigid controls. The breaking of these rules by one or two thoughtless individuals could possibly bring about the loss of the privilege of purchasing through package sales for all military personnel.

As a reminder, remember that persons transporting alcoholic beverages off the Base become subject to the laws of North Carolina, Onslow County and ABC regulations. Ignorance of orders and laws are no excuse. Read Base Order 1746.15 for more complete details.

Let those who favor making their own rules reflect — a little common sense and regard for others in matters such as this will allow all of us to continue to enjoy the privilege of package sales.

Obscene Calls

Ten cents is the usual price for a local telephone call.

One Camp Lejeune Marine, however, recently paid a stripe, $50.00 a month for four months and four months hard labor for his call. The expensive call was an obscene one tracked down by a new method of tracing telephone calls.

The successful apprehension of the caller in the case cited here serves to indicate both the effectiveness of the new method and the foolishness of making nuisance telephone calls of any sort.

Bulletin Board

The Latest Word

Designation as Naval Aviation Observers awaits a number of Marine Corps officers and enlisted personnel who meet the qualifications of a new NAO program announced this week by Headquarters Marine Corps.

Applications are sought from unrestricted regular and reserve commissioned officers in the grade of lieutenant under 27 years of age and from captains, if they hold or have held an OF67 or OF73 MOS.

Enlisted personnel will be considered for selection upon application for this program in conjunction with the annual Warrant Officer Selection Program if they are under 27 years of age at time of application and have a minimum GT score (general technical and aptitude area test) of 110. Certain MarCads who are dropped from the Flight Training Program after completion of the primary phase for reasons other than by their own request are also eligible for this training.

Candidates will be selected for NAO training by Headquarters Marine Corps from among those applicants who successfully complete flight physical examinations, Aviation Selection Tests, physiological indoctrination and flight indoctrination in jet aircraft.

Personnel who resort to the childish, or perhaps perverted, practice of making nuisance or obscene calls would be wise to consider the high price they may be required to pay for such a prank.

Any mature individual can easily see that there are many other reasons for refraining from using the telephone for other than legitimate calls. No one likes to be bothered by calls that are made as pranks and almost all of us are incensed and repulsed by obscene calls.

The old price is still in effect for proper local calls. Why pay the price this one Marine has already paid for a few moments of distasteful behavior?

Enlisted selectees will be ordered to the Warrant Officer Screening and Basic Course at MCS Quantico prior to undergoing the NAO Basic Course at Pensacola, Florida.

All candidates must sign three year post-training active duty agreement.

Complete details for this program are contained in MCO 1040.22.

Chaplain's Corner

As the apostle Paul described his conversion experience to King Agrippa, he became inspired with the Holy Spirit, and with all of the zeal and enthusiasm he could muster he said: "Whereupon O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the Heavenly Vision." (Acts 26:19)

Everything that a man does that is really worth doing comes to him in the first place in some kind of a vision. The vision comes before the action and the man's action is worth anything.

Your visions determine your future. You may have had a vision concerning your military career. You may have obeyed that vision and have achieved the goal of Marine excellence. You may have had a vision of great wealth and prosperity. Your life would then be dedicated to that aim. Your vision may have concerned the acquisition of knowledge. To this end you will dedicate your life. Your vision may have been directed toward a particular vocation; teacher, doctor, minister, lawyer, truck driver, engineer or business man.

Paul obeyed his vision of the Saviour and His call to him to serve His witness. As obedience brought power to Paul, so it can to you. Paul gained courage and faith so as to withstand beatings, stonings, jailings, trials, shipwreck and eventual execution. Paul's obedience to the Heavenly Vision transformed him from a persecuting taskmaster into a world missionary.

Have you experienced a heavenly vision in your life? Have you obeyed or disobeyed its insistent demands upon your life and personality?

Movie Reviews

SAMSON AND DELILAH
 A most alluring young lady of the Nile sets out to sap a young man's strength with a smile. The setting goes from bloody battlefields to the seductive silks covering her loins. In the end our brave young hero loses his strength on a dare when he lets her clip his nice long hair. The theme is, a haircut a day keeps the servant master away.

STATE FAIR
 The State Fair becomes a place where dreams come true for Pat Boone, Bobby Darin and Ann-Margret, who excel in their singing of several Rodgers and Hammerstein tunes. Each has his own hopes on the way to the fair — one wants to win the sports car race; mother wants a blue ribbon for her mincepie and father one for his champion hog while the daughter wants romance. Some dreams come true and some are shattered.

A GIRL NAMED TAMIKO
 No matter what her name be, for those of you who have just returned from the orient, vividly remembering the sight of two kimono clad nine-year-old girls strutting down the main drag singing "And They Told Us We Were Too Young," go see it. It deals with a handsome Eurasian and the three women who love him. Equal to Sayonara and "Love is a Many Splendored Thing."

HOUSE OF USHER
 From Edgar Allan Poe's 19th century classic tale, which depicts the terrifying experiences of a young man who visits his fiancée at the mansion he shares with her evil uncle. The film stars Vincent Price.

CLEOPATRA'S DAUGHTER
 Last week it was the "Son of Samson," this week it's the daughter of Leo. Father knows best, maybe mother does also. In either case stand by for Egyptian belly-dancers and maudlin love scenes.

TRIAL AND ERROR
 The film is set in England and stresses the point of what happens to a young man. A lawyer defends the man who killed his wife because she nagged too much. The before-trial scenes are good but when the trial takes place it is a comedy of errors.

RED SHOES—Gals from the Woman's College in Greensboro will portray Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tale, "The Red Shoes," on Friday at 3 p.m. at the Midway Park Community Building. The show is especially designed for children of all ages.

A Big Buddy Lends Its Support

ENGINEERS, BLT COAST

Nearly 400 students and staff of the Canadian Army Staff College, the Armed Forces Staff College and senior allied students of the Naval War College observed a reinforced Battalion Landing Team assault a simulated enemy beach here May 1.

After viewing a reinforced BLT Static Display, which highly impressed the visitors, they were greeted by Major General Frederick L. Wieseman, commanding general, 2d Marine Division, who briefly explained the BLT and the concept of its employment in combat.

The landing was unrehearsed due to adverse weather conditions that forced a cancellation of the rehearsal planned for April 29.

Narrators for the demonstration, Col. R. M. Richards, commanding officer, 2d Marines, and Lt. Phillips, Amphibious Training Command, FMFLant, Norfolk, Va., explained the landing.

The landing was made by 2d Bn., 2d Marines and attached units . . . under foul weather conditions. Amphibious Squadron 8 participated in transporting the Marines to the beach.

Preparations, making the demonstration seem like a more realistic landing, were worked out weeks in advance. Company "A", 2d Engineer Bn., was assigned the job of laying demolitions and making timely explosives of simulated bombardments.

All participating units were briefed on the planned demolitions as a safety measure. Each charge of demolitions was planned carefully to ensure the safety of personnel and to avoid "overplaying" the dramatic effect of the exercise.

The landing of Marines was preceded by an Underwater Demolition Team, brought in by boat, which simulated the planting of underwater demolitions.

Pathfinders were scheduled to land but were to do so because of unusually high winds.

Using controls in a bunker on the beach, 2 pound C-4 charges were detonated at the water representing the demolitions laid by the "frogmen" remove underwater obstacles.

As the "frogmen" were picked up from the A4 "Skyhawk" jets of the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Point, strafed the beach.

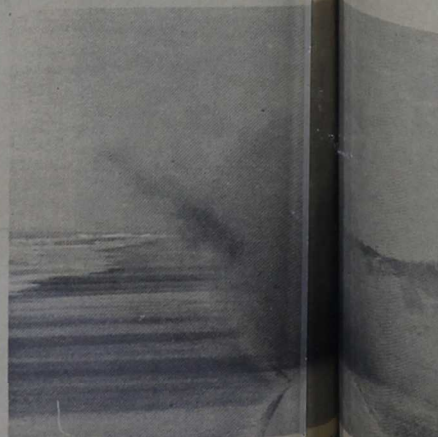

The jets' strafing was accomplished by en-and but were during molded plastic C-3 around electric detonating

The engineers connected the caps in series and a ine-gun effect was produced by passing a screwdriver contact points on the control panel. Perfect timing required to make the operation effective.
Simulated naval gunfire exploded in the area just id the beach to neutralize the enemy. This effect accomplished by exploding 36 pound charges of demos previously planted by engineers. Drums of napalm ignited with a combination of TNT and detonating to simulate aerial bombs.

After the pre-landing bombardment, amphibious tractors (LVTs) brought the first Marines ashore. They moved rapidly off the beach in assault of enemy held positions.

The "skyhawks" of the 2d MAW returned, simulating strafing runs and bomb drops. As the jets swept the length of the landing zone, UH-34D helicopters passed over the beach in formation, as if to land troops beyond the beach area.

Larger landing craft were brought in and M-48 tanks moved across the beach. Ontos and 81-mm mortar crews were next and took up flanking positions.

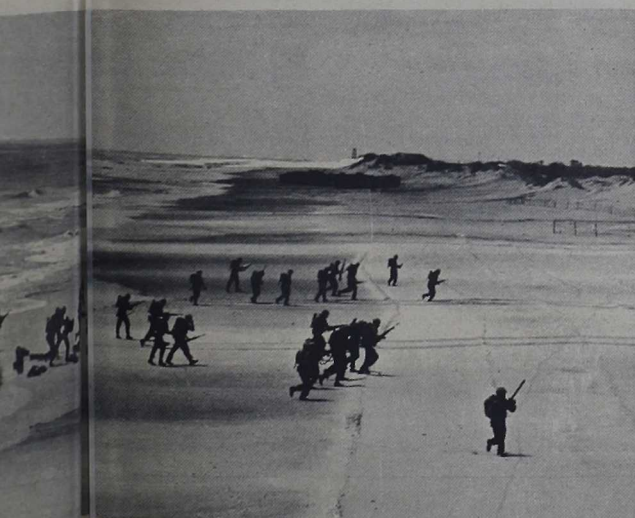

By now the beach was secured and Marines of the landing force had accomplished their mission. But the engineers still had a large part of their work cut out for them.

The engineers checked circuits to insure that all planted demolitions had exploded. When "live" shots were found, safety precautions were exercised to ensure that the hazard was quickly, but efficiently, removed or destroyed.

It took 56 men of Company "A", 30 days to place all the charges, shoot them off, replant, reshoot, and plant for the final run. Two teams placed charges — one team on the seaward side of the inland waterway, and the other team on the inland side.

Four practice runs were made prior to the landing exercise. Each "shoot" required 800 actual shots of demolitions which used 100 miles of wiring and 3,000 pounds of explosives.

If the landing at Onslow Beach seemed real, and explosions simulating the pre-invasion bombardment took on a Hollywood appearance, it was because of the aggressive spirit of the Marines who made the landing and the painstaking efforts of the Engineers of the 2d Marine Division.

Pendleton's Weisiger Set New Quantico Mile Mark

Camp Pendleton's own, Lt. Cary Weisiger set a grueling pace to establish a new outdoor mile record on the East Coast at 3:56.2 during the seventh annual Quantico Relays last weekend.

With the pole vaulters barely able to clear the embarrassing height of 15'6", Weisiger and a four man relay team from Georgetown University who set a new two-mile relay record at 7:29.4 were a welcome sight to the spectators.

Weisiger, a former Duke University star followed Chicago's Dave Mellady for the first quarter. Mellady attempted to keep in stride with the flying Leatherneck, only to find the grueling pace was more than he could maintain, dropping out of the race at the three-quarter mark.

Georgetown, paced by their ace half-miler Ed Duchini set their meet record in a race with Fordham and Villanova.

Duchini, running anchor, took the baton from Jim Tucker in third position behind Villanova's Noel Carroll and Fordham's Frank Tomeo. The first lap remained as started.

On the last trip, Duchini made his move at the first curve, easing past Tomeo and Carroll. In the far stretch, Duchini, running with his arms low, around his knees, broke on top entering the final turn. Down to the wire, all three were abreast, with Duchini thrusting out his chest in the final stride to break the tape for a new meet record of 7:29.4.

Maryland State also set on East Coast record of 3:08.3 in the mile relay. The Maryland Staters were followed by Morgan State, 3:08.8 and the Quantico Marines in 3:09.5.

Rolando Cruz of Villanova, took the pole vault honors with a vault of 15-6. Dave Tork finished second at 15 feet even, followed by Aubrey Dooley, Topo came back the following evening to down 2d ANGLICO 13-11. George Howell put his big lumber to use by hitting two home runs and set a Force Troops record despite his teams loss to the stronger Topo nine.

Carl (Doc) Linder came out of retirement pitching six innings of shutout ball for Headquarters only to have the big bats of FAG blast him for seven runs in the seventh inning. Rightfielder Bill Steward slapped a three and two pitch over the left center field wall with one aboard to break a 5-5 deadlock, and righthander Wayne Campbell pitched his way home to a 7-5 victory.

2d Marines Given Division's Award For Reenlistments

Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, commanding general, 2d Marine Division, presented a Quarterly Reenlistment Award to the 2d Marines for attaining the highest percentage of reenlistments within the infantry regiments of the Division.

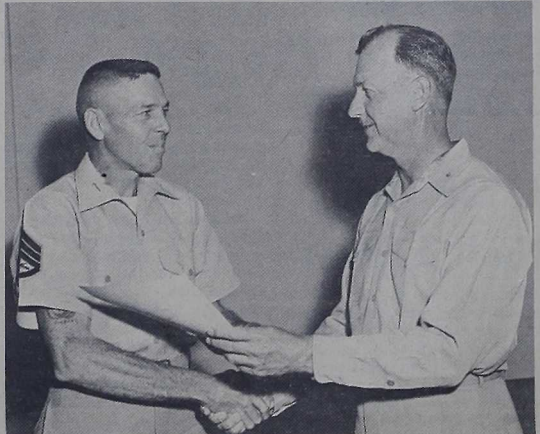

At the same ceremony, the 10th Marine Regiment was also presented a Reenlistment Award for attaining the highest percentage within the Division's separate battalions. Organization of the 10th Marines puts it in a special category, so it is compared with separate battalions rather than infantry regiments.

In determining a winner, a point system based on first-term reenlistments is used. The total number of points accrued by the 2d Marines, for the first quarter of 1963, was 474.75 with a reenlistment rate of 13.6 percent, and 45 extensions for the same quarter.

Replicas of the awards were also presented to the winning organizations for permanent retention. The large trophies rotate to new winners each quarter.

Pennsylvania Personnel

It is requested that all 2d Marine Division personnel—USMC and USN whose home of record is within a 50 mile radius of Pittsburgh, contact the Division Informational Services Office, Bldg. 401 (topside), 7-5680 or 7-3064.

ACHIEVEMENT AWARD—SSgt. Richard A. Cochran, 2d AmTrac Bn., Force Troops is presented the Commandants Career Advisory Achievement Award by Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, commanding general, Force Troops, during a career advisory meeting held last month. The award was presented for the most improved reenlistment percentage for the first quarter of the calendar year 1963.

Career Advisory Clues

There are two kinds of extensions of enlistment—voluntary and involuntary. Marines who voluntarily extend their enlistments do so for what they believe to be an advantage to themselves.

Although commanding officers are authorized to approve cancellation of extensions of enlistment prior to their effective dates under the conditions set forth in paragraph 2208.5, MARCOPERSMAN, extensions may not be cancelled if personnel obtain the benefits for which they extend.

The extension will be effected upon normal expiration of enlistment. Once it is started, an extension is just as binding as an enlistment. In fact, extensions for two years or longer are indistinguishable from reenlistment or equal length; same benefits—same incentives—same payments and same obligations. Actually, lump sum leave settlement is paid at normal expiration of enlistment regardless of the length of extension (NAVCOMPT MANUAL, paragraph 944170) but extensions totaling two years are needed for reenlistment bonus (NAVCOMPT MANUAL, paragraph 944075) and four year extensions for reenlistment options (MCO 1133.15D).

In short, a career extension is one for at least two years. Short term voluntary extensions (3, 6, 9 months or 1 full year) can sometimes result in mis-understandings. They are usually entered into to give a Marine enough obligated service to let him qualify for a school or fixed tour. It's still a voluntary extension. The individual agrees to the extension because he wants the benefit. Of course, he should understand what he is doing.

Occasionally a man will agree to extend for a longer period than the desired assignment requires. He does so for some advantage to himself (to make sure of the assignment). But he is the one who makes the decision. He wants the job so he bids for it. Sometimes, when the assignment isn't all he expects, he'll claim he was forced to extend. He can't be—such an extension is entered into voluntarily. Just make sure that you understand all about it before you voluntarily extend.

Future Citizens See Heritage In Action

"Our American Heritage in Action," was the theme of a field trip taken by a group of women from the Camp Lejeune Citizenship Class on April 27 when they toured the legislative and executive buildings in Raleigh.

Countries around the globe were represented in the group. The tour was designed to give the women a chance to see how the American government operates on the state judicial, legislative and executive levels.

Leaving Camp Lejeune via bus from Brewster Elementary School at 9 a. m., the women arrived at Raleigh at 11:30 a. m. First on the agenda was a tour of the newly opened Legislative Building.

The white building, enclosed by a colonnade, appeared impressive, presenting an orderly picture of the blending of architectural elements and reflecting the technical advancements of our times.

The women were greeted by a Senatorial Page, who was to be their guide on the tour. The Page led the group up the Grand Stairway, carpeted in brilliant red, to the Public Gallery, overlooking the Senate and House of Representative chambers. In both the Senate Chamber and the Hall of the House of Representatives, the group was given a fifteen minute talk on how bills and laws are initiated and passed.

Luncheon was served in one of the numerous Rotunda Courts, complete with bubbling fountains and miniature palm trees.

Later in the afternoon the group toured the Capitol Building and museum of natural history before returning to Camp Lejeune. Lt. Martin N. Seligman, USN, of Base Dental, a citizenship class teacher, supervised the tour.

The Citizenship Classes are held once a week for two hours, every Monday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 in the Brewster Elementary School. The students, mostly foreign wives of Marines, are learning the history and working mechanisms of the American government which will enable them to pass their citizenship test and make them better citizens.

OPENING SET FOR HUGE BOWLING CENTER

The largest military bowling center in the world will be constructed at Camp Lejeune for use by military personnel and their dependents. The announcement was made jointly by Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, MCB, and Andrew E. O'Leary, vice president, American Machine & Foundry Company, today.

Ground breaking for the huge modern 32-lane bowling center will take place in the near future and construction is expected to be completed sometime in November 1963. The center will be located on the site of the present softball diamond directly behind the main exchange.

The modern center will be completely equipped by AMF and will contain all facilities necessary for bowling.

Groundwork for the realization of the Bowling Center was laid by the Camp Lejeune Bowling Center Planning Committee headed by Col. C. L. Granger, Deputy Chief of Staff Inspector.

Cost of the construction and equipment will be paid from non-appropriated funds. These funds are created by profits earned by exchanges and other activities and are for the express purpose of providing welfare and recreation for military personnel and their dependents.

The Bowling Center will be managed and operated by civilian personnel.

flames had already reached the passengers. After removing the passengers, the Marines beat out the flames smoldering in the victims' clothing, and removed them from the area, fearful that the fumes from the ruptured gas tank might explode.

Payne, noticing that one Marine had been severely cut about the face and throat, knelt and applied direct pressure to staunch the bleeding until medical help could arrive.

West, realizing that nothing more could be done for those pulled from the burning wreck, hurried to the other side of the road with an unidentified civilian to remove the occupants of the other overturned vehicle.

When West arrived, it was obvious that the driver had been killed on impact. The survivors, two women and one man had all suffered lacerations and broken bones. West, with a civilian's aid, quickly and carefully removed the injured, and attempted to keep them warm and as comfortable as possible until arrival of an ambulance.

When the ambulance arrived on the scene, West and Payne assisted in removal of the injured, but their work was not to end there.

Payne, who had held one victim for nearly a half hour, staunching the flow of blood from numerous head and neck lacerations, continued his vigil by attending the wounded man in the rear of the ambulance until relieved by hospital attendants.

A spokesman from the Naval Hospital had this to say of West's and Payne's actions: "The prompt action of these men significantly reduced the extent of injuries and undoubtedly contributed to the patients' being alive upon their arrival at the hospital."

High Shooting Lt. Sets Range Record At 242 With M-14

A blazing score of 242x250, fired April 26 by 1st Lt. Donald R. Knepp, 2d Battalion, 6th Marines, shattered this year's previous record of 241 at the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range.

Lt. Knepp, who says that he has only fired on Intramural Teams within the 2d Division, moved away from the 200-yard line dropping only two points, which he lost in the off-hand position.

At each yard line, he fired a consistent 48x50 except the 200-yard sitting position. There he fired a perfect 50x50.

According to the lieutenant, he was much more at ease with the M-14 rifle this year than last year when he fired a 234x250.
